Phi Kappa Phi is an honorary society whose fundamental requirement for membership is good scholarship. There are no restrictions as to the branch of study pursued and membership is open to the engineer and the agriculturist, as well as to the student of liberal arts. The society was founded in 1898 at the University of Maine. Delaware, the fifth chapter, was admitted in 1904 with Dr. George A. Harter, Professor Elisha Conover, Dr. Charles Lyndell Penney, and Dean E. Laurence Smith, as charter members. The organization was originally called a fraternity, but the name has recently been changed to “The Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.”

PHI KAPPA PHI 1922

Two Hundred and Twelve
THE Derelicts, founded at the University of Delaware in the Spring of 1919, is a Senior fraternity. Its purpose is to create and further the feeling of good-fellowship throughout the Senior Class and the student body. Each Spring thirteen men are chosen from the Junior class to carry out the ideals of the organization during the next college year. These men are informed of their election on the day of the annual Interscholastic Track and Field Meet on Joe Frazer Field.

Two Hundred and Thirteen
The members of this fraternity are selected as men among men, and especially on their loyalty to their Alma Mater. Of all the Campus organizations, the Derelicts is the most secret. The time and place of the meetings is known only to the members. It seeks no recognition for its work, but is content to do its best towards the furtherance of good feeling in the University.

In 1921 the organization appeared before the student body for the first time by giving its first annual dance. This, it is understood, will be followed each year by dances given by succeeding groups.

Two Hundred and Fourteen
Druids

The Druid Fraternity is a national organization of second-year college men. Its ideals are fellowship, scholarship, and active interest in secondary college activities.

The Delaware chapter (Epsilon) was founded in the Fall of 1922, when the Blue Lantern Society—a Sophomore Society, formed in 1920 by members of the class of 1923—was taken as a group into the National body. Membership is limited to fifteen men each year, the new members being chosen at the latter part of each college year.

Other chapters of the Druids are located at Pennsylvania State College, Washington and Jefferson, University of Pittsburgh, and Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Two Hundred and Fifteen
The Blue Lantern Society

The Blue Lantern Society, founded in 1920 by members of the Class of 1923, was the parent-organization of the present Druid Chapter at the University of Delaware.

It was the 1924 group—shown above—that successfully petitioned the national body. Although the Druids is a Sophomore organization most of the former Blue Lantern members, through special dispensation, have become Druids.
