Blue Ball Man Attacked In His Dairy House

Last Thursday morning about 1 o'clock, a man named Blue Ball, who resides on the south side of the town, was attacked in his dairy house by five men, who were armed with sharp objects.

The attack was sudden and without warning. Blue Ball was in his usual state of health and was not aware of any cause for alarm. The attackers, however, immediately jumped on him and began to beat him with their weapons.

The police, who were notified of the incident, arrived on the scene and attempted to arrest the attackers. However, they were unable to do so due to the presence of the dogs, which were barking furiously and blocking their path.

The attackers then fled the scene, leaving Blue Ball lying on the ground, unconscious and bleeding profusely.

How Many Rooms in Your House?

A room that is not kept at a livable temperature is not much good. You must get six months out of the year.

In going from hot rooms to cold rooms, you run the risk of a bad cold, or something more serious.

The best way to have a healthful, even warm all over the house is to heat by Radiators.

The Wisdom of the Artist

"How can a writer be happy, and that pleasure in his work, is that which makes him hit the trick that is needed...."

A real lady...

Lincoln and Liquor

Lincoln had many virtues, one of which was that he did not believe in liquor, and he was not inclined to approve of any measure which would have an effect to make men less politically free, or the other to liberate humanity from the bonds of strong drink. The only two republics in which this measure was adopted, the laws of the country could not tolerate their violation in their laws. As the patriots of old, in the support of the Constitution and laws let every American man support the Constitution and laws. And, let every member of the people, prohibited in legislative halls and enforced in the courts, where the laws are to hold all the people, and the true, and the rich, the poor, and all conditions, sacrifice anything at all of its character.

Twelve Things to Remember

1. The value of time. 2. The success of yesterday, today, and tomorrow. 3. The power of work. 4. The dignity of labor. 5. The worth of a good name. 6. The value of reputation. 7. The amount of patience. 8. The joy of originati. 9. The power of kindness. 10. The influence of expectation. 11. The wisdom of economy. 12. The power of perseverance.

PERIODICALS' COLUMN

Remember the Title of the Other Side is Not a Good Friend

I wonder how many of our printers and editors, if we wrote our own text to promote the publication of our periodicals, would write so much about our periodicals. For I saw a great deal of our periodicals, and I saw, too, that they are used by many people.

Your Light

Suppose now, that there were no sun nor stars in the heavens. In the black house of night, there would be nothing to light your way, and to light your lamp by night. Suppose that there were not millions of stars, but only a single star. If you had a lamp, suppose that a lighted lamp was put into your hand, which would show you through all the darkness of the night, what would you do with it? Would you hang it by your side? Would you have it bright enough to light the whole world? You can learn what you do not touch you cannot use. In the same way, if you had a lamp, what would you do with it? Would you keep it in your pocket? Would you have it bright enough to light the whole world?
