RADUATING

Say Good bye

It began with that silly library tour that everyone has to take in their E110 class. We waited for the night before we had to turn in our little blue booklets and then we went to Morris Library to do the assignment. Perhaps it was for the first time, perhaps it wasn't, but it was the beginning of a long four year relationship with that building and those resources that would prepare us for graduation. If you were Morris Library Personified think about what you have seen, the anxiety attacks of many students rushing to complete a paper, the anger and frustration when that paper has vanished from the computer disc, the excitement of meeting a new scope, and does everybody remember Morris Library's masturbating male reported in the Review. Truly, Morris Library has seen it all, from our Freshman Days to our Finals Hours.
