List new courses required for the new or revised curriculum. How do they support the overall program objectives of the major/minor/concentrations)?
(Be aware that approval of the curriculum is dependent upon these courses successfully passing through the Course Challenge list. If there are no new courses enter “None”)

New courses in the Fashion Merchandising program include:

FASH 133 Fashion Art Studio - Students explore basic design elements and principles, develop creative design studio skills, and apply them to apparel design and merchandising specific solutions.

FASH 210 Seminar on Fashion and Sustainability - Introduction to the emerging cannon of theory and practice regarding Sustainability as it relates to fashion. Course is centered on four components of Sustainability and Social Responsibility: Labor, Environment, Consumption and Body Image.

FASH 355 International Fashion Consumers and Retailers - Global and country specific factors that impact distribution systems for and consumption of fashion related products. Understanding consumers of fashion products within a global context and motivations for pursuing a global marketing and retailing strategy.
FASH 380 Product Development - explores the interrelated roles of designer and retail merchandiser in the product development process. Emphasizes development of fashion products that support fashion merchandising, marketing, and branding strategies. Exposure to product development and management tools used in product research, design, development, production and distribution.

FASH 210 Seminar on Fashion and Sustainability was developed to introduce our students to concepts of social responsibility and sustainability critical to the field, which are then integrated into several higher-level courses. This course supports learning goals directed at producing graduates aware of and able to act with accountability toward issues of social responsibility and sustainability. FASH 133 Fashion Art Studio is designed to meet the goal that students understand and apply design elements/principles to the design and critique of apparel and to the presentation of apparel/fashion products. FASH 380 Product Development will provide a foundation of understanding fashion product development as an interrelated process dependent on the expertise of both majors. These three courses will be required for both majors in the department. One additional new course, FASH 355 International Fashion Consumers and Retailers, will meet goals for Fashion Merchandising students by integrating content specific to the global fashion business.

Explain, when appropriate, how this new/revised curriculum supports the 10 goals of undergraduate education:

http://www.ugs.udel.edu/gened/

Fashion and Apparel Studies is an interdisciplinary field supported by foundations in aesthetics and art, business and economics, chemistry, history, sociology, and psychology (goal 5). In the Fashion Merchandising undergraduate program, students study the planning, production, promotion, and distribution of products in fashion industries to meet consumer need and demand. The Fashion Merchandising program develops students who can think critically to solve problems in the planning, buying, and sourcing of fashion products (goal 2). Students are provided many opportunities to develop their oral, written and visual communication skills (goal 1). Content throughout the program on topics of social responsibility and sustainability in the field engages the students in questions of ethics and their responsibility to society (goal 4). The apparel industry is truly a global one; students gain an international perspective (goal 10) through content in several required courses, as well as the study abroad opportunities and two multicultural courses in the department.

Identify other units affected by the proposed changes:

(Attach permission from the affected units. If no other unit is affected, enter “None”)

We are deleting the ART 129 requirement. Four sections of this course per year have been taught by S-Contract faculty and paid for by our department for 10+ years. This change should not affect the Art Department’s regular course offerings or faculty lines. The Art Department has been made aware of this change. Documentation attached.

Describe the rationale for the proposed program change(s):

(Explain your reasons for creating, revising, or deleting the curriculum or program.)

The proposed program changes are the result of an internal curriculum review examining departmental learning goals. The four new courses replace four existing courses in the Fashion Merchandising curriculum. There is no increase in credit hours required to graduate. FASH 133 replaces ART 129; FASH 210 replaces FASH 110; FASH 355 replaces FASH 318; and FASH 380 replaces FASH 222. FASH 133 and 380 refine and replace courses of similar content. FASH 110 has overlapping content with FASH 133, so is no longer needed. FASH 210 is new content that reinforces the department commitment to social responsibility and sustainability. Further revisions update existing required courses in the curriculum (FASH 325, 420, 430, and 455) to better address learning goals. Finally, the new curriculum shows the courses designated as the First Year Experience (LIFE 101 and FASH 114) and the Discovery Learning Experience (FASH 419).

Program Requirements:

(Show the new or revised curriculum as it should appear in the Course Catalog. If this is a revision, be sure to indicate the changes being made to the current curriculum and include a side-by-side comparison of the credit distribution before and after the proposed change.)
