Wilmington Del April 4th 1863.
Dear Edward [Edward A. Fulton]
We received your welcome letter this morning and you may know how very glad we were to get it when I tell you we had not heard from you for near 5 weeks. Cousin Mary Chandlee is at our house on a visit, she says she would be very glad to hear you were coming home sooner than the first of May. She says she was expecting to see you while she was at our house but if you don't intend to come home sooner, she supposes she will have to do without seeing you while here. Mr Walton [Alfred Walton] buried his youngest child last Sunday, its name was Benny, it was named after its Uncle Benjamin. Professor Fowler gave a lecture in the Institute last Monday night. Anna [Anna R. Fulton] and I was at it, the Hall was crowded with ladies and gentlemen, at the close of the lecture he made public examinations. Fowler said of the audience to vote for some person they knew. And Tommy Garrett and Dr Eskew were called on. He told Tommy that he was not very proud that he would as soon as shake hands with a darkey as any one else. that he was a very conscientious man, that he would do what he thought right though the heavens fell. He told Dr Eskew that he was a great patriot, but that he was to rough in his speech, he advised him to take some lessons off Sam Slick. He also toled him he was a good surgeon, he said he ought to be in the army where his surgical talents would be brought into action.

Cousin Cortland [Cortland Chandlee] has had the rheumatism in his back but he is right well at this time. As far as I know all your friends in Wilmington are right well. I suppose you know we have a new governor, I guess he will be a first rate governor, his name is Cannon [William Cannon]. He has issued an order that all persons who help in any way the secessionists will be arrested. an order which I hope we will see acted upon. Mother will send you a dollar in this letter and if you will please write as soon as you get it she will send you more. We sent you some in the letter before the last one, and I don't think you got it, so that she is afraid to put more than one dollar at a time in your letters. The weather is very changeable here, yesterday it was like summer and today it is like winter. Mother has slept very little these last few days she was so very much afraid something had happened to you, that she could not sleep for thinking about you, and indeed we all were very uneasy about you. Mr McLaughlin and Robert have bought a horse and are going down country trading. I don't know how they will make out, Our 4th Delaware regiment is still at Yorktown, they are preparing for a battle, which the people think will soon come off. I hope there will not be so many killed as there was in the battle of Antietam. Our temperance meetings are still going on, and the Hall is generally filled. We are all middling well at home. Uncle Steptoes family are right well, Uncle is working in Mr Bancrofts mill. Fulton Steptoe [James Fulton Steptoe] is in the 6th Maryland regiment, at Harpers ferry, direct his letter in this way and he will get it.

Sunday afternoon April 5th 1863
Cousin Becky was in Wilmington last evening and it was from her I got the directions so they are right, or else he would not get their letters. They have a new preacher out at Mount Salem, his name is Pew, Mr. George's time was out. at the Union Church in 2d st. they have Mr Brindle they say he is a splendid preacher, I have not been to hear him yet. I expect you are very tired of having to lie in a tent so long, if you do, and do not feel capable of coming home by yourself if you will say so, we will send some person for you, write soon, mother and Anna [Anna R. Fulton] join me in love to you. Yours affectionately Sarah C. Fulton
