MEMORIAL DAY LINE OF MARCH OUTLINED

Numerous Local Units To Join In Observance Here May 30

The line of march for Newark's forthcoming Memorial Day parade, the first since 1942, was outlined yesterday by Col. Donald Ashbridge and his committee, following announcement last week of the elaborate program being planned for the annual observance including wreath laying ceremonies before the Main Street Honor Roll and the Memorial Library.

Heading the colorful column will be the marshal and staff, color guard, and officials. The first section will be led off by a bluejacket band, followed by two companies of sailors from the Naval Center at Bainbridge, Md. The university's R. O. T. C. unit and Newark's Company G, recently singled out by federal authorities as the best guard unit in the state, will make up the military groups.

The second section will be led by the Caesar Rodney High School Band, followed by marching units of the American Legion and the Veteran of Foreign Wars, plus groups of boy and girl scouts and cub scouts.

The third section will be headed by the Newark High School Band and composed of a contingent of local firemen, a unit from the Red Men Lodge, and divisions of school pupils. Other groups may be added before the event.

Col. Ashbridge's committee includes: Capt. Donald Morton, U. of D.; Capt. William Donnell, Co. G; John Hopkins, Council of Newark; George Haney, American Legion; Drexel Harrington, V. F. W.; Wilmer E. Shue, Newark Schools; E. J. Ellison, fire department; David Chalmers, Continental-Diamond Company; Vaughan Heavelow, fraternal organizations.

ANTIQUES EXHIBITED SATURDAY

Unusual Items Are Displayed

The first annual exhibit of antiques was held in the parish house of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, here, on Saturday. The show, exclusively limited to antiques, contained a large number of items of interest and value which the committee had obviously gone to great pains to assemble and arrange.

Attracting attention was a corner table of Queen Ann period, the top of which lifted up to reveal a place for a three-cornered hat. There were two of a set of four Chippendale chairs which dated from 1760 to 1780. An unusual tip-top table with ball and claw feet was exhibited, and an exceptionally fine dressing table of the Sheraton period with decorative inlay and satin wood veneer.

Among the smaller articles was a silver tankard of unusual beauty, a Kashmir shawl from Hindustan, several wool coverlets, toys, a silver bracelet made from shoe buckle and a very fine collection of paper weights. A number of silver and brass candlesticks as well as other household items were exhibited by various people.

In addition were tables, ladder back chairs, silverware, documents and other, all tastefully arranged and displayed to the best advantage.

A larger and more comprehensive exhibit may be arranged next year, it was said.

Legion Memorial Day Committee Is Listed

The American Legion Memorial Day Committee is to hold a meeting at the Legion Rooms on Friday night to complete plans for Memorial Day. The committee is composed of the following: Fred Strickland, chairman; George L. Baker, T. A. Baker, Wayne C. Bremer, Allen Coe, J. Harvey Wyatt, John R. Fader, G. M. Gilman, Francis L. Hall, William Cunningham, Harvey Robinson, Grover Surratt, Paul Smith, Orville Little, Minor Newland, Edward Long, Lee Lewis, Carroll Standard, Edward Stickley, A. E. Tomlinson, Leslie Truett, Walter Powell, Vernon Steele and R. N. McCormick.

160 First Grade Pupils Register for Fall Term

A total of 160 prospective first grade pupils were registered with the Newark Public Schools in the recently conducted Summer Round-Up in the high school building.

The group, along with one hold-over first grade class, will be broken into four sections for the fall term.

All children planning to enter school next term must go through the processing, which includes a complete physical examination, before they will be admitted to school. Another registration day will be held in August, it was said.

No registrations will be held on opening day next September, and no unregistered pupil will be accepted, school officials stressed.

School will open next term on September 4.

MAYOR ASKS TOWN FOR BACKING IN FOOD DRIVE

Hubert Calls On All Town Organizations To Back Drive

A proclamation calling on all citizens of Newark as well as religious, educational and civic groups to support the local phase of the UNRRA drive for food and money, which opened here last Sunday, was issued by Mayor C. C. Hubert this week. Proceeds will go directly to relief of Europe's starving. Deadline for the drive, previously set for next Wednesday, has been moved back until June, it was further announced.

Money as well as canned goods, especially baby foods, is being sought in the campaign, which is being sponsored locally by the Newark Jaycees.

Food depots, where contributions may be left are: Richards Market, McMullen's, the Acme, the A. & P., and the Community Store. Other collection points, including grocery stores and the postoffice, may be added later, it was said.

Collection boxes for coin donations have been set up in practically every store by committee members. All civic and fraternal organizations, in addition to the churches and schools, are co-operating.

J. M. Garner, Jr., heads the committee which includes: Mike Kubicki, Jack Henshelman, Ernest Turk, Ernest Nochod and Bill Hillman.

'A' BOMB DISCUSSED AT ROTARY

University Physicist Gives Facts

While the theory of nuclear fission and of the release of atomic energy is generally known to scientists throughout the world, the special technique and methods developed in the U. S. for its industrial application and for the mass production of atomic bombs is to some degree a secret of this country, said Dr. Vincent E. Parker, physicist at the U. of D. in a talk before the Newark Rotary Club Monday evening. Program chairman was Paul Griffith.

Dr. Parker added, however, that given time and opportunity for research, scientists in other countries could duplicate our achievements and eventually devise methods for producing atomic energy equal to our own.

Discussing the constructive application of atomic energy and pointing out the broad new fields open to industry through its use, the scientist stressed that such advancements are impossible until the military problems surrounding the bomb are settled, for, until then, military cliques throughout the world will retain a tight grip on atomic energy production. He stated further that physicists know of no effective defense against the bomb.

Next week's speaker will be John E. Kahle, Jr., sales manager of the Homasote Company, Trenton, who will discuss the practical advantages of prefabricated houses and also exhibit a sound film "How to Build a House in 78 Minutes." Program chairman will be Willis C. MacDougall.

Junior Rotarians present at Monday's session were: Eugene Schaen and James Fox, John Laird was guest of Jack Cannon.

A directors' meeting will be held following next Monday's weekly program.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen Anderson, wife of J. Albert Anderson of Newark, were held May 13 from the R. T. Jones Funeral Home. The Rev. H. Everett Hallman officiated. Interment was in the Oxford Cemetery, Oxford, Pa.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Anderson is survived by four children, Raymond, Woodcrest, Del.; Mrs. Florence Singleton, Wilmington; and Ruth and Donald at home.

She also had three brothers and two sisters, among them Carl Olson, West Grove, Pa.

FEDERAL INSPECTORS LAUD LOCAL GUARD UNIT

Company G And Milford Groups Named Best In State

Newark's Company G, Delaware State Guard, along with Company C of Milford, received special commendation for its showing in the annual federal inspection of the state regiment conducted recently by the Army Service Forces, Second Service Command.

Captain William E. Donnell's local unit and the Milford group were found the best among the State Guard units. They were particularly commended for the demonstration of practical military information given to the inspectors, the report said.

The inspection was made early in April and included the personnel, appearance, records, equipment, and state of training of all units of the state guard in Wilmington, New Castle, Newark, Middletown, Dover, and Milford.

General appearance and military courtesy of regimental personnel were found excellent and the "non-commissioned officers and men showed a sound basic knowledge" the report concluded.

POPPY DAY PLANS BY LOCAL UNIT COMPLETED

Auxiliary Volunteers Prepare For Annual Sale

Preparations for the observance of Poppy Day here have been completed under the leadership of Mrs. John R. Fader, Poppy Chairman for the J. A. O'Daniel Post, No. 10, American Legion Auxiliary.

Volunteers from the Auxiliary will be on the streets on the day appointed with baskets of poppies which they will offer to be worn in honor of the dead of both world wars. They will continue throughout the day, endeavoring to give everyone in the city an opportunity to wear a poppy in memory of those who gave their lives for America.

No price will be asked for the poppies, but contributions will be solicited for the welfare and rehabilitation funds of the Legion and Auxiliary. All money received will be used for the benefit of disabled veterans and families of veterans. It will be expended largely in aid to needy veterans and families in Delaware during the coming year.

The local poppy workers will be part of an army of more than 100,000 volunteers which will distribute poppies in the United States soon. All will donate their services for the day without pay. The only paid workers in the poppy program are the disabled veterans who make the flowers.

TO APPOINT NEW SCHOOL COMMISSION

The local school building commission resigned this week and forwarded a request to Governor Bacon that a new commission be appointed with authority to administer funds to be raised in the forthcoming school bond sale.

The move was made necessary following disclosure that the present commission, established after the school election in 1942 to direct funds of the $131,000 bond sale conducted then, would not have the authority to handle the $300,000 to be raised through the recently approved school bond sale.

The Governor has been asked to name a group empowered to administer both funds. It is probable that the new commission will be composed of some members of the old as well as a school board official.

Local members of the resigned commission are: W. Franklin Wilson, H. C. Boden and Norris N. Wright.

RECRUITING CHIEF HERE CITES NEEDS

Technicians Sought, Says Sgt. Williams

In a statement yesterday, Technical Sergeant Clarence J. Williams, of the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, post office building, this city, listed the opportunities offered men today by direct enlistment into the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army.

Sergeant Williams stated "There are many branches in the Engineers and each requires a high degree of mechanical and engineering skill. One will be trained for war and peace and will return to civilian life prepared for a great career in industry or civil engineering. He will also learn about the operation and maintenance of giant tractors, construction of all types, building and repair of roads and railways, port facilities, airports, may-making, timber-cutting, surveying, electric power and lighting systems, fire control, water supply and hundreds of other subjects. The Regular Army is America's guarantee of security in the years ahead and our soldiers will go to any part of the world where American skill and strength will help to guard the victory, or wherever our aid is needed. Airstrips must be built and maintained. War factories must be blown up and cities must be rebuilt and the Corps of Engineers will play a vital role in that task."

DOG TICK DISEASE CARRIERS IN SEASON

Precautions Against Fever Carrier Urged By Scientist

The season for the American dog tick, also known as the wood tick, has begun in Delaware. From now through-out the summer, special precautions should be taken against this insect, warns Dr. L. A. Stearns, Extension entomologist for the University of Delaware. The dog tick is the carrier of the dread Rocky Mountain spotted fever, and three cases of this disease have already been reported in Delaware this year.

The tick is carried by dogs, cats, rodents, foxes, wood chucks and other animals that roam in brush and wooded areas. It has been observed by entomologists of the University of Delaware in recent studies reported in Bulletin 252 that ticks are most numerous along the sides of roads and paths. Very few ticks are found more than 400 feet from the roadside. It is believed that the scent of dogs and other animals, and humans, too, draws ticks to the road. Another attraction during the spring may be the reflected heat of the bare surface of the road.

According to Dr. Stearns, this preference for roadsides makes it easier to control the tick by spraying. A large percentage of ticks in an area may be killed by spraying plants along roads and paths every few days during the height of the tick season. One effective treatment is a nicotine sulphate and soap spray, which is not injurious to plants. Another spray, which has a more lasting effect and doesn't need to be used so often, is an emulsion of DDT in soluble pine oil in water. Any water-miscible DDT preparation should also prove satisfactory. This new insecticide is not harmful to plants if used at the recommended rate of from 2 to 3 pounds of actual DDT per acre. Full particulars about these sprays and other methods of controlling dog ticks may be had from the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, in Newark.

Since the dog is the most important domestic host upon which the adult ticks feed, keep dogs away from infested areas as much as possible. Dr. Stearns advises examining dogs daily for ticks, removing the insects with tweezers or forceps. The dog may also be treated once every four days, with a derris dip, which is effective in preventing infestation. This is prepared by mixing two ounces of fine derris powder (three percent rotenone content), one ounce of soap and one gallon of tepid water. Apply by means of a brush or by putting the dog in a tub.

DELAWARE FARM FRONT THIS WEEK

Farm Group Sponsoring Crop Contest

The Delaware Crop Improvement Association announces that it is sponsoring for the first time a five acre barley yield contest that is open to any five acres of barley grown in the State.

State winner in the contest will be awarded a State Championship Silver Trophy and county winners will receive cash premiums and ribbons, reports Victor P. Kohl of Middletown, association president.

The five acre entry must be all in one field and of a reasonable shape, but it may be a part of a larger field. The yields will be determined according to a uniform sampling procedure by the Extension Agronomist of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

Entries in the contest should be sent to C. E. Phillips, extension agronomist and secretary, Delaware Crop Improvement Association, Newark, Delaware, prior to this season's harvest.

Entry blanks are available from the secretary and from county agricultural agents in Newark, Dover, and Georgetown.

Delaware Production and Marketing Administration officials report that the Dairy Production Payment Program rates from May 1 through June 30 will be 55 cents per 100 pounds for milk and 15 cents a pound for butterfat.

For the period, July 1 through September 30, the payment rates will be increased to 95 cents per hundred weight for milk and to 23 cents a pound for butterfat.

Under the Dairy Production Payments are made to Delaware farmers on the milk and butterfat they produce and sell. The program has operated since 1943 to offset increased dairy production costs and to encourage a continued high rate of milk production.

The Department of Entomology of the University of Delaware is operating fruit emergence cages at the University Farm, Newark, and on the farms of Herbert Richardson, near Magnolia; and O. A. Newton and Son, Bridgeville.

Codling moth bait traps are located in the orchards of W. L. Smith, Cheswold; F. H. Richardson, Rising Sun; O. A. Newton, Bridgeville; and Leslie Knapp, Nassau. Spraying experiments are being carried on in an apple planting at the farms of Frank Richardson, Rising Sun, and in a peach planting at J. E. Dutton, Seaford.

The emergence cages and bait traps aid in determining the type and time of application of insect control materials that should be applied through the fruit season.

Dr. L. A. Stearns, extension entomologist visits these orchards regularly each week to check insect emergence and activity. Orchardists who have insect-control problems and who wish assistance can quickly and conveniently contact the entomologist through the growers mentioned above or by getting in touch with their county agricultural agent.

The New Castle County Dairy Herd Improvement Association at their annual meeting recently voted to form two dairy herd testing circuits.

This action means that now approximately 1500 cows will be under test. Members of the association learned at their annual meeting that the average production of their cows last year was 8300 pounds of milk as compared to the state production average of about 4500 pounds. Their average butterfat production was 355 pounds compared to a 200 pound average for the state.

TO MAIL OPERATOR'S CARDS SOON

Permanent Licenses To Go To 20,000

Persons who have filed applications for permanent operator's licenses will receive those licenses just as soon as they are completed, stated George S. Williams, Motor Vehicle Commissioner. "Inquiries concerning these applications, or when the license will be mailed, will be no help in the matter," said Mr. Williams who added, "That the preparations of these permanent licenses require a certain amount of time and they cannot be handled as rapidly as other types of licenses."

Applications for more than 20,000 permanent licenses were received by the Department prior to May 1st and it is hoped to have all of these licenses prepared and sent to the applicants before the end of May, according to Mr. Williams.

"However," stated Mr. Williams, each applicant for a permanent operator's license was given an official receipt at the time the application was made and this receipt serves as a driver's license until such time as the permanent license is received by the applicant."

"The card bearing the permanent license is placed in a specially prepared case, since it is anticipated that it will be in use for a length of time and since such application first requires considerable research work and after approval must be placed through the process of being sealed in this case, it can be readily seen that some time must be consumed on each application."

Proclamation By Mayor Urges Poppy Day Support

A proclamation urging support of Poppy Day here was issued yesterday by Mayor C. C. Hubert as follows:

"Recognizing that victory for America in the World Wars was purchased at a frightful cost in lives and suffering, I deem it fitting that the citizens of our City should this year again honor the dead and aid the living by wearing the Memorial Poppy of the American Legion and Auxiliary as a 'badge of Patriotism.' All contributions made for the flowers are expended for the welfare of the living victims of both wars. Wearing the poppy performs the dual purpose of paying tribute to the dead and contributing to the welfare of the living.

"Now, therefore, I, C. C. Hubert, Mayor of the Town of Newark, do hereby proclaim Friday and Saturday, May 24th and 25th as 'Poppy Days.' I urge that all citizens of Newark observe these days by wearing the veteran-made poppy, and when purchasing a poppy be as generous as your means will permit in order that the women of the Auxiliary may continue their work of mercy and relief during the coming year."

TO EXPAND TELEPHONE FACILITIES HERE SOON

The Diamond State Telephone Company is spending more than $91,000 in Newark and vicinity in the next year to provide service for all of those now on the company's waiting list and to improve all service, it was announced today by Joseph M. Cherpak, manager of the company.

This expansion of local telephone facilities is part of the $5,500,000 State-wide post-war expansion program recently announced by Philip C. Staples, president of the company.

Included in the local program is an addition to the Newark central office building and the construction of a considerable amount of conduit, work on which is now progressing.

This conduit for new cable is being constructed along Main Street, between Chapel Street and Capitol Trail, with other sections to be built on Chapel Street between Main Street and Delaware Avenue and on Delaware Avenue between the central office and Chapel Street.

The project, with accompanying wire construction, will cost $63,000 and is expected to be finished late this year or early next year. It will serve the sections east and west of the central office.

The addition to the central office building, which will double the size of the present building will cost $10,000 and is expected to be finished in July. When it is completed, the company expects to install additional dial equipment there at a cost of $18,000. This new equipment will make it possible for the office to serve approximately 1,500 new subscribers. Installation is expected to be finished next January. In commenting on the present waiting list, Mr. Cherpak said more and more service is being provided as the expansion program progresses. However, he added, new applications for service continue to come in steadily.

"At the end of the war, there were 218 names on the waiting list in Newark," he said. "Since then there have been 133 new applications added. But we have removed 219 names from the list in the same period, so that the total is now only 132 names."

CANCER NEEDS TOLD

Stressing the need for continued public education and financial support of cancer research and care, officials of the cancer campaign, which is now entering its final stages, pointed out that diagnosed deaths from cancer in Delaware average one per day. Increased support for the medical cases in the state was required, it was said.

The two-fold purpose of the drive which seeks $40,800 from Delaware was declared today by Harry O. Gray, chairman of the business committee of the campaign, as being a vital part of the health program of every citizen. The funds for the educational program and medical assistance of cancer patients in the state will be realized from this campaign total, 60 per cent of which will remain in Delaware for this work.

SUGAR RATIONING TO EXTEND THRU 1946

Output To Jump Slightly, OPA Says

Many Delaware homemakers have been wondering if the supply of sugar will permit much home canning this summer. Here are the facts about the sugar situation, as reported by the Office of Price Administration.

The total supply of sugar is extremely short. World production during the 1945-46 season was 18 per cent less than before the war. At the same time, the total demand for sugar is great. Americans want and have the money to buy much more sugar than their sugar stamps will allow. The people of war-devastated areas are desperately in need of sugar and other food, and the world supply of sugar must be shared among all the nations.

The outlook on sugar supplies is not too cheerful. If the weather is good, world production of sugar in 1946-47 is expected to be somewhat larger than this year. However, recovery of sugar production in the Philippines, Java, and Europe will probably be slow. Because sugar is so short, it will still be rationed during the rest of 1946. It will be rationed to industrial users such as factories and soft drink makers, and to institutional user such as factories and restaurants. Less than one-fifth of one per cent of the total quantity is going to manufacturers of wine, beer, cordials, etc.

The OPA has some suggestions for home canners, to help in stretching the sugar supply. Keep Spare Stamp No. 9, which is good through October 31, until you really need the sugar for home canning. Use one pound of canning sugar for at least four quarts of fruit. Play fair, and don't buy sugar for canning without giving up the required stamps. Pay no more than the ceiling price on sugar and thus stop black marketing.

Later in the canning season, OPA will probably make another stamp good for canning sugar, but this second stamp is expected to be good for only up to five pounds. The current sugar stamp for regular home use became good on May 1, for five pounds, and must last the next four months.

UNIVERSITY FUND DRIVE

For Caen University

The University of Delaware has been asked by a national committee, headed by Dr. Horation Smith, of Columbia University, to participate in a campaign for funds to help restore the University of Caen Library, which was destroyed by shell fire and incendiary bombs during the Allied advance through Normandy. The local campaign is being conducted by the Modern Language Department, and though appeals are being made chiefly to students, faculty, administrative officers, and trustees of the university, it is hoped that many others also will wish to contribute.

Donations in any amount will be welcomed. They are requested by May 30, closing date of this local appeal. Checks should be made to the order of the American Library Association (Caen Fund). All contributions should be mailed to Professor Edwin C. Byam, University Hall (124), or handed to representatives appointed to collect in the University Dormitories and offices.

BAR NEW STUDENTS ENROLLING

Stop Civilian Applications At University

No more civilians will be enrolled at the University of Delaware for the term beginning next September, it was announced by authorities here recently, following disclosure that more than 900 persons have already applied for admission while facilities permit the accommodation of only 300 to 350.

Although special consideration is being given Delaware veterans, July 1 has been set as the deadline for applications from this group. Likewise, it was stressed that former students of the university will be given every opportunity to apply for readmission but no assurance of classroom space or housing can be assured if they do not act before Aug. 1.

The new restrictions on applications for the regular term apply only to undergraduates, it was pointed out, since there are other stipulations for those taking advanced work.

Rules regarding applications for admission to summer school also were set forth, establishing June 1 as the deadline.

What's your Insurance Question?

Insurance Question:

Why do today's driving conditions make adequate Automobile Insurance more necessary than ever?

Answer:

Everybody's taking advantage of peacetime conditions—driving more—in old cars, on recapped tires, over worn roads. It all adds up to greater danger of accident and costly damage suits. For safety's sake, drive carefully, and carry Hartford Automobile Liability and Property Damage Insurance.

Rev. William H. Hancel, Jr., rector of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory silk and satin stripe, one which has been worn by several brides of the family for the last two generations.

It was styled with fitted bodice laced down the front and short, full, puff sleeves. The skirt was plain with a full bustle-like back. Her veil was an heirloom of Brussels point lace, thought to have belonged to Empress Eugenie about 1860 and worn by many brides down to the present generation. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white sweet peas, carnations and gardenias.

Mrs. Harlan Herdman was matron of honor and wore a dress of gold brocade satin, gold hat with plumes, a velvet neckband and mitts. She carried lavender and purple sweet peas.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Douglas Ernest, Jr., and Mrs. William Kennard wore gowns of blue brocade satin and hats with blue plumes. Their bouquets were of pink and white sweet peas. They also wore matching neckbands and mitts.

Patricia Ernest was flower girl and was dressed in a long yellow tulle dress and carried a basket of sweet peas.

Mr. William Merritt, brother of the groom, was bestman and the ushers were Mr. Douglas Ernest, Jr., Mr. Anthony Hunsicker, Mr. Robert Kern and Mr. William Kennard.

Mrs. Ernest, mother of the bride, wore a gown of aqua crepe with matching hat of tulle with a pink and blue feather and a corsage of pale pink roses.

Mrs. Merritt, mother of the groom, wore a gown of powder blue and her corsage was of deep pink roses.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Newark Country Club.

Only comment heard this week worth publishing was that we should let someone else write this column once in a while. Now, ordinarily we wouldn't place much credence in anything this person said but on this particular occasion he hit the nail squarely on the head.

Nothing would please us better than to publish columns frequently by guest writers. So, if you have a grudge, complaint, criticism or personal axe to grind—here's your chance. But, keep it clean. Bud, keep it clean.

The only other stipulation we make for publication is that your contributions carry no malicious, personal or slighting intent or insinuation and that it not involve political or partisan situations.

So, you would-be Winchells, Dorothy Dixs, Westbrook Peglers and My-Day Roosevelts, here is your chance. Make it interesting, entertaining and witty if possible . . . and we don't mean half witty, either.

In the absolute absence of any idea or incentive and indulging our lack of mental stimulation this week we reproduce below a rather pertinent article we read once . . . It seems kinda expressive to us and just maybe its subtle realism will awaken in you a new appreciation of your weekly chironical. Anyway, here 'tis.

Your Newspaper Speaks

"I am your home newspaper!" When you arrived in this unfeeling world, a tiny fragment of squalling, red-faced humanity, I heralded your advent, proclaiming the pride of your parents and announcing the name you were destined to wear until you arrived at the age when your companions taking note of your predominant traits, conferred a nickname upon you that largely superseded your lawful moniker.

In due course, I chronicled the childhood misfortunes which overtook you: the whooping cough, the measles, the chickenpox, the removal of your tonsils, and the broken arm you sustained when you tried to ride Old Man Malkovisky's brindle cow — each brought your name before the public in items ranging in length from two lines in the local column to a half-column write-up with a top head on the front page.

When little Susie Goldsmith had her birthday party, I printed your name among those present. I followed your career through school; when you made the football team I told the unexcited world about it; and when you really helped to win a game I gave you a build-up that pleased all your friends and relatives and, if the truth be known, probably gave you a small attack of swellhead.

When you dragged that silly Logovitch girl out of the lake at the Sunday school picnic, after she had waded out beyond her depth, I promptly made a hero out of you and when you graduated from high school, I went on a regular spree of publicity for you and the others in your class; no doubt contributing no little to inflicting you all with a greatly enlarged opinion of your own importance.

I followed your comings and goings in college, and when you finally came home and wangled a job from the easy-going druggist down the street, I referred to you as "a promising young business man." When you married, I really had an eruption of adjectives and in my columns made that nice, homely simply dressed little girl you married, a glamorous beauty with a wardrobe that would make a princess envious, and that unostentatious marriage ceremony something to make the neighbors stare.

The arrival of the first of your own off-spring I chronicled too, with the usual shelf-worn jokes that everybody tells about a first-time father.

Thus the news cycle started all over again but when your child reached the age that you were when you went off to college, the world was ablaze with conflict and your son went away to war, and I told that, too, albeit with sadness and no little foreboding.

I followed his goings from camp to camp until he went overseas, and when the message came that he had been killed in the service of his country, it was my sad duty to tell that too, with all the sympathy that the futile things called words can express.

Yes; I am your home newspaper. Generations come and go and I record their lives as faithfully and sympathetically as I can. Today's news is tomorrow's history.

Someday, like all who have gone before, you too will be making that journey from which no traveler returns. When that time comes, your newspaper will be here to chronicle your going, just as it chronicled your coming. Drawing the mantle of charity and forbearance over your faults and foibles and remembering only the kind things that you have done in this life, the good traits that were yours. Thus will it write the final chapter of the book of your earthly sojourn.

I am your home newspaper—your neighbor and companion. No better and no worse than those whose lives I mirror from the cradle to the grave—Orin L. Browning in the Horton (Kan.) Headlight.

At first blush a half-buck seems a lot to pay for a shave but did you ever stop to consider how long it takes to get shaved—then figure the hourly rate at current price levels and you should agree that barbers aren't getting rich, very fast.

13 RICH STAKES TO BE RUN DURING 30-DAY MEETING AT DEL. PARK OPENING MAY 29

Colorful List Of Events Planned Headed By Trio Of $25,000-Added Numbers; The $7500 Wilmington Cap To Be The Opening Day Attraction

The 13 richly-endowed stakes to be raced at Delaware Park May 29 to July 4 have been aptly named in that they honor points of interest in the State of Delaware.

The $7,500 opening day attraction is named after Wilmington, leading metropolis of Delaware, whose city limits are a scant seven miles away. This event, a six furlong dash for three-year-olds and upwards, ushers in a stake campaign that will find $165,000-added going out in purses. All told the horsemen will have approximately $800,000 to race for, a distribution that sets a new standard for the 30-day session.

HENS MEET JAYS HERE SATURDAY

Drexel Snaps Delaware's 5 Game Streak

A return engagement with Johns Hopkins faces the Blue Hen nine on the Frazer Field here this Saturday afternoon followed by a meeting with Franklin and Marshall next Wednesday afternoon also before the home fans.

In the Drexel match last Saturday afternoon, a last minute Dragon rally snapped the Hens' five game winning streak and gave Drexel its second victory of the season over Coach Martin's men before the home fans.

Boasting a 4-2 lead going into the last frame, the Hens saw the scales suddenly tip in reverse as Drexel whipped across five runs on a scant three hits, assisted by three walks and a balk.

The Hens took the lead in the second inning, lost step momentarily in the sixth, when Drexel forged ahead on two runs, then surged back with three tallies for their 4-2 lead in the eighth. The runs were tabbed when Griffith walked, then waltzed home as Carter, the Dragon hurler, threw wild to first in an attempt to hold him. Next, Bill Cole singled, and Bill Shirk cleaned things up with a right field homer. It all went for naught, though, when Drexel finally took command in the ninth.

Against Haverford last Wednesday, the Blue Hens handed out a 14-3 drubbing as they bombarded two enemy pitchers for 13 hits. They opened with four runs and were never headed, four runs and were never headed.

MANY VETS IN CAST OF LATEST E-52 DRAMA HERE

Take Lead
In Comedy
To Be Given
On May 23-24

A majority of the male members of the cast of "The Philadelphia Story" are veterans of World War II, according to an announcement made today by Dr. C. R. Kase, Director of Dramatics at the university. All have leading roles in the smart comedy by Philip Barry which the E-52 Players will present next week for two performances on May 23 and 24.

John H. Hitchens and Richard Clark, playing the roles of Seth Lord and C. K. Dexter Haven, respectively, will make their first appearance on the Mitchell Hall stage. Layton Mabrey and Norman Bunin, as Uncle Willie and Mike Connor, are both former members of the Players. Prior to the war they had leading roles in "The Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Eve of St. Mark." Layton Mabrey, who has been enrolled at the university since last November, has been most active this season in the dramatic productions, having designed the sets for all the plays this year, including the current production, and having played leading roles in "The Christmas Carol" and "The Skin of Our Teeth."

Another veteran who plans to return to school the next term, Zedek Pool, of Wilmington, is acting as understudy for all the principal male roles. He also is a former member of the Players.

"The Philadelphia Story" is arousing considerable interest particularly among those who have been anxious for some time to see the Players do a modern comedy of polite society. This smart, gossipy, wisecracking play about Tracy Lord and her Main Line Philadelphia society family, is among the best of its kind.

Reservations for seats at either of the two performances may be made at the box office in Mitchell Hall, which is open daily except Saturday and Sunday, from 3 to 5, and from 7 to 8 p. m. Telephone reservations may be made by calling Newark 511 during hours box office is open. The evening number is 8001.

SUMMER SESSION OUTLINED

2 Separate
Semesters

Dr. W. Earl Armstrong, Dean of the School of Education at the University of Delaware and Director of the Summer Session, announced today that the annual Summer Session Bulletin is now in the process of distribution.

Two separate semesters of work will be offered this year, the first from June 24-August 2, the other from August 5-September 7.

Students now enrolled at the University of Delaware will have an opportunity to register for one or both sessions on May 20-24. Registration for students not now enrolled will be held on campus on June 24th, the day before classes begin for the first semester.

Those students who wish to enroll for only the second term need not register formally until August 5, but any student who plans to attend either session and who will not register in May should write to the Director of the Summer Session, announcing his desire to enter and further stating whether or not he wishes to reserve a room on campus.

Dr. Armstrong announced that high school graduates who have not yet had college training will be ineligible for the summer session this year. This restriction has been necessitated by the excessive post-war registration at the college.

He further announced that qualified veterans who have not yet entered the University of Delaware under the GI Bill of Rights, but who wish to enroll for the Summer Session, should ascertain that their certificate of eligibility and entitlement is filed with the Director of Summer Session prior to registration, so that there will be no question as to their compensation from the Veterans' Administration for such registration.

JUNIOR RED CROSS MEET ON SATURDAY

First State
Wide Parley
At University

For the first time in its history, the Junior Red Cross of Delaware will hold an all day state-wide meeting, it was announced recently by Mrs. Joseph Handler, chairman of the Junior unit of the Delaware Chapter. The affair will be held on Saturday, May 18, at the University of Delaware and representatives from all schools in the state will attend.

Two speakers will address the morning session which will be held in Mitchell Hall, while the afternoon session will be devoted to a pageant dedicated to the National Children's Fund of the Junior Red Cross.

The principal speakers will be Dr. Edward A. Richards, acting national director of the American Junior Red Cross, Washington, D. C., and Joseph L. Graham, assistant director of the Junior Red Cross for the North Atlantic Area.

In addition to the addresses, there will be a forum discussion led by members of the Junior Red Cross. The members will discuss the Famine Emergency Relief program and the international aspects, the national scope and the local projects of the Junior Red Cross. Mrs. Handler will preside.

Luncheon will be served picnic style to all who attend by members of the Canteen Corps of the Delaware Chapter who will take the mobile canteen to the university grounds.

The script for the pageant to be presented in the afternoon is being prepared by Mrs. R. Blair Myers, executive director of the Delaware Chapter. Narrator for the pageant will be J. Gorman Walsh, manager of Station WDEL.

Schools which will participate and the scenes which they will enact are as follows: Alexis I. duPont School, American; Wilmington High School, Polish; Warner Junior High, Swedish; Bayard Junior High, Italian; Newark Special School District Schools, English; Ursuline Academy, a French dance and an Irish song; Warner School, Lithuanian; and Bancroft School, Ukrainian. The Howard High School Chorus will sing.

While the festival is dedicated to the International Children's Fund, it will be based on the theme of promoting world peace through international understanding which is one of the major obligations of the Junior Red Cross.

Teachers who are working on the special committee for the affair are: Miss Amelia Kozinski, Warner School; Mrs. Etta A. Woodlen, Howard School; Mrs. Rebecca Guidice, Bancroft; Miss Margaret Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Grace S. Gibbs, Newark Special District; Mrs. Edith Warner, Bayard; Miss Mary McCloskey, Wilmington High; Vincent Reilly, Alexis I. duPont; Mother Aloysius and Miss Virginia Bohem, Ursuline Academy.

Mrs. Milton L. Draper is assisting with arrangements at the University of Delaware. Mrs. Allan Ferver is director of Junior Red Cross for the Delaware Chapter. The entire affair has been worked out under the direction of Dr. Fred Bruber of the department of cultural olympics, University of Pennsylvania.

Members of the staff of the University of Delaware who are assisting are William H. Bohning and Miss Beatrice Hartshorn. The University will leave up all the grandstands which have been erected for May Day, and will erect a large platform for the presentation of the festival.

Lammot duPont, Jr., chairman of the Delaware Chapter, recently expressed the gratitude of the chapter to university officials for their cooperation in the meeting. Mr. duPont said, "One of the greatest encouragements that we have received in this project has been the support and interest of the university officials. We are most grateful to them."
