WALTER HULLIHEN, Ph.D., D.C.L.
President of the University of Delaware

Dr. Hullihen was born at Staunton, Virginia, on May 26, 1875. He received his preparatory education at the Staunton Military Academy and was graduated in 1892. From the University of Virginia he received his A.B. and A.M. in 1896. He did post-graduate work at that institution during the scholastic year 1896-1897, and studied at Johns Hopkins University from 1897 to 1900, when he received his Ph.D. At Johns Hopkins he was a University Fellow 1899-1900, and a Fellow by Courtesy, 1900-1902. From 1902 to 1904 he taught Latin and Greek at Marston's University School in Baltimore, and from 1904 to 1909 he was a professor at the University of Chattanooga. Granted a leave of absence in 1907-1908, he went abroad to study at the University of Leipzig, Munich, and Rome. From 1909 to 1920 he was Professor of Greek at the University of the South. He was also Dean of the College of Arts and Science from 1912 to 1920, and in the fall of 1920 he was elected to the presidency of Delaware College and subsequently to that of the University of Delaware. The honorary degree of D.C.L. was conferred upon Dr. Hullihen by the University of the South in 1922.

During the World War Dr. Hullihen served as a Major in the United States Army. At the cessation of hostilities he was uniquely honored by being given a Major's commission in the Officers' Reserve Corps, assigned to the General Staff. His ability as a sportsman is yearly shown to the members of the athletic teams by a venison dinner. For several years he was on the executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association as a representative from the University of the South. Dr. Hullihen is a member of the American Philological Association, the Delta Phi Fraternity, the Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity, and the Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity.

Two outstanding monuments to Dr. Hullihen's administration are the new Memorial Library and the admission of the University of Delaware on the same parity as the older established institutions.
Dean Dutton was born in Seaford, Delaware, in 1881. After receiving his preliminary education in the schools of Seaford, he entered Delaware College in 1899 and was graduated with the A.B. degree in June, 1904. From 1905 to 1908 he did graduate work at Johns Hopkins University in English, Philosophy, and Modern Languages. During the scholastic year 1909-10 he was instructor in English at the University of Missouri. After a year's graduate work at Harvard, he received the A.M. degree in 1911. Responding to the call of his Alma Mater, in September, 1911, Dean Dutton became instructor in English, in which capacity he served until his appointment as assistant professor in 1913. In 1917 he was elected associate professor of English, and the following year was made a full professor in this department. In July, 1923, he became Dean of Delaware College.

Dean Dutton is a member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity, the Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity, the Modern Language Association, and the American Association of College Registrars. In collaboration with Dr. Sypherd, Dean Dutton is the author of "Specimens of Composition" and "English Composition for College Freshmen." He has also written a Course in Debating for High Schools.

During his brief tenure of office, Dean Dutton has shown a considerable interest in all student activities, especially those tending to promote higher scholastic standing in the student body. The results have been very satisfactory. In Dean Dutton we have the ideal combination of a scholar, a gentleman, a friend, and a loyal son of Old Delaware.
Dean Smith was born in 1871 at Montclair, New Jersey. He received his early education in the public schools of his home town, and was subsequently graduated from Stevens High School. He was graduated in 1896 from the Stevens Institute of Technology with the degree of M.E. During the year 1896 and 1897 he was a writer on the editorial staff of the Railroad Gazette. He served as an instructor in Mechanical Engineering at the University of Pennsylvania during the scholastic year 1897-1898. After a period of illness, Dean Smith substituted here in the first quarter of the year 1902. From 1902 to 1904 he was Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the Thomas S. Clarkson School of Technology, and in 1904 he became Professor of Mechanical Engineering at Delaware College. In 1922 he was appointed Dean of the School of Engineering.

Dean Smith is a member of the Tau Beta Pi Fraternity, the Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and the Engineers' Club of Philadelphia.

Under the leadership of Dean Smith the School of Engineering has advanced by leaps and bounds to its present high rating by the Westinghouse Electric Company.

Dean McCue was born in 1879, near Cars City, Michigan. He was graduated from Michigan Agricultural College in 1901 with the degree of S.B. During the scholastic year 1903-04 he did graduate work, and was Instructor in Horticulture at his Alma Mater from 1904 to 1907. In 1907 he was elected Professor of Horticulture at Delaware College and Horticulturist of the Experiment Station. In 1913 and 1915 he did graduate work in Biology at the University of Pennsylvania. In 1919 he was appointed Dean of the School of Agriculture and Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station. He served temporarily as Dean of Delaware College during the year 1922-'23.

Dean McCue was President of the American Society for Horticultural Science in 1918. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Genetic Association, the American Pomological Society, and the Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity.

Dean McCue has brought a great personal interest in his work as head of the agricultural department, and under his guidance the department is turning out experienced agriculturists to supply the needs of our state farms every year.
