In Argentina - the Minister added - there will not remain any organization or school constituting danger for the security of this hemisphere. Our purpose is to cause any vestige of Nazism to disappear from our country and from the continent.

Commenting on the legislative ratification of the United Nations Charter and the Final Act of the Inter-American Conference on Problems of War and Peace, the Minister went on to say that these documents do not complete the program adopted by the Argentine Government.
Government regarding international matters. "It is not a question of reluctantly settling matters with agreements contracted. Our country was already aligned with the American nations before this legislative ratification, as was clearly stated, both by the President of the Republic and the Foreign Minister, to the Ambassadors of the countries that make up the community of this continent. The parliamentary sanction that has just taken place strengthens the policy which must now be supplemented with the application of certain measures which will shortly be applied. We are with America and we stand in solidarity with the continent in our sovereignty which will be fortified by this fraternal bond."

Condemnation of totalitarian systems

The Foreign Minister concluded by saying that "the sister nations of America whose representative organs of opinion have commented favorably on our position on the occasion of the approval by Congress of the Act of Chapultepec and the United Nations Charter, may place trust in the conduct of the Argentine Government which, without causing the Nation to deviate in the least degree from its traditional principles, is in complete affinity with the spirit of the continent. That is why it condemns political systems not consistent with democracy and will not permit, now or ever, its national soil, so favorable to freedom, to be converted into a focus of disturbance of the peace, the solidarity and the unity of America".
