THE "WATCH TOWER MOVEMENT" IN SOUTH AFRICA. (Presse, July 28)

(Buluwayo, July 27th) - At a trial against the authors of disturbances created by natives in the copper mines in May of this year, the British Court Commissar/declared that that fanatic and dangerous "watch tower movement" again became noticeable, which in 1918 led to very serious disturbances. The leaders of this movement organize a modern propaganda and incite the religious fanaticism of the black people in a most dangerous way. He directed the attention of the authorities to the dangerous activities of the permanently increasing movement among the natives.
