

HENS OPEN WITH TEACHERS

E-52's First Play Chosen; Jim Dandy By Wm. Saroyan

Broadway is noted for the grandeur of its theater First Nights. But on November 14, Broadway audiences will have to gaze with envy toward Mitchell Hall. For on that evening, the E-52 Players will present a pre-New York production of the latest play by the Pulitzer Prize playwright, William Saroyan.

The play, entitled JIM DANDY, is to be presented during the month of November, not only by the E-52 Players, but also by a number of other college and community theaters. These theaters, including those of Iowa, Indiana, Yale, Carnegie Tech, and Texas, and the Pasadena and Cleveland Playhouses, are all members of the National Theatre Conference.

By means of the N. T. C.'s plan, the theater audiences all over the nation will be given an opportunity to pass judgment on the latest contribution of one of America's most important playwrights before it is presented professionally. It is significant that the first play to be presented in this fashion is JIM DANDY, the most unconventional play yet written by the most unconventional writer in contemporary drama. The play which is to start a new era for the non-commercial theater may be the same play that will start a new technique in drama.

The author, William "Startling Armenian" Saroyan, whose play THE TIME OF YOUR LIFE won both the Pulitzer Prize and the Critics Circle Award two years ago, and whose THE BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE received honorable mention last year, has announced that JIM DANDY will probably be presented on Broadway later this season.

All those who are interested in taking part in the E-52 Production of JIM DANDY should take note of the fact that tryouts will be held in Mitchell Hall on Monday afternoon, September 29, beginning at 4:10 P. M.

NYA Appropriation Reduced 25 Per Cent

Application blanks for students desiring N.Y.A. assistance are now available at the office of Mr. Charles Bush, University director of N.Y.A. work, Purnell Hall.

Mr. Bush has announced that the government appropriation has been cut 25%, making it necessary to reduce the number of students receiving this assistance proportionately. Final plans for the term's work will be completed the latter part of this month.

The qualifications for N.Y.A. assistance remain the same, but due to the cut in the appropriation, it will be necessary, as Mr. Bush said, "to cut our garment according to the cloth", with the upperclassmen receiving the preference.

As in past years, Mrs. Bertha Worth will be in active charge.

NOTABLE FIGURES AT ANNUAL CONVOCATION

Awarding of Honorary Degrees to Three Service Men Marks Annual University of Delaware Convocation

The awarding of three honorary degrees to two major generals and a rear admiral marked the convocation exercises that opened the one hundredth and eighth academic year of the University of Delaware held on Monday afternoon in Mitchell Hall. Dr. James Rowland Angell, president emeritus of Yale University was the convocation speaker.

Recipients of the degrees Maj.-Gen. Eugene Reybold, chief of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, honorary doctor of engineering; Maj.-Gen. Thomas Holcomb, commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps, honorary degree of doctor of civil law; and Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, U. S. Navy, honorary degree of doctor of science.

In his talk, Dr. Angell declared that although the youth of today is sorely tempted to get directly into the struggle to save civilization, he can best serve his country by continuing his education. "In normal times, some academic activities may seem trivial, but under conditions like the present, they become saturated with obligations and interests of a far wider kind, their ultimate implications grounded in the welfare of the nation itself."

"The great wars of modern times have demonstrated conclusively that it is a fatal tragedy for any nation to lose its full quota of well disciplined youth. It therefore behooves all young people who can do so to go forward as vigorously and as effectively as possible with the completion of their formal education. Without the uninterrupted supply thus assured from year to year, business, industry, education, religion, and every other interest of the nation must suffer."

Dr. Angell said the youth who is drafted should look forward to his military service with pride and satisfaction as "it is one of the most illuminating and enriching of all human experiences."

He deplored the fact that many citizens who detest war are now being called "warmongers" because they realize that it is no longer a question of war and peace, but of peace and freedom.

"We can have peace," he said, "by allowing the dictators full sway, but under such a peace freedom would disappear. If we cherish freedom more than peace we may have to undergo great sacrifices, but we can then work for the establishment of a peace under which honor and decency, justice and truth will flourish, treachery and brutality will be crushed, and the sacred nature of the individual will be preserved."

Dr. W. O. Sypherd, head of the English Department, was the orator for the conferring of the honorary degrees by Dr. Walter Hullahen.

In the citation for General Holcomb, Dr. Sypherd described him as "a man of distinguished ancestry and of notable professional achievement in the United States Marine Corps." He explained the general is descended from Thomas Holcomb who settled in Massachusetts in 1630. On his mother's side, Dr. Sypherd continued, he stems from Commodore Joshua Barney of the War of 1812 and from Commodore Joseph Nicholson who superintended the building of the ship "Constitution" and later commanded her. He listed General Holcomb's service in the Philippines, China, and during the World War and told of his many decorations.

Admiral Blandy's citation described him as "a distinguished son of the University of Delaware" and mentioned that he had won prizes in English and mathematics while an undergraduate from 1906 to 1909. His grandfather was William Henry Purnell who was president of Delaware College from 1870 to 1885. Dr. Sypherd traced his naval record from his appointment as an ensign in 1913 through the World War to his appointment as Chief of Bureau of Ordnance with the rank of Admiral this year.

In General Reybold's citation Dr. Sypherd described his family, and his ancestral home at Delaware City.

"From a small town in a small state," Dr. Sypherd said, "and from what 'Time' has called the 'peaceful' University of Delaware, there moved out into the great world of affairs a young man who was destined to bring fame to the college, commonwealth, and ancestral home and family. I have no doubt that General Reybold would gratefully recognize as a primary impetus in determining the course of his future career the work of a great teacher of engineering in Delaware College, Prof. Frederick H. Robinson."

Dr. Sypherd traced General Reybold's history through his appointment as a second lieutenant in 1906 to his appointment as major general and chief of the corps of engineers this year. His appointment to the latter post broke a prized tradition of the army that the corps should be headed by a West Pointer, Dr. Sypherd said. His most spectacular accomplishment was his conquest of the Ohio-Mississippi flood of 1937. It was said.

West Chester State Teachers Replace Juniata as Polio Scare Stops Game

By B. S.

The University of Delaware football team will inaugurate its 1941 grid schedule tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on Frazer Field when they will be opposed by the West Chester State Teachers College. This will be the first time these two teams will have met on the gridiron, although the Teachers have battled the Hens on other fields of sport.

The game with West Chester, not originally on the Delaware football program, was scheduled after Juniata was forced to cancel their opening game here due to the infantile paralysis epidemic that has been prevalent in central Pennsylvania. The West Chester team has also been hampered by the Polio scare and they have had very little time in which to get in a wholesome practice schedule. In fact, the Teachers will enter the fray with the Hens with just about one week's workout. Even though the Teachers' practice has been cut short, they will enter the game slight favorites.

The Hens have gone through three weeks of rigorous training and seem primed for their opening contest as they are anxious to keep the five game win streak, which they obtained last season, intact. Coach Murray has paced his team through numerous practice sessions and the team has engaged in about a half dozen scrimmages between the various squads. There have been no serious injuries in pre-season training, and the team will enter their test with West Chester in almost perfect physical shape.

Backfield

The backs have shown great progress in picking up the Murray-installed system and are beginning to run their plays off with the same precision and accuracy as that of the last season when they piled up a five game win streak in the latter part of their campaign. Last year's starting backs, Newcomb, Paul, Brooks, and Hogan are all back and intact, and are probably headed for their best season. Reserve backs who have also shown up well in the practices are Baer, Buchanan, Sadowski, Doherty and Long, along with some freshmen recruits, Spasato, Coady, Wood, Hart.

Coach Adkins has done a splendid job in rounding the line into their best shape. The line-members are: Sloan and Jarvis, ends; Castevens and Furman, tackles; Stalloni and Bogovitch, guards; and Mullen at the pivot position. These men have capable replacements in Carullo, Frye, Barlow, Hancock, Laurelli, Lord, Papp, Schmid, Walton, and Zeitz. Pierson, who was a lineman last year is now a backfield man. Freshmen linemen who have stood

Our Policy...

At the beginning of every new school year, the editor of THE REVIEW states the aims and policies that will be pursued during the following months. As some of you know, there has been a change in the editorship of this paper. Mr. Thomas Ashton, recent co-editor has accepted a scholarship to Trinity College, a school designed primarily to meet the needs of the training he wishes to pursue, and consequently has not returned to college. This situation changes no aspect of the policy laid down in the first issue of the former co-editors regime.

THE REVIEW is the official student newspaper of the University of Delaware. It is the newspaper of no one faction, in fact, THE REVIEW does not recognize any such thing as factionalism on the Delaware campus nor will it encourage any such factionalism.

THE REVIEW is not a fraternity paper, nor is it a non-fraternity paper. We will take no sides in the minor "political" battles of the campus should they arise, nor will it be the organ for any group that is engaged in such a battle just for the mere sake of belonging to any one side.

We will, at all times, present the news impartially, as well as unsensationally. We have no favored group, nor do we have any desire to exert pressure for any "certain" group. Our columns will at all times, carry material that we feel is beneficial to the college as a whole.

We believe sincerely in the policy of continuous furthering of both the extra-curricular as well as of the scholastic activities of the university. We believe sincerely that we have a fine university in the making, and we are going to do our best to further that growth in a finer and better way.

One At A Time..

Editors Note: This week's One-at-a-timer is Jack Ernst, president of the Interfraternity Council. He submits the first of a series of four articles designed to orient Freshmen on the problem of "Should I join a fraternity?"

The step from High School to College is one of the biggest gaps which a young fellow may have to overcome. When a student enters college, he finds himself confronted with a situation utterly different from any previously known. Faces are strange; activities are new and different; and the Freshmen are thrown on their own resources for the first time. Yet if he is to stay in college, he must adjust himself to this new type of life. It is in this respect that a fraternity is able to help a boy orient himself to his new surroundings.

I place the formation of friendship with other men as one of the greatest assets of a fraternity. It is only natural that each new man on the campus should seek the friendship of those men whom he finds to be particularly congenial. Young men from every type of life are represented in most of our fraternities, so that strangers become intimate friends almost upon meeting. Many college graduates can attest to the fact that the relationships formed in college days constitute one of the most valuable things a man can possess, and often ripen into life-long friendships. Sometimes these friendships may be of a social nature, but on other occasions these friendships may lead to other material benefits, such as contacts for positions when you are graduated from college.

I also believe that a college fraternity serves in conjunction with the school authorities in impressing upon its members that they are at school primarily to obtain an education. If a fraternity man is behind in his school work, much pressure may be brought on him by the officers and other members of the organization. In most fraternities, study hours are rigidly enforced, so that everyone may have an ample opportunity to do his work. As an added incentive to each fraternity at the University of Delaware, a Scholarship Cup is awarded annually by the Interfraternity Council to that fraternity which attains the highest scholarship rating. To those boys who work conscientiously and who seem to be having trouble with their work the fraternity offers unlimited aid from those men of the upper classes who are always willing to give their time to a troubled brother.

The development of personality is an important function of every fraternity. Each member learns to live with other men and to adjust himself to the "give and take" of chapter life. At times he must sacrifice himself for the welfare of the group, and, of course, at other times he is given the opportunity to lead the way in carrying through some project.

"Inquiring Reporter"

The most popular subject on the campus is, of course, the freshmen women. As in the past a self appointed reporter found his way in and among the upperclassmen, of which there are quite a few, to ask this very important question. "What do you, as an authority on feminine pulchritude, think of the new crop of girls down at the south end of the campus?"

Harry Hillyard—"I only know what I read in the paper. I don't like the women anyhow."

A. Leon Heck—"They don't come high enough for me."

"Bugs" Baer—"They look alright when they have shoes on."

Jean Wiley—"They are the same as all the rest when they wash their faces."

Jack Pie—"Well . . ."

Harry Huxford—"They are absolutely O. K."

Gil Rowlinson—"From the political angle . . ."

"Red" Hogan—"The team looks like it . . ."

The general conversation and confusion in the De Lux reveals that nearly everyone who can see agrees that the women are definitely becoming a menace to studies, National Defense, homework and other activities.

So clean your glasses boys and look them over, for the Freshman Get-together is Saturday night at 8:00 in Old College.

Cheering Section Formed by Request Of Coaching Staff

Peppy cheers, college songs, and heroism on the gridiron are the call of the hour! School spirit runs high as the new semester opens with the Delaware football team headed for another successful season. Naturally enough, the key men in this whirl of enthusiasm are the cheerleaders. Heading the cheering squad for this year will be Bill Livergood and Dick Tybout.

The new co-captains plan to draw from the student body the best cheering that has been done for many a year at Delaware. First, they are building a central cheering corps which will sit in a reserved section of the stands at all football games if it can attain certain standards set by Coach Murray. The corps is being composed of a limited number of Delaware rooters, most of whom have already been selected from the student body. The cheering corps will meet twice a week to practice with the yell leaders. More candidates for berths on the corps will be welcomed at the next practice session, to be held in Wolf Hall from 1:00 to 1:30 P. M. on Tuesday, the 30th.

Livergood and Tybout also plan to lead the Alma Mater during the half at every football game. This measure will add to the demonstration always staged by the Delaware Band at the half. Moreover, the song is not as well known by the student body as it should be. As far as skill in the actual mechanics of cheerleading goes, the squad will be well schooled because its members will be subjected to at least two private practices a week, stressing group co-operation, for the football season.

During the past week, the freshmen receive their initial injection of school spirit in two cheering sessions. The yell practice held in College Hour was devoted to learning the cheers and that held on Thursday at 1:00 P. M., to learning the songs.

New Gymnasium Impossible at the Present Moment

Because of a shortage of W.P.A. labor in the state of Delaware, the funds that the War Department has allotted to the University for the erection of a new gymnasium are not available at present. Work on the new dormitory and the service building are slightly behind schedule because of difficulty in obtaining steel. The service center will be in operation this winter. The dormitory will be completed next spring and will be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1942. The cornerstone of the new dormitory will be laid within the next month.

However, when other W.P.A. projects in the state are completed, work on the field house and gym may begin.

In regard to the new gymnasium, President Hullihen says, "We are still working hard on the project."

Latest University of Iowa student to enter movies is 23-year-old Jean Fitzgerald, who passed her screen test while recovering from a broken back suffered in a fall off a cliff.

Authorities of nine New England colleges, including Harvard, have asked students not to bring automobiles to college this fall as a gasoline conservation measure.

Sophomores Lead Willing Frosh to Serenades at WCD

Call out the army! Call out the navy! Call out the marines! A national crisis has arisen on the lower campus of our fair university. An invasion of an army of 100 strong. Summon our armed forces!

Under the direction of General Huxford and his staff of sophs, a freshman army of bare-legged, snappy stepping men marched upon the fair ladies on the south campus. Stretching out in columns of three, the boys marched from the entrance of Harter Hall to the green facing New Castle, a Women's College dormitory. There under the guidance of General Huxford and Colonel Hillman they were put through their paces to the delight of the weaker sex who were crowding the side-lines.

The program included the singing of "Daddy" by the entire company, and then four willing frosh provided the intent listeners with their version of "God Bless America". Another highlight of the entertainment was a Romeo and Juliet scene played by two romantic minded "rats".

The climax of the entire show came when the group, with football team members as guides, went through a snappy exercise drill. After this bit of byplay the entire presentation was ended with the singing of "Good-night Ladies".

With the applause of the girls ringing in their ears the garter clad clan marched back to the library where they were dismissed by their generals.

With the Student Council

Meeting for its first session of the 1941-42 school year on Monday night, The Delaware College Student Council under the presidency of Warren Grier got off to a mild start.

Conducting only an informal meeting, the president devoted most of the meeting to a discussion of plans for pep fests and administration of this year's Freshman regulations.

Harry Belk, Social Chairman of the Council, announced that the first football rally would be held on Friday evening at which time members of the football team as well as the coaches would be introduced. Plans were made to hold a tug-of-war between the Sophomore and Freshman classes during the halves of the Westchester-Delaware game. The complete Student Council will be in charge of the affair.

Richard Cann, Junior member of the Council from Kappa Alpha and chairman of the Honor Points Committee, stated that plans for Tap Day which will be held between the halves of the Dickinson-Delaware game were well under way. Completion of members of the honor societies is in the final stages of completion.

No budget for the school year has been drawn up until final auditing of last year's accounts are completed. The Council is expected to have a deficit of approximately four hundred dollars as a result of the Mardi Gras held on the campus last year, which President Grier termed a "white elephant".

Weekly "University On The Air" Show Will Emanate From Mitchell Hall Stage

The University of Delaware RADIO GUILD soon will inaugurate a new series of half-hour radio programs to be broadcast directly from the stage of Mitchell Hall, it has been announced by Hal Arnoff, Director of the recently formed student organization. Retaining the title "University on the Air", the Guild shows will be broadcast by remote control through station WDEL in Wilmington.

Through funds made available by President Hullihen, broadcasting equipment is being installed in Mitchell Hall and wires leased from the Telephone Company.

Meeting last week with executives of the Delaware Broadcasting Company, the Director of the Guild and members of the Faculty Committee on Radio studied various spots submitted by station WDEL. The day and time has been tentatively set for Sunday afternoons, 1:30 to 2:00 P. M., with the first show scheduled to be aired in the latter part of October.

Acting in an advisory capacity to the RADIO GUILD, the Faculty Committee on Radio consists of Mr. Charles Bush, Chairman, Dr. C. L. Day, and Dr. C. R. Kase.

Varied Program

Continuing the policy of "University on the Air", the Radio Guild will produce musical shows, workshop plays, and student-faculty round table discussions. Rounded out with special event programs, "University on the Air" will endeavor to provide for the students and faculty of Delaware a medium of expression for every type of radio technique.

The best musical talent of the student body will be mustered to form a RADIO GUILD studio orchestra, auditions for which will get under way in a few days. The University Choir, under the direction of Dr. Anthony Loudis, will also participate.

Major Activity

Established only last February, the RADIO GUILD has rapidly expanded to become a major campus activity. Membership is made up of students from both the Men's and Women's Colleges. Opportunity for participation in all phases of radio activity is offered through divisions of acting, directing, writing, research, technical, and publicity. Members of the RADIO GUILD are eligible to receive, through service, honor points toward membership in the extra-curricular honor societies of the University.

The program, "University on the Air", had its first broadcast on February 19 over station WILM. Produced every week thereafter, the initial series terminated with the end of the school year. With the institution of campus broadcasts next month, the University of Delaware will place itself in the ranks of the nation's foremost colleges and universities actively engaged in the field of educational radio.

Hal Arnoff, Director of the RADIO GUILD, has been appointed to the National Council of Gamma Beta Alpha, Collegiate Broadcasters of America. The headquarters of

Choir

The University of Delaware Choir will hold its first meeting Monday, September 29, at 7:00 P. M. in the Music Building. Prof. Loudis asks that any freshmen, as well as upperclassmen, who are interested in joining the choir attend this meeting.

the college radio fraternity, which is situated at the University of Southern California, has notified Arnoff of his appointment as eastern representative in a national expansion movement.

Represented by chapters throughout the mid-west and on the west coast, Gamma Beta Alpha is completing arrangements with the RADIO GUILD to install its first eastern chapter at the University of Delaware. In order to coordinate and advance college broadcasting G. B. A. chapters are to be organized in the major universities of the country. Plans of the National Council map out Delaware as the cynosure of collegiate radio activity in the East.

The nucleus for the Delaware chapter of Gamma Beta Alpha will be drawn from the membership of the RADIO GUILD according to ability and service. This select group of radio enthusiasts will then function to promote collegiate broadcasting, both on the campus and nationally.

Blanks are being placed in student mail boxes for those who wish to apply for membership in the RADIO GUILD. The first meeting of the 1941-42 season will be held Thursday, October 2, at 4:10 P. M. in Mitchell Hall.

Get-Together Hop To be Barred to Upperclassmen

The annual Freshman-Get-Together dance, sponsored by the Student Councils of Delaware College and the Women's College, will open the University of Delaware social program tonight in Old College at eight o'clock.

For those not familiar with the affair, the dance is actually what its name implies. It is the first social event of the season at which members of the Freshman classes from both colleges can get acquainted.

Noted for the number of so called future "Steadies" it has produced in the past, the dance is expected to have a large attendance from both ends of the campus. The Student Councils have initiated an ambitious program designed for those who do not care to dance, yet who wish to attend.

The dance this year will be conducted differently from the one of last year in that no upperclassmen will be allowed to attend. Freshman students from Delaware College must produce their Freshman Identification Buttons for admission. In previous years, it had been customary to invite all classes from Delaware College.

Music will be furnished from recordings, as usual, with all the newer "sweet" and "swing" arrangements of the nation's most popular bands. Dancing will continue until twelve o'clock.

William D. Wendle

Recovering from a very serious illness, William D. Wendle has left the hospital and is now at home. He is expected to return to school in one or two weeks. Bill was co-captain of the 1940 football team and is president of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity.

Playing
The GameBY
BYRON SAMONISKY

The athletic department really suffered a loss when Gerald P. (Doc) Doherty resigned as graduate manager of athletics. He has held the post since 1926.—In the 12 years that "Doc" coached baseball, he always fielded a successful team. In fact in 1938 the team was victorious in 14 of their 18 contests played.—"Doc" also was mentor of the basketball team, and one of his teams turned in the best record in 10 years, when in 1931 they won 12 out of 16 games.—Good luck to you "Doc" in your new position.

It was too bad that Juniata was forced to cancel their game that was scheduled for tomorrow due to the infantile paralysis epidemic in central Pennsylvania. It would have been nice to renew the grid rivalry with Juniata.—West Chester State Teachers College will make as formidable if not a stronger foe than would Juniata. This is the first time the Teachers have opposed the Blue Hens on the gridiron, although they have met Delaware in baseball, basketball, tennis and golf.

For the first time in many seasons the Delaware grid outlook is quite optimistic. The Hens have 20 experienced men returning, 15 of which are lettermen. The team is also bolstered by 25 newcomers.—The Hens face a tough schedule, but with a few breaks and some all around heads-up play they can enjoy their best season since 1931 when they only dropped one contest.

Congratulations are in order for Jim Mullen and Melvin Brooks who were recently elected as co-captains of the 1941 aggregation. This is a fine selection as both boys well deserve the honor.

Prince Appointed
New Athletic
Business Manager

Having resigned his position as director of athletics at Claymont High School, Edmund Z. (Ed) Prince was appointed business manager of athletics at the University of Delaware as announced Wednesday by President Hullihen.

Prince succeeds Gerald P. (Doc) Doherty in his new managerial capacity and will also assist in coaching football and basketball in addition to working with Director of Athletics William D. (Bill) Murray in the making of schedules for all the Delaware teams.

A native of Brockton, Mass., and graduate of Springfield College where, in 1932, he received his B.S. degree, Prince served as director of athletics at Claymont High for six years previously holding the same position at Lord Baltimore High, Ocean View, Del.

Ed is one of the leading badminton players in the state and is runner up to Joe Shields, a former member of the school of physical education at the Blue Hen institution who resigned last year in order to accept a Red Cross position in Philadelphia. He has trained in doubles and mixed doubles to win several state championships and is also reputed to be an excellent squash and handball player.

Although replacing Doc Doherty will be a yeoman task, it is the opinion of those who know Ed Prince and are acquainted with his past record that Ed will be a welcome addition to the Blue Hen athletic department.

out in practices are Thompson, Pitt, Marusa, Jones, Dunstall, Messick, Tait, Wiggins, Small, and Smith.

1940 Season

The Blue Hens will be out to better their 1940 record which saw them off to a poor start, but snapping out of it, they ended their season with an enviable record when it looked as though they were going to have one of their worst seasons on the gridiron. Delaware opened their '40 campaign with Hampden-Sydney on the latter's field and were edged out 7-0 in a game that became a punting duel. The Hens were then using a new system and were off in the timing of their plays. This same fault was evident the following Saturday when they traveled to Carlisle, Pa., to meet the strong Dickinson team and were defeated 6-0. Just as the team seemed to be getting on to the new system they took a complete reversal of form and folded before Ursinus 25-0. The Delaware team then began its winning streak when they started clicking against Drexel Tech and easily defeated them 19-0. The next week the team picked up momentum and crushed John Hopkins 25-0. By this time the annual battle with P.M.C. had rolled around, and Delaware went into the match the underdog, but again they showed their determined spirit and will to win as they triumphed 14-7. Against Washington College where it seemed as though all hope was gone, the team trailing 9-0 in the final period, the team woke up and went on to win out 13-9. A successful season was then concluded on Thanksgiving day when Lebanon Valley fell before an aroused aggregation 16-0.

Co-captains

In recent elections the gridgers elected Melvin Brooks and Jim Mullen co-captains for the season. These two boys are playing their last season under the Blue and Gold.

Coach Glenn Killinger of West Chester, feels confident that he will be able to whip together a strong aggregation that will be able to field their own in tomorrow's game. He is able to field a well-balanced squad which includes veterans in every position. Killinger can also boast a backfield that is one of his heaviest in many years, averaging 180 pounds per man. The West Chester team will also be three deep in all position, for the most part with experienced men for them all. Although there has been no definite word received as to the starting lineup for the game, it is probable that Killinger will start a backfield made up of Bob Parrott, Bob McMullen who is an exceptional ball-carrier and blocker, Harry Umstead and Barney Williams. Killinger's forward wall will be headed by a local West Chester boy, who this year is the team's captain, Bing Miller who will be at the pivot spot. Flanking him at guard will be Ed Twardowski and Al Freudenheim. Tackles will be Paul Phillips and "Big John" Kizawick, while at the end positions will be Ed Walls and Alvin White. Captain Miller, incidentally, is considered one of the best pivot men in small college football.

The probable starting lineups:

position	W. C.	Delaware
E.	Walls	Jarvis
T.	Kizawick	Castevens
G.	Twardowski	Stalloni
C.	Miller	Mullen
G.	Freudenheim	Bogovitch
T.	Phillips	Furman
E.	White	Sloan
B.	Umstead	Newcomb
B.	Parrott	Brooks
B.	Williams	Paul
B.	Mullen	Hogan

West Chester Substitutes: backs, Hockman, Wieland, Suydam, Giunta, Steiner, and Wodock; linemen Saltzman, McCorkell, Adams, Doolley, Guidici, Gauvreau, Gohean, Conturso, B. Suydam, Moffett, Peters, Lowans, Wisneski, Tompkins, Mustin, Gardiner, Gardner, Harris, Wilhelm, and Bill Miller.

Delaware Substitutes: backs, Baer, Buchanan, Doherty, Long, Sadowski, Pierson, Coady, Sposato, Wood, and Hart; linemen, Barlow, Carullo, Frye, Hancock, Laurelli, Lord, Papy, Schmid, Walton, Zeitz, Thompson, Pitt, Marusa, Jones, Dunstall, Messick, Tait, Wiggins, Small and Smith.

Wilmington Games

The Athletic Council has decided to offer transportation facilities to those male students who are unable to arrange for their own transportation for all games played in Wilmington. Any student who is not able to find a way to get to the game should notify the athletic office by Friday noon before any game played in Wilmington. It is necessary to have at least 24 hours in which to secure transportation.

Soccer Practice
Begins with Six
Veterans on Hand

By BILL PIPER

The Delaware soccer aggregation, captained by Ames Betts and with five additional lettermen returning, opened its season with the initial practice on Tuesday. A squad of 25 candidates greeted Coach Lawrence, who is now in his fourth year as soccer mentor of the Blue Hens. The nucleus around which Coach Lawrence plans to mold his eleven includes: Betts, who has played 3 years at center half; Molloy Vaughn, the Blue Hens goalie, also for 3 seasons; Noah Cain, a varsity fullback in '39 and '40; Warren Grier, an outside forward who is also starting his third varsity season; Jimmy Gottschalls and Gee Fernandez, both of whom lined up as varsity inside forwards in '40.

Teaming up with the lettermen are a group of last year's reserves, who hope to earn a varsity spot this season. In the backfield Ed LeGates and Eugene DiSabatino will be gunning for positions as a result of last year's experience. The more promising linemen from last season's crop include Harry Irwin, Bob Seaman, and Jay Walter. Completing the squad of kickers are the freshmen candidates, several of whom show promise, and are out after a varsity berth.

In addition to their experience, the squad of '41 appears to have a great deal of enthusiasm and interest. Captain Betts remarks: "Everyone is genuinely interested in playing soccer. There's no deadwood out there." However, graduation left a gap in the center of the line and Coach Lawrence is looking for a good scoring man to fill the position.

The schedule this year gives the soccer boys 10 games in a little over a month, which requires plenty of stamina and endurance. To the average spectator, who knows little of soccer, this does not seem like rigorous schedule. Contrary to popular opinion, to develop a good game of soccer takes as much training as football.

New College Band
To Make Debut at West Chester Game

Tomorrow as you are sitting on the benches waiting for the kick-off of the first game of the current season, Captain Bud Weatherby, student instructor, will lead the new University of Delaware band on to the Frazer Field in a colorful array of brilliant new uniforms. This is the first time that there has been a band formed independent of the R.O.T.C. since the school began. The band now numbers about fifty pieces strong.

The predominating color of the new uniforms is a deep blue. The trousers are white with a blue stripe down the leg. There is also a colorful garrison hat to match. The Drum Major's uniform is all white with blue trimmings and a tall white hat.

The band will play at all football games and pep-fests. And after it has had sufficient practice, it will play at College Hour programs. Someday, maybe the band will play radio concerts. Sergeant Overstreet, faculty advisor to the band, expects to instruct the band in formations for football games.

Practices will be held three times a week. With such intensive training, it is hoped that a better quality of music and more spectacular formations will characterize the new group.

Intramurals to Tie
In with Gym Program

By MORTON SCHULMAN

At long last, the University of Delaware's physical education department is providing Delaware College students with an "out". For a long time students have been complaining of the hard work they had to do for the lowly half honor credit they received. This year the department has gone into conference and emerged with the nucleus of a plan for the present and future, the linking together of the physical education course with the intramural sports program.

For many years the boys have had to go through half a semester of practice in order to take skill tests in the particular P. E. course they were given—calisthenics, swimming, high bar work, and track work for the freshmen and football, basketball, badminton or boxing and baseball for the sophomores.

While waiting to take their tests some of the fellows would become lazy, miss a few classes, and cut themselves out of the course.

Under the new system the first few periods will be spent testing the freshmen in the various activities listed above. Those that pass the tests will make up the necessary time requirement for passing the course by participating in some varsity or intramural sport, whether it be Intra-Frat or Intra-Class. Some of the intramural sports listed are: six-man touch football, basketball, softball, and ping pong.

A certain number of participations in an intra-mural sport will cancel so many hours of class periods. In that way the boys can take part in the sports they like and at the same time pass a course which in many cases they have failed.

The first activity to be offered under the intramural program is six-man touch football. Each team may have a maximum of 14 players excluding a coach and manager, with a minimum of 6 players. The entries must be made to coach Bill Lawrence on or before noon Friday, October 3, 1941, along with a $1.25 forfeit fee. This fee will be refunded at the end of the tournament providing the team has forfeited no games. In case a team fails to appear the money is kept by the intramural department to be used in purchasing cups and trophies.

FOOTBALL COACHING STAFF

Public Opinion . .

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"Public opinion polls on the attitude of American citizens toward the war represent one of the privileges of a free country. In view of the opportunity and privilege inherent in a public opinion poll, it is extremely important to maintain the spontaneity, representativeness, and truth of these polls. The polls conducted by Gallup and Fortune Magazine are regarded by competent experts as polls conducted with great integrity and with scientific procedures. Congressman Stephen A. Day recently sent to me, among others, the following ballot: 'The United States should enter the war.....; Stay out of the war.....'. This post card request for an opinion on the war situation is of the same category as the following: 'Have you stopped beating your wife? Answer yes or no.' In other words, the way the question was worded loaded the dice of reply. *Either the question was phrased as printed because of ignorance of the principle that answers can be predetermined by the way the question is formulated or the question was phrased in order to get the kind of reply desired. This amateurish effort to collect evidences of public opinion illustrates the danger of attempts to conduct a poll by inexperienced people. As stated the question will get only a reply, 'Stay out of the war,' because that is the only answer a reasonable person could make to the question phrased. The returns from the type of ballot sent out will be completely unreliable and unrepresentative of opinion." F. Stuart Chapin, chairman of the University of Minnesota department of sociology, warns against snap judgments based on so-called opinion polls.

Rollin' Round The Turntables

DICK AYDELOTTE

Just a word to the freshmen who are reading this column for the first time. In this space we try to bring to the record lover our conceptions of the newest releases both popular and classical put out by the leading recording companies, and present our opinions in review form so that they might help you in getting that certain type of recorded entertainment you enjoy.

Victor has paid tribute to several of their artists this past month by presenting to the public several colorful popular albums. These albums contain four records each, with selections chosen that best present in vivid form the talents of the particular star. These styles are definitely individual—the main reason for the success of the individual who created them. Of these albums this writer would recommend to the real lover of Boogie Woogie the selection of pieces coming under the title "8 to the Bar." This album features Pete-Johnson and Albert-Ammons, famous boogie woogie piano team. Remarkable enough the pieces in this offering are perfectly set for dancing and would go over big where ever played.

That "V" music you have been hearing recently in Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony"—one of the most melodic compositions in the classical field. The "dot-dot-dot-dash" (in Morse code standing for V—...—) melody was recorded by Toscanini in Victor Album M-640. Run over to Pott's and listen to it.

Tracing the groove—That popular selection by Irving Berlin "Any Bonds Today" has been added to the music of Hellzapoppin, Broadway's ever lasting musical show—Tommy Dorsey is still recovering from a recent tonsil operation (your reviewer certainly sympathizes with good old T. D.)—Marion Hutton is back with Glenn Miller and his crew after a lapse of several months to allow the stork to recover after a visit.—Since joining Bing Crosby's show, Connie Boswell has been waxing with Bing on several Decca releases (they are all 4 star numbers).—Lend an ear at your favorite music store to some of the latest numbers done up by Shep Fields. Only reeds and rhythm sections are used.—See you all next week.

Aggie News . .

By EDWARD LEGATES

Dr. T. A. Baker, Professor of Animal Husbandry, has returned with his competent dairy judging team from the Eastern States Exposition held at Springfield, Massachusetts. Dr. Baker coached the team consisting of Horace C. Short, Malloy C. Vaughn, F. LeRoy Wall, and Cleveland Hastings as alternate. Hastings was unable to make the trip since he received a last minute call from his local draft board. However, he was eligible to receive the judging award given the participating team members.

The judging team representing the university received top honors in the Guernsey cattle division. Each team member received silver cream and sugar sets. Horace Short, who was not only a member of the winning team, but was also highest individual, received a double award.

We of the Agricultural School are truly privileged to recognize these fellows for their record, and we feel that their fellow students in the other schools of the university feel much the same.

During the summer, many of the Ag students were a bit ambitious. We were unable to trace all of them down, but a few points about some of them might be of interest.

John Forman, Ed Ratledge, Malloy Vaughn, Mert Wendle, and Raymond Wilhelm were Ag seniors who spent a portion of their summer at Fort Hancock.

Noah Cain, while a practicing farmer for a large part of the summer, taught at Dover High School for a few weeks.

Norman Lord wasn't away from the campus very long this summer, and he enrolled in the C.A.A. course taught during summer school.

Graduates in Service

Dr. Hullihen announced that every member of the 1941 graduating class that took advanced R.O.T.C. is now serving as a commissioned officer in the Coast Artillery. The 15 engineering defense courses last year had a total registration of 461 students and a request has been made for their continuance in October, he said.

He expressed regret that the project for a field house is temporarily held up. He said it was due to the reported lack of eligible labor necessary to make available the $100,000 contribution from Washington. He added, however, that the project was far from dead.

Dr. Hullihen announced new members of the faculty as follows: Clarence E. Stevens, Jr., B.S., Pennsylvania State, instructor in Agricultural mechanics.

H. Geiger Omwake, of the Delaware Archaeological Society and donor of the Omwake archaeological collection, acting curator of the university museum.

Edward S. Biddle, M.S., University of Pennsylvania, assistant in Haskell research project.

James J. Eberl, Ph.D., University of Buffalo, instructor in chemistry.

Vincent E. Parker, Ph.D., from University of Indiana, part-time instructor in chemistry. (Also Biochemical Foundation).

Alfred J. Green, A.M., from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, instructor in chemistry.

Harold F. Bogardus, B.S., fellow in chemistry.

Arthur J. Stokes, B.S., fellow in chemistry.

James W. Westwater, B.Ch.E., University of Illinois, 1941, fellow in chemical engineering.

Dudley Dillard, Ph.D., University of Colorado, instructor in economics.

Anna J. De Armond, A.M., University of Pennsylvania, former instructor, University of Delaware, returns as instructor in English.

Eugene Hudson Long, A.M., Alabama Polytechnic Institute, instructor in English.

Nathan F. Drake, B.S., Drexel Institute, fellow in mechanics.

Lewis W. Beck, Ph.D., Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., assistant professor of philosophy.

Mary Henie, Ph.D., Swarthmore, assistant in psychology.

Emory E. Adkins, M.A., Rocky Mountain (N. C.) High School, assistant director of athletics.

William Southgate Martin, B.A., Kentucky Military Institute, London, Ky., instructor in physical education.

C. H. Biesterfeld, of the patent division of the DuPont Company, special lecturer on patent law for chemists and engineers.

Col. H. Edmund Bullis, special lecturer in human relations and mental hygiene.

Other Degrees Conferred

Dean George E. Dutton presented nine candidates from Delaware College on whom President Hullihen conferred the degree of bachelor of arts. They were: Dana Bigelow Christie, Wilmington; William Walter Henning, Rehoboth; William Howard Marvel, Jr., Milford; Louis Joseph Michini, Wilmington; Robert Radcliffe Pierce, Jr., Wilmington; Milton Rubin, Wilmington; James Coullie Warren, Wilmington; Henry Grittinger Sherer, Newark, and Arthur Thomas Worth, Wilmington.

Dean Marjory Stewart Golder presented the candidates for degrees from the Women's College. They were: Bachelor of Arts, Carmela Mary Ciminello, Wilmington; Phyllis Jane Wood, Wilmington; Bachelor of Science in Education, Lillian May Dutcher, Wilmington; Mabel Ellis Ralph Hearne, Delmar; Ada Barr Helmbreck, Newark; and Virginia Elizabeth Jones, Clayton.

Candidates for graduate degrees were presented by Dr. Sypherd. They were: Master of Arts, Emory Dallas Hitchens, Dover, and John Andrew Munroe, Wilmington; Master of Science, Harold Aydelotte Lynch, Kenton; Sarah Maud Webster, Wilmington, and Master of Science in Elementary Education, Grace Cohee Moore, Wilmington.

925 in Student Body

Dr. Hullihen announced that preliminary registration figures show 196 freshmen and 372 upperclassmen in Delaware College and 92 freshmen and 196 upperclassmen in the Women's College. With about 70 graduate students the total enrollment will be between 925 and 950, he said. This is somewhat lower than last year, he said.

The appointment of Dr. J. Fenton Daugherty of the faculty as consultant in physics for the Biochemical Foundation was accepted. Dr. Hullihen said, for it carried with it an opportunity for research that can only be carried on by use of the cyclotron—a form of apparatus very few American universities possess—which is part of the foundation's equipment. He also said he had been named a member of the foundation's advisory council and Dr. A. S. Eastman has been invited to serve as consultant in chemistry.

Gifts aggregating $34,000 for additions to the book fund from the Trebor Foundation, the Carnegie Foundation and F. S. DuPont were announced by Dr. Hullihen.

Since its founding in 1902, United States Military Academy has admitted 23,032 cadets, including foreign-born, and has graduated 12,661.

Of the 90,000 officers in the United States army, fewer than 7,000 are West Pointers.

SKRIPPS' SCRIBBLING

By TOM SKRIPPS

Once again the thump of the pigskin, shrill of coaches whistles, and players' yells fill the air. Another football season opens at the University of Delaware. Saturday's inaugural clash with West Chester will usher in "King Football" at the college. Having won its last five games of the '40 season, the Blue Hen eleven will be seeking its sixth consecutive victory. The first game will probably be dominated by returning veterans, but the newcomers are sure to be given a chance to prove their merits. All in all it will be a good game, and here's to our first victory of the season.

Jim Spillane and Luke Selby are absentees from the football squad because of the national emergency. Since both players were lettermen during the past two years; their services will be missed. Spillane was a substitute back who specialized in end sweeps. Selby was the first string center whose pass interception prowess will be a definite loss to the team because the lanky pivot led the squad in this department the previous year. Thus the first battle of the season is a loss to our team but a win for the army.

Notre Dame had its "Four Horsemen" and Delaware has its "Four Bantams": Hogan, Brooks, Paul, and Newcombe. Not one member of the backfield is six feet or above, their average height being about 5 feet 8 inches. A bit small, but, oh, what speed.—Delaware has several experienced ends, but the dark horse of the flankmen is George Barlow.—Intramural six-man football will soon start, and all those interested had better be getting their teams in shape for the coming program.—If the band does not play up to the expectations of many, please blame it on the excitement of the new uniforms and lack of practice.—FLASH! The Blue Hen gridders will also be decked out in a new colorful array.—A very much underrated linesman is Hugh Bogavitch who is one of the hardest chargers of the Henites.

A.I.Ch.E. Conducts Freshman Meeting

Holding its first meeting of the year on Thursday evening in the Auditorium of the Chemistry Building, The Delaware Student Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers began its ambitious program of student meetings for the year. President Joseph A. La Motte was in charge of the affair.

Primary purpose of the informal gathering, was the attempt to acquaint Freshmen in the Chemical Engineering course with the aims, ideals and past accomplishments of the society.

Speakers for the evening were Dr. Allan P. Colburn, who complimented the society on its meeting, and Dr. Edward M. Schoenborn, who extended a few words of greeting to the new members. These men are respectively professor and associate professor of Chemical Engineering at the University.

Plans for the coming year include a series of motion pictures, the first of which is to be shown on October 6 on some phase of chemistry, and a series of outside speakers, as well as the semi-annual banquets held by the society.
