

Noted Social Worker In Newark

Some Of The Things Accomplished By Florence Kelly

Florence Kelley, general secretary of the National Consumers' League, will be the guest of Newark this evening at the Presbyterian Church, where she will speak at 8:15 o'clock. Mrs. Kelley's wonderful work in behalf of the working girls of the country has made her well-known to every American acquainted with the big movements tending toward social betterment.

For nearly a quarter of a century the Consumers' League of New York city—with which everyone associates the name of Florence Kelley—has been at work upon the task of interesting the shopping public in the welfare of the women, youth and children who make and distribute the goods we buy and use. We all of us constitute the shopping public. We all use food, clothing, shelter, books, and a thousand less important things, which are bought for us if we do not actually make the individual purchase over the counter.

At first the Consumer's League appealed to individual men and women to shop early in the day, early in the week and, particularly at Xmas, early in the month. It appealed also to individual merchants to improve the conditions of work in their particular stores.

Many good provisions of the child labor laws and the laws for a shorter working day, to which we are all so accustomed that we rarely think of them, had not yet come into existence when the Children could go to work in stores at any age and could stay until any hour of the night. There was no limit of any kind upon their work in offices and on the streets. No compulsory school attendance law was enforced to remove them from the workshop to the schoolroom. No merchant was required to furnish seats. Children could be sent on errands by milliners and dressmakers at all hours of the day.

Schoolchildren Raise Funds For Pictures

Children of the public school have been busy the last few weeks collecting pennies for the purchase of pictures and books for their schoolrooms. The incentive which started the little folk was the announcement by Dr. Cross of the offer of a friend of education, to double the amount raised by the children. Over four dollars have been raised in the fourth and fifth grades.

Prizes Offered Public School Children

A number of prizes have recently been offered to the school children of Delaware. Among the number are the following:

To stimulate interest in the study of the Bible a friend has offered two prizes to public school students of the State, the first prize amounting to $15 and the second to $10.

To the best speller in the State and to the second best L. Scott Townsend of Brandywine hundred offers respectively $20 and $10 in gold.

Arley B. Magee of Dover offers a prize of $10, the conditions of which will be published later, and William W. Knowles of Wilmington offers a prize of $5, the conditions of which have not been decided.

For the best plea for birds Dr. Julius Dodd of New Castle offers a prize of $5.

The Red Cross Relief Committee in Wilmington is preparing boxes to be sent to Delaware soldiers at Deming, N. M., for Christmas.

COST OF PROGRESS DISCUSSED

Urges Need Of Strong Men

"Develop a breadth of view and know something well rather than a little about a great many things; develop the kind of a man who is in no danger of going to the devil, instead of resorting to all sorts of panaceas whether under the name of nation-wide prohibition, single tax, socialism, or woman suffrage," was the advice given by Professor Carl Kelsey, of the University of Pennsylvania, in the second of the series of historical lectures given at Delaware College last evening.

"There are two types of man," the speaker declared, "in every community; the conservative of under forty is certain to come of one of the old and well-established families. He is well fed, and comfortable; he knows the Lord has been good to him in the past and expects him to be in the future. He is perfectly sure the old system is so good it is not well to change it. The man who suggests change he calls something ending in an 'ism,' and the thing itself he calls something ending in an 'ism.' When met by argument this man dodges; he throws mud; he doesn't think it worth while to use his wits for this purpose. Folks have the habit of thinking they are mentally brilliant when they have thrown some mud. The radical as a type is energetic, crude, rough, raw, of an uncultured family. Things have not worked well for him or his folks. He says, 'Let's have a change.' He's not afraid of a change, things are bad for him already. And he may become dangerous. He doesn't consider balance. There is some good in the present social order,—in our education, our industrial program, and every change does invite danger. But you can have no change without progress. The radical is right when he says you must have the change even if somebody does lose prestige and position."

The most forceful part of Professor Kelsey's lecture came at the close when he said: "Good men are helping to create problems just as much as bad men. Our problems grow out of conditions and not from any action of either the capitalist or the laborer. What are the great fundamental problems that confront us? Is there not a great need for an international law, the development of an international conscience, which will prevent international murder and suicide on a larger scale than any of which the world ever dreamed? Is it not a great pressing problem?"

The prize winners in the State Board of Agriculture's corn-growing contest were announced at Georgetown last week. The State prize was awarded to Alonzo S. Whitlock of Odessa, 116 bushels, 53 pounds, $60. New Castle County, first prize—J. T. Shalleross Middleton, 100 bushels, 19 pounds, $40. Second prize, Naudain and son Marshalltown, 91 bushels, 61 pounds, $20. Kent County, first prize—A. R. Benson, Dover, 115 bushels, 36 pounds, $40. Second prize, Odoch Brown, 75 bushels, 66 pounds, $20. Sussex County, first prize—John Ponder, Milton, 150 bushels on cob, 75 shelled, Charles Revell, Millsboro, 148 bushels, second, Duval Mustard, Angola, 136 bushels, third, Potato prizes were awarded as follows: First, Victor C. Kohl, 288 bushels, 50 pounds, $50. Second, Jesse Williams, 273 bushels, 20 pounds, $40. Third, B. Howard Eryan, 200 bushels, $30. Fourth, Odoth Brown, 121 bushels, 3 pounds, $20.

One Side Of The Milk Proposition

Speaking of the High Cost of Living with special reference to milk—here is an observation.

Two farmers, with hired hands at $20 and board per month. An investment in cows and dairy equipment about $2000 each. Getting up at 3.45 a. m. feeding bran that costs four times what it did ten years ago, milk gear horse $150 to wagon, $75, deliver to town to milkman. Hurry back, work in fields $100 per acre to raise other feeds for cows and horses, milking done again in evening by lantern light.

This for four years. The milkman, with horse and wagon delivers the milk of these two farmers. No other investment. Work done by 10.30 a. m. During the four years on this one horse-and-wagon investment makes a living and has a surplus saving to buy three automobiles. One man a few hours, with 1-10 of the investment or less, markets the products of just two farmers and lives this life of auto luxury. These two farmers with all their investment all their work can't do this. These are the concrete facts of one side. What's the other side?

Two Small Fires This Morning

Aetna firemen responded to two calls this morning, the first on North College Avenue, where the dwelling of David Wise, colored, had caught fire from an overheated chimney. The chemical was promptly put into service and the damage confined to the roof. The firemen had scarcely gotten to the hose house before a second call came, to fight the flames on an empty tank car, shifted onto the B. & O. siding near Cleveland Avenue. The car had become ignited farther along the line and dropped off at Newark by the train. Water was used, but practically the whole tank was destroyed.

Preston Lea Called By Death

State Pays Tribute To Leading Citizen

Former Governor Preston Lea, aged 75 years, one of the best-known men in Delaware, and prominent in banking and industrial circles, died at his home, No. 909 Delaware avenue, Wilmington, at 2.20 o'clock Monday morning following a lingering illness. While he had been in failing health for more than two years, his condition did not become critical until late on election night, when he was stricken with congestion of the lungs, which with complications, caused his death. Mr. Lea's condition had shown improvement early last week but a turn for the worse came the latter part of the week.

Mr. Lea is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eliza Corbit Lea, and by four children—Mrs. Sheffield Phelps of Aiken, S. C.; Mrs. William C. Spruance, Jr., Wilmington; Mrs. Island, and Miss Louisa C. Lea, Wilmington.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Lea residence. The services were in charge of the Rev. Frederick M. Kirkus of Trinity P. E. Church. Interment, private.

Preston Lea, the fifty-second Governor of Delaware, serving from 1905 to 1909, was born in Brandywine village, now a part of the city of Wilmington, November 12, 1841. He was the son of William Lea and Jane (Lovett) Lea. His grandfather, Thomas Lea, was a native of Chester county, Pa., being a descendant of John Lea, who came from England to America in the latter part of the seventeenth century as a follower of William Penn. Thomas Lea, the grandfather of the Governor, was the first of the name to settle in Delaware. He became a partner with Edward Tatnall in the milling business on the Brandywine, and in 1785 married Sarah Tatnall, the oldest daughter of Edward Tatnall. The succeeding generations of Leas in the male line continued in the milling business.

Preston Lea, under the tutelage of his father, who for almost forty years operated the large mills on the north side of the Brandywine, became thoroughly familiar with the milling industry, and prior to his father's death in 1864, the firm

Miss Eckman Addresses Students Of Both Colleges

Miss Jeanette Eckman, executive secretary of the General Service Board of Delaware visited the colleges on Monday speaking at the chapel exercises at both the men's and the women's college. Miss Eckman, who is a Wellesley woman, talked interestingly of the work of the Service Board, the object of which is to co-ordinate and unify the various state agencies looking to human betterment. Miss Eckman spoke on the spirit and scope of the work which touches practically every field of social advance in modern life.

Unmarked Trench Causes Trouble

What threatened to be a serious accident occurred on South Chapel Street last Friday when the horse of William Heavellon, an employee at the Continental Fibre Company, fell into the trench open in connection with the recaulking of the main in that section of the town. The danger spot had been marked by a red lantern, but the light had disappeared. The horse was extricated from the hole with some difficulty, and although badly bruised, the examination of a veterinarian, revealed no serious injury.

the day or night, and no one had any right even to enquire about such employment.

For women, too, the working day was unlimited, and could extend throughout the night. Not only was work at night permitted, but the same person could be required to work all night after having worked all day.

After the New York City League had been at work some years, similar leagues were formed in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago; and on May 1, 1899, the National Consumers' League was made by uniting the four city leagues. It now embraces 89 leagues, of which 34 are in universities, colleges and schools. They are in 19 states. There are now Consumers' Leagues in France, Germany, Switzerland and Belgium. International conferences have been held in September, 1908 and 1913.

The first task of the National Consumers' League was to establish a label for use on underwear, both for women and children. This label, which is now used by 57 factories, guarantees that garments which carry it are made in establishments in which no child under the age of 16 is employed, no goods are sent out to tenement houses to be worked upon, night-work never occurs, and the labor law of the state is obeyed in all its particulars. This label has been found by travelers in a little store in the icebound city of Juneau, Alaska. The writer has seen it on goods offered for sale in Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles, California, and New Orleans. Wherever the shopping public persistently demands it, the merchants buy and sell goods with the label attached. Everyone can help by taking trouble to insist upon having the label.

It soon became clear, however, that this guarantee could cover only the factories in which the garments are put through the last process—stitching factories and workshops. Behind these readily accessible factories lurked tenement shops and homes, cotton mills and bleacheries, and the cotton fields. If the shopper's conscience is to be quite clear, it is not enough to deal in well regulated stores and buy goods carrying the Consumers' League label. Beyond these is a vast, largely unknown region to which the ordinary person has no direct access.

Here the method of persuasion cannot be applied. Tenement house laws, sweatshop laws, child labor statutes, and measures for a short working day and for stopping night work are necessary to protect the shopper's conscience, as well as the health, welfare, intelligence and morals of the workers with whom the shoppers, as such, never come in contact. From year to year, therefore, the activities of the League have broadened, as its membership and funds increased, and much work has been done in getting and enforcing labor laws. The National Child Labor Committee is a direct outgrowth of the work of the league, several of whose members are trustees of the committee.

The most truly national part of the work of the National Consumers' League has to do with Congress and with the United States Supreme Court. In February, 1914, President Wilson signed a bill, passed by the United States Congress, restricting the working hours of women in the District of Columbia to eight in one day and forty-eight in one week. This applied to all occupations, except household service, nursing the sick, and office work. It is the hope of the league that the District of Columbia may serve as an example for all those states, especially in the south, which have hitherto placed no restriction whatever upon the working hours of women. The District of Columbia is the first place in the east to establish the statutory eight-hour working day for women, though in the west it is in force in Washington, California, Arizona and Colorado. The action of Congress was due to the efforts of the National Consumers' League. Miss Josephine Goldmark, chairman of the Committee on Legislation and the Legal Defense of Labor Laws, and the Consumers' League of the District of Columbia, successfully promoted the passage of the bill introduced into Congress at the request of the National League.

For years the Consumers' League has been agitating for state commissions to establish minimum wage rates for women and children. Such commissions are now in existence in nine states: California, Colorado, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin. In New York, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri and Indiana commissions have ascertained the wages paid, with a view to legislation providing for permanent wage commissions.

of William Lea & Sons Company was formed, composed of William Lea, the father, and his two sons, Preston and Henry. The father died in 1876, but the firm name continued until 1882, when the William Lea & Sons Company was incorporated and succeeded to the business. Of this company Preston Lea was the president up to the time of his death. He also was president of the Lea Milling Company.

In the death of Victor du Pont in 1888, Mr. Lea was elected president of the Union National Bank, which position he occupied until 1912, when he retired as president, but continued as director. He had served as a director of the institution since the death of his father in 1876. On the organization of the Equitable Guarantee and Trust Company, in 1899, Mr. Lea became a director, and two years later was elected president, serving until 1902. For several years he was an active director of the Wilmington City Railway Company. He had also been a director for many years and was vice-president of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

The Leas were originally members of the Society of Friends, and Preston Lea was trained in the anti-slavery school and became a Republican on the nomination of Lincoln in 1861. He never took an active interest in politics, but in the fall of 1904, when the Republican party was eager to find a candidate for Governor who could unite the support of both factions of the party, Mr. Lea was agreed upon and his election followed. In his administration of State affairs he made a splendid record, applying sound business principles to the office.

Governor Lea's administration was marked by elaborate receptions of public and semi-public character that drew together prominent men, regardless of party, from all parts of the State. He entertained annually during his tenure of office in honor of the officers of the Delaware Militia, in which organization he took a deep interest, and he donated a valuable trophy for annual competition in marksmanship.

Mr. Lea at one time was president of the Wilmington City Railway Company. He also was a director of the P. B. & W. Railroad Company. He was a member of the Union League of Philadelphia, and of many other organizations.

Mr. Lea, for several years, was president of the Board of Trustees of Delaware College. At the meeting last week a letter was sent by the Board expressing appreciation of the deep interest Mr. Lea had always shown in the institution and hoping for his speedy recovery.

Mr. Lea had a beautiful country home, The Orchards, between New Castle and Delaware City, where he spent the summer months, and he took an active interest in his farming and dairying enterprises there.

Chancellor Curtis last week rendered a decision holding invalid the ordinance of Wilmington City Council passed on June 25, 1914, prohibiting the erection of public garages in the city's residential sections.

The Dover Democratic Club devoted a balance of $20 left after the campaign toward providing a Thanksgiving treat for Dover soldiers of the border.

Three farms of 121, 98 and 114 acres in Dutch Neck, owned by the late Rachel Nelson, were sold on November 25 at auction to William Nelson, Fletcher Nelson and William Reynolds at $72, $93 and $53 an acre respectively.

The Census Bureau estimates the population of Delaware on January 1, next at 214,270 and that of Wilmington at about 107,000.

Directors of the Atlas Powder Company at Wilmington on Monday of last week declared a regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent and an extra dividend of 8 per cent on common stock, payable December 11.

Trust companies of Wilmington during the year have increased their resources $5,222,000 or 20 per cent.

While Mrs. Lola C. Davis was walking on Main street, Middletown, on Thanksgiving evening carrying a suit case with one hand and an umbrella and small handbag in the other she was jostled at Scott street by a colored man who snatched the handbag and escaped. Chief Hilliard on description arrested William Davis as the thief and Eugene Davis as an accomplice. Justice Sparks of Odessa, held both for Court in default of bail.

Time

For the old-fashioned method of hard work and long drawn out hours is a thing of the past. The progressive farmer equips his household with modern appliances and finds the work cut in half. The Enterprise Company holds the record for eliminating drudgery from the household. You know the satisfactory little Meat Cutters which grind out the sausage and scrapple ingredients in the time it used to take you to get ready to cut them.

A Wonderful Feed

NO MIXING NO BOTHER

Will positively produce more milk than any other ration either home mixed or purchased, and do it without giving your cows constipation or under trouble. Ready to use right out of the sack without any mixing or bother.

Larro-feed

Absolutely free from adulterants and fillers, just like the feed you would mix for yourself. Is a special combination of choice cottonseed meal, dried beet pulp, gluten feed, corn distillers' grains, wheat bran, wheat middlings and a little salt, that's all; each ingredient weighed by automatic scales and all thoroughly mixed in huge power-driven mixers, so that it is always absolutely uniform, and always good. An extra quart or two of milk daily from each cow may turn a loss into a profit. Try LARRO-FEED for more profits. Sold on a plan of "Money back if you are not satisfied."

problem to weed out the mentally unfit, and insane from the ranks of parents in order that the race stock in generations to come may be sound? Do you recognize that insanity is costing the state of New York 1.6 of the entire expenditure and Pennsylvania over 1-10; that it is increasing at the rate of 100 per cent in ten years? Can anyone say that one of our great jobs is not to understand our fellowman regardless of race or color? Is it not a problem to train our boys and girls so that every one may go as far as innate ability will permit them? Do we not need to substitute a social spirit for a selfish spirit? World power means responsibility, and at present we are not measuring up through cowardly selfishness. Do we not need a work ideal to replace a play ideal? Is it the present ideal to give genuine labor for fair returns or to give as little as one can for the greatest returns? Is the laborer less selfish than the employer? Don't we need a vision of the possibilities of human achievement; of that power in us which has carried us thus far? Is not that faith after all the essence of the religious? That is the spirit in which I would have us approach these problems of social relations."

Conditions On South Chapel Street

The condition of South Chapel street is conspicuous. So much so that a stranger in Newark last summer remarked to us,

"What is the trouble with Council? Is the condition of the street leading to the Continental Fibre Co., suggestive of any attitude of mind? I understand that in the campaign for better streets, that this short but much used street is consistently overlooked. Seriously, what is it? This industry is growing, an asset to the town. The grounds are kept equal to much of the resident section. Surely an improved street would be appreciated."

Our reply was "We hold no brief for the Continental, and Council speaks for itself." The above is the report of a conversation with a visitor here last summer. The gentleman was sincere, knew nothing of local conditions. We refrained at that time from repeating it. Just now the situation there is becoming serious. We recognize the sewer improvements now going on but most of this is out of town. Just one night last week a horse fell into an excavation made for water main leak and left without danger signals. To be understood, the excavation was no ordinary hole but big enough for the horse, and in he went, and in he stayed until assistance came. Plain good luck that no one was hurt. Really some one should look at this. When we boost the town as a Suburb of the East, we are not thinking of South Chapel street.

Squibs

The Democrat Parade now occupies a foot-note on the page of history. A word of interpretation would not be amiss, however. Was it a Celebration or an Anniversary?

Monkeys—Going or Coming?
"Monkey, monkey, bottle of beer. How many monkeys have we here?"

An U. S. officer has said that Company E is the crack company at Deming. Out of 40 companies from four states, our own kids never had a "fall out" in the 123 mile hike—the only company having that record.

Come on, Newark, let's not be yellow in our appreciation. These boys were, are, and will be true.

ACTRESS LIES IN SNOW
Maude Gilbert Suffers No Ill

Effects From Her Act

Maude Gilbert, co-star of "The Fool's Revenge," a William Fox production to be shown at the Opera House Friday, December 8th, lay thinly clad in the snow for over thirty minutes during the making of certain scenes of that picture. Miss Gilbert, as the wife of Anson, a clown, is murdered by her husband, who is convinced of her infidelity. She is choked to death and then thrown over a cliff. The scene was made on the heights of the New Jersey Palisades. In order to carry out the action of the piece it was necessary to show Miss Gilbert lying at the bottom of the Palisades. Four inches of snow and ice covered the selected spot, but Miss

You are sure to find the greeting card you need at Kells, IF you don't postpone your coming too long. Our cards are proving popular and selling rapidly. On sale every week day from eight-thirty to five-thirty at Kells, on Welsh Lane, Newark, Delaware.

Drops Dead After Rescue

While working at the Rhoades leather plant at Eleventh and Union streets, Wilmington, last Tuesday Edward Johnson, colored, became ill and fell into a vat filled with water. TEACHERS PLEDGE SUPPORT TO NEW TAXATION LAW

Petition Legislature To Establish Pension Fund

Professor M. E. Rich of the Women's College and Dr. G. E. Counts, head of the department of education of Delaware College, were among the speakers at the Teachers' Institute held in the Rose Room of the Hotel du Pont last Wednesday.

Miss Rich said in part: "We have listened to ideals, we have not wasted time. Tomorrow you will go back to your schools and you will teach in the same manner that you taught on last Friday. But in time you will begin to use these ideals and their use will be a wonderful help to you and to the school system. Certain demands are made on us as teachers, demands that need our attention. These demands are fundamental in their relation to the pupils. What are they?"

"Ventilation is a most important one. Most fatigue is due to bad air conditions. The proper humidity and heat are most important in the classroom. Sixty-five degrees is the best temperature. Under these conditions the pupil can do the best work. That each child faces the light is an important demand. This is necessary for the proper conservation of the pupils' eyesight and for the proper concentration of the mind. The style of seats used is also a most important factor. Every child should have a seat fitted to its physical demands."

"And the fourth demand is that we see that the proper cleanliness and sanitation prevail. The child should be properly clothed and cared for before entering the school and then we must exercise every right measure while it is our care."

Library An Object-Lesson
Miss Rich outlined the picture library which is under the direction of Miss Mary Moss of the Woman's College. This library will contain over 6,000 catalogues containing pictures of the United States, South America, Europe and Japan, besides many other pictures taken in other lands. Miss Rich said that these pictures would present to the child mind the facts, would act as a stimulus and would cause the child to ask questions which are most important to the development of the mind.

Dr. Counts, in his address, spoke on the recent tendencies in American education, outlining the advanced conditions prevailing in the school systems of today. He said in part: "The American school system is the greatest institution for the upbuilding of democracy and social justice in the world. Forty years ago we spent an average of $78,000,000 a year on our schools. Today the yearly outlay amounts to $500,000,000."

"But this is not enough. The money spent in this country in the measures designed to prevent crime and reform criminals nearly amounts to one billion dollars. And that spent on the upkeep of the liquor traffic amounts to over two billion dollars, or four times that spent on public education. In the training of our children many things have entered the educational arena and demand our closest attention. The health of the child, the proper measures for the child's physical training, the relation of the child to the problem of parenthood and the development of a better citizenship are matters that demand our most careful consideration."

"The child in the school must be equipped to take its proper place in the business and social life of our nation. It should receive that thorough training that will enable it to take its place among the best of our people and enter the larger life capable and prepared to assume the great responsibilities that every child must face at some time in life."

The following resolutions were adopted by the teachers at the close of the session:

Resolved, That we, the teachers of New Castle county, in annual institute assembled, do express our appreciation to the people of Wilmington for their hospitality and especially to the management of the Hotel du Pont for the generous accommodations provided. We are deeply appreciative of the efforts of County Superintendent Cross in securing such an able corps of instructors. We were especially favored in having with us Governor Miller and the United States commissioner of education, Dr. Claxton. To these and to Mrs. Walker, Dr. Driver and Dr. Wagner, to President Mitchell and other members of the faculty of Delaware College we are greatly indebted for their helpful and inspiring addresses. To the orchestra of the Wilmington High School and to all others who have contributed to the success of the institute we extend a vote of thanks.

Resolved, That we do petition the General Assembly to pass at its coming session a pension bill for the benefit of the teachers of the rural schools of the State of Delaware.

Resolved, That we have found in the Delaware School Journal, under the able direction of Dr. Cross, the fulfillment of a long felt want. It has not only kept us in touch with educational progress throughout the State, but has served to quicken the interest of both pupils and teachers in their work. We heartily recommend it to all interested in the future welfare of our State.

Resolved, That we feel compelled to call attention to the fact that the increase in the cost of life's necessities is out of all proportion to teachers' salaries, and we are unable to maintain ourselves in the manner which society expects and demands of us; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we believe a more just scale of remuneration, based on actual living conditions, should be adopted and further, more, be it

Resolved, That we, as teachers, will continue to voice this belief until we impress those responsible with the necessity of remedying this most humiliating condition.

Resolved, That we pledge our best efforts to secure the enactment of the legislation proposed by the State Board of Education. We believe our State should be second to none in providing equal educational opportunities for all its children. To secure this end our existing antiquated system of taxation for the support of the schools will have to be replaced by a more modern and equitable method of raising the revenue demanded if Delaware is to keep pace with the educational movement of the times.

New Military Ruling At Delaware

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of Delaware College held last Tuesday the board voted to take advantage of an act recently passed by Congress which will give Delaware College students a more complete knowledge of military affairs if they see fit to take advantage of the offer.

Under the new conditions, certain students will not only have their uniforms furnished free by the government but will also receive $8 a month from the government in case they take up military training as set out in the bill. At the present time the students have military training three hours each week and under the new bill they will have to take five hours' military training each week.

There is a great deal of interest in the matter among both the students and members of the faculty. Lieutenant Hoey, the military instructor at the college has set out the purposes of the new bill in the following statement to Dr. Mitchell, president of the college:

"The institution must make a written application asking that a unit be established.

"Not less than one hundred physically fit male students and not less than fourteen years of age must be under instruction in the required course at all times.

"The prescribed course once entered upon by any student, must as regards each student, be a prerequisite for graduation.

"The membership of the institution in the corps is subject to cancellation by the Secretary of War should he consider the work not in keeping with the object for which the corps is established.

"All text-books, manuals and maps would have to be purchased by the student or the institution in the same manner that other text-books are obtained.

"The arms and equipment would have to be insured for their full value, and bond would have to be furnished by the college to insure their care, safe-keeping and return.

"The complete course covers four years of training, the last two years, however, would be elective as far as the War Department is concerned. A student electing to take the two years advanced course would have to be recommended to the department by the president of the college and the professor of military science and tactics. The student will then be required to sign an agreement in writing to continue in the course during the remainder of his course in college to devote five hours per week to the training prescribed, and to attend two summer camps of four weeks each. In return for this the government agrees to furnish to such student, commutation of subsistence, amounting to some seven or eight dollars per month, during the remainder of the course, and to pay all expenses incidental to his attendance at the training camps.

"Graduates of the four year course are also eligible for appointment as temporary second lieutenants in the regular army, which would entitle them to six months' training with a regular army with the allowance of a second lieutenant (quarters, light, fuel, etc.) and a salary of one hundred dollars per month.

"Uniforms would be furnished for all members of the unit.

"The act also provides for the detail of enlisted men of the regular army as assistants to the commandant.

"In general it may be said that the object of establishing the units is to qualify students for reserve officers, and the courses laid down are expected to fit them to intelligently perform the duties of commissioned officers in the military forces of the United States. The requirements would not be in excess of those existing at present except for the elective course covering the last two years

It is believed that this is the branch of college military training that the War Department is going to be especially interested in, and that aside from any other advantages its establishment might offer, it would be well to take it up on that ground alone.

"The committee appointed by you to look into the matter, consisting of Dr. Sypherd, Professor Short, and myself, is unanimously of the opinion that the establishment of a unit at Delaware College would be desirable.

"W. F. Hoey, Jr.
"First Lieutenant, Twelfth Inf."

Farm Dwellings Burned

A brush fire on the farm of Dr. W. S. Hitch, near Laurel, got beyond the control of the tenant and fanned by the wind spread over dry grass to the dwelling which was totally destroyed on Tuesday of last week. The tenant was about to occupy the house but luckily had moved none of his household goods to the premises and thus escaped loss. The same day fire of unknown origin destroyed the dwelling on the farm of N. D. Symonds, half a mile west of Hartly. Most of the contents were saved and none of the other buildings were damaged.

The Receiver-Hook

The delicate mechanism of the receiver hook is here disclosed. In this there are more than a dozen of the 116 separate parts of a Bell telephone. The years have developed this mechanism to be the best it is possible to make, and it combines strength and sturdiness with the delicacy of instant response.

Think what it means when the receiver is "banged" into the hook. Repeated often, it must loosen and destroy the careful adjustments; and if the receiver strikes the hook in a lateral blow before it is down far enough to break the contact, and if the person on the other end has not had time to hang up, he will hear a "crack" that is mighty unpleasant.

You can help to safeguard the high quality of your Bell Service by care in replacing the receiver.
