DELAWARE PRACTICING HARD FOR P. M. C.

Coach McAvoy Drilling "Blue and Gold" Men Hard At Start

Coach McAvoy is rapidly rounding the "Blue and Gold" football warriors into shape for the initial game of the 1916 season. This game will be played at Chester on Saturday against the P. M. C. eleven.

Coach McAvoy has been up against a stiff proposition this year's team as a nucleus around which to form his new combination. Captain Fidance, Ernie Wilson, and Weldin are the only men left from last year's star team. Fitzpatrick, who played a star game at end last year is not available for the team because of a lame shoulder, the result of an automobile accident he received last summer. This means that "Coach" will have to depend almost entirely upon the Scrubs of last year and the Freshman class to build up a new eleven. Of last year's scrubs, Meyers, Marston, Loose, Gilman, Lauritsen, and "Chet" Smith seem to have first call. In signal drills held thus far, Meyers and Marston have held down the end positions on the Varsity. Whether these men will retain their jobs for the season will be decided when scrimmages begin. "Chet" Smith, Lauritsen, and Gilman have been practicing with the scrubs, thus far but all of these men are certain of a tryout on the varsity. These men have had two years' experience and this will be a strong factor in their favor when Coach McAvoy picks his men for the first game.

The Freshman class has some very promising material in Ashenbach, Carter, McCorkindale, Hirshman, Clancy, Selby, and Roach. In addition to these men there are several others out for the squad who may prove to be "dark horses" later on.

During the signal practices held this week, Coach has been trying out Ashenbach at full, Carter and Hirshman at guard, and Clancy, Selby and Roach in the backfield on the Varsity. From the form displayed in these drills, all should have a very good chance to make the team. "Bill" Stewart has been taking care of the center position in these preliminary tryouts and seems to have first call over McCorkindale, a likely looking Freshman.

With Stewart center, Carter and Hirshman guards, Wilson and Weldin tackles, Marston and Meyers ends, Coach seems to have a pretty formidable line. On the secondary defense, Fidance at quarter, Selby and Clancy at halves and Ashenbach at full appears to form a light but fast backfield. This is the probable line-up of the Varsity in their first scrimmage.

Giles, Loose, Cantwell, M. Plam, L. Plam, Bernardo, Holton, Williams, Stevens, Mackey, Chambers, Marshall, Gordy, Goggin, H. Alexander and Marconetti are the remaining men who are striving to gain a berth on the squad. Any let-up by the members of the Varsity will mean that some of these men will jump right into their places.

Everyone realizes the handicap under which Coach McAvoy is laboring to produce a winning team for "Old Delaware" this year and it is the duty of every "Delaware" man to get to work and "do something" to see that "Delaware" does have a football team this year, of which not only the present student body will feel proud, but every alumnus and friend of the college. All of us have not the ability to go out and make the team and it is probably to us that will come the question, "How can I help?" There is but one way. "Get the spirit!" Put your life, your thoughts, your mind on football. Talk it, think it, dream it, and last of all "Root" for it. All of us can talk, all of us can yell, but we are all going to do more than that. We are going out on Frazer Field every afternoon this week and "Root" for "Old Delaware" with all the "Pep" we can wring out of these old dried up lungs of ours.

Get the Spirit, Fellows!

Committee On Fraternities Makes Favorable Report

The following is the report made to the board of trustees by the committee on fraternities: To the Trustees of Delaware College:

The Committee, consisting of President Mitchell, Joseph H. Hosinger, H. Rodney Sharp, and Chancellor Charles M. Curtis, on behalf of the Trustees to consider fraternities at Delaware College, was appointed under the following resolution of the Board of Trustees:

"Resolved, That a Committee be appointed by the President of the Board consisting of three (3) members who will confer with representatives of the faculty, the existing fraternity organizations and the Alumni Association concerning the policy to be pursued respecting the fraternities, and make a report of recommendation, whether they should be encouraged or discouraged, abolished or not, whether they should be regulated and how, whether they should be permitted to build on or use College property, whether membership should be restricted to certain College classes, whether their houses should be used as dormitories or refectories by undergraduates, and any other pertinent matter in order that a wise course may be settled upon and adopted at this period of development of the institution."

By the invitation of the Committee Dr. George A. Harter and Prof. C. A. McCue, of the Faculty, and Hugh M. Morris and Charles W. Bush, of the Alumni, have acted with the Committee. To obtain the views of persons interested a conference was had on November 6, 1915, at the College, at which several members of the Faculty and representatives of each of the four fraternities were present, including graduate and undergraduate members thereof. At the outset it was made clear that the inquiry was not an attack on or an investigation of the fraternities based on criticism or irregularities, but was an effort to determine on a wise policy for the future in view of the new developments creating new conditions.

The first fraternity was established at the College in 1904, and there are now four fraternities at the College; Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Omega Alpha, the first three being chapters of a National fraternity and the last named a purely local one, without such affiliations. All of them admit to active membership undergraduates of all classes and all but the Sigma Phi Epsilon own their own houses, partly paid for. One had a membership of twenty, another thirty, another thirty-one, and another thirty-six, making an aggregate of one hundred and seventeen. At each the members lodge and board at their respective houses. Each has one or more members of the Faculty as associate members and some have as members those who are trustees of the College. There is an interfraternity council consisting of representatives of the

BIG SMOKER FRIDAY EVENING

Friday night at 7.30 a "Smoker" is to be held in the gymnasium to stir up a little of the old "pep." It is the duty of every Delaware man to be present. Smokes will be passed around to every one. Several speakers have been engaged for the occasion. Between speeches the band will furnish music. "Don" Horsey will lead the cheering; for it is absolutely necessary that the new men learn the yells and the Alma Mater.

Some years ago it was found necessary to compel under classmen to attend smokers. Last year everybody turned out without any such measures being taken; so why can't we do the same thing this year?

Saturday our football team plays the Pennsylvania Military College team at Chester. This is one of the games we are anxious to win. Last year P. M. C. lost two games to us. The victories, however, are about evenly divided. Let's have a little "pep" fellows! Boost the team; and let the team know you are boosting it. Come to the "smokers." You'll enjoy them. You'll probably hear several old football players speak, and you may hear something about the class of '96. It is worth a lot of trouble to attend a football smoker.

There is a movement on foot among the students to get permission for the student body to attend the game at Chester Saturday. Last year the whole student body turned out. The battalion was formed in column at the railroad station and marched through Chester to the college. The game was hard fought and the "pep" in the grandstand did not subside for a second.

"DANDY DICK"

To Be Given By "Ag" Club

The Agricultural Club is again working on the play "Dandy Dick," which was postponed from last spring and which will be given shortly before Thanksgiving.

"Dandy Dick" is one of A. W. Pinero's best comedies and is to be given under the direction of Mrs. Herman R. Tyson, whose previous plays have been so remarkably successful.

Considerable interest has already been shown in this play, and since college reopened, frequent inquiries concerning the progress which is being made on the play, and the date at which it is to be given have been made of officers of the Agricultural Club.

New Director For Band

By a recent action of the faculty, Mr. Harry E. Stausebach becomes director of the Delaware College band for the next collegiate year. Mr. Stausebach is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music of Philadelphia, and is one of the best known directors in Wilmington. Under his capable leadership the band should become one of the most active organizations of the college. Mr. Stausebach, whose term of service starts on Monday, will take a personal interest in all student activities that require the service of the band. He will also give music lessons on the trombone or violin, on Monday afternoons before or after drill, to such students as may desire instruction on those instruments.

A Republican Club

A letter has been received by Dean E. L. Smith from Mr. Alfred E. Lunt, president of the National Republican College League, in regard to the formation of a Republican Club at Delaware. This club shall be a part of the National Republican College League. The object of the club is to open a channel for a legitimate expression of the political interest at Delaware in favor of the Republican ticket. The national league was formed because the issues of this campaign command the deepest attention of college men and women. Mr. Lunt urges that some influential and active Republican student form this club and conduct an active campaign.

Student Council Holds First Meeting

Last week the Student Council held its first meeting. This body was created last year and is composed of three Seniors, two Juniors, and the presidents of the lower classes.

Many important matters were brought up for discussion. The Council decided on the style and colors of the Freshmen caps. The color of the caps is to be maroon with a dark green button and visor. Instead of having a different cap every year for the Freshmen the Council decided to make this style the standard cap.

A committee was appointed to draw up the Freshman rules and as soon as it reports printed copies of the rules will be distributed among the new class.

Another matter on which the Council took action was in regard to a Varsity hat. For several years past there has been no hat of this kind and as there seemed to be no reason why the old custom should not be revived Council legislated that a varsity hat could be worn. However, they did not settle upon the style and color of the hat as they desire to receive suggestions upon the make-up of the hat from the students. The members of the Council will receive any suggestions up to Thursday noon. It is to be understood that this hat will only be worn by "D" men.

The Council also desires that the students shall see that our custom of saluting is more strictly observed. Everyone seems to have lost sight of the fact that all students are supposed to salute members of the Faculty, that under classmen are to salute upper classmen, and the latter are to return the salutes of the former.

A "Smoker" is to be arranged for Friday night and every student is expected to be present.

"Ag" Club Meeting

Everybody out tonight for the business meeting of the Agricultural Club. We hope to see all the Freshman Aggies at this initial gathering. Our aim is to supplement the classroom work by discussing the problems and possibilities of modern scientific agriculture.

Room 2—Recitation Hall, 7 p. m.

Athenaeon Meeting Tonight

A meeting of the Athenaeon Literary Society has been called for tonight at 7 o'clock in the front room, second story, of Purcell Hall. The meeting is called by vice-president Terry Mitchell, President Bramhall being absent, for the election of officers and deciding upon a meeting night. It seems likely that there will be several intercollegiate debates this year and all members should attend the meeting tonight in order to get the year started right. All out Tuesday at 7 p. m.

Death Of Miss Springer

Miss Anna Rankin Springer, daughter of the late James and Sarah Springer, died at her home West Main street, Sunday, September 24th, after a lingering illness.

Miss Springer, with her parents, came to Newark in her early girlhood, since which time she has figured prominently in the social life of Newark. An alumna of Newark Academy and Delaware College, she has kept in touch with the progress of these institutions until compelled by failing health two years ago to resign such duties, she has been conspicuous in local church and club work.

Senior Class Election

Monday afternoon the Senior class held an election for Faculty class advisor and Athletic Council Representative. Dean E. L. Smith was elected class advisor, and R. H. Pepper representative to Athletic Council.

Tom Wilson

Tom Wilson was with us last year at this time playing guard on our crack football team. This year, altho not with us in the flesh, Tom is present in spirit. He lies in his room in the Delaware Hospital dreaming of the time when he will be able to finish his course at Delaware College. As we all know, he has been making a game fight and is gradually recovering. But in order to keep up his valorous courage each Delaware man should feel it his own duty to pay him a visit. Tom is interested in the college and he is overjoyed to hear about the activities taking place here.

When a man is so interested in his Alma Mater there should be many reasons why he should be told concerning happenings at "Old Delaware." Tom Wilson is a man who could well be taken as an ideal in the expression of loyalty. He wants to be back among us as soon as he can. Now, while he is gradually recovering, it is our obvious duty to cheer him up. Undoubtedly, it is a pleasure to talk to Tom and realize how much spirit he retains for our college. Therefore, make it your business to call on your old college friend and worker—Thomas R. Wilson, Jr.

New Aspect of Military Training at Delaware

Lieutenant Hoey's short address to the battalion on the occasion of its organization last week carried with it great significance. From one point of view it placed military training at Delaware College on an entirely new basis. There is no refuting the fact that in the last few years the battalion has made a most creditable showing. The reports sent to governmental headquarters the past three years have shown our small military unit efficiently trained. But at the same time, it cannot be denied that general disregard of several things which go to form an excellent soldiery has kept our battalion from being what it should have been. Heretofore, the students have not, generally speaking, paid very much attention to their appearance while in uniform. Then again proper order has not been maintained nor have the officers at all times received due respect from the men under them. Such a laxity of discipline robs the men of much of the good that is to be had from strict military training.

In the future, we take it, these conditions are to be remedied. Lieutenant Hoey in a clear, concise statement gave the battalion to understand that it exists for a purpose; that it is his intention that that purpose shall be fulfilled; that it is every man's duty to take his military obligations as seriously as he does any other course that he has. If all do so regard it this will be a banner year in the "ranks."

four fraternities. The use of intoxicating liquors in the houses is forbidden by all of the fraternities.

From the views expressed at the conference it was reasonably clear that the representatives of the fraternities favored a continuance of them, pointing out that they furnished a home life, promoted active helpfulness and respect for property, and claiming that they did not discourage college spirit or create exclusive cliques. It did not seem to them that any regulations of the fraternities were needed, but there was no disposition to object to such reasonable rules as the Trustees should make. Naturally there were differences of opinion as to building fraternity houses on the College property. It is quite generally conceded that Freshmen should not be taken in or even chosen as members for a considerable time after the first term began, some fixing the time as after Thanksgiving Day, but more fixed the end of the first term. It was urged by some that the Freshmen needed help at the outset and favored electing them at once. There was a unanimity in favor of a general commons, or dining hall, as against boarding in fraternities, and an equal unanimity in favor of allowing members to lodge in their houses.

The Faculty members found the fraternities helped the scholarship of its members, discouraged rowdiness and did not lessen college spirit, and this was the testimony of those teachers who have been at the college for several years before the fraternities came. From these and other sources of information it was found to be true that the four (4) organizations have supplied a real need in years past when there was no dormitory and no common refectory large enough to feed all students. Also that in general they have been well managed, the members have behaved with propriety, and in an orderly manner, unobjectionable to their neighbors.

In order to get broader views of the large subject of college fraternities and the benefit of the experience of other colleges, letters were addressed to the President of about thirty colleges, stating the conditions here. The answers were valuable and varied from full condemnation to complete approval.

After considering the particular problems as to fraternities at Delaware College, the Committee state some conclusions and recommendations. The conclusions of the Committee are these:

1. So long as they are orderly, wisely managed and conducted, and do not become extravagant, or discourage study, or foment discord, or attempt to control or unduly influence elections, or otherwise dominate the undergraduate activities, the fraternities may be continued; but when these features, or any of them exist, then a fraternity is a detriment and has become intolerable.

2. It is highly desirable that fraternities should be affiliated with approved general national or intercollegiate organizations, because of the helpful interest, oversight and regulation of the larger bodies.

3. A fraternity is an excellent medium of communication between the Faculty and students, between teacher and pupil, and at Delaware College, as elsewhere, the delinquencies of a student may be and are corrected by the members of his fraternity upon a notice of the delinquency given by the professor or officer to the fraternity.

The recommendations of the Committee are these:

- (1) The fraternities should not be abolished.
- (2) All fraternities now exist-

W. C. D. NOTES

Wedding Bells At W. C. D.

The first party of the new term at the Women's College, was, on the whole, a great success. All members of the stronger sex were barred from the festivities, but their absence did not detract from universal enjoyment of the occasion.

The evening opening with a mock wedding. Miss Elizabeth Kelley, a freshman, took the bride's part exceedingly well. Her gown was of white voile and a flowing maline veil, decked with sprigs of parsley covered her chestnut locks. Miss Helen Bancroft, the groom, was resplendent in conventional evening attire.

Miss Helen Bishop, the tallest girl in the freshman class, deserves much praise for her interpretation of a flower-girl's duties. Clad in an abbreviated white frock, with her pink-ribboned hair in curls, she scattered all that was left of the parsley (Miss Churchman's garden was denuded for the occasion) before the bridal pair.

Miss Alice Roof, the little widowed mother of the bride, was clad in deepest mourning. Her sobs convulsed the spectators as well as herself.

Reverend Elizabeth Dawson conducted the ceremonies with great eclat, after which the freshman choir burst into melodious (?) strains, as the groom stood on tip-toe to kiss his spouse.

The rest of the evening was spent in games, in which the freshmen played the principal part, delighting the upper classmen with their gambols as they pushed pennies across the floor with their innocent noses, and in other ways contributed to the hilarity of the occasion.

At ten o'clock, ice cream cones were served and at 10.30 the party broke up. Everyone had enjoyed herself immensely, and many anticipations of another party in the near future were expressed.

The Sophomores held a class meeting Tuesday, September 26, and the following officers were elected:

President, Madge Nickerson; vice-president, Anna Scott; secretary, Mary Jane Mason; treasurer, Mildred Redgrove.

After wise and solemn deliberation and much exertion of their abundance of grey matter, the Sublime Sophomores have adopted the following rules for the intellectual and social advancement of the verdant freshmen:

Rules for Freshmen

1. Freshmen must wear no high nor prep school insignia.
2. Freshmen must present her coiffures with no pendant locks nor superfluous bows.
3. No gaudy hosiery may be worn by Freshmen.
4. No rivalry of nature's bloom of youth will be tolerated.
5. Freshmen must not remain seated while Faculty and upper classmen stand.
6. Freshmen must permit their superiors to precede them thru doors, gates, and sundry and miscellaneous portals.
7. Freshmen must not use the main entrance of Warner Hall.
8. Freshmen must carry chairs up from the dining room and arrange them properly whenever requested by an upper classman.
9. Freshmen must be on "Hall Duty" promptly and steadily.

Freshmen must comply willingly with any reasonable request of a superior.

Note: Scrupulously observe and obey these mandates or wither and dry up in the devouring wrath of

The Sublime Sophomores

LOCALS

Of the eight teams that Delaware meets on the gridiron this fall, five have games scheduled with our former rivals, Washington College. A good idea of the relative strength of the two may be had by comparing their scores in these games with Delaware's victories over the same teams.

Levy has graduated into the capitalist class since he has been riding about in his "machine."

Prof. Short treated some of his classes to quite a jolt when he started to mark the roll with a fountain pen. However, two days later he reverted to his pencil stub and things seem more natural.

It was almost like meeting an old friend when we walked into the shop and beheld the same old roller towel that served all last year still hanging in its accustomed place. But on closer examination we discovered that the roller had disintegrated, and the towel was standing by virtue of its own strength. As Teddy Roosevelt says, "It's time for a change."

No, Clarence, all the nerve is not possessed by the Freshmen. For example, Plumley walked up to Coach McAvoy and told him to see to it that some water was put in the pool, as he, (Plumley) needed a bath occasionally.

Wheeler has applied to the War Department for a new consignment of rifles, having sold to the Freshmen all those in the Armory.

(Overheard in Math)

Prof. Rawlins—"Mr. Bernardo, kindly remove your feet from the window-sill. I should like to look outside."

Someone said that McCaghey was included in the rolling stock of the B. & O.

VICTORY SONG

(To the tune of "Tipperary")

Down the field you see them marching,

Down the field our boys go.

Now our line is staunchly holding

In the face of the foe.

Onward, Old Delaware;

Charge on warriors bold!

Right over the line we are charging

Touchdown!—Blue and Gold!!

Band To Receive Professional Instruction

One of the strongest contributors of real Delaware College enthusiasm is our military band. In the past, it has been, so to speak, a strictly original organization, having been composed of, led and instructed by, none other than college men. Last year the band was under the leadership of Mr. E. William Martin, whose efforts and success were certainly creditable. As Mr. Martin graduated last June, Mr. Robert Sumwalt has been elected as his successor.

But this year we are going a step farther. Mr. Harry Stauebach, who has quite a reputation in the musical circles about Wilmington, has been hired to come down once a week and give instructions to the band. There is little doubt but that he will develop it into a fine musical organization. The band is at the present time, getting into shape for some concerts to be given at future dates. It will also be on hand at all football games and smokers.

Result Of Recent Elections

Numerous elections were held last week to choose representatives in the Athletic Council with the following results: Robt. H. Pepper '17 to succeed "Tom" Wilson '17 in his absence; "Ernie" Wilson '18; William Stewart '19. The Freshmen elected F. Bayard Carter, president; Harry Green, vice-president; John Anderson, secretary; and J. W. Olcott, treasurer.

The Engineers' Society

Tonight, Tuesday, October 3, the first meeting for the year of the Engineers' Society will be held in Room 2, Recitation Hall. This society is the most important factor in the education of engineers at Delaware outside actual class work. Meetings are held every two weeks for the discussion of engineering problems and the promotion of the fraternal spirit among the engineering students. From time to time practicing engineers come to give us talks about their work; and in these talks they bring out many little but important points that no amount of theoretical class room work would divulge. Last year Harry Maier, class of 1901, Chief Engineer of the Street and Sewer Department of Wilmington, gave us an excellent talk on the selection of sand for paving. He even took the trouble to bring with him a large number of charts and samples to illustrate his talk. Such talks as these will be given all thru the coming year, and all engineers should be on the look out for them. Come out tonight and start the year off with a swing that will carry us on to the greatest year we have ever had. All students and members of the faculty in engineering courses are heartily urged to attend open meetings. The meeting tonight is open and we shall look for you there.

ing, or hereafter organized, shall in general be subject to regulation, discipline and control by the Trustees; and each of the existing fraternities shall before October 1, 1916, by corporate action acknowledge and so permanently accept as a condition of the further continuance thereof such regulations as are now or hereafter may be ordained. Any new fraternities shall be required to give such pledge.

(33) The regulations suggested by the Committee are these:

(a) Each fraternity shall at the opening of each scholastic year report to the President of the College the name of a member of the fraternity to receive official communications on its behalf.

(b) Each fraternity shall furnish to the President of the College the entire list of members of the Chapter.

(c) After September 1, 1918, no student ranking as freshman, or in the first year of a special course, shall be initiated until after the results of the mid-year examinations are known.

(d) No student shall be initiated who at the end of the mid-year examinations has entrance conditions in more than one subject, or other conditions amounting to six credit hours or more.

(e) Freshmen will not be permitted to lodge in a fraternity chapter house if college dormitory accommodations are provided.

(f) No fraternities shall be permitted to furnish table board to their members in the chapter house when a College commons, or dining hall, is provided.

(g) A committee on fraternities shall be appointed annually by the President, consisting of five members of the Faculty, and all matters relating to fraternities shall be referred to this committee. It shall also be the duty of the Committee to have an oversight on the management and conduct of the fraternities, and their members, and to report to the President or Faculty any matters requiring advice, discipline or regulation.

(h) After September 1, 1918, each fraternity shall be affiliated with a general intercollegiate or national organization, approved by the Faculty, and any existing fraternity which does not become so affiliated within seven years after the adoption of this regulation, any new fraternity which does not become so affiliated within seven years after the organization thereof, shall cease to exist.

(4) Fraternities may occupy College property for the erection of chapter houses under such regulations and conditions as to location, style or architecture and cost as may be made by general rule or special order by the Trustees.

It is quite clearly the sense of the Committee that the fraternities here may be, or become, what is expected of them, and that such should be expected of them in order that they justify their existence in a small college supported by the state. The lasting value of college life is the development of character and the spirit or genius which pervades the institution is the determining influence on character. Therefore the standards of community life and of intercourse and of relations of each to all the members of a college should be the highest and under wise guidance they may be as high at Delaware College at anywhere else.

Geo. A. Harter,
C. A. McCue,
Samuel C. Mitchell,

Hugh M. Morris,
Charles W. Bush, Alumni.

The report, as to personnel, purpose, and result, is self explanatory. It may be added, however, that several members of the Committee entered upon the investigation with minds partly made up against the fraternities. Through the loyal support of the active members and alumni of the different fraternities and through the hearty backing of the faculty members and those members of board of trustees who live near the fraternity houses, those whose view was formerly prejudiced against these organizations was turned to their approval and support.

The supervising committee of the faculty mentioned in the report has already been appointed by President Mitchell and consists of the same men who as faculty members of the fraternities have heretofore acted individually as their advisors. Thus there is little more supervision on the part of the board of trustees than heretofore. And these few rules which have been laid down will tend to give the fraternities a more choice group of men.
