VOL. 60, No. 6 | NEWARK, DELAWARE, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1941 | PRICE TEN CENTS

FIRST RADIO GUILD BROADCAST, SUNDAY; PLANS FOR MUSICAL COMEDY UNDERWAY

Production To Be Entirely Written, Staged, And Directed By Students

The University of Delaware's first original musical comedy, entitled "Half-way Under," will make its debut on April 30 and May 1, 1942. The hilarious musical extravaganza will be presented in Mitchell Hall.

Tryouts and casting will be held in Mitchell Hall on November 19 and 20, at 4:15. All talent is urged to make its appearance at that time. There will be a need for musicians, singers, actors, and comedians.

The plot of the story, as hinted by Eddie Golin, author of the script, consists of a young man's wild flee from an ambitious future mother-in-law and her daughter. His hectic journey leads him into purgatory—the land where all Supreme court justices finally settle down. This location (purgatory) is the deciding grounds where all humanity makes their last stand for either heaven or its direct opposite.

The climax of the story comes when the mother-in-law, trapped in the elevator going down, sings a blues song that makes even ..... look like a heel.

The authors wish to remind the entire student body of both Delaware College and the Women's College that the play will be produced by students only, both male and female. The music, words and script, have been written by students, and it will take the utmost cooperation of the participating student body to make the show the success it was intended to be.

In trying out for the musical on November 19 and 20 please be prepared to demonstrate your abilities. If you sing, have a song ready; if you act, have something ready to prove it. Remember—this is your show—it belongs to the students to present on the selected dates of April 30 and May 2, 1942.

Sig Ep's Continue Big Brother Plan

As in the past, the members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity have formed a "Big Brother" system for their pledges. Each pledge in the fraternity is assigned to an active member, who acts as the pledge's Big Brother.

Although the main duty of the Big Brother is to help his pledge through any scholastic difficulty, he also helps the pledge to join and take an active part in the social and extra-curricular activities of the college.

E52 Recruits First Grade Student As U of D Talent Fails

George Abbot may have startled Broadway with the youthfulness of the talent which he has assembled for his new musical BEST FOOT FORWARD, but, just as the E52 Players are scooping Broadway by presenting Saroyan's JIM DANDY in a pre-professional production, they are also outdoing the commercial theatre in the precociousness of their thespians. For it has just been announced that Bobby Kase, local six-year-old actor and son of Dr. C. R. Kase, has accepted the role of "Little Johnny" in JIM DANDY.

But do not let his tender years lead you in to the erroneous conjecture that Bobby is a novice behind the footlights, or even that he is inexperienced in interpreting the subtle emotions penned by Saroyan. For last year young Mr. Kase appeared in the Player's production of Sarayan's LOVE'S OLD SWEET SONG. In a recent interview for THE REVIEW, Mr. Kase said, "Although I had planned to retire this year after a long and arduous career, I have consented to appear with the E52 Players because I believe in their sincerity and artistic excellence—besides they give me lollypops at rehearsals."

Another unusually talented member of the cast of JIM DANDY, although, we gather from the appearance of a handsome mustachio upon his upper lip, not quite so juvenile as Bobby, is Milt Gerstine. Milt is, as far as we know, the first person in the history of the legitimate theater to do a complete tap routine while accompanying himself on the piano. This unique display of talent occurs thusly: Milt has just had recorded his own piano rendition of "Alexander's Ragtime Band." This record will be used in the performance of JIM DANDY, and Gerstine, in the role of "Jim Crow", will tap dance to the music which he himself played. Amazing, what? Not only that but during the course of the play, Gerstine manages to blow a bugle and play a bit of Boogy-Woogy.

Prom Committee Makes Tentative Selection Of Band

by Tom Skripps

The annual Junior Prom of Delaware College will be held in the Gold Ballroom of the Hotel DuPont in Wilmington on December 5. The early date has been set because of the many dances that are held during the second semester of the college year. By selecting a date in the first semester, the Prom Committee expects that more students

Every year, students of Delaware College have clamored for a name band, and this year it was the same story—NAME BAND. The Prom Committee tried very hard to get a name band and had Gene Krupa almost signed on the dotted line; however, the Social Committee prevented this by ruling that since it has been the policy of the committee that the Junior Prom have a small band to lower costs so that more students may be able to attend, this plan should not be abandoned.

Efforts have been made to contract the best small band that is available at this early date. Perhaps the band will not be nationally known, but, at least, it will be the best in the lower price range. Bands who are being considered are those of Dick Messner, Al Galvin, Johnny McGee, Van Alexander, Bunny Berigan, and Michael Loring.

President Walter Hullihen To Speak At Inaugural Program From Mitchell Hall

Broadcasting direct from the stage of Mitchell Hall, the Radio Guild will inaugurate a new series of half-hour programs Sunday afternoon at 1:30. Titled "University On The Air," the Guild shows will be heard every week over station WDEL.

Constituting a landmark in the history of the University, the new series of radio programs will be the first of its kind ever to be conducted on the campus.

Keynoting the inaugural broadcast of "University On The Air", President Walter Hullihen will welcome the Radio Guild as an important addition to the University.

Selections by the Radio Guild Chorus, Shirley Brower at the harp, and an experimental drama for radio by the Radio Guild workshop will round out the initial broadcast.

Members of the Chorus, an octet conducted by Dr. Anthony J. Loudis, are: Maryanna Kieffer, Charlotte Tatnall, Muriel Reynolds, Mary Kay Gray, Gilbert Wiltbank, James Quinn, Branson Frye, and Robert Baer.

More than a hundred students have enrolled for participation in one or more phases of radio work, and a large portion of the faculty have signified an enthusiastic interest.

The Radio Guild, a student organization of the Men's and Women's Colleges of Delaware, has been set up to acquaint both students and faculty with the principles of radio production. Explained by Hal Arnoff, the Director of the Radio Guild: "Producing radio pro-

Radio Guild To Join Gamma Beta Alpha Fraternity

A chapter of Gamma Beta Alpha, Collegiate Broadcasters of America, will soon be chartered on the University of Delaware campus. The Delaware chapter of the national radio organization will be the first installed in the East.

The National Council of Gamma Beta Alpha, located at the University of Southern California, recently appointed Hal Arnoff, Director of the Radio Guild, Eastern Representative for the fraternity.

Founded at U. S. C.

A group of nineteen students at the University of Southern California founded Gamma Beta Alpha, Collegiate Broadcasters of America, in the spring of 1934. Since its inception, this organization of men and women who have made up the nucleus of the Division of Radio-Television of the University of Southern California has produced an average of seven radio programs and two television productions each week.

In an effort to promote contacts between members of Gamma Beta Alpha and those engaged in the profession of radio, the group has initiated numerous honorary members who are prominent in the radio field and who have shown an interest in its organization and future.

During the last year, Gamma Beta Alpha received requests from university radio groups throughout the country for information about its fraternal organization and suggestions for the formation of a national honorary fraternity. In line with Gamma Beta Alpha's plans for national expansion, the University of Delaware will become the headquarters of that fraternity in the East.

Charter members of Gamma Chapter, Gamma Beta Alpha, will be: Hal Arnoff, Gwin Jones, Bernard Tannen, Edwin Golin, Jack Culver, James Quinn, Richard Tybout, Bernard Ableman, Robert Brodie, and Norman Bunin.

Candidacy for Gamma Beta Alpha on the Delaware campus will be based upon merit and service in the Radio Guild.

Dr. Molstad Speaks At First A.I.Ch.E. Banquet Monday

Four principal methods of practicing engineers in aiding students in the profession were the basis of the talk given by Dr. Melvin C. Molstad at the first semi-annual banquet of the Delaware Student Chapter of the A.I.Ch.E. in Old College on Monday night. Ninety-five chemical engineering students and their guests attended the dinner.

Dr. Molstad summed those principles as follows: first, the guidance of boys considering engineering; second, cooperation with engineering schools; third, aiding students after college; and fourth, recognition of engineering achievment. He also discussed in detail the possibilities of graduates of engineering schools for self improvement both in scientific and cultural pursuits.

Other prominent guests who attended were Dr. Thomas H. Chilton, Mr. Charles M. Cooper, Mr. James L. Bennett, and Mr. William H. Adams. These men are all outstanding in the field of chemical engineering.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of the society's award to Robert Goldey and John Phillips for highest averages during their freshman and sophomore years. These were presented by Dr. Edward M. Schoenborn; both he and Dr. Allan Colburn are councilors to the group.

Kappa Alpha Reigns Supreme . . .

"We're not casting our personal vote; we're voting the way our fraternity told us to vote." With that terse statement, John Ballard explained to the Student Council why he and Richard Cann, senior and junior members of the Council from Kappa Alpha, voted against the transfer of seventy dollars of REVIEW funds to the "Cauldron" in order to publish that magazine. A unanimous vote of the Council was needed.

Twenty odd men, approximately five per cent of the student body, have the power to say that there shall not be a student literary magazine. Do they have so much concern over the fact that THE REVIEW would have had to, at times, consist of only four instead of six pages? We certainly are glad that they appreciate the paper, but we can't commend them upon their selection.

Instead, we condemn this group for blocking what has been so difficult to achieve—the achievment of students who spent many hours organizing and writing the magazine. We don't appreciate the concern of Kappa Alpha for THE REVIEW; we realize that their shortsightedness, their attitude of "what we can't accomplish or understand must be no good," has lost to the student body one of its most worthwhile activities.

The "Cauldron" has been killed by a system that permits even less than one per cent of the student body to prevent activities that are beneficial to the whole school. Apparently, most of the school was in favor of having a "Cauldron," for their representatives voted for it. All but one fraternity were convinced that it was worthwhile. When such a system becomes detrimental to the interests of the majority, it should be changed.

Clean Up the Campus . . .

The outside of the new dormitory is almost complete although some of the windows remain to be put in and the slating has not been started. However, these will shortly be done and work on the inside will begin.

Since the construction started, the campus of the university has been in a very sorry state. It is time that some attempt should be made to correct this condition. The closing of the walk on the west side has been a great inconvenience to many students. There is still much building material piled on the walk and the walk is still enclosed. However, there is plenty of room in back of the dormitory in which to place this material, and as soon as the slate is put on the roof, the remainder could be removed. Surely it would work no hardship on the university to move the fence back a few feet and restore the walk to a good condition.

We might also suggest that the university cut down some of the weeds that make the south end of the building grounds look so unsightly. We realize that no landscaping can be done at the present time, but the energetic use of a sickle would accomplish wonders beyond comprehension. The university should make every effort to restore the campus, now.

Dr. G. Leverton To Speak At Annual Drama Conference

On Saturday, November 15, the Delaware campus will be the scene of the sixth annual Univeristy Dramatic Conference, which will be attended by some three hundred delegates from school and community theatres in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey.

Principal speaker for the general meeting of the conference will be Dr. Garrett Leverton of New York. Dr. Leverton is Educational Director for Samuel French, and was formerly director of the Northwestern University theatre. Another feature of the conference will be a performance in the evening of the E52 Player's pre-Broadway presentation of JIM DANDY by William Saroyan.

An increased emphasis will be laid on the growing field of Children's Theatre. At a morning meeting, Miss Gloria Chandler, director of Children's Theatre work for the Associated Junior Leagues of America will speak on some practical problems involved in the presentation of plays for children. This meeting will be conducted by Mrs. C. R Kase, chairman of the University Drama Group committee on Children's Theatre. There will also be an exhibit of books on this subject, and several times during the day technicolor movies of performances of children's plays by several University theatres will be shown.

The conference will open at 9:30 a.m. with greetings from the state Board of Public Instruction and from the University. The rest of the morning will be spent in lecture demonstrations. There will be the lecture on Children's Theatre, already mentioned, as well as lectures on acting and directing, costuming, scene designing, and makeup. Professor Elizabeth Kelly of the Home Economics Department, who is a graduate of the Margaret Morrison College of Carnegie Tech, majoring in Costume Economics, is planning a lecture demonstration of stage costuming with the assistance of the costume staff of the E52 Players' under the chairmanship of Miss Jane Stephens. Mr. George Henry, one of the ablest directors of school plays in the state and director of the winning play in last year's Play Festival, will do a demonstration of directing with students from the Dover High School.

grams on the campus will not only be a fascinating experience for those who participate, but the excellent opportunity offered students and faculty to acquire practical knowledge in speaking, writing, acting, and engineering for radio."

The cast for the workshop drama includes: Ruthann Tease, Leah Ottey, Bernard Ableman, Layton Maybrey, James Quinn, Morton Schulman, Robert Wahl, and Edwin Golin. The initial broadcast of the Radio Guild will not be opened to an audience.

The first forum program will be presented the following Sunday, November 9, when three members of the English Department will discuss Rudyard Kipling, O. Henry, and Ernest Hemingway in the Short Story. Dr. W. O. Sypherd, Dr. A. H. Able, and Dr.. E. H. Long will take part in the broadcast.

A Faculty Board of Consultants to the Radio Guild on Educational Programs has been formed to aid the Guild in arranging forum broadcasts. The consultants are: Dr. O. W. Sypherd, Dr. J. S. Gould, Dr. F. H. Squire, Dr. E. M. Schoenborn, Miss Harriet Bailey, and Mr. William Zipf.

The Faculty Committee on Broadcasting: Mr. Charles Bush, chairman, Dr. C. L. Day, and Dr. C. R. Kase, will serve in an advisory capacity to the Guild

Blue Hen Soccer Team Losses Third Straight To Rider

by Bill Piper

The Blue and Gold booters met their third straight reversal when a very superior team representing Rider College decisively defeated them, 8-2. Scoring 3 markers in the initial period, the Trenton team, which has won 32 game in 33 starts, beaten only by Princeton 2-1, took the lead immediately and was never in danger.

The Delaware team fought scrappily against every shot and score up to the finish, but were no match for Rider, who divided the scoring among 5 players. Pacing the victors with 3 tallies was Swieconck, followed by Walakiewics, a back who moved into the line, with 2 markers. Fernandez, Farr and Coleman completed the scoring with 1 goal apiece.

Scoring for the Blue Hens was their ace center-forward, freshman Bob Ketchum, who got both goals, one each in the second and third quarters. His first shot was all his own, since he dribbled in alone and took the shot. On the second score he received a perfect cross pass from Siemen to put it away.

The lineup of the Rider game:

Del. (2)	Pos.	Rider (8)
Siemen	R.O.	Blake
Grier	R.I.	Fernandez
Ketchum	C.F.	Swieconck
Cain	L.I.	Owen
Irwin	L.O.	Blasco

Delaware Team Favored To Defeat Mt. St. Mary's In Saturday's Game

Tomorrow, after a week's lay-off, the Delaware Blue Hens will be pitted against a relatively weak Mount St. Mary's team. Unlike many of the previous games, Delaware will be the slight favorite this time. This year's contest with the Mounts will be the first with that school since 1936 when the Hens were beaten 14-0.

To date, Delaware's record is far more impressive than its opponents, having won three and tied one; each of the three wins seeing the Blue and Gold doing all the scoring. After being tied by Westchester State Teachers in a thrilling battle, 7-7, the Hens rolled over their arch rivals, P.M.C. 20-0. Ursinus was the next victim, 24-0, with Dickinson following, 28-0. Tomorrow they look forward to extending their current winning streak to four.

According to the record compiled by Mount St. Mary's, the task should not be too difficult. The Mounts started the season on the wrong side of the ledger by losing to Washington, 25-0, and then were beaten by Western Maryland, 24-21. The next two weeks saw them even the count by defeating Potomac State, 6-0, and a not too powerful La Salle team, 7-6. However, last week they again fell behind by losing to Elon, 21-6.

Delaware's starting line up will be the same with the exception of Lee Baer who takes over Fred Sposata's post at right half back. Sposata was injured last Sunday while officiating a sand lot game in Wilmington. Baer is a hard runner and should ably fill the spot that was originally held by Co-captain Mel Brooks. Sposata took Brooks' place when the latter injured his knee in the opening game against Westchester; he has held it ever since. Brooks, incidentally, will be in uniform this week and may see action for a few minutes. Hugh Bogovich, top notch guard, has recovered from a slight brain concussion and will start.

The Blue Hens will go into tomorrow's game attempting to even up the record against the Mounts having in previous contests won three, lost four, and tied one.

The starting line ups:

Pos.	Delaware	Mt. St. Mary's
L.E.	Sloan	Rogan
L.G.	Bogovich	Lamas
C.	Mullen	Clarke
R.G.	Stalloni	Coffee
R.T.	Castevens	O'Connor
R.E.	Jarvis	Skidmore
Q.B.	Newcomb	Ellis
L.H.	Paul	Lawless
R.H.	Baer	Asip
F.B.	Hogan	Hall

The series:

	Delaware	Mt. St. Mary's
1913	20	13
1915	13	6
1916	7	22
1928	0	31
1929	0	39
1930	13	6
1935	0	6
1936	0	14

Freshman Recruits Valuable Addition To Football Team

by Bob Siemen

Coach William Murray is well acquainted with several so-called "insignificant freshmen" whom he definitely considers not insignificant in the least. In more than one case, a boy from the class of '45 has come through at a critical moment during one of the present season's football clashes.

At the beginning of the season, there were fifteen freshmen on the squad. At present there are twelve —Joe Wascavage, Paul Hart, and Harry Jones being the absentees from the original assortment. Hart has not participated in any practices since pre-season drills because of a badly injured ankle. Jones and Wascavage have left school.

So far this season, the work Sposata, Thompson, Coady, Messick, Marusa, and Wood has stood out among the freshman members of the squad. When Mel "Ripper" Brooks was severely injured previous to the opening game, Fred Sposata was groomed for the right halfback post by Murray and his assistants and has filled in so well that he has proven to be one of the best all around halfbacks (defensively and offensively) to enter the Blue Hen institution in a decade.

"Woody" Wood has proven himself to be a dependable line plunger when a few extra yards are needed for a first down. "Buck" Thompson's snag of a touchdown pass in the P.M.C. game and his blocking of a Dickinson kick, which was carried for a touchdown by Jim Mullen, gave the grandstand quarterbacks plenty to talk about.

"Spanky" Messick is a wide awake line backer-up, while "Moose" Marusa fills in a big hole in the center of the line by playing plenty of good guard. Also, the booming punts of Joe Coady were beautiful to behold in the Dickinson game. It may be said here that every upper classman has had a battle for his position by some freshman or other during the course of the season.

What The Engineers Are Doing . .

by Arthur Millman

This first column introduces me to THE REVIEW readers—such as they may be. I hope some Engineers, as well as the Agriculture and Arts and Science students, will find time and interest to read it. I may as well make my apologies now to all who may be mentioned herein and in the columns that will follow. I can get my information only from others; so please excuse any exaggerations, distortions, untruths, etc. Its all in fun anyhow.

I visited the Civil Engineer's lounge in Evans Hall this Tuesday, and I found Arky Vaughn, Eugene Sneider, Bob Rowe, and Forster Hubbard busily working on a complete machine shop floor plan. They carried on this work to the inspiring strains of "boogy-woogy, barrel-house, and the blues". On my entrance, they all stopped and started to talk. They tried to impress me with the advantages of the lounge. Mr. Hubbard showed me the excellent view of the campu and the usual passing attractions. However, their one complaint was that the Electrical Engineers use the lounge more than they do.

When asked what projects the senior Civils will have, Mr. Rowe and Mr. Vaughn answered that the design of a masonry arch bridge was to be next. Mr. Sneider and Mr. Hubbard stated that the junior Civils are now fighting their way out of a fog.

One statement that passed about was that Professor T. D. Mylrea has finally finished his book on "Reinforced Concrete". Another remark —whether of fact or rumor is unknown—is that Joe Whiteman and Bob Rowe are both engaged. I wonder if this is the forerunner of a nursemen's club?

I left the busy C. E's to their work and looked down in the Mechanical Engineering lab. Some senior M. E's were climbing over steam pipes, turning valves, and reading gauges. Of these fellows, only Harry Belk answered my question as to what's new among the M. E's. His answer sounded like double talk: "We're exploding things just now." Under such fire, I retreated to Doc Blumberg's high altar on the third floor. All I could glean from him were a few announcements:

A. Fall initiation banquet of Tau Beta Pi on November 15. John G. Leach, Director of Education of Beacom Business College, and president of the Alumni Association of Delaware College, will be the principal speaker.

B. Monthly meeting of the A.S.M.E., November 6, at 7:30 P.M., Evan's Hall. Mr. C. C. Franck, Turbine Engineer, Westinghouse Electric, will be the speaker.

Coming down from Doc's domain, I ran into a procession of Sophs and Juniors, including Charley Meyer, Harry Hüxford, and Al Newcomb, starting out on a surveying trip. It looked more like the starting of a funeral. Mr. Meyer explained the work of such a trip: "We use the level to watch the girls who go by."

Tuesday evening, the A.I.Ch.E., rumored to be the only Delaware student Engineering society whose members pay their dues, had its annual banquet. Dr. Molstad, who was the speaker, made one very pertinent remark, that one Ch. E. is the equivalent of two M. E's.

SKRIPPS' SCRIBBLING

By TOM SKRIPPS

PREDICTIONS:

Saturday, November 1, will mark a day of great excitement and importance to the Univerity of Delaware. On this day of all days the Blue and Gold of Delaware meets the Mt. St. Mary's football eleven to battle on the gridiron for victory or defeat. To the victor go the spoils and this game is no exception to the rule. Should Mt. St. Mary's win this game then they will stop the Henites victory streak at eight games not counting ties. Should Delaware be victorious then her string of wins will be stretched to nine.

It is my conclusion that should we win this game, then the Blue and Gold will be the proud possessor of an undefeated season laurel. This Saturday's game is the toughest of the season because the visitors are an unpredictable team. They defeat the favorites and lose to the underdogs. Delaware has a tough battle on its hands. Injuries again haunt the Hens as they have done throughout the year. Loss of key men in any team is enough to upset the morale and winning spirit even of championship teams. Should the team go on winning, it will prove that it is capable of taking the bitter with the sweet. Here's to a victory by two touchdowns over the Mt. St. Mary's squad.

QUOTES:

A knee injury will keep the hard driving "Whizzer" Sposato out of the coming clash with the Mountaineers. "Bugs" Baer and "Danny" Wood will alternate to fill this important hole. * * * Although Red Hogan has recovered from his sickness it is doubtful whether he will start Saturday. * * * "Cowboy" Thompson leads the pass snatchers with a total of five caught passes for 52 yards. Walt Paul has pulled two out of the blue for 90 yards to put him ahead in the gaining department. * * * Jim Mullen realizes the dream of every lineman that has played football. That elusive dream being the making of a touchdown. Jim pulled in a down in the Dickinson game. * * * "Ferdy" Lord also scores a touchdown to make him happy for life and repay him for all the tough breaks he has had because of injuries in past years.
