Phi Kappa Phi

Phi Kappa Phi is an honorary fraternity based upon scholarship and founded at the University of Maine in 1898. It stands for the unity and democracy of education and receives the engineer, the agriculturist, the architect or the chemist as heartily as it does the classicist or man of letters. The chapters of the Phi Kappa Phi are located as follows:

1898. University of Maine.
1900. University of Tennessee.
1901. Massachusetts Agricultural College.
1904. Delaware College.

The badge is an eight-rayed representation of the sun surrounding the earth, across which there is a band displaying the letters Φ Κ Φ. The band represents union in a world of thoughtful men. The eight rays represent Arts, History, Literature, Philosophy, Religion, Science, Philology, and Sociology.

The Delaware College chapter of Phi Kappa Phi was installed January 13, 1905, by Professor Benjamin F. Gill, M. A. of State College, Pa., Treasurer-General of the fraternity.

The charter members were the following:

The Story of

The Blue Hen’s Chicks

It was at that time in our nation’s history when the war clouds were hiding the sun, when the American patriots were doing and dying, when women were thinking more about baking pies and mending stockings than they were about smoking or voting—in short, it was the time when the Man of Mt. Vernon was blazing the way for the American Republic, that Delawareans were given the name of Blue Hen’s chicks. Captain Caldwell, of Kent county, Delaware, was extremely fond of cock fighting and he always kept in his camp some chickens of the Blue Hen stock. No chickens could fight so well as the Blue Hen’s chickens. Soon the men of Captain Caldwell’s company were jestingly designated in the army as the Blue Hen’s chicks, and the name stayed with them throughout the war and has come down until today all Delawareans are known as the Blue Hen’s chicks.
Come ye forth all ye sons to greet her To your Alma Mater sing
True her blue as the stars of heaven Purity and worth her gold

Let our song rise to tell her glories Let each voice with gladness ring
They stand forth a banner emblematic Truth and honor they unfold

Of her fame let us a tree sing Let her victories be told
Raise this flag to the stately heavens all when they behold

We can well be proud of dear old Del-a-werse cheer the blue and gold
Off will come all hats and then just once a-join we'll cheer the blue and gold
Mater

Chorus

Rah! Rah! Rah! Hurrah for Delaware!

Rah! Rah! Rah! With none and none so fair, Hurrah! Hurrah!

Rah! May her glories never grow old! Boys, let's cheer that name so dear, Hurrah for the blue and the gold.
