VOLUME XX

NEWARK, DELAWARE, THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1930

NUMBER 52

NEWARK HIGH SCHOOL IS ON HONOR LIST

Is Among Schools That Have Been Accredited For 1930

AID TO GRADUATES

The Newark High School is included among 534 public and private secondary schools which have been accredited for 1930 by the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland, according to announcement this week by Dr. E. Duncan Grizzell, chairman of the commission.

The commission, which has offices at the University of Pennsylvania, serves as a fact-finding and rating agency in the preparation and maintenance of a list of accredited secondary schools within its territory, and also as a clearing house for information of a professional character concerning these schools.

All secondary schools in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, and the Panama Canal Zone are privileged to apply for inclusion on the commission's accredited list which is compiled annually, but failure to be included on the list does not necessarily imply inefficiency on the part of a school, according to Dr. Grizzell.

Approval essential to membership on the accredited list is based fundamentally on the efficiency of the school's preparation for college work, among the most important factors considered being membership on a list approved by a state department of education, membership in good standing on the accredited list of several colleges and universities, the records of the school in various examinations and tests, and the success of its graduates in college.

Thus, secondary schools not appearing on the list may be doing equally as satisfactory work as those listed, but may be excluded solely because they do not prepare well, or, at all, for college entrance. In some instances the failure of the schools to apply for places on the list is responsible for their omission, Dr. Grizzell pointed out.

INCOME TAX BLANKS READY

Will Be Mailed To Delaware Taxpayers Within Two Weeks

State income tax blanks for reporting income for 1929 have recently been made available for distribution to taxpayers of this State. The addressing of the blanks to all persons whose names are listed on the records of the tax department has been begun and will be mailed within the next two weeks.

Persons who failed to file a return for 1929 will find enclosed a special notice cautioning them to file or set forth the reason for not filing for the previous year.

Two forms are employed in filing individual returns of income for 1929. For those persons whose income consists only of salaries, wages, dividends and interest and whose deductions are covered by items of interest paid, taxes paid and contributions may use the short form, No. 201, more conveniently. Persons who have incomes derived from sources of rentals, profits from sales of property including stocks and bonds are those who engaged in professional work or operating business of their own are required to use form No. 200, the larger and more complete form on which to report income.

In addition to these forms which contain only slight changes to agree with the new law, a supplemental form for reporting capital gains and capital losses where the space provided on form No. 200 is not ample, has been devised and may be had upon request of the State Tax Department by those needing it.

LOCAL BOY WON A CORN PRIZE

Newark High School Student Given Award at Dover Exhibit

Winning a State Championship with a ten-ear sample of yellow corn with only one year's previous experience as an exhibitor of corn at the State show does not often happen to every corn grower or exhibitor, as it did to J. Oliver Koelig, Jr., an 18-year-old student in the Newark High School. But this is what young Koelig did at the Annual Show of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association held last week in Dover. Besides this honor his sample won first place in the amateur ten-ear yellow class and second in the Inter-State class. A ten-ear sample of white cap and a single ear of white corn belonging to the same exhibitor placed second and sixth in their respective classes.

Other New Castle County winners in the open classes at the show were: Fred A. Trimble, Hockessin; Ralph C. Trimble, Hockessin; Frank Ed. Hitchens, Hockessin; George Ely, Greenville; Wallace Cook, Newark; Frank Mayer, Newark; Vincent Mayer, Newark, and A. F. Davidson, New Castle.

More than 200 exhibits of corn, small grains and forage were exhibited at the show, making this the largest exhibit ever held by the association. The show was held by the association of which Denny B. Pleasanton of Dover, was president, and George L. Schuster of Newark, secretary-treasurer for the past year.

At the annual meeting held Friday afternoon, A. M. Tarr of Seaford was elected president for 1930. A. F. Davidson of New Castle was chosen vice-president for the upper county, and Professor Schuster was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Other important events during the show were the visit by Governor C. Douglass Buck on Thursday, the Agricultural High School and 4-H Club corn judging contest on Friday.

FARM STUDENTS ARE ORGANIZED

Delaware Branch Of "Future Farmers Of America" Has Been Started

Agricultural students of the high schools of Delaware at a meeting held in Dover organized a Delaware branch of the Future Farmers of America.

The meeting was called by Professor R. W. Heim, director of vocational education for Delaware and practically all of the high schools of the State were represented.

The purpose of this new organization is to promote vocational education in agriculture and although the movement was only started two years ago there is now a total membership of 27,000, in more than 30 States.

Both W. A. Ross, of Washington, of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, and A. P. Williams, also connected with the board, were present at the meeting and the former made an address explaining the purposes of the organization.

E. P. Vogel, of the Middletown High School, was chairman of the meeting and Lyle Mowlds, of Seaford, secretary. The constitution and by-laws were adopted after which permanent officers were elected.

John Montgomery, of the du Pont High School, was elected president. The other officers named were as follows: Granvil Wilkins, Bridgeville High School, first vice-president; Alfred Conaway, Harrington High School, second vice-president; George Phillips, Middletown High School, third vice-president; Elmer Roland, Caesar Rodney High School, treasurer; Gordon Williamson, Newark High School, secretary; Norman Clifton, Seaford High School, reporter; State Adviser, R. W. Heim, State director of vocational education and acting supervisor of agriculture.

THREE ACT PLAY

In Fraternal Hall, January 23, a three-act play will be given for the benefit of Mineola Council, No. 17, D. of P., under the auspices of New London M. E. Church. The play is called "Fingerprints." These people are very good at giving home talent plays. They gave one last year in Fraternal Hall, called "The Path Across the Hill." Every one was very well pleased with that play. So if you see this one you will be just as well pleased this year.

HOME TALENT SHOW WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

Large Audiences Witnessed Both Performances of The Legion Revue

The American Legion Folies, a home talent revue, which was presented in the State Theatre on Monday and Tuesday evenings, under the auspices of J. Allison O'Daniel Post of the American Legion, was very successful, according to the report of the committee in charge of the project.

Crowded houses greeted the local players each evening and many favorable comments were heard from those who witnessed the performances. The show was staged under the direction of the Parlett Production Company, of Baltimore.

The revue was far above the average production of this kind. It was a clean show from the beginning to the end and the participants did their work in a creditable manner. There was nothing draggy about the show and each number was presented with a touch of professionalism.

The program opened with a study in black and white, a minstrel setting of white costumes trimmed with black which blended into the scenery and set off to advantage the fifty men and women who made up the ensemble. Robert G. Parrott, the director of the show, served as interlocutor and was ably assisted by Guy Hancock, Grif Moore, Ray Buckingham, Wayne Brewer, John Fader and Eddie Partlett.

The pleasing manner in which Mrs. P. K. Musselman presented a beautiful ballad entitled "Don't You Remember Sally" has been the cause of much favorable comment. Wesley Dempsey presented several selections that were well received.

The minstrel portion of the program closed with a burlesque wedding. Ray Buckingham acted the part of the bride and John Fader was the groom, while Eddie Partlett served as the minister.

The other recitations were "A Scene from the School for Scandal," "The Important Errand," "When Briget O'Brien Went Home from the Dance," "Courier," "The Ship of Fate," part of a sermon preached by an old colored preacher, "Terry, the Irish Philosopher," "Berries," "Vespers," Christopher Robin Saying His Prayers.

ANNUAL DINNER OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

James M. Tunnell Addressed Meeting Held Last Thursday Evening

The advantages of a group of interested individuals working for the betterment of their community, was forcefully presented at the annual dinner meeting of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, last Thursday evening, by James M. Tunnell, a Georgetown attorney.

The meeting was held in Old College hall and was attended by more than one hundred persons. Prof. Ira S. Brinser served as toastmaster and filled that position in a very capable manner.

Mr. Tunnell devoted his address to the interest of business and professional men in the community in which they reside and pointed out their responsibility for always having their community in the front ranks of activity.

R. P. Russell, Superintendent of the Maryland division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was another speaker on the program. He referred to the work of his railroad and discussed some of their plans for future improvement of their service.

The election of officers resulted in Weldon C. Waples being chosen president, Tinley Ford vice-president, Warren A. Singles secretary, and Earl Dougherty treasurer.

During the dinner musical selections were furnished by Staubeback's orchestra and the Adelphi quartet.

DELAWARE ALUMNI APPROVES ZEIGLER FOR ANOTHER YEAR

At the meeting of the Athletic Council of the University of Delaware Monday night a letter was received from the athletic committee of Delaware College Alumni Association recommending the reappointment of "Gus" Zeigler as football coach for 1931, the alumni to procure the money for his salary by private subscriptions. It was learned that under the present rules of the Council that body has nothing to do with the appointment of coaches and consequently no action was taken but the letter will probably be referred to the Athletic Board of Control of the university.

The Council spent practically all the evening considering new rules and regulation to govern the Council and various sports. One important proposed change would be that under these rules captains of various teams would not be elected until the season after the letters are awarded. In most instances now captains are elected immediately after the season closes. There are numerous other proposed changes in the rules but no definite action was taken. Even after approved by the Council they would still have to be approved by the Athletic Board of Control before they became effective.

On the recommendation of Physical Director Rothrock, Warren Riggan, a senior was awarded his "D" for football. Riggan had worked faithfully on the scrubs for four seasons and has never been awarded a letter before.

CAKE DEMONSTRATION AND CLINIC WAS SUCCESSFUL

"The cake demonstration and clinic sponsored by the University of Delaware Extension Service and conducted by Miss Eleanor Howe of the McCormick & Co., Inc., of Baltimore, and Miss Joan Rock of the Royal Baking Powder Co. of New York, was pronounced a success in every respect," says Mrs. Kate Henley Daugherty, County Home Demonstration Agent for New Castle County.

Seventy-eight home makers were present, coming from almost every section of the county. The making and icing of three cakes were demonstrated by these experts. Eight or ten women brought cakes or samples of cakes to have them judged and discussed. Some very interesting information was brought out by Miss Rock on this subject in which the general appearance, texture of cake, texture of icing, flavor of cake and flavor of icing all came in for considerable discussion. The description of a perfect cake was given the women with a score card for judging cakes. After a brief discussion of these points the home makers were then asked to make criticisms of the various cakes as they saw them.

Mrs. Daugherty continues that it was very evident that those present were deeply interested in the demonstration. Both Misses Rock and Howe said that they had never demonstrated before a more enthusiastic or interested audience.

CULL HENS IN STATE FLOCKS

Plan Year's Program On Standard And Accredited Poultry

Ninety thousand hens have been culled and 40,000 hens have been blood tested for Pullorum disease by the Poultry Department of the State Board of Agriculture of which Dr. H. R. Baker is State pathologist, in carrying out the year's program on the plan of poultry standardization and accreditation.

The purpose of this standardization and accreditation program is to identify poultry breeding stock, hatching eggs, and chicks with respect to quality by describing them in terms properly defined and commonly accepted. Thus producers may be protected from unscrupulous competition and purchasers enabled to buy with confidence.

All flock, hatcheries, eggs and chicks involved in this standardization and accreditation program are under constant official inspection.

Flocks which are culled for egg production are known as supervised flocks. If they are blood tested for Pullorum disease and the reactors removed, the flocks are classified as supervised-tested flocks. Hatcheries using eggs from these flocks are known as supervised hatcheries or supervised-tested hatcheries respectively.

Flocks which fulfill all the requirements of supervised flocks or supervised-tested flocks and are mated to wing banded pedigree males, whose dams laid 200 or more eggs in a year in trapnests, are known as certified flocks or certified-tested flocks. Hatcheries using eggs from these flocks are classified as certified hatcheries or certified-tested hatcheries, depending upon from which kind of a flock they obtained their eggs.

An official list of supervised, certified record of performance, and blood-tested flocks and hatcheries in Delaware, under the supervision of the State Board of Agriculture, will soon be published.

The executive committee at its meeting decided to hold a two-day State convention next December instead of the usual three-day convention.

FARMERS HEAR ABOUT KEEPING THEIR RECORDS

County Agent William Explains Method At Meeting On Tuesday

YEARLY VALUES

Ten farmers attended the Farm Business Account Records meeting held Tuesday evening, January 21, at the home of Mr. Wilson T. Pierson, near Hockessin. This meeting was held by County Agent, Ed Willim, Jr., to show the value of yearly farm business records on the modern farm.

Mr. Willim gave a talk called "Analyze Your Business" which was illustrated with pictures, slides and charts. This was followed by an explanation and description of the Delaware Farmers' Account Book which the County Agent is distributing to farmers interested in keeping records of their business during the year. Eight men of the group at the meeting decided to keep a record of their business and were given account books for the year 1930.

Those attending the meeting were: John Covington, Robert Walker, Wilson T. Pierson, Joseph Pierson, George B. Pierson, Paul Mitchell, Henry Mitchell, John Dennison, Horace P. Dennison and Howard Dennison, all of Hockessin. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting by Mrs. Pierson.

"In order to study his farm business properly, every farmer should have some kind of a record of the business conducted during the year," stated the County Agent. The record books are very simple and require a minimum of time to keep them in order and up to date. Since this is the first month of the year it is a good time to take an inventory of livestock, equipment, feed and supplies and real estate. It is essential that this inventory be taken now and at the end of the year to see if there is any increase or decrease in the value of the items mentioned at the end of the year's business. A good many farmers and some other business men often figure that if they have any money in the bank at the end of the year they have made a profit on their business for (Continued on Page 8.)

FARM BOARD TO SURVEY STATE

Will Seek Ways And Means To Aid Agriculture Here

Delaware has been selected by the Farm Board at Washington as one of twelve states where a survey of farm cooperative associations will be made. The work will be started by July 1 and it is expected it will take a year to complete it. Governor Buck, the State Department of Agriculture and the University of Delaware, it is understood, will be asked to cooperate in this work.

Governor C. Douglass Buck said that the move meets fully with his views. "I will be glad to cooperate, and I think it a very useful thing to undertake," he added.

The Farm Board will furnish a general supervisor and men to do the field work. The State Department of Agriculture will examine the charters of all cooperative associations in Delaware so that the Farm Board may know whether these associations are formed in accordance with the Capper-Volstead act. The agricultural department of the University, under the requests made, will furnish assistance in many ways, especially in tabulating results.

There have been several cooperative marketing associations in Delaware. It is said that the most successful one has been the organization of milk producers. There are still several in existence in addition to the milk men. It is said that one reason why there have not been more successful cooperative associations than there are at present, is due to the fact that Delaware is so near the big markets that it is possible to dispose of most any kind of fruit or produce and therefore many do not go to the trouble to grade their products and sell them through the associations.

It is the object of the farm board to ascertain whether such associations are successful, and if not successful, why they have failed. The board also wants to ascertain if these associations are really of benefit to the farmers or whether some other plan might be more effective.

It is pointed out that the Federal (Continued on Page 8.)

Mrs. Charles Schneckengerber has been ill at her home for the past week but her condition is now said to be improved.

Christiana

Owing doubtless to the cold wave which descended upon us Saturday night, there was only a small attendance at the services of both Methodist and Presbyterian churches last Sunday. Several disappointments combined to cause the postponement of the all-musical service which was to have been held in the Methodist Church in the evening. If present plans are carried out, this service will be held next Sunday evening at the regular hour—seven-thirty, when the School Orchestra will be in charge, assisted by outside talent, some local and some imported for the occasion.

The School Orchestra, which recently furnished part of the entertainment at the installation ceremonies of the Knights of Pythias at their hall in Newark, has received a letter of appreciation from the lodge, as well as a substantial gift, to be used for the benefit of the orchestra, as its members and leaders see fit.

The Girl Reserves held their regular meeting in the school house last Friday evening. Successful Show

Newark's first home talent show, which was presented on Monday and Tuesday under the auspices of the American Legion, was very successful both from the viewpoint of attendance and also in the manner in which the local talent presented their various parts on the program.

It was an enjoyable home talent show and those who participated in the program are deserving of a large amount of credit for the splendid manner in which they presented their numbers.

Those who were fortunate enough to witness the performance feel that it was an evening well spent in high class entertainment. It was a good show, the outstanding feature being perhaps that it was a clean show throughout lacking some of the objectionable matter that is sometimes to be found in shows of this type.

The effort was worth while and clearly demonstrates that entertainments of this type are possible here and we hope we may have more of them in the future.

High Rating For Newark School

The publication of the list of accredited high schools in Delaware again finds the Newark High School on the list. This knowledge should be a source of satisfaction to the students and their parents and a matter of real pride as a result of personal achievement on the part of Prof. Ira S. Brinser, the local School Superintendent.

This is not the first year for the local school to be on the accredited list, in fact the Newark School was one of the first schools in rural Delaware to be given this rating. It is fine that they have been able to hold the rating and maintain their good work.

It was only a few years ago that there was a general cry throughout the rural section of the State for a better type of graduate from the high schools because so many of these graduates were being turned back by colleges and universities. Conditions have improved and more schools are being added each year to the accredited list.

It would seem that the present system in the Newark Schools is procuring the desired results and this situation is very pleasing—May it continue.

The Army On The Job

If you don't think that the Salvation Army was kept busy this holiday season, glance at these figures, submitted from the Army's central headquarters in Chicago: Something like 2,000,000 pounds of gifts were distributed in 275 cities and towns in 11 Middle Western States by the Army's workers. Among them were the following: 100,000 pounds of toys, 600,000 pounds of potatoes, 360,000 apples, 120,000 dressed chickens, 180,000 oranges, 60,000 pounds of candy, 60,000 fruit cakes, 240,000 cans of milk, soup and vegetables, 120,000 pounds of sugar, 60,000 loaves of bread, 60,000 pounds of coffee, 60,000 pounds of butter, 60,000 packages of crackers, and some 400,000 pieces of wearing apparel. All of which would seem to indicate that the old reliable Salvation Army was very much on the job.

The Menace of Checkers

The city La Crosse, in Wisconsin, seems to be somewhat like the city of Lynn, Mass.; that is, it evidently has a mayor who is fond of making unusual and peculiar rules for the guidance of his fellow citizens. Lynn's mayor, you will remember passed all kinds of edicts regarding the length of women's skirts and the like. Now the mayor of La Crosse—if press dispatches are to be believed—announces that checkers must not be played in public places. He has been nourishing a campaign against gambling, and he says that checkers is potentially as bad a game as craps. Hence—no more checkers in public. This is the first time we have heard that the playing of checkers could be an evil and immoral pastime. The people of La Crosse now know just how the people of Lynn have been feeling.

Our Political Groupings

The editor of Collier's Magazine sat down the other day to find out how many political parties we really have in the United States today. He made out a list something like this: Progressive Republicans, Organization Republicans, the Larger-Minded Republicans, the Hoover Republicans, the Southern Democrats, the Al Smith Democrats, the Western Progressive Democrats, the Democratic-Progressive-Republican Coalition Party—And then he quit in despair. Probably you can think of three or four more classifications; and the matter is complicated by the fact that some people belong to two or three of these groupings at once. The whole situation emphasizes anew our need for a new political alignment. If the present chaotic situation in the Senate helps to bring such a thing about we shall all be better off.

Closing A Speakeasy

Here's a sidelight on prohibition that probably doesn't prove anything to speak of, either way, but that is rather interesting, nevertheless. Cleveland recently had a big garment-workers' strike. Some 5,000 men and women were called out, and extra details of police were on duty patrolling the streets where the factories were located. It happened that there was a certain speakeasy near one of the big factories. And after two days of the strike the proprietor of this speakeasy closed up. There were too many police around. But don't rush to conclusions. He wasn't afraid of being pinched. You see, these extra details of police got to dropping in on him and drinking his liquor—the weather was very raw—and of course he didn't dare charge them anything for what they drank. So his profits vanished and he closed, to reopen when the strike should be settled. As we say, that probably doesn't mean a thing. But isn't it interesting?

HOPE TO REVIVE OYSTER TRADE

Seed Oysters Will Be Planted
Next Month By Commission

Delaware's oyster industry in the near future will try a comeback. Definite plans for the revival of this industry which is rapidly diminishing in importance were made Thursday afternoon in Dover at the organization of the State Oyster Commission recently appointed by Governor Buck.

Within the next month approximately 100 bushels of seed oysters will be planted by the commission in Indian River Bay which is linked with the Atlantic Ocean by the Indian River Inlet, re-opened by the State at an expense of many thousands of dollars.

Governor Buck appointed the commission to study the condition of the oyster industry in the State and to do all in its power to restore it to the important position it formerly held.

Planting of the seed oysters in Indian River Bay will be an experiment. The commission which was only recently appointed has had little time for investigation to date, but decided that no time was to be lost in reaching a solution to the problems confronting them.

The commission desires to learn through experiments whether the waters of the bay are brackish enough for oyster growing and whether the seed oysters will fatten and grow in the water.

Before going into plans the commission organized and elected Charles W. Cullen, of Georgetown, chairman, and John C. Darby, of Frederica, secretary.

Other members of the commission are former Governor Robert P. Robinson who is chairman of the State Fish and Game Commission, and Wilbert Rawley, of Leipsic.

Governor Buck attended the commission's meeting.

Pollution of several streams in the State where oysters formerly thrived and the fact that the greater part of the oyster industry in the Delaware Bay is controlled by New Jersey interests, has been sounding the death knell for Delaware's oyster industry.

Oystermen of the State, it is also declared, have neglected formerly thriving oyster beds and have failed to replenish beds from which they dredged fully grown oysters.

Three rivers in Kent and Sussex counties where oysters once thrived have been closed to oystermen by State and Federal health authorities because the streams are polluted.

It is stated that closing of these three streams has thrown about 600 persons, engaged in oyster dredging, out of employment.

Following the meeting the commission was the guests of Governor Buck at dinner.

HOW VALUABLE MAIL CAN BE DESTROYED

Postmaster W. H. Evans related an incident this week which shows how some valuable mail can be unintentionally destroyed. The postmaster's description of the incident follows:

On January 7, 1930, a patron of this office called to enter complaint about non-delivery of a letter which was attached to a parcel post package, which was plainly addressed to a resident of a nearby town. This package was forwarded December 24, 1929 and sender used stamped envelope, addressed the same as the parcel and attached to it, surely there could be no excuse for letter going astray, but it was lost—the ten dollar bill at least, which was enclosed in the envelope. Now who got it?

The postmaster at destination on receipt of our inquiry took the matter up with the addressee, here is the answer he received. "The letter containing the ten dollar bill was pasted on the box—supposedly the address. After opening the parcel the wrapper with letter attached and all were put in the empty box and with other similar wrappings taken to the cellar to be burned. The fire did not go out, hence the paper was not destroyed. Thanks to you the letter and contents were recovered."

Note: The Postal laws and regulations permit the attaching of stamped envelopes to parcel, which contain written instructions with regard to contents. This practice is largely used by mail order houses, but it is not intended for remittances—especially of money.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN ENTERTAINED HERE

Nearly one hundred members of the Delaware Branch of the American Association of University Women, many accompanied by their husbands, motored to the Women's College, University of Delaware, last Friday evening, where the January meeting was held. There was no business meeting, the meeting being entirely social.

Two one-act plays were given by members of the puppets, the dramatic society of the college, in the hilarious. The plays were chosen from those given this last semester under the auspices of the Dramatic Club. "Where But in America," by Oscar Wolfe, was given first. The scene was laid in the dining room of a young married couple just at dinner time. Margaret Townsend played the aggrieved husband, Edith Kimes the beautiful young wife, and Dorothy Reiser the Swedish maid. The play was coached by Adeline Downs, and Marian Hayman was manager of the lights and properties.

Eleanor Edge played several piano numbers before the second play, "The Followers," was staged. The scene in this case was the living room of an old maid's house in the summer of 1859.

The part of the old maid, Lucinda, was played by Betty Martin, that of the maid, Susan, by Kathryn Kesselring, Dorothy Calloway was cast as Lucinda's god-daughter, Helen Masters, and Ethel Reeves as Lucinda's sweetheart, Colonel Redfern. Costumes and properties for the play were done by Ann Nutter. Marian Hayman had charge of the lights, and Adeline Downs the make-up.

Refreshments were served in the faculty clubroom at the college following the plays by members of the sophomore class in home economics.

Among the guests were Dr. Walter Hullahen, president of the University, and Dr. W. O. Sypherd, head of the English department.

CORN SHOW WAS SUCCESSFUL

Record Total Of Exhibits
At Show Held In Dover

The 23rd annual State Corn Show at Capital Grange Hall in Dover, included the largest number of entries of any previous shows that have been held in this State by the Delaware Crop Improvement Growers' Association. The show closed last Friday.

The show this year, with its 205 entries of corn and forage, was held in co-operation with the Grange, the Kent County Farm Bureau, the Agricultural Extension Department of the University of Delaware, and the Dover Chamber of Commerce, and, according to Denney Pleasanton, president of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association, this exhibit clearly demonstrates the increased interest which the corn growers of the State are taking in these annual shows.

One of the outstanding features of the show this year is the large number of entries in the 50 ear corn class from each of the three counties, as shown by the fact that there were 24 of these entries. In commenting upon this part of the show Professor George L. Schuster of the Delaware Experiment Station, who is secretary of the association, stated that these 50 ear exhibits represent some of the finest seed corn in the State.

The boys' and girls' department, with its 24 entries of 10 ear exhibits of corn, was also of special interest, since it indicated that these future farmers are learning more about the qualifications of good corn for exhibition purposes, as well as the most modern methods of producing it.

The forage exhibit is likewise much larger this year than ever before.

The judging of the exhibits was done by Professor J. E. Metzger, of the Maryland Experiment Station, who has judged the show on several previous occasions, and the awards will be announced at a later date.

The local committee who worked in co-operation with Kent County Agent Russell E. Wilson in making full arrangements for the show are Denney Pleasanton, Ed William, R. Harry Wilson, John M. Roe, A. Bailey Thomas, and N. W. Taylor.

Among those who visited the show was Governor C. D. Buck who congratulated the officers on the exceptionally fine exhibit, there being 208 exhibits as against 184 last year. The show this year is the largest in recent years. Professor George L. Schuster of the Delaware Experiment Station, who is judging the corn, states that the quality is the best ever seen and that the exhibits are a credit to the State.

While the entire list of awards has not yet been made, the following awards have been made as to championships:

First prize—Yellow corn (Inter-State class) Ira V. McKenzie, Cumberland, Md.; first prize in same class of white corn, awarded to E. B. Milbourne, Elkton, Md.

Championship, 10 ears in Delaware—Oliver Koelig, Newark, who also won second place in yellow corn, Inter-State class.

Championship single ear, yellow—William M. Hopkins, Lewes.

In the county championship of the boys' and girls' class—Claude Gaylen, of Newark, won for New Castle County; Elmer Roland, of Viola, for Kent County, and Everett C. Hopkins, of Lewes, for Sussex County.

MORE WORK FOR TELEPHONE CO.

Nearly A Million Dollars Will Be Expended For Improvements

Expenditure of nearly $1,000,000 for expansion of the Diamond State Telephone Company's facilities throughout Delaware is planned for the current year, according to an announcement this week by Edward M. Frisk, vice-president.

The proposed expenditure for this year—tentatively fixed at $986,000—represents a substantial increase over the average yearly appropriation for new construction by the Diamond State Telephone Company, and will permit the completion of a large scale construction program.

In addition to this amount, $738,000 will be required during 1930 to operate the present telephone plant and new plant completed prior to the end of the year. Another $366,000 will be necessary to the end of the year for the maintenance of the company's equipment at the highest standard of efficiency.

Thus, these three items—new construction, operation and maintenance—will necessitate a total expenditure of $2,090,000 during the present year. The program provides, among other things, for construction of approximately 5000 miles of local, or exchange, wire, and placing about 5500 additional miles of wire to care for the constantly increasing volume of toll, or out-of-town, telephone traffic.

Commenting on the Diamond State's program, Mr. Frisk said: "The demand for telephone service, both local and out-of-town, is greater than ever before in the history of the telephone business."

"We must be ready to meet the demand in advance. We must have the lines, switching mechanisms, central office apparatus, and other instrumentalities of the communication service in place before the demand comes."

NEW YORK MEN SEE WORKHOUSE

Marvel At The Operation Of
The Honor System; Praise
Institution

Four members of the New York State Crime Commission, commonly known as the Baumes Commission, and the secretary of the Prison Association of New York, marveled last Saturday at the operation of the Plummer Honor System in the New Castle County Workhouse.

After an inspection of the Workhouse and a conference with Warden Elmer J. Leach, the visitors expressed themselves as amazed at the plan being followed in the Workhouse and the success with which it has met.

The members of the commission were Assemblyman Burton D. Esmond, of the New York Legislature; William G. Butcher, Miss Jane M. Hoey and Thomas Rice. They were accompanied by E. R. Cass, general secretary of the Prison Association of New York.

Although three members of the commission were expected, Mr. Rice decided to join the delegation.

The members of the commission were requested to visit the Workhouse by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, to whom the work being done there had been briefly outlined by the prison association.

The party was met by Warden Leach and J. Frank Ball, president of the Workhouse trustees, and driven to the Workhouse in an auto chauffeured by a prisoner.

At the Workhouse they immediately went into conference with Warden Leach, Judge Ball and J. Darlington Flinn, a member of the Workhouse board of trustees.

Following the conference the visitors inspected the entire Workhouse but did not go outside because of the inclement weather.

Following luncheon in the Warden's home the party inspected the new women's prison and the yard containing the whipping post and the defunct pillory.

Assemblyman Esmond, who was spokesman for the party, informed a newspaperman that Governor Roosevelt had requested them to come here in the hope of finding some solution to New York's prison problem.

"New York," he said, "is about to spend $30,000,000 for new prisons. A wall around one of the proposed prisons would itself cost a million dollars. Then expense would be added by the most modern steel construction of cell blocks and fool proof locking systems."

He said that it has been recommended to the New York Legislature that an immense prison be built along the lines of a modern college dormitory. The proposed prison would be without walls if the recommendations are followed.

The dormitory-like prison which has been recommended to the Legislature is similar in nearly every respect to the new Women's Prison at Greentown.

"New York wants to increase the number of prison guards," Mr. Esmond explained. "Now we have State Police also guarding the prisons where there were recent outbreaks."

"Here in your Workhouse you have six hundred prisoners and only one inner guard."

"It's simply marvelous. We could hardly believe our eyes when we saw the prison door keys in the hands of prisoners who let us in and out of the various departments of the Workhouse."

"What impressed me and my companions the most, however, was the fact that men serving life imprisonment are working in shops outside the Workhouse and on farms some miles away without guards."

"Another thing that impressed us in our inspection was the general appearance of the prisoners and the happy expressions on their faces."

"In other prisons we have seen all the prisoners with hang-dog looks on their faces and when you enter into conversation with them they reply either, 'yes,' or 'no.'"

"But not so in your Workhouse. The prisoners met us with smiles, and they were not forced smiles. They conversed with us intelligently, and frankly and showed no feeling of humiliation."

Mr. Esmond also stressed the impressions left on him and his fellow members by the industrial situation at the workhouse.

He said it was an admirable thing for the State to provide a prison in which prisoners could be employed daily and receive enough pay to make them contented.

He also spoke of the power of the prisoners to control themselves, under the direct supervision, however, of Warden Leach.

"Your prisoners are not cowed and threatened and made miserable," he said. "The warden and his associates have developed a spirit among the prisoners that will never die."

"Neither I nor my associates have ever been in a prison—and we have been in many of them—where there exists such a cheerful atmosphere as exists in the Workhouse."

Mr. Esmond said that the commission as the result of its visit here will submit a detailed report to Governor Roosevelt with recommendations.

New York, he believes, would do well to adopt some of the policies followed at the local Workhouse.

MANY DELAWARE CHILDREN ARE IMMUNE FROM DIPHTHERIA

A higher percentage of children in Delaware is immune from diphtheria than in any other state in the Union, Dr. Seth Hurdle of the State Board of Health, told members of the Garden Club in Wilmington, Friday night.

Dr. Hurdle in quoting statistics, said there were about 68,000 children in the State, and of this number, 35,000 had been inoculated against the disease. He said that diphtheria had been practically driven from the schools and the 13 deaths among children from the disease in Delaware in 1929 all resided either in Wilmington or New Castle county. He said there were no deaths from the disease in either Kent or Sussex counties among children, and that all the deaths were from among the 33,000 children who had not been inoculated.

Dr. Hurdle gave praise to the discoverers of serums to combat diseases and predicted that cure for cancer would be established in years not far distant. He referred to an expenditure of $1,000,000 being made yearly by Wilmington people who are having experiments made to establish a cure.

Dr. Hurdle said the world was practically free from the yellow fever today but to date there has not been found a vaccine for scarlet fever and whooping cough that is perfect.

Immunization work in the crusade against diphtheria will be carried throughout the entire state during the next few weeks under the direction of the State Board of Health.

RELIGION

Its Beneficial Effect Upon the Community

In the days of the circuit rider, the man who preached in the village church or more likely, school house, was a strong-bodied specimen who rode back and forth across the land. He preached religion that may be considered a little crude today—but he made an inspiring impression upon his hearers.

The men who fill the village and town pulpits to-day are of higher average scholarship than their predecessors. They are men of better education. They preach and believe in the introduction of new methods. They maintain an interest in community as well as church affairs.

They are not lacking in manhood either, for these latter day preachers are physically no whit behind those who, when the country was just growing up, spent half their time in the saddle.

The plain white meeting house has long since given away to spacious modern structures from whence comes the force which not only makes Democracy effective in the community, but the force which works for the betterment of civic government and community advancement. The Golden Rule spells P-R-O-G-R-E-S-S!

It reaches out to life wherever and however it may.

The good accomplished by the church can not be estimated in dollars and cents. It deserves your whole-hearted support, and as a community center, the church and the part it plays upon the minds of young and old alike, can not be replaced by any other agency, for it forms our greatest force for good.

The church is working for YOU and for YOUR COMMUNITY. Are you giving it the support it deserves?

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION HELD MEETING

Many Matters Considered At Session In Dover Last Friday

At a meeting of the State Board of Education held in Dover last Friday, many matters were considered. The subjects discussed included the appointment of a director of music for the State and also a director of research and statistics. No action was taken on either subject.

The board, after a discussion as to the electric light situation for several of the smaller schools in the State, decided to leave the matter of supplying electricity to the business managers and the Superintendent of Instruction. Dr. Holloway for the following schools: Roxana, Hartly, Delaware City, Townsend and Lincoln.

A request from the Bridgeville school for a filing cabinet was granted.

As to the portable buildings at Milford, about which the board has inquired, a request was made by the Milford Board of Education for the use of the buildings for the color school. The request was granted. The buildings will be deeded to the Milford Board of Education.

The board discussed with Professor Schilling concerning the annual out of teacher retirement system as proposed and presented at the last Delaware Legislature. Professor Schilling will make a report later after consulting certain insurance companies as to the best plan of procedure.

P-T. A. NEWS

The third program planned for the State Parent-Teacher Association considers the debt to the Indian of the white man who settled Delaware. An interesting paper on this topic has been prepared by Miss Amy Gardner. The Indian's knowledge of dye material is treated at some length. Demonstrations in dyeing by means of an old recipe, in contrast with the use of dyes now chemically prepared, are being made by some associations.

The Indian's use of music to express his moods, descriptions of his crude musical instruments and of some of the ceremonial dances and Indian music arranged for a few of these dances have been compiled by J. W. MacFadden.

The Parent-Teacher Association of Delaware City, with 211 members, under the leadership of Mrs. Katherine E. Jordan, has taken second place in the membership race away from Dover. The Delaware City Association has already made a big growth. Last year it ranked fifth with 155 members. The five largest associations reporting are: Delmar, 250; Delaware City, 211; Dover, 201; Clayton, 160; Oak Grove (Elsmere), 150.

At the January meeting of the Delaware City Association, the Indian program was presented by two of the members. This association, like many others, has been providing transportation to the county track meet. A committee has been appointed to devise means of raising money for this purpose.

Taylor's Bridge Community Association now has a membership of 78, about 95 per cent of the community. A 100 per cent membership is the goal set for the near future. Adults and children carried out a program on Indians in Delaware, under the direction of Arie C. Hill, at a recent meeting over which the vice-president, Mrs. Ada Keiser, presided. The treasurer reported a balance in the treasury of $57.90.

After an Indian program, "A Womanless Wedding," with comic ceremony, staged by the men of the Milford Cross Roads Parent-Teacher Association on January 15th, was witnessed by 100 people. An adult music class has been organized by this association. Home-made candy was sold and a collection taken, but refreshments were served to the whole crowd.

George B. Read addressed the members of Walker's Community Association on the subject: "Colonial Life and Early Statehood of Delaware." At the meeting on January 14. The audience took part in a musical program before refreshments were served. The association has provided a new bell and curtains which add to the appearances of the school and at the same time improve the lighting. There are now 48 members.

The Parent-Teacher Association of

Ebenezer (128-C) traced the history of different kinds of lighting at the January meeting. Although this association has only ten regular members they have been successful in drawing a crowd by means of social features.

MILFORD CROSS ROADS SCHOOL

Milford Cross Roads School Parent-Teacher Association had an attendance of more than 100 at its January meeting on Wednesday evening last.

After the State program of early Indian lore had been followed, the men staged a comic wedding.

Mr. Harold Melvin made a most dignified minister. The bride, Mr. Herman Stradley, was given away by her father, Mr. Leonard Nelson. The groom, Mr. Prout, made a handsome partner for the blushing bride. The bridesmaids, Messrs. Gilbert and Earl Melvin, were most charming in gowns of the latest mode. The bridesmaids carried large bouquets of holly. Little Carl Greer served as ring bearer, two doughnuts on a crotona pillow, took the place of the usual gold bands. Charles Greer dressed in a dainty rose creation made a beautiful flower girl.

The wedding music was furnished by Mrs. Leonard Nelson. Mr. Samuel Watson sang "Oh, Promise Me."

Adult Education

We have 34 adults registered in the ten weeks music course being given by the State Department of Public Instruction each Friday evening at 8 o'clock, in our schoolroom. Mrs. Bacon, of the Willard Hall School, Wilmington, is the teacher. We take this opportunity to invite any one in Newark or vicinity to join us on Friday evening. The classes are most interesting, you'll enjoy them, and there is absolutely no charge.

ISSUE WARRANTS FOR LATE TAXES

More Than Fifteen Thousand Cases Turned Over To Magistrates

Approximately 15,000 warrants have been turned over to Delaware magistrates for a State-wide drive against those who should have filed income tax returns for the year and failed to do so, the State Tax Department announced this week.

With these warrants in hand, it is expected constables will immediately begin service to obtain a return for 1928 which will entail payments of costs by all those for whom warrants have been issued. No penalty has been asserted by the tax department on these returns.

However, for the year 1929 for returns due between now and March 15, all those who fail to file their 1928 income tax returns are receiving a notification enclosed with their return cautioning them to file this return in order to save themselves from the penalty of $5 specifically inflicted by the 1929 law, in addition to all other penalties. It is expected that a similar drive will be made after the due date for the 1929 returns has passed, and those who are not then on a current basis will be penalized in this specific amount and may be penalized in addition thereto.

The tax department has made known that after issuance of the warrants, it is expected that all taxables delinquent for 1928 will respond promptly to the magistrate's notification. In the past attempts have been made to "beat the gun" on the part of some taxables who, after learning of the issuance of the warrant, promptly visited the tax office, thus eliminating the magistrate in an attempt at what they believe satisfies the department and nullifies the suit. This is not the case, it was pointed out, and all taxables for whom warrants have been issued when presenting themselves at the tax office will be referred to the magistrate to whom the case has been assigned.

This practice has been found necessary through the increasing number of those attempting to dodge the proper procedure on the warrant, the department stated.

The delinquent lists have been allotted to the following magistrates:

New Castle County
Appoquinimink Hundred, Daniel Stevens; Brandywine Hundred, Frank Haley; Christiana Hundred, Richard W. Crooks, John M. Lister, Frank Haley; Mill Creek Hundred, Richard W. Crooks, John M. Lister; New Castle Hundred, W. Leslie Cramer; Pender Hundred, Calvin H. Staats; Red Lion Hundred, Calvin H. Staats; St. Georges Hundred, Daniel Stevens; White Clay Creek Hundred, Daniel Thompson.

Among other things, Mr. Montgomery stated that he was glad that Delaware was not the last State in the Union to organize a branch of this National organization, and pointed out that the organization stands primarily for achievement.

The boys of this organization will advance through a series of so-called degrees or grades of membership, as they achieve certain standards. The first is the "greenhand" degree; the second, the "future farmer" degree; the third the "diamond farmer" degree; and the fourth is known as the "American farmer" degree. To reach this last degree will be the aim of all members of the organization, he hoped.

James Wharton of the Laurel department, Frank Elliott of the Greenwood department, and David Brittingham of the Milton department were then elected to serve with the officers as the Executive Committee.

Mr. Ross in his address explaining the aims of the organization said in part:

"Within the last two years the students taking vocational agriculture in the high schools have been organized as the Future Farmers of America. One year ago the first national meeting of this organization was held in Kansas City with five States and 5000 students represented. Its growth has been most gratifying. Today it is represented in more than 30 States and has a membership of more than 27,000.

"The accomplishments of the organization are varied. Local chapters hold annually father and son banquets. Thrift bank accounts are encouraged. The Future Farmers of two States already report thrift accounts totaling more than one-quarter million dollars each. Community welfare is promoted. In four States camps have been established where boys find recreational and educational guidance at some time in the Summer months.

"The possibilities of the Future Farmers of America are immeasurable. Through their leadership we may expect a new agriculture, an agriculture lighted by science and organized to demand an equal share with industry in the country's general prosperity. There is no more hopeful sign of progress among our farm population," he declared.

entitled "On the Deck," featuring twenty children dressed in sailor costumes. Bill Coverdale played some tunes on a saw in a novel manner.

The old fashioned minuet dance proved to be one of the most pleasing features of the show. Elizabeth Worrell danced the part of the belle, with Philip M. Myers as her partner. They were supported by a group of girls in colonial costumes. Special lighting effects were used in this feature and they aided in making it attractive.

Harold Sheaffer and Betty Heiser presented a "Tintype Dance" that won much applause. Eddie Shakespeare played some snappy songs on his ukelele. The comedy scenes in the grave yard act caused a great amount of laughter. Harry Williamson and Bee Smith presented a song and dance number which was followed by Bob Strahorn and a group of high school girls in a very pleasing dance number.

Ether Hauber presented a pretty and graceful toe dance and was followed by a burlesque on toe dancing furnished by Wayne Brewer, Frank Balling, Con Lewis and Lewis Fell. Eddie Partlett followed with a monologue.

The program concluded with a dance sketch entitled "Military Maidens" and these girls deserve a large amount of credit for the excellent manner in which they danced to military tunes.

The music for the show was furnished by a local orchestra under the direction of Prof. Ira S. Brinser.

Income Tax Blanks Ready

1929 should obtain forms 100 and 101 on which to report such payments to the Tax Department. Each employee's name and address as well as the employer's is reported on form 101 and a summary of the number of employees which are being reported is filed with these information slips on form 100.

The practice is increasing among employers, it is noted, of furnishing the employee with a duplicate of the information slip filed with the tax department. This practice permits the taxable to correctly report his income and saves later inconvenience through slight discrepancies which must be corrected when found.

Request for forms may be made by letter, telephone or in person at the offices of the State Tax Department, No. 2 East Ninth street, Wilmington, at the State House, Dover, Delaware, or at the office in Georgetown.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF EVERGREEN FOREST

that period, and that if they do not have much money in the bank at that time they are losing money. This is not a true way of figuring the farm profits or losses, points out the County Agent, because it does not take the inventory into consideration.

During the course of the year the farmer may raise several head of heifer calves, but this increased number of livestock will not be indicated in the bank balance while it will show up in the increase in inventory which is about the same as a favorable bank balance.

The small leaks of expenses on the farm can often be detected by keeping a record of all farm expenses in a systematic way, such as is provided in these account books. The farm enterprises which are important from a large financial return can be picked out and stressed while the enterprise that is not paying can be dropped.

Farm Board, in making loans will not make loans to individuals. Loans are made to certain national organizations, formed under government supervision and fostered by the government, and in turn these associations deal with the regional associations and the regional associations with the local associations.

For this reason the Farm Board desires to make a study of the local associations and the objectives of the survey are to determine the type of business of the many local cooperatives, as a basis for the establishment of strong regional cooperatives, to obtain detailed information concerning the volume of business, financial condition and cost of operation of each cooperative, its efficiency in operation, the weakness of its financial structure, if any, to obtain a basis for effective extension work by the state of these cooperatives and to solve such other problems as may arise.

Under the rules of the Farm Board, not only the charters, but the president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and executive committee of these cooperatives must be approved by the Farm Board before they receive recognition.

The movement to make this survey was initiated at the annual meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities with Charles S. Wilson, a member of the Farm Board, in Chicago on November 14. The states in which the survey will be made are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia.

When spoken to last night in reference to the survey, W. T. Derickson, of Dover, Director of Markets for the State Board of Agriculture, said:

"We will certainly welcome this survey in Delaware and cooperate 100 per cent. We want to ascertain the best marketing system possible and how it can be obtained. The survey will bring out much valuable information and the people of Delaware are interested."

Dean C. A. McCue, of the Agricultural Department of the University of Delaware, said his department had received no request for cooperation up to this time. The matter was talked over in Chicago, he said, and he was confident that it would be productive of much good.

"We have given considerable attention to the subject and have considerable data," said Dean McCue, "but there is much more to be learned."

MONTHLY REPORT OF COW TESTING ASSOCIATION

Seventeen dairymen, members of the New Castle County Cow Testing Association, own 72 cows which produced over 1,000 lbs. of milk each during the month of December. Eight men of this group had cows giving 50 lbs. or over of butterfat during the same period. The Holstein herd of Fred Stafford of Montchanin leads the milk production group with eleven over 1,000 lbs., while J. Howard Mitchell's Jersey herd had the largest number of cows producing over 50 lbs. of fat.

These facts have been taken from the monthly report of Mr. Alois Leinen, Association Tester, by the County Agent, Ed Willim, Jr., of Newark, through whose work this organization is functioning. Mr. Leinen reports that during December the 504 cows in the association produced 284,999 lbs., of milk, and 11,813 lbs. of fat with the average about 565 lbs. of milk and 23.4 lbs. of fat per cow.

The highest individual cow in milk production, owned by Mr. Stafford, gave 1844 lbs. of milk, while Mr. Willson Price of near Glasgow, owns the highest individual in fat production. She is a Jersey with 67.67 lbs. of fat to her credit during the 30 day testing period. The second highest cow in fat was also a Jersey owned by Mr. Mitchell of Hockessin.

Mr. Leinen's report gives the ten highest herds in butterfat for the month as follows: 1st, J. Howard Mitchell and Sons, Hockessin, Jersey herd, averaging 35.42 lbs. per cow; 2nd, Wilson Price, Glasgow, Jersey herd, averaging 34.07; 3rd, Karl Feucht, Elkton, Holstein, 33.11 lbs. per cow; 4th, Fred Stafford, Montchanin, Holstein, 32.71 lbs., average; 5th, Irvin G. Klair, Marshallton, Guernsey, 28.7 lbs.; 6th, Wilson T. Pierson, Hockessin, mixed Guernsey and Holstein, 27.1 lbs.; 7th, McVaugh and Lenderman, Hockessin, Guernsey, 27.0 lbs.; 8th, W. L. Phipps, Centerville, Holstein, 26.204 lbs.; 9th, B. V. Armstrong, Middletown, Holstein, 26.2 lbs.; 10th, Harold T. Little, Newark, Holstein, 24.8 lbs. fat per cow.

In milk production for the month, the 10 highest herds follow: 1st, Fred Stafford, Montchanin, Holstein, 1021.6 lbs. milk average per cow; 2nd, Karl Feucht, Elkton, Holstein, 961 lbs.; 3rd, Harold T. Little, Newark, Holstein, 765 lbs.; 4th, B. V. Armstrong, Middletown, 756 lbs.; 5th, W. L. Phipps, Centerville, Holstein, 748 lbs.; 6th, Wilson Pierson, Hockessin, mixed herd, 704 lbs.; 7th, Fred B. Martenis, Appleton, Md., Holstein, 693 lbs.; 8th, Wilson Price, Glasgow, Jersey, 684 lbs.; 9th, J. Howard Mitchell, Hockessin, Jersey, 661 lbs., and 10th, H.

Wallace Cook, Newark, Holstein, 658 lbs. milk per cow.

"It is interesting to note," comments Mr. Willim on the December report, "that there are ten Holstein, five Jersey, four Guernsey and three mixed herds in the association. This makes 22 herds tested during the month, which leaves some available time for the tester to do other herds if any one is interested in the work."

The County Agent hopes to hold a meeting of the association the last part of the present month. Mr. J. Govatos, breeder of Guernsey and a member of the association, invited the members of the organization to meet at his Delhaven Farm near New Castle for this meeting. A definite date for the meeting has been selected, but tentatively it has been arranged for January 27. No of the definite date will be sent to the members at a later date, according to Mr. Willim's statement.

FORESIGHT

Many people say that "hindsight" is better than "foresight." This may be true in many things, but in printing it is not.

You must anticipate your needs, you must order for the future. Sometimes an emergency arises: Kells is equipped to meet that emergency.

Two Entirely New Cars AT THE SHOW

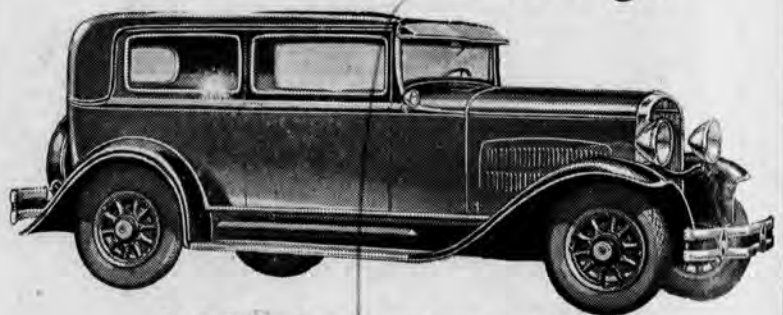

HUDSON'S GREAT "8"

Supersedes all past Hudson Achievements

DON'T FAIL TO SEE THE NEW ESSEX Challenger

It's longer, larger, more powerful

ESSEX the Challenger

In 8 Body Types, and at no extra cost a wide variety of colors to suit your taste

Its challenge is distinctive and unusual in those fine qualities which owners prize most highly. In appearance it is a completely changed and modern car. The bodies are longer, wider, lower. The car looks larger and is larger. The wheel base is lengthened and the wheel tread increased. A double drop frame has lowered the body height, yet both head room and road clearance are increased. It challenges your interest with big car spaciousness and comfort.

The motor is larger and smoother. The performance range is notably increased.

You will not use more speed than Essex gives you. More power would be neither useful nor economical. It gets quickly away at the stop, is strong on the hills and swift on the straight-away. And it does these things easily, quietly, without annoying effort for the car or nervous strain for the driver.

You won't be content with any less comfortable or less good looking or less distinctive car. It is a thoroughbred automobile and it challenges your attention because of its price.
