FREEDOM DISCUSSED AT ROTARY MEETING

Club Again To Sponsor Junior Legion Baseball Team

President E. Newman Rose conducted the weekly dinner meeting of the Newark Rotary Club, held Monday at the Country Club, when Wm. S. Hamilton, secretary, read a communication received from Paul T. Griffith who was recently inducted into the army.

William Matthews, past district governor of the 164th District of Rotary, a member of the Smyrna Rotary Club, introduced Francis A. Kettanek, past district governor of District 183, who spoke on "Conflicting Freedoms."

Mr. Kettanek said that "Freedom is a standing rule to live by and discuss freedom of expression, religion, fear and want. Discussing the World Court, he said that the 'U. S. and Russia have moved as the two powerful nations and we have an opportunity to rule the world, but much depends on what Great Britain does. The side Great Britain goes on will determine the rule of the world'."

The club is again sponsoring a Junior League baseball team this summer. Joseph H. C. Bryan is asking all boys between the ages of ten to fourteen years inclusive to meet at the high school baseball field at 2 o'clock the first Saturday after the close of school. Russell T. Silk and Mr. Bryan will be present.

Guests at the meeting included: J. C. Thomas, Ellis K. Leorne, Wallace H. Buckworth, Wm. Branner, W. W. Buckingham and John W. Spieck, all of Middletown; John N. Gibney, E. Elison, Mills Quillen and Geo. Jones, New Castle; Lay Phillips, Harry Jones, Glenn Matthews and W. Matthews, Jr., of Smyrna; John M. Cameron and H. E. Hallman, of Newark; Preston Wills and Samuel N. Smith, of Wilmington; Chas. J. M. Hamilton, of Carey Point, N. J.; and J. L. Brownstein of Downingtown, Pa.

Awarded Bronze Star

Colonel H. W. Cook

SERVICE AWARD TO COL. COOK

Bronze Star Given Local 198th Officer

With U. S. South Pacific Army Forces—A Bronze Star Medal has been awarded Colonel Herman W. Cook, Newark, Coast Artillery Corps, for "meritorious service" during military operations in the South Pacific from October 13, 1943, to February 29, 1944.

The award was announced by Major General Frederick Gilbreath, head of the Army's South Pacific Base Command.

As executive officer for an anti-aircraft artillery group, Col. Cook planned and supervised movement of personnel and equipment into an important operation "with a minimum of loss of personnel and material," according to the citation.

The many successful defenses against the attacks of the enemy's air forces during the peak of operations again clearly reflected the careful planning and supervision of Colonel Cook," the citation added. "Without regard for his own personal safety during intensive air raids, he calmly and efficiently supervised the anti-aircraft operations."

"Through his tour of duty, Col. Cook's services were characterized by a high degree of initiative and devotion to duty."

ALUMNI BANQUET SATURDAY

Dr. Caldwell To Give Talk On Delinquency

The annual banquet and business meeting of the Newark High School Alumni will be held in the cafeteria of the high school on Saturday evening, June 2, at 6:30 o'clock.

CENTURY CLUB WINS PRIZE FOR FINE ARTS

Dr. Jos. Gould Talks On China, Mrs. Dayett Is Tea Hostess

First prize in art was awarded the Newark New Century Club for its fine arts programs throughout the year. The prize, a water color by the well known artist Frederick Vogel, depicts a scene at Rehoboth Beach, and was on display at the final meeting of the Club held Monday afternoon at the club house.

Miss Harriet Bailey has been chairman of the Fine Arts Committee and Mrs. David Eastburn has contributed the many floral arrangements that have added so much to the meetings.

Final reports were made by officers and chairmen of committees. Mrs. Richard Snyder, president, presided at the business meeting and Mrs. Thomas Mylrea, chairman of programs introduced the speaker, Dr. Joseph S. Gould, who spoke on China, the importance of its position geographically in maintaining the stability of that section of the world.

"A weak China is a dangerous invitation to the other countries," he said. "The Chinese lack training and skill, managerial ability and capital, but it is the important potential market of the world. 'The Chinese are a people who have much to offer to the world and to us.' Following the address the speaker answered many questions from the audience."

Mrs. Irwin Dayett was hostess at the tea and was assisted by Mrs. David Eastburn, Mrs. J. Fenton Daugherty, Mrs. Allen Shumacher, Mrs. Henry Hall and Mrs. W. O. White. Mrs. Richard Snyder and Mrs. L. A. Stearns presided at the tea table which had as a centerpiece a bowl of poppies, blood-root and wild fern.

Preceding the meeting Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Stearns were hostesses at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Stearns on Orchard Road honoring the Executive Board of the Club and the Corporation Board of which Mrs. Stearns is chairman.

PARSONS TAKES JOB AT MEDIA

Board Quiet On Successor Meets June 22

M. James Parsons, elected superintendent of the Newark Public Schools at the April meeting of the Board of Education, submitted his resignation, which was accepted by the Board at their May meeting, to accept a similar post at Media, Pa., it was learned unofficially this week.

Mr. Parsons, whose resignation has not yet become effective, will likely remain here for a month or so although his successor has not yet been named by the Board. C. E. Douglass, superintendent for the past eleven years is still officially superintendent as his resignation does not take effect until June 30, it is understood.

No announcement has been made by the Board as to Mr. Parsons' resignation or his possible successor. The next Board meeting is scheduled to be held in the high school on the evening of Friday, June 22 at which time these questions will likely be considered.

It is not improbable that Mr. Douglass may remain as superintendent until the present manpower situation is alleviated, although this also lacks official confirmation.

Mr. Parsons has been assistant superintendent of local schools for the past eight years. He was formerly supervising principal at Shelbyville. He is a graduate of Washington College and has made his home for the past few years at 15 Townsend Road. He is married to the former Miss Frances Robinson. They have one son.

ST. JOHN'S HIGH MASS

First Communion For 17 Children

Seventeen children of the parish will receive First Holy Communion Sunday, the Feast of Corpus Christi, at the 8:30 mass at St. John's R. C. Church. A high mass followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be celebrated by the pastor, Rev. E. J. Kraemer. This is also communion Sunday for ladies of the Altar Society.

The "Men of St. John's" have decided to hold a picnic on June 17. Wilfred L. Blanchet has been named chairman of the finance committee to assist the pastor with pledges to the building fund.

E. M. Schoenborn has been elected to the church Board of Directors and Nelson Clark and Irving Nagle have been appointed to arrange a corporate communion for men of the parish, to be followed by a communion breakfast and program, at a later date.

Work Of Price And Price Is Widely Varied To Include Surveying, Mapping

Versatility is one of the many accomplishments of Price and Price, 833 Market Street, Wilmington, which has a record of extensive proportions to its credit.

During the last 41 years the firm has provided a general civil engineering and surveying service, designed real estate developments, made maps and rendered topographical surveys for the benefit of a long list of clients.

Francis A. Price established the concern on standard lines and enhanced it with new ideas and additions to service during ensuing years. In 1921 he was joined in partnership by his son, Fred Somers Price, who has continued the business since his father's death in 1937.

Thoroughness has marked the course of the concern's career with city and rural residents, real estate men and others calling on Price and Price to straighten out difficulties or help them with problems requiring the experience and knowledge of the firm.

Mr. Price is always available as a consultant.

F. A. Bartlett Tree Expert Co. Clears Tree Hazards From Utility Lines Here

Conversion to meet wartime demands has typified America since that fateful Sunday morning at Pearl Harbor. But all this change-over has not been associated with industry alone.

The Wilmington division of F. A. Bartlett Tree Expert Company, under the management of Richard M. Viggers, has converted its facilities and experience too, meeting the requirements of short-handed public utility firms by clearing tree hazards from their lines. This service has a direct bearing on home front activity and has given the firm a new and interesting chapter in a history that began a half century ago.

After complete victory is won, Viggers will once again take up the problems of private clients and serve them in the manner to which they have been accustomed in the past.

With the company 15 years, Mr. Viggers opened the divisional office at Second Street and Greenhill Avenue, Wilmington, eight years ago. His territory extends from Trenton, N. J., to Key West, Fla.

War Transportation Needs Met Daily By Truck Drivers Union, Local No. 107

Transportation on the home front was one of the most immediate vital needs when war came and America's truck drivers and teamsters were ready to give their best.

Truck Drivers Union, an affiliate of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (A. F. of L.) has compiled an estimable record in the Delmarva area through Local No. 107, a branch of the Philadelphia organization.

Since its founding in 1936, Walter C. Crawford has been business manager of the unit with offices and headquarters at 109 East Front Street, Wilmington. Interest in maintaining the best relations between trucking company owners and employees, Mr. Crawford has not only adhered to the highest standards of the national organization, but has been in the membership under jurisdiction the full spirit of cooperation.

Every day in the year thousands of members of the union in many sections of the country do a valuable job. Uncle Sam and complete victory.

Kent Manor Inn Is Pre-Revolutionary Location Long Famed For Delicious Cuisine And Hospitality You Won't Forget

In the days when the Colony of Delaware was beginning to make mild protestations to the King of England regarding acts of legislation and discrimination which were to lead, in a few years, to war, Kent Manor Inn had its beginning.

Located a mile south of Wilmington on the DuPont Highway, the Inn marked an important step forward in its career a year ago when Leo Natiello became its directing head. A veteran restaurantier, Mr. Natiello has given his best to Kent Manor Inn during the ensuing months and his work is appreciated by a host of patrons who make it their headquarters for gracious dining.

Home cooking is a reality here. Everything is prepared on the premises and served in the most appetizing manner to please the most astute gourmet. Sandwiches, platters and dinners are served until 9 p. m. daily, while the spacious and well-appointed restaurant lounge is open daily until midnight. There are no Sunday hours.

Mr. Natiello has made hospitality as in days of old one of the most interesting characteristics about the 163-year-old Kent Manor Inn. His entire personnel has been imbued with the spirit of courtesy dispensing that makes dining here a pleasure.

Mr. Natiello suggests that his patron phone for reservations.

Wilmington Society Of Fine Arts Instills In Youth Interest In Painting And Crafts Through Daily Program

There is a need in the world today for the type of endeavor Wilmington Society of the Fine Arts puts forth and adherence of the organization to its long-established policy of educating youth while keeping the public aware of painting and allied crafts is bearing fruit.

On June 3 the exhibit of art and craft work of public and private school students from Wilmington and other cities and towns in the state will come to a close. Since May 6 the public has been viewing the accomplishment of youngsters.

Daily exhibits, concerts and lectures are featured in the program of Wilmington Society of the Fine Arts in its home, Park Drive and Woodlawn Avenue, which was opened in June, 1938. The society was organized in 1912.

Miss Constance Moore, director, has been with the group since 1931 and assumed her present office seven years later. Miss Moore has a keen personal interest in the dual purpose of the society's educational program and her attention to general public exhibits and special plans for school children.

Some classes in painting, drawing and the crafts are held for children and adults.

The society's building is open weekdays from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Saturdays from 2 to 6 p. m. There is no admission charge.

Grandma's Attic Actually Pays Householders For Things That Will Eventually Find Their Way Into The Discard

As unique as its name is Grandma's Attic, 8th and Tatnall Streets, Wilmington, which has made a business of buying things that people had planned to throw away, or save forever.

Remember your own grandma's attic? It was a treasure trove of the most wonderful things, but somehow grandma was one who didn't fully appreciate them.

The converse is true of the Wilmington shop, for Emanuel Levy has a thorough appreciation of the things in his shop and so do his customers.

Seven years ago the first Grandma's Attic was established in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Other Pennsylvania stores are located in Chester and Easton. The Wilmington enterprise was opened three months ago.

In all of the locations are found antiques, furniture, china, bric-a-brac and countless other items that have been relegated to the limbo of attic uselessness by householders.

Mr. Levy actually pays residents of every area in which his Attics are located to clean their attics of odds and ends, including tools and books.

Real bargains are always available at Grandma's Attic. If you've been to the location at 8th and Tatnall Streets it's worthwhile visiting.

Silverbrook Cemetery A Well-Kept Location Since 1895; Late A. L. White Identified With It From 1907; Son Is Supt.

Non-sectarian and with its perpetual care plan always maintained along the most exacting lines, Silverbrook Cemetery has been an asset to the area in many ways.

Located at Lancaster Avenue and du Pont Road, Silverbrook, the last resting place for many of the most prominent men and women of the section has kept its standards high and its efficiency constant since 1895.

When the cemetery was established

12 years A. L. White became identified with it. As superintendent, Mr. White put into force many excellent policies of caring for the family plots and generally improving the location. He resigned as superintendent in 1935 to become president of Silverbrook Cemetery Company, just two years before his death.

His son, Paul, succeeded him as superintendent in 1935 and the methods his father instituted were held to by him while he, in turn, established some advanced ideas which were in keeping with the dignity of the grounds represented further steps of progress for the cemetery.

Grave locations and family areas still available at Silverbrook where anyone is given the full consideration they expect when visiting Mr. White or any other executive of the cemetery to discuss purchasing plots.

City Bowling Alleys Is One Of Most Distinctive Sports Enterprises In U. S.; Annual Tournaments Draw Big Names

Fame is built of many elements and it seems the best of these have been installed in City Bowling Alleys, Inc., 710 Tatnall Street, for the sports headquarters is one of the most famous locations of its kind anywhere.

Starting right in the dregs of depression in 1930, its history is an American success story.

Bowling is in the blood and in the air at City alleys, for the executives of the corporation are all bowlers and the conversation and activity are all about the sport. Open daily and Sunday from noon to midnight, the 16 bowling alleys are enjoyed by men and women who appreciate the many advantages of this age-old skill.

Girls leagues are prominent here. Such names as du Pont, Atlas, Hercules, Delaware Power and Light Company and others are represented among the leagues of fair bowlers.

In March, 1944, the Wilmington Classic Tournament was held and it was successful that it was repeated the year. Prominent bowlers vied for the $3000 prize money. Three hundred petitioners tried their skill on the 16 woods.

At present, City Bowling Alleys being redecorated and reconditioned ready for the full season which opens September 15.

Genial James E. Evans, veteran bowler, is manager of the alleys.

Goodwill Industries of Wilmington Devoted To Helping Handicapped Men And Women Of Any Race, Creed Or Color

Shortly after the end of the World War, Goodwill Industries of Wilmington was founded. Its object was to help people who faced life with a handicap find a way of supporting themselves and gain the place in society every man and woman wants.

Today, almost a quarter of a century after its plans went into force, Goodwill Industries of Wilmington has a record of endeavor far superior to that which the fondest dreams of its originators possessed. Its work has been dedicated to helping others throughout this long period, but charity is the least of its aims.

Goodwill Industries helps men and women take care of themselves through the use of their hands and brings about the equality of mankind so important in this war-torn world by accepting for service in the organization anyone regardless of race, creed or color.

Aged persons, to whom the world has turned its back insofar as holding a regular job is concerned, find a livelihood with Goodwill Industries.

Thirty workers between the ages of 16 and 84 are kept busy under the guidance of J. Carlyle Simmons, president.

One of the chief aids for handicapped persons is the used furniture which is picked up in the area. After being rehabilitated, it is sold in Goodwill stores at 214 Walnut Street and 100 Claymont Street. Rags and paper are picked up within 25 miles of Wilmington.

Chapel services are held daily except Sundays at 8 a. m.

Diamond State Machine Works Has 2 Plants Producing All They Can To Make V-J Day Reality For America Very Soon; Firm Has Progressed Through Depression And War Years

Uncle Sam needed production in large quantities when war came. But we were not totally unprepared. True, the heaps of finished sinews of war that are everywhere in America now awaiting shipment to foreign battlefronts were sadly lacking, but we made up in determination to produce what we lacked in ready-to-go goods.

Founded in 1928, Diamond State Machine Works was off to a running start in the battle against Axis production. Today, with a plant at 2206 Tatnall Street and another on Miller Road, the firm is a sound backer of democracy's fight for survival. V-E day has come and gone and the management and workers of Diamond State Machine Works had an important part in its being attained. They hold the same share in V-J day when the slanties will call it quits and tell us how sorry they are they started the whole thing.

The plant on Tatnall Street has been in production since 1935 while the Miller Road location was added four years ago when as wartime demands became apparent.

Dallas H. Hastings, president, with 35 years experience, C. Raymond Dickerson, vice-president and treasurer, with 25 years in the work to his credit, and John M. Stewart, secretary, assistant treasurer and manager, comprise one of the best equipped executive personnel in the business.

Karl Klenk Originated Aviation Shears 12 Years Ago That Sped Wartime Production Of Allied Air Fleets; His Firm Gives Full Time To Aiding Complete Victory

American initiative and ability have been largely instrumental in tipping the scales of war in favor of this nation. In Wilmington, a man worked on a new principle of aviation shears a dozen years ago. The result of his hours of painstaking toil and long experimentation have borne fruit.

Karl Klenk's invention is as much a part of the program of building warplane fleets as the wings on which they fly for, in speeding production through the use of the idea that came to him long ago, airplane firms have helped bring about the first phase of complete victory.

The Klenk plant at 107 East 5th Street, Wilmington, was established eight years ago. The principles of manufacture to which it adheres and the superior methods of service put forth have accounted for its continuing acceptance as one of the invaluable elements in the war program which was so suddenly thrust upon the nation.

Only war production is of any interest to Mr. Klenk. His purpose is to help speed victory and every phase of his service is aimed at this common goal of Uncle Sam and his people.

While the aviation shears perfected and manufactured by Mr. Klenk are used in producing airplanes, they have served a purpose as important as if they were some sort of giant shears which bite into the Axis airfleets.

By out-producing the Axis the progress of Americans in the sky was made possible.

Contributing factors are often as important in war as the things on which the attention of the nation is focused. It is such behind-the-scenes activities as the one in which Mr. Klenk is engaged that result in victory, for the force of many elements is required to make certain the enemy is defeated.

Mr. Klenk will be happy to return to peacetime endeavor and see his production aimed at building the mighty commercial fleets which will throw out further frontiers for America.

Caring For Patients In Many Categories Is Daily Work Of The Well-Appointed Mary Fincham Convalescent Home; Directing Head Is Registered Nurse, 23 Years In Field

The task of caring for the sick has reached greater proportions since war came and the shortages of nurses and facilities has added to the list of general difficulties.

To entrust someone to a nursing home that has the best available facilities and a thorough understanding of its responsibilities lightens the burden appreciably. This is the reason so many families throughout the area have placed their sick members in Mary Fincham Convalescent Home, 500 North Rodney Street, Wilmington, during the last two and a half years.

Graduate of the Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore, Mrs. Fincham established her home with the idea in mind of providing the best professional services and through her initiative and capable endeavor has succeeded in accomplishing this. The home has ideal surroundings, is excellently appointed and has an atmosphere of cheerfulness that is at once apparent to both patient and visitor.

Since 1922 Mrs. Fincham has been a registered nurse and her work has been dedicated entirely to the greatest humanitarian endeavor. She has a personal interest in her patients and gets a major measure of satisfaction out of seeing them improve under her expert home care.

Aged and mild mental patients are accepted here, while post-operative and chronic cases are admitted, also.

Eight months ago Mrs. Fincham moved her home to its present location,

St. George's Trust Co. Has Held To Conservatism Policy During Its 18-Year Career To Win Approval Of The Public; Complete Banking Facilities Offered By Newport Stalwart

Co-operating with the general public and Uncle Sam to add another impressive chapter to their scope of endeavor during the current war period, the banking houses of America have shown their true worth under the most adverse conditions.

The financial stability of the democracy is in the hands of the nation and St. George's Trust Company, Justis and James Streets, Newport, is happy to have a part in this circumstance.

Organized in St. George May 1, 1927, the bank moved to its present location three months before the outbreak of hostilities with Japan and Germany. Every trend that it has followed during its career has reflected the conservatism and sincerity of its directing heads, combining the best elements of capable endeavor in all its work to the full satisfaction of clients from many sections of the state.

Completeness has been a characteristic of St. George's Trust Company and its regionalized endeavor from the beginning. Mortgage funds are available for property owners throughout the state, while its friendly, helpful advisory service has been a boon to depositors and business men.

As service agents for FHA mortgages, St. George's Trust Company has held to the standards of exactness under which the money is advanced in this plan.

Directing heads of the banking house at Newport are:

Claude M. Lester, president; Harry L. Gray and Louis Yucht, vice-presidents, and William B. Crompton, secretary and treasurer.

War-time Need For Insurance Protection Finds Many More Clients Of North American Mutual Insurance Company Benefiting From Nation-Wide Service Of Capable Firm

The war brought a new and greater appreciation of the need for full insurance protection and stepped up the activity of firms engaged in providing the requirements of policyholders.

The nation-wide range of service put forth by North American Mutual Insurance Company was a boon to thousands of clients in the peace years, but its worth increasing many fold in the war years. Protecting whole families and individuals with health, accident and hospitalization policies, the firm which was established in Wilmington a decade ago has the confidence of all.

Its methods of reaching the public are clear-cut and direct. Its own agents operate throughout all the 48 states and which have that peculiar trait of piling up business.

Holt's Tire Recapping Plant Modern Methods Produce More 'Hoop' Mileage

Recapping has saved the day for American motorists and the conscientious, capable effort behind this revived industry has enabled it to reach a new high in public acclaim.

Harold W. Holt's Tire Recapping Plant is a modern enterprise of efficiency with a tendency toward the most advanced methods of service for the benefit of its customers. Tires are given a new lease on life when entrusted to the shop at 14th Street and Grant Avenue, Wilmington, which was established a decade ago at 904 Gilpin Avenue.

Mr. Holt has been associated with the industry for 20 years and his modern plant is a crowning achievement to his career.

Health insurance is one of the newer forms appreciated by most Americans. It has gained additional recognition in the war period and under North American plans is an economical form of protection.

Hospitalization insurance is more than its name implies. It is the fund which pays for those expensive periods in public or private institutions when recuperation comes more quickly if the patient knows he has North American back of him to pay the bills.

IN BUSY WARTIME TRANSPORTATION...

There's Pride in Every Crowd

This coach is crowded. Many of the passengers would far rather be riding in their own cars—if they could. But right now there's a war on; there's a more vital and urgent need for tires and gasoline.

Faced with an emergency, more and more riders are finding that the best way to get along is to be cheerful and become one of the crowd. And regardless of their separate ways in peacetime, they're taking pride in working and riding together. It's this pride which causes them to make room for the other fellow... to move to the rear of a crowded coach or bus so others can get on... to ride at off-peak hours so that everyone can make use of existing facilities.

We of Delaware Coach Company take pride in the way we are keeping the wheels rolling in this emergency—the way, despite restrictions and the inability to get new equipment, we are getting people to their destinations reliably and safely.

When this emergency passes, we hope to give you post-war service which is progressive, friendly, comfortable. This policy of planning for the future has characterized this company since its founding in 1864.

DRAMA CLUB PLAY JUNE 8

Mrs. Sinclair
Is Director

The Physician in Spite of Himself, the second major production of the University of Delaware Dramatic Club, being presented on Friday, June 8, at 8:15 P. M. in Mitchell Hall, Newark, shows much of the directing skill of Mrs. Jane Hastings Sinclair, Mrs. Sinclair is a graduate of the University of Delaware and a former member of the E 52 Players.

The French Club, under the guidance of Miss Edna C. Frederick, will set the mood with some classic French folk songs dating from Moliere's period. Audrey Garey will sing between the acts.

Lore Zorn, president of the French Club has announced that the following girls will take part in the singing and also in the dance scene of the last act:

Eleanor Gittings, Jenny Lockwood, Nancy McQuaid, Rosalie Hoke, Esther Groundland, Ruth Vernon, Lore Zorn, Margaret Ferris, Janine Voleki, Elizabeth, Trainer, Audrey Garey, Jeanne LeFevre, Virginia Allemen, Betty Kerr, Gloria Thompson, Marileu Willard.

Russians Free Roy Reed From German Prison Camp

Mrs. Beatrice Reed, 37½ Cleveland Avenue, is in receipt of a V-mail letter dated May 23, in France, from her husband, Roy Reed, reported missing in France last November 28.

Liberated from a German prison camp by Russian armies Reed is now awaiting transportation home. His letter to his wife told her to get his boat in order as he plans on getting in some fishing when he gets home.

Mrs. Reed learned last February that her husband was being held prisoner in Germany after he was reported missing in France in November. Roy received training at Camp Shelby before going overseas in July, 1944. He is one of eight prisoners of war from Delaware reported liberated.

RED CROSS AID SOUGHT

Need Workers
For Bandages

The Red Cross rooms are now open on Wednesday evenings as well as Tuesday from 7:30 till 9:30. A group of about 25 women from Ebenezer Church, Milford Crossroads, has been working on Wednesday evenings as their assistance has been especially valuable at this time since a large part of the quota for this period still remains to be finished.

It is earnestly hoped that many women in Newark will be able to swell the ranks at the rooms during the coming weeks since there is an urgent need for bandages as the fighting grows more intense.

The report of the vice-chairman of Area one, Mrs. Walter Hulihan, shows 17,200 gauze dressings were turned in during the month of May. The sewing room completed 26 pairs of boys pants and 12 shirts, 22 baby dresses, 10 girls coats, 3 slips and two women's dresses as well as 93 ditty bags. The knitters furnished 13 afghans, 9 sweaters and army gloves and ear muffs.

To the Customers of Newark Dairies

On April 1st last we took over the operation of the Dairy business located in Newark and recently purchased from E. F. Richards. On April 8th we were notified by the War Food Administration that our cream quota was 26 quarts per day. That sales above this quota would mean prosecution in the Federal Courts, and that four dairies had recently been fined $400.00 each for their first offense. We were further directed to make the "most equitable distribution possible" of the small amount of cream we are permitted to sell.

To comply with the order we decided to make all of our retail cream deliveries in ½ pint bottles and one to a customer, at the established OPA price of 17c. There have been some sales of two bottles to a customer at 34c which has been, and still is, the accepted charge made by all other dairies in this and adjacent markets. However, the local OPA Board has ruled that our sales of 2 bottles should have been at a one pint price of 30c and has ordered us to make refunds of 4c in each instance.

Our records of such sales are incomplete and we are taking this means of informing our customers that the office or the drivers will make these 4c refunds on request.

We believe that many of customers do not fully understand the restrictions under which we are compelled to operate, but we promise that as soon as these regulations are removed we will supply the quantities of our products which are desired.

The milk and cream sold by Newark Dairies all comes from nine excellent herds located in the neighborhood. The employees of the Dairy are members of this community. The Plant is a model operation. We are proud of the quality of these products and shall endeavor to conduct this business as an outstanding community asset.

PENCADER CHURCH 235 YEARS OLD

The 235th anniversary of the organization of Pencader Presbyterian Church was marked Sunday at Glasgow when the Pencader Cemetery Association held their annual meeting there.

Progress in the new perpetual care fund, established last year, was reported at the twenty-ninth annual reunion of the association. This fund, started with a legacy, is now more than double the original amount. It will be used to maintain all gravestones. The aim of the association is that no grave in old Pencader Cemetery shall ever be neglected.

The Rev. Geo. L. Hunt, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, Gordon Heights, was guest speaker at the morning services at 10:45 o'clock with Rev. Dr. G. A. Burslem, pastor of the church, conducting.

The Rev. J. Edward Paul, pastor of the Greenhill Presbyterian Church spoke at the afternoon session. A business session was held at 1:30 P. M. with Edward W. Cooch, president of the cemetery association, presiding. Other officers are Mrs. May B. Leasure, secretary, and Miss Mabel B. Harmon, Townsend, treasurer.

AU HORIZED KEEPSAKE JEWELER

Yep, that's it. The heading, "Wareabouts" may not be the best suggested in some opinions but it takes the cake, pardon the cigarettes, in our book and is the name chosen to head this column until a better one comes along — or until we are supplanted in writing it.

Numerous other suggestions were received this week — all of which were excellent but they lacked the originality and personal insinuation contained in the one selected by the writer. We're indebted to the astute gentleman from Continental for the above heading and shall proceed to pay our obligation without delay. We're also most grateful to the other readers who entered into the spirit of the contest.

Among some of the better suggestions received this week were: "Rip and Tear" (that might prove embarrassing), "Who Comes Next" (this one certainly has a point), "Postcards" (but, they're only a penny apiece), "Postscripts" (mere afterthoughts), "Switchboards" (too much chance of getting the wrong number), "Bullfinch Board" (extremely public), "Poster" (no good), "Dial" (not much), "Leftovers" (subtle), "Dots and Dashes" (we know some 'Dots' who might not approve), "Chatter" (very true) and "Hi, Neighbor" (the name of a mediocre race horse that finished fifth in a 5-horse race at Pimlico, Saturday), also, "In and Out" (applies to aforesaid race horse).

Once in a great while someone passes a favorable remark that is truly appreciated. . . . too often they're just the reverse. But, we're in receipt of a communication that says: "You must not hide your light under a bushel for not only is your column read but every word in the Post, including each ad. . . I discovered that this week's issue was dated Thursday, May 25 instead of May 24th. At my age I can't afford to lose a day that way."

That's one on us and we'll pass the blame along to the proof-reader. We are glad to know that subscribers read even the ads and know also that our advertisers will appreciate this knowledge.

Anyone know of a loafing place available for the 'homeless', caused by the sale of Ernie Frazer's place to Norman I. Harris?

Newark Public Schools will soon be without a superintendent unless members of the Board of Education gaze into the crystal ball and pull one out very soon. This situation developed last week when Superintendent — Elect M. Jas. Parsons' resignation was accepted so he could accept a similar position at Media, we understand.

We hope the Board will give due consideration to the successor named. Under existing circumstances, it might be a good idea to request Mr. Douglass to remain another year or so — they could go along way and do lots worse. . . . not that anybody asked for our opinion. But, this is a situation that vitally concerns parents of the district, or should.

Have you heard that Geist's Hardware store will be under new ownership after July? Rumor has it that a member of the ration board's gasoline panel is one of the new owners. Rumor also has it that one of Newark's prominent hardware dealers has recently married (again), but we won't believe that until it is confirmed.

Just keep this straight, the guy Rumor mentioned in the above paragraph is NOT the same fellow who used to write this column.

We see that Harry Cleaves made the front page of last week's Newark Post and last Sunday's Star. Again, just to keep the record straight, his letter published in The Star was changed a bit from the one submitted to us for publication (which we refused due to its excessive length, for one reason). Personally we think Newark is good enough for us to live and work in. Also we think the present town council and its administration of town affairs is unimpeachable.

This week's mythical bouquet goes to parish members of St. John's R. C. Church for their commendable program of improvements contemplated and their awakened activities. Congratulations are extended (and, we're not Catholics either).

If you haven't read, "The Glittering Hill, don't. It stinks. Also, if you didn't see, "National Velvet", you missed one of the best techni-color movies ever presented in Louis Handlof's cinema house. That Mrs. Brown really had a down-to-earth philosophy on life.

Did you hear about the fellow who ordered a double rye and water chaser? He downed the double shot of rye without blinking an eye then squinted at the water and said, "This water has too much chlorine in it."

We are now about like the guy with a cold, who sat down on a cake of ice to blow his nose. Our tale is told.

'JACKETS WIN OVER SMYRNA

Silk And Davis Lead Hitting With Two Apiece

Scoring in every inning except two, Newark High's Yellowjackets bounded back into the win column Friday by defeating Smyrna High, 6-1.

Newark got off to a one-run lead in the first inning and came back in the second frame with another single tally. They went scoreless in the third inning but the next time at bat they collected two runs on three hits; one a double by Bob Gregg. It was in their half of the fourth that Smyrna prevented a shut-out by managing to score a lone run on fielder's choice and a Newark error. The 'Jackets brought the scoring to a close in the sixth inning when they tallied two runs on three hits; a triple by Brandon Davis, a double by John Wells, and Don Griffin's single.

Tom Silk and Davis paced the Newark hitting with two safeties apiece; Silk also clouting an extra base hit in the nature of a double. Bill Pie added to the extra base hitting by collecting a double in the second frame which resulted in the one run scored that inning. Smyrna's hitting was held in check throughout with their three hits being scattered; coming in the first, fourth, and sixth innings.

Pfc. Jesse J. Malinowski Is Army Cook At Aberdeen

In any post-war discussion of the ancient argument "Do men or women make better cooks?" the males of Newark will be able to point to at least one masculine resident expert with skillet and saucepan.

He is Pfc. Jesse J. Malinowski, Rt. 2, cook at the Army Service Forces Training Center (Ordnance), Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Not only must Ordnance cooks satisfy the voracious and surprisingly discriminate appetites of hundreds of GIs daily; they have to know their business well, too. For there's nothing a soldier will gripe about sooner than poor "chow" and nothing more apt to catch the eye of the inspecting officer than garbage pails of wasted food.

Meritorious Achievement Citation For Route 3 Man

An Eighth Air Force Liberator Station, England — Private First Class Wallace L. Neave has been awarded a certificate of Meritorious Achievement by his commanding officer, Col. Charles B. Westover of College Park, Ga.

Private Neave, after being presented with the certificate, was commended by the officers and men of the B-24 Liberator station. The citation inscribed on the meritorious achievement award reads: "His devotion to duty is an inspiration to all."

Private Neave, who has been overseas approximately 20 months, is a cook in the officer's mess at the B-24 Liberator station. His job is an important one — to keep the flying and ground men well-fed and healthy.

Private Neave, before entering the service on July 22nd, 1942, was employed by the Continental Fibre Co. In his sparetime, he was a well-known musician and guitarist in the Wilmington and Newark area, playing with dance bands and on the radio at local stations. He has continued his music since being overseas and is one of the most popular entertainers in his squadron at the B-24 Liberator station.

Receiving basic training at Camp Wheeler, Ga., and at Key Field, Miss., he was also given further training at Atterbury Army Air Base in Indiana before being assigned to overseas duty. In addition to the recently granted Meritorious Achievement award, he holds the Good Conduct and European Theatre of Operations ribbons.

His home is at Route No. 3, Newark where his wife, Mrs. Ethel Neaves, lives.

He is attached to the 448th Bombardment Group command by Col. Charles B. Westover of College Park, Ga., which is a part of Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner's Second Air Division of the Eighth Air Force. Recently the group was cited by General Kepner for "distinguished and exceptionally outstanding performance of duty in aerial operations against the enemy" after 200 missions flown during a period of less than 13 months. They hit 122 targets in Germany and 78 targets in enemy occupied territory, dropping 11,735 tons of bombs on installations vital to the German war effort.

YELLOWJACKETS END WITH RECORD OF SIX WINS AND FOUR LOSES FOR SEASON

Davis, Casho, And Silk Gain The Batting Honors As Wells And Pie Play Errorless Ball In The Field; Credit Due Gibbs

The Yellowjacket baseball team of Newark High School down the curtain on their 1945 baseball season last Friday by conquest over Smyrna High School.

Bearing in mind that this was the first year of baseball school since "Irish" O'Connell piloted the squad in 1942, this team turned in a successful record under the guidance of Stanley Gibbs. Although acquainted with the game only the spectator's view-point, Mr. Gibbs consented to give his help in order that the high school might be represented on the diamond. Five of his regular players were active last year, but he had to fill the other four positions with green material. Just before the game Friday, Coach Gibbs held the election for the baseball captain for the remaining game and as sort of honorary position. Brandon Davis was the team's choice.

John Wells proved he had a good eye at the plate by waiting out opposing pitchers to the tune of 12 bases on balls in nine games. Bill Pie, playing his first year of baseball, and Wells, left fielder and right fielder respectively, did not make a single error during the season. Jimmy Ford also accomplished this feat, but handled less chances while playing in fewer innings than did Pie or Wells. On the other hand, Eugene Schaen with seven boots and Bob Casho with six batted it out for the error "honors". Brandon Davis batting .360, Bob Casho hitting .346, and Tom Silk collecting a .321 average set the pace in batting. Corb Vansant getting credit for 67 put-outs and seven assists, Gregg collecting 10 assists and 68 put-outs, mostly on strike-outs, and getting 72 assists and seven errors. Schaen, considered a slow runner the show by stealing the largest number of bases—11. Don Griffin, and Davis did the pitching. Wells struck out seven and walked two. number in seven innings while in 52 innings, sent 54 batters swinging and gave up five runs. The following are the last fielding statistics:

WAR BOND PREMIERE

Admission By Bond Only

Louis Handloff and his State Theatre will be hosts tonight at another War Bond Premiere, in the interest of the 7th War Loan Drive, when he will present the technicolor movie, "Back Home In Indiana," featuring Walter Brennan.

No tickets for this performance will be sold at the box office. Admission will be by tickets given with purchases of War Bonds that have been previously made at one of the local banking institutions.

While no seats are reserved, it is understood that the purchasers of $100 bonds will be given choice seats and others graduated in proportion.

It is possible that arrangements may be made whereby persons who have not yet bought their 7th War Loan Bonds may do so at the theatre and thus gain admission. There will be only one performance tonight, promptly at eight o'clock.

to examine individuals, and to help plan the best means of improving their conditions. Where medical treatment, surgery, or the use of artificial limbs, or other appliances is recommended, the Vocational Rehabilitation Division is able to assume the charges for any one not able to afford the required aid.

The next step is Vocational Guidance—persons with disabilities will be aided in selecting jobs they can best perform, despite their physical limitations. Then comes training. Persons who need training in a new skill will be helped in getting that training, with the tuition being paid by the Rehabilitation Division in cases where that help is necessary.

All kinds of physical disabilities, infantile paralysis or any other type of paralysis, defective vision, hearing, heart ailments, hernia, loss of limbs, tuberculosis, spinal injuries, and nervous disorders are included in the program, and every person, Veteran and Civilian, in need of aid is urged to attend the clinics or communicate with the Vocational Rehabilitation Division, Delaware Trust Building, Wilmington, 28, Delaware.
