Collins Speaks Out In Dover "Meetin"

Newark Representative Critiques Organized Propaganda

Representative Collins, chairman of the House appropriations committee and also of the Legislative budget committee, on the floor of the House Monday, voiced his objections to propaganda, which he said is being carried on in support of the present school laws.

He charged that there has been a campaign of propaganda in Delaware not by the State Board of Education but by the officials of that department aided and abetted by an organization of citizens who he says are "trying to set up a super-government in Delaware and to force the people of the State into a position into which they hesitate to go." Mr. Collins said the school question is not a question concerning alone the people of Delaware and he spoke of the present fight being carried on in Pennsylvania between the executive and the school head there over the school budget. He said the question here is how far should the State go in aiding its schools, and this is what the budget committee is trying to determine.

They have no desire to hamper or retard the schools, he explained. "We condemn this propaganda," said Mr. Collins, "that has been carried on in this State to the effect that if there is a budget cut the teachers' salaries will have to be reduced. We want to see the State's money spent in the State and not wasted. While I do not advocate this, I merely state as a suggestion ways and means whereby we could get additional revenue."

Mr. Collins then stated there is on deposit in the State banks and savings institutions $66,705,456.94, and in the National banks in the State $14,675,582.26, or a total of $81,381,039.20, and a tax of two mills on this sum would net the State $162,762.07.

He also said the assessed property value in the State amounts to $227,070,094 and an additional tax of ten cents on this would bring the State $227,070.09. This with the tax of two mills on deposits would bring the State $389,832.16.

Mr. Collins said if the people would want to pay these taxes it would solve the school problem. He thought much of the school expenses could be cared for locally and said he was about ready to favor a bill to allow the local authorities to levy a special tax without a referendum. He declared this problem cannot be solved by the voice of propaganda and noisy demonstrations. He said he was ready to go the limit in education but he did not want this educational propaganda "cramped down our throats especially when the whole thing is engineered by a little coterie of citizens in Wilmington."

The objects of this club is to practice cheerfulness and helpfulness. Mrs. Speakman was present and gave an interesting and profitable talk, telling of the many thrilling and interesting events during her and her husband's stay in France; also of the helpful work the auxiliaries are doing throughout the entire country.

The following officers were elected: President, Miss Mary L. Powers; Secretary, Mrs. Leila Little; Treasurer, Mrs. Welp; Chairman of Education Committee, Mrs. Brent; Chairman of Entertainment Committee, Mrs. Douglas; Chairman of Welfare Committee, Mrs. Ent.

CHORAL CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT ON APRIL 13th

Miss Frye Will Be Soloist at Second Annual Affair in Wolf Hall. Rehearsing Each Week

The Newark Choral Club is planning for its annual concert, to be held this year in Wolf Hall, on the evening of April 13th.

The soloist will be Miss Cora Frye, of Philadelphia, Pa. Miss Frye is well known here, having sung to Newark audiences before. She has a very rich and well-trained soprano voice and is sure to please the music lovers.

The Choral Club has been rehearsing for weeks on the numbers which will make up the program for the concert, and under the direction of Miss Dora Wilcox, the Club's director, it is expected that every one will be ready for the curtain on the evening of the 13th.

ARCTIC EXPLORER TO SPEAK SUNDAY NIGHT

Young People's League To Hold Meeting in Opera House. Usual Good Music

The Young People's League meeting will be held next Sunday evening in the Opera House, instead of the Church. The large attendance at the last few meetings has made a change to larger quarters imperative.

Mr. Harry Whitney, Arctic explorer big game hunter and a leading figure in the New York Zoological Society will be the principal speaker. His talk will be in the vein of personal experiences, and will be illustrated by over 100 slides depicting the chase of Silver King, the largest Polar bear now in captivity, and other exciting incidents in the far north.

A musical program of great merit is in the making and the following artists will be present: Miss Bernice Wagner, of Wilmington, at the piano; Miss Estelle Hellersohn, violin; her sister, a very popular soprano; Frank Mason, well known basso of Wilmington; Mrs. Lillian Goldstein, contralto; and little Miss Jennie Slack, of Newark. William P. White will lead the community singing.

There is of course no charge for the evening's entertainment. It will begin at 7:30.

HERE'S ONE FOR YOU

While the Newark people were shivering in the grip of a near-blizzard last Tuesday, Herman Tyson, well-known local trainer and driver, was winning the Pinehurst Special at the Pinehurst, N. C., track.

Mr. Tyson returned this week from a short business trip in that section of the country. One of his friends down there inveigled him into going to the post in the Special.

HOMEWARD BOUND

Down at the old station, this morning stood a soldier of the United States. He was waiting for a train on the main line. Beside him stood his rosy cheeked, fair haired German wife, and before them pranced a six months' old youngster. A baby coach, several bundles and a trunk or two completed the picture.

They are on their way to Los Angeles, Cal., and changed here enroute from Fort du Pont. Several Newark commuters watched them with more than passing interest, for it was their first glimpse of the German soldier-bride type.

THREE LARGE SALES

Auctioneer Armstrong reports three of his largest sales of the season, two of them within the week.

On Friday of this week, the personal property formerly belonging to Dean E. L. and Deborah Smith, now deceased, will be sold to the highest bidder. John K. Johnston is administrator of the estate.

On Monday next, a sale of unusual importance to the farmers of the vicinity, will be that of stock, machinery, implements and household goods on the Lewis Brown farm, near Head of Christians Church. Mr. Brown is selling everything for the high dollar.

On March 27th there will be a sale at the William C. Schwartz farm, on the road from Cooch's Bridge to Elkton, Md.

New Century Club In Regular Meeting

Interesting Program Given - Prepare for Coming Elections

Next Meeting March 27th

Through the Delaware Avenue mud a few members of the New Century Club waded on Tuesday afternoon to a jovial and entertaining meeting.

No business was transacted because a quorum was not present. The following announcements were made: Two Directors are to be elected to take Mrs. Cann's and Mrs. Bowen's place because their terms expire. The annual election of officers is to take place on April 10th.

The Nominating Committee members are Mrs. Houghton, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Bonham and Mrs. Cann, and the chairman of the committee is Mrs. Dutton. If any club member wishes to propose names for nomination the names may be sent to any member of the committee in writing before March 27th and will be received gladly.

The names of the nominees are to be posted on March 27th. All annual reports are due on April 10th, and after the chairman of the various committees have given the reports, they should be handed in in writing to the club secretary to facilitate her annual report to the federation. The president reminded the club that the matter of the frequency of the club meetings is yet to be acted upon if the by-law, which has been only temporarily suspended, is to be changed.

Mrs. Johnson announced the programs for the next meetings. On March 27th, Mrs. Walker, the State Federation president, and Mrs. Alexander, District Superintendent, are to be the guests of the club. Mrs. Cann has been asked to sing and Mrs. Houghton is to read a short story. A social hour will follow.

The club meeting was then turned over to Miss Clark, of the Women's College. Miss Frances Worthington, of the Junior class, accompanied by Miss Margaret Black, gave a beautiful "Concertino in Hungarian style" on the violin. Miss Clark then spoke ably and interestingly on "The Aims of Home Economics in Education."

Miss Hatfield then told of the many phases of work which are being done in the public schools in Home Economics, training the girls to be real daughters in the home. Miss Worthington read a paper on "Child Care." The concluding number of the program was a piano selection, "Soaring," by Schumann, played by Miss Black.

Delicious cakes and dainty wafers made by the Senior Class Home Economics students of the Women's College were enjoyed with afternoon tea during the concluding social hour.

HIGH SCHOOL PEOPLE IN RACE FOR FUNDS

Five Cars Loaded With Workers Entered. Money To Go To Athletic Association

Promptly at nine o'clock on the morning of Thursday, March 22nd, the intensive Ten Day Race for funds for the Newark High School Athletic Association will begin.

The "Newark Post" is helping the High School people in their drive for money for their Spring sports. For ten days, beginning the 22nd, five teams will vie with each other in bringing in subscriptions to the "Post." Thirty-three per cent of all money received will go into the coffers of the Association. A big surprise awaits the winning team.

Those cars and drivers already entered are: Pierce-Arrow, Miss Ida MacMurray; Packard, Catharine Holton; Rolls-Royce, Charles Owens, Jr.; Cadillac, Albert W. Strahorn; Ford, Aileen Shaw.

THE LAST CALL

Tomorrow is the last day for filing your Income Tax Return. The Law is Inexorable. Don't put it off. Go to work now.

Five Councilmen To Be Chosen April 10th

Walter Geist Will Be Candidate for Mayor - Councilmen are Non-Committal

A president and four members of Newark Council will be elected at the town election scheduled for the second Tuesday in April, falling this year on the 10th.

Those whose terms expire are: Mayor E. B. Frazer, Councilmen Colmery, Wilson and Beals. There will also be a member elected to fill out the unexpired term of Robert Morrison, deceased.

At this early date there is little excitement in the air, although speculation is rife as to several of the contests. Councilman Wilson made no statement this morning other than smiling when asked if he would run again. It is generally known that Mayor Frazer will stand for reelection.

Geist Will Run

Walter Geist, prominent Main street merchant, when interviewed this morning also smiled and said:

"Yes, it is true that I am a candidate for Mayor." That is all he made in the way of a statement.

The other councilmanic contests are still rather hazy and citizens are busy looking over the town for the right man for each position.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Short had as their guest over the past week-end Major O. M. Baldinger, of Washington, D. C. Major Baldinger is the personal aide to President Harding. He was in Newark attending the Sigma Nu Convention. He is also well acquainted with Major Lathe B. Row, head of Military at the University.

MR. FISHER BETTER

Mr. Andrew Fisher, who has been critically ill for two weeks or more after a fall from a ladder in his yard, is slowly improving, according to a report at noon today. While still confined to his bed, he is much brighter and doctors say that he has a good chance of complete recovery.

FARM MOVIES PROVE POPULAR FEATURE

Over Five Hundred Farmers See Pictures in 10 Days. Purchase Machine

Nearly five hundred farmers have attended the series of motion picture shows held in the county during the past ten days, not to mention four hundred school children in advanced classes. This is over one-third of the farmers of the entire county. The series ended with the meeting at Bear, Tuesday night, which was the largest held. Chairman L. C. Hoffecker "outdid" himself in advertising this meeting. This meeting, however, probably enjoyed an accumulative effect of the series. It was a marked fact that as the series of meetings progressed the attendance gained impetus.

R. O. Bauman believes that he has hit on the right cue in securing an attendance and in conveying a message to them. The farmer is not unlike his city brothers, he enjoys being entertained. He is alert to grasp methods which will increase his profits and likes to have it interwoven with light-make farm life more pleasant, but he er features.

Director McCue has recently purchased a motion picture projector and the Extension Workers expect to make good use of it.

Everything is in readiness for the Fourth Annual Consignment Sale of the Delaware Holstein-Friesian Breeders, which will be held at the State Fair Grounds Thursday, March 22d. A wire from Col. George Baxter, auctioneer, of Elmira, N. Y., states that he will be on hand in No. 1 form.

It is an unquestioned fact that this is the highest class sale that the Delaware Holstein-Friesian Association has ever held. It is a rare even when forty head of mature Holstein cattle, mostly mature cows, which have the guarantee of the State Breeders' Association behind them, are offered to the highest bidder without reserve.

TOMATO GROWERS TO MEET TOMORROW

Prices on Tomato and Corn Crops Will be Set. Increased Acreage Needed

Stockholders in the United Canners Corporation and other farmers of the vicinity who are interested in the growing of tomatoes and corn will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in Wolf Hall.

Officials of the corporation will be there and an open meeting will take place. Farmers will be urged to place more tomato plants out and plant more corn. It is reported that the company would handle the products from 1500 acres of tomatoes and 1000 acres of corn.

At the same time the price for this year's crop will be set.

"It is quite evident," said Dr. Thomas F. Manns, a member of the Advisory Board, yesterday, "that the price of corn and tomatoes will be higher this year. All things point to that end. Tomorrow's price will be, I am sure, a substantial figure."

DEAN URGES USE OF LEISURE HOURS

Speaks to High School Girls at Assembly Exercises

"Make good use of your leisure hours" was the advice given to the girl students of the Wilmington High School by Miss Winifred J. Robinson, dean of the Women's College, University of Delaware, at the special assembly exercises in the High School Monday morning.

In part, Dean Robinson said:

"Leisure has not the significance of idleness; leisure is of noble birth with worth-while relatives, while idleness is low-born, an out-cast of time. Leisure implies freedom from employment, that is, that work has been done; idleness may mean lack of capacity to do work that must remain undone."

"Let the so-called 'slang-slinger' of the street have a monopoly on the 'shark's elbows,' 'the monkey's instep,' 'the cat's meow' and other phrases equally meaningless, and if you feel that you must resort to the grotesque in speech, use something that will meet the test which Professor Stephens, of Swarthmore, suggests, namely, that it should possess the elements of intelligence and wit, as well as something akin to profanity which either shocks you or the listener or both. The spoken word of our daily use is that which is perpetuating our language as pure beautiful English or as a decadent form of speech."

"American life has a quick perception of the things that are vitally important coupled with a respect for them. If you have this kind of reverence you will keep your bodies clean, your thoughts wholesome."

"If this attitude which regards reverently all the expressions of emotional life be yours, your impulses will be under your control whether they be those of the compelling urge of sex, the goad of some known wrong that cries for justice, or the lofty sentiment that prompts to the supreme sacrifice. Be joyously glad; be bravely sad; be keenly alive to the beauty that appeals to the senses; be honestly affectionate; be sincerely reverent before all that expresses the power and the wisdom of the Divine."

GOOD HORSE SOLD

The handsome sorrel mare belonging to the late Clarence Eastburn was sold last Friday at the Eastburn sale to Ralph Barcus for $158.

The horse is a splendid saddle mare and attracts a great deal of attention when prancing along the streets.

Two pair of heavy work horses were also auctioned Friday and brought splendid prices.

ALL READY FOR DINNER

About 110 members of the Newark Chamber of Commerce and their friends will partake of the Spring dinner of that body tomorrow night. Landlord Moore has prepared a tasty repast. Dr. Crooks, a new member of the Chamber will speak, as will a number of the merchants and business men.

LAYFIELD'S RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Layfield have returned from a month's trip through Canada, the Middle West and California. They report the weather on the West Coast to be delightful.

Many Delegates In Town For Meetings

Middle Atlantic P. T. Council Holds Sessions Here Today and Tomorrow

Open Meeting Tonight

Between thirty and thirty-five delegates from five States and the District of Columbia are in Newark today attending the Middle Atlantic Council of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations. The conference will continue through today and tomorrow and end with a luncheon at the Women's College.

The delegates began arriving last night and by lunch time today nearly all the expected guests had arrived in town and were enjoying the hospitality of one of the many homes which have been thrown open to the visitors.

At 12:30 today, a luncheon was served to the delegates and Newark hostesses at the Women's College. Later on in the afternoon a business meeting was held at the same place.

At 4:00 this afternoon, Dean W. J. Robinson entertained at tea in Residence Hall. At this affair, mothers and teachers of Newark and vicinity were invited to meet the visiting delegates from the other States. Quite a large number of people were present at the tea, many of them Newark parents and High and Grammar School teachers.

Open Meeting Tonight

Tonight in Wolf Hall, perhaps the biggest single event of the entire conference will be held—the open meeting at which time a varied program of music and speaking will be given. Everyone is welcome to this meeting. The local Parent-Teacher Association will be represented by a majority of members, and the meeting is expected to be of great value to both mother and teacher.

Community singing, led by Miss Wilcox, of the Women's College, an address by Mrs. Frederic Schoff, chairman of the Middle Atlantic Council; messages from the State presidents, and several musical numbers constitute the bulk of tonight's program.

Mrs. John S. Shaw, chairman of the Hospitality Committee, had charge of the placing of the delegates in private homes for the duration of the Council. Several last minute difficulties arose during last evening and today, but it is believed that every delegate is now taken care of in true Delaware fashion.

Prominent women attending the conference are: Mrs. Harry E. Parkhurst, President of the Maryland Association; Mrs. J. Forbes Shaw, Mrs. Ira Fonshill, Mrs. W. W. Wyson, Mrs. Lewis Rubin, Mrs. Hattie Wolf, all of Maryland; Mrs. E. E. Kiernan, President of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Giles S. Rafter, President of District of Columbia; Mrs. Drury N. Cooper, President of New Jersey; Mrs. H. A. Ameisen, Miss Richman, Mrs. Louis de Valiere, Mrs. William Mountford, Mrs. Robert L. Pettit, Mrs. George Waterhouse, Mrs. Charles Hannas, Mrs. F. S. Herr, Mrs. Chas. Bacon, all of New Jersey, and Mrs. Henry Osgood Holland, of Buffalo, the candidate endorsed by the Delaware Association for National President to be elected at the annual meeting to be held in Louisville, Kentucky, in April.

BREAK INTO STORE

Thieves again turned on our valuable Main Street merchant, Louis Handloff, and on Saturday night last tried their best to enter his imposing department store.

They managed to tear away a panel from a side door, and after all that trouble were held up by a burglar alarm. Since the alarm refused to be quieted, the denizens of the night took to their heels. Officer Ellison arose and followed with his trusty chariot, but gave up the chase at Marshallton.

Nothing was stolen from the store; but their intentions were of the best. For evidence, see the door panel.

WEEKLY WEATHER OUTLOOK

Weather outlook for the period March 12th to March 17th, inclusive, for Middle and North Atlantic States. Considerable cloudiness, probably rain over south and snow or rain over north portion at beginning of week, and again about Wednesday or Thursday. Temperature near normal.

Aged Veteran of Many Political Struggles and Prominent Farmer Passed Away
Wednesday Night

MEMBER OF LEGISLATURE

Charles Walton, aged 82 years, died last Wednesday at his home in Iron Hill, from a complication of diseases. He had been sick for several weeks and towards the last he gradually weakened. His advanced age greatly handicapped him in his fight for life.

On Monday afternoon he was buried from his late residence in Iron Hill and a great many of his former associates and friends attended the services. They still remembered him as one of the active men of the vicinity, and came to honor his memory.

The deceased is survived by seven children: William, postmaster at Iron Hill; Charles and Edward, farmers; Irvin, of Uniontown, Pa.; Mrs. John Rose, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Wilbert Layton and Mrs. Thomas F. Smith, of Bridgeville, Del.

Mr. Walton, during the prime of life was actively interested in all affairs pertaining to the welfare of the State. For a time he represented his district of New Castle county in the State Legislature and also held positions of trust in the county. He was Tax Collector for a number of years.

He always took great pride in his farm and his teams. He was a hard-working man and his efforts were easily seen when anyone took the opportunity to visit his farm. For many years he attended the King street market in Wilmington, driving his covered wagon up to town loaded with all the delicacies of the season.

About two years ago all his farm buildings, house, barn, sheds, and everything, were swept away in one of the most disastrous fires in the vicinity. Everything he had worked so hard to build up was destroyed in a few short hours.

It is believed that this disaster in a large measure was responsible for his sudden failing in health. He started down grade immediately.

The Pleasant-Summit W. C. T. U. was entertained in the home of Mrs. Ida V. Holten in Mt. Pleasant Friday. The social hour was in charge of Mrs. Susan Roberts and Mrs. Elva Jacobs.

The Parent-Teacher Association will hold a bake at Letherbury's store next Saturday.

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD

AS TOLD BY CORRESPONDENTS AND EXCHANGE

Over Elkton Way

BASE BALL

With the coming of the birds and the first few flowers, all Cecil County sportsmen are turning their attention to two great Maryland pastimes—Horse racing and base ball.

While it may be said that the Sport of Kings does considerable damage to pocketbooks and causes bank tellers to give you the cold stare, there is no gainsaying the fact that for a few weeks in the spring, there is nothing in the way of sports in Maryland which creates such excitement.

But when the horses stop running at the spring meeting, they're through, that's all.

But base ball continues merrily on through the entire summer, and be it said that if reports of wagers made last year on some of the big games are true, the sporting men won't miss the races so much after all.

As usual Elkton will be represented on the diamond. The other night they held an impromptu meeting. Some one suggested the fact that to have a ball team they must have money to back it up.

The citizens clustered about seemed to see the logic in this statement and forthwith about $500 was raised in a few minutes.

That's the way they feel about the sport in Elkton.

And just to top off the evening they elected a few officers for the season.

John Wallace Scott was named President; A. Ralph Andrews, vice-president; William Creamer, secretary, and David Scott, treasurer.

It is rumored about town that a new manager will come out of the woods this year to manage the Susquehanna League champions.

The same clubs will make up the league during the coming season as were in the circuit in 1922. Elk Mills is making elaborate plans to carry off the flag. Large sums of money are reported as being offered to prospective tossers.

So Marylanders who love to sit out in the bleachers, munch peanuts and cuss the umpire are assured of plenty of base ball for the year.

THE X-RAY MACHINE

The Union Hospital in Elkton is now equipped with a modern and expensive X-Ray apparatus, installed there at the request of hospital officials. It is now possible for any type of disease or accident to be treated in Elkton under the most approved methods.

The new outfit, however, is not yet paid for. Money for its purchase was loaned and it is now imperative that it be paid back. A form of open subscription to a fund for the payment of the debt is now being conducted. All contributions by public spirited citizens are welcome. They should be mailed or sent to Dr. Howard Bratton. Something over $150 has already been raised.

Mrs. Herbert Sparrow and son, Leigh, of Baltimore, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bowland.

Elkton Candidate

Walter C. Miller has announced himself as candidate for long term County Commissioner of Cecil County on the Republican ticket.

TRY AND GET IT

Meaning, of course, the money in the vault of the National Bank of North East, Md.

Officials have just installed what is considered to be the final word in vaults. Everything known to the locksmith trade is included in the mechanism.

From description of the vault, heard from those who have seen it, it would appear that the cashier must take a course in "How to Lock Up Your Own Bank."

Any how it is quite a piece of safety apparatus, and everybody, perhaps, will breathe a little easier when their money is safely locked within.

"ALL SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES SHOULD HAVE ATHLETIC PROGRAM FOR EVERY STUDENT" SAYS DR. WHARTON

Speaking At Athletic Council Dinner, Famous Exponent of Physical Education Predicts Plan For the Future. Other Speakers Give Splendid Little Talks

GOLD FOOTBALL FOR McAVOY AND MEMBERS OF TEAM

Athletics, near athletics, faculty, students, alumni and guests of the University of Delaware sat down last Thursday evening to the first Athletic Council dinner in the history of the college.

Coach W. J. McAvoy

Although the attendance numbered seventy-five, not such a big crowd, nevertheless it was a representative audience which heard the few speakers in their short but effective efforts.

Dr. Charles M. "Buck" Wharton, a native of Dover and a true Delawarean, at present assistant head of the Physical Education Department of the University of Pennsylvania, made the principal speech of the evening. Dr. Wharton spoke of the value of mass athletics to the college man or school-boy. He pointed out that there is nothing that will develop and fit a man for the battles of life than a period of athletic effort.

Athletics teach loyalty, self denial and a number of other attributes which go to make up a successful player in the game of life.

Dr. Wharton told of his warm regard for Delaware and the State University, and complimented the authorities on the calibre of men they have turned out.

Lou Young, football coach at Penn also spoke effectively to the assemblage. Gus Ziegler, line coach at Penn, told of the day he came to Newark to help plan a defense to stop Dickinson, and how glad he was that old Delaware beat the Pennsylvanians. Myron Fuller, coach of the linemen at Yale rounded out the list of the guests from out of the University. Mr. Fuller, in the course of his remarks paid a tribute to the "country boy" and said that he had more faith in them than in any other type.

The after dinner meeting opened with a short introductory address by Dr. W. O. Sypherd, president of the Athletic Council, and who, by the way, carried away the duties of toastmaster in a most commendable manner. Dr. Sypherd then called upon

President Hulihan, of the University, who delivered a few remarks, urging the establishment of "athletics for every student at Delaware."

Then came Coach W. J. McAvoy, who was presented, at the close of his talk, with a gold football, the gift of the Alumni Association.

It is time to think of Spring Suits --for Easter comes early this year

The Mode in Suits

Women everywhere accept the suit as the most universally becoming as well as the most serviceable garment in their wardrobe. Yet, what a difference there can be in the fit of a suit! These new suits are designed to fit every type of woman. They are designed with the cleverness and skill of an expert costume artist. Among them you'll find trim tailleurs, smart short jacket models and charming three-piece suits, displaying all the remarkable artistry and characteristic style features of the new season.

Trim New Tailleurs

These will always be popular to a certain type of woman and though the tendency this Spring is to get away from a strict severity of line, the well-tailored suit with its seldering lines will take a prominent place among those suits smart for Spring.

Smart Short Jacket Suits

Good-looking, youthful suits in straight box effect with variations or else bloused at the natural waistline, held in with a snug-fitting band around the hips. Cleverly applied bits of silk embroidery, braid and stitching add a very rich touch of smartness.

Charming Three Piece Suits

These are the suits that promise a popularity which will dominate the Spring mode, for they include frocks with blouses of plain or printed silks, lending a touch of color and verve which makes it a very beautiful costume to be worn without the jacket or with jacket left open.

We have selected for special showing—from a wide group of Poiret Twill Suits—a number of extremely attractive models in Tailleurs, Short Jacket Suits and Three-Piece Suits at the same price. Each quite individual in the emphasis of style features, yet each displaying only those features recognized as smart for Spring season. Specially priced $59.50

New
Spring Topcoats
$30 to $40

Patterns and colorings that you seldom see in ready-to-wear coats. The new box model will look well on most men and if you require a long, stout, or a coat of unusual proportions, we will make same without extra charge.

In Loving Remembrance of Wife and Mother

As the evening sun is setting Ofttimes as we sit alone, In our hearts there comes a feeling Wishing wife and mother to come home.

Now our home is sad and lonely, How we miss her smiling face, But she left us to remember That no one can take her place.

Sadly missed by her husband and son.

In Memory of Our Darling Sister Rest on, dear sister, thy labors o'er; Thy willing hands will toil no more. A faithful sister, both true and kind, A truer sister we could never find.

Sleep on, dear sister, sweetly rest, We needed you, but God knew best. God's will be done, He doeth well, But how we miss you no tongue can tell.

By Miss Catharine E. Davis, Mrs. Susan R. Tasker, and Mr. George C. Lamme.

By her husband and children.

Andrew A. Harding
The funeral of Andrew A. Harding, for many years employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad and for most of that time employed in and around Newark, was held Monday of this week in Cherry Hill Cemetery, Cecil County, Md. He was 74 years of age.

He was taken sick at the home of a son in Media, Pa., where the old man made his home since retirement. He lingered a few weeks but gradually weakened.

The deceased was one of the veterans of the Pennsy service. He had been in their employ upwards of thirty-five years and was very well known by many of the residents of Newark today. Reaching the age of retirement, he was relieved from duty a few years ago and went to live with his son in Media. While employed in Newark, the deceased was at all times faithful, cheerful and honest, and his passing marks the end of a life full of hard work but withal borne up by a loyal heart.

Beside his son in Media, the deceased is survived by another son, William W. Harding, of Newark.

FINAL COURT GAME

Western Maryland Throws
Score in First Half But

Counts

Delaware closed the current basketball season last Wednesday evening in an admirable and fitting manner when she trimmed Western Maryland in a game of thrills on the home court by a score of 20-18.

For the entire first half the home team had trouble in getting started. The galleries plead, threatened and howled for more speed and points but for some reason or other the Blue and Gold were far from right. After a few minutes of sparring Stanley and Williams of the visitors started things going for the Marylanders and they quickly ran up the score. At the end of the first half the score stood 14-7 against the Blue and Gold.

Second Half

With the score greatly against them and the first half nightmare still causing shivers to run down their backs, the Blue and Gold came out on the floor for the second period and as has been the case for the past three or four games, completely bewildered their opponents by an amazing attack which could not be stopped. Williams, Jackson, McKelvie and Cole in quick succession stabbed at the net with great success and the gallery howled another kind of howl.

In three minutes they evened the score and from then on to the end of the game the Western Maryland team was helpless in stopping them. The visitors were allowed only one field goal in the entire second half.

Jackson was high scorer for the evening with five field goals to his credit and four fouls. McKelvie, Williams and Cole also scored from the field. In the last three minutes Robinson, Gibson and Mannix entered the fray and held the Marylanders safe for the remainder of the game.

For Western Maryland, the work of Stanley stood out like a horse and wagon on Broadway. He is possessed with an uncanny eye for the basket and only close guarding by France and Williams kept his score down.

Mathews, the visiting guard, was ejected from the game for uncomplimentary remarks thrown in the general direction of the referee. The game as a whole, however, was very clean and at times fast. The score:

Lost Game for Cole

The game was the last in a Delaware uniform for Dick Cole, who has played a strong game at guard all season. Cole played guard on both the football and basketball teams, his final year in college, making his letter in both sports. He was the only senior on the basketball team this year so the prospects for a fast five next season would seem to look good.

Maryland Society
To Dine March 22

Plans are being laid for a banner celebration on Thursday evening, March 22, at the Hotel duPont, when the Maryland Society of Delaware will hold its ninth annual banquet. The list of speakers, which has been tentatively made out, is not yet sufficiently definite for an announcement to be made, beyond the fact that William Cabell Bruce, Maryland's new Senator, will be present.

The Maryland dinners are famous for the splendid oratory furnished, and this year will mark no exception to the rule.

A reception will be held prior to the dinner, from 7 to 7.30 p. m. The list of diners is growing rapidly, and the society hopes to have as near a 100 per cent representation as humanly possible.

Wilmington Lads Held to

Lower Classmen

The University of Delaware Freshmen triumphed for the second time over the Beacom College team on Friday night last by the close score of 17-15.

The fine foul shooting of "Doug" Proud, ace of the visitors, kept his team in the running throughout the game. They only hit the net for two field tosses during the evening.

The Freshmen spurred in the last few minutes of the game and clinched the argument. Jacobson and Johnson were big guns for the Freshmen. The score:

The "Tigers" Claw
Invading Tossers

The Tiger A. C. of Newark trounced a team representing the Wilmington Y. M. C. A. one night last week in the University Gym by a lopsided score of 40-20.

Just who the Tigers are may be gleaned by reading their lineup:

Chalmers and Crompton, forwards; Doyle, center; Wilson and Hopkins, guards.

Witnesses say that they recognized a few of the players as having performed before during the winter in and around Newark.

The End of Grief

The young woman was describing to one of her friends a great chagrin which she had undergone.

"I was just almost killed by it," she said; "I could have cried myself to death."

"Did you cry?" asked the other. "No, I was just getting ready to when the dinner bell rang."—Philadelphia Ledger.

DELAWARE FINISHES A SUCCESSFUL SEASON ON THE BASKETBALL COURTS

Win Eight Games and Lose Six For Season's
Total. Jackson Is High Point Scorer

ONLY ONE MAN LEAVES BY GRADUATION

The University basketball season for 1922-23 was finished Wednesday night last by a victory over Western Maryland, bringing the season's total of wins to eight and losses to six.

Among those who triumphed over the Blue and Gold during the winter months were Navy, Army, Swarthmore, Gettysburg and others.

Delaware had far from a weak schedule. Especially hard was that period a few weeks ago when the Blue and Gold played five games in six days, and all of them hard battles. In view of the circumstances and difficulties faced during the season, the record while not sensational, is very pleasing.

Jackson High Scorer

Sook Jackson, a product of Dover High School and a new man on the team this year, tops the list of local scorers with a total of 147 points. Of these points, 48 were by field goals and 99 from foul goals. With the exception of the few minutes when he was not playing, Jackson attended to all the foul shooting. During the season Jackson had 173 chances from the foul line and made good 99 times. His season's average is 57 per cent which is exceptionally good.

From the field, Captain "Jack" Williams was leading scorer with 39 field goals. He was followed by Jackson with 24; McKelvie with 16, and Cole, with 15. In addition Captain Williams made good 6 out of 19 tries from the foul line.

Ralph France, who although well known in Wilmington basketball circles, just acquired fame at Delaware as back guard, was the only man who played every minute of the entire fourteen games. His work at guard was of such finished calibre that he was the mainstay of the Blue and Gold defense. For these reasons, when subs were sent in, Coach McAvoy kept him in the game to steady the work of these new men.

The individual records of the men are:

| Goals— | | Field Foul Pts. | |
|-------------------|----|-----------------|-----|
| Jackson, forward | 24 | 99 | 147 |
| Williams, forward | 39 | 6 | 84 |
| McKelvie, forward | 16 | 0 | 32 |
| Cole, guard | 15 | 0 | 30 |
| Robinson, forward | 4 | 0 | 8 |
| France, guard | 3 | 0 | 6 |
| Gibson, guard | 2 | 0 | 4 |
| McDonald, guard | 0 | 0 | 0 |

FARMERS OF VICINITY TO RECEIVE $13.00 PER TON FOR CORN AND TOMATOES THIS YEAR

Announcement Made At Gathering of Growers
On Friday Last; Dean McCue Gives Some Valuable Advice; Pres. Pollock Tells Of Past Year's Finances

OVER 100 FARMERS ATTEND THE MEETING

That the popularity of tomato and corn growing is becoming more evident year by year among the farmers of this vicinity was evidenced last Friday afternoon when between 100 and 150 men came to Wolf Hall in response to a call from officials of the United Canneries Corp., to talk over plans for the coming season.

The fact that tomato growing is becoming a real agricultural industry lies, as was pointed out at the meeting, in the fact that with a comparatively small acreage involved the profits are very satisfying and the growing of the regular staple crops is not interfered with. In addition to this, the United Canneries, operating on a purely co-operative basis, has completely won the farmers by its methods, and it is expected that the coming season will be a banner one for all concerned.

Dean McCue Advises

The meeting convened about two o'clock and was addressed by Dr. T. F. Manns, Dean C. A. McCue, and President Pollock of the Canneries Corporation.

Dean McCue in a lengthy talk urged the farmers to abide by the five or six cardinal points which insure success in growing tomatoes. In order to fully bring out each point, he illustrated his talk with many examples of actual incidents which he has experienced in his dealing with farmers. In order to be reasonably assured of a good crop of tomatoes, the grower, according to Dean McCue, must heed the following points:

1. Be careful in choosing the plants.
2. Get them out before the first day of June.

3. Plant them deep.
4. Use the right fertilizer; an inquiry to the Advisory Board will give all information.
5. Limit your acreage to an efficient size, so that it may be worked economically.
6. Always work for an increased tonnage per acre.

As each of these points were unfolded and explained by the speaker, the talk became really a convincing lesson and was much appreciated by the assemblage.

Cannery Finances

Following Dean McCue's talk, President Pollock arose and everybody hitched himself up in his seat, for the expected price announcement for 1923 was due at this time. However, Mr. Pollock kept them in suspense for several minutes, as he proceeded to give a concise report of the financial status, and of the business done last year. He pointed out that the growth of the corporation while surprisingly swift, was the result of close co-operation and hard work on the part of all parties concerned.

He reported the net profits for 1922 to be upwards of $15,000. Checks have already been mailed to the stockholders giving them a dividend of 8 per cent on outstanding stock.

The expected announcement of the prevailing prices on corn and tomatoes for the ensuing year was soon forthcoming. $13.00 per ton will be paid for both corn and tomatoes, an increase of $1.00 per ton over last year's prices.

By the attendance noted at Friday's meeting and the evident interest shown by all growers, the season of 1923 promises to be much larger than 1922. The canneries here will open some weeks earlier than usual, in order to take care of the early crops, but the farmers were urged to get their plants in at about the same time, and at all events, before the first week in June.

ELKTON NEWS NOTES
OF THE PAST WEEKHappenings of Maryland Folks

A new porcelain manufacturing firm has been organized in Elkton. This plant will be situated just south of North East.

E. Kirk Brown of Elkton has been named president of the new concern. Other officers include Dr. R. C. Underwood, vice-president; R. C. Reeder, treasurer, and August Glocker, manager.

Measles are still rampant in North East. The schools, while open, are only attended by about half the normal number of pupils. The teaching staff is not handicapped to any extent. Doctors say that the epidemic is under control.

The floating theatre, which has been tied up at the foot of Bridge Street all winter, is making preparations for their annual spring cruise. The players wander from town to town along both sides of the bay all summer, giving their performances each night. They played in Elkton several nights last fall.

A nasty accident near Galena, last Sunday, resulted in a broken arm and severe bruises to those involved. A car containing Edward Kimble and his sister, Miss Matilda Kimble, skidded near the village and turned turtle. Both occupants were pinned under the wrecked car. Miss Kimble suffered the broken arm. Both were painfully bruised.

A Cecil County Farm Bureau is in the process of formation according to some reliable reports. Action is being taken to form such a body, wherein the farmers of the county, by co-operative buying, may profit greatly.

Elmore Deibert, a former Elkton boy, had purchased a large hardware store in Havre de Grace for a price said to be $11,000. He will enlarge his present garage business.

Rally Day, the biggest single event to be backed by Cecil County schools will take place this year on May 25th. Elkton, it is understood, will be the scene of the festival. Elkton schools will close on Thursday of next week and will not reopen until Tuesday following Easter.

WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS
UNIVERSITY PROFESSORDr. Ryden Lectures Before the Elkton Organization

The Woman's Club of Elkton met in its regular weekly session yesterday afternoon.

The principal address of the day was delivered by Dr. George Herbert Ryden, Professor of History at the University of Delaware. Dr. Ryden is reported to have been especially interested in the history of Delaware, Maryland and the Eastern Shore. His talk was greatly appreciated by a large number of members.

"STOPPING AT TOWN POINT"

One of the really important items of news of the past week in Cecil County was the agitation centering about Town Point, the well-known resort along the Elk River.

The Cecil County Commissioners have petitioned the Maryland Public Service Commission requesting that the Ericsson Line steamers would make that little promontory a port of call on all trips.

Now it appears that the Ericsson Line is not particularly anxious to stop at Town Point, and politely informs the public that it's entirely too much trouble, or words to that effect. For fifty or more years past the boats have made the Point a regular stopping place. But in 1920 they drove right on by and have been driving by ever since.

Now the old wharf at Town Point is but a shell. It is doubtful, whether a good sized boat could tie up there now without pushing the piling over. About the only thing it is good for is to provide the summer bathers with a diving board.

But with all seriousness, the Commissioners are going after the issue and an early hearing on the matter is expected.

The Elk Neck contingent is whooping it up for a boat service, as are several other nearby sections. It might be a good idea to keep an eye open for desirable real estate down around the Point this summer.

People's Column

To the Editor of The Post:

Mr. Upton Sinclair, whom I found a highly agreeable shipmate on the return voyage from Europe in 1918, has issued "The Goose-Step," a book that seeks to prove that the great private "interests" have a stranglehold upon the higher education of the country. Personally I have long feared the influence of great personal and corporate wealth in our colleges and universities, and I feel that such a book as Mr. Sinclair's, though one written with greater care for the ascertainment of facts, and for fair and full statement of both sides of the question, would be a helpful awakener to democratic America, but what Mr. Sinclair has to say of the University of Delaware makes me distrustful of his "facts" as to other institutions, and of his willingness to publish the facts when they do not fit in with his propaganda.

Some months ago Mr. Sinclair wrote to me asking what I knew as to the University of Delaware. I replied in a long letter, setting forth my conviction that in spite of the native conservatism of Delawareans, and the large benevolence of Mr. Pierre du Pont in aid of the institution, freedom of opinion and expression was not hampered in the faculty or among the students, and especially that Mr. du Pont's gift carried with it no attempt upon his part to control such freedom of opinion and expression. I authorized Mr. Sinclair to use only so much of my letter as he could find space for. He did not garble what I wrote, nor did he use my name, but he quoted only one short paragraph of mine in which I deplored the fact that the du Pont power stood at the gates of industrial opportunity in Delaware, and denounced the du Pont influence in the politics of the State. Instead of summarizing my temperate and truthful account of conditions at the University, in which I especially emphasized the democratic spirit of the student body, he took from some other source all he said of the University, and as I have written him, erred in every important assertion that he published.

BREEZY

THE SPORTING TICKER

A Column Devoted to Clean Athletics and Sportsmanship, written by one who loves the Game.

WANTED—A MANAGER

With plans running along smoothly and everybody working hard for a ball team to represent Newark in the New Castle County League this year, it appears that the desired result will be achieved by the time the season is scheduled to open.

So far there has been no manager elected to lead the White Clay cohorts to battle, and this fact is causing lots of speculation among those interested in the team.

In looking over the local talent there appears to be few men who are being talked of for the berth. However, as the weeks go by there will be others drawn into the lime light as possibilities, and there is no reason to doubt that the right man will be chosen in plenty of time.

There is no harm whatever in discussing prospects for the position. The manager of a ball club is probably the most important cog in the machine. Upon his shoulders rests the burden of planning attack and defense, choosing players, maintaining discipline and above all retaining the confidence and respect of his players. There has never been a successful leader in the game who has not emphasized the latter point. Without the team's confidence, a manager might as well be back home reading the paper as on the bench or coaching lines. In Newark, as well as in all towns, the question presents its difficulties.

No high priced players will be on the payroll; therefore a manager does not have the power to unconditionally fire his men and bring other ones in. He must worry along with them as best he can, knowing that any serious trouble will not only make him unpopular with some of them, but will perhaps ruin the chances of his team winning the pennant.

And that is just where the players themselves may be of help. Whoever is chosen to lead the team during the coming season must be met half way by the players. No man can please the palate of everyone—at least not in a small town.

The outfielder or pitcher who deliberately sulks on his job because he doesn't approve of the policies of his manager is only hurting himself. True, he may cause untold worry and misery for the leader, but sooner or later true sportsmanship will condemn him as a loafer and trouble maker.

Here in Newark is the nucleus for a real ball team and it may be made or broken by the actions of the players. None of them will make fortunes during the season. And if Newark comes through on the top of the heap, it will be the greatest kind of victory for real honest to goodness love of the game, not a commercialized, working-for-wages type of ball playing.

So when the manager is chosen, get behind him and work for the good of the cause. If he doesn't measure up to it it won't be because he didn't have support; if he succeeds, it will be to the credit of his team, not himself.

Speaking of managers, a communication from Burton Shipley, former Delaware coach and well known in town, says that about 17 players have been signed by him for the Salisbury team of the Shore League. "Ship" has the confidence of the town and they are going the limit to bring he pennant home. And after all is said and done, there is one man who knows the old game from cellar to garret. More power to him.

SPRING MOTORING

May we halt for a moment and consider the Sunday motorist?

You can't exactly call Sunday motoring a sport; rather it is a combination of pleasure and effort indulged by good people who have formed the activity into a regular weekly habit.

No, it isn't a sport, but it comes closer to that type of endeavor than it does to anything else.

Roughly speaking there are three kinds of Sunday motorists:

- (1) Those who really enjoy being out in the air and sunshine.
- (2) Those who go out because they feel that "it's being done by everybody worth while" this year.
- (3) Those who would a darned sight rather be at home reading the funny papers.

So here we are. Now for a brief, pointed analysis of the three classes, one at a time.

In the first class, you will mostly find the young people, four or five in a two-passenger roadster, hats off, hair blowing, laughing and chattering; also you will find the young married couple who, with their new Elizabeth, coast along the country roads admiring the trees and budding flowers and stopping once in a while to survey a lone cow, things they had almost forgotten about in the glamour of courtship. Great dignity and responsibility of position mark their attitudes. All in all this is the ideal class; some of them don't remember where they have been or what they saw, but they had a good time and "Oh, Mabel, the air was just glorious!" You know the type.

Then comes the closed car—chauffeur, airedale, out-the-window type. Mr. and Mrs. all wrapped up in fur, discussing the morning sermon, and Mrs. all wrought up about the flowers for her bridge party tomorrow afternoon. The only one who seems to be having a good time is the Airedale, and whenever he barks Mr. cuffs him on the ear. Even the chauffeur is blasé to a fault. After a few hours in the country with all the windows down "because, you know that Spring air is frightfully treacherous," they return to the castle and Mr. immediately falls asleep from the exertion. If you asked them where they had been, they would give you a blank stare. It's just a part of the weekly program, along with the theatre party Monday night and Saturday afternoon on the links.

And now we come to the final group. Pop and Mom and the kids, enough to comfortably fill a big touring car, just must go out to see Aunt Mamie today. Pop grunts as usual and bores down deeper in the paper. Finally, Mom has her hat on and the children's faces all washed. The kids, of course, look forward to playing with the pigs and calves, and hide-and-seek with the hired man.

At last, Pop disengages himself from his paper, puts on his hat and shoes and unlatches the old wagon. Only has one extra inner tube, but with careful nursing finally makes the farm.

And, of course, they arrive just as Aunt Mamie and family are sitting down to dinner. But she's "delighted to have them," but nobody knows what she says when she gets out in the kitchen again.

No doubt you know this type too.

They all come in the same category—Spring Motorists.

SAGES OF THE FACULTY MAUL AND BATTER THE SENIORS IN AN UPROARIOUS CONTEST

Report From the Scene of Battle Gives All the Beautiful Details Which Mark A Successful Battle Royal. The Score Was 22-20; But That Doesn't Mean A Thing

DR. MANNS "STEAM ROLLERS" THROUGH OPPOSITION

In one of the most exciting and strenuous games of the season the Seniors of 1923 received the surprise of their lives, when the Faculty trimmed them by a score of 22 to 20. The score does not reveal the extent of the Seniors' punishment. The game started with the Seniors wearing a smile of superconfidence, but the Faculty had that calm reserve possessed only by the Faculty. After the first ten minutes the Faculty found that the Seniors were going to be an easy mark, so for the last half of the period they simply toyed with the Seniors and shifted the Faculty lineup. The Faculty's psychology proved good. Flushed with a superiority indictated by a score of 16 to 8 the Seniors enter the second half prepared to take it easy. Something like this must have flashed through their minds: "We might as well have some fun; these old gray beards are all in and entirely out-clasped." One or two dazzling shifts of the Faculty's lineup made the youthful aspirants for victory begin to wonder if they had the right kind of deductive reasoning. The new psychological warfare began to puzzle them just a bit. What kind of a game was the Faculty playing? Who was guard; who was forward; and who was what? They did not know; but the Faculty always had the ball. Seeing the Seniors were now ripe for a thrashing, the Faculty changed their line-up once again, and the original first five men began to play basketball, 8-10-12-14-16-18 and the score was tie. Well! says the Seniors, "if we can't beat them in real basketball we can in an extra 35 minutes tire them out and knock them out by roughing it up." But with usual forethought the Faculty met the situation by giving them as good as was sent, in fact, proved superior at roughing it up. Two points were gained by the Seniors at free throw; the Faculty gained four by field goals and then formed a stone wall of defense into which the Seniors battered their heads in vain. In pity for their fellow students the Seniors' time-keeper felt that 35 minutes of this kind of basketball was all the team could stand so he blew the whistle for the close of the game.

How do the Seniors remember the game? They have a dim recollection that the score was against them, and a stronger recollection of great big Dr. Manns hurling them about like jack straws. They see H. Raymond Baker making spectacular football catches; young Butties running about like a jack rabbit, bowling the Seniors over like tenpins, with the ball always in his possession; faint glimpses of an elusive Rees and a war horse Ham; they remember two stalwart giants, Brinton and Harris, keeping the ball above their heads; Upton chewing gum and making faces. They also saw stars, "the Faculty team."

OVER EIGHTY ENTHUSIASTIC BUSINESS MEN AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SPRING DINNER

Between eighty and ninety members of the Newark Chamber of Commerce and their invited guests were present last Thursday evening at the Newark Inn and enjoyed to the fullest extent the Chamber's Spring Dinner.

Landlord Moore served the large assemblage in excellent style. The dinner was good all the way through and considering the crowded condition of the room, was served in splendid style.

The first few guests started to assemble a few minutes before seven, but the actual seating of the diners took place about twenty minutes later.

At the speakers' table sat Mayor Frazer, Rev. Frank Herson, D. E. B. Crooks, Dr. Walter Hullihen, Prof. W. A. Wilkinson, Dean C. A. McCue, W. H. Evans, James C. Hastings, J. Earl Dougherty, and Mr. McLaughlin.

All during the meal, time was taken at various intervals to sing a few songs, mostly old favorites, well known to all. The temperament of the gathering evidently was sentimental, as "Sweet Adeline" held the center of the stage for several minutes. A good natured contest between table brought on some healthy, and robust tenors hitherto unknown in Newark. A. D. Cobb's table finally carried off the honors, with the speakers' table taking the booby prize. Later on in the evening a group of volunteer performers headed by Dr. Walt Steel, R. W. Heim and a few others advanced to the speakers' table and rendered "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" with great effect, and were accorded great applause.

As this was the principal speech of the evening, the balance of the evening was spent in various other matters of interest.

Dr. Crooks Talks

After a few minutes of noisy chattering among the tables and much lighting of cigars and cigarettes, President Hastings introduced Dr. Ezra B. Crooks of the department of Philosophy of the University. Dr. Crooks' subject was "The Ruhr and What It May Mean To Us."

Aside from being a carefully prepared and accurate summary of opinions dealing with the Ruhr situation, the address by Dr. Crooks really gave in the course of a half hour or so, sufficient information to last the average busy business man, that is if he listened to the talk and then knew just as much about the Ruhr as those who scan the papers every day for the last bit of news. The speaker outlined the two conflicting views—French and German. He presented them in a totally impartial manner and left the issue to his hearers. Dr. Crooks, however, takes a pessimistic view of the whole situation and intimated that not many more sparks would be needed to set Europe aflame again as she was set aflame in 1914.

In its relation to the American business man, the chief importance of the Ruhr situation is its effect on American trade. The financial difficulties of France and Germany today are sure barometers of the run of trade. In case the bomb goes off over there, we will be dragged in, according to Dr. Crooks, as we were dragged in before. Nothing can stop it. At the end of his clear and concise speech, Dr. Crooks was given a rousing ovation, and Mr. Hastings thanked him on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce.

Someone hit Sol Wilson on the head with a biscuit and the gathering immediately forgot business and sang a few more songs.

Shortly later, after a final minute of chattering and slaps on the back, the Spring Dinner broke up and the diners went to their various homes.

Some twelve or fifteen new members were entered on the rolls at the Thursday night affair. The plans call for four such dinners each year, to be given free to members whose dues are paid to date.

FIVE TEAMS READY FOR NOVEL AUTO RACE

High School Pupils Already Lining Up for First Day

TEACHERS IN RACE

The captains of the five teams entered in the NEWARK HIGH SCHOOL-NEWARK POST Subscription Drive, starting tomorrow morning at nine o'clock, are putting their several houses in order, giving final instructions to their fellow workers and by the time this is read, are ready for the word "GO."

The contest will close on Tuesday, April 3rd, at 10 o'clock p. m. This is final and definite. There will be no hanging over, and cleaning up loose ends. The drive will be short, intensive and ambitious.

Coach Wilson, who has complete charge of the High School end of the Drive at the last minute decided that the teachers might as well work for the school as the youngsters, so down on the lists went the names of the entire High School staff.

The Novel Automobile Race aspect is expected to give added impetus to the drive. The lowly Ford, piloted by Allen Shaw, while in rather fast company, if the names of the other competitors are taken as examples, promises however, to be right there at the finish and going strong.

The entire High School, numbering more than 150 boys and girls are entered in the race. They are all eager to be away. A successful canvass of Newark and vicinity in ten days may be the means of adding hundreds of dollars to the Athletic Funds of the High School. There is no limit to the territory. Each worker is a free lance and may go wherever he or she pleases for subscriptions.

AND AT THE END OF THE DRIVE, THE WINNING TEAM WILL BE THE GUESTS OF THE NEWARK POST AT A BIG COURSE DINNER AND DANCE, AT WHICH TIME, MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS AND OTHERS WILL BE PRESENT.

The names of the workers in the drive and the cars which they have chosen are:

TOMORROW MORNING MARKS THE START OF THE
10-DAY SUBSCRIPTION RACE

TO PROVIDE FUNDS FOR

The Newark High School Athletic Association

AT THE BEGINNING of the current term of the Newark High School, the treasury of the Athletic Association showed a balance of exactly FORTY CENTS. Back Debts amounted to almost TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS. With this handicap, Coach Joseph Wilson started out to provide equipment and necessities for four sports during the year. Two of these sports are finished and brought great credit to YOUR High School.

Now comes the Spring Sports, Baseball and Track. The boys need new uniforms, shoes, equipment in general. How were they to get it?

It was decided to put over a Subscription Drive for funds. And THE NEWARK POST, the COMMUNITY PAPER, is the means whereby the High School will realize their goal.

THE NOVEL PLAN OF THE DRIVE IS GIVEN BELOW. THE WINNING TEAM WILL BE THE GUESTS OF THE NEWARK POST AT A GREAT BIG DINNER AND DANCE FOLLOWING THE COMPLETION OF THE DRIVE.

HERE'S THE PLAN

For every New Subscription turned into Coach Wilson and his staff of assistants by a member of a team, the sum of FIFTY CENTS will be turned over to the A. A. For every renewal for one year, the sum of TWENTY-FIVE CENTS will be relayed. At the end of the Drive, after the subscriptions are checked over and approved, the winning team will be announced.

The subscription price of THE NEWARK POST for one year is $1.50. When a member of one of the racing "teams" comes to see you, bear in mind that 33.5 per cent of the money you give them will go into the coffers of the High School Athletic Association.

A new subscriber credited to any one of a team counts one point. A renewal counts one-half a point. The Team having the HIGHEST NUMBER OF POINTS at the end of the 10th day wins the Contest.

"DON'T TURN THE KIDS DOWN"

BETTER ROADS IN THE
GLASGOW DISTRICT

Plan New Thoroughfares. Fix
Up Old Roads in Spring

It is reported that the extension of the Glasgow-Elkton road, from the Maryland line into the Cecil county metropolis is one of the improvements planned for the coming year.

The district bounded at three points by Elkton, Middletown and Newark not many years ago was devoid of but a few miles of improved road. The Middletown-Newark pike and the Elkton-Newark road with a small section from Glasgow west about constituted the improved lines.

Now with the completion of the new concrete stretch from Glasgow to Bear Station and the possibility of extending the same line west to Elkton and east to the State Road, a new route from Maryland points to Wilmington and down the State will be in use. Another bit of improved road is open from the Glasgow-Middletown road, running west along the Chesapeake and Delaware canal and coming out just outside of Chesapeake City.

Farm values have naturally taken a big upward jump in view of these improvements. Some of the best farms in this section are to be found in the Glasgow-Elkton district. The added advantage given to the farmer in getting his produce to market has made the macadam road a blessing.

No definite word as to the probable construction of the Elkton link of the new road has been received. The entry of the road would be East Main street.

COMBINED MEETING IS GREATLY ENJOYED

Two Missionary Societies
Guests of Presbyterian Church Thursday

Missionary societies of the Methodist, St. Thomas Episcopal, and Presbyterian Churches held a very enjoyable affair in the lecture room of the latter church last Thursday evening.

Mrs. W. H. Beacom, of Wilmington, was the chief speaker. She delivered a talk on "Jerusalem." It was both entertaining and religiously instructive and was greatly appreciated by the ladies present.

The remainder of the evening was taken up with a musical program in which several members of each society took part.

The success of the combined meeting may, it is said, lead to several more of the same nature later on in the year.

Those who have enrolled so far are: Mrs. Mary D. Brown, Miss Sarah Brown, Miss Clara Anthony, Mrs. Joseph W. Clay, Miss Wilda Davis, Mrs. Thomas Freeman, Miss Nellie Lawrence, Mrs. Julia McNeal, Miss Grace Price, Mrs. Carrie Smith and Miss Jennie Realey.

The class held its first meeting Monday night in the Red Cross office in the Masonic Building. All meetings are scheduled to be held on Mondays.

DANGEROUS BREAKS IN MARSHALLTOWN ROAD

The Wilmington-Marshalltown section of the Lincoln Highway—the main road between New York and Washington—has been damaged, presumably by heavy traffic, to such an extent as to make it dangerous in some places. A number of holes, some of considerable size, were noticed, in an inspection. They are mostly on the right hand side of the road for traffic proceeding south.

Danger from these breaks lies chiefly in the fact that some of them may not be noticed a night in time to avoid them.

"BENNY" CAULK, KNOWN BY
ALL IN THE COUNTY, PASSES
TO HIS LAST RESTING PLACE

Barely Able to Walk. Death Came Monday
Buried Today in Old White Clay Cemetery

KEEN MEMORY ACTIVE UNTIL THE LAST DAY

Benjamin Sluyter Caulk, aged 68 years, passed from this life on Monday of this week, from a combination of diseases. He died in the hospital at Farnhurst, Del.

Known to everyone throughout the county as "Benny," the old gentleman had a host of friends. All his life was spent in Delaware, most of it in Wilmington. Eight years ago he came to live with his sister in Newark, Mrs. John Elliott, where he had made his home until a few days before his death.

The deceased was born on May 4, 1855, on what is now known as the John Dean Farm, near Newark. He was the son of Benjamin and Jane Mandy Caulk, old pioneers of this community. He was raised from boyhood on the farm and at an early age went to Wilmington. Most of his life was spent there.

"Benny" Caulk had a remarkable memory. Up until the last few hours of his life his brain was clear and active. When his sister went to visit him last Saturday, she found him in a very critical shape, and his death was but a matter of hours. Nevertheless, the old man eagerly asked how things were going in Newark, and inquired for the health of many of his friends here.

He was a member of the White Clay Presbyterian Church, and also had a great interest in Old Drawyer's Church near Odessa, Del. He attended that church regularly until about two years ago when his health failed.

Funeral services were held from the home of his sister, Mrs. John Elliott, on Delaware Avenue, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment was made in White Clay Creek Presbyterian Cemetery.

Entertainment and Pie Social

The Social Hour Club of Cowentown will give an entertainment and pie social at Lotland's Hall, Cowentown, on Saturday evening, March 24th, at 8 o'clock. The proceeds are to go to the American Finance Committee for Devastated France.

Miss Alice Blackson, of the Continental Fibre Co., of Newark, is one of the leading candidates. Come and help the good work along, and enjoy a social hour.

Luncheon Party

Mrs. Charles Blackson, Barksdale, Md., recently entertained at luncheon the following ladies: Mrs. Nettie Crossin, Mrs. Harvey Mitchell, Sr., Mrs. Sparks and Miss Ella Stelle. After a bountiful luncheon, the ladies adjourned to the music room and spent the afternoon enjoying music and dancing.

Goodyear Case Dismissed

The case of Luke Goodyear, a resident of near Elkton, arrested some weeks ago on a charge of alleged illegal selling of liquor came up in a Baltimore Court last Thursday.

The case was dismissed.

"Increasing Tomato Yields"

By DR. THOMAS F. MANNS

Published by the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station

Growing and pulling a half million tomato plants at a centralized plant bed near Newark, Delaware, in 1922.

Earlier and stronger tomato plants will greatly increase tomato yields in Delaware. This conclusion is based on the results of several years' work with tomato plants by the University of Delaware. Similar results have been secured in other states. As a general rule, plants set during the last week in May or the first week in June greatly outyield those set after the tenth of June. With better plants and earlier planting; with more and better fertilizers; with better rotations and proper cultural practices, the yields may be greatly increased.

Realizing the importance of earlier and thriftier plants, several tomato canners the past season co-operated in centralized plant growing with splendid results, greatly increasing the yields in their communities. The instructions given in this circular, if carefully followed by tomato growers, should give similar results.

Selected Seed is of Great Importance

Most of the tomato seed on the market today is cannery-run stock; this means that the grower often gets under the label "Greater Baltimore," "Improved Stone," or other so-called variety, a miscellaneous mixture of the seed from a tomato district. No other factor is of such great importance as securing seed from a high quality, high yielding and properly maturing variety which produces fruits of large size and good color. This means that every grower ought to save his own seed by selecting from strains which do well in his locality.

Growing Good Tomato Plants

The most common method of growing tomato plants for the field, is by means of the open seed bed. To secure early plants, a warm, well drained, sandy loam soil, sheltered as much as possible from the north and west winds should be selected. The soil should be rich in humus and fertile; if humus is lacking, a liberal quantity of well rotted stable manure should be applied on the seed bed in the fall or early spring at the rate of 12 to 15 loads per acre.

Preparation of Seed Bed

An important feature of a good seed bed is thorough preparation of the soil. Deep plowing and pulverizing of the land are essential. In the more sandy regions it will be necessary to compact the soil to hold moisture. A liberal quantity of a complete fertilizer, such as a 3-10-6 should be drilled into the bed and thoroughly mixed with the soil. Just before seeding the surface should be well pulverized and carefully raked.

Planting the Seed

The seeding may be done either by hand or with a garden drill; with the latter the rows are usually made twelve inches apart. The narrow rows made with garden drills are easily kept free of weeds; wide hand-made rows require considerable weeding. When planting by hand the rows may be three or six inches wide and from twelve to sixteen inches apart. The depth of planting ought not to exceed one-half inch. If thinning is to be practiced the seeds should be well scattered (one-fourth inch apart) so that the resulting plants will have room to develop. After planting a light top dressing of well rotted, short manure with some blood tankage mellowed in the soil and greatly stimulates the young plants. A strong, stocky plant, about eight to ten inches high, is desired; tall, spindling plants give poor results. If thinning is to be practiced plenty of seed should be drilled to insure a perfect stand. Seedlings should be thinned to a distance of about two inches. Two ounces of seed is sufficient to produce enough plants for one acre. Sow the seed from the first to about the middle of April, according to the locality. Several plantings are advisable as the earliest may fail.

Cultivation of the Seed Bed

Cultivation of the seed bed should be started just as soon as the plants have pushed through the soil. This will warm the soil and give the seedlings a better chance to grow; at the same time it will tend to kill germinating weeds. The number of cultivations (usually four to six) depends upon the amount of rains and whether the soil is loose or whether it cracks; it is well to cultivate after every rain or whenever the surface forms a crust.

Holding Down Diseases

A healthy seed-bed is of prime importance. In the selection of such a seed-bed "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Many tomato diseases live over in the soil. In order to reduce the danger from foot rot, wilt, mosaic and leaf spot, change the location of the seed-bed each year and avoid land where tomatoes grew the previous season.

When the seedlings show their first true leaf, or "third leaf," as it is sometimes called, they should be sprayed with Bordeaux mixture, 4 lbs. copper sulphate, 4 lbs. lime, and 50 gals. of water, to which has been added one and one-half pounds of powdered arsenate of lead. This spray will keep the plants free from the leaf spot, foot-rot and the flea beetle which spreads mosaic and blight diseases. Spraying should be repeated every ten days; the last application should be made just before pulling to protect the plants in the field after transplanting. All weeds must be kept out of the plant bed; they rob the young plants of sunlight, moisture and fertility.

Early Planting Increases Yields

The land must be prepared early and in the best possible manner. An early plowing in March, and a second plowing about the 10th or 15th of May greatly increases the yield. It is well to apply the manure after early plowing, discing in a week or 10 days after applying. The land should be fertilized about the middle of May and thoroughly disced. Deep plowing, if the subsoil permits, is advisable. Early preparation of the land holds the moisture, which is so necessary at planting time. Soil, poor and lacking in humus, should have 10 to 12 loads of well rotted stable manure, supplemented with 600 to 1000 pounds of a 3-10-6 fertilizer. If manure is not available, select a sod or a field on which a leguminous crop, such as crimson or red clover has been grown, which in a measure takes the place of manure. One-half of the fertilizer should be broadcasted with a drill and the remainder placed in the hill several days before planting.

Distance of Setting Plants

When setting by hand, it is necessary to mark off the field. The average distance to set tomato plants is about 4 by 4 ft.; on lighter soils sometimes 3½ by 4 ft. is practiced, and on heavier soils 4 by 5 ft. is desirable. Vigorous or long season varieties when planted early on fertile soil may be given the greater distance; when planted on poorer soil the distance should be about 4 by 4 ft. Early or less vigorous plants can be set at a shorter distance. The proper distance for maximum yields in each locality must be determined by the individual grower.

Pulling the Plants

Two or three days before transplanting it is well to withhold water from the beds if possible so that the plants may be hardened to better withstand the shock of transplanting. The evening before pulling, soak the bed to lessen injury to the roots when pulling. If large numbers are pulled it is well to pack the plants in containers and place them in a cool and moist cellar; the following day they will appear just as fresh as when first pulled.

Setting the Plants

In setting tomato plants place them deep in the soil; an eight inch plant ought to be set at least four inches in the ground; leggy plants, if they must be planted, should be set slanting with two-thirds their length in the soil so that the roots will be imbedded in the more fertile surface soil. Plants so set will develop a better root system.

Moisture Important When Setting

Moisture in the soil at time of setting the plants is very important. Many "ragged" stands can be traced to a lack of such moisture. To insure an adequate amount of moisture at time of setting, the soil should be prepared at least 10 days to two weeks before planting. This will give the soil a chance to settle and moisture to rise. Such soil will generally be moist enough without watering at planting time. Shallow dragging of the land just before marking and planting is desirable in order to kill weeds.

Machine planters generally are equipped with a watering device which will supply each plant with enough water for a good start. It pays to use a planter when the soil is dry because it supplies the necessary water. In order to re-establish moisture relations of plant and soil after planting so that the plant may grow, the soil should be firmly pressed about the roots of the plant.

General Management of Tomato Fields

Cultivate the field as soon as the plants stand up. Stirring makes the soil warmer. Early cultivations should be deep and later cultivations shallow. Weeds must not be tolerated, as they take the moisture and fertility necessary for the plants.

If tomato worms appear they may be controlled by an application of arsenate of lead. Cultivating the field when the plants are wet spreads the blight.

Rough treatment of the plants, unnecessary trampling on the vines, and carelessness in picking often cause much reduction in yield.

GEO. W. GRIFFIN WRITES FROM ORLANDO, FLA.

Orlando, Florida, March 12, 1923.
Newark Chamber of Commerce:

In my mail this evening I found THE NEWARK POST. (It was like meeting an old friend, too) and in it I note you are to have a get-together dinner Thursday evening next, which I will be unable to attend, much to my regret, so I will have to content myself with sending greetings and congratulations upon the spirit of good fellowship you are showing. I am sure it will be a most enjoyable affair with your songs, good eats, orations by home bred talent, together with a review of your work done and your plans for future effort and accomplishment. I shall miss it all greatly. Believing a very brief sketch of some of my wanderings and experiences will serve to fill in a bit of your evening and be welcomed for the sake of old associations I will begin by saying this is a delightful country and a delightful climate, with a wonderful blending of temperate and semi-tropical conditions.

Northern to central portions of the state show a forestation of oaks, hickory, gum, pines, etc., much like we see up home, but freely sprinkled with palmettos, cypress, ferns and a heavy vine growth, and so many trees carrying a parasitic growth of gray Spanish moss, giving to them a lacy festooned effect, very odd indeed to me.

As one goes further south the hard woods gradually disappear, and the pine and palm growths become universal. The same with the climate. Extreme north, most every winter, is visited by a little freeze. The extreme south rarely sees frost, and the sun shines nearly all the time. A shower is on tonight as I write, the first I have seen or heard since I reached here, and the temperature, with a few exceptional days, has been much like June weather.

There is yet, I am told, several million acres of wild land; some of our journeys have carried us through a veritable jungle. I believe we have driven as far as 25 miles without seeing a habitation. On the other hand we have driven through many miles of such cultivation as I have never seen anywhere else. Fields, not plots, of lettuce, of celery, of potatoes, etc., but the orange and grape fruit groves, I think, are the most fascinating of all to the northern visitor. That cultivation alone is a great industry and constantly growing, till here many years Florida will be the vegetable garden and orchard land of much of America as well as its play ground.

We reached Jacksonville, February 2nd and motored down the East Coast as far as West Palm Beach, stopping a day or two at such places as St. Augustine, the oldest town in the United States, a most interesting place. Homes of millionaires in their beautiful semi-tropical settings, within a few blocks of quaint old Spanish structures with streets too narrow for sidewalks, and many reminders of Spain's occupation and handiwork. Daytona and Ormond on the Halifax river, and Daytona Beach, the most wonderful in the world. When the tide is out it is a roadway 100 to 200 feet wide of hard packed sand, 25 miles long, so hard that an automobile makes but a very faint impression upon it. We spent a part of one afternoon upon it, speeding our cars upon the sand and five airplanes racing about overhead. Stopped two nights in Cocoa on the Indian River, at this place over a mile wide. A real estate agent here showed us much of the surrounding country, including Merritt Island, about one-half mile wide and 40 miles long, most of it in truck and the Indian River oranges. For 50 miles or more the road winds around the shore of this beautiful river, and much of it is shaded by palms of one kind or another—I have heard there are over 20 varieties.

We spent a night at Fort Pierce and took in some of the adjacent territory next day, through courtesy of a land agent. These towns I have mentioned, along with Melbourne, are active and prosperous. Tourists, truck and fruits are their three large crops. From Vero to West Palm Beach, a distance of 70 miles, was over a road as fine as the best between Wilmington and Newark. We reached West Palm Beach Saturday afternoon, about a ten day trip from Jacksonville. Found Mr. and Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Campbell the next day, and I am sure we were all glad to see each other.

Most of you have heard much of the two Palm Beaches. They are both great resorts, winter bathing, boating and kindred sports, attract many visitors who are furnished every facility for enjoyment and getting rid of their cash. An ocean boulevard, twenty-five miles along the Atlantic shore gives one a fine opportunity to witness a sea that for coloring is hard to beat. Lake Worth, a lovely sheet of water, separates Palm Beach and West Palm Beach, and on its surface, one day we witnessed a race between small power boats that reached a speed of over 40 miles per hour. They looked like something flying over the water. I doubt if the passenger steamers between Wilmington and Philadelphia can make as much as 20 miles per hour.

The growth of these two places has been almost spectacular with real estate values pointing to the clouds. After a stay at this great resort we motored to Orlando, "The City Beautiful." This is a fine town and a fine surrounding country. Normal population eleven to twelve thousand. Winter population several thousand more. Over $3,000,000 of building here in the last year, two sky-scrapers not quite completed, two others now started, and one other planned for, with a million dollar apartment under way, with lesser things going on, showing that an enormous volume of business is being done for a city of its size. The adjacent country for miles around is in a high state of cultivation and very lovely to drive through, on good brick roads through beautiful groves and fine truck farms. Early strawberries sold for 90 cents per box, but we are now getting them that cost only 15 cents per box.

The beautiful lakes all over this region, hundreds of them, give it a distinction and character that makes for utility and charm, beautifying the landscape (15 in the corporate limits of Orlando) tempering and equalizing the atmosphere, and furnishing lovely home sites, to say nothing of the fine fishing they give. There is an air of stability, of steady progress, of healthy business about it that I have not seen in any other Florida town or city. Our Chamber of Commerce has a dinner once in six months, Orlando's Chamber of Commerce meets for luncheon every Tuesday and is a real factor in every civic movement.

This is my second winter here and I hope to spend several more in this beautiful town and hope to see some of you fellows get the habit of coming here. But I am making my letter too long, I fear, and will tell you more about my trip when I meet you in person. With sincerest regards to you all, I am

LETTER TO NEWARK PEOPLE FROM DAVID C. ROSE

West Palm Beach, Fla.
March 12th, 1923.

Mr. Warren A. Singler
Newark Chamber of Commerce
Newark, Delaware

My Dear Sir:

I received yours of the 8th requesting a letter for your meeting on Thursday night, March 15th.

Now I will do the best I can for your information and entertainment.

First, I will tell you of some of the things they are doing down here. This place with many others in Florida, is booming, and in each city you will find a live Chamber of Commerce which does much for the advancement of the interest of the many cities. Here they have a membership of 500 and they pay annual dues of $25.00. The normal all-year-round population is about 18,000 but during the four Winter months they have about twenty-five thousand or more Tourists or Winter residents. On my first trip here about eighteen years ago this town consisted of about five houses and a few sand now it is eight miles long of good hard streets, but half-mile wide, all bordering on the west side of Lake Worth.

Last year the building amounted to over $3,000,000 and the prospect for this season is as good as last. A new hotel of 400 rooms is to be built and the P. E. Church will build a church costing $150,000. The Chamber of Commerce takes an active interest in everything here; all bondings and other public moneys has their approval before they are considered by the voters, and after having their approval the proper officers take such steps as are required to carry out the will of the taxpayers. The city is under a Commission form of government with a City Manager in charge of all business. His path is not always a bed of roses as he tries to please all, if he can, yet they have many scraps. About two weeks ago they sent the Mayor and City Judge to jail for ten days for contempt of court. They served three days and are now out pending an appeal from the Supreme Court. Now do not think they are bad men, for they are not, but both are fine gentlemen. I personally know them both, but they criticized some actions of the Circuit Judge and he got back at them. The City Judge Joseph L. Earman prides himself on his Court not being a Court of Law, but a Court of Justice. And he comes very close to running it that way, giving most of his salary to help the poor unfortunate who come before him.

They have a Band here each season costing $18,000 for ten weeks service, who play each afternoon and evening in the City Park under palm trees, to from 2000 to 5000 persons at each concert. This band was first secured by the Chamber of Commerce who got the money by public subscription but now is paid by the city from the tax budget. The city has a fund of $20,000 each year as a publicity fund to advertise the city with a City Publicity Manager to run it.

Now I think the Chamber of Commerce of Newark has a large field for activities of this kind. Newark is located better than any other city in Delaware or near there that I know of—fine transportation facilities and schools; fine country for homes and only about thirty minutes from the city of Wilmington on fine roads. This should attract home seekers. Now if the Chamber of Commerce can induce some capital to invest in houses for home-seekers I think you would do a wonderful work as you now have a great shortage of houses for sale or rent. If you could get some live Real Estate Developer to purchase and sell a lot of building lots as they do here I think it would be a fine thing for your city. You have land in all directions for building operations—North, South, East and West at Newark. If you should land some great industry at Newark the first thing to be considered is homes for the men. I think if you get busy on this line it will help start the city growing. With two Trust Companies and two Building and Loan Associations in the town, they should help you out on the financial end of the problem.

I do not want to tire you but I must say one word more for this State. It is large in area, this country is larger than the State of Delaware. The State is about 600 miles long by 300 wide, and only about five per cent of the land under cultivation, having 100,000 acres of the richest land on earth, the Everglades. If the Government would locate all the emigrants landing in this country in the State of Florida, they could take care of them and feed the United States. Money rates are high here. Discounts in banks pay 8 per cent and gilt edge mortgages 8 per cent with a bonus paid in many cases in addition to the interest. Many think the securities are not good or they would have a lower rate of interest, but this is not correct as the reason of high rates is they haven't the money to keep up with the growth of the business and must induce Northern capital to come down here. They can pay a higher rate than we have with less trouble to meet their obligations. Many of the large buildings here are financed by first mortgage bonds running 40 per cent to 60 per cent of values, none over that amount. These bonds are coupon bonds and the interest is paid by any bank, the same as Liberty Bonds of the Government. Here we have a good bond company known as the Palm Beach Guaranty Company who sell these bonds and guarantee them in addition to the mortgage security of the bond. I have the territory of Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland to sell bonds for them. Full details will be given by me when I get back home.

Mr. George W. Griffin has been here for some time but now has returned to the City of Orlando, Florida. This seems to be his first choice of location as he had such good luck last winter. He is in live with the place.

I think I have said enough in one letter and will close with saying our best regards to all members of the Newark Chamber of Commerce.

Your respectfully,
David C. Rose.

75 New Locomotives

For B. & O. System

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has just closed contracts for 75 additional locomotives, which it is expected will be delivered next fall. They will cost approximately $75,000 each. Order for 25 of them was placed with the Lima Locomotive Works, at Lima, Ohio, and 50 with the Baldwin Locomotive Works at Eddystone, Pa. The plants of both these companies are located on the lines of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

While these locomotives, which are known as the "Santa Fe" type, are of particularly heavy construction, the trucks before and after the drivers help to distribute the dead weight and notwithstanding the greater tractive power through the medium of ten unusually large driving wheels, the engines are able to make rapid progress with a heavy load.
