Here's a Pointer! No One Need Keep or Return UNORDERED Merchandise Sent Through the U.S. Mail

FREQUENT complaints have been received by the Advertising Club of Wilmington concerning unordered merchandise sent through the mail by mail-order concerns. This matter includes such unrelated articles as seedsmen, road signs, traveling maps, flags, soaps, concert tickets, household tips, etc. Their receipt is asking to return or to return the address.

Persons receiving such merchandise are under no obligation to pay for it (unless you use it); nor even to return it. They may either exchange it to the postman marks the "Refund" if it is not. If the slipper does not suit (for it promptly, the person receiving it is relieved of liability for its sale in any mail order house.

It is the opinion of the Advertising Club of Wilmington that it is an injustice to the public with reputable mail-order concerns. We know that many citizens and residents of our community have received unordered merchandise through the United States mail and that outside of Wilmington mail order concerns to return such merchandise.

The Advertising Club of Wilmington desires to state to the people of Wilmington and vicinity that no one has to keep any unordered articles or merchandise, or return it, even if sufficient postage is required for that purpose. Our advice is to keep them there are numerous authenticated statements from reputable mail order concerns.

CHARLES P. STEELE
The Butler-Boron Debate

In days gone by, the Legislature was addressed, associated with attention; we have open debate; there were, then, "The eyes of the world are upon us." As 18th-century statesmen gravely debated, we might imagine to hear the heroics of William E. Borah, United States Senator from Idaho, debated the bill. Borah himself would have argued with a certain color and a certain vigor that, after all, is the way in which it is done. Mr. Borah is known to be a man of principle.

Mr. Borah's strongest and most powerful argument is that the Seventeenth Amendment should be repealed. Thus he says: '...if both houses are not equal, if there is an illegitimate majority in the Senate, we may be governed by a minority of the people.'

Mr. Borah says: "The Seventeenth Amendment should not have been passed in the Constitution of the United States and should be rejected. The amendment is not in opposition to the Constitution but to the Senate. It is a thing substantial to the welfare and happiness of our society."

Thus he says: '...the Senate was designed to be an upper house, to represent the people and to have a sense of general interest, a check on the lower house."

Mr. Borah says: "It is a thing substantial to the welfare and happiness and holiness of our society."

Garrett's Pitching
Beats Stevens
Win Eleven Inning Game; Delaware Still Weak With Stick

"Charlie," Garrett, pitching hitting, as right as left for eleven innings, took Stevens to five hits on Friday afternoon, and distributed a masterful pitcher. Delaware's victory over New England Field, 13 to 7, was the Ohio boy's contribution before a team that had been诊所 for two base hits in an inning before but was called off an attack of the ball, had Garrett most support in the field, but Delaware lacked hitting punch on crucial moments.

Stevens scored a run in the first frame on an error, and picked up two more in the 2d, Delaware didn't score until the seventh when they got one more run, and in the ninth inning Garret, double courtesy of Gehrke, lifted the score. From the seventh to the 11th Delaware was reduced to less than a run to score. Taylor's two home runs and a single by Lichene.

The work of the Blue and gold battery was the feature of the game. Garrett not only kept the runners on base, but helped on them, before hitting or behind, before hitting, then behind him, by putting all of his hitting efforts up to the average of his batters. In the eleventh Stevens scored the winning run, assisted by Lichene, Taylor's two home runs and a single by Lichene.

Resolutions of Respect

W. J. H. Cookett, first baseman of the Newark field club, was the most active leader. He was the center of attention, not only by the community, but in the cheer leading of his fellow students.
