POLITICAL SCIENCE
(Concentrations: American Politics, Global Studies, Public Law, Public Policy and Administration)

The Department of Political Science and International Relations offers major programs leading to the B.A. in Political Science, the B.A. in International Relations, the B.A. in Political Science Education, and a joint program with the Department of Foreign Languages and Literature leading to a B.A. in French, German, or Spanish/Political Science. Honors degree options are available for all degrees. A minor in political science is also available, as well as a minor in public administration.

Political science majors acquire a broad introduction to the study of government and politics within a liberal arts tradition. To graduate with a major in political science, students must maintain a minimum C- grade in all POSC courses. Students should also note that no more than 45 POSC credits will count towards the 124 credits needed to graduate. Coursework for both major options – with or without a concentration – aims to help students develop analytical and written and oral communication skills and to prepare them for a wide array of careers (including law) and active citizenship. Political science majors are strongly encouraged to take advantage of many experiential learning opportunities including internships, independent research under faculty supervision, study abroad, or service learning. Detailed explanations of experiential learning opportunities are available in the department office and on the department’s website: www.udel.edu/poscir.

The department maintains an advisory program for prelaw students and for students interested in government service.

Except as otherwise indicated, nonmajors may enroll in any political science course without prerequisites.
List new courses required for the new or revised curriculum. How do they support the overall program objectives of the major/minor/concentrations?
(Be aware that approval of the curriculum is dependent upon these courses successfully passing through the Course Challenge list. If there are no new courses enter “None”)

None

Explain, when appropriate, how this new/revised curriculum supports the 10 goals of undergraduate education: http://www.ugs.udel.edu/gened/

The major will continue to support the 10 goals of undergraduate education.

Identify other units affected by the proposed changes:
(Attach permission from the affected units. If no other unit is affected, enter “None”)

Once this course is deleted, all of our political science majors will have to meet their FYE requirement outside the department. Our Chair Gretchen Bauer has spoken with Avron Abraham from the Office of Undergraduate Studies about returning our majors to the general pool of freshmen to meet their FYE requirement. He welcomes their participation in the FYEs that the University is sponsoring. [See attached email from Avron Abraham.]

Describe the rationale for the proposed program change(s):
(Explain your reasons for creating, revising, or deleting the curriculum or program)

Delete - POSC 151: Exploring American Politics
Major would be reduced by one credit to 30.

In fall 2005, the Department of Political Science and International Relations added a new one credit course requirement for its political science majors, POSC 151. This class satisfied the freshmen year experience (FYE) requirement for our majors. The course was run largely as a discussion section to POSC 150, American Political System, and did not fulfill the goals of the FYE program. In the intervening years, the goals of the FYE program have become clearer and most of them are not fulfilled by our course, POSC 151. So, for example, our POSC 151 does not include sessions on alcohol awareness, safer sex, and conflict management. The classes are not interdisciplinary in terms of student majors and the classes do not make use of a common reader as happened this fall semester. Moreover, because the class is currently a required part of the major it must be taken for a grade whereas most FYE classes are pass/fail. Finally, the class is a drain on department resources as we have been assigning graduate students to teach the classes who could be serving as teaching assistants to our larger classes. (Alternatively, we would have to pay 2 "S" contracts to cover our six sections of POSC151 and POSC241.) Paradoxically, five of our faculty served as faculty for UNIV FYE classes this fall, though none of them were teaching any of our majors. For all of these reasons we would like to delete the POSC 151 requirement and have our students join the larger freshmen class in taking their FYE requirement outside their major.

Program Requirements:
(Show the new or revised curriculum as it should appear in the Course Catalog. If this is a revision, be sure to indicate the changes being made to the current curriculum and include a side-by-side comparison of the credit distribution before and after the proposed change)

Hi Gretchen,

We are excited that your students in Political Science/International Relations are going to being part of the UNIV 101 Freshmen Seminar for the Fall 2010. As I mentioned this is a one credit pass/fail seminar led by a faculty instructor and supported by a peer mentor.

Let me if you have any questions and I look forward to working with you.

Thanks,

Avron

Hi Avron, I was thinking that it might be good for us to have an email from you stating that you have no problem if we get rid of our own fye, posc 151 and posc 241. Would you mind a line or two to that effect.
Just in case questions come up when we try to drop those two 'courses.'
Thanks, Gretchen
