A New Castle woman has been arrested by Newark Police on charges of stealing $50 in lottery tickets during a strong arm Christmas Eve robbery at the Cigarette City store in the College Square Shopping Ctr.

Nicole Buckson, 31, of the 500 block of Corsica Avenue, was arraigned and released on Sunday after posting $11,000 secured bond.

Buckson

She faces charges of Robbery 1st Degree and Assault 3rd Degree.

The Newark Police Department learned the identity of the suspect from information provided by the New Castle County Police Department. Warrants were obtained for the suspect and she was later apprehended by Delaware State Police troopers during a traffic stop.

During the incident, the suspect identified as Buckson, requested four scratch-off lottery tickets valued at $50. At the time she was wearing a blue shirt and dark colored jacket and had a Delaware Park Casino Player's Club card around her neck on a purple lanyard.

When the clerk placed the tickets on the counter the suspect grabbed the tickets and fled out the front door. The clerk chased the suspect and confronted her as she attempted to enter into her vehicle, which was parked in front of the store with the engine running.

The clerk managed to grab the steering wheel in an attempt to prevent the suspect from fleeing. However, she was able to push him out of the way, put the vehicle into gear and drive away. The momentum of the fleeing vehicle caused the clerk to fall to the ground, injuring his left wrist.

The injuries to the clerk consisted of a swollen left wrist and forearm and did not require medical treatment at the scene.

Anyone with additional information about this incident can contact PFC Peter Barnes at 302-366-7110 ext. 432 or peter.barnes@cj.state.de.us. You can send an anonymous text message tip by texting 302NPD and your message to TIP411. Information can also be provided anonymously to Crime Stoppers at 1-800-TIP-3333 or via the internet at www.tipsubmit.com.

Child care center ransacked

Newark Police are investigating a break-in at the KinderCare, located at 1520 Casho Mill Dr. The event occurred on January 14, where employees noticed that an office had been disturbed, several office items had been removed, and a large crack had appeared on the locked door to the electrical closet, where someone had attempted to force it open. Over $1,200 of office equipment had been taken, including a Dell laptop computer, a Dell desktop computer, a digital camera, and a cell phone.

A desk in the office where the equipment was stored was seen to have been rifled through. Money and a checkbook for the facility had been left behind in one of the drawers.

Interviews with staff revealed that only a few employees and the cleaning crew had keys to the building. None of the outside doors were disturbed and no other signs of forced entry were evident. A canvass of the houses near the business was performed and came up with negative results. Police were given serial numbers of all the stolen items and will attempt to track them. The case is currently being reviewed by the Criminal Investigation Division.

Suspect moves cones on Elkton Rd.

Police have arrested a 21 year-old Wilmington man who was seen moving traffic barrels on Elkton Rd., which caused a dangerous re-routing of traffic. Last Saturday, the suspect was seen near Thorn Lane, moving the barrels, by a security officer at the nearby apartment complex. Elkton Rd. is undergoing a major roadway renovation and has significantly re-routed the lanes on the roadway.

The guard asked the suspect to desist. The suspect refused and told the guard, to "mind his own business."

The guard phoned the police department who dispatched a patrol vehicle to the scene. The suspect had moved 30 barrels which had caused the opposing lanes of traffic on Elkton Rd. to face each other head-on. The patrol officer spotted the suspect, matching the description given to him by the security guard.

The suspect was questioned, where the officer smelled a strong odor of alcohol on him. The suspect was detained and brought to headquarters for a blood alcohol test.

The suspect was charged with Disorderly Conduct – Creating a Hazardous Condition, Pedestrian on Highway When Sidewalks are Available, Drunk on a Highway, and Interfering with Official Traffic Control Devices.

Slashing charges

New Castle County Police have arrested Suann Tymitz, a 33 year-old female who resides in the unit block of Chatham Lane in the Prides Court Apartments in Newark. She has been charged with felony assault and weapon related offenses after she cut her boyfriend about his arm with a knife. Tymitz, who is a convicted felon, is prohibited from possessing weapons.

Tymitz

On January 13, at 9:46 p.m., County Police went to Christiana Hospital for a reported stabbing that occurred at the above location. When officers arrived, the 35-year-old male victim indicated that he was stabbed in his left arm by his girlfriend during a domestic dispute. The victim sustained an injury to the back of his upper arm and received 18 stitches.

The investigation revealed that the victim and Tymitz had a domestic dispute that became violent. The victim indicated that he went into his bedroom in an attempt to get away from the situation, when his girlfriend followed him and punched him in the head. He then responded to the living room and was attempting to unplug the television, when Tymitz approached him from behind and cut him about the upper part of his left arm with a knife. The victim then fled the residence and received a ride from a friend to the Christiana Hospital where he received treatment for his injury.

Police responded to the suspect's residence where Tymitz was located. After several failed attempts for the suspect to comply to the commands of the officers, she was eventually taken into custody.

Tymitz was charged with assault in the second degree, possession of a deadly weapon during the commission of a felony, possession of a deadly weapon by a person prohibited, offensive touching and resisting arrest. She was also found to have two warrants that were issued by New Castle County Court of Common Pleas. Tymitz arraignment is pending.

Wake up from winter with garden workshops

By CARRIE MURPHY
UD COOPERATIVE EXTENSION

In a conversation with my colleague I mentioned that I was tired of the snow, to which he replied, "It's winter; what do you expect?" And, he's right, it is winter. The days are short, the air is frigid, and my garden has been covered with snow since, well, I'm not sure because I can't remember, it's been that long. If you're like me, you're counting the days until the garden is, at least, visible. I appreciate every season, including winter, so I'm not interested in skipping winter entirely to arrive in spring, but I would like to feel like an occasional uncharacteristically warm day, a clear trail to my compost pile, and late winter blooms are not pipe dreams. I can't think of a better way to overcome the winter blues than to learn a thing or two in the company of like-minded gardeners who have similar feelings in the dead of winter.

Our New Castle County Master Gardeners have anticipated your need for all things "green" at this time of year. They've prepared a schedule of home gardening workshops in January and February to keep you engaged until the snow melts away, the soil becomes softer, and the early blooming plants begin to emerge. On Thursday, February 10, Master Gardener Tom Maddux will lead a workshop on vertical gardening. Tom is a cutting-edge gardener who thinks that "gardening-up" is exciting! With Tom's help, in this workshop you will learn how to take your garden to new heights and produce desirable results. Learn how to design with vines and espaliers and bring the flowers closer to your nose.

On Wednesday, February 16, Master Gardeners Frank Ebright and Rob Medicus will provide you with the tools to prepare your landscape for spring. Frank and Rob will help you take the uncertainty out of your spring to-do list and discuss landscape clean-up, the dos and don'ts of plant pruning, insects and diseases, early vegetable and ornamental plantings, and lawn establishment and maintenance.

Finally, on Wednesday, February 23, Master Gardener Clyde Roberts will entertain beginning vegetable gardeners in his Starting your Vegetable Garden workshop. This workshop, designed for those planning their first garden, will introduce new gardeners to garden site selection, soil amendments, vegetable varieties, and other topics that will help you start your first vegetable garden.

The New Castle County Master Gardeners' Workshops for the Home Gardener are offered at the New Castle County Cooperative Extension Office, 461 Wyoming Road in Newark on the University of Delaware campus. These workshops begin at 7 pm and cost $15 each. To register, contact our Extension Office at (302) 831-COOP or e-mail Carrie Murphy, Horticulture Agent, cjmurphy@udel.edu . More information can be found online at http://ag.udel.edu/nccmg.

Known by friends and family as Bert, Spivey moved to the Wilmington/Kennett Square area from North Tarrytown, New York, in 1978, following his retirement as the Vice President of Marketing for what was then McGraw Hill's Information Services Division. It was his keen interest in learning combined with a commitment to achieving a Bachelor's degree, a pursuit begun at Vanderbilt University but cut short by the Great Depression, that led to his involvement with the University and the creation of its self-directed program of academic study ranging from Australian literature to Anglo-Saxon history to photographic composition and digital editing to environmental studies to computer studies to ancient Greek to modern Italian.

OBITUARIES

participants, today offers more than 170 courses, all taught by Academy members, attracting over 2,000 students a semester in a building all its own. Spivey was one of the leaders in developing the program's philosophy, structure, and growth, and himself taught a variety of popular courses, lecturing every year until 2005 on a wide range of subject matter, including Anglo-Saxon history, Irish history, Photography, history of the Balkans, and a standing-room-only course on Alexander Hamilton and the founding of the United States.

Spivey was also the first student to graduate from the University of Delaware's Over 60 Tuition Free Program. He graduated in 1989 at the age of 74 with a degree in History. In his senior year at the university, he was invited to apply for Phi Beta Kappa but turned down the offer because he felt the honor would better benefit a Delaware student just starting out on a career path. As Spivey marched in the commencement line of graduates, a young audience member exclaimed, "Look at the little old man!" and was informed that he was an honors member of the graduating class completing his degree after a 54-year delay. "That's the coolest thing I ever heard!" was the response.

Albert Guy Spivey Jr. was born September 9, 1914, in Nashville, TN, the eldest of two children of Albert Guy Spivey Sr., a salesman, and Anne Hertenstein Spivey, a former secretary and housewife. He graduated in the class of 1931 from Webb School in Bell Buckle, TN, at 16 and matriculated that fall at Vanderbilt University, choosing economics as his major. Once the Depression forced the abandonment of his degree following his sophomore year, Spivey looked to launch a business career, joining the FW Dodge Company as a reporter, rising quickly to regional sales management positions. He served in the US Army during World War II, honorably discharged in 1946 with the rank of First Lieutenant. That same year, he met Jane Davidson Knapp, a teacher at Plattsburgh State Teacher's College (now part of the state university system). They were married the following year, and shortly thereafter settled in Atlanta, GA, where their three daughters were born. In 1961, they moved to New York to the FW Dodge home office. When McGraw Hill acquired Dodge and created the Information Services division with Dodge as the core, Spivey was appointed head of the marketing function.

Spivey was predeceased by his youngest daughter, Susan Elizabeth, in 1959; his eldest daughter, Anne Brooks Spivey Woodward, in 1996; his wife, in 1999; and his sister, Anna Brooks Spivey Creedy, in 2008. He is survived by his daughter, Carlisle Spivey; son-in-law, Peter Sibley; three granddaughters, Rebecca Woodward Tabbutt, Hannah Carlisle Woodward, and Sarah Margaret Woodward; a grandson-in-law, Joseph Tabbutt; a great-granddaughter, Anna Hope Tabbutt; son-in-law Roland Woodward, and several nieces and nephews.

The burial service will be private. A memorial service will be held at Kendal at Longwood on Saturday, January 29 at 2 pm. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the University of Delaware for the benefit of the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute, 115 Arsht Hall, 2700 Pennsylvania Avenue, Wilmington, DE 19806.

Out of the Attic

This week's Out of the Attic item is an early 1900's postcard view of the East Main Street and Center Street intersection looking west from a point about in front of today's Home Grown Cafe Restaurant. The white building to the right was the home and office of Dr. Kollock, Newark's town physician. Later it was converted to commercial uses and was a Laundromat before demolition in the 1970's to make way for a Mellon Bank.

That building was demolished to make way for the present structure housing Happy Harry's Drug Store. To the far left is the 1890's vintage building that housed the Wollaston General Store. It then housed the Newark Farm & Home Supply Co. until the mid-1980's. After renovations it is now home to several businesses anchored by The Learning Station. The white building next door is the Washington House started in 1825 as a hotel. Vic Willis and his wife owned and operated the hotel from 1911 until his death n 1946. After a time as Merrill's Tavern, the property was transformed into the Stone Balloon nightclub. The Balloon was demolished in June 2006 to make way for the Washington House Condominiums that now stand on the historic site of Newark's first Market chartered by King George II April 13, 1758.

Visit the Newark History Museum located at the historic passenger train station on South College Avenue. The museum will be open now through March by appointment for groups, individuals, and special events. Call 368-9845 for arrangements. The Newark Historical Society invites donations or loans of objects, stories, pictures and other artifacts of places, activities, people, and life styles in the Greater Newark Area for its permanent collections.

Mocha, Music & More

On Friday, January 21, 7-9 p.m., Friends of Newark again offers live music and the spoken word to Newark with its community coffeehouse. At the start of this new year, the coffeehouse, Mocha, Music & More will continue at Central Perk on Main Street across from the Galleria, thanks to owner Pin Campbell.

The first performance of the evening is Aric Pringle, singer/songwriter/guitarist, who comes from Sioux City, South Dakota and graduated from Cape Henlopen High School, Delaware. The evening's second performer is Maggie Rowe, Delaware poet and teacher and Newark resident, who was born in Somerset, England. Maggie, who is a recipient of the Delaware Division of the Arts Fellowship in Poetry, has been published in Oberon and The Sun, as well as in the Delaware anthologies Art and Poetry and On the Mason-Dixon Line. Her book of poetry, Every Mother Moves to a New Country, will be published by Finishing Line Press in 2011. The last act of the evening is Dorothy and Dayve, a duo sometimes called 4Ever Erin2 that both sing and play instruments. They have a wide-ranging repertoire that includes Celtic/Irish music, traditional music and their own music inspired by blues, bluegrass and folk. They also perform original county/folk music that grows out of Dayve's experience of growing up in the Appalachian hills.

Along with the entertainment, there will again be a door prize, this month contributed by The Newark Natural Foods Cooperative, a longtime Newark institution serving both the physical and community needs of area residents and located in the Market East Plaza.

If interested in performing, contact Scheduling Coordinator, Lori Benscoter at (302) 834-3385 or at Benscoter2@comcast.net. If interested in getting involved with Friends of Newark's efforts, contact davidr41@hotmail.com or call 368-7158.

Low cost vaccinations, microchipping, and New Castle County dog licenses are available at the clinics, which are held monthly in partnership with and on-site at Concord Pet Foods & Supplies stores throughout New Castle and Kent Counties in Delaware. All vaccinations are administered by a licensed veterinarian.

Rabies, distemper, and bordetella (dogs only) vaccinations are $15 each and HomeAgain Microchips (permanent identification for pet/owner reunion) are $25 each. Prices vary for New Castle County dog licenses and payment is accepted separately from payment for vaccinations and microchips. For complete licensing information, visit http://www.dehumane.org/doglicensing.

Clinics are first come, first served, and cash or checks only are accepted for payment. Cats must be in hard plastic or cardboard carriers, and dogs must be wearing a collar and non-retractable leash. Your pet's most recent previous rabies certificate with veterinarian's signature or stamp must be presented to receive a 3-year rabies vaccination.

Swimmers make push for state meet

By JON BUZBY

JONBUZBY@HOTMAIL.COM

For most of us the recent blast of nasty winter weather makes summertime memories of swimming pools seem like a lifetime ago ... and a long ways away.

However, for high school swimmers the familiar smell of chlorine in their suits is not only emanating now, but will continue to do so for the next several weeks as teams make one last push to qualify swimmers for the state meet.

"The boys have been working extremely hard all season long, averaging around 6,500-7,000 yards per practice," Newark boys swim coach Brian Polaski said. "They have done everything I have asked and begun to surpass my expectations."

Newark is nearing the end of its boys and girls seasons and with each team sporting a 6-2 dual-meet record, both coaches are pleased with the progress the swimmers have made in and out of the pool.

"The season so far has been a great success," girls coach Bryan Stambaugh said. "The swimmers have dropped a lot of time."

Unlike most other sports, where the only team goal is to win each regular-season game in hopes of reaching the state tournament, a swim team's focus at dual meets is on qualifying individuals for the state championship meet. And while on some teams this might create a "me-first" attitude, it's quite the opposite at Newark.

"It takes a coach, on average, three to four seasons to bring their program to the level they want," Polaski said. "Not a level in terms of wins and losses, but a level with complete buy-in from the athletes. Dedication not only to the coach and the established program, but their teammates. [The swimmers] have all bought in to what we are trying to do with Newark swimming and they are seeing the results in the pool."

Those results include several swimmers having already qualified for states: Ian Moyer (50, 200, 500 free, 100 back), Tyler Coffing (50, 100 free, 200 IM), Eric Moyer (50, 100 free), Chris Dryden (50, 100 free, 100 back (consideration time)), Cliff Hegedus (100 Fly (consideration time)) and Tim Hegedus (100 breast (consideration time)).

Polaski singled out Moyer and Dryden as two swimmers whose work ethics typify that of the entire team.

"Ian has completely dedicated himself to the team," Polaski said. "During the off-season Ian was constantly in the weight room becoming stronger for this season. His work ethic has become better each year.

"Chris showed glimmers of promise during the first few weeks of practice. Once we started meets his true talent came through as he began dropping time, scoring points and qualified for the state meet."

On the girls' side Jordan Sawyer (50, 100, 200 free, 100 back, 200 IM), Sarah Braatz (50, 100, 200, 500 free, 200 IM, 100 back, 100 breast), Melissa Hall (diving) and Zoe Coffing (200 IM, 100 breast) have qualified for states.

Polaski quickly credits the senior leadership, particularly captains Bimal Amin and Cliff Hegedus, as being critical to the team's success. "They were selected by their peers to head the team and they have done an exemplary job," he said. "Cliff and Bimal have embraced their roles as captains and have become true leaders."

With just three meets remaining, both coaches hope to gather momentum to take to the state meet, which is Feb. 23, 24 and 26 at the Nawstrom Natatorium in the Carpenter Sports Building.

It will be there, as a team, where the swimmers hope to see their individual hard work from a long winter season pay off.

"We are hoping to build off the success from the season and place in the top 10 at the state meet," Stambaugh said.

Glasgow swimmers qualify for states

The Glasgow swim teams enter the home stretch of its schedule with four members having qualified for states with hopes that several more will make time before the end of the season.

Junior Caitlin Boyer and sophomore Devon Turner qualified in diving, while freshman Alexandra Davisson qualified in the 100 back and junior Emily Cummings will compete in the 50 free.

"The season so far has gone well for our team," coach David Kohan said. "For the most part [the swimmers] have stayed healthy and continue to strive for personal bests in their respective events with the goal to have more swimmers qualified for states because we have quite a few on the bubble."

SERVING OUR COUNTRY

Ruggiero, right, was one of 90 soldiers honored at the 2011 All-American Bowl in San Antonio, TX.

Staff Sgt. Ruggiero honored at football game

Army Staff Sgt. Nicholas P. Ruggiero was one of 90 Army active duty, Reserve, or National Guard soldier heroes honored during the pregame activities at the 2011 Army sponsored "All-American" Bowl in San Antonio, Texas. Shortly before the kickoff of the nationally-televised game, each soldier hero was matched to an All-American high school athlete, who represented the East and West squads on the field.

During the past year, the soldier heroes have participated in various military deployments, and because of their dedication, leadership, and teamwork skills, received various medals for their distinguished service to our country.

Ruggiero, a recruiter with the Hartford Recruiting Company, Conn., is the son of John Ruggiero of Bear, Del.
