FOREWORD

This issue of THE BLUE HEN is submitted to its readers with a special word of commendation; not because of any superior ability of the editors but on account of the unusual and very significant events which have taken place at dear old DELAWARE during its preparation. It has been the aim, in the following pages, to chronicle these events in an attractive manner so that in the days to come when college experiences shall appeal to us with a richer, fuller, more powerful meaning, there may be frequent cause for pleasant reference to THE 1915 BLUE HEN.
