dear tenni -

this is just a short note. we had really a good week last month and it did remain fine good. the day of the hurricane evacuation, i was taken ill and an attack of the disease, which has proved to be a bad one and it has now lasted over two weeks. they have identified the bugs but the treatment is almost as bad as the disease. fortunately in the boat two days there is real improvement but it may take at least six weeks or more to get a cure. after all the many years in foreign countries, it is the first time these have caused this trouble. it has made me weak and disinclined to any effort, which makes why i'm in this state heard from me. Jeannie is well. she wrote to Helen, i believe, a few days ago. i had a note from Jenny who told me the family are well. there is a I would like to write, but I will have to wait.

What a disorderly world we live in. Even you and all your wisdom and forethought have failed to solve some of the problems that plague us today.

I miss you so much. Love to you and to Hettie and all the family.

Always faithfully,
