DENIAL TO CHARGE IS GIVEN IN STATEMENT

Sheds Light On Differences In Cost Per Pupil Under Board

Issuing a sweeping denial that the Mt. Pleasant District is being discriminated against in the allocation of state funds for schools, Dr. H. V. Holloway, state superintendent of public instruction, this week released a detailed bulletin explaining the methods of distributing public funds at his command.

The bulletin in full follows: "There appeared some days ago in the Morning News and Evening Journal (Wilmington) a statement from an anonymous source to the effect that the State Board of Education allocated to the Mt. Pleasant District, having an elementary and junior high school, something like $63 per pupil, while it allocated to the Greenwood District, having an elementary, junior and senior high school, something like $120 per pupil (the amount is only $96 when cost of transportation is eliminated, a cost that Mt. Pleasant does not have), the apparent purpose being to lead readers to the conclusion that the Mt. Pleasant District is being discriminated against.

Reason For Statement "This statement is made to explain the distinction between the allocation of state moneys to school units and the actual costs of the schools in those units.

"For the purpose of allocating school funds the state is divided into fifteen units; namely, the City of Wilmington, thirteen special districts, and all the remaining districts of the state in one unit, known generally as the State Board Unit, so called because these schools are under the immediate direction of the State Board of Education.

"The School Law provides that there shall be allocated to each one of these units $81 for each pupil enrolled in the senior high school grades, $74.25 for each pupil in the junior high school grades, and the remainder (after certain state-wide expenses have been deducted) on the basis of the enrollment in the elementary schools, that is grades one to six inclusive.

Legislature Makes Appropriation "This allotment per pupil for elementary grades is usually about $63. In this way is determined the total amount of money made available for running the schools in each unit.

"The Legislature makes the appropriation for schools in a lump sum, but in order to maintain reasonable control of the funds thus appropriated it specifies that not LESS than 70 per cent of this sum be expended for instructional service, which is the principal purpose for which the schools are maintained; not more than eleven per cent be spent for operation of school plants, which includes janitorial service, fuel, light, and power, etc.; not more than five per cent for maintenance, which includes repairs and replacements, etc.

Pass Restrictions Along "The boards, therefore, which receive their allotments under certain restrictions must pass those restrictions on to the units under their control as far as possible and yet run all the schools. Of course, it costs more to run the larger and newer schools, and also more to run high schools than elementary schools, but because of that the smaller schools and high schools must not be neglected.

"After being notified of its allotment the Board of Education of each unit proceeds to run the schools under its jurisdiction on the amount available, supplemented by whatever additional amount that may be necessary to carry out its plans.

"Only a few units and districts provide supplementary amounts, by local taxation, such for instance as Wilmington, Claymont, Alexis I. duPont, Smyrna, Rehoboth, Georgetown, and, just recently authorized, Greenwood.

No Specific Allotments "The Boards of Education of the various units make no specific allotment to the individual schools which they maintain, nor do they say that so much money must be spent for each pupil in the elementary school, so much for each pupil in the junior high school, etc.

"They simply must run the schools for which they are responsible and pay the cost of the same.

"Owing to the large number of schools in the State Board Unit it is necessary to have some restrictions upon the amount of money the local boards of school trustees in the various attendance districts may spend for various services.

"Therefore, it sets up a salary schedule for teachers, which varies from $750 to $1,000 per year, but it does not say to a board that you

Farmers Able To Save Money By Precooling Step

Fruits And Vegetables Shipped At Lower Cost, Expert's Report Shows

Show the farmer a way to save money and he will save it. Fruit and vegetable farmers were quick to adopt the practice of precooling their produce before shipping when specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture proved the advantages, both to farmers and consumers.

Precooling lowers temperatures more uniformly and rapidly than transit cooling from ice refrigerator car bunkers. Every hour of delay in cooling fruits and vegetables after harvest lessens by several hours the time they may be successfully held in storage and decreases the chances of getting them to market in good condition.

Precooling Saves Money
Precooling not only gets produce on the market in better shape, but saves transit refrigeration cost—a big item when fruits or vegetables are shipped thousands of miles. For example, precooled pears are now shipped from Medford, Oregon, in 720-box loads and arrive in New York in as firm condition and as suitable for marketing or storage as similar nonprecooled fruit in the conventional 520-box load.

Since the cost of transit refrigeration is a flat charge per car, growers of the Medford area, who ship 4,000 to 5,000 cars of pears annually, save an estimated $252,000 annually on transit refrigeration costs, says Durward F. Fisher, in charge of refrigeration investigations for the department.

Oil Company Promotes Huge Safety Crusade

Local Drivers To Share In $50,000 Cash Offer For Observing Rules

In an effort to turn back the mounting tide of automobile deaths and injuries, local Tydol and Veedol motor oil dealers are cooperating in a new type of safety campaign from May 5 to July 7, organized by the Tide Water Associated Oil Company.

Local drivers are being offered an opportunity to win $50,000 in cash prizes for the creation of eight rules of safe driving which the Tide Water Company hopes will be adopted as the criterion of all motor driving throughout the United States.

Outlining plans for the crusade, a Tide Water executive declared this week that no one can be indifferent to the mounting death and injury record of our highways. Deaths caused by motor accidents reached an all-time high of 39,700 in 1937.

Definite Responsibility
"Tide Water Associated as a major oil company feels a definite responsibility in promoting this campaign," he said. "We believe that because of the nature of our business through which we come in direct contact with the motorists we are in a better position to crusade for safety than other organizations who must make their contact indirectly."

"We are launching this public service campaign to make the highways safer, to cut down reckless driving, and to stir thought and action on this great problem," the executive stated.

Rules must be written on blanks contained in eight booklets to be given, one each week, to drivers by Tydol and Veedol dealers. These booklets contain vivid stories on the accident situation.

Some call it temperament, but Arcangelo Corelli called it the "rights of the musician." Once while playing a solo at the home of his patron, Cardinal Ottoboni, he noticed the churchman engaged in conversation with another person. He immediately laid down his violin and, on being asked the reason, curtly replied that he "feared the music might interrupt the conversation."

Two Outdoor Events Are Added To Assembly Plans

Tree Planting In Independence Square And Rally Of Boy Scouts

SPEAKS TO SCOUTS

Rev. Dr. William C. Covert, Principal speaker at Boy Scout Rally at Witherspoon Statue in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, May 28, during 150th General Assembly of Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.

Two colorful outdoor events have been added to the program of the 150th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, it was announced in Philadelphia this week. The assembly, organized a century and a half ago, will meet in the Quaker City May 24 to June 1. The events announced this week are:

1. Planting of a tree in Independence Square in commemoration of the 150th assembly. Soil from historic spots in 42 synods scattered throughout the United States and its territories will be deposited at the base of the tree.

2. Rally of 96 Boy Scout Troops from Philadelphia Presbyterian Churches at the statue of John Witherspoon, Presbyterian patriot, in Fairmount Park.

Both events will take place Saturday, May 28. The tree planting is scheduled for 1 P. M. and will be the first event of the historical tour, one of four to be made of the city by commissioners to the general assembly and other visitors that afternoon.

Ground Being Gathered
Ground from the 42 synods is now being gathered under the direction of Dr. Thomas Clinton Pears, Jr., secretary of the Presbyterian Historical Society. Suitable inscribed metal boxes have been sent to the stated clerks in each of these synods with instructions to select the place of greatest Presbyterian historical significance in that synod's territory.

A portion of earth will be placed in the box and sent to general assembly headquarters. An official representative of the synod will perform the act of depositing the soil at the base of tree during the ceremony on May 28.

Soil for the Pennsylvania Synod will be taken from the site of the old Log College at Nesheim, the precursor of Presbyterian educational institutions in this country which today include Princeton University.

The Synod of New Jersey will most likely select soil from the grave of John Boyd, near Freehold. Boyd was the first Presbyterian minister ordained in this country.

Terracing Not A "Cure All" For Soil Erosion

New Bulletin Reveals Needs For Planning And Adaptability

Terracing alone is not a "cure all" for soil erosion, according to a new Farmers' Bulletin of the Department of Agriculture. It contains the latest and most complete information published on the use of terraces to hold soil on sloping fields.

Written by C. L. Hamilton of the Soil Conservation Service, the bulletin traces the use of field terraces in the United States from colonial days to the present time. It points out why early efforts at terracing generally failed and explains recent developments in terrace construction that led to the improved terraces

The number of cattle on farms January 1, 1938, is estimated by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics at 65,930,000 head, a reduction of 518,000 head, or 0.8 per cent, from a year earlier. Sharp reductions occurred in the states from Nebraska to Texas and increases in most of the other North Central States.

Value Increases
The value per head on January 1, of $36.64 was $2.57 higher than a year earlier and the highest since

January 1, 1931. The total value of $2,415,600,000 was about $152,000,000 larger than a year earlier and the largest since 1931.

The 24,902,000 head of milk cows (cows and heifers 2 year old and over kept for milk) on January 1, 1938, was 89,000 head, or about 0.4 per cent, below a year earlier and about 2,000,000 head below the record high number on January 1, 1934. The value per head on January 1 of $54.45 was $4.06 higher than a year ago.

Paganini once appeared in concert with a female singer whom the audience hissed. When it came time for Paganini to play, he stepped to the edge of the stage and said, "This is for the men who hissed," and proceeded to give a fine imitation of a braying donkey. Whereupon, the audience sprang to its feet as a man, leaped over the footlights and rushed the virtuoso off the stage.

DELAWARE'S EARLY HISTORY AND NEWARK

No city or town in the State will be afforded the opportunity that is Newark's Saturday night, when, in about an hour and one-half, or from eight-thirty to ten o'clock, D. S. T., a complete dramatization of the early history of Delaware will be presented in Mitchell Hall on the University of Delaware campus.

NEW SWEDEN, the name given to the unusual presentation, was written especially for the Tercentenary Commission and it is the only complete story embracing the hardships and struggles of the early Swedish settlers on the shores of the Delaware River.

Many abbreviated versions of the pageant will be offered throughout the State in the next few weeks, but the presentation scheduled for Mitchell Hall on Saturday is the only complete production thus far announced. The pageant, terminating an all-day conference of the Delaware Dramatic Association, will be presented by members of that growing organization.

In order that as many people as possible can participate in this part of the Tercentenary celebration, the Commission has stipulated that no admission is to be charged. Only the capacity of the auditorium in Mitchell Hall should limit the size of the audience under the circumstances.

NEW SWEDEN is written in a new and unusual style, being neither a play nor a pageant, strictly speaking. The story is told in a series of short scenes, with the assistance of pictures, a radio voice, the organ, singing, and dancing.

The type of production is very similar to that of the Living Newspaper which has been so enthusiastically acclaimed in New York as an ideal method of dramatizing history.

Newark is fortunate indeed in having produced within its bounds what will probably be the only complete production of NEW SWEDEN to be given in the State.

NEWARK'S HOSPITAL

Flower Hospital, at Newark, like our own hospitals, takes care of charity patients. Consequently, its needs cannot be met fully from the revenue received from pay patients. The deficiency must be taken care of in some other way. Hence the justification for an appeal for funds made by a committee which is interested in the future of the hospital.

Although Newark is only 12 miles from Wilmington, a local hospital is a convenience for the community. Being on one of the heavily traveled main highways between the North and South, accident potentiality is greater in the Newark area than where there is not so much traffic.

Flower Hospital has been serving Newark for 12 years. It has become a valuable community asset. Its continuance is desirable.—Wilmington Morning News.

ASK FOR IT

Florence Jane Owens

The Harrison-Thomas-Fletcher bill is the bill for better schools. While securing federal funds for education it prohibits federal control; it safeguards the rights of states and the rights of communities in the management of school affairs. It says plainly "The provisions of this Title shall be so construed as to maintain local and state initiative and responsibility in the conduct of education and to reserve explicitly to the states . . . the control and determination of the curricula of the schools, and the methods of instruction to be employed in them, and the determination of the best uses of the funds appropriated under this Title, not inconsistent with the provisions herein." (Section 51 of the bill)

Organized effort is strong in the support of this measure. Education associations, the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization stand shoulder to shoulder in a determined effort to secure its passage. But more than this is needed; individual action is necessary.

This is the one time in the history of our country when if everyone who wants better schools will ask for them, our Country can have them. If you wish some of the money that must be spent in some way—for economic reasons—spent on the schools, ask now. If you hope for less ignorance and so less crime in the land, ask now—for the passage of S. 419 and H. R. 10340.

Write at once to the President of the United States, to your Senators and Congressmen, and tell them what you want. Speak of the need to your neighbors, too; most of them will thank you. Surely almost every intelligent person who loves America, when properly informed with regard to the provisions of this bill, will feel impelled to write and ask for its passage.

The majority of men in business will regret the court decision that declares legal the competition by the federal government with private industry. The government doesn't have to pay taxes either federal, state, or local, it doesn't have to make a living or meet expenses. It secures its capital from the industries with whom it is in competition. It is immune to prosecution on the charge of unfair competition in the restraint of trade and the antitrust laws. If a deficit develops at the end of the year a deficiency appropriation is called for and private industry gets another soaking.

Considered from a Christian and humanitarian standpoint the tendency of various nations to drive the Jews from their borders is tragic.

Filmed entirely in Technicolor, "The Adventures of Robin Hood," starring the dashing Errol Flynn, is set to have its local premier today at the Aldine Theatre, Wilmington. Long awaited, this beloved legend, concerning the gallant deeds of a Saxon noble who turned outlaw with a band of followers and plundered the rich Normans to feed and protect the poor and oppressed, has long been a favorite to moviegoers of all ages.

But for this technicolor treatise, Warner Bros. has drawn on much new material rich in the lore of this legendary figure.

Flynn, who starred in "Captain Blood" and "The Charge of the Light Brigade," heads a cast of hundreds. He is supported by Olivia de Havilland, Claude Rains, Basil Rathbone, Ian Hunter, Eugene Pallette, and Alan Hale.

Friday and Saturday

With its inherently ingenious theme counterpointed by a gay array of catchy song numbers, unique dances and the work of a brilliant cast, RKO Radio's comedy musical, "Radio City Revels," should prove itself delightful.

Bob Burns, Jack Oakie, Kenny Baker, Milton Berle, Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Ann Miller, Jane Froman, Buster West and Melissa Mason have the top roles in the picture which ostensibly deals with a huge celebration of the fifth anniversary of Radio City itself.

The real theme of the story, however, is a merry one—the quaint habits of Mr. Burns in composing lovely songs in his sleep, although even with mail-order lessons from Oakie, his conscious efforts are terrible. On this sprightly basis most of the plot complications are built, and the film weaves them deftly into an entertaining structure. A lulling romance between Kenny Baker and Ann Miller and a comedy affair between Burns and Miss Broderick, also add to the story.

Seven sparkling songs, composed by Herb Magidson and Allie Wrubel, are dotted through the picture, with "Take a Tip From the Tail," "Speak Your Heart" and "Good Night, Angel" already among the current popular hits. Ann Miller who will be remembered for her tap routines in "New Faces of 1937" and "Stage Door," and the noted Broadway dancers, Buster West and Melissa Mason, perform the unusual numbers in the film.

Bob Burns gives one of his finest performances to date as the ambitious Arkansas hill billy, and Oakie, as a broken-down Tin Pan Alley composer, shares top honors with him. Kenny Baker proves to be a hit, Milton Berle as Oakie's loyal pal, Helen Broderick and Victor Moore all are excellent in their respective roles.

Monday and Tuesday

The faultless recordings of the voices of Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy and the beautiful settings contained in "The Girl of the Golden West," will furnish sufficient reason for a visit to the State.

This David Belasco stage play, now making its third trip to the screen has been generously equipped with the best that M-G-M has to offer.

But during the course of years the Belasco saga of the lone girl in the mining post has outlived its potency, and as a great deal of footage is concerned with the story, it seems that a lot of opulence has been wasted on outmoded material.

Miss MacDonald charms with her songs and gauche mannerisms called for in her role of the proprietress of the oasis where the prospectors quench their thirst and deposit their gold for transport to the folks back home. And the swagger of Nelson Eddy as the bad man for whom a liberal reward is offered for his capture becomes him.

As the sheriff, whose two ambitions are to marry Miss MacDonald and capture Eddy, Walter Pidgeon does his usual capable work. In a poker game he realizes both his aims, after he has wounded the bandit, only to have his generosity and concern for the happiness of Miss MacDonald, relinquish his winnings in the cause of true love.

May Queen Reigns

Because of the rain on Saturday afternoon, the W.C.D. May Day exercises were held in the high school gymnasium. A pageant called "Springtime and Autumn in Old Delaware" was given in honor of the May queen, Miss Dorothy Hanby.

After the procession through the auditorium and the crowning of the queen by her maid of honor, Evelyn Wallace, members of the court took their places on the stage to watch the dances. Various ways in which May Day must have been celebrated in this state in past years were illustrated by the physical education classes, Indian, Dutch, Swedish, and English folk dances were presented as part of the program. Included in the English episode was a dance done by Helen Black and Kathryn Jackson, who represented Robin Hood and Maid Marian. Adelta Dawson, Evelyn Conant, and Alwilda Clark tumbled for her majesty's pleasure, while Sybil Keil, Mary Barlow, and Violet Noble were the queen's jesters. The exercises ended with the traditional English maypole dance.

Last Days Crowded

Besides the queen and her maid of honor, the May court composed of a duchess and two attendants from each class. These were—Seniors: Elizabeth Grimm, Emily Morrell, and Margaret O'Connell; Juniors: Beatrice Blackwell, Ruth Warrington, and Margaret Hogan; Sophomores: Jeanne Remington, Theresa Schreppler, and Mary White; and Freshmen: Lillian Marshall, June Groves, and Helen Pierson.

The last days of this school year are being crowded to capacity with numerous outings, dinners, and sports events. The Athletic Association banquet is to be held Thursday evening, while both the Mathematics Club and Forum will have banquets on Friday evening. Pledges are being planned by the Art Club, German Club, and Home Economics Club, as well as by the Junior and Freshman classes.

Five girls are still in the W. C. D. tennis tournament, which will be completed within the next week. Those who have not been eliminated are Mary Lee Schuster, Mary Bradford, Sybil Keil, Verna Leib, and Kay Castle.

make A-1 screen entertainment.

Foran's singing voice, always so appealing in his Western pictures (which have now come to an end, the long series being completed), is heard to excellent effect in "Over The Wall."

Miss Travis, as the faithful sweetheart who never doubted her boyfriend's innocence, is the one who digs up this evidence after some pretty clever work and some pretty thrilling adventures with the crooks who framed Dick.

Parkyakarkus, dialect comedian who for years stooged for Eddie Cantor on the air, is featured as "Gashouse," a dumb crook, at the head of the cast in RKO Radio's "Night Spot," in which Allan Lane and Joan Woodbury have romantic leads. Gordon Jones is also featured.

"Parky" has appeared in such recent films as "She's Got Everything," "The Life of the Party," and "New Faces of 1937."

Christy Cabanne handled the megaphone on "Night Spot" and the supporting cast includes Bradley Page, Lee Patrick and Jack Carson.

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN
WILLIAM F. ALLEN

HAD A VERY pleasant interview with the President of the United States at the White House last Wednesday. At this conference matters in Delaware were discussed generally.

PRESS BILL—Senator Minton has introduced a bill which would make it a felony to publish a known untruth. There is a great deal of opposition to this bill as many believe it will jeopardize the freedom of the Press. It is believed that the present law of libel takes care of any attempt to untruth, that might harm a citizen.

NAVY BILL—The navy expansion bill in the Senate was passed by a vote of 56 to 28. The Bone amendments to define a mid-Pacific line of limitation for fleet activity and to confine construction to Government shipyards were defeated. An amendment limiting the three new projected battleships to 35,000 tons each, until it is certain that other nations are building larger ships, was upheld.

DIFFERENT TRAFFIC LAWS MAKE DRIVING DIFFICULT—The mere crossing of a State line may sometimes transform a safe and prudent driver into a lawbreaker and an unsafe driver—a natural result of the nonuniformity of traffic laws in the States. This is one of the conclusions in a study of traffic conditions and measures for their improvements which Congress directed the Bureau of Public Roads to make.

FEDERAL HOUSING—Funds amounting to approximately $63,000,000 were made available by private lending institutions to finance the construction or purchase of 14,200 small homes under the FHA plan during April. This amount exceeded by $13,000,000 the figures for April 1937 which set the high mark in FHA records for last year. These figures do not include modernization and repair loans nor large-scale projects.

SLUM CLEARANCE—The half-billion dollar slum clearance program before the House Banking and Currency Committee was defended by Federal Housing Administrator Straus. He stated that 3,000,000 families in this country today are living in sub-standard conditions.

Discussing a New York critic who is notoriously caustic in his references to actors and singers, one of his victims recently said: "He's so tough that when he goes to heaven St. Peter will say to him, 'All right; you can come in, but you won't like it.'"

Improvements In Motor Cars Advance Roads

Highway Engineers
Work To Keep Pace
With Manufacturers

A need for keeping up with the progressive improvements in motor cars is one of the reasons why the work of highway engineers is never done.

For several years the Bureau of Public Roads has been able to report that nearly every mile of the Federal-aid system of highways has been surfaced. But this does not mean that the job is done. The pressure for better highways to fit current models persists.

"Many of the roads," says the Bureau, "were improved in earlier years when vehicle speeds were slower and when there was urgent need for rapidly extending the surfaced mileage." With more cars using the highways at higher speeds, one of the pressing demands now is for better highways to match improvement in the cars.

Better Materials

Surfaced highways must be re-surfaced with better materials, straightened, widened, and made safer by eliminating grade crossings and curves that were safe at low speeds but that are dangerous at the higher speeds.

These improvements are essential for safety, the engineers point out, as well as for comfort, convenience, and efficiency in traffic movement. The engineers are learning to build the highways safer, but safe highways are not cheap highways.

Improving an existing highway to bring it up to standard may add as much or more to the highway budget as the original cost of the road that was up to standard 20 years ago.

Jean Rogers, above, plays Elaine Dascom in the Monday night NBC serial, "Those We Love," and, with other members of the cast like Nan Grey, Donald Woods, Owen Davis, Jr., and Richard Cromwell, listens to a record of the rehearsal before broadcasting each episode to correct faults which may exist.

Colonel Lemuel G. Stoopnagle, despite his whimsical manner, looks like a staid business man when making his Sunday night broadcasts over the Yankee network. He wears horn-rimmed glasses and quiet conservative clothes.

Mr. and Mrs. William Naudain were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Ball on Creek Road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pennington, Billy and Emilie Ann Pennington spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Benard at Talleyville.

John Golden, Producer Of "Susan And God," Enjoys Unique Distinction

Illustrious Theatrical Man Is Holdover From Days Of Belasco-Frohman

John Golden, producer of the Rachel Crothers comedy, "Susan And God," starring Gertrude Lawrence, Theatre Club prizewinner, and one of the season's biggest prolonged hits in New York City, is possibly the most illustrious of theatrical men still active from the glamorous period of David Belasco and Charles Frohman.

Mr. Golden has produced more than a score of the most substantial stage hits since his first success, "Turn To The Right" in 1916-17. He is right now reading three new ones for New York when he sends Miss Lawrence in "Susan And God" on the road this summer.

Mr. Golden was born in New York City, but his parents removed to Wauseon, Ohio, when he was a year old. He returned to his native city for his education and his first dramatic writing was a play for the New York University Dramatic Club, while taking a law course at the night school of this institution.

After acting as a supernumerary at the old Harrigan Theatre, young Golden decided to cast his lot with the theatre. He spent four years in stock and repertory companies, and then forsook the theatre for a couple of seasons to write humorous columns for newspapers.

During this experience he developed a talent for rhyming, wrote lyrics and studied music in order that he could prepare his own melodies. During his active young manhood he wrote more than 1,000 songs, and the royalties from these still pour into his present New York office at the rate of scores per month, for songs that no one but this author still know the titles of, and also for some quite popular ones such as "Poor Butterfly."

Mr. Golden still keeps a popular piano in his office and seeks relaxation at its keyboard.

Puts Training To Use
He put his musical training to good use between early dramatic productions by writing the shows for several Hippodrome and Winter Garden spectacles of mammoth proportions, and possibly a dozen other smaller musical shows.

Encouraged by the tremendous success of his first venture as a producer with "Turn To The Right," Mr. Golden has since then stuck to this form of activity. His product-

BIRTH OF A SONG

By Shelton Brooks

THERE was an old family organ in the Brooks' home in Amesburg, Ontario, and Shelton first met music on its keyboard—while brother, with-the-longer-legs, pumped.

At sixteen, his parents moved to Detroit, and Shelton became a mimic. His impersonation of Bert Williams at Luna Park, Cleveland, scored a hit with that comedian, at least.

Touring vaudeville, Shelton entertained backstage by improvising on his own themes on the small-time circuit pianos.

Within a week, Sophie Tucker had scored a great hit with the song. As other vaudeville performers took up the song, it swept the country.

Rushing back to his piano, Shelton rapidly completed the music and wrote the words of "Some Of These Days."
