Newark, Delaware, Thursday, October 23, 1941

UNIFORM SIGNALS

During the past year there has been more and more evidence that a makeshift set of horn, hand and lights signals has grown up among drivers around the country.

Like provincial dialects in speech, these traffic signals vary from one part of the country to another because there is no standard.

Among the more prevalent signals are these:

When one driver rolls up behind another and wants to pass, he gives a couple of short toots on his horn, or flashes his lights, meaning, "I'm ready to pass you."

When the driver ahead gets these two short toots, or the flash of lights, he sizes up the road ahead. If the way is clear and safe for the fellow behind to pass, he flashes his tail lights and marker lights, meaning, "Okay to pass. Come ahead."

If the driver ahead feels it would be unsafe for the driver behind to pass, he makes no response to the signal until the way is clear. The driver behind accepts this as a safety warning to stay behind.

If a driver has left a serious emergency hazard behind him—a wreck partly blocking the road, a tree down, etc., he will flash a warning to traffic coming toward him with continuous "frantic" blinking of his lights, or a "wave down" hand motion in the daytime, either of which means to the oncoming driver, "There's special danger down the road a ways. Look sharp."

Now, the point is this—some drivers may question the use of any such signals. However, there is no doubt that such a set of safety signals is growing across the country in hit-and-miss fashion.

So, the Delaware Safety Council invites you to send in a description of any such hand, horn, or light signals that you may use. Comment on the advisability of such signals if you wish.

Letters To The Editor

Newark, Del.,
Oct. 20, 1941.

Editor:

The editorial GROWTH VS PROGRESS in your issue of Oct. 16th meets with my unqualified approval. I sincerely hope that interested citizens individually and through the organizations of which they are members will get behind this movement by indicating their insistent desire that something be done to correct the situation promptly and then sympathetically assist our elected public officials in putting it across. For a long time I have felt that Newark needs a Civic Club—an organization of citizens and property owners of all shades of opinion to study, recommend and assist in carrying into effect this and other matters affecting the well being and progress of the best little town in the state. Perhaps that, too, will come in time.

Not only is all you say in your Editorial true, but the present situation is giving rise to incidents which needlessly cause ill feeling and set neighbor against neighbor. As time goes on these incidents will increase in number and severity. Zoning has been successfully done elsewhere with outstanding success. Restrictions in deeds, even when present are a poor substitute for zoning since they require a law suit to enforce, an action which, from the standpoint of expense alone, property owners are reluctant to take. As matters now stand, one is foolhardy indeed to invest in real estate in Newark. Our situation is chaotic and I sincerely hope that your editorial will be the first gun in a campaign which will not end until we have substituted order for chaos. If it is, you will have performed a real service to Newark.

Yours very truly,

the girls to the supper in his automobile truck which was lined with straw for the occasion. A jolly time was the verdict of everyone.

The Bonfire given last Saturday night by the Junior Class of the Women's College in honor of the Freshman Class was a most delightful affair. The entire Freshman Class of Delaware was invited and more than a hundred individual invitations sent out. Many were accepted and there was a large crowd present to enjoy the pleasures of the evening.

Health always has been a matter of personal concern. But now, it has taken on national significance. To be well—and to keep well—has become a patriotic duty. cisco Symphony. The opera season opened October 13 and takes place early as many members of the Metropolitan Opera and conductors as well migrate to New York in time for the opening of the season there.

One of the Metropolitan stars hastening to San Francisco for the opening was the tenor, Charles Kullman. He has had a very busy schedule singing in opera in South America during the summer. He reports that thirty rehearsals are not unusual before the presentation of an opera at the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires. This was true of "The Magic Flute" which he sang five times in two weeks. In addition to his opera performances he had a very happy concert schedule, and thoroughly enjoyed this first South American visit. He returned to the United States via Havana where he sang in "Faust".

Mieczyslaw Munz, Polish pianist, is one of the new faculty members of the Curtis Institute of Music, which opened October 6 for its eighteenth season. Mr. Munz will continue his concert tours. He is well known to American audiences having made his debut in 1922. In the intervening years he has toured China, Japan, Australia, and from 1933 to 1938 he devoted himself exclusively to performances in Europe, the Orient, and South America. He returned to the United States in 1938 to continue his brilliant record in this country.

Three Transcontinental tours in one year is an achievement for any singer and Helen Traubel, dramatic soprano is now launched on such a schedule. Wagnerian roles are Miss Traubel's specialty, and she was the singer chosen by Toscanini as the first vocalist to make recordings with his orchestra. This followed her memorable performance of Wagner's Immolation Scene from "Gotterdammerung" at Carnegie Hall February 22, 1941, which was broadcast by radio throughout the world.

AT THE HALF-WAY MARK OF their 1941 campaign, the University of Delaware eleven is now well on its way to the finest record ever marked up by a Blue and Gold grid machine and the dream of any football coach—an undefeated season.

Only a 7-7 deadlock with West Chester State Teachers' College mars the Hens' brilliant return to the intercollegiate grid spotlight thus far, but the Delaware team has come a long way since its opener—and still has a long way to go.

PROBABLY WHAT WILL PROVE the stiffest test during the last half of the schedule will turn up on Nov. 1 when Mount St. Mary's College will invade Wilmington Park, Delaware's second clash at that site. The Mounts, with a 6-0 victory over Potomac State, and victimized by George Washington University, 25-0, and Western Maryland, 24-21, were not too highly regarded until Sunday when they sprang a startling upset by shaving out a 7-6 conquest over previously unbeaten LaSalle. This performance, witnessed by Coach Bill Murray and Assistant Emory Adkins naturally increased the home club's respect for the Emmitsburg combine and Delaware will be able to use its week's layoff to good advantage.

SATURDAY'S IMPRESSIVE WIN over Dickinson, sans the brilliant Bill (Red) Hogan, has proved something that the Hens' mentor has been saying for a long time—that the Delaware eleven is a closely-knit organization with plenty of good football in every man, from the leading ground gainer down to the lowliest scrub. As a matter of fact, with every man on the bench seeing action these days, you can just abolish the term "scrub" who is usually thought of as the little guy who takes all the knocks in practice and never gets in the game.

Against the Red Devils, it was a reserve end, "Buck" Thompson, who blocked the kick leading directly to the Hens' first touchdown. The second entry into paydirt was made by Norm Lord, replacement for Fred Sloan, after a 32-yard pass by Conrad Sadowski, Hogan's understudy. To top off the Hen scoring, Gerry Doherty, mercury-footed substitute for Walt Paul, junior veteran, accounted for the last two six-pointers, one of which he set up himself when he carried a punt back from his own 34 to Dickinson's 29. Lee Baer, a second team ball carrier, knocked off 19 yards on the next play to bring the Blue and Gold within striking distance.

THE SCENE FOR DOHERTY'S first touchdown in the third period was set by Dan Wood, a recruit, who carried the kickoff following the safety back to the Red Devils' 36. Fred Sposato, another freshman back who has been carrying on for the injured "Ripper" Brooks, broke away for 28 yards to the invaders' eight-yard stripe from where Doherty took it over.

IN CASE YOU FOOTBALL FANS aren't aware of the fact (and it looks that way, judging by the attendance), Coach Bill Gillespie has developed another crackerjack team at the Newark High School, an eleven that certainly merits more support than it has been getting.

After suffering the opening defeat at the hands of Millville, the Jackets launched a winning streak which now includes a close conquest over Brown Vocational and decisive triumphs over Wilmington High School and Newtown. POTENTIALLY RATED AS, AND we quote the Newark mentor, "one of the greatest offensive teams I have ever coached," the local combine is making a strong bid for state supremacy, a title which, unfortunately, cannot be definitely decided under existing conditions.

Only one home battle remains on the schedule—A. I. duPont on Oct. 31—how about a little more interest in a club that has proved its ability to win.

NORTH COVENTRY IS HIGH HURDLE FOR JACKETS, NOW SEEKING FOURTH GRID WIN

Decisive Victory Over Newtown Was Third Straight Following Opening Defeat By Millville; To Play At Pottstown On Saturday

Victorious in their last three starts and showing steady improvement, Coach Bill Gillespie's Newark High School gridders will invade Pottstown, Pa., on Saturday for their annual battle with North Coventry, a test which may prove their stiffest since the Millville defeat at the beginning of the season. The kick-off is slated for two o'clock.

No changes in the lineup which faced Newtown last week are expected for the Jackets' fifth clash of the 1941 campaign, although a revision has been made in the second-team backfield due to the ineligibility of Albert (Ace) Aiken, who played his last game on Friday. He is now too old to participate in interscholastic athletics, according to the rules of the New Castle County Principals Association.

As a result of Aiken's ineligibility, Al Thorpe has been moved to the fullback slot, while Wayne Pollari will take over Thorpe's vacated wingback position. George Schaen and George Treut will round out the reserve backfield.

The starting ball-carrying quartet will remain the same with Joe Moore at quarterback, Martin McCallister at fullback, and Wally Dunsmore and Clyde Baylis at the wingbacks. The forward wall will also remain intact with Ernie Riley and Dick Robinson at the ends; Francis Hill and Cecil Cochran, tackles; Wally Edmanson and Dan DuHamel, guards; and Gene Tierney, center.

Pleased with the way in which the offensive is progressing, Coach Gillespie has devoted most of this week to improving the team's defensive ability, especially in the anti-aircraft department. North Coventry, still undefeated in the current campaign, scored an impressive victory over a strong Clifton Heights eleven in its last start, and a tough battle is anticipated.

Friday's victory over Newtown climaxed the series between the two schools with each boasting of one victory. The tilt was classed as "too rough" by the Jackets' mentor who pointed out that there was entirely too much ill-feeling and not enough football played.

With North Coventry, A. I. duPont, P. S. duPont, and Conrad still on the schedule, the Jackets' chief-of-staff is looking forward to a rough road, but holds no fear for the opposition if the home club continues to show the steady improvement displayed since the start of the season.

Only one of the four remaining tilts, A. I. duPont, is scheduled for the local gridiron.

ANDERSON TO SHOW AT STATE PARLOR

Trick Shot Artist To Appear Here On Oct. 31

Clarence Anderson, world's champion trick and fancy shot pocket billiardist, will be seen at Jimmy Martin's State Parlor on Friday, Oct. 31, when the cue star from Kane, Pa., opens the program of billiard entertainment for this season. The performance will start at seven o'clock.

For the better part of an hour, this wizard of the cue will mystify the spectators with a limitless repertoire of seemingly impossible trick combinations, kisses, and cue pyrotechnics. Anderson concludes his show by pocketing all 15 balls on the table in one stroke, and will also be available for free instruction and constructive advice.

Others to be seen in the series include Marcel Camp, nemesis of champions in title play and pocket billiards and American snooker champion; Joe Chamaco, dashing caballero of Mexico City, 1939 world's champion at three cushion billiards and holder of the world's high run record, 18, and the world's record average, 2 4/23 points per inning; "Babe" Cranfield, Syracuse "boy wonder," and 1938 world's amateur champion at pocket billiards; "Patsy" Natalie, veteran title contender and peerless instructor, who finished third in 1928 to Greenleaf and Taberski for the pocket billiard title, and last but not least, Willie Mosconi, world's champion pocket billiard performer.

Each of the stars will meet a local cue-wielder in an exhibition match and will not only perform trick shots but give instructions in the sport as well. No admission is charged.
