JAMES A. M'KELVEY, PROMINENT NEWARK CITIZEN, DIES SUDDENLY

Death Resulted from Attack of Cerebral Hemorrhage

James A. McKelvey, 58 years old, proprietor of the Deer Park Hotel, here, and one of Newark's best-known citizens, died unexpectedly at the hotel shortly after 9 o'clock Monday morning. He had been proprietor of the hotel for more than 20 years and throughout his life had been actively identified with civic and political matters.

The funeral took place at 9 o'clock this morning with requiem mass in St. John's R. C. Church. Interment will be in Mt. Holly Cemetery, Mt. Holly, N. J.

The pall bearers were: Dr. S. T. Young, Claude P. Hearn, John W. Hanson, Ralph Barrow, Clarence Major, and John F. Richards.

Mr. McKelvey's death occurred as the result of a sudden attack of cerebral hemorrhage. At 8 o'clock Monday morning, while waiting to drive his daughter to the Ursuline Academy, in Wilmington, he complained of feeling ill. Mrs. McKelvey found him seated in a chair in his office, and, seeing that he was ill, had him carried to their apartment on the second floor.

He lost consciousness while being carried upstairs and physicians were unable to revive him. He died about an hour later.

Mr. McKelvey came to Delaware as a young man. He was born on a farm in Lancaster County, Pa. First he went to Wilmington, where he was proprietor of a saloon for several years. Then he became proprietor of a hotel in Hockessin, where he remained until he purchased the Deer Park Hotel here in 1911.

Mr. McKelvey was keenly interested in civic and State affairs and had a wide circle of friends in Newark, adjoining counties of Pennsylvania and Maryland, and throughout Delaware.

His favorite pastime was trap-shooting and he was generally recognized as one of the best in the State. This interest gained him a wide circle of friends in this and a host of other sporting activities.

Other sports in which Mr. McKelvey was most interested included gunning, baseball and football. Every year he made at least one trip to Virginia or Pennsylvania in search of game. While the Philadelphia Athletics were winning their first pennants, he was an ardent follower of that team, missing very few of the games played in Philadelphia, and was acquainted with a large number of the players personally. He took a great interest in athletics at the University of Delaware.

Among his civic activities, Mr. McKelvey served as a magistrate in Newark, receiving his appointment from Governor Denney and later resigning his post. He was active for years in Republican politics here.

He was gifted with a keen sense of humor, a genial disposition and an unusual ability as a story teller. These qualities endeared him to hundreds of friends who had occasion to stop at the hotel.

Mr. McKelvey is survived by his wife, one daughter, Elizabeth, 16 years old, and several brothers.

State Board Officials Visit the Newark School

Late last week, Mr. George S. Williams, president of the State Board of Education, and Mr. E. A. Simon, of the State Board of Education spent a half day visiting the Newark School and were entertained at lunch in the Newark School Dining Room by Superintendent Brinser.

These gentlemen were very much interested in the class work of the school and the fine way in which the class rooms and buildings are kept. Phases of the school work and life in which they manifested a special interest, was the working of the School Library, with its six thousand volumes and average daily use by nearly four hundred pupils. The Newark School Cafeteria was also the object of much interest on the part of these visitors where they saw the fine team work of the staff and about four hundred pupils who daily lunch there.

This was their first official inspection of the fifteen room addition, authorized July, 1930, and completed September 1, 1931, which contains fourteen class rooms, one school reception room, a basement corridor, a cafeteria lunch room and a kitchen. They especially noted the fine care being taken of the new addition which was first opened last September.

Mr. John Shilling, Assistant State Superintendent, and Miss Marion F. Breck, State Supervisor of Home Economics, visited the school in their official capacity the same day and were also entertained at luncheon.

Dodson, of Rising Sun; Charles Mearns, of North East, and Austin L. Jenkins and Francis M. Keefer, of Elkton, for $5000 damages in each case, in that they falsely and maliciously spoke and published of the Plaintiff the words following:

"A man came up to get a job, went to the Contractors (meaning Empire Construction Company), asked for a job, told him to see McCool, saw McCool, told McCool he had been out of work for four months, had a wife and seven children. McCool told him he would have to give him (McCool) $2 to get him a job. He only had $2 and he said if he couldn't get work, he would have to give it to him (McCool), as he had to have a job. McCool took the money, then the man showed him (McCool) a badge, and told him (McCool) he was under arrest. He took him (McCool) to Baltimore, and he (McCool) was held under $2,000 bail."

George Short and his cousin, James Jones, are in the Cecil County jail, the former suffering from gunshot wounds in his legs, and the latter with bad cuts, as the result of being caught in the act of robbing the clothing store of Samuel Harris, on West Main street, Elkton, early Sunday morning, by town and county officers. Both young men have served terms in prison for robbery and the authorities believe they may be able to connect them with several of the robberies which have occurred in this county in the past few weeks. They had been arrested a few weeks ago on suspicion of robbing Thomas Brothers restaurant, but were discharged for lack of evidence.

Sheriff Albert G. Buckworth and State's Attorney E. D. E. Rollins felt sure of their guilt, and engaged a young man familiar with their comings and goings to keep tab on them, with the result that Saturday evening he reported that a plan was on foot to rob the Harris store immediately after it closed at midnight Saturday night, provided this supposed accomplice could secure a truck to haul away the goods. The Sheriff and State's Attorney arranged with Lincoln Jensen to allow his truck to be used, and set a trap for the burglars.

Deputy Sheriff W. Coudon Reynolds and Richard Masemore were stationed at Jacob Singman's store facing the Harris store, while during the evening the Sheriff, State's Attorney, Deputy Sheriff Boyd, Chief of Police George M. Potts and Detective Oscar P. Humes one by one went to a room in the New Central Hotel commanding a view of the rear of the Harris store. Night Officer David J. Randolph kept to his regular routine so as to give the burglars confidence.

About midnight Short and Jones brought a ladder and placed it against the rear of the store, left for a few moments and then came back, climbed the ladder and started to throw out goods. The officers from the hotel went to the back of the store and Sheriff Buckworth climbed the ladder, whereupon Short and Jones ran to the front, kicked out the glass door and dashed through it. Deputy Sheriff Reynolds called to them to halt, and Jones surrendered, but Short started to run. After another command to halt Deputy Reynolds used a shot gun, peppering Short's legs badly. He still tried to escape but ran right into the arms of State Attorney Rollins.

The officers are very hopeful that the arrest of these offenders will break up the burglaries in this section.

BULLETIN OF THE DELAWARE GAME AND FISH COMMISSION

While other government agencies are trying to prevent over-production, Henry O'Malley, Commissioner of the Bureau of Fisheries, U. S. Department of Commerce, is setting over-production of game fish as its objective. It is his desire to improve the methods of aquaculture along the same lines and to the same extent that has given agriculture its present pressing problem of over-production.

A recent netting of the State Pond, at St. Georges, produced the following fish: 132 adult large-mouth bass; 50 small large-mouth bass; 1600 catfish; 95 carp; 1000 mud-shad; 550 crappie; 54 calico bass; 500 yellow perch; 10 pike; 100 sunfish.

These fish with the exception of the carp and mud-shad were used for restocking ponds in the State. The extremely mild weather has permitted this work and a number of the streams and tangle-holes have also been netted with the following results: 163 large-mouth bass; 248 pickerel; 726 crappie; 115 white perch; 200 yellow perch; 20 sunfish, 200 catfish.

The mild weather during January has permitted the sportsman to continue his bass fishing, and the results have been very good. This season, however, closed on February first, and remains closed until May twenty-fifth. The season for pike and pickerel closes March first, and reopens also on May twenty-fifth.

The presence of great numbers of ducks and geese this winter suggest the speed at which these birds travel, and the American Game Association has issued the following article:

The luckless hunter who, missing a flock of ducks zooming straight over his blind, shouted after them, "Go it, you idiots! The world is round and you'll be back in five minutes anyhow!" was slightly exaggerating the speed of waterfowl according to statistics compiled by the U. S. Biological Survey. Earlier estimates of the swiftness of ducks credited these birds with phenomenal speeds, but airplanes and automobiles have made possible an accurate check on the speed of their flight under varying conditions. The survey has concluded from its collection of reports that ducks and geese do not ordinarily fly more than 40 miles an hour, although they are capable of increasing their speed greatly for a short time when frightened. The Survey places the high speed of mallards, spoonbills and black ducks at 50 miles an hour; pintail and wood duck at 60; widegeon and gadwall at 70; redhead at 90; blue winged and green-winged teal and canvasbacks at 100. The Canada goose can fly around 80 miles an hour. The fastest bird timed was a duck hawk in California, which is said to have darted at the rate of 165 to 180 miles an hour while chasing its prey.

Dog Tax

It is the duty of every person of the State of Delaware outside of the corporate limits of the City of Wilmington, owning or having under control, on or premises upon which said person resides, any dog over four months of age, to pay on or before the first day of March of each calendar year, a license tax of one dollar on such dog to the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners of the State of Delaware.

Mad Dog in Brandywine Hundred

On account of a mad dog having been found in the neighborhood of Rockland, all of Brandywine Hundred and that portion of Christiana Hundred east of the Kennett Pike has been quarantined until further notice and all dogs in this area must be securely tied or confined on owners' premises. Any dogs running at large in this area, unless accompanied by the owner or custodian, shall be killed.

License Law for Cats Suggested

License laws for cats, similar to those now in force for dogs, have been announced as the 1932 objective of the International Cat Society, as its first active move toward abolishing all stray cats in the cities and country.

The Society is pointing out that experts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and state conservation departments have branded straying and night-hunting house cats as one of the greatest obstacles in the way of efforts to increase bird life in urban and suburban communities. Game authorities have outlawed the abandoned or straying cats found in the fields and woods as a serious menace to game birds.

The Society officials have warned that in addition to their destruction of bird life, cats are economically invaluable forms of hydrophobia than the dog, and to the human form of tuberculosis, diphtheria, ringworm, anthrax and scarlet fever, and are especially undesirable when infesting city filth.

A CHALLENGE TO YOUNG PEOPLE

During the past forty years tens of thousands of young men and women of many nationalities and denominations have sought free training for Christian service at home or abroad offered by The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. More than 2000 students enrolled in its Day and Evening Schools last year. While for certain special courses a high school background is required, and college training desirable, yet grammar school training will admit to its General Course. English is taught to any deficient in its use.

The Bible ranks first in all Institute courses, but instruction is furnished in such subjects as Sunday School Administration, Daily Vacation Bible School, Gospel Music, Public Speaking, Home Economics, Hygiene, and Manual Training. In special courses are offered Theology, Homiletics, Church History, Apologetics, Hebrew, Yiddish, Greek, and medical subjects for foreign mission work.

There are three terms a year—Fall, Winter and Summer—but students may enter at any time. An illustrated catalogue will be mailed on request. Address, 153 Institute Place, Chicago Avenue Station, Chicago, Ill.

Discusses Keeping One's Estate at Par In Equitable Trust Co. Monthly

"The Work of a Trust Investment Committee," "Keeping One's Estate at Par," and "Present Trends in Real Estate," are three interesting and informative articles included in the February issue of the Equitable Monthly, published by the Public Relations Department of the Equitable Trust Company, of Wilmington.

An editorial on President Hoover's tribute to life insurance acts as an introduction to the article by Oliver D. Collins, Jr., president of the Delaware Association of Life Underwriters, who discusses "Keeping One's Estate at Par."

Mr. Collins points out the common causes of estate shrinkage, citing that market fluctuations, real estate shrinkage, and estate taxes often combine to lower the value of an estate to the danger point.

"The only way of guaranteeing that the value of an estate will be returned to par at death," writes Mr. Collins, "is through life insurance, commonly referred to by the underwriter as shrinkage life insurance."

The writer urges that the patron give considerable thought and study as to the best type of insurance and stresses term insurance as ideal for the purpose of keeping one's estate at par.

Matthew F. Judge, manager of the real estate department of the Equitable, writes on "Present Trends in Real Estate." He emphasizes the value of real estate ownership in the community life, reminding the readers that despite the present decline in real estate, realty values are fundamentally sound. A bright future for real estate is seen by Mr. Judge when prosperity returns.

Richard Reese, vice-president of the Equitable Trust Company, explains the work of a trust investment committee in an interesting article. He explains the wide service rendered by a trust committee in selecting suitable investments for patrons, and of the care taken to assure the protection and satisfaction to clients in this field.

TOWN COUNCIL MAKES DONATIONS AT REGULAR MEETING

The monthly meeting of the Town Council was held Monday evening at the Academy street office. The matter of using the same tax assessment that the county uses was taken up. It was decided that the county assessment could be used for the purposes of taxation, with a change in the tax rate of the town.

At the next meeting of the Council a plan will be presented mapping out the street improvement program for the coming summer.

February 17 was named for Town Cleanup Day.
The sum of $50 was donated by the Town to the Nurses Association. Five hundred dollars was donated to the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, the usual annual check of the town to that organization.

LION CLUB MAKES DRIVE FOR NEW SIDEWALK

The weekly dinner meeting of the Lions Club at the Washington House was preceded Tuesday evening by a directors' meeting. Reports of various committees were heard.

Newton Shaeffer, head of the Employment Committee, reported that more applicants were registered for jobs than could be handled and asked the cooperation of the club members and of the townspeople in filling this need. He reported that twelve men and three women had been placed permanently in positions recently.

Three new members were proposed. These nominations will be reported on at the next meeting.

It was suggested that the secretary of the club, John Fader, write to the County Highway Department petitioning for a sidewalk from the town limits to the colored school in New London Road. This will be done during the coming week.

The club voted to donate $10 to the Nurses Association.

"WOMANLESS WEDDING" TO BE PRESENTED BY NEW- ARK NEW CENTURY CLUB

"Womanless Wedding," is the title of a play which the Newark New Century Club, at a meeting Monday afternoon, decided to present in the near future. All the roles will be filled by residents of Newark, it was stated, and production will be entirely in the hands of club members.

A talk on immigration was delivered by Miss Grace Brewer, of Wilmington. Mrs. Edward W. Cooch spoke on disarmament. After her talk a motion was adopted placing the club on record as favoring adequate national defense.

Mrs. Harry W. Davis sang three solos. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Nell Wilson.

NEWARK CITIZEN RECEIVES AN AMAZING PIECE OF FURNITURE

An amazing piece of furniture in which is symbolized the history of Texas and the life history of a native of that State has been received by M. M. Daugherty, of 208 Orchard road, who is connected with the University of Delaware Experimental Station.

It is a library table about five by four and a half feet, made by Mr. Daugherty's father, William Daugherty, a retired cabinet maker of Alpine, Texas, and contains 23 different kinds of wood, all from Texas. The table, which for its historic interest and sheer beauty is regarded even now as next to priceless, required nearly four years for its construction.

Because of its intricacy and the exactness with which thousands of pieces are fitted together, it was stated that more work was required to build it than is needed to build a house.

It is done almost entirely in paneling, a multitude of different shades of Texas wood ranging from white oak to native Texas ebony being used for various effects. The top surface of the table, so perfectly are the pieces fitted together, seems almost as though it had been done in lacquer. Even if it had, it would still have been a beautiful and highly intricate piece of work.

With one exception, the natural shades of the wood are retained throughout. When a piece of green wood was needed to make a panel of the French flag, none could be found in Texas sufficiently large for this purpose. Around the top of the table are ranged panels of the six flags under which Texas has been governed during its history. In the Mexican flag, even the thorns on the cactus are inlaid in ebony.

Mr. M. M. Daugherty is a graduate of Harvard University and of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. During the World War he served with distinction in the Air Corps. All of these phases of his life are represented on the table. At the opposite ends of the table are the seals of the two colleges, and each is a marvel of intricate design. On four sides around the table are the insignia of the Air Corps. The flags in the top of the table are the Mexican, French, Spanish, Confederate, the Texas flag, and the Stars and Stripes.

Mr. Daugherty stated that his father had considerable difficulty obtaining a copy of the old Spanish flag, which is the one used. In the center of the top surface of the table is a chess board. Each block is a highly intricate Arabesque design. Although the chess board is not more than normal size, there are 1024 pieces in this alone. A total of 1814 pieces of wood are fitted together to form the table top. Wooden pegs and glue alone are used to hold them.

The table is constructed to last for centuries. It is as solid as though it had been carved out of a single block of oak. So well did the cabinetmaker do his job, it is an extremely beautiful and useful piece of furniture even disregarding its historical interest.

Some of the 23 different kinds of wood used are mesquite, red oak, maple, mahogany, walnut, cedar, polecat brush, senie, huisach, white chaperal, lignum vitae, huican, persimmon, como wood, hock berry, wild china, and quajella.

Gasoline taxes brought in a net revenue of $246,373,000 in the first six months of 1931, according to reports to the Bureau of Public Roads. The money will be used chiefly for road building. Nearly 7,118,000,000 gallons were taxed, or 4 1/2 per cent more than in the same period last year.

This week is being observed all over the country as Christian Endeavor Week. Tuesday, February 2, was the 51st anniversary of the founding of the first Christian Endeavor, in the Williston Memorial Church in Port-

Thus it is perhaps especially fitting that Newark should hold its annual banquet on Tuesday evening, Febru-

for these festivities, and the ladies of

More Winter Profits

YOUNG Tom McVey tossed the last log into place. "That's the lot, Dad—fifteen cords, I'd guess."

His father's practiced eye appraised the woodpile. Nearer twelve, son, but it's all clean hardwood. Too good for the price we get!"

Father and son surveyed their handiwork. There was that stubborn knot oak—and there that iron-hearted hickory. Each log in the long neat pile was a battle fought and a victory won.

"With the right dealer, there'd be money in cordwood," Mr. McVey observed. "The price is too low hereabouts."

"Sell it in town," Tom suggested. "By telephone!"

His father weighed the new idea. "Son, you've hit it," he finally declared. "And we'll haul it ourselves and double the profits!"

SCHOOL NEWS

Semesters

One-half of the school year is gone, that trying week of mid-year examinations is over until another year, except in the case of those superior beings, "the seniors" (we hope). The last semester is now a thing of the past, its classes, its assemblies, its parties, its experiences, its trials and tribulations are remembered as pleasant incidents (or otherwise). What we did last term is over; if meritorious, we have the credit; if not, we hope the teachers will overlook our many shortcomings.

Now is the time, the beginning of the term, to make our resolutions, to study, to keep assignments up to date, to be at school on time, to obey those rules which we have broken without thinking, to support the committees, general association and faculty in their efforts to better the school and further its end, which is teaching students to be good citizens. This is the time to resolve to cooperate in every respect with everybody, and to make this term the happiest and most beneficial possible.

The new term gives a chance to make new contacts with fellow students, due to a new arrangement of the home rooms. The students who were formerly (last term) separated according to alphabetical order are now separated by taking every other one from the same order. Even though this may place you in another room, away from your pal, don't be a "knocker," but realize that it is for your own good that the change was made.

Come on everybody, let's make some records that will stand. Yes? A. Non.

What the General Association Means To Us

Student participation in governing the school is one of the greatest ideas of modern education. The General Association is the school. It is the link which brings the students and faculty into a deeper, mutual understanding. The association is beneficial in many ways to the under graduate. It teaches the student how to participate in a government, and gives each student an opportunity to practice school citizenship. It encourages school spirit and loyalties.

During the past week, a bill has been passed concerning the qualifications of the officers in the General Association. To be an officer one must have an average scholarship record for the preceding two semesters. Good marks are necessary in courtesy, industry, and cooperation.

With this new plan, I am sure the school government will function better. These requirements to hold office, should inspire much competition. Students will work for better marks so that they may be eligible for office. As a rule, a good student makes a good executive. However, one who is cooperative and courteous mixes with people more easily.

Newark is rated as the educational center of Delaware, because of the Women's College and University of Delaware. We want it to be a greater center, in the future, because of its model school, Newark High.

Skill With Guns

Frequently bandits are brought to grief by armed citizens notably the organized vigilantes in many mid-western states. Citizens of Menomonic, Wisconsin, recently furnished a striking example of what can be accomplished by armed pressure. The incident inspired the following comment in the Minneapolis, Minnesota, Journal:

"Skill with guns on the part of the citizenry made bandits out of two of the four members of the gang that the Menomonic, Wisconsin, bank robbery."

"Skill with guns on the part of the citizenry wrecked formidable Jesse James gang at Northfield, Minnesota, more than half a century ago."

"Skill with guns on the part of the citizenry wiped out equally notorious Dalton gang forty years ago."

"And yet there are plenty of reformers, and they are pestering legislatures, who think that honest citizens should be permitted neither to possess guns, nor to know how to use them."
