Marking a continuance of the steady increase in private construction work here, a total of 14 building permits authorizing new construction amounting to $19,950 were issued by the Town Council at its monthly meeting Monday night in the Council offices.

The largest went to the Eagle Furniture Company for a $5000 block addition to its store at 162 East Main Street, while the next largest was granted to Mervin C. Jackson for a $4000 block and stucco bungalow on Chambers Street.

During October 16,817,600 gallons of water were pumped for a daily average of 543,563 gallons, a daily increase of 8743 gallons over September and an increase of 1,493,800 gallons over October 1945.

AUXILIARY PLANS NURSE SCHOOL FOR STATE UNITS

Aim To Build Corps Of Nurse Assistants For Vet Hospitals

The Hospital Visitors School for members of the Department of Delaware, American Legion Auxiliary, will open soon, it was reported by Miss Katherine Mitchell, rehabilitation chairman, at the monthly meeting of the J. A. O'Daniel Unit, No. 10, here recently. Mrs. Leonard Rhodes, president, presided.

The school will be conducted, it was said, in order to develop and promote a corps of experienced hospital workers to assist more efficiently hospital staffs caring for disabled veterans.

Various committee reports were also given at the session. The Child Welfare chairman said that clothing had been furnished five veterans' children during September and October.

A gift shop for hospitalized veterans is being established by the department this year, it was further announced. Each veteran will be able to select three gifts to send to members of his family. The Department is being asked to supply 375 gifts not to cost over a dollar each for the project, and local residents or organizations caring to donate are urged to do so. In addition, the gift shop program seeks 25 gifts suitable for little girls. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the disabled veterans in the state will participate in the gift shop project.

Gift donations must be in the hands of the Auxiliary chairman within two weeks, it was said. A covered dish supper, sponsored by the local Auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold Sheaffer, East Main Street, on Thursday evening, November 14, at 6:30 o'clock, it was also announced. The public is invited.

A report on the recent national Legion convention in San Francisco concluded the session. Mrs. J. H. Dickey and Mrs. Orville Little were hostesses for the refreshments.

$15,530 IS FINAL COST OF REPAIRS TO STREETS

Treasurer's Oct. Report To Council Is Outlined

Final cost of the recently completed street repair program here was $15,530.25, some $1000 less than the original estimate. Town Engineer Cleaver Price disclosed at the November meeting of the Town Council Monday night.

A total of $12,822.28 had previously been paid on the contract and Council authorized the payment of the remainder this month. The program, carried out by Julian Jones, Wilmington contractor, included resurfacing of six streets, plus curb and gutter work to several others.

Town Treasurer Vernon Steele reported electric light receipts for October totaling $7,142.17, plus electric power returns of $2,458.99 and water rents amounting to $484.35. The cash balance for the month, the report said, was $89,187.45, less disbursements of $43,037.57, leaving a total cash on hand of $46,149.88.

It was further reported that phase one of the Delaware Power and Light Company's survey of the town electrical service was completed.

A delegation of some 10 residents of East Park Place, with property beyond the town limits, was on hand Monday night to lodge a formal request for permission to secure electric power directly from the Delaware Power and Light Company. Under the present set-up, it was revealed, the company cannot sell current in areas where the town equipment extends. The Council agreed to take the proposal under consideration and advise by the next meeting.

DR. EASTMAN DIES MONDAY IN HOSPITAL

Passes After Sudden Attack At Home Here

In ill health since an accident over a year ago when he suffered a fractured hip in a fall, Dr. Albert Sherman Eastman, 198 Orchard Road, died early Monday morning in the Delaware Hospital from a cerebral hemorrhage. Dr. Eastman, who was 64, retired last year after 20 years service as head of the chemistry department at the University of Delaware.

Since his accident last year while on vacation in Vermont, Dr. Eastman had apparently been recovering, but suffered a sudden relapse Sunday and died less than 12 hours after admission to the hospital.

Dr. Eastman, who was a native of Vermont, received his bachelor degree in chemistry from the University of Vermont and his doctorate from Princeton University.

He came to Delaware in 1922, after having taught at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y.; the University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn.; and at Princeton.

Also, he served as head of the chemistry department at Hercules Powder Company during World War I. Later, he served with another commercial firm a short time before coming to Delaware. In addition, he performed a year's chemical research in Europe in 1934.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Katrina Lord Eastman, and a sister, Mrs. Floyd Keese, Middleburg, Vt. There are no children. Services for Dr. Eastman were held Tuesday morning at the St. Thomas' Episcopal Church. Interment was at Middleburg, Vermont.

Plan Using Air Raid Sirens As Fire Alarms

A plan for converting Newark's four war-time air raid sirens to use in an expanded fire alarm system here was revealed by Aetna Fire Company officials this week.

An improved fire alarm set-up is necessary, they said, due to the fact that volunteers frequently cannot hear the present large siren at the fire house, especially on windy days.

The plan, proposed by Aetna men at Monday's Council meeting, calls for installing the four civilian defense sirens in outlying sections of town, equal distance from the central siren. In this way, it is felt, adequate fire alarm coverage can be maintained.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED TO STUDY DRAFT OF CHARTER

Petitions For Zoning Bill Changes Are Mounting

Further steps towards adopting a new town charter were taken here Monday night by the Town Council, which aims to present a complete draft of the document to the next session of the Legislature in January.

A committee of four was appointed to study the current tentative charter draft recently submitted to Council by the Institute of State and Local Government, University of Pennsylvania, which has been employed in the work of modernizing the present, outmoded town charter for some time.

The committee will devote carefully study to the lengthy and involved tentative draft, propose any changes they feel necessary, and submit their suggestions to Council, which will use them as a working basis for the final draft to be presented to the legislature.

The Council committee includes: Herman Wollaston, Norman Battersby, John Hopkins, and Norris Wright. The committee is authorized to invite any citizen of the town or member of a local civic organization to assist in the work of giving final shape to the new draft.

Action was again postponed Monday night on the proposed town zoning ordinance by the Council members. The Zoning Commission, it was disclosed, has not yet made a final report to Council on revising the draft, which has aroused a heated controversy here.

In addition to the mass of petitions and proposals for changes received last month, further written complaints have been coming in, it was said, including a formal petition, signed by 27 residents of East Main Street registering their objection to extension of the commercial zone in that area.

The Zoning Commission's job is to sift out the conflicting proposals and use them for a basis of revising the current draft.

Their suggestions will be submitted to Council, which will then hold a second public hearing on the new draft.

It is expected that nothing will be done until F. A. Wheelock, local zoning commission head, returns from vacation some time this month.

FARM GROUPS TO ELECT ON NOVEMBER 12

Vote For Rural Committeemen

C. E. Ocheltree, State Director of the Production and Marketing Administration, today appealed to Delaware farmers to go to the polls and vote in the farmer-committeemen elections to be held Tuesday, November 12, in 55 communities throughout the state. The committeemen will be responsible for local administration of the Agricultural Conservation and other national farm programs during the coming year.

Approximately 8,000 farmers in the state are eligible to vote in the coming community elections. Eligible farmers are any person who is participating in the 1946 Agricultural Conservation Program—including owners and tenants on farms where this program is being carried out—and any person who has a contract with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

"We want every eligible farmer in the State to vote in his local committeemen election," Ocheltree emphasized. "This is the democratic way of making sure that the men chosen to administer national farm programs represent the choice of the majority of farmers. We can be certain of this only if every eligible farmer votes. So, I can't urge too strongly that the farmers of each community turn out at the polls."

LEGION MEETING

Thoughtful, considerate acts go a long way toward making good neighbors... and good party-line telephone service. Good neighbors share the line considerately by keeping calls brief, by spacing calls so that others may use the telephone in between, by hanging up gently when the line is in use.

ADVISE IN USE OF DDT ON ANIMALS

Urge Caution When Applied To Livestock

Owners of farm animals and domestic pets were admonished today to exercise at least "ordinary caution" when they use DDT to protect their animals against insects and parasites.

Although federal regulations do not require that DDT be labeled "poison," but only with the word "caution," the American Foundation for Animal Health recommended a conservative policy in use of the new insecticide, especially around milk cows.

"Because cattle and cats engage in the practice of licking their coats, they are probably more likely than other animals to suffer toxic effects from DDT sprayed or powdered on their bodies," the American Foundation warned. "Further, it is known that DDT when consumed in excess, is excreted in the milk of cows. It appears unlikely that a cow would absorb enough to poison the milk, but there is much yet to be learned on this potential hazard. In the meantime, the cautious use of DDT is recommended."

Farmers were advised to use DDT only in a water solution or powdered form when applying it direct to animals. Oily solutions of the insecticide are absorbed through the skin to a degree that might prove dangerous.

Possibility of chronic poisoning from day-to-day contact with DDT seems to be causing veterinarians more concern than the chance of acute poisoning from a single large dose, the American Foundation reported. Accumulations of the drug in an animal's body have been blamed for lameness, weight, nervousness and convulsions.

First Pre-Fab House In Jersey Emergency Program

Alexander J. Heyessey, World War II veteran, and his family got the key to a four room pre-fabricated house recently, the first dwelling provided by the state's emergency housing program, and put eviction worries behind them.

Gov. Walter E. Edge, in ceremonies at the housing site, said the state "plans to have thousands of these pre-fab houses throughout the state as quickly as possible to provide shelter for our fighting men and their families."

DATA FOR POULTRY GROWERS

Latest Research Is Outlined In Extension Notes

Delaware broiler growers received this week their sixth issue of "Timely Notes," prepared and distributed by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Through this publication growers are presented the latest developments in research at the University of Delaware Agriculture Station and elsewhere and current information on feed and market outlooks.

In the "Timely Notes," J. Frank Gandy, extension poultry specialist, advises producers that "an exceptional job of producing top quality broilers following efficient management practices may soon become an absolute essential and may be the one thing that will keep us in business."

Important of producing top-quality broilers is further emphasized in a feature article, "Less Crowding in Broiler Houses for Better Results," written by A. E. Tomhave, head, Department of Animal and Poultry Industry, University of Delaware. Mr. Tomhave points out that, "during the development of the broiler industry in this area, the producer has been interested in quantity production, as quantity offered the best financial returns for the producers' efforts. Every indication now is that quality must receive first attention by every segment of the industry if it hopes to get its share of the consumer's dollar in the future."

One important factor influencing quality in broilers, according to information presented by Tomhave, is the amount of floor space allowed birds during the growing period.

The Broiler Situation and Outlook is a subject of primary importance to broiler growers at all times and especially so just now. In this issue, Dr. R. O. Bausman, Associate Agricultural Economist, University of Delaware, Agricultural Experiment Station, writes on "The 1947 Commercial Broiler Situation and Outlook."

Dr. Bausman says, "Despite the phenomenal increase in commercial broiler production, it is likely the peak still has not been reached." Production in the United States in 1947 may reach a billion pounds (dressed weight) as compared with 650 million pounds in 1946 and 830 million pounds in 1945.

Bausman concludes his article with a note of warning, however, saying "A word of caution should be sounded. During the last three years (the War of 1912, the Civil War, and World War I) farm prices rose sharply and within periods varying from a few months to slightly over two years following the close of the wars, prices fell drastically. If a sharp drop in farm prices should occur next year, the 1947 broiler situation would be changed. It need not change greatly the long-time situation."

DELAWARE FARM FRONT THIS WEEK

Producers Parley In Philadelphia

Poultrymen from throughout Delaware are making plans this week to attend the annual Northeastern Poultry Producers Council Exhibition and Convention to be held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, November 6, 7 and 8.

There will be special meetings and exhibits for all parts of the poultry industry. Experts from nearly 20 state colleges and universities will be on hand to examine such things as achieving maximum efficiency and thus cutting down labor costs of poultry production, control of disease, the likely trend of feed costs and a discussion on merchandising high quality products aimed to meet the preferences of consumers.

The "muddy pound" problem with Delaware dairymen is a serious one, says Dr. T. A. Baker, research professor in animal husbandry at the University of Delaware.

Though there seems no cheap way of eliminating the muddy pounds, Baker says it is, however, a good long-time investment to pave and fence in a limited portion of the pound where the cows can be turned out during wet seasons.

In addition to objections to milk from cows kept in unsanitary conditions, there are real objections to cows tramping in mud and filth from the farmer's standpoint. Muddy pounds require considerable more labor in cleaning the animals and the dairy barn and endanger animal health. "Foul Foot" is a result of animals standing in mud and filth. Intestinal ailments of calves trace to organisms which thrive in unsanitary conditions, and continual exposure of dairy cows to barnyard filth is an important cause of mastitis.

Orchardmen who expect to make plantings of tree and small fruits next spring are advised by Alvin L. Kenworthy, associate professor of Horticulture at the University of Delaware to place their orders this fall. Because of the shortage of stock, there is a risk, he says, of not getting the kind desired if the orders are not placed until next spring.

"A minor detail that may be looked upon as having little importance may often prove to be a limiting factor to

Newark, Delaware, Thursday, November 7, 1946

To The Editor

November 4, 1946

Dear Sir:

Newark should be proud of the way Halloween was conducted this year. Our school Superintendent, Wilmer E. Shue, with the splendid cooperation of the teachers of the Newark Schools, is to be congratulated for arranging a school Halloween party on what has been called Mischief Night and an Assembly play on Halloween morning in the school auditorium.

On Wednesday night the pupils of the Intermediate and Junior High Schools had a masked and costume party and enjoyed playing many games suitable to the occasion after which were shown a couple of comic movies and were served refreshments. Everyone seemed to have enjoyed the evening thoroughly.

In the assembly the next morning the pupils of the sixth grade gave a most delightful play—the theme of which was having more fun doing "good deeds" than doing "mischief." Most of the pupils helped to make their own costumes and scenery and spoke their lines perfectly.

The towns people woke up the next morning to find that little of the so-called mischief which in recent years was more often wanton and outrageous destruction of valuable property—the few isolated acts of vandalism reported showed rather "sprite work" than pure mischief.

It is to be hoped that this splendid beginning engineered and fostered by our school teachers will be repeated next year with perhaps the aid and co-operation of the entire community so that Halloween will be a feature for the youngsters and the enjoyment of us all.

Charles A. Moore

Continental Band

Dear Sir:

Why do you not come out and play for your old home town once again? Many people living in the town do not know we have a band here. Some one asked me last week if the mill still had a band. Why not come out and give the old town a concert once in a while? Let us hear from the town folks just what you think about it. There is too much talent in this town and plenty in the band that we do not have the opportunity to hear. Come out and play where we can all enjoy your good music.

Test Jet Plane For Carrier Work

An Army jet-propelled plane, a P-80 Shooting Star, is undergoing landing tests on the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt off the Virginia Capes, the Navy disclosed recently.

The experiment is being conducted to provide the Navy with the potentialities of jet planes on carriers. It marks the second time an all-jet plane has been used in actual carrier tests.

The FDR left Norfolk, Va., recently with the specially-equipped plane. The craft is being flown by Marine Lieutenant Marion E. Carl of Woodburn, Ore., who shot down 18 Japanese aircraft during the war.

some day you'll be able to build a new home which will mean more security for you and your family. And the bigger the down payment you can make on that home, the better. Make this down payment an objective of your savings plan, and begin now. One dollar opens an account here.

Wareabouts

Written Monday night while listening to the strains of Guy Lombardo's orchestra we are again impressed with the exquisite melody produced by this band . . . self-styled, and rightly so, the sweetest music this side of Heaven. Their rendition of "Humoresque," as played in the movie "No Love, No Leave," really something to rave about . . . particularly the piano break.

Bourbon just as scarce, and twice as expensive, in the Southland as in Delaware . . . and that's not just hearsay. A tour of Louisville liquor stores revealed only one dealer who had any of this famous Kentucky beverage for sale . . . at $8.50 per fifth. Needless to say Bourbon is still missing on the Warehouse winelatt.

Football teams emanating from institutions of learning in our fair city represent the two extremes, but definitely.

Incidentally, wonder if the mild decorations plastered on every window of our house Halloween Night was not a pretty successful retaliation for mud slung in this column on a couple of previous instances.

Adolescent misbehavior of the smart (alec) younger set obnoxious at the cinema presentation of "Sentimental Journey," Monday evening when some of the more sentimental-minded adults were all set to shed a few tears during the more heart-breaking scenes of this mediocre and (to us) distasteful movie.

One would think that parents of students would have instilled in them a sense of courtesy and regard for other people by the time they are old enough to go to college . . . but a seat in the vicinity of two or more teen-agers at the movies will soon dispel any illusions on this subject . . . giggling females and wise-cracking males are the general variety of nuisances encountered.

Two anonymous poems published in this column some months ago and the many congratulatory letters received from readers provided sufficient incentive for a budding young lady author to continue her work until she has won national recognition. So, now it can be told—her name is Virginia (Vee) Hurlock, of 418 South College Avenue.

Four additional works by Miss Hurlock have appeared in "Talent: Song-writers and Poets of Tomorrow"; a recently published 500-page volume intended to give little-known writers an opportunity to win recognition.

Congratulations, Miss Hurlock! Newark is proud of you.

Saturday is Sadie Hawkins Day in Dog Patch . . . if anybody cares. It is also the BIG day in national collegiate football when Pennsylvania meets Columbia and unbeaten Notre Dame takes on its most important 1946 assignment in attempting to stem the tide of Army's greatest eleven . . . and we couldn't name the winner if our life depended on it.

Did you hear the one about the trapeze artist who caught his wife in the act?

We definitely do NOT favor them but parking meters are becoming the rule rather than the exception in many towns the size of Newark, and smaller. Early reservations are suggested if you expect to enjoy an evening of the best variety entertainment to be provided in Newark this winter when the Newark Country Club will present Cabaret Night—November 16—consisting of two entirely different floor shows . . . each including seven different and complete acts.

Received a welcome letter from A. Wesley Perry, now located in Massachusetts, sending two bucks for his paper—which shows that he's still interested in Newark goings on.

An interested reader of this column writes: " . . . Princeton's favored Pennsylvania last week indicates that no team is always a 'door-mat' or 'underdog.' It's the team that displays school spirit and fights hard, taking advantage of all the breaks, that will win."

"It should be a splendid lesson to the Newark High School lads that over confidence makes opponents careless . . . so, if the team of Newark High will forget it is the underdog, it too can spring an upset and convert an otherwise poor season into a fairly successful one."

Haven't heard any reports of large numbers of ducks being killed during the first week of open waterfowl season in Delaware . . . have you?

On the other hand we have heard of several parties recently returned from South Dakota and Nebraska where— they say—pheasants are so plentiful they collide in mid-air when flushed. One report was that a pair of gunners bagged a neat 98 birds during one week of hunting. Not bad . . . if true.

On the local football front, there are no games scheduled to be played here this week-end. The Blue Hens meet their first semblance of a real test when they tackle Bucknell, at Lewisburg, Saturday. This could be a ding-dong battle. The Yellow Jackets are idle this week-end so they won't be beaten again.

An unknown named E. L. Simpson is credited with having said "Getting a bright idea is like sitting on a pin; you should get up and do something about it."

The largest fortunes these days seem to be made by those who study the tax laws closest.

SEVERE THREAT TO HENS' STREAK LOOMS SATURDAY IN GAME WITH BUCKNELL

Strong Opposition Expected When Delaware Invades Bison Stronghold At Lewisburg, Pa.; Hens Annex No. 27 At F. & M.

In what looms as one of the stiffest tests of the current campaign, the University of Delaware gridders will place their shiny 27 game undefeated streak on the line this Saturday afternoon at Lewisburg, Pa., where the Bucknell Bisons will attempt to trample it underfoot. The kick-off will be at 2 p. m.

Bucknell, although defeated several times this year, has been moving in somewhat faster company than the Hens and is regarded as a threat second only to Muhlenberg on the Delaware roster.

Benefits For Vets In ERC Enlistments

Many former Army servicemen are losing potential benefits by not enlisting in the Army's Enlisted Reserve Corps, Major Gerald R. Underwood, Recruiting Officer for Delaware announced recently.

If members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps are recalled at any time due to a national emergency, they will maintain their discharge grade and branch of service—in addition to the above benefits, time spent in the ERC is compiled for longevity purposes.

The procedure to enlist in the ERC is very simple. No physicals. No mental tests—just fill out an application at the Post Office Building, Room 349, Wilmington.

NHS BAND DISPLAYING TOP FORM

Group Rated As One Of Best In School History

As their spirited pre-game and half-time shows grow in popularity with fans at the Newark High School grid games, the Yellow Jacket band is fast becoming one of the best musical organizations the school has ever had.

The group has been varying its maneuvers every game, always providing the onlookers with a colorful show, including letter formation, marching, precision drills and general tactics.

The Homecoming game last Saturday on Frazer Field gave the group an opportunity to display its form to best advantage. Prior to the game, the band paraded to the far end of the field, playing "Our Directors" in fanfare formation, then, in lively cadence, moved downfield, where it staged some intricate drills and concluded with the "Star Spangled Banner."

At half-time, the band put on its main show. Marching down the field the group serenaded Newark's opponents, then crossed to the home fans and formed a huge "N," while playing the Alma Mater. The show added greatly to the spirit and color of the grid spectacle.

The members take pride in the outfit and aim to make it one of the best organizations of its kind. The unit practices twice weekly on the athletic field under Drum Major Ann Van Sant.

FREE X-RAYS AT U. OF D.

Free chest X-rays will be offered the entire student body and personnel of the University of Delaware on November 18 to 25 by the Anti-Tuberculosis Society, it was announced by Dr. Robert H. Duennen, student health director, yesterday.

In addition, it is planned to offer free influenza vaccine injections, which, it has been found, reduce the incidence of influenza at least 75 per cent.

It is hoped that all personnel of the university will make use of these invaluable health measures, Dr. Duennen stated.

JACKETS IDLE THIS WEEK, RESUME PLAY NOVEMBER 16 AGAINST A. I. DUPONT AWAY

Open Date On Newark Schedule Saturday; Jackets Absorb 5th Straight Loss In Homecoming Day Tilt With P. S. Last Sat.

An open date this Saturday gives the Jackets a chance to revive their battered forces before their return to the lists Saturday, November 16, against A. I. duPont, another powerful opponent. Newark's steady dosage of defeat reached its bitterest point to date last Saturday afternoon when the locals went down, 46-0, in a none-to-gala homecoming day tilt with P. S. duPont on Frazer Field.

Things looked bleak from the opening whistle as Henry Oborysko took the first kick-off to gallop 80 yards and start the Dynameters on a seven touchdown carousel.

Oborysko remained very much in evidence for the remainder of the afternoon. In the third period he hauled down a Jacket aerial and scampered 33 yards for a score.

Others also made free use of Newark's goal-line. Herbie Eisenman scored the second Dynamah touchdown on a fifteen yard reverse. Minutes later, Dick Dalphon added the third with a seven yard sprint after intercepting.

The duPonters went scoreless in the second period, but resumed in the third when Eisenman again came through on the scoring end of a pass, after which came Oborysko's interception and score.

A short plunge by Ducky Carmichael netted the sixth Dynamah score, climaxing a long march, and the final tally featured Eisenman again on a 34-yard sprint off-tackle.

SEASON'S FIRST E-52 PLAY WED.

"Shadow And Substance" To Get 3-Day Run

Rehearsals are now well under way for "Shadow and Substance," the first full-length production of the 1946 season for the E-52 Players of the University of Delaware.

With James Quinn in the role of the Canon and Margaret Guenver, a promising newcomer to Mitchell Hall footlights as Brigid, the curtain will rise next Wednesday on the first of three evening performances of this widely-acclaimed play by Paul Vincent Carroll.

The back-stage crew is as hard at work as the cast in preparation for the first performance.

Layton Mabrey, whose stage sets for last year's productions of "The Philadelphia Story" and "Skin of Our Teeth" will be remembered for their excellence, submitted the scene design that will be used in "Shadow and Substance."

Sally Dodge and Zadoc Pool, both veterans of the footlights, will serve this time as production manager and stage manager respectively. Other committee chairmen are: Marjorie Fothergill, lighting; Marilyn Greenberg, make-up; Marjorie Nuding, properties; Francis Erdle, sound effects; Elizabeth Hutchinson, publicity; Joseph McVey, business; Onedia Tawes, prompting; Henri Miller, costume; Lila Baker, scene painting; and Herbert Kramer, photography.

The box office for the sale of tickets will open on Monday, November 4th and will remain open daily from 3:30 to 5:00 and from 7:00 to 8:00 p. m., except on Saturdays and Sundays.

FOUR FIRES PAST WEEK; ALL MINOR

Report For October Is Released

Although no serious fires were reported, four alarms the past week gave the Aetna Hose Hook and Ladder Company one of its busiest sessions this fall.

Largest property loss was suffered last Friday morning, when flames destroyed the brooder house and poultry of Irvin Hutchinson at Christiana. No cause was given for the fire, which caused damages estimated at $2500.

Previously, a call came on Wednesday for a brush fire at Tanglewood Road and was followed on Thursday by a call to extinguish burning leaves on Amstel Avenue. This Tuesday evening a wood's fire broke out at Red Mills and was extinguished by the local volunteers.

Fire Recorder Charles E. Moore's monthly report, submitted at the firemen's November meeting last Friday night, listed two calls in town during October with no loss and two in the district for an estimated $1116 loss.

The ambulance had an exceptionally heavy month, making forty runs, including one to Philadelphia and one to Baltimore. Total distance covered in October was 1315 miles.

New Cyclotron Has 10 Times More Power

Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, Noble prize winner and pioneer in the development of atom-smashing machinery, announced recently that the University of California's new cyclotron—10 times more powerful than any now in use—had been completed and was undergoing pre-operational tests.

The 4,000-ton machine probably will begin within two or three months the job of helping scientists probe previously unexplored realms of atomic energy, Lawrence said.

Urge Applying Findings In State System

A resolution recommending that the findings made by the American Council of Education in their recent survey of the Delaware school system be put to practical use in the schools of Delaware was passed by Newark Lions Club at its Tuesday night session.

The motion was approved unanimously at the group's monthly business session presided over by President Ira C. Shellender and was introduced by Supt. Wilmer E. Shue.

The complete text reads: "Be it resolved that the State Survey Commission to study the school system of Delaware be commended for securing the competent services of the American Council of Education to study the school program of the State and be it further resolved that the findings of the American Council of Education be made available to all interested groups to the end that such desired implementations as are feasible may be put into effect in the schools of Delaware, and that copies of this resolution be sent to the Governor and to the Commission."

A final report on the Lions 19th annual Charter and Ladies' Night was made by John R. Fader, committee chairman. The affair will be held next Tuesday evening. A large turnout is anticipated, with numerous guests from out-of-town units also expected.

Dr. William Silverman was inducted into full membership at the session, it was further announced.
