Caldor in Newark?

Castle Mall owner Fusco files with county for necessary renovation permit

By JENNIFER RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Castle Mall on Chapel Street might soon be revitalized.

According to Don Laubach, plant examiner and supervisor for New Castle County, Fusco Properties, the mall owners since 1992, applied for a renovation permit Tuesday afternoon for a Caldor to be built where K-Mart was once located.

In addition, it has been learned that Fusco Properties has also applied for an area variance with the county Board of Adjustment.

The decision from the Board of Adjustment says that Castle Mall will be converted from a closed to an open mall by eliminating the back row of stores in order to provide a loading/unloading area for trucks supplying the mall.

Since the mall was built in the 1970s under different parking and landscaping standards, Fusco needed to get a variance to have 12 less parking spaces and adjusted measurements for landscaped areas.

The area variances were approved, according to Gretchen Fitting, Planning II.

In the meantime, tenants in the mall contended with flooding problems caused by a leaking roof.

Fusco voluntarily shut the mall down once in January to make repairs, but Delmarva Power had to pull the plug on March 3, after the Deputy State Fire Marshall, Bill Bush, said the mall was an "eminent life threat" to patrons and occupants of the mall.

Upon entering one of the mall's three remaining stores during or after the many snow or ice storms in February, the smell of

Glasgow residents look at incorporation alternatives

By JENNIFER RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

When the Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations disscussed the possibility of incorporating it was because of "neighbor verses neighbor" disputes created by many maintenance associations in the area.

Open space in a housing development is maintained by the developer until the project is 50 to 75 percent finished. When the developer reaches this point, the responsibility is handed over to the residents. Homeowners are then required to collect fees and maintain their communal property.

Stephanie Hansen, president of the council, said she has been hearing from "dozens" of maintenance associations in the Bear/Glasgow area that aren't working. Problems occur because people don't know how to run the associations. Some neighbors don't pay dues, and other neighbors become resentful when they have to do all the work.

Hansen originally thought incorporating the area might serve to alleviate maintenance associations problems, but residents expressed hesitation at a January meeting held to discuss incorporation.

Afterwards, Hansen investigated other solutions, the most recent of which is a Maintenance Association Task Force, formed by New Castle County officials.

Hansen, who is chairperson of the task force, said they will first find out if maintenance associations are working and take action from there.

"I've been assuming that they (maintenance associations) don't work because I've been hearing from dozens around that they don't," Hansen said. "Maybe I'm just hear-

A tale of two Newark landmarks

The George Evans House, built in 1863, is undergoing a renovation by the University of Delaware. It is considered one of the few unaltered examples of nineteenth century Victorian architecture on Newark's Main Street.

Renovations underway at George Evans House

While the fate of the Old Deer Park farm house is debated, the home that belonged to the man who sold the bricks to build the farm house is being remodeled.

The George G. Evans House, at 5 West Main Street, is being remodeled to bring it "back to life and up to current code," according to Dave Hollowell, senior vice president of the University of Delaware.

The house was built in 1863 after Evans married Mary Jane Black. It is known as one of the few unaltered examples of nineteenth century Victorian architecture on Main Street. Hollowell said remodeling endeavors will ensure that the historical essence of the house remains. The porches are being rebuilt exactly as they were and the ornate iron work that decorated the porches will be restored.

According to Newark Historical Society sources, a

Fate of historic Deer Park Farm left hanging

Plans to demolish the Old Deer Park Farm House at 48 West Park Place and build five luxury townhouses were stalled by Newark Planning Commission Tuesday evening.

Commissioners voted to table the vote so the owner of the property, Edward Sobolewski, can investigate the possibility of incorporating the 150-year-old Greek Revival style mansion into his proposal.

The property was initially rezoned in 1982 in order to accommodate a plan for five townhouse condominiums that would be built as an addition to the existing farm house.

Sobolewski attended that meeting but he wore a different hat. At the time, he was the attorney for John Presley, the owner of the 1.25 acre lot.

According to the minutes from the 1982 meeting,

TCBY moves to a larger location

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

As of May 1, it could take people longer to decide on a yogurt flavor at TCBY Yogurt on Main Street because they will have double the flavors to choose from.

TCBY Frozen Yogurt is moving the beginning of May to 72 East Main Street near the Newark Newsstand and the extra space in the new store will allow more yogurt machines to be running. Currently, TCBY offers four yogurt flavors each day.

"Now we'll be able to have sugar-free yogurt everyday," said Pat Clark, co-owner of TCBY.

Owners Martin and Pat Clark are moving the business after operating for nine years at 148 East Main Street.

"We're moving for three reasons," said Martin. "To be closer to the University of Delaware campus and for a larger and more efficient space to operate."

The current store is 1,000 sq. ft. and the new TCBY will be over 1,200 sq. ft.

"TCBY was young at the time we opened the Newark store," said Martin. "We had pies but the line of cakes and yogurt bars have been added. They require storage and preparation areas and new menu items require storage for cups and bowls."

"As products expanded we started to bulge the little building and it has become more and more difficult to operate," he said.

Martin said contractors are currently readying the new store by tearing out partitions in place when the space was previously used as offices.

Police beat

Man assaulted on Elkton Road: Newark police report a 20-year-old Newark man was punched in the face by two men March 30 while he was walking in the 100 block of Elkton Road. The Newark man did not seek medical treatment. Police describe the men as black. One man is about 6 feet tall with a heavy build and the other is about 5 feet 10 inches tall with a thin build. To report information to Newark police, call 366-7111.

DART bus driver threatened: Police report a female bus driver was physically threatened by a man on April 1 when making a stop in the Newark Shopping Center. The man threatened to hit the woman in the face when she refused him bus service unless he paid his fare using a valid bus pass. Police describe the man as black, in his 30s, about 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighing 130 pounds. To report information to police, call 366-7111.

Officer witnesses theft: Newark police arrested three juveniles from Newark, ages 15,16 and 17, after a police officer saw them steal a car March 29 from the 800 block of N. Country Club Drive. The officer was following the teenagers because they had been acting suspicious in the Fairfield Shopping Center, police said. The officer tried to stop them but he was on foot. They fled in the car and crashed into a tree. The three were taken to Christiana Hospital where one was admitted with a broken hip and the other two were treated for minor injuries and released. The teens were charged with theft of a motor vehicle, criminal mischief and conspiracy. They were released to their parents pending a hearing in family court.

Video system and VCR taken: A video game system and a video cassette recorder were reported stolen April 2 from a house in the unit block of Elkton Road. Police report the house was entered through the back door by breaking the lock.

Jewelry, a radio and a jacket stolen: A diamond ring, walkman radio, a jacket and cassette tapes were reported stolen March 30 from a car parked in College Square Shopping Center, Police said.

Numerous reports of graffiti: Police said graffiti was reported at nine different locations in Newark between March 29 and 30. Police report most of the graffiti was spraypainted on buildings on Main Street but the vandalism was also found on property on Blair Court and Ogletown Road.

Two mailboxes run over: Police said two mailboxes in the 1100 block of Old Cooches Bridge Road were reportedly run over by a car March 29.

Mailboxes moved: The mailbox in front of a house in the 100 block of Mill Station Road was pulled from the ground and put in a neighbor's yard April 4, police said. Also on the same date, a mailbox was reported stolen from the front yard of a house in the 100 block of Timberline Drive. Police said the mailbox was later found along Timberline Drive.

Shull Drive mailboxes damaged: Four mailboxes were reported damaged April 1 in the unit block of Shull Drive, police report.

Gutter pulled from house: Police report the gutter downspout was pulled away from the Sigma Kappa Sorority House at 167 Haines Street April 4. Police said the house mother believes the damaged occurred when an attempt was made to steal the Greek letters on the house.

Fire officials gear up for new residential smoke detector law

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Does your home have smoke detectors?

If not, you probably want to make a trip to the hardware store because they will soon be required in all single family, mobile, modular (prefab) and townhomes.

In a statewide effort being spearheaded by the state fire marshal's office, city fire marshals and fire departments are working together to make Delaware residents aware of a new smoke detector law, effective as of July 1.

The fire marshals are reaching the public through events such as fire awareness weekend at malls, the Delaware State Fair and through public service announcements in the media.

Also, New Castle County and City of Newark residents will receive reminder notices about the smoke detector law in their June electric bills.

"This is for everybody's safety," said Deputy State Fire Marshal Grover Ingle. "It's been proved over the years that smoke detectors can and do save lives."

"We know once alerted (by the detector) the early warning allows people to get out," said Newark Fire Marshal Ken Farrall.

But it is not the lives saved by smoke detectors but the tragedies that had Delaware State Fire Marshal Daniel Kiley determined to get the smoke detector law passed.

In the January of 1993, 10 people– mostly elderly people and young children– died in house fires, according to Ingle.

Ingle said in the five fires that killed these people none of the homes had smoke detectors. He said investigation showed at least eight people could have been saved by early notification of smoke detectors.

In the City of Newark and in New Castle County, homeowners without smoke detectors will be issued a violation notice and given time to install the devices. The law says those people not complying can be fined from $100 to $500.

For more information about Delaware's smoke detector law, call the state fire marshal's office at 739-5665 or the Newark fire marshal's office at 366-7075.

Man faces burglary charges

A 21-year-old Bear man was arrested April 2 by Delaware State Police for burglary.

Bear resident Robert Helbing of 301 Greybull Drive in Wrangle Hill Estates was charged with theft, criminal mischief and possession of burglary tools. Police said Helbing entered Bob's Adult Bookstore in New Castle through a window and reportedly stole a number of cassette tapes. He then fled.Prior to the break-in, state police had stopped Helbing in his car. A witness description and police investigation of the burglary led to Helbing. He was arraigned at Court 11 and released on $3,800 unsecured bond.

flood water and stained ceiling tiles was prominent.

It was necessary for Thrift Drug to install tarps that hung loosely from the ceiling to catch the leaking water. After the mall was closed in March, Bush called in the Food and Drug Administration to inspect the area where prescription drugs were kept because it was "drenched."

Dick Austin, owner of Castle Mall Liquor Store, had to get special permission from the Alcohol Beverage Control Agency to move his stock. The ABC determined that the alcohol wouldn't be consumable if left on site.

Austin has three and a half years remaining on his lease. If repairs are made and he and Fusco can agree on terms, then Austin said he would move back into the mall.

Mike Collins, manager of Radio Shack said all the merchandise in the store was damaged because of the water.

Numerous phone calls were made to Fusco Properties concerning further developments but none were returned.

Work begins at Evans House

local historian characterized Evans as "the College's banker and the town's good angel for many years."

Evans managed his father's store at 12 West Main Street (across the street from his home) and two brick yards. His first brick yard was west of Elkton Road, approximately where the Rodney dormitory complex is now. The second was on South College Avenue (called Depot Road then) where the University's Kirkbride Hall is now. It was demolished in 1961.

Evans' bricks were used to build the Old Deer Park farm house, St. Thomas Episcopal Church and the town hall.

He served two terms on the Town Commission and was president in 1869 but some say Evans' greater service was to the University. He was secretary-treasurer of the school's board of trustees from 1856 to 1897. His son Charles B., succeeded him for another 35 years in that position.

Evans Hall, the University's College of Engineering building, was named in honor of George and Charles B. Evans. George Evans died in 1904 and his daughter Lena lived in the house until 1948.

The University acquired the Evans House soon after and named it the Rees Building, in honor of Dr. Carl J. Rees.

Hollowell said Academic Services will move into the new and improved Evans House.

Chris Miller, design manager for the Evans House, said he hopes the project will be finished by early June.

Deer Park Farm: a future?

▶ FARM, from 1A

Sobolewski said, "We have a society that does not want that building torn down. It is a valuable asset."

Twelve years later, he returned to the planning commission as the owner of the property to ask the commission to approve a subdivision for the land so he could tear down the farm house and build five townhouses.

Although the city planning department recommended Sobolewski's plan (contingent upon many deed restrictions), Roy Lopata, planning director, said the developer needs to demonstrate why his plan could not be reworked to include the farm house, which is registered as an historic building.

The recommendation also said that both the city and nearby residents–whether they opposed or supported the subdivision of the property in the 1980s– had expected the landowner to restore and renovate a local historic building that would become an attractive community asset rather than a continuing eyesore.

Residents who live near the vacant farm house have watched it deteriorate over the years and agree it is an eyesore; however, they were against townhouses because they were not in character with the surrounding neighborhood.

Connie Lathrop, a homeowner on Indian Road-adjacent to the Old Deer Park Farm– said she would "be betrayed by city council" if the townhouses were approved. Upon moving to Newark 14 years ago, she said she examined the zoning in the area and was assured her neighborhood wouldn't change.

The 1982 rezoning hearing was similar to Tuesday night's hearing because the majority of residents at both were against the proposal. They were against the plan in 1982 because they believed "spot" rezoning of the land to include multifamily dwellings in a single family area would set a legal precedent and because five units were too many.

Tuesday, they were against the number of units, the destruction of an historic building and the location of townhouses in an otherwise single-family home neighborhood.

Although Sobolewski was at both meetings and listened to residents' oppositions, he told the commission Tuesday evening that he "had no idea that such a proposal would cause such an outcry."

"I sincerely thought this was a good proposal," Sobolewski said. " I wasn't doing it to damage the community."

After almost two hours of public debate, Sobolewski told the commission he would investigate the possibility of incorporating the farm house into his plans.

"If people want me to explore the possibility of restoring that building, I will," Sobolewski said.

The farm house was built around 1840 by James S. Martin of Philadelphia. According to information compiled by the Newark Historical Society, Martin was reputed to have gained his wealth from the fur trade. He bought the 263-acre farm from Henry Whitely.

The building has since served as a home for Justin Pie and his family, the Red Men's retirement home, three different University of Delaware fraternities, and most recently– the Newark Center for Creative Learning.

In 1975, Presley bought the farm house. He never constructed five townhouse condominiums because he didn't have the money.

The accident occurred because the truck was about six inches higher than the 13-foot bridge. The truck was heading westbound towards Newark being driven by James T. Skinner, 23, of New Castle. No one was injured in the accident and the underpass was not damaged. Skinner was given a ticket for disregarding a traffic device.

DiStefano is voted Young Republican of the Year

Ernest J. DiStefano, a Newark resident and Republican chairman of the 23rd Representative District, was recently voted Young Republican of the Year for 1993.

DiStefano received the award for spearheading the organization's community outreach effort, which includes volunteer efforts at the Delaware Food Bank in Newark that resulted in the salvaging of over $19,000 worth of food which would otherwise have been discarded. DiStefano also heads up Young Republican volunteer efforts at the Newark Senior Center and many other community organizations throughout New Castle County.

As Republican Chairman in Newark's 23rd District, DiStefano plans to initiate additional community involvement within the Republican party, which includes participation in Newark's Adopt-A-Block program and the Emmaus House homeless shelter.

ing from those that are complaining...it may be that 90 percent of them work fine."

A short term solution to problems will be addressed later this spring at a half-day seminar about maintenance associations. Successful maintenance association leaders and county officials will speak about helpful hints and legal issues during the seminar. A time and place is not definite yet.

Another possible solution is park districts. Hansen said there is a state law already in place that enables residents to apply to have their open space pronounced as a park district.

A volunteer park commissioner could then hire a staff to collect fees and maintain the area. Hansen said the task force will determine if it is cheaper to continue with maintenance associations or whether park districts are more economical.

Hansen also plans to release a Technical Guidance manual concerning maintenance associations through the Bear/Glasgow council. For more information, call 834-6573.

C&D Senior Center alive and well

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

There is no sign and you might get lost when traveling there for the first time, but the C&DSenior Center does exist and is thriving.

The C & D Senior Center in Bear has a membership of about 100 people over age 60. There are no membership dues.

It has been located in the community rooms of Liberty Terrace Apartments off Del. 7 near Smalleys Dam Road for the last eight years.

"We have a Newark address, we're in Bear and we have a New Castle phone number," said Nancy Gicker, director of the C&D Senior Center.

A sign for the center was ordered last year, but is a low priority in the county, according to Cheryl Amey of New Castle County Parks and Recreation. She said she does not know when the sign will be put up.

The center was formerly located for 10 years at the Delaware City Elementary School. "The enrollment went up at the school and they needed their classrooms back," said Gicker.

So the center was moved to its current location but a bus brings Delaware City residents to the facility.

Senior citizens play bingo at the C&D Senior Center in Bear, which is located in the community rooms of Liberty Terrace Apartments off Smalleys Dam Road. The center's activities include exercise and line dancing classes, arts and crafts and shopping trips to local malls, grocery stores and farmer's markets.

The bus also chauffeurs members from the local Bear/Christiana area to and from the center each day.

Gicker said senior citizens should call the day before and the bus will pick them up the next.

The center, funded by the New Castle County Department of Parks and Recreation, offers seniors bingo, pinochle, shuffleboard, exercise, line dancing, arts and crafts and ceramics.

Every Thursday the center takes a bus load of seniors to a local store to grocery shop and each month students at Hodgson Vocational Technical School cut and style senior citizens' hair for free.

The center also holds holiday parties and each month celebrates members' birthdays.

Gicker said seniors receive a hot lunch at noontime for a donation of $1.50. She said they can also buy breakfast bags for 60 cents to take home for the next day's morning meal.

Gicker said because the center lacks a kitchen, all food is brought in daily from the Absalom Jones Senior Center in Wilmington.

The center is open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Monday through Friday.

For more information about the C&D Senior Center, call 323-2630.

BRITISH EXCHANGE GROUP VISITS NEWARK

NEWARK POST STAFF PHOTO BY SCOTT LAWRENCE

Members of a Rotary International Exchange Team from Cornwall, England, visited the Newark Senior Center and other local sites Tuesday as part of their six-week stay on the Delmarva Peninsula. The team, comprised of four young businesspeople and a team leader, are here to learn more about American culture and industry. All are being hosted by members of Rotary district 7630, which includes Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland. First State Symphonic concert Sunday

The First State Symphonic Band will be presenting a Spring Concert at Newark High School on April 10, at 3 p.m. under the direction of Harvey Price.

The band will be performing various music from the theater. One of the selections will be the rarely performed Little Threepenny Music by Kurt Weill, with singer-actors D'Arcy Webb and Gary Pagano adding narration and vocals. Also, Linda Henderson will be the guest pianist.

Other selections include: Russlan and Ludmilla by Glinka; Prayer and Dream Pantomime from "Hansel and Gretel" by Englebert Humperdinck; Four Dances from "West Side Story" by Leonard Bernstein; and An American in Paris by George Gershwin. The concert is free and open to the public.

Guest pianist Linda Henderson has her bachelor's degree in piano performance form Indiana University of Pennsylvania and her Master's in Accompanying from West Chester University. She was music director at the Three Little Bakers in the 1970s and at the Candlelight Dinner Theater in the 1980s. She taught at Wilmington Music School 1978-1990. She co-leads the Royal Palm Steel Band and plays ragtime music in Bit O'Rhythm along with her husband Harvey Price.

Vocalist for Threepenny Music, D'Arcy Webb recently appeared in Philadelphia Area Repertory Theatre's controversial musical "Assassins". She also appeared in plays and musicals at the Pittsburgh Playhouse and has appeared with the Pittsburgh Symphony. She recently performed with her husband, Charlie Gilbert; and Gary Pagano in the cabaret revue "Watch the Birdie" which was presented in Philadelphia and New York City.

Besides appearing in "Watch the Birdie," vocalist Gary Pagano, from Wilmington, also appeared in the musical "Assassins" with the Philadelphia Area Repertory Theatre. He has performed with the Delaware Theatre Company, the Mum Company, and the Music Theatre Project. For the past six years, Pagano has performed with Chanson Noire, a Brechtian Cabaret Ensemble.

Both Pagano and Webb were featured in the "Mahogonny Songspiel" and excerpts from the "Threepenny Opera" at the International Brecht Symposium held at the University of Delaware in 1992.

The First State Symphonic Band is a non-profit community organization dedicated to bringing musical excellence to Delaware.

'Hymnody Weekend' soon underway

A Hymn Festival on Friday, April 15, at 7 p.m. will kick off the Brian Wren Hymnody weekend at Newark United Methodist Church. The festival is free and open to the public.

The theme for the festival, led by Wren, will be "Waiting for the Spirit–A Festival of Poetry, Hymns and Songs from Easter to Pentecost, for Enjoyment, Reflection and Inspiration." It will include congregational singing led by the Chancel Choir and soloists with David Herman at the organ.

The Hymnody Worship for pastors, lay people, musicians and educators, is scheduled for Saturday, April 16, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. Registration deadline for the Saturday workshop is April 8. The fee of $20.00, includes lunch, workshop sessions and two of Dr. Wren's publications, the hymn collections, Bring many Names (1989) and New Beginnings (1993).

Wren was born in England and educated at Oxford University. Following ordination in 1965, he ministered to a Congregational Church in Essex (no part of the United Reformed Church.) his D Phil (Ph.D.) was conferred in 1968 for a thesis on the Hebrew prophets.

Wren

Serving as an adult education consultant to the British Council of Churches and Roman Catholic Church, Dr. Wren worked on third world issues of peace and justice. After a further period with the student-based Third World First program, he began his freelance ministry as a poet, theologian, and worship consultant.

His freelance ministry, begun in 1983, has focused on the enrichment of worship. He seeks practical ways for worshipers, pastors, educators, and musicians to increase creativity, improve skills, and deepen spirituality.

His hymn texts are widely published, including (in the USA) 14 entries in the United Methodist Hymnal (1989), 11 in the Presbyterian Church Hymnal (1990) and contributions to the Hymn 82 (Episcopal), Psalter Hymnal (Christian Reformed Church), Rejoice in the Lord (Reformed Church in America), Worship III (Roman Catholic), Southern Baptist Hymnal, and the Lutheran Book of Worship.

Wren will be guest speaker at the Worship services at Newark United Methodist Church, 69 East Main Street in Newark, on Sunday, April 17, at 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

For more information, call Betsy Kent, director of music ministries at the church, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 368-8774.

Opinion

EDITORIALS • COLUMNS • PAGES FROM THE PAST • LETTERS

Is that a letter or a political ad?

It's that time of year again. No, we're not talking about the arrival of spring. We're talking about local election training season.

During the course of the past several weeks, several "letters" have been sent to the editor from "concerned" citizens, touting – or bashing – local elected politicians or political hopefuls. None have been published.

When you cut through the many adjectives (usually too flowery or too caustic) and get to the point, these "letters" are merely attempts by campaign workers or supporters to feather their candidate's political nest.

Some are boastful: "Candidate X is a caring leader and I urge voters to give him/her their vote of confidence" would be a generic example.

Others are nothing more than back biting. For example, "Candidate Y was arrested for a traffic violation 27 years ago – just thought readers should know about this. (He's a bum...hint hint hint.)"

No doubt, some of this stuff makes for fun reading. But in the long run, it can get out of hand and turn into tit-for-tat mud slinging.

To help keep the mud out of local elections this year, we ask that letters to the editor be just that – not disguised political ads.

FROM THE HEART

Food isn't such a big deal anymore

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Castaneda

Summer is almost here, but I'm not dreading swimsuit season this year.

I'm looking forward to spending time at the beach because I have lost 22 pounds since September.

How did I do it? I joined Weight Watchers where I weighed-in every Thursday for the past six months.

I wanted to lose a pound or less each week and I did. Although there were weeks I gained a pound or more.

Let's be realistic, a person will not lose weight and keep it off if they are not committed to making changes in eating habits.

I know how difficult it is to be committed to making major changes. Although I have shed pounds, I still haven't started an exercise program.

To lose weight you do have to give up some foods, but you don't have to live on salads. I eat salads less than once a week.

It's all about choice. There are so many good foods– good for you– to eat.

Take pasta. Did you know it can be low-fat and good for you? I don't make it with butter and I always eat red sauce (the kind bought ready-to-eat right out of the jar.)

Salsa is another food low in calories and great to dip tortilla chips or vegetables in.

I also eat unsweetened cereal with skim milk and a banana twice a day, for breakfast and my snack after dinner.

To lose weight you have to accept that you will be eating foods and food combinations which other people might perceive as strange.

Some of my favorites snacks are apples filled with peanut butter, yogurt cheese and banana shakes.

For the apple treat, use an apple corer to make a hole in the center (I use Granny Smith Apples) and then fill it with creamy peanut butter. I know it doesn't sound good but it's yummy!

Peanut butter has fat, but did you know your body needs some fats to lose weight?

For yogurt cheese, take plain yogurt and drain it in a stainer or through cheesecloth overnight in the refrigerator. When the water is drained from the yogurt, mix it with a ready-to-make salad dressing seasoning and dip vegetables in it or spread on crackers.

To make a banana shake, put 3/4 cup skim milk, a banana, a teaspoon of vanilla and 3-4 crushed ice cubes in a blender and produce a frothing, delicious shake.

It is difficult to lose weight. You have to refuse tempting foods, plan meals and eat different food from others.

Weight loss is unpredictable but in the long haul if you keep at it weight will come off. The pounds took a while to add up and it takes time for them to come off.

I believe I will keep this weigh off because I have not eaten chocolate (except fat-free hot chocolate) since before Halloween and now with Easter over I've made it through the candy holidays. Now I just have to resist summer trips to ice creams stands.

Most importantly, except for an occasional craving, I don't feel deprived of any foods because I no longer feel guilt when eating and I like the way my body looks now.

I wish everyone trying to lose weight the best of luck!

IN MY OPINION

Mmmm...mmmm...mmmuskrat!

By DAVID HEALEY
SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

Healey

On Maryland's Eastern Shore, people are known for eating all sorts of things that raise eyebrows elsewhere.

Crabs, for starters.

Up in New England, they look at you kind of funny if you walk into a seafood restaurant and ask if they have steamed crabs.

"No, but we got lobster," the waitress will say, doing that funny thing with her "r."

Snobs. Any fool knows crabs with lots of Old Bay seasoning are much better than a boring old boiled lobster.

People on the Eastern Shore also eat soft-shelled crabs. They taste great. Just try not to look at what you're eating.

Crabs, soft-shelled crabs, fine.

But here it is springtime and I haven't had a chance yet to eat any muskrat.

Let's keep it that way.

These furry critters live in both fresh- and saltwater marshes on the Eastern Shore and in Delaware. Also known as "marsh rabbits," they are considered a Shore delicacy whether stewed, fricaseed or fried.

The meat is actually a byproduct of trapping, because what the muskrat is really known for is fur. Of course, there isn't much demand for the fur these days because wearing a muskrat coat makes you a good candidate for a mugging or at least to be splashed with a bucket of paint. But I'll bet there's still plenty of muskrat meat out there to meet demand.

A skinned muskrat in a display case at a country market looks like something out of a Stephen King movie. Imagine how your cat would look without any fur or skin and that's pretty much how appetizing muskrat appear.

Muskrat are incredibly cheap, though. They went for about $1.50 apiece last time I checked.

Generally, you have to put an order in for muskrat at these country markets. Evidently the walk-in trade doesn't walk out with much muskrat, so there it sits in a display case, grossing everyone out. People don't go into the store and say to themselves, "Gee, while I'm here I think I'll pick up some potato chips and a couple of muskrats."

If you don't want to cook up something that looks like a skinned cat, then you can sample muskrat at various places. A restaurant in Smyrna, Del. supposedly has it on the menu in season.

Then there's the Methodist church in Hancock's Bridge, N.J., where they've been holding annual muskrat dinners for over 50 years. They reportedly cook up 1,800 of the critters, or about one ton of muskrat.

For anyone who wants to feel like a real Eastern Shoreperson and cook their own muskrat, maybe even trap it themselves, here's an authentic Kent County,Md. recipe:

Muskrat

Skin and remove all fat from hams and shoulders of one muskrat.

If not already done, remove musk glands under legs and belly and white stringy tissue attached to musk glands. Also remove eyes.

Cut muskrat into pieces.

Soak for two hours in salted water.

Drain.

Coarsely chop one medium onion for each muskrat, plus "one for the pot." Place in stewing pot with muskrat.

Season with salt and pepper.

Add 1/2 pound fatback or salt-pork cut into one-inch cubes.

Throw in a dash of sage.

Add enough water to cover muskrat halfway.

Simmer on medium, stirring occasionally and adding water as needed.

Cook for 1 hour 45 minutes to 2 hours, or until meat falls away from bones.

Reserve liquid to make muskrat gravy.

Serve with kale and potatoes.

Actually, I think you could serve muskrat with anything. Wait until your guests or family members are saying, "Boy, this is delicious. What is it?" Then tell them they're eating muskrat. They won't notice if that's kale on the side or old boiled socks.

Mmm. Enjoy. But none for me, thanks. I'm going to wait until the crabs start steaming.

Local Y.M.C.A. Worker Returns from France

Visited Chateau-Thierry and was Under Shell Fire at the Meuse

Claude C. spiker, Assistant Professor of Modern Language in Delaware College returned today from France where he has been engaged in Y.M.C.A. work. Professor Spiker left Delaware in May 1918 and landed at Le Havre, France. He was immediately sent to the front with the 77th Division in Lorraine. He was a Hut Secretary on this sector for two months. He was in charge of a hut about four miles back from the front line trenches. He went over the Chateau-Thierry battle field about six or eight days after the struggle. The dead had just been buried. With a regiment of Light Artillery he went to the Vesle River, as the American troops were pushing the Germans back to the Meuse. In this drive Professor Spiker was frequently under shell fire. He remained with the troops until the Germans were driven beyond the Aisne River, at which time the Division was withdrawn to another front.

Then he was transferred to the French-army for educational work where he was placed in charge of the English instruction in the French artillery school.

Ambulance Driver Receives French War Cross

Fred Strickland Returns After Thrilling Experiences in the Service

Fred Strickland who has seen service as an ambulance driver behind the lines in several of the big offensives, was discharged on Friday and stopped off in Newark to visit friends and relatives before proceeding to his home in Lewisville, Pa.

He was employed as sales manager for the Newark Garage and Electric Company, previous to his enlistment and will resume that position after a short vacation.

he has had many thrilling experiences and has received the French War Cross for heroism in refusing to abandon a disabled machine but proceeding to repair it under heavy fire and continuing on his way to the hospital.

Light Voter Turnout Returns Three Incumbents to City Hall

Newark City Council incumbents William M. Coverdale and William E. Frame Jr. won reelection Tuesday to Second and Fourth District posts respectively. First District Councilman Frank J. Osborne Jr. ran unopposed.

The three-man race in the Second District between Coverdale, C. Fred Wakefield and Joseph Sanborne failed to bring out more than a normal voter turnout and Coverdale won easily. He has served on the Newark governing board for terms spanning the last 16 years although he has attempted to gain the mayor's spot several times.

Frame was opposed by James H. Bradley Jr., a College Park resident and a recent registration push in the Fourth District by both men resulted in a greater than normal turnout at the Rittenhouse Motors polling place.

Builder and City at Odds: Arbour Park Gets O.K.d

The Newark Planning Commission gave preliminary approval for the construction of the final section of Arbour Park last week despite a negative recommendation from City Manager Edward Stiff.

In a second action the commission deferred, for the time, the approval of 319 proposed apartments in the Garden Acres subdivision tract along Barksdale Road near Casho Mill Road.

Arbour Park builder Frank P. Alisa tangled verbally with Stiff several times and threatened to finish the houses under construction and leave the rest "dead" if approval was not granted.

Letters to the Editor

Guest opinion on Daugherty Hall was well founded

Editor:

Thank you for publishing the guest opinion by Jean S. White on March 25. She is exactly right about the desirability of keeping Daugherty Hall intact. Perhaps the new student center could be confined to the area west of Daugherty Hall, and the parking garage relocated about a block to the north in an area now occupied by a university parking lot.

It would seem best to leave open the area between Daugherty Hall and the Evans House, preserving the setting of these historic buildings. Anyone interested in saving Daugherty Hall can contact me at (302) 738-8678.

Gun control editorial was right on target

Editor:

Thank you for your commonsense editorial of March 18, 1994, on the "Gun Control" issue. It and the article on the same date by Tonja were "on target" (pardon the pun)–in contrast to the sensationalism and propaganda that the News-Journal cranks out continuously.

They focus on taking away guns from non-criminals, with laws naively intended to prevent crime from happening, instead of putting lawbreakers in jail promptly and surely.

Keep up the good work!

Need for band shell at state park questioned

Editor:

Hopkins Bridge Road, on the opening day of trout fishing, was barely passable due to the parked vehicles of a few trout fishermen. What would happen if there was a concert at nearby Carpenter State Park with 3,000 people?

"What if" will become a reality if the State Parks and Recreation implements its plans to build a permanent band shell at Carpenter State Park. With a new band shell (at the taxpayers' expense of $300,000) the number of concert visitors could increase to 5,000 people.

The proposed plan will reduce park land, increase wear and tear on the remaining grounds and limit space for wildlife.

I am aware the artists who perform at Carpenter are in need of a better venue. I am in favor of improving the present trailer bed stage but not making the stage permanent or increasing the size of the concert audience. I feel a compromise can be reached if we discuss our problems in an open forum.

Another concern I have with the proposed plan is that the public was not asked if they want or need the band shell. Good democratic government includes people and benefits people. This proposal does neither.

Carpenter State Park is part of the White Clay Creek Preserve, one of the few nature sites in northern New Castle County. Let us preserve this natural beauty and look to an alternative solution for the performance of the arts in an open air setting.

Voters throughout the city will select anew mayor, and those in the First District will select a representative to city council.

Vying for the mayoral post are Ronald L. Gardner and Edwin D. Miller Jr., both of whom sit on city council. A University of Delaware Scott Feller is also on the ballot.

Councilman Harold F. Godwin is hoping to retain his First District seat he is challenged by University of Delaware Math Professor Dave Colton.

Newark Station Renovations Are Complete

The city's past connected with its future Wednesday during dedication ceremonies for the newly-renovated Newark Passenger Railroad Station.

Nostalgic thoughts of the city's role in shaping rail transportation combined with the hope that someday the railroad station will once again be a popular stop for commuter rail service.

"I hope it's not years, but it's down the road," said Secretary of Transportation Kermit Justice.

In 1987 the city paid AMTRAK $33,500 for the 112-year-old train station, which is located next to the South College Avenue bridge.

Parks and Recreation workers prepare for spring

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The daily efforts of Newark's grounds crews are signaling the start of some good things to come.

Crews are growing 5,000 flowers which will be planted as part of landscaping in road medians and in front of city park signs.

The traffic islands have been cleaned up and mulched in anticipation of mid-May when city workers plant the flowers, according to James Hall, director of parks and recreation.

Also, workers are getting rid of snow shovels for lawn mowers.

Crews, who have been clearing snow and ice for the past months from sidewalks at city hall and city parks, will next week begin mowing the acres of grass which make up the 19 developed parks in Newark.

Hall said this is a busy time of year for the park crews. To help with the workload, the department with six full time employees, hires six part time workers employed from spring until fall.

Hall said workers have been clearing debris left after winter's wrath, trimming trees and cleaning up areas.

"This time of the year is really tough," said Hall. "Our biggest enemy is the wet ground."

Hall said the water table is now very high because of the snow and rain, which means crews can only do so much work to the grounds.

"We've stared preparing the baseball/ softball fields the best we can with the wet conditions," said Hall.

He also said the department is doing a lot of tree work. "The winter and ice have caused additional problems which resulted in the need for more than normal trimming and removing trees."

He said the department does some tree cutting but contracts bigger jobs out.

Hall said during one winter storm a tree fell and destroyed part of the arts and craft shelter at Rittenhouse Park. Crews are currently working to repair the roof.

Besides the developed parks, the department maintains 20 landscaped areas and traffic medians, about 30 parks in the natural state and two swimming pools.

Hall said the Edna Dickey and George Wilson swimming pools have to be pumped out, cleaned, dewinterized and filled with water and chemicals.

He said the swimming pools will be opened when the school year ends. "They usually open the Monday after school lets out," said Hall.

Some projects for Newark parks now and in the near future include:

- Building a 20 foot by 28 foot shelter in Fairfield Park.
- Putting a new piece of playground equipment, which has a double and tunnel slide, in Rahway Park.
- Resealing the tennis/basketball court in Fairfield Crest Park.
- Replacing the wire mesh backstop at the softball field at Handloff, formerly Barksdale, Park.
- Adding bleachers to Lumbrook and Handloff parks.
- Demolishing two vacant houses on land purchased by the city last December for an unnamed natural park located on Elkton Road near the Maryland State Line.

Hall said putting up signs and naming the natural park will occur after the houses are torn down within the next six weeks.

Lunacies

POEMS, PUNS and PROVERBS

By James C. McLaren

A crusty old baker,
Well-bread and cake-maker,
Had a desperate knead for fresh start.
He decided to loaf,
Pie-in-sky, silly oaf!
And set out to deflour a tart.

A Kangaroo happy
To be with his pappy,
Thought Dad had been hit by a rocket.
The cure costs were high,
But he said, with a sigh:
"I Canberra the price from my pocket."

Why did Richard Nixon train a Doberman in the White House pool?
–He wanted it to break into a Water-gait.

Why does Jimmy Carter plan to leave his dentures to the Future Farmers of America?
–He wants them to till the tooth.

The *slow*ness of snails need not keep escargot lovers from *fast*ing at Lent.

Folks with grass roots may often be seedy.

Author's note:

Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws – the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparce, can be contagious. I hope Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

A family talk is key to family success

NEWARK OUTLOOK
FROM THE STAFF OF THE COOPERATIVE EXTENSION OFFICE AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

Busy families talk with each other in a variety of ways: by phone or answering machine, written messages at work, notes left on the refrigerator or mirror, greeting cards and sometimes even by computer. Finding time for face to face conversation may require extra effort and planning. Without this important time, however, family members can forget how to relate to one another. Good communication skills are strengthened with patience, practice and a positive attitude.

Many families avoid talking for fear of conflict. You can reduce the tension in a positive manner by following these rules:

1. Treat the other person with respect. Avoid sarcasm or condescending tones.

2. Empathize! The goal of listening is to understand the content of another person's ideas, the meaning it has for him/her, and the feelings behind the thoughts.

3. State your views objectively.

4. Ask questions to clarify the issue and provide feedback to the speaker.

5. Search for a point of agreement, a comfort zone, which will lead to compromise and resolution.

Many times we talk without using words. Sometimes we overlook the subtle power of nonverbal communication. Even in normal conversation it's been estimated that only one-third of the message is communicated verbally, the rest is conveyed on a nonverbal level. Consider the teen who comes in late from a date...his parent's facial expression will probably prepare him for the unpleasant reception that follows before the first word is ever spoken!

It's easy to misunderstand or misinterpret a communication based strictly on body language. The end result may be confusion, personal offense or suspicion. By observing how others respond to your nonverbal cues, you can determine their impact on your spoken message.

Some times the most effective thing someone can do to enhance communication is not to say anything. The use of silence can be one of the most powerful tools to convey acceptance and encouragement. Successfully moving beyond a fear of silence in interpersonal relationships can be instrumental in breaking down traditional communication barriers. It can give family members time to gather their thoughts and the courage to say what they want to say.

We use words when our family needs to know we hear them and understand. We use silence when no words can express our interest and love. The balance between these two responses can only be learned through practice.

This week's author: Maria Pippidis

Feelings and emotions are dominant forces in our lives. Their intensity and expression give dimension to our words and actions. By taking the time to think about how we communicate with those we love me may just be able to show more love and compassion; and improve our family talk.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith E. Branin

Swoboda, Branin exchange vows at Aldersgate Church

Vicki L. Swoboda and Keith E. Branin were married Saturday, Oct. 9, 1993, at Aldersgate United Methodist Church, Wilmington.

The Rev. John Vantine officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was given away at the ceremony by her father.

She wore a white satin gown with a V-neck beaded bodice and low-cut back with a satin ruffled train. It was accented with a sheer waist-length netting veil containing a satin bow with beading and crystals.

She carried a silk bouquet of white orchids and lilies, handmade by her mother.

Larry Bluthardt of Ogden, Kansas, uncle of the bride, conducted a wedding reading during the ceremony.

The Maid of Honor was Gale Forth of Newark, and the Matron of Honor was Deborah O'Shield, sister of the bride.

The bridesmaids were the bride's friends, Kelly Roncase of Pennsville, N.J. and Colleen Gore of Irvine, Calif.

The bridesmaids wore straight-cut teal velvet, floor-length gowns.

The Best Man was the groom's brother, Robert Branin. Ushers were Dave Phillips of Newark, John McAllister of Hockessin and Christopher Johnston of Newark, all friends of the groom.

The best man and ushers wore black tuxedos with paisley teal cummerbunds.

Stephen O'Shield, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Krystle O'Shield and Stephanie Mague, niece and cousin of the bride, were flower girls.

A cocktail hour and sit down dinner followed the wedding at the Holiday Inn, Wilmington.

The bride graduated from William Penn High School, New Castle, and Hodgson Vocational Technical High School, Glasgow. She is currently attending Delaware Technical & Community College and is employed at CIGNA Healthcare.

The groom, son of Robert and Patricia Branin of Wilmington, is a graduate of Fairwinds Christian School and employed by Colonial National Bank.

The couple will reside in New Castle.

Slatcher, Veasey wed in Newark ceremony

Robyn Sue Slatcher and Mark Ted Veasey were married Saturday, July 31, 1993, during a candlelight ceremony at First Church of the Nazarene, Newark.

The Rev. William Jarrell officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Slatcher.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a long-sleeved gown of candlelight satin. The high-neck sheath was accented with hand-beaded "Faux Guipure Lace". The bodice was heavily beaded to a Basque waistline. Hanging pearls highlighted the back of the gown with a sunburst pleated peplum at the waist. A beaded front applique on the skirt had alencon lace around the hemline. Adorning the detachable cathedral train were beaded applique cutouts and lace. Her pill box style headpiece was of candlelight alencon lace, cabbage rose, French veiling cage, and illusion pouf and flounce. She carried a cascade of casablanca lilies, white roses, stephanotis, star-of-Bethlehem and ivy attached to her mother's wedding Bible.

Music for the wedding was provided by organist Beth Terranova of Wilmington; Cousin of the bride Miles Slatcher of Laurel sang "The Wedding Song" and "One Hand, One Heart". Friend of the bride and groom Sheri Beda of Newark performed "We Have This Moment" and "Love Will Be Our Home".

The Maid of Honor was Amy Gorton of Newark.

Bridesmaids were cousins of the bride, Kistion Sellars of Cumberland, Md. and Janine Bristow of Laurel; Amy Baynum of Seaford; and Marsha Fortunato of Brookhaven, Pa., sister of the groom.

The bridesmaids wore sheath gowns of dusty rose and carried cascade bouquets of stargazers, pink roses, stephanotis and ivy.

The Best Man was Pat Capposere of Hockessin. Groomsmen were Jim Burton of Wilmington; brother-in-law of the groom Robert Fortunato of Brookhaven, Pa.; Roger Rigby of Newark; Doug Roberts of Newark; and Todd Slatcher of San Diego, Calif., brother of the bride.

The groom and his attendants wore Pierre Cardin Black Notch tuxedos.

Serving as junior attendants were little brother and sister of the bride and groom through Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Delaware, Joe Dury and Jessie Owsley, both of Newark. Miss Owsley carried a basket filled with roses given in honor of the mothers and grandmothers.

Vylet Kasper of Tulsa, Okla. was the flower girl. She carried an ivory basket of stargazers, pink sweetheart roses and ivy. The ring bearer was Christopher Dunbar of Kansas City, Kan. He carried a cross-stitched pillow handmade by the bride. They are both cousins of the bride.

Guest book attendants were Vicki and Victoria Kasper of Tulsa. Program attendants were Roxanne Wilson of Stanton, Ky. and Valerie Kasper of Tulsa. All are cousins of the bride.

A reception was held after the ceremony at Three Little Bakers Dinner Theater in Pike Creek. Honored during the reception were grandparents of the bride Mr. and Mrs. Walter Slatcher of Laurel, celebrating 60 years of marriage, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sellars of Stanton, Ky., celebrating 52 years.

The bride is employed by the DuPont Company in Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Ted Veasey

The groom, son of Mrs. Aida A. Veasey of Elkton, Md., is employed by Bruce Industrial Company in New Castle.

The couple honeymooned in Hawaii and now resides in Newark.

Like other ingredients, meat plays key role in Italian fare

THE FRUGAL GOURMET

By JEFF SMITH

As with all food habits in Italy, the consumption of red meat varies from region to region. In the North, red meats of all kinds are appreciated, along with fish and vegetables.

The meat shops of Bologna are wonderful. The Florentines are famous red-meat eaters, and the meat and sausage shops are outstanding. Even Venice offers some interesting red-meat dishes.

Enjoy these classic dishes.

MEATBALLS, CRINITI STYLE (serves 8-10)

Criniti's, of Philadelphia, is a small Sicilian restaurant in which the owner/chef does all the cooking. The meatballs he makes are unusual in that he grinds the meat so fine that the texture of the final product is closer to a quenelle than a meatball, but certainly not as light. This is a Sicilian meatball, not a quenelle.

6 cups dried bread cubes (cut up leftover bread and dry it on the counter overnight)
1 pound boneless veal stew meat, ground
1 pound boneless pork butt, ground
1/2 pound boneless beef chuck, ground
1/3 pound pork fat, ground
1/3 cup finely chopped yellow onion
4 tablespoons freshly grated Parmesan cheese
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
2 eggs beaten
2 tablespoons olive oil
1/2 recipe Fresh Tomato Sauce Sicilian (recipe below)
1/2 pound sliced mozzarella

Place the dried bread cubes in a large bowl and cover with plenty of cold water. Allow to soak for 1 hour and drain.

Squeeze the water out with you hands.

Place the bread in a large bowl and add the remaining ingredients, except the olive oil, tomato sauce and mozzarella.

Mix everything together with your hands very well.

Grind the mixture very fine in a food processor with the 2 tablespoons of oil. (If you have a good-size food processor, you can do this in 2 batches, using 1 tablespoon of the oil each time).

Grind the mixture until almost emulsified. This will take a few minutes and you will need to scrape the bowl of the food processor down a few times as you go.

Return all to the bowl and mix together with your hands again.

Form into meatballs a little smaller than a golf ball. Moisten your hands with cold water whenever your hands begin to stick to the mixture.

Place the meatballs on a lightly oiled sheet pan and bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes.

Cut the meatballs in half and place in individual baking dishes.

Top with some fresh tomato sauce and mozzarella. Bake in a 375-degree oven until bubbly and lightly browned on top.

FRESH TOMATO SAUCE SICILIAN (makes about 5 quarts)

In Sicily a good tomato sauce is considered an absolute basic in the kitchen.

While we do use both canned tomatoes and fresh tomatoes, we call the whole "Fresh" because it has a very clean and bright flavor.

1/4 cup olive oil
4 cloves garlic, crushed
1 medium yellow onion, finely chopped
9 cups cored and chopped very ripe fresh tomatoes
4 28-ounce cans whole tomatoes, crushed with juice
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1/2 cup dry white-wine sauce
1 cup fresh or canned chicken stock
1 teaspoon dried marjoram
1 teaspoon dried rosemary
6 tablespoons butter
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Heat an 8- to 10-quart heavy-bottom pot and add the oil, garlic and onion.

Saute until the onion is clear. Add the remaining ingredients except the butter, salt and pepper.

Bring to a simmer and gently cook, uncovered, for 4 hours, stirring often.

Stir in the butter and salt and pepper to taste.

VEAL AND PARMA HAM ROLLS (serves 6 as a meat course)

These little bundles are to be found in the lovely butcher shops of Turin, Parma, Milan and Florence. The meats are all tied and ready to go home with you.

While this dish is not cheap to make, you will be pleased by the richness of flavors. You don't need a whole plate of these in order to be happy and content. This is a fine dish!

6 40-ounce veal cutlets
Freshly ground black pepper to taste
2 teaspoons chopped parsley
6 thin slices prosciutto (buy at a good Italian delicatessen and have them slice it for you)
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup flour
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon olive oil
1/2 cup dry white wine
1/2 cup fresh or canned chicken stock

GARNISH

Chopped parsley

Pound the veal out thinly with a meat pounder, making sure not to tear the meat.

Season the meat with a little black pepper to taste (no salt because the prosciutto is salty). Sprinkle the pounded meat with chopped parsley.

Lay a slice of prosciutto on each cutlet and roll up tightly like a jelly roll.

Secure the rolls with toothpicks and season the outside with salt and pepper to taste.

Preheat a 375-degree oven. Dredge the rolls in the flour and pat off excess flour.

Heat a large ovenproof frying pan (a frying pan with a metal handle).

Add the butter and oil and brown the veal rolls on all sides over medium-low heat. Place the whole pan in the oven and roast at 375 degrees for 10 minutes.

Remove the rolls to individual warm plates and remove the toothpicks.

Heat the pan on the stove top and add the wine and chicken stock. Remember that the handle will be hot. Simmer a couple of minutes to form a thin sauce.

Add salt and pepper to taste and spoon the sauce over the veal rolls. Garnish with chopped parsley.

PORK ROAST STUFFED WITH MORTADELLA (serves 6-8)

In the city of Bologna, mortadella reigns supreme. In this recipe, the flavor of the mortadella blends a bit with the pork roast and the resulting slices of meat are pinwheels of very moist and delicious roast.

This is to be enjoyed with some serious eaters.

4 pounds boneless pork butt roast, tied
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 pound mortadella (find in Italian market or delicatessens), thinly sliced

Untie the roast and, using a meat pounder, pound the roast out evenly to about 1 inch thick.

Rub the meat with the garlic, parsley and salt and pepper to taste.

Lay the sliced mortadella all over the seasoned meat.

Roll the roast up tightly and retie with kitchen string. (You will probably need help with this).

Season outside with salt and pepper to taste. Roast at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Reduce the temperature to 325 degrees and roast 1 1/2 hours more or until a meat thermometer registers 165 degrees.

Allow the roast to stand 10 minutes before slicing.

Joseph Clement Coll works featured at Brandywine River Museum

The Arts

By PHIL TOMAN

Do you like a little mystery and romance mixed in with your art? I know I do. It just so happens that the powers that be at the Brandywine River Museum feel the same way and an exhibit that mixes these ingredients together so very well just opened at the Chadds Ford gallery and will run through Sunday, May 22. In fact, "mystery" and "romance" even figure in the title of the show.

The art of one of America's foremost turn-of-the-century illustrators is being celebrated in the spring offering at the BRM. It is called "Mystery and Romance: The Art of Joseph Clement Coll." One of the museum's PR people, Stefanie Taylor, told me that everyone there is especially excited about this show because it is the first retrospective and the only one-man show of Coll's work ever staged. "It's very clear," Stephanie pointed out, "that this exhibition affirms Coll's superb talent among his better known contemporaries." Right on, Stefanie!

Since Coll's sudden, premature death at the age of 40 in 1921, the art world has paid little attention to this previously much admired illustrator. I guess it was another case of "Out of sight, out of mind." There are about 45 drawings on exhibit, mostly pen and ink, to testify to his talent and imagination. For my column today I have selected a color work which has the title on it so that you may see not only Coll's work, but also how it looked in final form. The title of the work is "Sir Nigel, A Companion to the White Company." The story was published in 1905. By the way, many of the works shown are being seen publicly for the first time. Quite a reason not to miss this show — but there are others!

Joseph Clement Coll was born in nearby Philadelphia in 1881. He was introduced to the world of illustration by his father who was a bookbinder. Like most American illustrators of his day, Coll admired the work of the English practitioners of the art.

As his career progressed, however. he was particularly influenced by the work of a Spanish artist Daniel Vierge. Vierge was know for his successful handling of intense sunlight using "selective modeling" and very rich blacks.

Coll was never trained in the art of illustration. He was entirely self-taught. His natural talent and ability were enough to get him jobs on daily newspapers in New York and Chicago. During this time he developed an interest in drafting, becoming quite proficient at it. In his early twenties, the artist came back to his native city where he turned to magazine illustration.

Gifted with a vivid imagination and the ability of accurately reproduce period character and dress, Coll enhanced popular mystery stories by his contemporaries including Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Edgar Wallace and Sax Rohmer. It was the artists work with Doyle, the successful "Sir Nigel" series, for "The Associated Sunday Magazine" from which I got the color work with my column. It is really a highlight of the show.

When you go, carefully examine this work. These handsome people offer proof of Coll's ability to recreate the romantic adventures of medieval knighthood in a strong, charismatic line. It may also be interesting to some of the younger members of your family to note that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle wrote something besides the Sherlock Holmes stories!

From 1911 until his death, Coll worked extensively for "Collier's" magazine producing a beautiful work called "Seance," an illustration for Sax Rohmer's "Fire Tongue." The work recreates the mystical ambiance so well described by Rohmer.

If you become more interested in the artist after you visit the current exhibit at the BRM, please note that there is a book in the gift shop called "The Magic Pen of Joseph Clement Coll." It was written by Walter Reed and is available in hard and soft cover. The author's son, Roger Reed, is the guest curator for this exhibit and he wrote the essay for the brochure which describes the show. The tome would be an excellent addition to the library of anyone who is enamored of American illustration.

The Brandywine River Museum is in Chadds Ford, Pa., on US Route 1, a short distance south of its intersection with Pa. Route 100. It is open everyday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for senior citizens and students. Children under six, when with adults, are always free.

The museum is about a half-hour drive from Newark and the show is well worth the trip. While you are there, please be sure to visit some of the other galleries for the art on display in them as well. If you have any questions, you may call the museum at 610-388-2700.

Enjoy!

The illustration of a story by Arthur Conan Doyle, "Sir Nigel, A Companion to the White Company," is one of about 45 illustrations of Joseph Clement Coll now on exhibit at the Brandywine River Museum.

'Mirror' performed here Saturday

"Mirror," a two-act play written, produced and directed by University of Delaware student Veronica Lynn Everett, will be performed as part of the University's Black Arts Festival, at 7 p.m., Saturday, April 9, in the auditorium of Newark Hall, located on Academy Street in Newark.

Admission is $2 with a University of Delaware ID and $4 for the general public.

The play, with Christian themes, depicts two families who struggle with modern social pressures that threaten to tear families apart. A cast of more than 30 local actors of all ages and the 35-member Russell Delegation, a gospel choir, participate in the show.

"Mirror" debuted at the Delaware Theatre Company and has been performed at schools in Wilmington and at Lincoln University and Cheney State University. It is scheduled to tour other colleges and universities in the fall.

Everett, a senior criminal justice major, is a native of Wilmington and a graduate of William Penn High School. She said she had no idea she could write until she felt compelled to create "Mirror." Because of its success, she has changed her plans to pursue a law degree after graduation and instead plans to concentrate on writing and producing.

"My goal is to have this be the first spiritual play on Broadway. I have to take the risk of being broke–it's what I feel called to do," she said.

Audience reaction has been favorable, from the 6-year old girl, who wrote to Everett that she liked it "because the cast is funny and because it is sad," to former Philadelphia Mayor Wilson Goode,who said, "I am so convinced that {the play's} message is a necessity for society that I strongly support and encourage you to participate in spreading its message of love."

"The play's message takes you through problems and gives you the solution of healing through love," Everett said. "It is a real blessing for me to have it produced at the University right before I graduate."

The University's Black Arts Festival is sponsored by the Center for Black Culture, the Cultural Programming Advisory Board and the '94 Black Arts Festival Committee.

For more information call the University's Center for Black Culture at (302) 831-2991.

Newark rolls over Christiana

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

GLASGOW – The Newark High baseball team struck early and often in its 12-0 season-opening win over Christina District rival Christiana last Thursday afternoon at Glasgow High.

The Yellowjackets scored 12 times in the first three innings while starting pitcher Jeff Parent plowed through the Vikings' batting order, giving up just one hit in five strong innings.

"I was really pleased," said Newark Coach Harry Davies, who recorded career win number 202 to start his 17th coaching season. "I thought we hit the ball really well and got some nice pitching."

The win affirmed Newark as a team to be reckoned with this spring. The predominantly veteran club was looking to make an impression.

"It was a confidence booster," said Parent. "We showed we have a pretty good team."

Walter, who had two hits – including a home run – and four runs-batted-in agreed.

"People are picking us third in our conference," said the first-baseman. "We feel we can do better than that. I think we'll be in the hunt [for a conference and state title] all year."

Three hits, along with three walks, led to five 'Jacket runs in the first inning. First baseman Scott Walter opened the floodgates with a single to right-center, scoring Sean McCullough, who had walked. Jody Russell continued the rally with a single up the middle. Consecutive walks to Mark Lutes and Brian Stetina forced home Walter and Chris Weleski's infield ground-out plated Russell.

Parent followed with a two-run single to right to complete the pro-

Glasgow falls to Middletown

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

MIDDLETOWN – Lack of hitting and bad defense are two things that will often lead to a loss in a baseball game.

Unfortunately for Glasgow High, those are two things that plagued the Dragons in a 6-2 loss to Middletown Tuesday afternoon at Silver Lake Park. The Dragons managed just three hits while committing five errors as they dropped their second straight game (they fell 2-0 to Concord in season opener).

"If I had a full stomach I would throw up," said Glasgow Coach Kevin Ziegler after Tuesday's loss. "We made some big errors and didn't hit the ball again."

Base-running was also a problem. Five runners were either caught stealing or picked off as Middletown lefthander Adam Miller kept Glasgow off stride whenever it was able to put a runner on base.

"That's one of the things we'll have to live with when we start five sophomores," Ziegler said. "And if we don't start putting the ball in play; it's going to be a long season."

The Cavaliers built a 2-0 lead in the second inning with the aid of two Glasgow errors and one hit. The lead stretched to 3-0 in the fifth on the strength of two walks an Middletown's second – and last – hit of the game.

"Dave Ruark pitched a good game for us," Ziegler said. "He didn't give up many hits. We just hurt ourselves with errors."

The Dragons, no-hit through five innings, battled back in the sixth inning. With two outs and nobody on base, sophomore Buzz Winteringer broke up the no-hitter

Caravel wins Delmar softball tourney

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

DELMAR – Strong pitching and opportunistic offense helped lead the Caravel Academy softball team to the championship of the Delmar Holiday Tournament last Friday afternoon.

Kati Salony, who was named the tournament's Most Valuable Pitcher, pitched a three-hitter and a five-hitter as the Bucs topped Nandua (Va.) 10-0 in the opening round and Delmar 2-1 in the title tilt.

The well-played championship game saw Caravel tally single runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings and hold off a seventh-inning Wildcat rally to preserve the victory.

"They were two good wins for us," said Caravel Coach Steve Baker, who saw his team win the tourney for the second consecutive year. "It feels good to get our record to 3-1; I saw a lot of good things out of our team."

The final was scoreless through three innings with both pitchers dominating.

Chantel Daunno led the fourth inning off with a walk to start a rally. Kristen DiFilippo, who had two of the Bucs' three hits in the championship, followed with a single down the left field line to put runners on a second and third with nobody out.

Newark Toyota's $1,000,000 contest tees off

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

Local golfers and non-golfers alike will have an opportunity to cash in on $1,000,000!

Newark Toyota will sponsor 'The Great Golf Shootout' starting Saturday, April 9 at its Marrows Rd. site in Newark. Each Saturday for the remainder of April – as well as Sunday, April 24 and Sunday, May 1 (10 a.m. to 5 p.m.) – contestants will be able stop by Newark Toyota from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and chip golf balls to a pin 50 yards away. A $5 donation will enable the contestant to hit two balls, $10 will get a contestant six balls and $20 will earn a bucket of 15 balls.

A $20 donation will also get the entree a certificate for a portable bag phone.

There will be 15 winners (the 15 closest shots to the pin) on each of the qualifying dates that will advance to the semifinal round May 7. The 90 semifinalists will be seeded into three groups of 30 with one winner from each advancing to the finals.

The finals will be held at the McDonalds LPGA Championship practice round at DuPont Country Club May 10 at 3 p.m. Each of the three finalists will be paired with an LPGA pro for shots at the 156-yard par-3 17th hole. A hole-in-one by either the finalist or the pro will win the finalist $1,000,000 and McDonald's Charities $500,000.

All proceeds from the event will go to McDonald's Charities, Junior Golf of Delaware and the Delaware Wizards Youth Assistance program.

"It should be an exciting month," said Newark Toyota General Manager and golf enthusiast Bob Winter. "We really got a lot of good response from area businesses when we proposed the idea and now it has finally become reality."

Winter thought of the contest while watching last year's McDonald's Championship.

"I was watching [Delawarean] Laurie Merten last year and I started thinking of a way to raise money and to tie it in with golf," he said. "We talked to a lot of people and got a great deal of support.

"It's really amazing how much support golf gets in the area – especially during the month of May."

There will be a driving range set-up at Newark Toyota with eight tees and eight greens. A full bag of clubs will be provided at each tee if the contestant needs clubs.

Winter also said that players from the Blue Bombers and the Wizards will be stopping by to participate.

BASKETBALL JUNKIES REJOICE!

Arkansas' win over Duke Monday night may have brought to an end another great NCAA Tournament but, the mad dash to be competitive in future NCAA Tournaments will be alive and well in Newark this weekend.

Over 100 college coaches – some big time some not – will convene at the University of Delaware Field House Friday and Saturday to watch certain stars of future NCAA Tournaments in the seventh annual Jim Doody-Delaware Shootout. The shootout is a showcase basketball tournament for high school underclassmen.

In fact, many of the great players fans got to see in this year's edition of March Madness are alumni of the shootout. That list includes Arizona's Khalid Reeves, Kentucky's Roderick Rhodes, Syracuse's John Wallace, North Carolina's Derrick Phelps, Boston College's Malcolm Huckaby and Duke's Greg Newton and Carmen Wallace. High school All-American Zendon Hamilton, who recently announced he would attend St. John's University, played in the last two tournaments.

It's no wonder that college coaches – P.J. Carlesimo, Randy Ayers, Rollie Massimino, Steve Lappas, Lon Kruger, Gary Williams, Kevin O'Neill, Pete Gillen, John Calipari and Bob Bender have been here in recent years – flock to Newark for the chance to watch this type of talent.

POST GAME

"Jim [tournament director and Newark High basketball coach Jim Doody]] does a great job running this tournament," said Seton Hall's P.J. Carlesimo after visiting last year's shootout. "There were three or four other similar tournament in the East but this one was by far the best.

"We'll always come here; it's an excellent tournament."

Some of the big name players expected to compete this weekend include Tim Thomas of Patterson Catholic (N.J.) and Anthony Perry of St. Anthony's (N.J.). The two have been lauded, by high school recruiting experts, as the best sophomore and the best freshman players in the country respectively.

"It's really an opportunity to see kids before they become stars," said Doody. "One of the positives is that

Ziemba looks to impress Hens

Spring practice gets underway for UD gridders

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

John Ziemba saw his football team post a winning record for the first time last season.

Unlike many of his University of Delaware teammates, Ziemba didn't come from a traditional football power. Soccer is the big fall sport at St. Mark's High – where the Wilmington native attended – and football, sometimes, is just an afterthought.

Delaware's John Ziemba

At Delaware, where even spring practice – which got underway this week – gets a lot of attention, that is not the case.

Ziemba, who wasn't deterred by tough football times in high school, earned a spot on the traveling squad last season and played enough on special teams to win a letter.

"I've always just tried to give it my all every time I'm on the field," said Ziemba, who also won the 189-pound state championship his senior year while wrestling for the Spartans. "It will only make any success I have even better. I have nothing to lose and everything to gain."

This spring Ziemba – who will be a redshirt sophomore next fall – is listed second on the depth-chart, behind Pat Mulhern, at outside linebacker. His goal this spring is to earn enough respect from the coaches that they will have confidence to put him in a game at linebacker should the need arise.

"Last year exceeded my expectations," Ziemba said of making the traveling squad and winning a letter. "But I don't want to settle for that again. I want to keep going up."

The former Spartan feels this spring is a very important time for him if he wants to keep his football success story on the rise.

"I had a decent spring last year and I had good double sessions in the fall," he said. "I think that's where I really got noticed. Now that I

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

JEFF PARENT – NEWARK

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

The Newark High baseball team will go as far as its pitching will take it this season. If Jeff Parent's first start is any indication, the Yellowjackets will go a long way.

Parent pitched five innings against district rival Christiana last Thursday, allowing just one hit while striking out eight and walking just two. The Vikings were unable to advance a runner past second base during Parent's stint on the mound.

"I was very impressed with the way things went," Parent said of his performance. "I felt confident going in because I pitched well against [Christiana] last season."

Even rival coaches have predicted that Newark would have the best hitting team in Flight A. It was pitching that Newark Coach Harry Davies was worried about and it was pitching that other coaches often questioned when asked about the 'Jackets.

"It was a confidence booster," said Parent, a senior. "We showed we have a pretty good team."

Hannah selected as one of state's first baseball Hall of Fame inductees

University of Delaware baseball coach, and long time Newark resident, Bob Hannah was one of nine men elected as the first inductees into the Delaware Baseball Hall of Fame.

The nine will be inducted at the Delaware HIgh School All-Star Baseball Classic on June 8 or 9 at Frawley Stadium.

Hannah, in his 30th season as baseball coach of the Blue Hens, had compiled a 763-360-6 career record entering the 1994 season.

His teams have advanced to the NCAA Tournament seven times with the 1970 team advancing to the College World Series.

He is 31st on the all-time win list among college baseball coaches. He is also a member of the American Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame.

The other eight nominees include Dave May, Dallas Green, Robert R. M. Carpenter, Bob Colburn, John Hickman, Judy Johnson, Bill McGowan and Chris Short.

SPARE THOUGHTS

A bowling column contributed by Blue Hen Lanes

The sign hanging over the lanes reads 'Bob Burris – 299', but that's just the most recent accomplishment of this avid bowler and family man.

Burris, 59, of West Park Place in Newark, got involved in bowling at age eight, setting pins at a center in Marion, Ohio. As a 14-year-old, he joined an adult league and began to get serious about bowling. In the early 1950s, while stationed in Key West, Bob was a member of an award winning Navy bowling team that routinely captured titles in almost every event it entered. Retiring from the Navy after a 20-year career, Bob went to work for Delmarva Power and settled in Newark with his wife Vivian, and four sons, Eric, Craig, Lance and David.

Bob and Taylor Burris along with the dreaded 9-pin.

Since retiring from Delmarva, Bob's enthusiasm for bowling has grown and he's currently a member of the Saturday Night Capers league, the Seniors Traveling league, the Newark Senior Citizens league, the Thursday Night Mix-Ups league and competes in tournaments on the Amateur Bowlers Tour. Accompanying Bob to all his daytime leagues is his 13-month old granddaughter, Taylor Burris. Bob has been taking care of Taylor since she was two months old, and she's his good luck charm, as well as the darling of the bowling center.

Carrying a 180 plus average in all his leagues, he's been on a roll since last May, when he captured the Center Championship of Brunswick's Club-55 Vacation Classic. Bowling in his Thursday Mix-Ups league, Bob sparked lots of excitement when he started his evening off with a 299 game performance on March 24. Admittedly nervous after the 10th strike in a row, "the eleventh ball was the best strike I threw all night, but it didn't calm me down. For the twelfth ball, I couldn't even see the foul line," Burris said.

In spite of that, the 12th ball charged into the pocket, but the 9-pin stood and wiggled – and wouldn't fall.

Local precision skating teams compete in national competition

Four precision ice skating teams from Newark will be competing this week in the National Precision Ice Skating Team Championships in Warwick, R.I.

The Delaware Diamonds adult team will be defending its 1993 bronze medal. The team is ranked second in the Eastern Section, giving them a good chance to move up nationally.

Coached by Pam Welch and Alice Rakowski, the team members are: Brenda Bilous, Lisa Jo Birkmeier, Jennifer Buck, Lisa Clarke, Tom Cresswell, Marilyn Day, Peggy Delfabbro, Cindy DuMoss, Suzanne DuRoss, Pat Gardner, Betty Garvin, Joan George, Elaine Hickman, Sharon Hudson, Anne Humphrey, Donna Keller, Nancy Kirk, Jane Koehler, Pat McQaide, Nancy O'Brien, Angela Rivard, Amy Rogers, Carol Taylor and Karen Williams.

The Precisionaires senior team rank sixth nationally last year. It earned second in the 1994 Easterns with Pam Welch and Wendy McNally-Deppe as the coaches. Team members are: Alison Banning, Lisa Kostic-Berkmeier, Meredith Bolea, Jennifer Buck, Thomas Cresswell, Sandra Duarte, Suzanne DuRoss, Julie Engiles, Cabray Haines, Jennifer Harkins, Valorie Hunt, Sandra Larkin, Meg Logan, Amy Martin, Laura McLain, Michelle Mize, Amy Rogers, Kathryn Shoemaker, Angela Viviano, Melissa Watson, Jackie Watts and Adrienne Welch.

The Skating Edge novice team puts its 1993 national fifth place showing on the line. The team also finished second in the 1994 Easterns.Coached by Wendy McNally-Deppe and Rosemarie Jones, the team members are Erin Bacino, Erin Donovan, Lindsey Heilman, Melissa Humphrey, Kim and Tim Jones, Alison Kirk, Rachel Kline, Melissa McDade, Jill McFarland, Laura McLain, Megan O'Brien, Katie Onn, Stephanie Rice, Christina Rivera, Adrienne and Christina Welch.

The Small Wonders juvenile team ranked 10th in the 1993 nationals and fifth in the 1994 Easterns. Coaches Pam Welch and Linda Bacon work with team members Emily Baldwin, Charla Cooper, Lindsey DiStefano, Kathy Ebert, Jennifer Gilbert, Sean Hudson, Caroline Kirk, Sarah Faulkner, Megan Lynam, Noelle McKinney, Megan McMillan, Jane Novatny, Katie O'Neill, Erica Sheets, Peter Shoemaker, Rebecca Sykes and Kimberly Turner.

Bucs win Delmar tournament

Daunno was able to successfully tag up and advance to third base on a short fly ball into left field foul territory. The fleet senior then scored on Salony's sacrifice fly to left field to give Caravel a 1-0 lead.

The bottom of the lineup came up big for the Bucs in the fifth inning with eighth hitter Alyssa Sexton singling to center and advancing to third base on two wild pitches. Ninth hitter Tammy Frazier's sacrifice fly to center field plated Sexton to give Caravel a much-needed two-run lead.

"We scored two runs on fly balls," Baker said. "We were lucky to be able to take advantage of the situations with some good base running."

Delmar, however, wouldn't go down easily, battling back with a seventh-inning rally.

Salony looked as if she struck out the leadoff hitter of the inning but was called for a rarely-called illegal pitch. The the third strike was changed to a ball to push the count full. The next pitch was a ball and the batter, and the rally, was on.

Consecutive hits scored a run to cut the lead to 2-1. Salony rebounded by retiring the next two batters leaving runners on first and second with two outs.

A single up the middle looked as if it might tie the game but center fielder Kristi Westcott fired a strike to catcher Christine Beatson who tagged the hard-charging runner for the third out and ended the game.

"Kristi made a great throw and Beatson made a great play to get the tag and hold on to the ball," Baker said. "It was great way to win the game."

No such heroics were needed in the first game as the Bucs pounded an overmatched Nandua team 10-0.

Tammy Hanby led the offensive attack with two hits, including a three-run double, and two runs scored while Angel Asbury, Daunno, DiFilippo, Beatson and Salony and Amy Pienkos all collected hits. Frazier also scored twice.

our Delaware high school players have started to hold their own against the national-caliber of competition."

This year's 32-team field (the largest ever) will contain three Delaware based teams. One of the squads –Tom Word's All-Stars – will consist of many St. Mark's and Newark players. Spartans' John Gordon, Alex Karlsen and Gene Kelly will play along with Newark's Collyn Rypley and Alonzo Brogdon will play together while Glasgow's Wayne Richards will play on a team of William Penn and other upstate high school stars. There will also be a downstate team entered in the tourney.

Action begins Friday afternoon at 5 p.m. with each team slated for at least one game.

The tournament continues Saturday at 9 a.m. with the championship scheduled for approximately 4 p.m.

ductive first inning.

Walter continued the onslaught in the second inning with a three-run home run over the left-center field fence.

"It felt good," said Walter, a senior who hit quite a few balls over the fence at Glasgow while playing for Reybold Homes in the Newark Babe Ruth League last summer. "I feel even stronger this year. I lifted weights all winter and came out ready to hit the ball."

The offensive barrage didn't stop, however, as Newark, with the aid of four more hits and three Christiana errors, scored four more runs in the third inning.

McCullough, Russell and Stetina provided singles while Lutes doubled down the left field line. Jeff Simpson, Russell, Walter and Parent all scored in the inning to give Newark an insurmountable lead.

Getting enough runs wasn't difficult with Parent pitching as he did. The senior struck out eight batters and walked just two in his five inning stint. He did not allow a hit through the first four innings.

"I was very impressed with the way things went," Parent said of his performance. "I felt confident going in because I pitched well against [Christiana] last season.

"I didn't need to keep going. I threw 70 pitches and felt good. It's early yet ; there's plenty of time for complete games later."

Sophomore Scott Hunt finished the job for Parent, pitching the final two innings without allowing a hit.

Newark will play at Delcastle Friday (April 8) in a make-up game.

with a single to center field. Fellow sophomore Matt Lantagne followed with a walk. The runners moved to second and third on stolen bases and Justin Taylor singled both home with a grounder through the right side of the infield.

Taylor, who advanced to third on an errant throw from the outfield, ended the inning when he was thrown out trying to steal home. It was the second Glasgow runner thrown out attempting to steal home.

"We weren't hitting the ball," Ziegler said of his strategy. "We had guys up, who had struck out earlier. We needed to manufacture some runs."

Middletown, again aided by two Glasgow errors, broke the game open with three unearned runs in its half of the sixth inning.

"Sure, we battled back," said Ziegler of the sixth-inning rally. "But you have to give Miller credit. He throws as hard as anyone in the state and he did a good job against us."

The Dragons were slated to host Christiana Thursday afternoon and travel to Caravel for a 7:30 p.m. game Saturday night.

know [the coaches] know who I am; I'm just going to keep working hard."

Before spring practice got underway Coach Tubby Raymond listed linebacker as a position where some holes need to be filled. Ziemba hopes that he can step in and do the filling.

Bossard back in Newark

Bryan Bossard, a former defensive back with the Blue Hens, is back at Delaware as coach of the spread ends.

"Bryan was one of those rare players that you hope can someday come back and join the staff," said Delaware Coach Tubby Raymond. "He'll be an excellent addition to the staff."

Bossard, who spent the last two seasons as defensive back coach for Bucknell, was defensive back coach for Glasgow's 1989 state championship team; a graduate assistant coach at Delaware in 1990 and a defensive back coach at Morehouse College in Atlanta in 1991.

"It's an exciting opportunity for me," said Bossard. "When I started coaching, I always knew Delaware is where I wanted to be."

"I'm excited he's back," said Glagow Coach Dave Scott. "it's a big move for him, moving to the offensive side of the ball."

Bossard will also be reunited with four Glasgow players including Pat and Paul Williams, Chris Kohan and Tyran Rice.

NOTE – The Hens, who return 18 players with starting experience from last season's 9-4 squad, will practice each Monday, Wednesday and Friday this month with scrimmages slated for Saturdays in Delaware Stadium. The drills will culminate with the annual Blue-White game April 30 at 2 p.m. at Delaware Stadium.

How To Save Money On Your Family's Clothing
-Buy color-coordinated clothing which can be mixed and matched.
- Buy all-season styles, fabrics and colors when possible.
- Buy clothes of a design that will stay in style
- Look for quality fabric and good construction in clothing.
- Choose clothes with simple trim that is of good quality and requires the same care as the rest of garment.
- Before buying a garment, check fabric labels and care instructions. Is it wash-and-wear? Can it be dried in the dryer? Avoid clothing that requires special care such as dry cleanng.
- Read and follow care instructions to make clothes last longer.
- Dress up or modify an outfit you alre own. Accessories can add a new look to last year's wardrobe for a minimal cost.
- Store clothes properly to protect from sun, moths, mildew and stretching.

CITY OF NEWARK DELAWARE BOARD OF ADJUSTMENT PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE APRIL 21, 1994 - 7:30 P.M.

Pursuant to Chapter 32, Article XIX of the Code of the City of Newark, Delaware, notice is hereby given of a public hearing at a regular meeting of the Board of Adjustment on Thursday, April 21, 1994 at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chamber, Newark Municipal Building, 220 Elkton Road, Newark, Delaware, to hear the following appeals:

1. The appeal of Porter Chevrolet, 414 East Cleveland Avenue, for a special exception to the Sign Code. Chapter 32, Section 32-60(a)(2), allows only one ground sign per property. Applicant is requesting a second ground sign. Additionally, proposed sign shows total sign area of 147 square feet. Board granted a special exception on 9/21/89 for maximum area of existing ground sign to be 130 square feet. Also, the proposed location of the sign appears to be within the 100-foot minimum distance setback requirement to a residential zoning district. (TABLED AT 3/17/94 MEETING)

ZONING CLASSIFICATION: BC

2. The appeal of Wallace Hansen, 45 Scotch Pine Road, for a lot coverage variance. Chapter 32, Article XXVII, Site Plan Approval, allows 21.1 percent lot coverage for above property in an RS zone. Applicant's plan shows lot coverage of 23.1 percent.

ZONING CLASSIFICATION: RS

Any questions regarding the above appeals may be directed to the City Secretary's Office, 366-7070, prior to the meeting.

Tips from the Cecil County Sheriff's Office on how to avoid becoming a crime victim.

- Keep your car and house locked, even while you are at home. Keep ground floor windows secured.
- Park in well lit areas and away from cars, vans or other large vehicles that obscure your view of the vehicle.
- If you return home and find that your home has been entered, do not go inside. Go to someplace safe and telephone the Sheriff's Office or police.
- There are some precautions that can be taken to strengthen your home against break ins.

They include:
Install deadbolts on all doors,
Install a door viewer (peep-hole)
Trim shrubbery around ground floor windows and doors. Burglars will use this for cover when entering a home.
Arrange for mail and newspaper pick-up if you are going to be away from home for any length of time.
Install a timer for lights if you are going to be away for any length of time. Ask a neighbor or friend to come and check your home, while you are gone.

When going on vacation or travelling, there are some tips that you can follow to keep you safe and reduce the chance that you will become a crime victim. When staying in a motel, do not discuss dinner or other plans in the lobby. Do not open motel doors if someone knocks and you are not expecting anyone. Do not carry large sums of money or valuables on your person. Check with the motel about security arrangements such as a safe for valuables, etc. When travelling by car, plan your route in advance and leave the itinerary with a family member or friend. Call when you reach your destination. Have your car serviced before travelling to avoid break-down. Do not pick up hitch-hikers. If someone is following you, drive to a shopping center parking lot, service station, police station, fire station or some other well lit, public place.

Ask the Sheriff's Office or police to come and do a "Home Security Survey"

ATTENTION!

ONE PRICE TEST MARKET EXPERIMENT!

Carman Ford and Carman Lincoln Mercury are holding a Test Market Experiment. You may have seen it on "CNN" or read about it in the newspaper. This new trend is sweeping the nation.

Due to overwhelming consumer response, we are having a NO HAGGLE, NO PRESSURE, NO STRESS, ONE PRICE TEST MARKET SALE.

Friday, April 8th & Saturday, April 9th, for 15 hours only, over 8 MILLION DOLLARS of new and pre-owned vehicles will be priced with our ABSOLUTE LOWEST ACCEPTABLE NON-NEGOTIABLE PRICE so that you may clearly see your savings. Based solely on your financial needs, this will enable You to make a decision to buy.

To further enhance the sale of all new and pre-owned vehicles during this special event, all trade-ins will be accepted at FULL NADA TRADE IN VALUE.

IT GETS EVEN BETTER! FACTORY REBATES AND DEALER INCENTIVES UP TO $2000 WILL ALSO BE IN EFFECT (On select vehicles.) Finance Representatives will also be on hand to offer aggressive financing and specially designed leasing programs to free up your hard earned cash.

This marketing experiment will be held rain or shine. Please bring all decision makers, your title or payment book, and be prepared to drive home in the new or pre-owned vehicle of your choice.

The Future Of Minivans
BEGINS TODAY!
See The All New 1995 Ford Windstar At Quality Ford!

The all-new front-wheel drive Ford Windstar establishes a whole new standard by which all others will be judged. It is indeed the future of minivans. The Unique design is longer and wider for better maneuverability and more interior space. The flow-through instrument panel puts controls within easy reach. But the true joy of the new Windstar is revealed on the road. The car-like ride is the smoothest in its class. It's a confident, secure driving experience.

Because safety is so important, Windstar has more standard safety features than any other minivan.
