OFFICER SHOOT BAD CHARACTER FROM MARYLAND

Officer Cunningham Wounds
J. T. Willis In Leg In Chase
Following Fight; Willis Said
To Have Incited Trouble
Among Negroes

3 OTHERS ARRESTED

In the quelling of a free-for-all fight in New London avenue, Monday night, which involved both white men and negroes, John T. Willis, a notorious character from near Appleton, Maryland, was shot in the left leg by Town Officer William Cunningham. Willis was shot while he was resisting arrest and threatening the officer. He is in the New Castle County Workhouse infirmary, and as soon as his wound allows will be brought back to Newark to stand trial. The bullet went through the lower part of the leg, missing the bone and causing a slight flesh wound.

Officer Cunningham was summoned in a call that stated that two white men had gone "up on the row to kill a nigger." The officer found a fight in progress in a vacant lot, with Willis and the other white man, Russell Shumel, in the midst of it. Cunningham stopped the fight and arrested Shumel and two negroes, all very drunk, and placed them in his car. He then went back to get Willis and others of the participants. Willis started to run, and the officer went after him, calling several times for him to halt. Willis then turned and reached for his hip pocket. Cunningham assumed he was reaching for a gun, and drew his own gun and fired into the air to scare Willis. Willis (Continued on Page 3.)

Last Friday the junior class of the Newark High School gave the annual Prom to the seniors and faculty. The dance was held in the school auditorium, which was decorated with the class colors, the feature of the decorative effect being an illuminated seal of the class. Irvin Smith, president of the class, planned the decorations and made the seal. About 200 attended the affair.

The patronesses were Mrs. H. H. Gray, Mrs. R. S. Gallaher, Mrs. E. L. Richards, Mrs. Homer Van Sant, Mrs. Morris Coverdale, Mrs. T. M. Malin. Kelley's Orchestra furnished music.

Frosh Bonfire

Last night the freshman class of Delaware College celebrated its emancipation from the strictures prohibitions of its lowly degree by kindling a huge bonfire on the parking space at the Women's College, and burning its badges of degradation. The town was scoured for loose inflammable material, and Chris White drafted with his truck to haul fuel for the flames. As the fire soared the green baskets and caps were tossed into the blaze. As fuel ran low, various signs, which dot the Women's College campus, were added to the conflagration, Harrington being enticed away in the meanwhile.

CURTIS ARTISTS GIVE CONCERT

Third Concert Of Student Artists Brings Exceptional Talent To Newark

The third of the series of concerts, by the Student Artists of the Curtis Institute of Music, and sponsored by the Newark Music Society, was given at Wolf Hall on Monday evening, with a large crowd in attendance. The program was rendered by Lucie Stern, pianist, student of Mr. Josef Hofmann, and Edna Hochstetter, student of Madame Marcella Sembrich. Miss Hochstetter was assisted by Elizabeth Westmoreland at the piano. Judging from the ovations received, these artist students rate among the most popular who have ever appeared at a local concert.

3 HURT IN CRASH TROLLEY AT ELSMERE

In a collision between an automobile and a trolley car, at the trolley crossing on the State road at Elsmere, Mrs. C. W. Mumford, Mrs. Albert Fletcher and Miss Joan Fletcher, all of Newark, were cut by glass and badly suffered a severe shaking up.

Mrs. Fletcher received two severe cuts, one of the eye and one in the neck, that necessitated five stitches to close. Mrs. Mumford and Miss Fletcher were cut on the legs. All were taken to the Delaware Hospital to have their injuries dressed and then returned to Newark.

It is said that the accident occurred when the street car ran across the highway without sounding any warning. The crossing is "blind" at both sides, and a motorist could not see a car in time to stop.

Mrs. Mumford was driving, and struck the street car at the front door. The front of Mrs. Mumford's car was badly damaged, and the door of the street car was damaged to such an extent that it would not close.

Witness of the accident, one of them a County Constable, testified that the street car ran on the crossing without giving any warning.

STORE OPENING A SUCCESS

Hundreds of persons inspected the new hardware store, opened last Saturday in the Opera House building by George Jackson, and were given souvenirs of scrub and vegetable brushes, scouring powders, and miniature Louisville slugger bats for the children. The new store was well arranged with the stock displayed in attractive cases and on panels built on the walls. Mr. Jackson is handling a general line of hardware, builders' supplies, poultry supplies, electrical appliances, paints, oils, varnishes, sporting goods and house furnishings.

CONTRACTORS ON NEW P. O. FAIL

Richard Gove Co. Goes To Wall And Quits Work On New Building; Gov't Engineer Assumes Charge, And Work Is Not Stopped; All Bills Should Be Presented To J. L. Oberwager, Gov't Engineer

On Monday the Richard Gove Company, of Philadelphia, contractors for the new post office building in Newark, officially left the job. This was due to financial losses on other contracts, which forced the company to the wall. However, work has not been stopped on the building as the Constitution Indemnity Company, of Philadelphia, who bonded the Gove Company on this contract, stepped into the breach immediately, and J. L. Oberwager, the government construction engineer in charge of the construction of the building, is supervising the work.

The crises came last Saturday, when the Gove Company was unable to meet its payroll. Mr. Oberwager got in immediate touch with the bonding company, and cash was sent to the Farmers' Trust Company to meet the payroll and other obligations. In this connection Mr. Oberwager states that anyone who has bills against the Gove Company on this contract, should present their bills to him, and he will arrange to have them paid. Mr. Oberwager pays particular tribute to the quick and efficient action of the bonding company in meeting the situation. He says, that in his long experience in government building, he has known of no other bonding company which has taken as quick action in a similar situation.

BREWER CANNOT RETAIN OFFICE

Attorney-General's Opinion
Declares Representative Ineligible To Hold Office Of Chief Examiner

Many officials were surprised to hear, last week, that Attorney-General Reuben Satterthwaite, Jr., had rendered an opinion to Governor Buck that Representative Wayne C. Brewer was not eligible to hold the office of chief of examiners of motor vehicle operators, an office to which he had been appointed by Secretary of State Charles Grantland. It was thought that Mr. Satterthwaite would take into consideration the precedent of a number of cases of a similar nature, and rule Mr. Brewer eligible to the office.

Protests to Mr. Brewer's appointment, on grounds of eligibility, were made to Governor Buck, shortly after the appointment, and the Governor asked Attorney-General Satterthwaite for an opinion. In discussing the matter and the request made to him by Governor Buck for an opinion Mr. Satterthwaite said: "There are two questions to be considered; first, is the office to which the member of the General Assembly has been appointed a civil office?"

"I am clearly of the opinion that persons appointed to the office provided for under paragraph B, section (Continued on Page 3.)

TOWN OFFICER HURT IN CRASH

William Wideman Suffers
Fractured Skull, Broken Nose In Collision Between Motorcycle And Truck

William Wideman, 35 years old, of Newark, a New Castle County Constable, and a special officer for the Town of Newark, was painfully injured, last Friday, when the motorcycle, which he was riding, crashed head-on into a Chevrolet truck, on the old Baltimore Pike, near the Ferris Industrial School. Officer Wideman sustained a slight fracture of the skull, a broken nose, and a badly lacerated leg. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital, following the accident, and was brought to his home here, yesterday. The truck was owned by the Diamond State Telephone Company, and driven by Vaughn Ponsell, of Newark.

The accident occurred on a curve, this side of the Industrial School. According to Constable Wideman, he was running South on the Pike, and as he was rounding the curve saw the truck approaching from the opposite direction. He said that the truck swerved out into the road and that he leaned his motorcycle sideways to avoid a collision. However, he said that the distance was too short to swing his machine, and that he struck the truck between the left headlight and fender. Wideman stated that when his machine and the truck crashed, his motor was out of gear and shut off, and his speedometer stopped at 20 miles an hour.

Ponsell said that he saw the officer rounding the curve, and that he crowded to the right side of the road to avoid a collision. He said that when the two vehicles stopped they were in the ditch on the right side of the road.

Ponsell offered to take the officer to a hospital, but as his truck was damaged, a passing motorist took and hurried the injured man to the Homeopathic Hospital. Ponsell notified the police, and State Highway Officer Ritter went to the scene of the accident to investigate. He found the truck and the motorcycle in the ditch, and examined the tracks. No arrest was made. Both the truck and the motorcycle were badly damaged.

Mayor Names Memorial Day Committee

This morning, Mayor Collins town was scoured for losses in a committee of three to arrange for a proper observance of Memorial Day by the Town of Newark. The committee is composed of a member of the Council of Newark, and a member from each of the two local service organizations. Herbert Henning will represent the Council; William Rupp, State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will represent the Newark Veterans Post, and Representative Wayne C. Brewer, chairman of the Newark American Legion Post Memorial Day Committee, will represent the Legion. These three will meet to formulate a program and will probably call a general meeting of local organizations who plan to take part in the parade and services.

Mayor Collins' statement read as follows: "On behalf of the Town of Newark and at the request of many citizens, I hereby appoint Herbert Henning, William Rupp and Wayne C. Brewer a committee to conduct a proper observance of Memorial Day, and that all organizations cooperate with the committee to this end."

It has been suggested by Arthur G. Wilkinson, business administrator of the University, that instead of holding the Memorial Day services at the Memorial Rock, at Old College, that the services be held at the Memorial Library. It is thought that the committee will act on this suggestion.

DEL. GRADUATES GO ON FARMS

Dean McCue States That One-Third Of University Graduates Are In Agricultural Pursuits

At a dinner of the Agricultural Club, of the University of Delaware, held last Friday evening in the Blue Hen Tea Room, Dean M. C. A. McCue, of the agricultural school, made the statement that one-third of the graduates of the University of Delaware are on farms or in occupations closely allied with agriculture.

Two things prevent students from entering agricultural pursuits in the opinion of Dean McCue. One of them is the fact that many have no farms to return to after graduation because their parents operate farms too small to employ two men, and the other, he said, is lack of capital with which to start farming.

Dean Dutton brought a word of welcome to the guests. One of the features of the evening was an address by W. T. Derickson, director of the Bureau of Markets, who described in detail just what the Bureau is trying to do.

Agriculture teachers of State high schools attended the dinner and each brought a guest, who is planning to enter college. Thomas Malin and Vincent Meyer attended from Newark High School.

Leslie Potts, president of the Agricultural Club, was toastmaster. The new president of the club for next year will be W. B. Simpson, of Houston, Del., who will be in the senior class next year.

MILLCREEK FRIENDS

Having a Quaker president has increased interest in the Society of Friends. North of Newark about three and one-half miles is Korner Ketch, and one-half mile further north is Old Millcreek Friends' Meeting House. The families who well filled it on Sunday mornings some thirty years ago have gradually moved to other neighborhoods, so that for the past several years no regular meeting has been held there. But Richard G. Buckingham, known to Newarkers for his interest in Grand Army affairs, and a very few other resident members, with the aid of the larger meeting with which it is affiliated, hold meetings for worship there at intervals. Such a meeting will be held on next Sunday afternoon the 19th at 2 o'clock, standard time. Wilbur K. Thomas, a speaker of ability and force is expected to be there. This will afford a near-by opportunity for all to visit a real Friends' meeting. You are assured of a very hearty welcome.

OPENS NEW BUSINESS

Last Saturday, Mr. John Frank, formerly from Elkton, opened a shoe shining and hat cleaning parlor in the store next to Rhodes' Drug Store. He is equipped to clean, block and repair all types of hats and to dye shoes any color. Mr. Frank is an ex-service man, having served overseas with the 79th Division.

no. of the act concerning motor vehicles and making uniform the law relating thereto, is a civil office within section 11, article of the State Constitution which reads as follows:

"No Senator or Representative during the term for which he shall have been elected shall be appointed to any civil office under this State, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased during such term."

Continuing his opinion Mr. Satterthwaite says: "The second question was said office created during the time for which said Representative was elected?"

"The answer to this question is more difficult but I am of the opinion that the office was created in 1925, by the last General Assembly and for that reason believe the person named to the office, who was a member of the said General Assembly, is disqualified and ineligible to the office."

When Secretary Grantland made the appointment, he argued that the specific office was not created by the Legislature, and that Mr. Brewer was eligible, even though he was a member of the General Assembly, which passed the bill making the examination of operators compulsory. From a standpoint of precedent, it seemed that Mr. Brewer's eligibility would be sustained. One example was that of Mr. Grantland himself, who in 1915 was appointed head of the Child Labor Bureau, after he had sat in the Legislature, which created the bureau. A decision was rendered in this case. Other cases are those of Chief Lutz, who was a member of the Legislature, which created a paid fire department in Wilmington, of which Mr. Lutz became chief, and of present Collector of Internal Revenue Handy, who, when a Senator, was made head of the State Tilling Department, after he had voted for the bill which created the department. In these other cases, the offices in question were specified in the bills. In Mr. Brewer's case, no office was specified.

William Ball, director of the Motor Vehicle Department is taking charge of the examination of operators, and is using the program outlined by Mr. Brewer, before he was deposed from the office.

WAR VETS BRING BIG SHOW HERE

than twenty-five separate shows and riding devices, including some real novelties. Among the side shows will be found such attractions as The House of Wonders, a really great mystery show, in which a beautiful girl is buried alive six feet under ground. She will remain buried thirty-six hours. There is another big surprise attraction, the Dixie Revue, an all colored night club show, with twenty-five people in the cast, including a band and orchestra. Others are: The Circus, Side Show, Follies Revue, Athletic Stadium, Fat Folks, Midgits, Law and Outlaw Exhibit, The Flea Circus. There are six big rides on the Midway: The Merry-Go-Round, The Whip, The Big Ferris Wheel, The Merry Mixup, and a brand new thriller, The Tilt O' Whirl.

The huge joy trail will be laid out to represent a horseshoe, the side shows with their beautiful panel showfronts studded with hundreds of electric bulbs will form a huge shoe, the mammoth riding devices will fill the entire center space, the midway with its thousands of colored lights, and thrilling rides.

The Stone Shows this season present a free Circus each evening at ten o'clock and at three in the afternoons, this free entertainment will be presented on a huge stage erected in the center of the midway and the feature act is the Noel Lester Company, one of the very best acts of its kind in the world.

The local Veterans are well pleased with the wonderful reports coming in regarding the Stone Shows and look forward to a successful week. All attractions will be up and ready to open Monday evening at eight o'clock, daylight time. There will be a band concert by the Stone Show Band at eight and immediately after the concert State Commander William Rupp will blow the whistle that will start all attractions. The Veterans hope that everyone will come out and enjoy the wonderful clean and health-giving outdoor amusements that will hold forth during the entire week of May the 20th.

started to run again, fumbling at his pocket as he ran, and the officer shot low at him striking him in the leg. Willis kept on around a building where he fell.

Willis was taken to a doctor by the officer, and then sent to the Workhouse to be held, for the time being, as a material witness. Owing to his condition, he was given no trial.

During the capture of Willis, two of the officer's other three prisoners escaped, only Samuel Bailey, colored, staying in the car where he had been put. Blumell, who decamped during the excitement, was picked up later by Officers Cunningham and Keeley, and late in the evening, Carleton "Tex" Tait, colored, another of the fighters, was arrested and all were lodged in jail.

When Blumell was arrested and brought into Magistrate Thompson's office for questioning, he stated, that he and Willis had "gone up New London avenue to kill." He was very drunk, and was lodged in jail with Bailey to sober off.

Blumell, Bailey and Tait were arraigned before Magistrate Thompson, Tuesday afternoon, all charged with being drunk and disorderly. Blumell was represented by Edward Coeh, who stated that his client pled guilty to being drunk, but not guilty to being disorderly. Magistrate Thompson said that he had made some investigation of Blumell's character, and finding it reputable, was inclined to be lenient, and would retire the charge of being disorderly. Blumell was fined $10 and costs on a charge of drunkenness.

Bailey and Tait both pled guilty, and were fined $10 and costs each. Tait's fine was paid by J. L. Oberwager, government engineer on the post office construction, and Bailey was sent to the Workhouse for 5 days in default of fine.

Willis, the wounded man, has long and colorful police records both in Delaware and Maryland, and is known as a tough and vicious character. About a month ago he was caught in an attempted jail break in the Elkton jail. He has been arrested in Newark a number of times; once for attempted assault on Chief of Police Keeley with a brick, and on several occasions for being drunk and disorderly.

The fight, which is said to have been incited by Willis, is thought to have centered around a sum of $46, and a gold watch. There was a crowd of probably twenty in and about the fight. It is thought that Willis may have been armed, and had been relieved of his gun or knife by a confederate in his quarrel, after he was shot. No weapons were found on him when he was picked up.

Other Cases

Shortly after the fight on New London avenue had taken place, two other drunks were picked up by Officer Cunningham and Keeley. They were Clarence Poole and Charles Hamilton, both white, and both employed at the brick yard. Hamilton was fined $10 and costs and the fine paid. Poole, who had been arrested Friday for being drunk, and allowed to go for appearance Saturday, had failed to appear Saturday. He was given 5 days in the Workhouse.

Ten speeding motorists were arraigned before Magistrate Thompson during the week by State Highway officers. Nine paid fines of $10, one was fined $25.

Town officer Cunningham arrested E. N. Pratt on Friday for failing to stop at a red traffic signal at Chapel and Main streets, and on Saturday arrested Elbert J. Wright for flagrant disregard of the boulevard stop sign at Main and Academy streets. Both paid fines of $5 and costs.

We can do more good by being good than in any other way.—Rowland Hill.

Political Reprisal

Last week a decision by Attorney-General Satterthwaite ruled Representative Wayne C. Brewer ineligible to hold the office of chief of examiners of motor vehicle operators. The appointment was made by Secretary of State Grantland, and immediately protests reached Governor Buck. The Governor asked for a decision and the decision was adverse.

Mr. Satterthwaite based his opinion on the clause in the Constitution which prohibits a member of the Legislature from holding an office he voted to create. The question could be viewed from two angles. The office was not specified in the bill which provided that all new operators of motor vehicles be examined, but was created by the Secretary of State, who was specified in the bill as being responsible for these examinations. It could be argued that in this way the office was created indirectly by the bill, and as Mr. Brewer voted for the bill, he was not eligible to hold the office. This was the view which Mr. Satterthwaite took of the matter in framing his opinion. On the other hand, it could be and was argued by the Secretary of State, that the bill did not specify any office of chief examiner, and that as Mr. Brewer did not vote to create such an office, he was eligible to accept and hold the appointment. This viewpoint has considerable precedent to support it, for a number of favorable decisions have been rendered on similar cases. In fact in two of them members of the Legislature were considered eligible as heads of departments and bureaus, which were specifically named and provided for in the bills for which they voted.

During the last meeting of the Legislature, Mr. Brewer was politically injudicious on a number of occasions in his stand on various measures. He was guilty of being more interested in the welfare of the taxpayers he represented, than he was of the interests and purposes of various political factions. Reprisals were in order, and it would appear that the first one had been executed.

The New Postoffice

The new Newark Federal postoffice building, now under construction at Main and Center streets, has just passed another unfortunate episode in its rather checkered history. On Monday, the Richard Gove Company, the holders of the building contract on the building, suffered financial failure and abandoned work on the building. However, in this case the situation was saved by prompt work on the part of the government engineer supervising the construction, and the bonding company, which was on the job with cold cash within a few hours. The bonding company will finish the building and work has not been delayed a day. Until another contractor is appointed, Mr. J. L. Oberwager, the government engineer, is doing double duty as construction engineer and supervising officer.

The construction on the new Federal building was delayed months in order to get a satisfactory bid on the contract, and had it not been for the capable emergency work on the part of Mr. Oberwager, there might have been another delay of perhaps weeks. Mr. Oberwager immediately straightened out the details of the debacle and within a few hours had the bonding company on the job and satisfied. The bonding company is meeting the obligations of the Gove Company, and any persons with claims have only to present them to Mr. Oberwager to have them satisfied. Mr. Oberwager promises a finished building by October 1.

Appeals to Pride

W. W. Mack, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, has appealed to the pride of the people of the state in the matter of the appearance of their highways and roads. Mr. Mack brings up the old question of using the highways as public dumps, and states that the State spends a large sum of money each month in cleaning up litter and rubbish, strewn and dumped on the highways by thoughtless motorists.

Delaware, in proportion to its size, has one of the finest and best kept systems of highways in the country. There are many beautiful drives along the state roads and country by-ways, but often as you approach a scene that is a gem of natural beauty, your delight is marred by a pile of rusty tin cans or a bundle of rubbish. Apparently the practice is one of pure carelessness, for in many instances the names and addresses of the dumpers are found on the packages of rubbish.

The town of Newark, and most other towns in the state, provide for a collection of rubbish at regular intervals, and there is not the slightest excuse for the abominable practice of using the roads and highways as dumps. These dumps are usually found a short distance out of a town, and the logical impression is that the citizens of that town must be a slovenly lot.

The people of Delaware, as a whole, are intensely proud of their First State, and this pride should be enough to stamp out these careless practices, if these people are made to realize that littered roads and highways give both the State and its inhabitants a name for slovenliness.

RUSH CARPETS ONCE SERVED ROYALTY

Although the making of fabrics is a very ancient art, primitive substitutes for cloth and other woven materials were used until fairly recent times, even by the royalty of the Western World. The kings of England have not always had carpets for their floors. When William the Conqueror invested his favorites with some of the Aylesbury lands it was stipulated that they should provide straw for his bedchamber. Edward II purchased straw for his chamber, and even Queen Elizabeth had her presence chamber at Greenwich strewn with rushes, probably, however, out of mere respect for tradition.

A traveler returning from England to France in the reign of the French King Henry III reported that he had seen but "three things remarkable; which were that the people did drink in boots, eat raw fish and strewed all their best rooms with hay." In Shakespeare's time the English stage was strewn with rushes and the Globe Theatre was roofed with them. Matting eventually succeeded the rushes on the stage; and when a tragedy was played there were hangings of black cloth. Churches were also strewn with rushes; and the custom grew into a religious festival long continued.

In the domestic economy, moreover, there were uses for rushes other than as floor coverings. Rush-lights or candles with rush wicks, are of great antiquity, the Romans having used them at funerals and at other ceremonies. The earliest Irish candles were rushes dipped in grease and placed in lamps of oil. The rush lights were used even to the end of the eighteenth century.

Energy and persistence conquer all things.—Franklin.

week for another contractor to take up the work of construction for the bonding company. In the meantime so as not to cause delay in the work or lay off workmen on the job, Mr. Oberwager is acting in the dual capacity of contractor and supervising engineer. He will not be allowed by the government to do this indefinitely, but he says that the misfortune of the original contractors will not in any way delay the date of completion of the building, and that he will have it ready for delivery on October 1.

Mr. Oberwager said that he wanted to speak in commendation of Mr. B. D. Myrtitus, the Gove Company engineer on this contract. He said that Mr. Myrtitus was in no way responsible for the failure of the company, and that he had done everything possible on this contract.

Mr. Oberwager explained that the government is entirely covered from loss by the bonding company, and that all bills will be paid. He said that all government work was bonded, and that the government was further protected by a law which states that no lien can be made on government property or materials to satisfy debt.

People seldom improve when they have no other model but themselves to copy after.—Goldsmith.

Some hints on good slogan writing

The best way to begin is to buy a loaf of FADERS' QUALITY BREAD and start eating it. Notice its delicious wheaty flavor, the smooth springy texture of its crumb, and the rich brownness of its crust.
When you have discovered for yourself how delightful FADERS' QUALITY BREAD really is, slogan ideas will start coming pretty easily.
Try to make your slogans convey something of the loaf's appetizing qualities. Perhaps you can make them descriptive of the fine ingredients that are carefully baked into the loaf. At any rate, get some selling appeal into them. Something that will make people want to buy FADERS' QUALITY BREAD. Make them short, snappy, to the point, easy to say and remember.
Start putting your ideas on paper now! You have every chance of winning one of these prizes!

ORCHARD SPRAY NOTES

All orchardists in New Castle county have been mailed the Orchard Spray Notes No. 5 within the past few days from the County Extension Office at Newark. These notes are prepared by Dr. J. F. Adams, Plant Pathologist of the University of Delaware and the State Board of Agriculture.

Dr. Adams' notes are as follows: Continued cool and stormy weather prevails that has made it difficult for consistent spraying. The unfavorable weather during the blooming period for some of the apple varieties is showing its effect through a small set of fruit in Sussex and Kent counties. Apple scab was first found on the 25th of April, but no severe outbreak has been observed to date. Curculio have been quite active and probably with warmer weather more injury will result. Fire-blight became active during blossom period as is evident.

Apples

The continued rainy weather has greatly reduced the efficiency of the calyx application which was generally completed last week. Apple scab and curculio must be held in check. We consider that the first summer application is of special importance at this time. This is the spray application that should be completed within two weeks after petal fall. The main object is to keep good coverage on all growth during this rapid growing period. Start spraying the week of May 13th.

What to Spray With

Use commercial lime-sulphur (testing 32 degrees Baume) at the rate of 4 gal. to 196 gallons of water (1-50 strength). To each 200 gallons of spray, add six pounds of lead arsenate. Because of possible arsenical injury to fruit and leaves, add about 12 pounds of lime as a preventive. A standard sulphur-lead arsenate-lime dust should be used where growers are equipped for dusting.

Peaches

Peaches are ready for the next spray about three weeks after petal fall, or two weeks after the shuck stage. This protection is needed because of curculio, brown rot, and scab. Use dry-mix at the rate of 50 pounds to 200 gallons of water, with 5 pounds of arsenate of lead, plus 10 pounds of lime. Where dust is being applied, use 70-10-20 combination, or if frequent applications are being made, use 80-8-15 combination. If aphids are present, add nicotine sulphate (Black Leaf 40), 1½ pts. to 200 gallons of spray. Two quarts of fish oil soap with this mixture will increase the efficiency.

DOG MOVIE STAR AT STATE THEATRE MONDAY

Silver King, the wonder dog of the stage and screen, heralded as the peer of all canine actors, will make a personal appearance with his manager and director, Arthur Butler, at the State Theatre for two days, commencing Monday, May 20.

Silver King is now on his tour of selected bookings prior to his return to Hollywood, California, to again appear before the eye of the Camera in what his director is confident will be his greatest achievement in the silent drama. It might be interesting to know Silver King is a seasoned movie actor and a star of the first magnitude, having appeared in feature pictures which attained great popularity after release and are now showing in various parts of the country.

Silver King comes from the Strongheart breed. Strongheart, who is his grandfather, was the first famous motion picture dog. Silver King was born and brought up in Florida. It is said he possesses more human intelligence than any other animal of the present day.

In contracting for this special feature, Mr. Handloff of the State Theatre is confident of presenting a style of animal acting which will have a strong appeal to all classes of his patrons, especially those who have animal pets and he openly says: "Every human loves a dog and all will adore Silver King."

Christian Science Churches

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 12.

Golden Text: "They which are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God; but the children of promise are counted for the seed." (Romans 9:8).

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul." (Genesis 2:7.) The lesson-sermon also included passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

NEWARK FOLKS GASSED

The Home Drug Co., the druggists, say: "If your stomach is bloated up like a gas bag, bowels terribly constipated, a bad taste in your mouth, sleep restless, and in the morning you are just as tired as when you went to bed, try Hera. After using 5 days, if it doesn't make you feel just like a new person, stronger in every way, eating with a hearty appetite—and the best part of it, 'No Indigestion,' then return bottle and receive your money back. Come in and let the Home Drug Co. explain about Hera for good health. Try it at their risk.—Adv.

COD LIVER MEAL ADDS TO FEED INGREDIENTS

Cod liver meal made from fresh livers of the codfish after some of the oil has been extracted has proved to be of great value to the poultry industry. Added to a good poultry mash it has the same effect as direct sunlight, insuring full mineral nutrition twelve months of the year. The birds are healthier, grow bigger and stronger frames, lay more uniformly and produce eggs that contain greater nourishment.

In correcting mineral nutrition cod liver meal practically eliminates the common mineral deficiency troubles such as poor, soft bones, paralysis, and thin, weak shelled eggs. It makes possible the raising of good chicks at any time of the year and in any kind of weather.

While cod liver is fairly rich in Vitamin D, that is not its most valuable property. Cod liver meal in common with all the other liver tissues has the property of very markedly improving the condition of the blood. You are probably familiar with the fact that calves liver costs from three to four times as much today as it did five years ago, because the doctors are recommending the use of it in the case of anaemia or as a regular part of the diet to keep the blood in the very best condition.

Birds receiving cod liver meal in their ration have a large proportion of red corpuscles in the blood. There is a distinct difference in the appearance and health of the birds. They have the bright red comb that you like to see.

Because of the better condition of the blood the digestion of the remainder of the feed is more thorough and more complete. Birds keep in better flesh and in better feather. They lay eggs free from blood clots. Cod liver meal gives them greater resistance to the more common poultry troubles such as bleeding combs, colds, roup, chicken pox, egg paralysis and the like.

In addition to keeping the blood in good condition and correcting mineral nutrition, cod liver meal provides an abundance of excellent liver material. The liver is ordinarily quite heavily taxed and the first organ to break down. Cod liver meal supplies just what the birds need to keep this organ healthy.

It also provides some unknown factors that have a direct effect on the hatchability of eggs. If you figure on hatching eggs from your flock or selling hatching eggs, you cannot afford to overlook this feature. It is astonishing the radical improvement cod liver meal makes in the hatchability and quality of chicks produced, especially during the early part of the hatching season.

The use of cod liver meal in a ration not only radically improves the health and laying qualities of the flock but also insures full nourishment in the eggs, giving them greater food value for human consumption. Hens that do not get sufficient sunshine or its equivalent in the ration produce eggs low in bone building materials.

To be effective cod liver meal has to be used with a well-balanced ration. It is not the total nutrients supplied by cod liver meal that make it so valuable, but its action on the other ingredients. Baby chicks, growing stock and laying hens are able to get more good out of every mouthful of feed when cod liver meal constitutes part of the ration.

HUNDREDS OF JEWELS USED MAKING NASHES

Kenosha, Wis., Feb.—Hundreds of precious jewels, in addition to the diamond tools employed in steel cutting and boring, enter into the precision manufacturing processes demanded by C. W. Nash, in his Nash Motors plants.

They play an important part in the close inspection operations where dimensions to within one-millionth of an inch—the closest and most accurate measurement known—are used in producing the "400" Series of Nash cars.

Light waves, too, utilized in the special master gauge which forms the absolute in Nash precision, are employed in this interesting measurement. It was disclosed by engineers today. The master gauge is used to test and regulate more than three hundred gauges used in the plants and is one of the most interesting instruments developed in modern motor car manufacturing. It regulates the working gauges which, in turn, have jewel bearings—a super-accuracy feature said to be an exclusive Nash safeguard.

To utilize light waves, special lenses are brought into play and light is projected on the gauge to be inspected as compared with a perfect master model. Any variation in the size of the two objects produces light rays, each indicating a millionth part of an inch. If there are no light rays visible, the tester knows that the working gauge is positively accurate and that the motor parts it measures will also be accurate.

Thousands of snap gauges and fixed micrometers are also used through the Nash factories. In many instances, special gauges have been developed by the factory inspection department to reduce labor and improve inspections. One such working gauge, for example, checks the piston pin cross bore to within one ten-thousandth of an inch, and must be kept absolutely accurate by the master gauge. Another of the many gauges checks the taper of Nash rear axles. It is a simple instrument which contacts the large and small sections of the taper, and registers any inaccuracy to a half-thousandth inch. It explains why no Nash car is ever seen with wobbly rear wheels, according to engineers.

At every possible point in manufacturing, the skill, ability and "feel" of the operator has given way in the Nash plants to the more dependable and less difficult action of checking gauges. Each Nash workman becomes an inspector of his own handiwork, and every part is checked for accuracy at the time of machining. In addition, a large corps of trained inspectors are employed to make counter checks on all parts of the cars. The finished product, obviously, attains the highest degree of mechanical perfection.

For the Housewife

Stuffed Celery Salad

Remove the skins and bones from a small can of salmon, flake the fish and blend it with one-fourth cup of mayonnaise, one-third cup of minced gherkins and salt and pepper to taste. Clean celery stalks and cut into two-inch lengths. Stuff with the salmon mixture and serve on a celery dish garnished with fresh celery leaves sprinkled with paprika.

Lunch Box Sandwich

Scrape or peel one small bunch of carrots and run through the food chopper, using the finest attachment; this should produce a cup of carrot pulp. Mix with a large can of salmon, and one cup of boiled salad dressing. Season to taste. Slice whole-wheat bread, and butter. Spread liberally with salmon, and put together. This sandwich is especially good for the school child's luncheon.

Salmon Croquettes

Mix thoroughly one can of salmon, juice of one lemon, one egg, three pulverized crackers, one small, minced onion, and seasoning to taste. Roll in cracker crumbs, dip in slightly beaten egg, dip in crumbs again and fry in deep fat. Serve with white sauce containing one tablespoon of chopped pimientos to a cup of sauce.

Salmon Casserole

Pick one can of salmon into as large pieces as possible; add six small, diced potatoes, one parboiled and diced green pepper, two canned pimientos cut in strips, two tablespoons chopped parsley, two tablespoons chopped chives, and two sliced, hard boiled eggs. Mix lightly and pour into a buttered casserole. Over it pour one cup thin white sauce, sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes.

Keep clear of personalities in conversation. Talk of things, objects, thoughts. The smallest minds occupy themselves with persons. Do not needlessly report ill of others. As far as possible dwell on the good side of human beings. There are family boards where a constant process of depreciation, assigning motives, and cutting up character goes forward. They are not pleasant places. One who is healthy does not wish to dine at a dissecting table. There is evil enough in man, God knows. But it is not the mission of every young man and woman to detail and report it all. Keep the atmosphere as pure as possible, and fragrant with gentleness and charity.—John Hill.

RESOLUTIONS

W. D. Jamieson, formerly a Democratic member of Congress from Iowa, publishes a leaflet called the Window Seat, for his own satisfaction and the diversion of readers.

He declares in the current number that he believes in making resolutions, and announces three, as follows:

"1. I'm going to try not to complain.

"2. I'm going to try to be just myself.

"3. I'm going to try better to sort out the things to do.

"1. So many of the good things of this old world come to a fellow that if he'll keep busy on them he won't have any time to growl. Besides complaining hurts not only the fellow himself, making his ills seem bigger and more real, but it hurts those he comes in contact with.

"2. I'd lots rather be genuine than to try to ape the other fellow who may be smarter and richer and bigger than I am.

"3. How the time does fly, and how easy it is to let the thousand little things rob us of the precious moments! Don't you often look back on a day and feel that you have accomplished so much less than you should have done, no matter how hard you tried? I'm going to try to get out, better, my things of work and of play. I want every day to count."

DEL-MAR-VA ASSOCIATION
ANNUAL MEETING, MAY 29
Combining the formal business of the fourth annual meeting of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association with a luncheon so that it will be a one session affair instead of taking an entire day, plans are being completed for the rally to be held at the Wicomico Hotel, Salisbury, Wednesday, May 29. It will open with a luncheon at 12.30 p. m. The luncheon will be followed by the business session, at which time a general review of the Association's activities during the last year will be presented. A new president, senior vice-president, treasurer and a governor from each county, will be elected. Reports from individual departments will be read.

CIRCUS DAY TO BRING HORDE OF WONDERS
It was glorious news to young and old brought in the announcement of the early appearance of the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, with its thousand and one wonders which will exhibit in Wilmington, Friday, May 24. The only five-ring circus in the world with a Big Top seating more than 16,000 persons, will this year offer more new and startling acts than ever before in its history.

Not least in the attractiveness of the Big Show will be the presence of 7 herds of elephants, 43 great pachyderms, the majority of which are highly trained performers. There are likewise the largest herds of giraffes, zebras and camels in captivity.

The menagerie of the Ringling-Barnum Circus is the largest traveling zoo in the world, and in its gilded cages there appear every known variety of animal, brought from the earth's remote corners by agents of the huge amusement institution.

And at each performance is to be seen "Goliath," the monster sea elephant, weighing five tons and eating 400 pounds of fish daily. During the past year "Goliath" has grown a full ton in weight.

The circus marts of the world have been combed to produce for this greatest of all shows the most daring and spectacular acts, chief among which this year is the one and only original Zachinai, "The Human Projectile," fired bodily through space from the mouth of a monster cannon.

The Big Show travels on its own four trains of 100 double length railroad cars.

A QUESTION OF MEASUREMENT
A million axle shafts, each one exactly like the other 999,999 within one thousandth of an inch—four million pistons fitting four million cylinders with a degree of exactness that all but staggers the imagination—many more millions of drilled and threaded holes, all placed with an accuracy of location that is incomprehensible to any but the mechanically or mathematically minded—and all these factors, combined with other millions of parts manufactured in widely separated units of a gigantic plant, meeting on an assembly line to fashion a million automobiles! This is the miracle that is modern mass production, the miracle that was conjured up by Mr. Henry Ford when he started his first automobile assembly line.

The story of how it is possible to make a million—or ten million, or twenty million, for that matter—of any machine part, each one identical with all its fellows, is a story of measurements. Just as that story of measurements explains the ability of the Ford Motor Company to produce fifteen million Model T automobiles, it also explains Mr. Ford's ability to produce the Model A in the same plants and by the same methods that made possible the pioneer Ford cars, yet at limits that are from 1/4 to 1/2 what they were on the Model T.

Today, in the Detroit plants, mechanics who have never looked through the eye-piece of a microscope are measuring within limits too fine for any unaided eye to see. Model A parts machined to within one ten-thousandth part of an inch accuracy are all in the day's work. Back of this precision are something like a million gages that must be kept in correct adjustment at all times, and many thousands of these gages are in constant use throughout the Ford plants. There is no time for hand-fitting of inaccurate parts on the assembly line. They must either fit the first time or they are valueless. Therefore, the parts must leave the various machines which fashion them with every specified dimension correct. The result is that when put together, the car moves off the assembly line under its own power, a completed means of transportation requiring no special adjustments.

There are inspection and working gages to measure outside and inside diameters, lengths, widths, heights, angles, pitch diameter and lead of screw threads, which are in the hands of workmen throughout each day, testing and checking each part as it passes from machine to machine through the plant. But these gages will wear or get slightly out of adjustment under constant use, therefore, they must be constantly watched. So behind them must be master gages, of greater accuracy, for use as Standards. These master gages, the product of the C. E. Johanson Division of the Ford Motor Company, are accurate within a millionth part of an inch.

Throughout the Ford plants inspectors are moving constantly, each with special hardened, ground and lapped rectangular steel blocks—Johanson Gages. These gage blocks are in special sizes to meet requirements of the workman's scrutiny; making it unnecessary for inspectors to make up combinations to measure different dimensions of length. A set of 81 gage blocks, such as is used in the tool rooms, can be combined to measure 120,000 different size lengths, from three-sixteenths inch to over twelve inches, and each of the 120,000 combination gages represent a variation of one ten-thousandth part of an inch.

On some operations where the limits are close, the gages are changed every two to four hours to correct a wear of one ten-thousandth part of an inch which occurs in that time. Others are adjusted or changed at less frequent intervals, as frequency of use and amount of wear dictates.

In addition to their use in the production of Ford cars, trucks, airplanes and Lincoln automobiles, the Johanson gage blocks are the standard of the world for industrial precision measurement of length.
