But The Glasses

He was going to make an important call. Shoes, suit, collar, shave, tie, etc., were splendid, yet something marred the whole effect. The glasses, of course. They sagged—were off center and did not become him. Good glasses pay. We will fit glasses—according to your prescription—which will express care and help in expressing your personality.

"Stepping on the Gas" has a Double Meaning

Everybody knows what "stepping on the gas" means in motoring. Here the proper term is gasoline, but the expression is equally true with real gas. The same gas that cooks your food, heats your home, and performs all those other necessary home duties, also has an important part in making the car you drive.

In the building of cars gas is the fuel used in the foundry for making the castings. It is used for treating steel and tempering the springs, and only the absolute precision of gas can supply the exact degree of heat required in making special gears and ball bearings, in testing the motors and drying the paint on the bodies.

American manufacturers have long realized the importance of gas in the automobile industry, but English manufacturers of fine cars have adopted it even more widely, have really demonstrated how completely "you can do it better with gas."
