SOIL PROGRAM SUPPORTED BY MANY FARMERS

530 In New Castle County Sign For New Soil Conservation Program

KEEP RECORDS—URGED Proof That Soil-Building Has Been Practiced Is To Be Tabulated

Work sheets under the new Agricultural Conservation Program have been filled out by 530 New Castle County farmers, County Agent G. M. Worriow, announced here Tuesday.

In executing their work sheet and filling them with the New Castle County Agricultural Conservation Committee, these farmers became eligible for the cash benefit payments to be derived by participating and complying with the terms of the program.

Data Is Tabulated

The data as it pertains to each individual work sheet is now being tabulated and listed, so that information relative to each farm may be reviewed by the County Committee.

After this review is completed the county data will be approved by the State Soil Conservation Committee, and the work of determining compliance will begin.

It has been urged by R. O. Stelzer, Extension Economist at the University of Delaware that records be kept by all Delaware farmers showing evidence of all soil conservation practices carried out by them.

"It is particularly important that records be kept showing the acreage of green-manure crops and the dates they were turned under as well as all receipts showing the purchase of lime, superphosphate which has been applied to the farm," said Stelzer, who is in charge of the educational phases of the new Agricultural Conservation Program in Delaware.

Payment Qualification

Before producers can qualify for payment under the program, they will be required to submit proof that they have carried out soil-building practices on their farms.

Stelzer suggests further that in the future all farmers notify their county agricultural agents or their local committeemen when any soil-building practices are carried out. He said that it was not necessary that such notice be given in writing but that it was important that local committeemen be informed, of the practices when they are carried out.

Such receipts for seed, limestone and superphosphate, as well as notification of committeemen when soil-building practices are carried out, will constitute proof later in the year when compliance is checked and will enable the farm supervisors to determine the soil-building payments at the same time, Stelzer pointed out.

Over 50,000 Autos Counted On Highway In 48 Hours

A total of 50,583 automobiles passed the State Road station of the State Police during the forty-eight hours count which ended at 8 a. m., Monday morning, according to Superintendent C. C. Reynolds.

Traffic during the 12 hour period from 12 noon Sunday until midnight amounted to 22,076, or an increase of 6,317 over the totals for the count last year.

The highest previous count on July 4 was the 12-hour count on July 4, 1930, when 19,926 automobiles passed State Road. Only two other days of the year have higher counts than the 12-hour count Monday. One of these was Decoration Day, 1931, when 25,066 cars passed this point.

CAR INSPECTION CREWS SELECTED

Announcement was made Tuesday of the personnel of the various crews which will work at the five safety lanes in the state during the eighth annual motor vehicle inspection campaign from Monday, July 13 to Saturday, August 29.

Three Wilmington Crews

In an effort to economize, the number of crews for the two lanes in Wilmington has been cut down from four to three. A time schedule for the work of the crews has been arranged so that the reduction of the number of crews will not interfere with efficiency or expediency.

William K. Gillespie, principle of the Newark High School will act as an inspector for Crew C of the Wilmington division.

Inspecting groups for Rural New Castle, Kent and Sussex Counties have also been appointed.

The personnel of Rural New Castle, County, Lane No. 3 includes: Mr. Raymond, manager; Harold C. Jones, New Castle; Hugh Gallagher, Newark; John P. Carey, Mt. Pleasant; Robert T. Garrett, Middletown; G. E. Hancock, Newark, and James Salter, New Castle.

Inspection State-Wide

This annual inspection is carried on in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware and is a state-wide procedure. During this period, every motor vehicle must be submitted for free inspection at one of the safety lanes throughout the state.

Official notice is mailed to every vehicle owner and failure to receive this notice indicates that the department does not have the owner's proper address. In this case it is necessary to notify the Motor Vehicle Department at Dover.

Fleets, four or more in number will be inspected at the owner's location five days after notice is given one of the department's offices in Wilmington, Dover or Georgetown.

Registration card, operator's or chauffeur's license and an inspection notice must be presented at the Safety Lane.

Continental Picnic July 25

The Continental Diamond Fibre Company will hold its annual outing Saturday, July 25 at White Crystal Beach. A total of 600 persons including employees and their families are expected to make the trip.

Will Play Tennis Finals On Sunday

ONE HURT AS MAN IGNORES STOP BUTTON

Wife of Reckless Driver Is Severely Cut In Lone Holiday Crash

7 CHILDREN UNHARMED

Only one automobile accident occurred in Newark on the Fourth of July when a car, operated by Harry C. Crookham, Jr., of Cowtown, Md., crashed into the vehicle driven by Emil B. Powell of Kenil, N. J., late Saturday night at the corner of College avenue and Delaware avenue, opposite the Flower Hospital.

Hattie K. Crookham, aged 33, wife of the driver of the car, was thrown from her seat to the road, receiving a severe laceration of the elbow, which required three stitches to close and an abrasion of the right knee, besides suffering from shock. She was treated at the Flower Hospital. Seven children, ranging in age from one to thirteen, also in the machine, were uninjured.

Shuns Stop Signal

The family was returning home after a holiday celebration at the home of their relatives, W. C. Maxwell and family, 263 E. Main street. Going west on Delaware avenue, Crookham, who was being trailed by Officer Leroy Hill, planned to warn him about a missing tail light, failed to halt at the stop button on Delaware avenue. He crashed into Powell's car which was going south on College avenue. Both machines were travelling between twenty and twenty-five miles an hour.

Crookham was apprehended by Officer Hill who was at the scene of the accident and arraigned before Magistrate Daniel Thompson where he was fined $10 and costs for reckless driving.

The Powell machine was damaged to the extent of $150 while Crookham's damages were estimated at about $75.

Country Club To Give Dance For Junior Members

On Saturday, July 25, the Newark Country Club will conduct a dance especially for the junior members of the club. Dancing will be from nine 'til one o'clock with "Bud" Wilson and his orchestra furnishing the music.

FOUR INJURED BY FIREWORKS

According to reports of practicing physicians in Newark, local casualties over the Fourth of July were few, with only four reported accidents and none of these serious.

While showing her children how to set off fireworks safely, Mrs. Frances W. Danby was burned Friday on the finger and thumb of her left hand. Mrs. Danby was injured when a firecracker which she was holding exploded in her hand. She drove to Dr. Wallace Johnson's where she received treatment.

Ralph Gregg, Jr., 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gregg of 39 W. Cleveland Avenue, was burned below the right eye Friday night. The injury was received when a salute, thrown by A. Neal Smythe, Jr., exploded near the boy as he was playing behind Hopkins' store. It is not known whether the firework or a stone dislodged from its place in the driveway caused the cut.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES LOWER HERE THIS YEAR THAN IN 1935

Thirty-six per cent fewer cases of communicable disease were reported in Delaware during the first half of 1936, as compared with the corresponding portion of 1935, with the exception of whooping cough and measles, which attained cyclical near-epidemic proportions during that period, according to statistics of the State Board of Health.

Typhoid Fever declined 28 per cent—from 7 cases in 1935 to 5 cases in 1936.

Diphtheria Reduced 20%

Diphtheria, which is mainly a children's disease, dropped over 20 per cent—from 29 cases in the first half of 1935 to 23 in 1936. The reduction in the number of cases of diphtheria, and the number of deaths from 30 in 1925 to 5 in 1935, is thought to have been brought about by the persistent and conscientious efforts of private physicians and the State Board of Health, since the inauguration of the diphtheria immunization program in 1926. In the whole of 1935 only 50 cases were reported in the State, which was a 50 per cent reduction from the lowest figure ever before reported. State health authorities believe that 1936, according to present indications, will show an even lower record.

Scarlet fever, which had attained serious proportions in 1935, decreased 56 per cent—from 355 to 156 cases, which is approximately normal (or slightly below normal) for the average of the past ten years.

Whooping Cough Increased

Whooping Cough was one of the two diseases to show an increase during 1936 over 1935, with a jump from 65 to 287 cases, while measles showed a serious increase, both as to number of cases and deaths resulting, with a rise from 206 to 1,306. Each of these diseases are cyclical in their incidence, and it is believed that 1936 is the peak year for each, and that 1937 will see a decline.

Pneumonia dropped 32 per cent, with a decrease from 78 cases in 1935 to 53 in 1936. In January 1936, the State Board of Health issued a warning to take care of common colds, to avoid exposure, to keep one's physical condition built up, and to consult a physician when subjected to what may at first seem only a "severe cold." The Delaware death rate from pneumonia has been unusually high in past years, due largely to the fact that it is particularly fatal among the very young and the very aged, and that the population of this State shows a high proportion of each of these age groups.

Poliomyelitis Unchanged

Poliomyelitis remained the same, with no cases in the first six months of either 1935 or 1936, while encephalitis decreased from 1 case in 1935 to no cases in 1936.

Syphilis decreased 6.4 per cent in number of reported cases which, while a small gain, is considered an encouraging step forward in the fight against this disease. Treatment and advice are offered to sufferers from venereal diseases at clinics conducted regularly in county health centers.

Delaware Shows Gains

Delaware has shown considerable gains during the years or organized health work, with the results that the average life span has increased from 33 to 55 years, or 67 per cent, since 1893, while the chance of a new-born baby being alive to celebrate his first birthday anniversary has increased 261 per cent since 1918.

COUNCIL ASKED TO ENTER SUIT

MAYOR ADVISES AGAINST ACTION

"Curve" in New Bridge Stirs Richards; Case Given to Cann for Opinion; Main Street To Be Resurfaced; Other Street Improvements Planned

Possibilities of seeking an injunction against the State Highway Department and the Pennsylvania Railroad in an attempt to force them to build a straight bridge, now under construction over the latter's tracks at the foot of South College Avenue, and an extensive program of public improvements occupied the Council of Newark Monday night. The body, staging its regular monthly meeting, deliberated at length over these two important problems after routine affairs had been settled.

Councilman John F. Richards, who proposed the injunction, held that South College Avenue joins the state highway as a straight street while plans for the bridge, he claimed, will create a curve that will endanger motorists and force a drop in property values in that portion of Newark.

During the discussion Mayor Collins revealed the fact that none of the parties responsible for the bridge—State Highway Department, U. S. Government and Pennsylvania Railroad—has considered the Council in making plans.

Request Granted

Chief of Police No Cop; He's a "Doctor"

Chief of Police William E. Cunningham is no longer an ordinary "cop." He was awarded a "doctor's" degree this week with the announcement by Mayor Frank Collins that his police duties were extended to include a place on the local Board of Health.

Dr. J. R. Downes, chairman of the board, requested Cunningham's appointment to complete the unexpired term of Daniel Stoll, resigned. The Council of Newark, being in a cooperative mood Monday night, complied.

In addition to his manifold duties as chief of police and a health official, Cunningham also serves as a fire engine and ambulance driver for the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company.

Mayor Collins added, however, that a request from the Council to have the overpass completed by open-type construction, rather than a solid-retaining-wall-filled type, had met with favorable response.

He pointed out the difficulties confronting the Council in seeking an injunction of the type, quoting a state's right over any sub-division as being supreme. He likewise pointed out that injuries would be suffered by property owners from a straight bridge as well as the one now planned and that those owners, individually or collectively, would be forced to seek settlement for themselves. The Council, he said, is powerless to act in such cases.

Referred To Counsel

No action was taken by the local body, the entire case being referred to John Pearce Cann, Council's attorney, for an opinion. While Mr. Cann has not acted as yet, the belief is general that he will advise dropping the move.

Members attending the meeting were, in addition to Mayor Collins: Councilmen C. Emerson Johnson, George F. Ferguson, George E. Ramsey, Charles C. Hubert, Herman Wolleston and John F. Richards; George C. Price, engineer, and C. Vernon Steele, secretary.

Public Improvements Planned

Extensive street improvements, including the resurfacing of Main Street from Academy to the western extremity at the Newark Country Club, was approved by Council.

An estimate submitted by the Interstate Amosite Company, Wilmington, of $6,147.50 was approved for labor and materials with the Oliver Paving and Construction Company, also of Wilmington, doing the work. This is the same combination of organizations that laid the test section on Main Street from Academy to the railroad crossing at Newark Center last year.

The estimate figure submitted is regarded as high and it is felt by the committee in charge of streets that the actual cost will be from $500 to $800 less when completed.

Specifications call for a 24-foot strip, widening at intersections, which will necessitate the placing of about 12,700 square yards of material. Work, which will start soon, will require about ten days of favorable weather.

To Call For Bidders

Town Engineer Price was instructed to draw up plans and specifications for bids on extensive street improvements to Old Oak Road, the new portion of Academy Street below Kells Avenue, and unimproved portions of Haynes Street.

This work will cost, according to estimates, about $4,947.75, bringing the total estimate for improvements, including the resurfacing of Main Street, to $11,095.25.

Following receipt of $7,668.41 during June, with disbursements amounting to $7,600.88, the town bank balance was $15,244.36 at the start of (Continued on Page 8)

Game Wardens Continue Drive Against Laggards

Delaware residents who refuse or neglect to purchase licenses for pet canines in compliance with the laws of the state are finding the consequences costly.

Deputy Game Warden William Wideman, working with assigned men from Dover headquarters, continues to swear out warrants in record numbers to violators in this vicinity. Seventy-five warrants have been served by him since last Thursday, he reported this morning.

With no alternative but to comply with the law that is being rigidly enforced this year, Magistrate Daniel Thompson has been unusually busy in dealing out fines of $5 and costs to violators of the statute.

Car Stolen Two Weeks Ago Is Recovered In Mich.

Chief of Police William Cunningham was notified yesterday from Pontiac, Mich., of the recovery of a stolen automobile, the property of Ralph M. Aiken, which was taken from the front of his home on Kells avenue, Tuesday morning, June 23.

The car was in the possession of Carl Breninger alias Harry Wilson, aged 16, who is being detained at the Oakland County Juvenile Home in Pontiac. The boy was apprehended by the sheriff of Oakland County.

Employment Office Gets Six New Registrations

Making two placements and receiving six new registrations constituted Miss Elizabeth McNeal's efforts yesterday at the Newark Branch of the Delaware State Employment Service. The registrations were divided among professional, industrial and domestic classifications.

Wednesday is Miss McNeal's day here. She holds forth in the Council of Newark offices, 26 Academy street.

Lesson for July 12

WITNESSING UNDER PERSECUTION

LESSON TEXT—Acts 3:1-4:31. GOLDEN TEXT—We ought to obey God rather than men.—Acts 5:29. PRIMARY TOPIC—Brave Peter and John. JUNIOR TOPIC—Two Brave Preachers. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Two Brave Witnesses. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Courageous Witnessing for Christ.

In I Corinthians 1:21-25, Paul sets forth the attitude of the world toward Christ and his gospel. The one who preaches Christ crucified must expect opposition, and even violent persecution. This attitude of the world, instead of being a deterrent, should be a spur to activity.

1. Peter Healing the Lame Man (Acts 3:1-11).

The place (vv. 1, 2). It was at the beautiful gate which leads from the outer to the inner court of the temple. This helpless man had been placed at the entrance of the place of worship where he might receive the sympathetic attention of worshippers.

2. The man (v. 2). This beggar was infirm from his birth. He was not more than forty years old (Acts 4:32). When he saw Peter and John, he asked alms.

3. The method (vv. 3-8).

a. Gaining the man's attention (v. 4). Peter and John commanded him to look on them. He asked for money and got healing.

b. Peter commanded him in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth to rise and walk (v. 6). This was the very thing he had been unable to do all his life, but with the command went the ability to do.

c. Peter took him by the right hand (v. 7), gave impetus to his faith, not strength to his ankles.

4. The man's response (v. 8). Strength at once came to him. He stood, walked, leaped, and shouted praises to God.

5. The effect (vv. 9-11). The people were so filled with wonder that they ran together to behold this thing. There could be no question as to the genuineness of the miracle for the man had been a familiar figure for many years.

a. This helpless man had to be carried to the temple. Men and women out of Christ are so helpless that they need to be brought where the life of God can be applied to them.

b. Peter, taking the man by the hand, shows the manner of helping the lost. Christian witnesses should bring them to Jesus.

11. Peter Witnessing Before the Multitude (Acts 3:12-26).

Though this miracle directed the attention of the people to Peter and John, Peter seized the opportunity to present Christ to the people.

111. Peter in Prison for Christ's Sake (Acts 4:1-4).

1. The leaders. Both priests and Sadducees joined in this persecution (vv. 1, 2).

The priests were intolerant because these new teachers were encroaching upon their functions. The Sadducees did not believe in the resurrection, which was a vital part of the apostolic preaching.

2. The result (vv. 3, 4). Though they were held in bondage by chains, Christ continued to work. The number of believers greatly increased.

IV. Peter Witnessing Before the Sanhedrin (Acts 4:5-21).

1. The inquiry (vv. 5-7). The inquirers admitted the reality of the miracle but they wanted to know what it signified.

2. Peter's answer (vv. 8-12). With stinging sarcasm he showed them that they were not on trial as evildoers, but for doing good in the name of Christ to the helpless and needy man.

3. The impression upon the Sanhedrin (vv. 13-21).

a. They marveled (v. 13). They were made conscious that they were on trial instead of sitting as judges.

b. They took knowledge that Peter and John had been with Jesus (v. 13).

c. They forbade them to speak in Christ's name (v. 15). They could not deny the miracle or gainsay the accusation brought against them, so they attempted intimidation.

d. Peter and John's reply (vv. 19, 20). They expressed their determination to obey God rather than men.

e. Their release (v. 21). Seeing that the people were on the side of the apostles, the rulers were helpless.

V. The Church at Prayer (vv. 23-31). As soon as Peter and John were set free, they hastened to their fellow disciples and told their experiences. They praised God for deliverance and prayed for boldness to speak the Word of God.

Pulling Together

If the money getters would line up behind the knowledge getters, and all pull together in a definite well-organized plan, we'd raise the standards of human life higher than the most fantastic imagination ever dreamed they could be raised.

OUR CHILDREN'S FRIENDSHIPS

HELEN GREGG GREEN

"Now, Mom dear, when I bring Grover home for dinner, please just pretend not to notice his table manners. Because, really, Mom, underneath he's such a fine chap. He just hasn't had the chance to learn all these things you and Dad have taught me."

"Of course I won't, Ted," answered Mrs. Thornton. "Perhaps in time, he'll learn some useful, helpful things from you. And since we all believe in reciprocity, perhaps he can teach you some."

The foregoing conversation occurred several years ago when I was visiting the Thornton family. I had been much interested, wondering what mutual benefit the two boys would derive from the friendship. So when I recently received a letter from Mrs. Thornton, asking me to spend a week at her house, I thought to myself, "I wonder whether Ted and Grover are still fast friends."

I soon discovered that the friendship between the boys had grown and developed to the pleasure and benefit of both. I commented in this to Ted's mother.

"Yes," said Mrs. Thornton, "I have always been careful never to discourage any friendships of Ted's except where there was some real reason for my objection. Many of his apparently least-promising acquaintances have developed into his most worthwhile friends. Take young Grover, as an example. When he began coming to our house he was a big, uncouth chap whose table manners were atrocious. But he was ambitious. Left an orphan, very young, he had spent most of his life with some relatives on a farm and now trudged several miles each day over country roads to reach the town school. He was a very observant boy. He had come into contact with a few of the small but important amenities of life, at home, and he soon became conscious of this handicap. But instead of developing an inferiority complex, he began looking around him, thoughtfully, studying his new acquaintances, and at length adopting those behavior patterns that he felt were worth while."

"And during that interval you did as Ted so thoughtfully asked you to do: just 'didn't notice,'" I interrupted, remembering the considerate suggestion.

"Yes, I think Ted and I helped Grover. I'd often get ideas across in a tactful way. I'd suggest that both boys read certain books—did you know there are delightful books for youngsters on etiquette?—and go to see certain picture shows and plays. Of course it was a help to Grover; but Grover, too, helped Ted."

"May I ask, in what ways?" I answered, for I was truly interested.

"Well, I'm ashamed to say I hadn't succeeded in teaching Sonny the value of money. But Grover confided in him. He would say, 'You see, Boy, if I'm not careful with the money I earn and with the small amount my dad and mother left me, there'll be no college!' Well, this started Ted to thinking: 'Why, it really is a privilege to be sent away to school! I believe until he had talked with Grover, Ted just took such privileges for granted. And I noticed a tightening of the purse strings. He even suggested to his father, after Father had a cut in his salary, 'Dad, I don't need as much of an allowance as you have been giving me. And I've been promised a job for this summer. If I get it you won't need to give me any allowance.'"

"Well, that was pretty fine," I had to admit, proud of my young Ted.

"Indeed it was!" His mother continued, "And Grover taught Ted real appreciation of his father and me. He used to say often, when I had a particularly good dinner, 'Some dinner! Mother Thornton. Nobody in the world can cook like you. These compliments started Ted to thinking. One day he said, 'Mother, you are wonderful! And so is Dad. I think Grover has helped make me realize this.'"

"Well, your interest in Ted's friendships has been most worth while!" I said. I was truly enthusiastic. "So many parents want their boys and girls to associate exclusively with the children who are the sons and daughters of their own particular friends—those who have a certain type of background, or who go to certain exclusive schools. The real fundamental reasons for friendship, such as congeniality and understanding and just plain worth-whileness are so often overlooked."

"Yes," said Ted's mother, "but years ago, when I was a girl I had several dear friendships broken up by my mother. I made up my mind, then, that if I ever had children, I would remember, and they should profit. Boys and girls must learn to judge and to choose for themselves, so that their friendships will bring not only mutual benefit but genuine happiness."

"The sooner any child is given the advantage of good environment and training, the better for his future development. For that reason I should like to see kindergarten work thoroughly established in all of our schools and communities."—Roy McCuskey, President, West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon.

HERE'S A NEW WRINKLE IN FINE DECORATION OF YOUR CAKES

Miracle Range Kitchens Are Always Cool

Garden parties, bridge club meetings, company for dinner, Hubby's birthday—there are just a million occasions when you're going to want a delicious cake to serve this summer. However, if you're anything like we are, you'll want to try something different for a change. That's the reason we've searched for that very thing—and found it, too! It's a pineapple feather cake, baked the one-step "miracle" way, light and just perfect for summertime refreshments.

New Cake Decoration

The very newest wrinkle in cake decoration is the use of fresh flowers for embellishment. Just use some of those glorious colored flowers which you all have in your gardens right now. You'll want to be the very first in your circle to try this decorative note, and when you do, you'll wonder why you hadn't thought of it before—unless you're the one in a million who has! It adds such a colorful note to the cake.

The flowers can be placed right on top of the electric oven, while the cake is being decorated. They won't wilt, for the oven of the electric range is so well insulated that not one bit of heat can escape, either to the top of the range or into the room. You'll be thankful for this feature of the electric range many a warm day this summer when you want to bake, for now you won't have to worry about a hot kitchen.

And that reminds us of that cake you'll be wanting to bake, so here's the recipe. Hope you like it, too!

UNDERSTANDING

On that day members of the Tribes and Councils, Degree of Pocahontas, with their families and friends will gather in the beautiful grove at the home for a program of sports and entertainment, beginning early in the afternoon and ending late in the evening. Special guests will include the inmates of the Home and the orphans who are being cared for by the various tribes. At 4 o'clock there will be a minstrel show given on the open-air stage. Mrs. Hansbury, of Wilmington, will direct the minstrels. In the evening there will be dancing.

The Field Day is in charge of the State Propagation Committee, of which Past Great Sachem Robert C. Cantler of Wilmington is chairman, and Past Great Sachem Frank H. Balling of Newark is secretary.

Plan Open-Air Adoption

At the regular meeting of Minnehaha Tribe on Tuesday evening it was decided to have an open-air adoption soon, probably in August. A well known degree team will be invited to come to Newark and put on the work, and the public will be invited to witness the ceremonies, under certain necessary restrictions. This action was taken in response to the suggestion of the Great Inchoonee of the United States, Arthur J. Ruland.

Newark Juniors "Get Down To Business"

"Members of the American Flag Council No. 28 Jr. O. U. A. M. shed their coats last Monday night and got down to serious business," said A. Neal Smythe, publicity chairman of the group, as he reviewed the last meeting of the order. "The past six months under Councilor Lewis have been a source of pride for us all and our semi-annual audit shows a very encouraging result," he added.

"Deputy State Councilor Andrew Ulrich will be with us to install the newly elected officers," Mr. Smythe said, suddenly changing the subject. Last Tuesday evening 25 members of the local chapter visited Eureka Council, at which time Brother Devonshire installed their respective officers.

Here Mr. Smythe laughed and said, "At the close of this session our heavy eaters enjoyed ice cream and cake served by our hostess."

"Friday night, July 10, we will visit Townsend Council for installation," he said, and then began to grin. The grin broke out into a laugh as he said, "Take a tip from me, they sure know how to feed you there." Then in a more sober manner he added, "We will leave our council room at 8 o'clock, D.S.T."

In conclusion, Mr. Smythe stated his expectations of a large attendance of members and visitors next Monday when the installations will be made.

Canning Crops Decline

The condition of Delaware canning crops on June 15, was below the June 15 condition of 1935, according to word received recently from the Crop Reporting Board of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in Washington, D. C.

Of the major canning crops, the report indicated that only sweet corn for canning was in as good condition as last year's crop on a corresponding date. The condition of sweet corn was placed at 80 per cent of normal. Green peas were rated at 47 per cent of normal as compared to the 1935 rating of 93 per cent. Tomatoes dropped from the 1935 figure of 83 per cent to 70 per cent or normal and snap beans fell from 90 per cent in 1935 to 71 per cent this year.

Truck Acreage Slumps

Acreage of Delaware truck and canning crops also has shown a decrease. Green peas dropped from 3,400 acres in 1935 to 2,800 indicated for 1936. Snap beans dropped from last year's acreage of 1,000 to 900 while tomatoes for shipping fell off 20 acres during the year. Watermelons and cantaloupes, however, both show increased acreages this year. Watermelons show an indicated 1936 acreage of 600 as compared to 560 in 1935 while cantaloupes indicate an increase from 3,460 acres to 3,400 for 1936.

Weather conditions which caused poor germination of seed and upset planting schedules are blamed for the average decrease, the report stated.

Ruts and Gullies Costly

Tillage and harvest costs are often increased by soil erosion, says the Soil Conservation Service. In parts of Oregon, for example, erosion has cut gullies and ruts so deep that it is almost impossible to harvest crops with large combines. One farmer reported that it took two men with a walking plow 22 days to slope sides of gullies and ruts in a 500-acre field of winter wheat so that the crop could be harvested with a combine. A blacksmith stated that he welded 42 spokes on one harvester in 10 days as a result of breakage in crossing ruts and gullies.

Humphreys Addresses Delegates

"Longfellow was a better poet than meteorologist," said Dr. W. J. Humphreys of the U. S. Government Weather Bureau recently in Washington when he was telling the 4-H club delegates then at the National 4-H Club Camp of the many weather superstitions which are believed by American farmers.

When Longfellow, in the poem "Evangeline," depicted the plight of the Arcadians, he wrote that the store of honey gathered by the bees and the thick fur on the fox were sure signs of a very cold winter ahead. Dr. Humphreys pointed out to the 4-H Club members that the store of honey gathered by the bees was large because the nectar was abundant rather than because they had a secret knowledge of the weather to come.

Pet Theories Exploded

He also exploded several other pet theories which are believed to be true by many Americans. He said that it was absurd to wait for the dark of the moon or the light of the moon to plant crops and added that it was equally absurd to believe that the condition of the weather on any one day—the first of the month or Groundhog Day—could determine weather conditions in the future.

The 4-H Club Campers were particularly warned to beware of so-called "rainmakers."

"Anyone," he said, "who claims an ability to bring down rain from heaven or to stop rain from falling is bound to be a fake, for no man-made device yet tried has been proved to be of any value for producing rain."

Gets Transfer-Promotion

John B. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy R. Roberts, Cooch's Bridge, a graduate of Newark High School and the University of Delaware, has been transferred from the Hercules Powder Company plant at Kenil, N. J., to Bessemer, Alabama. He started his new duties this morning.

Working as a chemist at Kenil, Roberts has been placed in charge of a group at Bessemer.

In each of his seven full campaigns in the National League, Southpaw Carl Hubbell lost 11 or 12 tilts per campaign.

Automobile Fatalities Show Slight Decrease

STOP SAVING SECONDS AND LOSING LIVES

According to data released this week by the Delaware Safety Council, automobile fatalities during the first five months of 1936 in the 28 states in which statistics are available total 4,768 compared to 5,216 for the same period of last year, a decrease of 9 per cent.

Delaware, with two less deaths—19 against 21, shows a decrease of 10 per cent to rank tenth in a list of 19 states registering decreases. Virginia tops the honor roll with a decrease of 33 per cent, followed closely by New Hampshire, 29; District of Columbia, 26; and Maryland 25.

A FAIR PRICE FOR THE FARMER

The principal interest of agriculture is a fair price for its products—a stable market in which demand is closely attuned to supply. The farmer wants to know when he raises a crop that he can find a buyer for—and that the price paid will leave him something above the bare cost of production.

The successful farm cooperatives of the country have gone a long way toward achieving that ideal. It is true that during depression markets shrank, and that prices paid were sometimes under production costs. But it is the opinion of many experts that conditions would have been much worse had the co-ops not existed.

The cooperatives, through organized business methods, are now obtaining fairer prices for the farmer. They are bringing stability out of the marketing chaos. They are showing their members how to produce better and larger crops on small acreages, and at a lower cost. They are the strongest possible influence for betterment of the farmer's economic and social condition.

PHILANTHROPY AND LEARNING
Endowed with the sum of $135,000,000, The Carnegie Corporation has distributed approximately six million dollars per year since 1911, the year it was founded. The purposes for which this money is used and the objectives of such a foundation are seldom clearly fixed in the mind of the general public.

In a new book, shortly to be published by Columbia University Press under the title PHILANTHROPY AND LEARNING, Frederick P. Keppel, President of The Carnegie Corporation, describes the services that bring his organization into vital contact with educational progress. Each chapter treats a separate phase of philanthropic interest. Yet, underlying these seemingly scattered problems, there are basic principles upon which rest "the art of public giving."

Mr. Keppel gives three main divisions of the work: 1. The advancement of knowledge to the world; 2. The ready diffusion of knowledge by promotion of acquaintance with the highest educational aims and policies; and 3. The furtherance of the understanding of the deeper stratum of knowledge and feeling that involves philosophy, art, and the comprehension of human relations.

Changing conditions constitute a challenge to the effective administration of endowments. "To continue in a fixed routine sooner or later means sterility, as the whole history of philanthropy has shown," Mr. Keppel points out. PHILANTHROPY AND LEARNING is a record of constant vigilance to preserve the basic objective of a great foundation and at the same time to foster a flexible application to the ever-changing demands of modern education.

Frederick Paul Keppel graduated from Columbia College in 1898. In college he was a member of the editorial board of the student newspaper and editor-in-chief of the "Columbian" annual. In addition to his A.B. from Columbia, he holds the degrees of Litt.D from Pittsburgh and Columbia and LL.D. from the Universities of Michigan, Toronto and Melbourne. From 1910 to 1918 he was dean of Columbia College. For ten years he had been Secretary of the American Association for International Conciliation. In 1918 he became third assistant Secretary of War. The following year he became Director of Foreign Operations of the American Red Cross. Before he became President of The Carnegie Corporation in 1923, he was for two years commissioner for the U. S. International Chamber of Commerce and for one year Secretary of the Plan of New York.

He is also Chevalier, Legion d'Honneur, and a member of the fraternities Psi Upsilon and Phi Beta Kappa. In addition to PHILANTHROPY AND LEARNING he has written the following books: "Columbia University," "Undergraduate and His College," "Some War Time Lessons," "Education for Adults."

Ginger Rogers SAE Sweetheart!
Ginger Rogers was guest of honor at the annual year-end ball given by Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles recently. The red-haired dancing star was selected as "Sweetheart of S. A. E." in a nation-wide poll of 112 active chapters and 200 alumni associations throughout the country.

GINGER ROGERS

She was presented with the "sweetheart pin" by Dr. Edward F. Nipper, a prominent Los Angeles alumnus of the fraternity and the dance was temporarily halted while the members of the Greek letter society sang "Violets," the fraternity song in honor of its guest.

The dance is an annual affair in honor of the U. S. C., the U. C. L. A. and Occidental chapters of the fraternity. Miss Rogers is the first cinema sweetheart ever selected by the group, and is to retain the honor during her lifetime.

Grand Prize

The grand prize, $25, was not claimed last Thursday night at the State Theatre. The number that was drawn was 6886. Tonight, Thursday, July 9, $50 will be given to the person holding the lucky number. The winners of the $1 prizes of last week were: Essie Jones, Isabel Hutchinson, Mrs. Rita Baker, Mrs. Col. Smith and Harry Coover all of this town.

State Theatre House Notes

Friday and Saturday
A new romantic team of unusual appeal is introduced in the M-G-M picture "Fury" playing this theatre Friday and Saturday. The co-starring leads are Sylvia Sydney and Spencer Tracy, and their acting in many difficult scenes of this powerful screen play approaches new heights. The film also introduces a director whose European productions achieved world-wide acclaim many years before coming to Hollywood for M-G-M. This man is Fritz Lang. "Fury" with its excellent acting, swift-moving dramatic force and superb photography is a real credit to this Viennese director and these great stars.

Sylvia Sydney

Ken Maynard in "The Cattle Thief" will be added to the bill on Saturday. This great western star will thrill you as he rides the great open plains in search for his man. Does he get him? What do you think? Yes.

Monday and Tuesday

Airplanes falling in twisted, flaming masses, pilots "bailing out" for their lives, shattered nerves, courage and cowardice in one of the world's most hazardous professions, testing new planes for airworthiness, go to make up one of the most exciting pictures of recent months, Columbia's roaring drama,

Richard Dix

"Devil's Squadron" which plays here Monday and Tuesday. Richard Dix and Karen Morley have the leading roles in the film. Lloyd Nolan, Shirley Ross and ten-year-old Billy Burdud also have featured roles in this air classic film. But, of course it is Richard Dix who shines as a star should shine.

Wednesday and Thursday

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Elissa Landi, filmdom's newest romantic team comes to this popular playhouse on Wednesday and Thursday as stars of "Amateur Gentleman." This picture is the first offering of the newly-formed Criterion Film Productions, of which young Fairbanks is a co-producer. The story was taken from Jeffrey Farnol's world-famous novel. This colorful, swift-moving tale of Regency England depicts the thrilling red-blooded adventures of Barnabas Barty, an inkeeper's son who, by a brilliant masquerade rose to fame and prestige, tracked down a culprit, cleared his father's name and won the love of a lovely lady.

shot and killed Charles Dickinson, whose home was three miles north of Preston, Maryland. The challenge grew out of a horse race that was never run. George Washington was a breeder of fine horses and the first B & O trains were horse drawn. St. Louis and Easton are big horse markets.

STRAWS

by MARY WATSON

WHAT with talk of silhouettes and gored skirts again, anyone with a wardrobe full of straight lined dresses, is going to welcome a mid-season fashion trick of Rochas, the French designer. Rochas shows wide bands of color up the sides of narrow skirts, like the stripes on a guardsman's trousers. At his Paris opening, a heavy white cotton lace evening gown had stripes of military red broadcloth. A clever fashion flatterer to heavy figures as well as slender, it suggests an easy way to disguise that last year's model.

Woman in the News

From shoe model to foremost New York shoe fashion consultant in nine years is the record of blonde Ruth Kerr of Oregon, who styles shoe polishes for the Shingla-Bixby Company as a sideline. Yes, shoe polishes have to be styled, too, these days. Fall shoe and shoe-shine colors, according to Miss Kerr, fall into three brackets: staple colors, which are black, brown, navy blue and gray; promotion colors, to be green, wine and London Tan; and high fashion colors, which include any number of special shades sponsored by individual stores.

Health

Of course you've seen a cat turn and turn about until it got itself into a perfect curl of comfort? Well, that's how we should sleep, experts tell us—in a half circle, knees drawn up, the back curved forward. This is the position that requires the least expenditure of effort and least use of muscle.

Harold Narvel, George Lee, Norman Dempsey, Calvin Ball, Henry Wilson, Robert Dean, Elwood Mutschler, Edward Wilson, Richard Porter, Orville Potts, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Steamp, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Porter. Miss Porter was celebrating her 21st birthday anniversary.

Miss Anna Dennison is one of a party of girls from Marshallton and Hockessin spending this week at White Crystal Beach.

Rog Hornsby's batting mark of .424 in 1924 with the Cardinals was just 104 points better than the figure than won the National League hitting title for Larry Doyle in 1915. And Hornsby did not win the most valuable player award that year, either. The honor went to Dazzy Vance who scored 28 mound triumphs for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Bank's Interest in Community Prosperity

The banker has the same interest in the welfare of his community that a farmer has in the proper fertilization of his land.

The farmer's purpose is to increase the yield from his acres. The banker, too, knows that the bank's growth and profits are dependent in large measure upon the prosperity of the community.

Therefore, by encouraging thrift, by suggesting improved financial methods to the business man, and by lending money to responsible borrowers for productive purposes, the bank is serving its own, as well as community interests.

RUINED BY CURSE

An unusual story divulging how the vengeful words of a dabbler in Black Magic led to a tragedy. One of many absorbing stories in the June 21 issue of the American Weekly, the big magazine which comes regularly with the Baltimore American.

There were eleven batters in the American Association who hit .400 or over in 1887. Pitcher Bobby Caruthers of the St. Louis Browns, serving also in the outfield, swatted .459 for 98 games.

ROAMIN' WITH RUTLEDGE

Bing! Bang! Zowie! All of the distracting noise on the Fourth of July wasn't furnished by the explosion of fireworks. Not in this section at least.

"THE ROAMER"

The Newark team, although untested against top-flight competition, appears to be considerably better balanced than it was in the first semester. The addition of Earl Sheats, a capable all around performer, should give a weak-hitting outfield some sorely needed punch.

RWR

Southerners Are Strong

Thanks to Business Manager J. Lee Johnson and "Nellie" McNutt, new field leader, Havre de Grace again looms as a pennant factor. The Rivermen broke away from the barrier by dividing a pair of 11-inning battles with Perryville, first-half champions.

RWR

With Larry Preston doing duty at third base in Saturday games, the 1935 pennant winners present a powerful array. Not the best fielding third sacker in the loop, Preston, on the other hand, is a distance hitter to be reckoned with at all times.

RWR

Watch The Cannors

Despite the failure of Freddie Baldwin to wear "Stew" Preston away from Havre de Grace, the tricky southpaw turned up with a star catcher in the personage of Don Hughes. Susquehanna League followers will remember him at Bel Air two years ago.

Burns' homer broke a 4-4 tie and gave the Rivermen a two-run edge. Perryville came back fighting to tally once but the uprising fell short with the deadlocking mark on base.

RAIN RUINS PORTION OF CARD AS BI-STATE LEAGUE REOPENS

Newark Wins Pair Although Providence Stages Late Sunday Rally; Cannors Also Snare Two Victories; Havre de Grace Wins Two-Loses One; Perryville In Overtime Games

By "The Roamer"

Although a freak rain storm put the quietus on a pair of afternoon games on the Fourth of July program which marked the second-half opening of the Bi-State League, a full schedule was completed in the morning and one game was played after luncheon.

Newark downed Elkton, 14-2, and managed to outlast Providence, 13-8. Aberdeen won over the Papermakers, 9-2, and defeated Perryville, 5-4, in ten innings. Havre de Grace and the Pandours divided a pair of 11-inning battles, 6-5 for the Rivermen and 3-5 against them. Elkton bowed at Havre de Grace, 4-2, to complete the round.

Games postponed were the Newark at Elkton and Aberdeen at Providence affairs.

Daly Finds Batting Eye

Paced by Jack Daly, hitting flop of the current season to date, who collected a double and two singles in four trips to the plate; Sheats, who banged out three singles and Hughie Hageman, with a pair of doubles, the Jackets coasted to an easy, 14-2 verdict over a willing but inexperienced gang of Elkton youngsters at Continental Field. The game was played on the morning of the Fourth.

Hageman made his initial start in Newark livery and had things well under control all the way. He issued five passes but fanned 13 in holding the Barristers to six blows. Harayda and Dennison chucked for Elkton.

RWR

The visitors took a short-lived, 2-0 lead in the third inning when McCann tripled with two mates aboard, but the Jackets came right back with a four-run splurge to establish a lead that was never threatened again.

Sheats looked especially good for the Jackets in pilfering three sacks in addition to his three-hit exhibition at the plate.

Counting seven runs after two outs had been recorded in the ninth inning here Sunday, Providence threw a scare into Newark rooters despite a 13-1 lead held by the Jackets at the start of the frame.

"Boney" Jackson, who had toiled a magnificent game in checking the hard-driving Papermakers with seven hits and a lone marker, suddenly lost all control with two out when Jack Daly committed his second error of the fray. Jackson then walked seven straight men, giving the Papermakers five runs. Argo, in a relief role, was knicked for a single by Keim and two more runs counted ere the weird inning finally ended.

Roberts, Jackson and Sheats were Newark's batting stars while Richardson and Keim accounted for five of Providence's eight blows. Jackson's three hits included a home run.

Pandours-Rivermen in Thrillers

An eleventh inning home run by Bobby Burns with a pal on base gave the Rivermen a 6-5 victory at Perryville in a morning clash. Stan Bailey and McNutt had engaged in a great hurling duel until Burns' clout finally ended the fracas. The Pandours outthit their neighboring rivals, 14-9, but McNutt, by smart pitching, came out of several tight spots.

Burns' homer broke a 4-4 tie and gave the Rivermen a two-run edge. Perryville came back fighting to tally once but the uprising fell short with the deadlocking mark on base.

Four home runs featured the contest. In addition to Burns' belt, homer drives were slammed by Ray Goldey, Bud Lloyd and Larry Preston.

Serving in a relief role in the afternoon, "Iron Man" Bailey, the same Stan, gained revenge over the Rivermen by limiting them to a lone hit while working the final three chapters.

the same day, didn't make life any easier for Manager Potts and "Boney" Jackson, starting hurler. It looms as a great race down the stretch!

CHAMPS WIN PAIR TO FORTIFY LEAD OVER FIVAL FOES

Racking up a 4-2 victory over the Presbyterians and coming through with an 8-4 triumph over the ever dangerous Knights of Pythias, the Mainstreeters, defending champions in the Newark Softball League, lengthened their current lead to one full game and a half.

In the tightest game of the season, the Presbyterians held a 2-1 edge over the Aetna Firemen to halt the defeated team's upward surge to the top as another highlight of the week.

Three contests were forfeited. The Red Men handed a victory to the Presbyterians without benefit of action and the Golden Eagles were charged with a pair of forfeited games—one to the Knights of Pythias and another to the Fireman.

The Chicago Cubs finished in first place by 20 games in 1906 and 17 games in 1907, but managed to squeeze through by only one game in 1908.

Pandours Show Big First-Half Batting Edge

In rolling to the first-half Bi-State League pennant with only three defeats charged against them in 20 starts, the Perryville Pandours held a big margin over rival teams in the important matter of hitting. The new champions socked the ball at the lively clip of .321, far in advance of the Newark Yellowjackets who stung the leather at the rate of .292 to finish second.

Perryville topped the Jackets, 216 to 206, in the total number of hits although the local aggregation registered more distant clouts to account for 311 total bases, an even dozen more than Perryville's mark.

With "Marvel Marvin" Lucas, speedy Pandour shortstop, showing the way to all rivals on the basepaths by successfully negotiating 15 thefts, and his team mate, Stan Lloyd finishing second with 10 pilferings, the Perryvillians led that department, 43 to Aberdeen's 36.

The complete figures follow:

RIVAL TEAMS FINISH TIED IN TWILIGHT

Legion Upsets National, 1-0, Then Bows To Cards As Race Ends

EWING TWIRLS BEAUTY

Although only on the fringe of the Newark Twilight League's pennant picture at the start of the week, the balance of power was swung by Roy Hill's hustling crew of Junior American Legion tossers as the first-half closed with National Fibre and the Cards deadlocked in first place. The leaders have won eight games against a pair of losses, respectively.

It was a cruel fate that forced the Fibremen to face the Legionaires this week. With the pennant practically nesting in their clubhouse as the result of eight victories and a lone defeat, Charlie Moore's array suffered a 1-0 reverse on Monday as Bob Ewing produced a magnificent one-hit pitching exhibition.

Argo Shows Good Form Pitted against Rube Argo, who turned in a five-hit performance (three of which were credited to his youthful flinging rival), Ewing was master of the situation from the outset. He made victory possible by registering his third straight hit in the sixth to count M. Brooks who had singled and had pilfered second.

Meeting the Cards last night, the Legionaires were victims of a 9-3 lacing as the crimson stockinged delegates advanced to a tie with the Fibremen. K. Whiteman pitched to Cook for the winners while Butts, Morgan and Garrett were bumped apently for the Juniors. Mills caught for the defeated team.

National and the Cards will meet next Wednesday night at Continental Field to decide the winner of the first half. A shift in games was necessary to arrange the contest.

With the second half opening on Monday, Continental and Junior Legion will play that night while the Vets and Battery E will play on Tuesday. The National-Continental game, originally booked for Monday, will be postponed.

Engaging Battery E last Thursday night in a postponed meeting, National swamped the Guards, 29-0. Junior Legion took Continental into camp, 7-6, on Friday.

Continental won another marathon victory over the Vets, 16-14, on Tuesday. The same teams furnished a 13-12 spectacle some weeks ago with Continental overcoming a 4-12 score to win.

NED MCCULLY DEFEATED IN TORRID TILT

Semi-Final Match Forced To Five Sets; Victor Meets Fred Davies In Finals

PROFESSORS WINNERS

Squire-Jones Defeat Hume-Donoho; Meet Day-Davies In Doubles Climax

By "Ace" Seeds

Taking the offensive in the fifth set of their semi-final match, C. Roy Donoho defeated Ned McCully 6-2 to earn the right to meet Fred Davies in the finals of the First Annual NEWARK POST Tennis Tourney. This set climaxed the hardest fought match of the tournament as the two battled the five sets to the tune of 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

After splitting four sets Tuesday, the match was called off due to darkness and finished Wednesday night. The Blue Hen ace experienced plenty of trouble in making his way to the finals as the defending champion battled him stroke for stroke in Tuesday's session to force the match into the fifth set.

In the deciding set played Wednesday, after each had held service, Donoho swept through the next four games to take the lead at 5-1. At this point McCully braced to break the Delaware star's service only to drop his own delivery and the match.

Donoho Takes First Set

Opening the play with a series of fine volleys and placements, Donoho nabbed a 3-0 lead with little difficulty and ran out the set with ease at 6-3.

Trailing 3-4 in the second set, the defending champ cracked Donoho's service to draw up on even terms and then swept through the next two games as his opponent's stroking became erratic, to cop the set 6-4 and even up the match.

McCully Consistent

Play was outstanding because of the long volleys as both men played methodical, consistent tennis. Donoho continually rushed to the net to maneuver the top seeded star out of position, causing him to become a victim of accurate placements. McCully was the more consistent of the two, even though he was continually forced off the court on many of his shots.

After holding services for the first two games of the third set, Donoho broke McCully's delivery to start a service breakage streak which lasted for six games. With the score at 4-4, the Blue Hen star nabbed the top-seeded star's service and then held his own to go into a 2-1 set lead.

Match Discontinued

Determined to even up the match, McCully became even more consistent as he forced Donoho into errors, blasting his way to a 2-0 lead in the fourth set. Here, Donoho braced to break service and then held his own, to even the match up at 2-2. Both held service until the ninth game when McCully broke service, captured his own and evened the match at two sets apiece. At this point, play was called because of darkness.

FLASHES

By BILL FLETCHER

WE WERE SURPRISED to see the excellent showing that Ned McCully made against Roy Donoho in their semi-final match.

"BILL" FLETCHER way he tried for every point while on the other hand the apparently blasé Donoho played top tennis at times, but lost many points due to carelessness.

We viewed the match with the expectations of seeing the Delaware ace win, if not in straight sets, at least in a convincing fashion as his college experience led us to believe he would, but McCully pushed him all the way until the final set when his forte, consistency, failed him.

THIS IS NO REFLECTION on Donoho's victory for, according to reports, his play in the deciding set was a marked improvement over the four preceding ones. On the other hand, McCully failed to play up to the game displayed during the first four sets.

Donoho's volleying at the net was almost perfect as he forced the defending champ to dash from one side of the court to the other while McCully on these dashes managed to, after desperate efforts, return many of these fine placements.

It was a close battle and an enjoyable one and undoubtedly the best match of the tourney.

THE FINAL match which will be played at 10 o'clock Sunday morning is bound to be a "coroker" with Donoho meeting Fred Davies in the climax. It's difficult, especially for us, to pick a winner after the poor choice made at the start of the tourney. We can only say that it'll be worth the time and the neck straining.

LOCAL FIST TOSSERS didn't fare so well last week when three Newark lads were defeated at the Delaware Athletic Club on Friday.

Ott Seeds and Del Reed lost by technical knockouts; the former in the fourth round to Eddie Riddle of Sun Village Club, Chester, Pa., and the latter to Joe Mananger of the East Side Club, Philadelphia, in the second frame.

Ollie Henderson dropped a five-round decision to Frank Lamott, also of East Side Club, to make it a unanimously sad day for the locals and leaving not much cause for a holiday celebration.

The three are gluttons for punishment, however, and will return to the scene of the battle next Friday along with Zeb Goodyear, Arthur Husefelt and Johnny Applegate in an effort to retrieve a portion of the lost pride suffered at the hands of slugging opponents.

ACCORDING TO Phil Cornog, local sportsman who trains the boys for their bouts, about twenty good fighters are ready to go on any local card that might be scheduled. The chief obstacle happens to be a suitable location that would provide seating capacity for the fans. Any suggestions that might serve to leap this hurdle will be welcome.

Ned McCully Defeated

In Torrid Tilt

(Continued from Page 6) When play was resumed on Wednesday, Donoho, blasting and placing his drives with deadly accuracy, and expertly volleying his shots at the net, easily pounded his way through the finale to ease into the final bracket.

Squire-Jones Enter Finals

Francis H. Squire and Ralph W. Jones, second seeded doubles team, entered the final round of the doubles tourney as they defeated Donoho and "Tubby" Hume in another hard played match. After dropping the first set 6-4, the pros hung up the next three sets 7-5, 6-4, 6-2 to earn the right to oppose Dr. C. L. Day and Fred Davies in the finals.

Day was forced to default to Davies in the semi-finals of the singles tourney due to a foot injury. In making his way to the finals, Davies trounced Len Fosset 6-1, 6-0 and downed Chris Laskaris 6-0, 6-4.

Donoho was forced to meet considerable more opposition in gaining his position but came through in convincing style to remove Harry Williamson 6-3, 6-3 and drub Jack Sinclair, fourth seeded player, 6-2, 6-4.

The singles champion will be awarded The Newark Post Tennis Trophy. Permanent possession may be gained by winning it three years consecutively.

Rain Ruins Portion of Card As Bi-State League Reopens

(Continued from Page 6) ters in the afternoon. Perryville won the nod, 5-3, in eleven heats. In a total of 14 innings, Bailey held Havre de Grace to ten hits.

Police protection was needed for Empire Reynolds when aroused Perryville fans threatened him after "Rock" Ryan, peppery captain and catcher, had been chased from the game for a too lengthy dispute of a decision at the plate.

Reynolds threatened Ryan with a fine, but the difficulty was ironed out during a special meeting held by an investigating committee at Oxford Tuesday night.

Burns again slammed a home run as the Pandours outhit the Rivermen, 17-9. Jebb was Perryville's starting hurler while Woodie Preston and Thompson divided hill duty for Havre de Grace.

Aberdeen Wins Two Starts

Although washed out at Providence Saturday afternoon, Aberdeen made hay while the sun shone in the morning at Osborn Field, trouncing the Papermakers, 9-2, and driving Reggie Conway from the box.

Don Hughes made his initial appearance for the Cannors and the lean receiver made his presence felt by nipping three runners off first base. Aberdeen found the combined offerings of Conway and A. Smith for 16 hits while Wilkinson checked the Cecil Countians with four scattered blows, two of which were credited to Ferris Wharton, Newark boy.

With Roy Hill, Newark cop, rescuing the situation by working as umpire in place of the troubled Reynolds, a move necessitated by the difficulty at Havre de Grace on Saturday, Aberdeen downed Perryville, 5-4, at Oxford on the Sabbath.

Baldwin Winning Hurler

Another Bailey-John-attempted to halt the Cannors and turned in an ordinarily good effort. He was opposed by Baldwin, however, who demonstrated excellent form in checking Perryville with seven hits. A like number of Pandours were retired on strikes. Three of Perryville's hits were gathered by Stan Lloyd—two doubles and a triple.

Lloyd, a left-handed batsman, has been a notorious victim of Baldwin's rule in the past, but finally broke the spell. Cooney, Lucas and Hornberger, other highly rated left-handed hitters with Perryville, were stopped however, by Baldwin with two lone hits.

With Bill Deaver, ace University of Delaware twirler on the parapet, Elkton, minus many of the faltering and temperamental stars who hand-capped rather than aided the club in the first half, threw a scare into Havre de Grace on Sunday.

Hestine Leads Barristers

"Deenie" Hestine, who replaced Charshie as manager of the Elkton crew, had his charges scrapping all the way as the Rivermen came from behind to win, 4-2.

Deaver was a six-hit pitcher, four of which were divided by Jones and Stephens, while the veteran "Pink" Donahoe, making his first appearance in two years, was touched for seven blows by Elkton. All of the hits were of the one-base variety, a decided novelty in this day and age of lively balls and healthy clubbing averages.

VETS AND SCOTS SHARE LEAD; TO MEET THIS WEEK

The newest member of the New Castle County League, North East, defeated Cranston Heights, first-half champions, 5-4, to open the second half last Saturday in the lead. The distinction was short-lived, however, as both Newark and Glasgow came through in their openers.

Holding Hillcrest to a pair of hits, Vaughn led the Vets to a 6-1 triumph over the first-half tailenders. Kane led with the stick for Newark in collecting two blows in as many times at bat. The game was halted by rain in the sixth inning.

Glasgow tagged the ball for sixteen hits in trouncing Fort duPont in a delayed opener at Delaware City Tuesday. Phil Sheats, pitching, and Gam, on the receiving end, formed the winning battery. The final count was Glasgow 11, Fort duPont 4.

The local rivals meet at Continental Field Saturday and engage in a second contest at Glasgow on Sunday while North East plays Hillcrest on a home-and-home basis over the weekend.

Although defeated four times this season by the Scots, Jack McGovern's strengthened array feels confident of breaking the ice at the expense of the suburban crew this week.

In the final round of the second sixteen, A. B. Collins defeated J. D. Cunnahan, 7 and 5. In the defeated eight of the first sixteen, Bob Stewart, Jr. downed G. F. Anderson, 5 and 4.

In the handicap match play against par event on Saturday, Dr. A. J. Strikol and R. B. Stewart, Sr., tied for first, each with 3 up. E. H. Thomas was second with 2 up and Collins and C. H. Hopkins tied for third at all square.

The qualifying round on Saturday, July 11, will eliminate all except 32 players who will compete for the President's Cup. The fourth and final round of this tourney will be held on Saturday, August 8.

Jackets To Face Negroes In Donkey Game Next Week

President Huey Morris of the Newark Athletic Association, sponsor of the local entry in the Bi-State League, announced last night that arrangements have been completed for a donkey baseball game here next Friday night (July 17). The contest will be played at Continental Field under lights.

With permission having been granted by officials of the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company for staging the game, efforts are being made to obtain the New London Avenue Cubs, a local Negro team, as opponents for the Jackets.

Last season a donkey game between the Cards and Vets drew a record gate as a twilight affair and it is thought that an even larger assemblage will be attracted this year with the novelty of lights playing an important part. A series of whippet races will be staged in conjunction with the game.

July 12, 1911

Paul Gillis Passed Away
Paul Gillis, aged 63 years, former Levy Courtman and sheriff of New Castle county, succumbed to an attack of heart failure brought on by a lingering illness of over a year's duration, last evening at his residence on Hare's Corner road.

The former sheriff had a wide circle of friends in the city and his genial whole-souled manners made him popular among his associates.

Mr. Gillis was born in Nova Scotia in the year 1848 and came to Delaware in 1868. In 1890 he became a member of the Levy Court of New Castle county and served in that capacity for four years. In 1894 he was elected sheriff and served a term of two years. Upon giving up the duties of his office he returned to his farm, which he ran up to the time of the break in his health last year.

He is survived by his wife, Annie E. Gillis and four children, Harry I. Gillis of Wilmington; Osie Gillis, who lives on the farm of her parents; Mrs. J. Lorthoug and Mrs. John Perkins, of Middletown. Mr. Gillis was well-known in this vicinity, having lived near town for several years.

Mr. Gillis made an excellent record in every office which he held. He was one of the Republican party's best known members.

Mr. Gillis was a member of the Oriental Lodge of Odd Fellows, Osceola Lodge, No. 5, K. of P. and Newark Lodge, A. O. U. W. He was an active member of the Newark M. E. Church.

The funeral will probably be held on Friday at his late home. The interment will be made at the Summit cemetery.

Council Asked To Seek Injunction

July. Disbursements were made as follows: Supplies-Police, $68.67; Sewers, $155.11; Water, $228.12; Light, $2,812.60; Storm Sewer, $121.38; Town general, $97.94; and Streets, $658.57.

Warning Given Dairy

Magistrate Daniel Thompson remitted $179 collected in fines in June. Thirty arrests were reported by Chief of Police William E. Cunningham.

A bacteria count of 300,000 for raw milk, the third straight month the difficulty has existed, brought a stern warning to the Blue Hen Farms for selling milk in Newark that exceeds a legal bacteria content.

Town Engineer Price reported the completion of a sanitary sewer installation on a section of Haynes Street, and the finishing of a storm sewer, filling and grading work on Old Oak Road.

Mayor Collins with the approval of Council, appointed Chief of Police Cunningham to a vacancy on the local Board of Health in compliance with a request by Dr. J. R. Downes, chairman.

Council voted to pay $57.50, or one-half the cost of construction, for the installation of sanitary septic tanks to serve seven residences on Annabelle Street that are not accessible to a sewer. The work was approved by the State Board of Health.

To Revise Books

Approval of the purchase of a new Bristol recording voltmeter to replace the one that has been used by the Light Department for ten years was given by Council. The discarded instrument has been a costly investment for repairs, being overly sensitive to lightning and electrical storms.

Mack and Company, Wilmington accountants, following a recommendation for a mild revision in the bookkeeping system used by the town, was ordered to make the necessary changes.

Bills for Capitation Taxes, ordinarily mailed out at considerable expense and trouble, will henceforth be collected by advertising in newspapers.

Secretary Steele was ordered to institute a persistent drive for the collection of some $2,000 now owed the town by business houses using an excess of water.

July 15 and 16, the third Wednesday and Thursday of the month, were declared "Clean Up" days by Mayor Collins.

T. Ray Jacobs, hardware dealer at Main and Chapel streets, was again awarded the contract for furnishing bulbs to the town for street lighting.

Requests Heard

W. R. Kennedy and C. E. Phillips of the Kells Avenue and South Academy Street section appeared in person to appeal for relief from the constant threat of flood to their cellars and property. They asked for a storm-sewer intake at the southeast corner of the street intersection and fills for low places on the unimproved portion of Academy Street.

Council acted favorably on the latter portion of the plea and ordered an investigation by the town engineer concerning the sewer intake.

LASKARIS DROPS FROM BILLIARDS LEAD BY LOSING

Suffering his first defeat since the start of the Newark Amateur Pocket Billiards Tournament at the State Academy, George Laskaris tumbled from the lead behind a pair of Donalds-Hill and Pierce. The first-named "Don" has captured four straight victories while Pierce has been victorious in three matches against no setbacks. Laskaris has won five matches.

Married life seems not to affect Herman (Barney) Renshaw who has duplicated Laskaris's work. Ernie Cornog has three wins and one loss, and Murphy has lost once while taking three triumphs.

Other entries have fared as follows: Woods, 3-2; Brooks, 3-3; Heath, 2-2; Lloyd, 1-1; Crowe and Taylor, 1-2; Hopkins, 1-3; Dordian, 1-4; Riley and Durnall, 0-3; and Davis and Rose, 0-4.

An unidentified girl was treated by Dr. Johnson for burns on the ear which she received as a result of a holiday celebration.

These four accidents, as far as can be determined from reports received from various sources around Newark, constitute the bulk of injuries received by local residents over the holiday period.
