Military Selects New Officers

Alger, Senior, Names Date Of '61 Meeting

Senior Class President Earl Alger announced today that a Freshman Class meeting will be held Monday at 4:30 p. m. in Wolf Hall auditorium.

Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss class elections. "The time has come for you to begin thinking seriously concerning those persons you desire to lead your class through the coming year," Alger remarked.

"There is no better way," he declared, "to begin a successful career at the university than to participate in the activities open to you."

"And indeed, one of the most sought for and esteemed positions is that of a class officer. So please attend the meeting, learn the facts, and be a possible candidate."

The elections are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 28 and 29, from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

The following offices will be open: president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and women's representative to the Senate. She and the class president and vice president will become voting members in the Senate.

Alger concluded, "Your officers will be your leaders and your organizers; so it is imperative that you choose the best."

Seniors Will Discuss Placement in Jobs

Seniors will have an opportunity to discuss placement procedure and career opportunities with Mrs. Geraldine M. Wyatt, director of the Placement Office, during the next two weeks.

"These meetings are very important, and every senior should be present at the time indicated for his classification, regardless of what he plans to do following graduation," Mrs. Wyatt said yesterday.

Engineers will meet October 3 at 4 p. m., in Room 308 of Evans Hall. Men in the school of arts and science, excluding those who plan to teach, are to meet October 7, in Wolf Hall Auditorium at 4 p. m.

Agriculture students, with the exception of those in vocational agriculture, will also meet in Wolf Hall auditorium October 8, at 4 p. m. Women in arts and science and home economics, excluding prospective teachers, will confer Oct. 9, at 4 p. m. in Brown Laboratory auditorium.

A meeting for students who are planning to teach upon graduation from the university will be announced in a later issue of The Review.

Provost Urges Flu Innoculation

Dean Carl J. Rees, Provost, is urging everyone to take advantage of any opportunity to obtain inoculations against the Asiatic flu.

As the university has no priority in obtaining an early supply of vaccine, each individual should receive immunization from his personal physician if the physician receives a supply in advance of the University Health Service.

Queen Petitions Due in 2 Weeks

Petitions for Homecoming Queen will be accepted until 5 p. m. on October 7 in the Review office. A picture must accompany the 20 signature petitions unless arrangement is made with the Review photographer to have a picture taken.

The Homecoming Queen will be presented at the Homecom-

Budget Requests Due October 4

Any organization which has not submitted a budget request by October 4, will not be included in this year's senate budget. Gerald Katz, treasurer, has announced.

"There are all indications that any organization not included in this budget will not be able to obtain any funds whatsoever during the course of the year," he said.

Organizations which have submitted budgets are: Accounting Club, Agricultural Club, American Society of Civil Engineers, Band, Concert Choir, Cosmopolitan Club, Cultural Activities, Delaware Student Teachers Association, Men's Dormitories Music, Needle and Haystack, Women's Athletic Association, Women's Executive Committee, Women's Commuters, Cheerleaders, Sociology Club, University Religious Council, Psychology Club, 4-H Club, Weekend Activities, Men's Commuters, and Engineering Council.

Tonight's pep fest will begin at 7 p. m. when the university band and cheerleaders will march down campus picking up dorms and fraternities.

The march will end on the steps of Old College where Nancy Jones, captain, and the other cheerleaders will lead cheer and songs. Nancy will announce the winner of today's football decorations competition at this time.

Mae West Visits Campus Cinema

The first in this year's series of campus motion pictures is "My Little Chickadee," to be shown tomorrow and Sunday in Wolf Hall Auditorium.

The film stars Mae West and W. C. Fields, and it is a burlesque western in which Miss West plays a city slicker who moves in to conquer the wild west. She soon finds W. C. Fields more than her match, however.

Several week end movies will be shown this year. There will be one performance on Saturday, at 8:15 p. m., and two performances on Sunday, at 3:15 and 8:15 p. m. All shows are held in Wolf Hall auditorium.

'Queen' Will Play At Soph Dance

Ellen Hoffman Receives Award At Nat'l Educational Convention

Ellen (Dutch) Hoffman, president of the Delaware Student Teachers' Association, was selected from the 40,500 members of the Student National Education Association as the recipient of the Jay Elmer Morgan Award at the National Education Association's Centennial Convention in Philadelphia this summer.

Attending the convention were 20,000 teachers and administrators from every section of the United States and its territories. They met to mark the organized teaching profession's 100 years' growth.

Miss Hoffman received the honor for her professional contributions made while attending the SNEA convention in Washington, held previous to the Philadelphia convention. The award is a paid life-membership in the NEA.

Although she was nominated for the award by members of the student association at Philadelphia, the final selection was made by a committee of seven adults. Dr. Jay Elmer Morgan was present when Miss Hoffman received the award from Dr. G. D.

Robbins, dean of the school of education of Morehead, Minn., State Teachers' College.

Participating in the convention with Miss Hoffman were Vice President Richard M. Nixon; Sen. John F. Kennedy (D.-Mass.); Sen. Richard Neuberger (D.-Ore.); Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review; and Margaret Mead, anthropologist with the American Museum of Natural History.

On campus Miss Hoffman is a member of the Women's Executive Council, the Judicial Council, the Women's Athletic Association, and the Newman Club. She worked on the committee which prepared the social honor system for women students.

While at Delaware, she has also served as head of house of three dormitories, Smyth A, Smyth B, and Sussex. She is a member of the Intercollegiate Student Association of Women Students and attended the group's national conference at Michigan University in March.

Review Writer Sees Workings In Paris Office

Not Allowed Alone After His Arrival

BY SIDNEY EZRAILSON

(Editor's Note: Sidney Ezrailson, Review columnist, spent the past summer in Europe. Most of this time was spent in Paris, where Ezrailson took a French course at the Sorbonne. On August 12, he visited the Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe (SHAPE) near Paris to secure on-the-spot information for readers of the Review. The visit, arranged through the cooperation of Dean John Hocutt and Sen. J. Allen Frear (D-Del), included a short talk with Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme commander. The following is Ezrailson's account of his visit.)

The flags of 15 nations waved in the gentle breeze of a beautiful Paris day as my car passed the guarded entry into the Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe.

Twenty minutes before the car called at my Paris residence chauffeured by a French soldier and carried me swiftly on a turnpike-like boulevard called "Autoroute de l'ouest."

The car, an official SHAPE vehicle, passed the main entrance to the long barrack-like buildings and proceeded to a side entrance, the office of General Norstad.

FROM FRENCH TO ENGLISH

I got out of the car, thanked the driver in my best French, and walked to the door. At this point the conversation and atmosphere changed from French to American, as an American military policeman, who seemed as tall as a giant, asked to see my passport.

After examining the picture on the passport and studying my face, he led me to the General's office. The General's aide told me that a group of American and British air cadets were visiting SHAPE and were going to be briefed by General Norstad and other officers. I was invited to attend parts of the briefing that were not classified as secret.

As I waited to be taken to the briefing room (I was never allowed to be alone at SHAPE), I noticed on the walls of the general's waiting room pictures of former staff officers at SHAPE, some bearing the famous signatures of Eisenhower, Ridgeway, Gruenther, and Montgomery.

AUDITORIUM

I was then led to a large auditorium-like room used for the briefing. At the front of this room was a map of Europe and North Africa, and beside each chair a set of ear-phones used for interpretation of languages.

The room soon filled with American and British air cadets, who stood at attention while a major of the British Army, a public information officer, entered. At this point, I felt rather uncomfortable, because I was the only civilian in the room. The major asked the cadets to sit down and began to speak.

ORGANIZATION'S PURPOSE

He discussed the purpose of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and SHAPE, the military command of NATO, explaining that in view of two world wars in the past half-century, and the subsequent belligerent action of Russia, unified defense was necessary.

He said the primary objective of NATO was to deter war, and secondly, to defend Western Europe if war came suddenly. He stated that NATO's fundamental philosophy is that an attack on one member state is regarded as an attack on all 15.

Freshman Here Is New Citizen Of United States

Stefan Rosk
BY PETER FISHER

A university student became a citizen of the United States this week.

He is Stefan Karl Roski, a freshman mechanical engineering student, who is a commuter from Wilmington.

Steve was born in Tarnow, a town in the south of Poland, December 1, 1935. In 1941, when the Nazis invaded Poland, he and his parents were shipped to Germany, where he was placed in a children's home. At the end of the war they were reunited and in 1951 came to the United States as displaced persons.

Arriving in Wilmington, he entered Salesianum High School as a sophomore and was graduated with the class of 1954. He entered the Marine Corps in July, 1954, and after three months basic training at Parris Island, S. C., he went to Camp Lejeune, N. C.

After 33 months there with the Artillery Communications Corps, he was given an honorable discharge as a sergeant.

The ceremony of naturalization took place last Monday, at noon in the U. S. District Court, Wilmington, and was administered by Judge Paul Leahy.

French Happy in Discontent, Nicole Says of Native Land

BY SCOTT WILSON

"Ca change mais c'est toujours pareil."

This is what Nicole Habault says about the government of her native France. It means, roughly, "There is a change, but it always results in the same."

Nicole is attending the university this year. A senior, she is a resident at Kent Hall dormitory. Her home town is Martin du Vivier, near Rouen, in northern France.

Though the French government seems to lack stability, Nicole declared, the people there are happy with it. That is, they are happy to be discontented with it.

NEED TO WORRY

"If we have a premier last too long in office, we wonder why he is there. If there is a crisis and we don't have a premier, we are worried about it." The French have to have something to be angry at, the European joked. She stated that if the anger isn't directed towards the government, it's against anything.

Like several European students here, Nicole will study English mainly, but she will also add German. She was teacher of French at the University of Bonn, Germany, from last April to August.

SID MEETS HER

Another university student, Sidney Ezrailson, who spent the summer in Paris, met the French girl. He supplied her with advanced information about the "Diamond State" and the university.

The European girl speaks English excellently though she still retains a bit of her charming accent.

Pamphlet About Fort Delaware For Sale in University Store

"Fort Delaware," an historical pamphlet by W. Emerson Wilson, father of Scott Wilson, Delaware junior, is on sale at the University Bookstore.

The pamphlet is the fourth in a series being prepared under the editorial direction of university Professors A. R. Dunlap, chairman, George H. Henry, and H. Clay Redd.

In "Fort Delaware," Mr. Wilson, city editor of the "Wilmington Morning News" and chairman of the board of the Fort Delaware Society, tells of the importance of the fort during the Civil War when, as a prison for Confederate soldiers, it was known as "The Andersonville of the North."

Practically all the prisoners captured at the Battle of Gettysburg, were confined in Fort Delaware or in the wooden barracks surrounding the fort on Pea Patch Island. More than 12,000 prisoners were there in August, 1863.

The pamphlet identifies the 13 generals and other high-ranking officers of the Confederacy who were held prisoners in the fort, and describes as well the life of the enlisted men, their attempts to escape and their sufferings.

While Fort Delaware gained its greatest fame during the Civil War, its history goes back further than that, and the pamphlet tells of the ceding of Pea Patch Island to the United States in 1813, the construction of an earlier fort there, and the boundary dispute with New Jersey.

The pamphlet is illustrated with old drawings and engravings, and with photographs of the fort in its present condition and as it was in Civil War times.

Tradition Will Reign In Athenaeon Society

With the revival of a dormant century old tradition on the campus, Delaware once again has a literary society.

According to the words of a student on campus in 1853 whose diary was recently edited by William D. Lewis, librarian, the Athenaeon Club, pronounced to rhyme with neon, and Delta Phi, two literary societies, date "almost from the beginning of the college and may or may not have had their roots in the Academy. Their claims of superior age afforded scope for all-most a century of rivalry which ranged from friendly cooperation to inter-society borrowing and the swapping of debate topics to open accusations and fiery recriminations."

OPEN TO ALL

Modern-day Athenaeons are attempting to organize discussions of literary merit which formerly were confined to the Scourge. Membership is not limited to English majors, but is open to anyone wishing to read and discuss literature. Meetings will be held every other Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. in a place to be posted.

Each meeting will be under student arranged leadership, and it is hoped that in the future guest lecturers will also grace the attendance. However, the club membership will not listen to a lecturer; the major part of every meeting will be spent in discussion of the topic at hand.

NEXT MEETING

For the first meeting, Dr. Cyrus Day, professor of English, discussed with the club membership "The Literature of Despair." This Sunday, Rosemarie Battaglia and Naomi Bluestone, program chairman and president respectively, will compare Twain's "Huck Finn" and Holden Caulfield in Salinger's "Catcher-in-the-Rye." Participants are urged to bring the books with them.

Under the guidance of Marvin X. Lesser, instructor of English and club sponsor, the purpose of the club is for people who want to read and discuss literature. Each meeting will concern itself with a different topic.

"Various names such as 'The Mirth and Passion Society' and 'The Lotus Eaters' were suggested for the society," adds Naomi Bluestone, "but we wanted it to be what it sounds like—a tradition."

To quote once again from "The Diary of a Student at Delaware College," "The societies were, in their time, the fulfillment of the fraternal urge, the substitute for departments of literature and speech, the auxiliaries to the college library and, within very narrow limits, the student self-government agency of the college."

Mrs. Patterson Tours Europe Visits Holland, Collects Dolls

Mrs. Dorothy Patterson, house director of Kent dormitory toured Europe the early part of this summer with her sister.

Mrs. Patterson and her sister flew from Washington D. C. to London, stopping off at the Azores. In London, they attended a service at Westminster Abbey and later visited Stratford on Avon, Shakespeare's birthplace. They traveled to Edinburgh, Scotland, to trace their ancestral lineage as members of the Duncan clan. They also explored many of the old castles.

VISIT HOLLAND

Leaving the British Isles, they went on to Holland, meeting Dean and Mrs. William Penrose. Dr. Penrose is dean of the school of education. The Peace Palace and museums were a part of the agenda there, and Mrs. Patterson saw many of Rembrandt's paintings including the recently restored "Night Watch" in Amsterdam.

A steamer carried them down the Rhine River to Mainz passed the Lorelei. The song, "The Lorelei" was played, and everyone aboard sang as the boat rounded the rock. Arriving in Mainz, Mrs. Patterson viewed both the Gutenberg Bible and the first printing press which were on display.

Frosh, Sophs Vie in 'War'

During half time events at the Bowling Green football game on Oct. 4, the freshman-sophomore tug-of-war will be held. This activity will replace the freshmen-sophomore field days held in previous years.

If the freshmen win this event, they may discontinue wearing the dinks and name signs, except at the remaining home football games. But, should the members of the sophomore class prove the stronger, the caps and name signs will be worn by the freshmen for two additional weeks.

Susie Ries, sophomore secretary says, "I urge all the freshmen and sophomores to come out and participate in the tug-of-war—it's for your own good."

FOOTBALL THROUGH THE AGES

The football frenzy is upon us. But let us in the midst of this pandemonium call time. Let us pause for a moment of tranquil reflection. What is this great American game called football? What is its history? Its origins?

Let us pause for a moment of tranquil reflection

First of all, to call football an American game is somewhat misleading. True, the game is now played almost exclusively in America, but it comes to us from a land far away and a civilization long dead.

Football was first played in ancient Rome. Introduced by Julius Caesar, it became one of the most popular Roman sports by the time of Nero's reign. The eminent historian, Sigafoos, reports a crowd of MMCLDDXVIII people at the Colosseum one Saturday afternoon to see the Christians play the Lions.

With the decline of the Roman empire, football fell into disuse. The barbaric Huns and Visigoths preferred canasta. Not until the fifteenth century A. D. did football emerge from its twilight and rise to its rightful place in the firmament of European sports.

Which brings us to September 29, 1442, a date dear to the hearts of all football fans. It was on this date, according to the eminent historian Sigafoos, that a sixteen-year-old lad named Christopher Columbus tried out for the football team at Genoa Tech. He failed to make the team because he was too light. (He weighed at the time only twelve pounds.)

And why, you ask, is this date—September 29, 1442—so dear to the hearts of all football fans? Because young Columbus was so heartbroken at not making the team that he ran away to sea. And if that hadn't happened, he never would have discovered America. And if Columbus hadn't discovered America, the world would never have discovered tobacco. And if the world hadn't discovered tobacco, football fans never would have discovered Marlboro—which, as every fan knows, is the perfect companion to football. And why shouldn't it be? Look what Marlboro's got... Filter... Flavor... Flip-top Box... You can't buy a better smoke. You can't smoke a better buy.

The end of football in Europe came with the notorious "Black Sox Scandal" of 1587, in which Ed Machiavelli, one of the Pisa mob, paid off the University of Heidelberg Sabres to throw the championship game to the Chartres A. and M. Gophers. It was a mortal blow to football on the continent.

But the game took hold in the American colonies and thrived as it had never thrived before. Which brings us to another date that remains evergreen in the hearts of football lovers: December 16, 1773.

On that date a British packet loaded with tea sailed into Boston harbor. The colonies had long been smarting under the English king's tax on tea. "Taxation without representation," they called it, and feelings ran high.

When on December 16, 1773, the British ship docked at Boston, a semi-pro football team called the Nonpareil Tigers, coached by Samuel (Swiftly) Adams, was scrimmaging near the harbor. "Come, lads," cried Swiftly, seeing the ship. "Let's dump the tea in the ocean!"

With many a laugh and cheer the Nonpareil Tigers followed Swiftly aboard and proceeded to dump the cargo overboard in a wild, disorganized and abandoned manner. "Here now!" called Swiftly sharply. "That's no way to dump tea overboard. Let's get into some kind of formation."

And that, fans, is how the tea formation was born. Double your pleasure at next Saturday's game by taking along plenty of Marlboros, whose makers bring you this column throughout the school year.

UD Art Gallery Acquires Painting

The university Art Gallery has acquired a painting in oil by Jan Gelb called "September," as a gift of the American Academy of Arts and Letters through its Child Hassam Fund.

Dr. Alan Gowans, chairman of the department of art, announced that the Delaware Art Gallery was one of 15 chosen by the academy as beneficiaries of this year's Hassam Fund distribution.

Jan Gelb was born in New York City in 1906 and studied art at the Yale University school of the fine arts and at the Art Students League with Sigurd Skou. He won a prize for his work at the Boston Arts Festival in 1953.

His work has been exhibited in group shows at the Metropolitan Museum, Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, Whitney Museum of American Art, Brooklyn Museum, and elsewhere, and has been acquired by the Metropolitan and many private collectors.

Brickbats and ### Bouquets

Kind words can often incite people to action as quickly, or more so, than scathing criticism, and certainly more pleasantly. This editorial will be concerned with a few well-chosen verbal bouquets to begin a new year with.

Dorothy Levy should be highly commended for the fine job she did with the Preview, an offspring of the Review which appeared during Orientation Week. Although it was to be considered a staff project, Dot handled all the writing, publishing and circulation details. The Preview was certainly well-received by university officials connected with orientation and reportedly well-received by the new students. Students who wish to make suggestions or remarks about the Preview may feel free to contact any Review editor.

We overheard Milt Roberts, Co-ordinator of Student Affairs, commenting on the co-operation displayed by students in clearing the Scrounge for last Friday's Convocation Exercises. Milt remarked that this was the fastest the "Scrounge" had been emptied within his memory—no balking, no loitering, no trouble. A fact certainly to be remarked upon.

Still in the double-take department: the co-rec night held last Saturday was very well attended. Perhaps this is significant of a strong interest in campus activities on the part of the Class of 1961. We hope that they will not prove to be as "spiritually" bankrupt as the Class of '58 has been.

All is not sunshine and flowers, however. Just to show that we have note in our critical eye, we draw your attention to the peculiar appearance of duPont Hall. Looking at the building from directly head on, you will notice that the upper stories do not sit above the lower stories in the shape of a rough pyramid but are set over to the left in the form of a roughly left-handed right triangle.

A Problem for the Senate

Poster Regulation

For want of a nail — You know the story. Sometimes it is the little things trivial in themselves, that total up to one great irritation.

Take the size of posters used on campus by almost every club, organization, etc., to advertise their wares. They vary in size from 648 square inches to small 3x5 cards, and often assume just as varying shapes.

Wall area suitable for placing posters is very limited, bulletin board area is even more limited. Maximum dimensions for posters ought to be clearly defined and strictly enforced to insure that everyone wishing to advertise will have an opportunity to do so.

Our only suggestion to the Senate would be that the maximum dimensions for bulletin board posters should be naturally smaller than those attached to walls, trees or posts.

Let a word to the wise suffice.

Jive Session Will Highlight 'The Fat Man'

The Senate will sponsor a jam session on Friday night, October 4 in Carpenter Field House.

Lloyd the Fat Man and his five-man combo will play, starting at 8 p.m. "Students will hear Rock'n Roll, jazz, and generally danceable music until midnight," Janet Lee Keller, assistant social chairman, said.

This group from New York has been entertaining the East coast for about four years. This weekend, they are performing at the El Rancho Club in Chester, Pa.

Admission will be $1 per person and ticket sales will begin today in the hallway by the University Post Office.

"Informal is the word for dress, Bermudas being permitted," Janet said. Refreshments will be sold.

Pete Genereaux, chairman of the board of directors of the Student Center, remarked, "It is hoped that this occasion will be most successful, as an enthusiastic attendance could lead to similar events being scheduled more often, throughout the school year."

Dr. Dolan Begins Lecture Series

Dr. Paul Dolan, chairman of the department of political science at the university, will appear first in a series of programs on the world crisis in the Middle East to be given on five consecutive Tuesday evenings under the auspices of the Westminster Foundation, 20 Orchard Road.

Dr. Dolan, who will speak October 1, recently returned from a year of lecturing in a German university. He will give a briefing of the controversy between the Arabs and the Israelis, which now threatens world peace.

The other speakers in the series are: Mohamed Habib, press attache, the embassy of Egypt, on the "Egyptian View of the Middle East Today," Oct. 8; Shimon Arad, first secretary, the Embassy of Israel, on "The Middle East as Israel Sees It," Oct. 15.

Wilbert B. Smith, Sr., of Wilmington, founder of YMCA work in Egypt and former senior secretary of the Palestine YMCA, "A Christian View of the Arab-Israeli Issue," Oct. 22; the Rev. Gayraud Wilmore, department of social education and action, Presbyterian Church in the USA, "Biblical Realism and Problems of World Peace," Oct. 29.

Fraternally Speaking... the Greeks

The gamut of nocturnal destruction has again been set up for the Phi Tau Brothers to run.

Fussbudgeting muscles, long idled by a summer of relaxation and lackadaisical servitude are again finding the range. Somehow, amidst the conglomeration of atmospheres that pervaded our happy house last semester, seven brothers pulled indexes of 300 or better including Terry Schall and Dale Bowin, who made the Dean's list.

We grieve that even as a unit we are bereft of proper words to describe our new cellar floor. We do admit that it might possibly be a little big here and a little too small there, but then, be it ever so humble there's no place like home.

Congratulations to Dick Bennett who recently joined the ranks as a pledge and best of luck to Miss Pat Stone and Clyde Draper who became pinned over the summer.

Best of luck also to the other eight fraternities in their struggle to procure and maintain scholastic superiority this semester.

The Sigma Nus return to the Delaware campus after a great summer, with high expectations for the coming year. The parties, summer jobs, and other experiences leave lasting memories of good times.

The brothers arrived a day early for a pre-season cleanup of the house, and to do some remodeling. With classes underway the snakes have been readjusting themselves back to the old grind of studying.

The house will start off its social season tomorrow night with a joint house party with Sig Ep followed next week with the freshmen girls house party on Saturday night. These events promise to be a good start to the vigorous social calendar indicated by social chairman Mike Bryant.

The house takes pleasure in congratulating the following brothers on their marriages over the past summer: Dave Sharp, Bill Baur, Bill Timmons, Tony DeLucas, Don Jost, and Bill Tommany. Congratulations also to brothers Jim Smith on his engagement to Miss Nancy Heaps, and John Walsh on his pinning to Miss Ann Horisk. We also welcome back to the ranks First Lt. Jack Loose who has just finished serving four years in the Marines. He starts back as a junior in Electrical Engineering.

The brothers of Alpha Tau Omega extend a warm welcome

Offstage Notebook

By George Spelvin

With a belated greeting to the freshman class of 1961, we are happy to be back among you with notes, news, and tidbits from the world of theatre, radio and TV, both on and off the campus. Dick Stewart, a recent grad and founder of the George Spelvin column, is going to be a tough man to replace, but our hopes are high and our determination is at its peak. Now for the news:

THE PLAYHOUSE: Herman Wouk's first comedy, "Nature's Way," may not be the most riotous that ever opened a pre-Broadway tour in Wilmington, but the ribbing given to Manhattan's glittering world of art and pseudo-art, its crackpot philosophies and scientific faddism is well placed and genuinely funny. The author of "Caine Mutiny" and "Marjorie Morningstar" may not have written a knock-em-into-the-aisles powerhouse, but it keeps the audience laughing.

MITCHELL HALL: Caught the E-52's presentation of the trial scene from "St. Joan" presented for the frosh on Tuesday last. Surprise of the night! Devereaux McCarthy, who glittered as the Earl of Warwick. This guy is real class and we can't help wondering why he waited until he graduated to discover the fact. Surprise No. 2! Suzanne Kozak, from whom we expected more. There's no doubt she is good, but she and the Maid of Orleans somehow never got together with any consistency. Staged well and acted well, "St. Joan" is one of the best short presentations we've seen here in a long time. MITCHELL HALL: Tryouts and casting are probably completed by this time for the E-52's production of Arthur Miller's "The Crucible." Watch this play! It's a killer! Concerns the Salem, Mass. witch hunts of the early 1600's. We saw it in New York in 1953 and are still chilled by the human stupidity and cruelty brought out in this play. And worse yet — it's true!!!

CHATTER: Canadian Shakespeare Company — thought by many to be the finest in this hemisphere — coming to Mitchell Hall some time the first semester with "Othello." Don't miss it!

"No Time For Sergeants" reportedly coming to Wilmington some time this season.

FRESHMEN Tom Lackerman, Edna Wood, Patty Kirch, Steve Roski and Elizabeth Zane causing some excitement around Mitchell Hall as a result of their tryouts for "The Crucible." Move over, oldtimers, youth must be served.

"A KING IN NEW YORK" — knocking American TV is fair game for comedy — no gripe here. But when Charlie Chaplin levels off on Communism and Un-American activities, the Jester's mask drops. Chaplin loses objectivity and reveals himself as an embittered man who permits his tired good humor to be bogged down by personal prejudice. Although a great artist, Chaplin's political prejudices and sour attitude toward America have proved a detriment. The pic never matches Chaplin's own high standards. Blotto and Stinko!

to the class of '61, and best wishes for a happy and successful stay at Delaware.

Over the summer the Brothers got together at two planned "reunions", and many others met at surprise meetings at many of the summer resorts. From all reports, each get-together was a success and a real blast. The two planned reunions were held in Ocean City, New Jersey and Ocean City, Maryland.

Congratulations go to Brother Yorke Rhodes, who married Charlotte Kunz, Brother Ted Killeffer, who married Louise Cloud, and Social Member Al Huebner, who tied the knot with Diane Smith.

Quality Hill will be swinging tomorrow night when the men of ATO travel next door to the AEPI house for a remodeled house party with the Apes.

Ben Lane and John Bell have left our ranks and joined Uncle Sam's. Ben enlisted for four years in the Air Force and John in the Marine Corps for three.

ATO intramural football practice started under the capable direction of Bob "Fullback" Gore, who says we have a promising squad and expects a good season.

anxiously looking forward to another fun-filled year of learning. To start things off in the right direction, we are giving a party this Saturday night in honor of Jack Davidson, who is going into the Army next week. A work day was held last Saturday in order to get the Shelter into shape for the coming year. We would like to welcome brothers Chuck Heckert, Dave Kiefer, and Pete French back to the campus. It's nice to see their smiling faces once again. Congratulations are in order for Fred Grampp, our newest pledge. Congratulations also go to Brother Ben Payne and Miss Gladys Durboraw and Brother Fred Steinke and Miss Grace Moore who were pinned during the summer.

The brothers at Pi Kappa Alpha wish to welcome Peter Josefson, one of the three Icelandic students attending the University. We are very happy Pete is living with us.

The "Do It Yourself" Pikes started the annual construction program with a bang last week when we put in our new basement floor. Plans are now being made for our all new recreation room.

Brother Steve Mack pinned Miss Frances Hamilton during the summer. Congratulations, Steve.

We wish, at this time, to invite the girls of the Class of '61 to a party to be given in their honor Sunday, Sept. 29. The party will be held at the Pike house at 27 N. College Ave. Transportation will be provided from dorms to the PIKA house. We hope everyone of you will be able to attend.

The Pike's express their thanks to the beautiful freshmen girls who posed for our campus calendar — Carole Schulze, Debbie Lewis, Patti Atwood, Marty Fowler, Joyce Yearsley, Connie Parker, Gwen Wunderle, Ginny Cars-well, Polly Calloway, Selma Whitaker, Phyllis Maske and Meg Gandy, junior.

Hello again from Sigma Phi Epsilon! First, we would like to take this opportunity to welcome all of the new students to our campus and express the hope that we will meet all of you in the future. The Big Red Door is always open to friends and visitors.

The Sig Eps outdid themselves in pinnings during the summer. The happy couples include the following: Dick McKelvey and Joan Miller, Dick Brady and Janice Veach, Jimmy Casson and Barbara Barker, Leon Dombrowski and Moreen Toomey, Tom McThenia and Sue Dunlap, Sonny Kenton and Virginia Grinsell and Sonny Reihm and Nancy Spicer. Meanwhile, several other brothers and recent graduates took a bigger step by tying the knot altogether. The newly married couples are Frank Andrusko and Dallas Gale, Fred Raniere and Mallory Hughes, Dick Matthews and Maryanna Galuska and Don Stoudt and Nancy Jo Bringham. Congratulations and best wishes to all.

As for the future, no sooner did we unpack our straw hats than it was announced that our new social season will begin this Saturday night with a combined lawn party with Sigma Nu with music supplied by the fabulous Queen Belles.

The brothers of Kappa Alpha would like to extend our heartiest welcome to the freshman class of 1961.

All of the brothers have been busy preparing for our open house for the freshmen girls which will be held Sunday, Oct. 6. There was plenty of work to be done and brother Ed Zippe, our new house manager, was pleased with the fine turnout. We recently welcomed back our world traveling brothers, Carl Hoover and Bob Hitchens, who journeyed to Jacksonville, Florida for the annual Kappa Alpha National Convention. We would like to extend our congratulations to our newly pinned brothers Bob Downes and Jack Hildreth who pinned Clare Guenveur and Debbie Lewis, respectively.

Sophomore Class Elects Treasurer

Gilbert Smith, sophomore engineering student in the five year arts and science program, was elected treasurer of the sophomore class at last Monday's meeting.

Treasurer of the class in his freshman year, Smith will take the place of Bob Price, who was elected to the position last spring; but who has withdrawn from the university. Smith is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

The class meeting was attended Monday by about 125 sophomores. Ron Nowland, class president, reminded the girls that fittings for sophomore blazers will be held on Tuesday, October 1, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. in Smyth Hall game room. He announced that the blazer emblem would be voted on at that time.

Sophomore court and freshman rules were discussed. The class was reminded to keep up the spirit of freshman orientation but to refrain from hazing.

Faculty Completes Plans for Picnic

The annual Men's Faculty Club Picnic will be held on Old College lawn tonight at 6:15. Dr. Russell Hyre, of the plant pathology department and president of the club, has announced.

The main course of the picnic will be chicken. The Women's Faculty Club is also invited to this event. It will be held inside Old College in case of rain. Members of the club can bring their wives or a guest.

This is the first of a series of events that the club is planning for the year, according to Dr. Hyre. A square dance is planned for some time in October and a Christmas dinner and carol sing in December. Halloween and other Christmas parties will be held in their respective seasons.

The social committee heading the picnic is under the direction of Chairman Dr. Paul Bolgiano, of the engineering department. Other members of the committee are Dr. Donald Crossan, of the plant pathology department, Dr. James Daugherty, of the physics department, and Dr. John Wriston, of the chemistry department.

Officers for the year are: Dr. Hyre, president; Dr. Edmund Cain, of the education department, vice president; Robert Gebhardt, assistant director of admissions and records, secretary-treasurer. The executive committee consists of Past Resident Anthony Loudis, Dr. Bolgiano, Maj. Theodore L. Eateles, and Dr. Gordon J. Keppel.

Freshman Squad Cheering Tryouts

Tryouts for the freshman cheerleading squad will be held on Monday at 6:30 p.m. in Taylor Gym. Nancy Jones, captain, has announced.

The freshman cheerleaders will cheer during the Blue Chick football games and freshman basketball contests. From this squad they will advance to the varsity.

Men are encouraged to go out for the squad, Nancy said. The last male cheerleaders included John Lafountain, Ollie Baker and Pete French two years ago.

Sports SLANTS

by Dave Heeren
Sports Editor

The nation's sports tickers hummed with excitement this week as the Yankees and Braves drove toward pennants and Carmen Basilio drove lefts and rights to the head and body of Ray Robinson, thus convincing the former champ of the fact that he was getting too old to successfully challenge boxing promoters, former managers of his, and the U. S. Government at the same time as fighters.

But around the nation's campuses the Joe Colleges spent their time talking about a few dozen fighting local footballers and their prospects of going through successful seasons.

Newark was no exception. It seems that the fighting Blue Hens had voyaged to New Haven, Conn. last Saturday intent on outscrimmaging the defending Ivy League champs, powerful Yale. The outcome of the scrimmage contest, a 13-7 defeat, was disconcerting to the Hens, to say the least.

Much has been said and written about how poorly Delaware played and how the outcome of the game might have been changed. It wouldn't be quite proper for anyone who had not witnessed the alleged debacle to present a defense for the defeated. However, it would not be amiss to present a few of the facts.

The first quarter was the scoring story of the game. Yale scored first on a 20 yard run by star quarterback Dick Winterbauer early in the first period. Winterbauer is a double threat runner and passer like Dan Nolan of Lehigh, the first Delaware opponent this fall. On this occasion Winterbauer failed to find a receiver uncovered on a pass play so he placed the ball under his arm and trudged across the turf to the end zone.

Delaware tied the score on a 56 yard Larry Catuzzi-Tony Toto aerial. This play was unique not only because it produced the only Blue Hen tally of the game, but also because it was the only pass Catuzzi completed in the game.

Yale struck right back though, and ended the game's scoring a few minutes later. Winterbauer ran 10 yards into paydirt climaxing a seventy yard drive.

There were numerous other scoring opportunities in the game for both sides but none of them paid off. Delaware was stalled on the Eli six yard line after the second half kickoff and then, a few minutes later, on the 18 because of a fumble.

Yale's other scoring opportunities were also nullified, but not by Delaware. The Elis had a scoring pass of 48 yards called back because of an offside penalty and a 55 yarder to the Hen five was recalled for the same violation.

Delaware coach Dave Nelson made no attempt to conceal his displeasure with the team and the other coaches had the same general attitude. Backfield coach Harold (Tubby) Raymond expressed the feeling well. "The boys looked like they were swimming under ten feet of water" said Raymond. "Everything was in slow motion."

However, on the more philosophical side were the remarks made by Elbert Chance, director of alumni and public relations at UD and an experienced follower of Blue Hen grid antics. He made some comments comparing this year's Yale scrimmage with one against Army a year ago.

"Even though we didn't beat Army we made a very good showing," Chance recalled. "The following week we played West Chester and there was a letdown that resulted in the loss of the ball game. Maybe the situation will be reversed this year."

At any rate, it is no disgrace to lose to Yale by a single TD.

HEN HALTED — Delaware fullback John Walsh finds the going rough as he is surrounded by the other Blue Hens in a recent practice scrimmage. Quarterback Larry Catuzzi (14) has just handed the ball to him and is completing the play by faking a handoff to another Hen backfield man (out of picture). In the background the coaches follow the action.

Girls' Tennis, Archery And Field Hockey Start Seasons Soon

Well gals, now is the time to come to the aid of your dorms. The W.A.A. has planned three entirely different types of sports in which all coeds are urged to participate. There are papers posted on each floor of every women's dorm on which the girls may sign up for these sports. This must be done by September 27, so let's get going!

Blue Hen Of The Week

The top scorer for the Delaware eleven last season was right end Ben Klingler. Along with Carmen Cella he presented the Blue Hens with as efficient a pair of ends as has been seen in these parts in many years.

Klingler was the top receiver for the Hens last season, catching a total of 22 passes good for 325 yards and two touchdowns.

Ben Klingler

He also specialized in place kicking, booting the ball between the uprights 16 times in 21 attempts to boost his scoring total to 28 points.

Ben is a fine blocker and a good tackler and is one of the reasons why Delaware has good success on end runs while their opponents have trouble circling the Hen flanks.

Klingler is a senior and an engineering major. He hails from Hershey, Pa. where he was an all-state quarterback in high school. In the spring he throws the javelin for the track team.

The competition will be held this year as dorm vs. dorm. Participation leads towards credit for the A. B. Catts award and everyone wants their particular dorm to win this honor.

Hockey practice and tournaments begin on the thirtieth of this month and run until November 27. In order to participate in the tournaments players must attend at least two of the practices which are held on Mondays and Thursdays at 4 p. m.

Tennis begins on September 30 also, and the practice runs until October 6. Tournaments begin thereafter and run until November 27. Practice will be held in the players' free time.

Last but not least of these sports is archery. The tournaments will be held in rounds at varied distances. The drills will start on September 30 and are extended until October 16 in order to give the girls time to learn a little more about this activity.

Come on now! Let's get out and support your dorms!

Catuzzi, Welsh, Luker and Roe Comprise Starting Backfield

Despite the emphasis that has been placed on developing the sophomore talent that composes half the Delaware squad, most of the starting backfield will fall to veteran Hens when the team takes the field against Lehigh September 28.

At the present stage of the Delaware lineup, the backfield is solidly in the hands of returning veterans and is almost certain to remain that way. Quarterback Larry Catuzzi, whom Nelson has called his most underrated player will direct the Hen strategy for the second year. Catuzzi's 1956 performance in command of the Hens and the experience gained from it make him the hardest man on the squad to displace, and the passing arm that earned him a

Lehigh Seeking To Avenge Loss Of Last Year

Toto and Harvanik Out of Hen Lineup

The Lehigh Engineers will make the trip from Bethlehem, Pa. to Newark tomorrow in order to seek revenge for the 33-7 drubbing administered to them by Delaware last year. The 21 point margin of victory was the greatest the Hens had ever enjoyed against Lehigh.

Delaware will be ready for them, however, because head coach Dave Nelson has been working his men very hard in preparation for the season's opener. Nelson probably remembers how little West Chester moved into town boldly last season and upset the Blue Hens 10-7.

HARVANIK, TOTO HURT

Delaware should be at full strength for the game with the exceptions of Captain Joe Harvanik, whose injured leg kept him out of the Yale scrimmage, and Tony Toto, who broke his hand in practice. Incidentally, Yale defeated Delaware 13-7, in a sloppily played game.

The Lehigh-Delaware contest could easily turn out to be a battle of the quarterbacks. Dan Nolan, the "engineer of the Engineers" has earned wide acclaim as one of the east's outstanding signal-callers. Nolan was a one man gang against the Blue Hens last year, to name one. However, he will be remembered in the annals of Delaware football history as being the man largely responsible for keeping Delaware from an undefeated season in 1955. Lehigh upset Delaware, 19-13 that year.

Not to be outdone, the Blue Hens have a pretty good quarterback of their own. Larry Catuzzi led Delaware to victory over the favored Engineers last season. He completed eight of ten passes for two touchdowns and scored one himself.

SERIES TIED

The series of games between the two teams originated in 1924 with a 45-0 victory for Lehigh. Of the ten games played to date each team has won five of the last six.

Last season both teams finished strong after shaky starts. The Engineers won their final four games to conclude the slate with a log of 7-2. The Blue Hens were victorious in the final two games and went 4-1 in their last six. Delaware finished with a record of 5-3-1.

Running from the halfback slot will be veterans Denny Luker and Jimmy Roe, who average respectively 5.7 and 3.5 yards per carry last year. Swingle, close behind the starters will be letterman George Jarome, a starter last season, who could break into the lineup at any time.

Fullback John Walsh, who lettered as a supporting player in the past two seasons, has earned major billing this year. Always a hard runner, the brawny Hen has been unusually tough against his teammates in practice in a powerful bid for the starting assignment.

SHAPE

The major continued, explaining the history of NATO from its formation in 1949 to its present position in 1957, and the structure of NATO within the governments of the member countries.

PERSONAL TALK

After speaking to the cadets, the major led me from the briefing room to his office where I was able to talk to him personally. I clarified in my mind several points that he had made about NATO.

When the general's aide reappeared we returned to the general's office. After waiting a short time, general Norstad appeared and invited me to the briefing room to listen with the cadets. I returned with him and sat down in the back while he spoke to the cadets.

Norstad stressed the importance of the unity of all branches of the armed services, mentioning that he, an Air Force officer, realizes the necessity for and sea forces. He also emphasized the importance of understanding people of other nations and that methods used by other peoples are sometimes better.

ANY QUESTIONS?

At the conclusion of his speech the commander asked if the cadets had any questions. For quite a while, they questioned him on such topics as the neutrality of Austria and the strength of NATO. One of the most interesting questions concerned his thoughts about the outcome of the present situation in Europe.

The general said that he could not predict the future, but he hoped that there would soon be a more favorable political adjustment. He added that revolution was not necessary for this adjustment.

As he left the room, General Norstad asked me if the information he had given the cadets was useful to me. I thanked him and assured him that it was.

I returned to my car which carried me back to the Cite Universitaire, my mind filled with things to talk about at dinner.

Military

Cadet First Lt. William G. Walker, of Lebanon, Pa.; Cadet First Lt. John Welch, of Milford; and Cadet First Lt. Richard Lewis, of Bridgeville will be the battalion intelligence officer, plans and training officer and supply officer, respectively.

The Regimental Band will be commanded by Frank Waller, a cadet first lieutenant, of Laurel. The band's executive officer is Cadet Second Lt. William Timmons, Selbyville.

King Discloses Band Routine

While playing "Camptown Races," the university marching band, led by J. Robert King, director of instrumental music, will form a horseshoe at halftime tomorrow at the Lehigh game.

This year's band, consisting of approximately 60 members, contains 25 freshmen. It is scheduled to perform at all home and away games with the exception of the Delaware-Connecticut game Oct. 26.

Led by Majorette Suzie Patterson, the band plans to use basically the same format as in previous years. They will do a military precision drill followed by a specialty number.

A highlight of the football season will be the annual Band Day. The bands will join together to form a mass during halftime at the Temple-Delaware game Nov. 9.

E-52 to Produce Miller's Drama

E-52, the university theatre, has decided on Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" for their first major production, Oct. 24, 25, 26. "The Crucible" is a drama of the witch trials and hangings in Salem in 1692 and calls for 10 men and 10 women in the cast. Tryouts were held September 20 and 23 by Tom Waters' play selection and casting committee. Results will be announced this week.

Fraternities Combine Parties Saturday Night

Four campus fraternities will come together tomorrow night for two house parties, one on the lawns of Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Epsilon, and the other at the Alpha Epsilon Pi house.

Lenny Winchester and his combo will play for a joint party between ATO and AEPI.

Joe Friedman, president of AEPI, said he expects over 75 couples to attend the house party. Starting time is 8:15 p. m.

ATO will furnish decorations for the party. Paul Baskin of AEPI and Bill Fisher of ATO will furnish entertainment.

Ed Podolnick of AEPI and Earl Graham of ATO are social chairmen for each house. Chap-erones for the affair will be Mr. Marvin X. Lesser, instructor of English, and Mrs. Lesser, and Mr. Nord, graduate student, and Mrs. Nord.

Queen Belle and her combo will play for the combined lawn party of Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Epsilon. Dress will be informal, and the starting time is 8 p. m.

Social Chairmen are Mike Bryant of Sigma Nu and Steve Matthes of Sigma Phi Epsilon. The combined parties are being held "to strengthen the bonds between the fraternities on campus," Bryant said.
