F. A. Cooch Stricken With Fatal Heart Attack On Tuesday

Well-Known Resident And Former Equitable Trust Official Dies In Sleep

Francis Allyn Cooch, a Newark resident for 46 years, died suddenly Tuesday at the Pennsylvania farm he had operated since his retirement in 1938 as the vice-president and trust officer of the Equitable Trust Company, Wilmington.

Mr. Cooch, who was 76, is believed to have been stricken in his sleep with coronary thrombosis.

Although in recent years he spent most of his time at the farm in Dillsburg, York County, Pa., he maintained his permanent residence at 212 West Main Street here.

Funeral services will be held from the Homestead Farm, R. D. 3, Dillsburg, today at 2 p. m.

Friends here may call at the Ira C. Sellender Funeral Home, Inc., on West Main Street tonight at 7 o'clock. Interment will be private at Welch Tract Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mary Josephine Logan, and three sons: Francis Allyn, Jr., and Richard Logan, of Newark and Dr. Joseph Williams Cooch, Washington D. C. Four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Cooch, a resident here since 1903, was the eldest son of the late Joseph Williams and Mary Everts (Webb) Cooch. He was born in Cooch mansion, at Cooch's Bridge, Delaware, November 25, 1873.

He entered Newark College in 1887 and Delaware College in 1889 from which latter institution he graduated in 1893, with the degree of civil engineer.

In the fall of that year he was appointed Deputy Register of Wills of New Castle County, by his father, then Register, remaining there until January 1, 1896 when he entered the employ of The Equitable Guarantee Trust Company, now Equitable Trust Company of Wilmington, as bookkeeper for the Trust Department.

Santa Claus received a royal welcome here Saturday.

Above is only a small portion of the eager throng that gave him a tremendous ovation at the B. & O. station. It was one of the largest and most excited crowds ever to gather in this community.

Many a youngsters' dreams were fulfilled when the rolly-polly gentleman from the North Pole finally clambered off the train. Everybody remarked that he seemed in fine health, still rosy plumb, although, perhaps, a little tottery. Even so, all agreed that he bears the centuries well.

Some of the young onlookers were surprised to note he wears spectacles this year, but it was explained that he hasn't yet installed fluorescent lighting at his North Pole workshop and the candlelight there is beginning to bother him.

Mayor Ford H. McBerty headed the official welcoming party, and, as soon as Santa had been helped into his sleigh, which was mounted on a truck, the Mayor climbed up and presented him with the keys to the city.

The Newark High School Band, under Ernest Wilder, then struck up a merry tune, and the parade began.

Santa Claus To Visit Cub Pack 55 Meeting

Will Distribute Gifts At Close Of Session Tomorrow Night

Santa Claus, the same rolly-polly, genial gent who has been seen so much around town lately, is expected to pay a visit to the December meeting of Cub Pack 55 tomorrow night at 7:30 p. m. in the basement of the Methodist Church.

It will be the occasion for the pack's annual Christmas party, and all members and their families are urged to be present.

Santa Claus, who is not expected until the end of the meeting, will bring gifts and candy for everyone.

The meeting will open with games conducted by Clinton Woodmansee. At the same time, the dens will take turns trimming the tree with decorations made by the cubs.

The opening exercises will be conducted by Den Four. Awards will be presented by Cubmaster Elisha Rahn to all cubs who have completed their required achievements. Following will be some singing by Den 6 and a play by Den 5.

Anthony Loudis and Cubmaster Rahn will then lead the cubs in group singing, after which Santa is expected to appear. The closing ceremonies will be by Den 8.

Sen. Williams Talks At Lion Club Meet

Points To Dangers Of Deficit Spending By Government

U. S. Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) warned in a talk here Monday night that continued deficit spending by the federal government might seriously devalue the nation's currency and push the country further towards socialism.

Sen. Williams was the guest speaker at the weekly dinner meeting of the Newark Lions Club. His topic was "Economy in Government."

He said he felt the national budget could be balanced without any great increase in taxes possibly none at all. He added that a balanced budget is necessary to a healthy economy.

Sen. Williams also pointed out that the burden of deficit spending does not fall primarily on the rich. Seventy-five percent of the nation's taxes, he said, are paid by people earning less than $10,000 a year.

Sen. Williams was the guest of Larry Timmons, a club member.

Curtis Company To Be Host To Gov. Carvel; Other Dignitaries

Sen. Frear And Rep. Boggs Also To Be Here Tomorrow For Luncheon, Mill Tour; Other Guests Expected

The Curtis Paper Company will play host to a trio of Delaware's top-ranking officials here tomorrow.

The guests of honor will be: Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, U. S. Sen. J. Allen Frear, and U. S. Representative J. Caleb Boggs.

The occasion will be a luncheon at the College Inn, followed by a tour of the Curtis plant.

Also expected to be present is a large group of prominent business and professional men from Newark and Wilmington.

Accompanying the two Delaware congressmen will be their executive assistants: Robert Kelly for Sen. Frear and John McDowell for Rep. Boggs. George Williams, executive assistant to Sen. John J. Williams, will also attend. Sen. Williams, who was invited, sent word he will be unable to attend due to a previous engagement.

Lieut.-Gov. Alexis I. duPont Bayard also sent his regrets at being unable to be present.

The purpose of the affair is to acquaint a cross-section of Delaware's political and business leaders with one of the state's outstanding industries. Although a comparatively small mill, Curtis has built a sound reputation for craftsmanship in paper-making and is widely known for the high quality of its products.

An outstanding proof of this is the fact that five of the official World War II peace treaties were printed on special rag paper made at the Curtis mill. The treaties were those between the Allied Nations and Italy, Finland, Roumania, Austria and Hungary. This is but one of the many honors paid the Curtis products.

Curtis papers are now used principally for limited and special editions of books, greeting cards, annual reports and other projects requiring fine papers. One example is the current limited Edition of Gen. Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe," which is printed on Curtis Colophon.

RED MEN SEEK RAGS

Donations of old rags to be used in making are being sought by the Red Men Fraternal Home on South College Avenue.

Contributions may be left at the home.

Cast-Off Toys Are Sought By Schools For Use In Elementary Play Periods

A number of toys are needed by Newark elementary pupils for use at recess and lunch hours especially on rainy days, according to officials of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Many families, now in the process of getting ready for Christmas, are weeding out old toys and games to make room for new. P-T. A. officials ask that parents have their children bring these to the school.

The rainy day problem is a difficult one for the pupils during play periods. Such things as bean bags, jumping ropes, books, puzzles, balls and games, are in most demand. Cast-off sets of Tinkertoys and Lincoln Logs even though incomplete, would be suitable.

The P-T. A. has donated $50 for toy equipment, but this will not go far toward providing for 26 classrooms. Cooperation of the parents is necessary.

The P-T. A. plans an annual toy drive and also a toy library for the elementary school.

Any questions or suggestions may be discussed with Mrs. C. E. McCauley, Mrs. A. L. Lackman or Mrs. A. R. Dunlap.

Fire Causes $1500 Loss To Home Here

Four fires occurred in town the past week, the most serious coming early last Thursday morning, when flames severely damaged a double house at 22-24 Annabelle Street.

The blaze, cause of which has not been determined, burnt out portions of the first and second floors and the rear of the building. The damage was estimated at $1,500. The homes are owned by Harry Crill and Grover G. Henderson.

Around 1 p. m. on Friday, the volunteers were called out for a chimney blaze at the Academy Apartments. It was extinguished without serious loss.

Another chimney fire broke out on Sunday shortly before 11 a. m. at 68 West Cleveland Avenue. The damage was slight.

That evening an oil stove caught fire at the home of Maggie Roark, 23 North Canal Street. The stove blazed up briefly but caused negligible damage. The flames were out when the firemen arrived.

Confusion Exists Over Fire And Police Call, Aetna Officials Report

Serious confusion exists among residents here over the police and fire calls, officials of the Aetna Fire Company disclosed this week.

They issued a warning that grave harm can result if fire and police calls are not placed promptly and accurately. They advised writing these numbers on the front of all telephone directories. The Aetna fire call is: 2300. The Newark Police call is: 4801.

In a letter carried on the editorial page, Charles E. Moore, fire recorder, points out that on two occasions this month the Christiana Fire Company received calls which should have been placed with the Aetna Company.

The first time Christiana rushed two pieces of apparatus here for which there was no need. The second time, Christiana officials checked with the Aetna Company before leaving their engine house and were told they were not needed in Newark.

Mr. Moore went on to stress that, if a fire is serious enough, considerable damage can be caused by delay in summoning the local company.

First Presbyterian Lists Schedule Of Christmas Services

Combined Junior And Senior Choirs To Present Program This Sunday A. M.

A schedule of Christmas services to be given at the First Presbyterian Church was announced this week.

The first of the series will be held this Sunday morning, when the combined Junior and Senior Choirs will present a program of Christmas music. The groups will be under the direction of Charles S. Southwell.

The same morning the Sabbath School will begin its Christmas celebration with a White Gift Offering, which will be in addition to the regular offering. The Worker's Conference has decided to take a cash offering instead of the usual food donation this year for the Teng Chow Boys' School in China.

On Monday evening, Dec. 19, the annual Christmas party for the Beginners and primary departments will begin at 7 p. m. and will be complete with Christmas tree, Santa Claus and gifts for all.

The Christmas party for the main school will be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 21, at 7:30 p. m. In addition to special Christmas music, a film will be shown "A Savior Is Born," followed by a social hour.

A Christmas Eve program of pagentry and music is being arranged by the Young People's Department starting at 11 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 24. A social hour will precede the service, beginning at 10:30.

NHS To Give Xmas Play At Gov. Bacon Health Center Sun.

Drama Will Also Be Feature Of Annual Yule Program At Schools, Dec. 22

Students of the Newark High School will help make Christmas a little brighter for the patients and children of the Governor Bacon Health Center at Delaware City this year.

They will present the play, "Why the Chimes Rang" in the chapel of the Center this Sunday, Dec. 18, at 3 p. m.

The play will also be the feature of the annual Christmas program at the local schools and will be given for the general public next Thursday, Dec. 22, at 8:15 p. m. in the school auditorium. There will be a third performance the

Child Runs Into Moving Auto, Injured Slightly

Despite the heavy traffic and throngs of children, only one accident marred Santa Claus' entry to Newark last Saturday afternoon.

This occurred just as Santa was entering the Newark Department Store, when 10-year-old John Johnson, who was standing across the street, decided to get a closer look at the old fellow and dashed out into a moving car.

He suffered two chipped front teeth and was treated at the office of Dr. Arthur Mencher. The youngster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, near Iron Hill.

The car was driven by John Sullivan of Prospect Avenue.

Correction

Last week's announcement of a $300 gift to the new elementary school here by the Newark Music Society was incorrect.

The gift, which totaled $380, was made by the Newark Community Concert Association, an inactive organization. The Newark Music Society is still in operation.

Council To Appoint Hopkins' Successor At Meeting Tuesday

No Candidates Mentioned As Yet For Vacant Post; Other Agenda Items Listed

Appointment of a successor to Councilman John S. Hopkins, who resigned recently, is expected to highlight the semi-monthly meeting of the Town Council at 8 p. m. on Tuesday.

The new Councilman, who must be a resident of the Eastern District, will be elected by a majority vote of Council. No candidates have been mentioned publicly for the post.

Mr. Hopkins handed in his resignation at the last meeting because he had moved from his election district and, under the provisions of the charter, could no longer hold his Council post.

Also likely to come up for discussion is the proposed southside sewer project. Only thing holding up this large-scale construction program is the need for securing rights of way on Ritter and Cannery Lanes. Town Solicitor John P. Sinclair is expected to have a report on this. The Council is ready to advertise for bids on the work, which will include a new sewage pumping station and a number of sewer lines for the southwestern section of town.

Other items of business which may get consideration are:

Street committee report on the alternate extension of Delaware Avenue to Tyre Avenue and the plan to extend East Cleveland Avenue to Capitol Trail.

Progress of Traffic Engineer survey of conditions at Academy and Main Streets.

Draft of ordinance on sick leave pay for town employees.

Suggested 15-mile speed limit on Academy Street during hours when school children are coming and going.

Pensions for town employees.

Town Committee recommendations for better organization of town laws and ordinances.

Student parking problem at the University of Delaware.

Russell property water supply.

U. of D. Plans New Women's Dormitory

The University of Delaware women students, who are using three World War I surplus barracks, four other temporary quarters and rented rooms throughout Newark to supplement the three permanent residence halls for girls, will have a new dormitory soon.

President William S. Carlson announces that sufficient funds have been obtained to permit immediate planning for the fourth residence hall. The new dorm is planned for a capacity greater than either Warner, New Castle or Sussex Halls. Because the dorm has been on the "urgent building program" for some years, architect plans, drawn by E. William Martin of Newark, already are available.

Bids probably will be sought soon, and construction may start during the late winter.

Webster Company To Give Shakespeare Plays Here On Jan. 9

"Taming of Shrew" Set For Evening Performance; "Julius Caesar" At Matinee

In a return engagement at the University of Delaware, the Margaret Webster Shakespeare Company will present "Julius Caesar" and "The Taming of the Shrew" at Mitchell Hall, Newark, on Jan. 9.

The matinee performance will be "Julius Caesar" while the evening performance will provide the evening entertainment. The Webster Company now is en route on its second coast-to-coast tour, on which it embarked Oct. 10. Last year, the company staged "Hamlet" and "Macbeth" at Mitchell Hall.

Return engagements were sought for every one of the more than 200 engagements on last year's inaugural tour, but these were limited to 70 per cent, of which the University of Delaware is one. A bus and specially-constructed trailer-truck, loaded with scenery, costumes and other paraphernalia, carries the 21 actors and five technicians of the troupe. Covering 40,000 miles, the Webster players will appear in about 300 performances in 34 states.

Portraying featured roles will be Louisa Horton, seen in the stage version of "The Voice of the Turtle" and the movie "All My Sons"; Kendall Clark, a veteran of numerous Broadway productions who has appeared opposite Ethel Barrymore, Tallulah Bankhead and Jane Cowl; and David Lewis, who was seen in last year's production of "Hamlet" and "Macbeth." Other important roles will be portrayed by John Straub, Larry Gates, Frederick Rolf and Dion Allen.

The head of the company, Miss Webster, is one of the most distinguished Shakespearean directors of this century.

The performance will be open to the general public, and tickets for reserved seats will go on sale at Mitchell Hall on Monday, Dec. 12. Box office hours are 3:30 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 8:30 p. m., weekdays.

"DP" Story Is Told At Northbank School

By Marthalee Ness

A few weeks ago, Mrs. Grace Ford, teacher at the Northbank School in London-Britain Township, told her students the story about Displaced Persons. She wanted to give the children an understanding of how fortunate life here in the United States is compared with that of children in post-war Europe.

The next day, little Ivars Kleinhof appeared at the Northbank School. He was greeted by wide-eyed children, surprised to find in their midst just the sort of person Mrs. Ford had told them about. Ivar's smile, and his happiness have continued. He smilingly ignores anything said to him in German, even "I am your friend." Ivars is really set on learning all about this wonderful country, and to hear the pride with which he attempts his turn at reciting in English would make any parent want to hug him.

The story of Albert and Mirtza Kleinhof, Latvians, and the struggle they have had to find a home is really interesting. When the Russians invaded Latvia, they dispossessed the Kleinhofs of the 150 acre farm they had worked so hard to pay for. The farm became part of a collective farm. Albert worked at anything he could find. Then the Germans came and the Russians fled. Life was difficult. Albert found another job in a mill on a farm. When the Germans retreated, he fled from the Russians with them, and the family wound up in a DP camp in the British-occupied zone of Germany. Albert and Mirtza say the family would have starved to death if he had not somehow collected a little money to supplement the meager rations. This went on for years. Then home revived, for a Philadelphiaian complied with the formalities, by giving assurance that he would give Mr. Kleinhof future employment if he could be brought to this country. The family was helped to come here, but what a letdown awaited them, when they arrived in Philadelphia at 2 a. m. His future employer, (according to the guarantee), refused to see Mr. K., and roughly informed him that there was no work, would be none and if Mr. K. didn't quit bothering him, he would call the police. Imagine Kleinhof's despair. What to do? They called Latvian friends, located in Avondale, and employed by Mr. Patterson a resident of Avondale. Mr. Patterson was the right contact, all right, for he happened to think of the Frederic A. Langs, near Landenberg, and arrangements were finally completed for the Kleinhofs to live on Undercliff Farm as Mr. Lang's employees. Talk about sagas! Let us all count our blessings here in this country!

The area of British West Africa is 372,599 square miles, population about 20 million people, mostly African Negroes. Its capitol is Lagos; principal products are sylvan, palm oil and kernels, cocoa, cotton, coal, tin and timber.

Newarker Granted Tube Joint Patent

Designs Improved Expansion Joint Device

On November 29 1949, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,489,844 on "Welded Steel Units for Expansion Joints" to John J. Mank, Nottingham Road, and James P. Zallea, Wilmington.

As is commonly known, expansion joints are devices that are mounted between portions of rigid piping for the purpose of absorbing expansion and contraction due to changes in temperature. Ordinarily, these contrivances of the tubular type comprise a thin-walled, flexible corrugated tube, made of copper, stainless steel or other suitable metals. They are provided with external reinforcing elements in the form of encircling ring-like structures, portions of which extend either into the valleys or around the peaks of the corrugations.

However, when these reinforcing rings are relatively heavy, there is a tendency for the expansion tube to buckle and lose its shape. Furthermore, there are some instances in which they are made from castings upon which expensive machining operations must be performed.

It is therefore the object of this invention of Messrs. Mank and Zallea to overcome these limitations, and, for this purpose they have devised a reinforcing member that is substantially reduced in weight as compared to those of the prior practice. In addition, it may be manufactured by simple stamping or pressing procedures.

Generally speaking, their construction comprises a number of hollow steel elements shaped somewhat like an anchor-ring, each of which fits into a corrugation of the expansion tube. Welded to and encircling each of these rings is an external circular band; and, in this connection, it should be noted that the various bands that are employed for a given expansion joint are provided with a special linkage assembly that serves to equalize the extension and contraction of the several corrugations of the tube.

As a particular feature, Messrs. Mank and Zallea have also designed a simple and rugged structural arrangement whereby the thrust of the pipe or conduit system is transmitted directly to, and over a large area of, the expansion tube. As a consequence, the life of the joint is prolonged.

This patent has been assigned by Messrs. Mank and Zallea Bros., a partnership, of Wilmington, Delaware.

Sara Pennington Evans, Correspondent
Phone Hockessin 598

All the churches, organizations and schools throughout the Hundred have made arrangements for widely varied programs to usher in the happy Christmas season.

Beginning with the Wimodaus Home Demonstration Club, a turkey dinner and Yule party was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. W. Keidel for the 32 present including the former county leader, Mrs. Kate Hensley Daugherty, of Newark. After the gift exchange and group singing of Christmas carols, Mrs. Daugherty had Mrs. Hazel Norton model a Japanese summer and bridal kimono. She also demonstrated the proper method for tying the obi, this one was hand embroidered in pure gold thread. A monologue was given by Mrs. Sara Evans and the club presented Mrs. Keidel with a winter garden as an appreciation gift. The members sent a Christmas greeting to their sister club in England.

The Waverly Club will hold its annual Christmas meeting, Dec. 21, with Mrs. John C. Mitchell as hostess. Mrs. William H. Naudain is planning the program and Mrs. Willard Cloud will review the history of the Christmas Seal Toys for needy children will be brought by each member. ## Capitol Trail News

Mrs. Alma Long, Correspondent
Phone 2-6545

If folks that enjoy this column would call any news, what-so-ever, to Mrs. Long, all would find more enjoyment in the reading of neighborhood news.

On last Saturday night a Wilmington radio station, WAMS honored a Roseville Park lady for being the mother present with the most children. The occasion was a square dance at Son of Columbus Hall in Wilmington. Mrs. George Foraker was brought to the "mike" and congratulated on being the mother of five sons and two daughters. She was then presented with a bouquet of roses, the gift of the Rodney Flower Shop. This program is on the air each Saturday at 9 p. m., with music by the Trail Blazers.

Mrs. Lewis Springer, of Capitol Trail, is now around without her ankle cast and walking iron, which she wore for six weeks, due to a broken ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrigan, of Roseville Park, were guests on last Thursday night at a banquet given by Mr. Jacob A. Correll for employees of companies handling Purina products. Mr. Harrigan is employed at Newark Farm and Home, the Purina agent in this section. Mr. Correll is Purina representative.

Sunday School teachers and officers of White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church met last Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Johnston. At this meeting plans were made for three new Sunday School classes. This will give White Clay classes for all age groups. To carry out this idea, will require a lot of planning, and it is hoped it will increase Sunday School attendance considerably. Come out by the first of the new year, to help swell these new classes. Among this group will be a "young married" class.

At a recent turkey supper, the "Young Adults" and their friends had a very successful evening. Christmas gifts were exchanged. A committee was appointed to look into the forming of a "Teen Age" organization.

This group when organized should be of much interest to our young church goers. Watch for further notices. The committee is Rev. and Mrs. James Bishop, Mr. Ralph Larson and Mr. Paul Peach.

No Error On Monument

309 Delaware Circle
Newark, Delaware
December 7, 1949

Editor
Newark Post
Newark, Delaware
Dear Sir:

I want to thank the Newark Post for its splendid cooperation in helping to make the present war memorial possible by giving the Newark War Memorial Committee the best of publicity from the formation of this group to the coverage of the dedication of the memorial itself.

May I ask a further service of the Post by publishing this letter as an explanation of a situation that the Newark War Memorial Committee regrets but could not control.

Allegedly, there was an error made in a name of a deceased veteran listed on the bronze plaque of the War Memorial located on the old Academy grounds. This rumor was circulated about the town and came to the attention of the committee.

It would be impossible to include the number of veterans who were born and raised in the Town of Newark and who later moved away prior to entry into the armed forces during the last war. Therefore, this one case has been cited to explain any similar discrepancy should one arise.

The Newark War Memorial Committee's source of information on Newark's war dead came from the State Archives located in Dover, Delaware. Mr. Leon DeValinger, State Archivist, was contacted on this alleged error and we believe his letter to be self-explanatory. This letter is quoted with the real name and address of the veteran removed and a fictitious one inserted for clarity.

Mr. William M. Coverdale, Chairman
Newark War Memorial Committee, Inc.
309 Delaware Circle, Newark, Del.
Dear Mr. Coverdale:

In response to your letter of November 30 I wish to say that upon checking our files we find that we have an Individual Military Service Record Form issued by our office which was filled in for us by (Mother of veteran, name withheld) on November 24, 1944. At that time she stated the pre-service address of Thomas Willington was 79th Street, Claymont, Del. For that reason the name of Thomas Willington appears in our Memorial Volume as being listed from Wilmington and that also explains why his name would not appear on the list we sent your committee. Hoping this information is helpful to you, I am,

Very truly yours,
Leon DeValinger, Jr.
State Archivist.

Editor, Newark Post

This situation has been explained to the next of kin and we believe that an understanding has been reached that there was no error made. The committee sincerely hopes that the above explanation is satisfactory.

Very truly yours,
William M. Coverdale
Chairman
Newark War Memorial Committee, Inc.

History of U. of D. Traced In Current DAR Magazine

A history of the University of Delaware, "from little synodical academy to a proud state university," is traced in the December issue of the "Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine," now current.

The article, nineteenth in a series on "Our Colonial Colleges," is by Herbert G. Moore. Tracing the university's beginning back to the Rev. Francis Allison's manse at New London, Pa., in 1743, Mr. Moore states that Delaware "enjoys a close family relationship" with the present-day institutions of Princeton, Hampden-Sydney, Dickinson, Washington and Lee, and Washington and Jefferson in that all were of Presbyterian birth and able to "trace their lineal descent back to a common root."

John Beck, Retired U. of D. Employee, Dies

Services for John T. Beck, 71, who died Friday at his home, 13 Annabelle Street, were held Monday from the R. T. Jones Funeral Home. The Rev. A. J. Jackson, pastor of the Newark Methodist Church, officiated. Interment was in the Newark Cemetery.

Mr. Beck was a retired boiler inspector at the University of Delaware. He left the university about a year ago after 24 years service.

He was a member of the Methodist Church of Newark and of the Junior Order of American Mechanics.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mollie V. Beck; two daughters, Mrs. Emma Beck Overstreet, Wilmington, and Mrs. Gladys Beck Beckett, living at the home; a brother, William Beck of Newark, and two grandsons, Thomas and Richard Overstreet.

FILLIN' IN

According to the safety experts, Christmas is almost as dangerous a holiday as the Fourth of July. In fact, they say that in homes with small children, it presents more hazards, beginning with the trimming of the tree and not ending until about two weeks later when the electric lights are put away for another year.

Although there are no accurate statistics, Christmas tree trimming ranks high nationally as an accident cause. Even getting a tree into the home is fraught with peril. At the very least this can lead to frayed tempers, broken brioche and crumpled end tables. Another obvious danger is using rickety ladders to hang balls and bits of tinsel from.

The riskiest part of tree trimming is generally admitted to be the placing of the final star on the top. This takes a high toll annually in sprained backs and broken legs. Safety experts say the star should be put in place at the very first while the tree is still lying on the floor, but any red-blooded tree trimmer, who takes pride in his craft, would spurn such a craven course.

Even if trimmed without loss of life or limb, the Christmas tree presents a continued menace. In a few days it becomes dry and tindry, and any chance short circuit or drifting spark from a cigarette will send it up in a violent, atomic puff.

The hazards of the Yuletide begin in earnest, though, on Christmas morning when the kids start opening their presents. In this connection, the Delaware Safety Council recently got out a list entitled "Safe Toys For Christmas." It gave hints on how to choose toys that are proper and safe for different age levels.

For children up to one year, the Council suggests bright, washable toys that make a noise and can be felt, chewed or dropped. For children one to two, playthings that can be taken apart and put together are the best. The Council goes on in this manner up to children eight years and over.

The basic flaw in the list, as we see it, is that it overlooks entirely the safety and comfort of parents. Toys that make a noise, for instance, may be wonderfully safe for grown-up nerves. Toys that can be taken apart or put together are, possibly, good things, except that it is the old man who will have to spend his holiday taking them apart and putting them together. The Council also ignores the fact that children can and do take apart any kind of toy and usually care little or nothing about putting it together again.

No matter how safe toys are for children, Christmas, in our opinion, will still be a time of trouble and danger for adults. Toy cluttered living rooms on Christmas are probably the biggest accident hazard in this country. Every grown-up can count on falling at least once over a bright, washable harmless rubber ball. And fathers who come home from work during the Christmas season and barge unwarily through their front doors can expect, a few seconds later, to find themselves on the flat of their backs in the center of the living room, placed there when a very safe little plastic truck skidded out from under their feet.

Throughout the Yuletide, all grown-ups must tread cat-like about their houses, looking carefully before entering rooms, and keeping ever alert for stray alphabetical blocks, small teddy bears, erector sets and other perfectly "safe" toys.

The Council's list, incidentally, made no mention of electric trains whether this was an oversight or simply the Council's tactful way of dealing with a ticklish problem, we can't say. The implication is, though, that the Council doesn't particularly approve of electric trains for any age.

If so, we heartily agree, but we don't think the Council is going to get anywhere ignoring the situation. For better or for worse, electric trains are here to stay. No self-respecting father can afford to let his son get beyond the hissing stage without buying him a set. And once bought, all hope of safety in the home must be abandoned. Burnt fingers, electrocuted 2-year-olds, exploding transformers, short-circuits followed by fuse changing at all hours, grown bodies thrown prostrate by wayward bits of track, all this becomes the order of the day.

We think the Council is playing an idle game so long as it refuses to take a more forthright approach to the electric train problem. One solution might be to campaign for homes especially designed for electric trains. These would contain glass enclosed electric train rooms, kept under lock and key, with the latter in possession of one member of the household, preferably the father. On stated occasions, after warning the light company and alerting the fire department, he would be allowed to enter the room and operate the trains, while the rest of the family observed from the outside. First aid equipment and an oxygen tent could be kept handy.

In this way, except for a few incinerated fathers annually, the ideal of a safe Christmas might approach reality in the affairs of men.

Newark AA Drops Close, 59-54 Decision In Susky Loop Debut

Bows To Wilmington Chicks In Game At Elkton Armory; Locals Hampered By Lack Of Practice; Meet Delaware City Tonight

The Newark AA dropped a close, 59-54, decision to the Wilmington Chicks last Thursday at the Elkton Armory. It was the first Susquehanna League encounter of the season for the local club.

Newark entered the fray with only three practice sessions, and, consequently, showed ragged form, especially on close-in shots under the basket. At the foul line they were also spotty, sinking only 10 out of 25 tries.

Gene Schaefer led the scoring with seventeen points, and Angie Cataldi played an outstanding game. The big gun for the Chicks was Dick Grossman, a member of last year's University of Delaware squad.

Tonight Newark meets Delaware City in the nightcap of a twin-bill at the Elkton Armory. Game time will be 9 p. m.

At a reorganization meeting recently of the Susky League, the Roccos team, of Wilmington, was elected to replace Middletown in the circuit competition. The Elkton Elks were selected to replace North East. The two newcomers are expected to improve greatly the brand of ball played in the league. Roccos is composed of players from the St. Mary's team currently leading the Wilmington CYO League.

Another team, the Elkton Suskys, including players from throughout the Susky League, made its debut Saturday night, trouncing St. Joseph's of the CYO League, 77-44. Gene Schaefer, of the Newark club, paced the Suskys with 23 points.

This Saturday the Suskys will meet the strong Sun Oil Company team from Chester Pa. The contest is set for the Elkton Armory at 8:30 p. m. The first game will bring together the Plymouth Rocks, a Newark girls' club, coached by Angie Cataldi, and the Dublin, Maryland, Girls' team, champs of the Mason Dixon League.

Jackets Prep For Court Opener With A. I. duPont, Jan. 3

Gilmore Ott Selects 15 Candidates For Jayvee Squad

With over two weeks to go before their debut, Newark High's 1950 varsity basketball five is still in the formative stage, according to Coach Ray Ciesinski.

The Yellowjackets have been drilling for over two weeks, and, while prospects look good this year, Ciesinski is making no predictions as yet.

He has a core of four returning lettermen to build around, plus four holdovers from last year's varsity squad. He expects to limit his squad this season to only 12 players.

The campaign opener is slated for Jan. 3 with A. I. duPont on the home floor. The 17-game schedule will wind up on Feb. 28 in a game here with New Castle.

Assistant Coach Gilmore Ott, who is handling the Jayvees, said this week he has cut his squad to 15 players. Those who remained after the initial screening were: T. Baker, R. Boutin, R. Bramble, B. Day, J. Draper, D. George, S. Gray, R. Kase, B. Knotts, R. Lawson, R. Morris, J. Seydell, A. Sparks, R. Townsend and W. Wetzel. As announced last week, the varsity squad includes: Phil Harrison, Ronald Nagle, Bill Records, Frank Porter, Bill Reybold, Jim Knotts, Jack Lehman, Hank Correll, George Martin, Jim Bueche, Andy Murphy and Bernard Blaney.

"Science Day" At Temple
A number of NHS physics students traveled to Philadelphia Thursday, December 1, for a visit to the "Science Day" program at Temple University, sponsored by the Temple Chapter of Sigma Xi and held in the Temple School of Dentistry and Pharmacy.

The list of exhibits included production of ulcers in the rat, geology at Temple, reptiles, pharmacology, and an exhibit of fluorescent phosphorus materials. An added attraction for Newark students was Vaughn Fox's model car for 1950, displayed with exhibits of high school work.

DRIPPINGS MIRACLE
Bacon drippings have many uses as far as flavor is concerned, so save them to add good meat flavor to other foods. For example, with canned corn the results can be very taste-worthy. Flavor the corn with celery seed, then heat in bacon drippings for a dish that can be considered quite memorable.

YELLOWJACKET HIGHLIGHTS

A Column of News Contributed By the Journalism Class At Newark High School

Project Period in Science Class
Every Wednesday in General Science Class the 7-1 section has a project period. Some of the boys make model airplanes and model trains. One boy is making figures out of pipe cleaners. Some of the girls are making scrapbooks of flowers, dogs, horses, pets, and amusing pictures, and babies.

The class started to work with clay, but the clay dried too quickly and was very hard to use, so that plan was abandoned. Some of the students draw pictures of flowers, plants, animals, and anything that has to do with science on the blackboard in colored chalk.

The class has performed scientific experiments. Members have distilled water and exhausted air out of a balloon so they can see it rise and try to get out of bell jar. The students have seen how a vacuum of air can not carry sound waves by putting an alarm clock in a bell jar and not being able to hear it very well. The class made a thermometer, which worked in exactly the opposite way from the ones you buy.

"Writers" Visit Newspaper and Other Cultural Centers

Students of the Journalism Class and the Buzz Staff of Newark School have now a better knowledge of the operating methods of a large newspaper and a city public library. In addition to these ideas, the students have seen and come to appreciate some beloved American artists whose works are displayed in the Delaware Art Center.

This is all a direct result of a field trip made December 9, to the Wilmington Public Library, The News-Journal Co., and the Delaware Art Center.

Of greatest interest to most of the students was the conducted tour through the News-Journal Company. The Newark "writers" saw how type is set up and cast in lead, how "ads" are made up, how news comes in on the teletype from points all over the world, and how the paper is printed and machine folded.

In the Wilmington Public Library the students were shown the recordak, the viewing machine, for microfilm copies of back newspapers. The highlight of the trip to the Delaware Art Center was the viewing of the Howard Pyle collection. Mr. Pyle was a beloved American artist, who was born in Wilmington. A part of this display is his palette, his drawing board and his stool, and a painting of his studio. Chaperones for the trip were Mrs. R. L. Hardy, Miss Jeanette Thoroughgood, instructor for the group, and Mr. Eugene Kelecheva, art instructor for Newark Schools.

News of London-Britain Vicinity

Martha Ness, Correspondent
Phone Kemblesville 2171

Dr. Norman L. Cutler, a resident of the community, is expected back December 20, from Japan, where he has been fulfilling a government mission in his professional field. Mrs. Cutler tells me that his plane was delayed for three days in Honolulu while the ship on Guam was being repaired. The typhoon had damaged it badly, but the stopover was thoroughly enjoyed by all the passengers. From Honolulu and then Guam, Dr. Cutler went on to the Philippines, Okinawa, and finally Tokyo. Mrs. Cutler says he may possibly be delayed a few days on the return trip, but Dr. Cutler is expected home by Christmas.

Young Billy Ayers has spent the past week trying to recover from a miserably sore throat, but expects to return to school soon.

Joseph Brogly, Landenberg, celebrated his sixth birthday last Saturday by entertaining a large group of school friends. The children reported a wonderful time, what with races, a fish pond, and "all the trimmings."

The Executive Committee of the Home and School League had a business meeting at the home of the League's president, John Alcock, near Landenberg. Some very interesting programs for the rest of the year were planned, among which will be a repetition of the popular Conservation program given last year. Mrs. Jones reported that the school children were responding beautifully to the newly introduced music period.

The School Board of London-Britain Township held a meeting on Wednesday afternoon, December 7, at the home of Mrs. Clarence Crossan, Sr. A new member, Professor James Clower, was elected president of the board, and Mrs. Clara Ayers, veteran member, became vice-president. The board voted to provide Southbank School with some excellent music books.

Jimmie Smith was home with a bad cold this past week. Joey Alcock and Dave Ness each had a touch of a nasty germ currently going the rounds. Add Tommie Filippi to the list also.

Mrs. Ford is planning a nice little party and program for the small fry at Northbank School. This party is to take place the latter part of Thursday morning, December 22, at the school. Parents are very cordially invited to attend. Christmas vacation starts at 1 p. m. of that day.

Eight members of the Twin Pines Camp, near Coudersport, Potter County and their six guests, were in luck Doe Day. The group bagged five does, making a lot of Kemblesville families anticipate some good venison.

The Kemblesville P. T. A. will hold its annual Christmas party at Kemblesville Hall, December 19, time, 8 p. m. Members of the community always enjoy the program, the tree, and Santa Claus.

Also on the list of Christmas events not to be missed, is the Kemblesville Methodist Church Christmas program, a yearly event. It will begin promptly at 8 p. m. in Kemblesville Hall. A tableau will be given by the larger children of the Sunday School, and a movie, "The Glorious Star," will be shown.

Last Saturday evening, an impromptu square dance took place at the Ness home. Among those able to attend, were the James Paxsons, the Ed Hixsons, the Bob McVeys. Also in show swinging, were the George Kalbs.

John Poppy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Poppy, will be welcomed home December 17, from Andover, Massachusetts, where he has been attending Phillips Academy.

Mr. Wendell Swint, Westwood Farm, arrived home last Sunday from his business trip to South America. Mr. Swint is the head of the Foreign Relations Department for the DuPont Company.

"And a mighty huntress was she!" When Alice Taylor looked out of the bedroom window early one morning soon after she brought little Nancy home from the hospital, she saw a plump rabbit on her lawn. Mrs. Nimrod sped down the stairs, grabbed the gun on her way out, and "pop!" there was Mr. Bunny, all set to solve the problem.

Danger Of Mastitis Cold Weather Brings

Precautions To Protect Dairy Herds Listed By E. S. Biddle

With the coming of winter weather, mastitis cases may increase in Delaware dairy herds, warned E. S. Biddle, of the Delaware State Board of Agriculture, recently.

It is a well-known fact that mastitis frequently follows test or udder injury. Many animals which have spent much of the day on pasture are being confined to barns at this time of the year. This means that the mastitis hazards are greater.

Mr. Biddle suggests that the following precautionary steps be taken: (1) Check barns for any objects which may injure teats and udders; (2) Practice rapid milking, making sure that test cups are not left on any longer than necessary; (3) Avoid too high vacuum on milking machine; (4) Disinfect milking equipment and see that teats and udders are properly washed and dried; (5) Keep a close watch for signs of trouble. If trouble develops call your local veterinarian promptly or have your cattle checked for mastitis by the State Mastitis Diagnostic Laboratory, Wolf Hall, Newark.

For further information on testing your cattle for mastitis consult your County Agent in Newark, Dover, or Georgetown. He will be glad to help you.

U. of D. Drama Group Players Will Stage Fairy Tale Classic

To Give Andersen's "The Emperor's New Clothes" January 20-21

Hans Christian Andersen's classic fairy tale, "The Emperor's New Clothes" has been selected as the vehicle in the second annual Children's Theater production to be presented by the University Drama Group. Announcement was made at the monthly meeting held in Mitchell Hall last Sunday evening that try-outs for parts will take place at Mitchell Hall next Monday evening at 8 p. m. All members of the University Drama Group are invited to be present.

The play will be presented in Mitchell Hall on Friday evening, Jan. 20 and Saturday afternoon, Jan. 21. It is also expected that at least two performances will be given outside of Newark at times and places to be chosen later. The production has been adapted by Mrs. John P. Sinclair, who will also direct it.

A most unusual production of Leland Price's one-act play, "Parted on Her Wedding Morn" or "More to Be Pitted Than Scorned" was presented at the meeting of the Drama Group and was a howling success. Ingeniously directed by John P. Sinclair, the old-time melodrama had all the tried and true dramatic impacts, including the damsel in distress, the villain who is about to carry his nefarious designs into being, the hero who arrives in the nick of time and the happy ending when all the tribulations fall by the wayside. An added innovation was the appearance of the director on the stage mid-way through the performance to restore to its tracks a slightly derailed vehicle.

The members of the cast were: Ethel Crowe as Faith Truehart; Carrie Thomas as Mother Mahoney; Sonnie McVey as Bowers Lutz; Ellen Weitz, as Oval Buckingham; Henry Weitz as Desmond Dalton; Avery Goddin as Excelsior Colfax.

Colburn Now Acting President Of U. Of D.

Will Serve From April 1950, Until Carlson Successor Chosen

Dr. Allan P. Colburn, assistant to the president and adviser on research at the University of Delaware, was named as acting president, to serve from April, 1950, until a successor to President William S. Carlson takes office.

Dr. Carlson has resigned, effective in April, to become president of the University of Vermont.

Dr. Colburn's appointment was voted by the university's Board of Trustees at their semi-annual meeting at Newark last week. Former Judge Hugh M. Morris, president of the board, said the interim appointment was made at this time to insure that there would be no interruption in the university's administration upon President Carlson's departure. He pointed out that in the next four months Dr. Colburn will be able to become acquainted with numerous details of the presidency through working with Dr. Carlson.

Meanwhile, said Judge Morris, consideration will be given to selection of the new president, so that the post can be filled as soon as possible.

University Music Students Form Club

Music students of the University of Delaware have organized a new Music Club on the campus.

At the opening meeting, solos were sung by voice students of Miss Hilda Somers, instructor in voice at the university. A sight reading of Handel's "The Messiah" was another feature of the program.

The club's next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 10. All interested students are eligible.

Santa Arrives

with Santa moving through the central portions of town, finally winding up at the Newark Department Store, where he stayed for the remainder of the day.

Here he was kept busy interviewing a steady line of eager youngsters from about 3:30 to 5 p. m. During that time, Santa gave away about 75 pounds of candy in individual bags. It was estimated that over 600 children gave their Christmas requests to him.

All in all, the event was a huge success, and it was only the beginning. Santa will be here until Christmas. His schedule of stops is listed below.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, which arranged to bring Old Chris here, issued a statement of thanks this week to all those who helped his welcome here a joyous one. The Jaycees said they were especially grateful for the cooperation of Mayor McBerly, the Newark Police Department, School Superintendent Wilmer E. Shue, the Newark High School Band and its conductor, Mr. Wilder.

The remainder of Santa's schedule follows:

Dec. 15—Eagle Furniture; Dec. 16—National Five and Ten; Dec. 17—Department Store; Dec. 19—Newark Electric; Dec. 20—Trivits; Dec. 21—Theo. S. Jones; Dec. 22—Jackson's Hardware; Dec. 23—Eagle Furniture; Dec. 24—Main Street.

Last week the society's president, Gertrude Tierney, took over a tenth grade English class in the absence of the regular teacher, Miss Jeannette Thoroughgood. Judy Kase, who is secretary-treasurer of the society, also was placed in charge of an English class. Paul Hodgson was assigned to teach a civics class.

Other members of the society who are on call for emergency teaching are: Marian Mayne, the society's vice-president; Vaughn Fox, Barbara Humphreys, Dorothy Aulen, Nancy Stanley and Ann Louise Neave.

Century Club Holds Xmas Party Monday

Guest Soprano Delights Audience With Operatic Selections

The annual Christmas party of the Newark New Century Club took place on Monday in the clubrooms.

In a seasonal atmosphere of silver, Christmas greens, and candlelight, Irene Freyhan, lyric soprano, delighted an appreciative audience with a program of operatic selections, German lieder, and traditional Christmas carols. The program closed with a dramatic reading by Mrs. Ned Elliott, of Newark, who presented "The Birth of 'Silent Night'" in the form of a radio broadcast.

Coffee and Christmas cookies were served before the open fire by Mrs. R. O. Bauman and her committee which included: Mrs. Edward William Martin, Mrs. Nelson Clark, Mrs. Leon Case, Mrs. Paul Lovett, and Mrs. Thomas Batchelor. Mrs. Jay Robinson, program chairman for the day, presided at the coffee urn. Seasonal decorations were by Mrs. Alex D. Cobb and the fine arts committee.

A short business meeting preceded the program. The next club meeting will be held on January 9.
