Great Crowd At "Harvest Home" Is Expected This Year

Whitman's Grove, Scene Of Event
For Two Generations, Will Again
Be Community's Center On 13th
Of August

SPEAKERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Historic Whitman's Grove, north of Milford Cross Roads, scene of farmers' picnics for over two generations, will again be the center for the residents of Mill Creek hundred, Newark and adjacent territory on Thursday, August 13th, when the annual Harvest Home will be held.

Fathers and grandfathers of those who now attend the celebrations used to come for miles to the Grove in years gone by. They came from lower Chester county, from Cecil county, and from as far south as Middletown. Little change has been wrought in recent years. The grove is still there, the piles of good country food are consumed and gallons of lemonade find their way to thirsty throats.

As usual, this year's Harvest Home will be an all day affair, with speaking morning, afternoon and evening. The big dinner will be served at noon.

Program Announced

The speaking program, as announced yesterday, is as follows:
Morning: Hon. Ellwood Melson, attorney, of Wilmington.

Afternoon: Rev. Harvey Ewing, retired, of Newark.
Evening: Rev. Frank Herson, pastor Newark M. E. Church.

The Minnehaha Band, of Newark, will be present during the day and will play a concert in the afternoon. There will likely be a baseball game between two picked teams of the neighborhood.

The ladies of Ebenezer Church are providing the dinner and will also have charge of several booths for the sale of home-made delicacies and novelties. Mrs. David Little is general chairman of the workers.

Her aides are as follows: Candy table, Mrs. Harvey Davis; Novelty table, Mrs. N. M. Whitman; Soft drinks, George Knotts; and children's playground, Miss Lora Little.

Roads In Good Shape

Contrasted with the condition a year ago, the roads in Mill Creek hundred leading to the grove are reported to be in fair condition. It was generally conceded that the bad roads last summer cut down the attendance considerably. Visitors from Newark will find the best route by going north on Chapel street, bearing to right at Milford Cross Roads.

LOCAL LODGE IN PARADE

Red Men and Auxiliary Trek To Kennett Last Night

The Minnehaha Tribe, I. O. R. M., and their ladies' auxiliary, the Degree of Pocahontas, formed an attractive feature of the fraternal parade held in Kennett Square last night in conjunction with the annual Firemen's Carnival in that town.

Ladies of the lodge traveled in a beautifully decorated float, mounted on a truck belonging to R. G. Buckingham.

New Building On Main Street For Sol Wilson, Latest Report

Another new building for Main Street was confirmed yesterday. Sol Wilson, of the Quality Shop, has practically approved the architect's drawings for a building on Main Street on lot owned by him adjoining the Casho property, recently acquired by the Farmers' Trust Company. The building will be a combined store and residence, the store occupying the whole of the street floor. Minor alterations are now being made to plans which upon completion will be given out for estimate and contract awarded.

Mr. Wilson came to Newark some

Luke Goodyear In The Law's Toils

Fresh from an unfortunate experience with the Delaware authorities through which he reposed in jail for several months, Luke Goodyear, formerly a resident along the Elkton-Newark road, made the fatal mistake of visiting his old haunts in Maryland the other day.

Hearing of Goodyear's presence, Sheriff Pierson surprised him near Elkton and placed him under arrest. Four indictments on various charges were returned against Goodyear by the Grand Jury last September. The indictments are still waiting, and Luke is again in jail at Elkton. He will remain there until his case comes to Court.

Loses Two Fingers In Mill Accident Here

Luther Todd Taken To Hospital For Amputation Saturday, Following
Mishap

Luther Todd, of Cleveland avenue, an employee of the Continental Fibre Company, was severely injured Friday last while at work in the plant here. In some manner Todd got his left hand caught in a cutting machine. The blade severed the two middle fingers at the second joint.

Dr. Wallace M. Johnson was called and gave the injured man first aid treatment. He was sent to the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, Saturday, where surgeons sewed up the wounds.

Todd returned home from the hospital Monday and is resting comfortably at his home here.

OFF TO THE FAIR

Harrington Exhibits Draw Many
From Vicinity

A number of auto parties are planning to attend the Kent Sussex Fair at Harrington today, tomorrow and Friday. Some fast horse racing is promised by the entry lists. Auto racing will be the feature Saturday afternoon.

The staff of the Experiment Station here will be fully represented at the Fair. Those who are already in Harrington are: Miss Kathryn Woods, the State Home Demonstration Agent; Alex Cobb, head of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Delaware; Hoke S. Palmer, Poultry Extension expert; Edward Willim, County Club Agent, and Professor Detjen, of the Horticultural Department.

Prof. Detjen will judge the fruit exhibits at the fair.

Herman Tyson, Newark's premier reinsman, will have his full string of trotters and pacers on the track during the racing. Mr. Tyson is training his stable at Harrington and has entered several of his steppers in the stake races this week.

Judge Gray on the Mend

Former Judge George Gray, who was seriously ill for many weeks, at his home, Fourteenth and Market streets, Wilmington, has so far recovered that he is enjoying motor rides virtually every clear evening. He is gaining steadily in strength and weight, and is now regarded as having safely reached a convalescent stage.

Girls In New Positions

Miss Margaret Jarmon of this town has accepted a position as stenographer with the Equitable Life Insurance Company in their Wilmington offices, it was learned this week.

Miss Luetta Whitman, also of Newark, has been recently appointed to the post of general office assistant at the Leibowitz Brothers Department Store on Market street, Wilmington.

"Movie" Feature Plan For Sesqui, Commission Says

Story Of Delaware From The Days
Of The Settlers To Be Depicted
On Screen During Big Exposition
In Philadelphia

OTHER PROJECTS UNDER WAY

The wonderful story of Delaware from the time of the early settlers through the various periods of advancement of the State up to the present time will be told by a moving picture at the Sesqui-Centennial in Philadelphia next year, according to advices from J. C. Hastings. This is one of the features decided upon by the Sesqui-Centennial Commission of Delaware as a means of showing the hundreds of thousands of visitors to the Exposition the advantages enjoyed by residents of Delaware.

It will be a vivid picture story of Delaware's progress in the last 150 years. It will show on the screen the strides that have been made by the Diamond State from an industrial, agricultural and educational standpoint. This "movie" will also be one of great historic value and it is proposed to make it one that can be used as a text book for teaching the children of Delaware the true story of the advancement of their home state. In making the picture scenes will be taken in all parts of the state to properly portray the industrial, agricultural and educational activities of the state.

All of the plans have not been worked out as yet but the project will necessitate an expensive building at the Exposition grounds for showing the picture daily and also for exhibit space. It will probably be a building with a facade—a replica of one of the historical buildings of Delaware.

The Delaware Sesqui-Centennial Commission was created under an act of the last Legislature and consists of Senator J. G. Highfield of near Wilmington, chairman; Senator Charles W. Hardesty, of Dover, and Representative James C. Hastings, of Newark, secretary. The commission has a state appropriation of $25,000.

Community Chorus Is Feature Of Services

Summer School Entertainment Series
Comes To Close With Sunday Sermon And Music

The 1925 series of services associated with the University Summer School came to a close Sunday evening in Wolf Hall. A capacity audience from college circles and from the various churches of the community attended the services.

Rev. Benjamin Johns, pastor of Grace M. E. Church, Wilmington, delivered the sermon. Rev. Frank Herson, of Newark, presided and introduced Dr. Johns. The sermon was keenly enjoyed by the Newark folk. It was Dr. John's first visit to a Newark pulpit.

Sacred Concert Pleases

Over 100 men and women singers, making up the Community Chorus, under the direction of Miss Opal Wheeler, gave a delightful sacred concert prior to the sermon.

FORMER STUDENT HERE DEAD IN PITTSBURGH

Word has been received by friends here of the death of Richard E. Shouse, at Sewickley Heights, Pittsburgh, Pa., July 11, 1925.

Mr. Shouse was a landscape architect of considerable prominence, having been identified with the development of many of the large estates in Pittsburgh and Long Island, and with the irrigation projects in Idaho, Wyoming and Southern California. He enlisted at the outbreak of the war in the 2nd Division and was badly wounded in France. After his return he spent two years at the University of Delaware, but because of complete failing health, had to give up his work here. He made many friends during his stay at Newark.

ALL READY FOR CARNIVAL OPENING SATURDAY

THE FIRST CARNIVAL—BACK IN 1911

Place—Delaware College Campus, Main Street.

Date—August 2nd-5th, three nights and Saturday afternoon.

Scores of townspeople remember Aetna's first Carnival. It was a new wrinkle for Newark in those days. It was small and dainty, to be sure, but the first attempt netted the firemen $1500, a most amazing return.

They kept the fire horses and truck on the grounds during the Carnival. Tents and Japanese lanterns lent a garden party atmosphere to the scene. The women were in the forefront. Cake, candy, and fancy work overshadowed the blanket wheels, merry-go-round and Hot Dogs of today.

They had an auto parade in 1911, too. The late J. H. Hossinger's machine, won first prize. A score of chugging wagons took part. Horses reared on Main Street, but the parade went on. E. L. Richards, as Uncle Sam, made a great hit with his float. Miss Helen McNeal was Goddess of Liberty. Frank Fader and E. C. Wilson, the first Carnival chairman, also had notable entries.

Then there was Mrs. Jane Murray, of near Newark, who sang each night. Ringing the cane and hitting the babies comprised thrilling features.

Committee chairmen were as follows: E. C. Wilson, Lewis Cann, Mrs. Laura Paxson, Mrs. Wilson, Ethel Ferguson, Mrs. Perkins.

Thus the Aetna Carnival had its beginning. From that opening night in 1911, for fourteen years, it has been a feature of the community life here. It was an unheard of idea then. It is a fixture now.

Several In Hospitals On Wave Of Sickness

Others, Ill At Home, Reported Gradually Recovering; D. C. Rose Suffers With "Florida Fever"

Local physicians have been busy the past week combating a wave of sickness in the community. In addition to ailments suffered at home, a number of residents are in Wilmington hospitals undergoing treatment and recovering from operations.

David C. Rose, who has been ill in bed since last Thursday, is reported to be improving slowly. Alarm was felt over his condition over the week-end. Dr. Brown, a Baltimore specialist, went into consultation with Dr. J. R. Downes, physician attending the case, Sunday. Dr. Brown was of the opinion that Mr. Rose was suffering from "Florida fever," a form of malaria. It is believed that, barring complications, Mr. Rose's recovery will be assured. The fever attacks a number of northern visitors to the Garden State each year, and, according to Dr. Brown, is usually the result of staying too long in the climate.

Reports from the bedside this afternoon indicated a slight improvement in the patient's condition. Although still unable to take nourishment, he is resting comfortably and his family is somewhat encouraged.

Samuel J. Wright, who has been confined to his home with an injured knee, caused by a fall about a month ago, is reported to be recovering rapidly from the accident.

New Group For Camp

Misses Eleanor Townsend, Isabel Hutchinson and Louisa Medill, all of Newark, are spending this week in the Y. W. C. A. camp at Sandy Landing, near Dagsboro. Other Newark girls are expected to go to the camp for a week at a time before it closes.

Firemen To Parade

Singerly Fire Company has decided to participate in the parade on August 4, to be given at Rising Sun, by the firemen of that town. The local company will be accompanied by the Elkton Band.

HERONS COME TO LAKE

Ott W. Widdoes, sage of Sunset Lake, reported seeing a flock of five large white herons along the shores of the fishing dam a few days ago. Efforts will be made to keep the rare birds in this section unmolested.

TAKES SUMMER HOME

George L. Medill has leased a farm cottage near Westtown, Pa., for the month of August and will shortly remove his family there for the balance of the summer.

Minister On Outing

Rev. and Mrs. H. Everett Hallman will leave for a month's vacation on the 4th of August. Most of the time will be spent in the vicinity of Saratoga, N. Y., and points in Vermont.

Aetna Organization Expects Big Throng

Firemen's Night Next Thursday; To Be Featured By Parade Of Visiting
Companies For Prizes

1000 BLANKETS ARE ORDERED

A buzz of industry pervades the grounds on Academy street this week, as preparations are speeded along for the opening Saturday night of Newark's fourteenth annual Firemen's Carnival, destined to be one of the greatest in the history of the old company.

At present, practically all the booths are in place, the grounds have been wired and the Merry-Go-Round, that unique institution without which a Carnival could not function, arrived today from Lancaster. All the work is being done by members of the company during the early evening.

General Chairman John R. Fulton, and his aides, have worked out practically every detail connected with the affair which runs from Saturday, August 1st, to Saturday, August 8th, inclusive.

Over one thousand blankets, hundreds of lamps, thermo-jugs, overnight bags and novelties, and five hundred pounds of candy have been purchased for the various booths. Aluminum ware by the gross, ice cream by the hundreds of gallons and the irreplaceable "hot dog" by the mile, will be at hand for the throngs. Special parking rules about the Carnival grounds are being worked out. It is likely that Academy street will be closed to traffic every evening.

The schedule of band concerts had not been completed up until today. Mr. Fulton stated, however, that the Minnehaha Band will open the Carnival Saturday night.

Firemen Parade Thursday

On Thursday, August 6th, Firemen's Night will be celebrated with the Aetna boys hosts to scores of visitors.

Early in the evening a mammoth parade will be held, with at least a dozen companies in line and several bands. Following the parade the visitors will be guests of the town. Special arrangements for their comfort are being made.

To date the following companies have accepted Newark's invitation to parade Thursday night: Kennett Square, Oxford, North East, Middletown, Havre de Grace and Elkton. It is more than likely that Christiana, Five Points, Cranston Heights, Rising Sun and Avondale will be in the line of march.

Fire Chief William Lutz, Fire Marshal Ainscow and Deputy Chief Mulrooney will act as judges, said Mr. Fulton today. In their decision, no favor will be shown to equipment loaded with flowers or artificial decoration. The parade this year is designated as an exhibition of modern fire-fighting efficiency, and will be judged on that basis. Several prizes will be offered to the visiting delegations. Newark firemen, of course, will not enter the competition.

The Newark Carnival has been advertised extensively over the northern end of the State and adjoining States. With every entrance to town now an improved road, there is every reason to believe that a record breaking attendance will greet the opening of the event Saturday night.

HOME FOR VISIT

Young Newarker Making Splendid Record In Army

Paul P. Steel, eldest son of Mrs. Walt H. Steel, arrived in Newark late Friday night for a visit of at least a month. It is his first trip home since his enlistment in the Army over a year ago.

"Doc" is stationed at Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, and has steadily climbed from private to a non-commissioned officer berth. He has taken the examination for a reserve officer and is in direct line for a chance at the regular officers' exam. His success has been well merited. In addition to being a good soldier he has taken an active part in camp life and athletics, being one of the stars on the regimental track team.

Tomato Growers Plan Extensive Tour August 4

Delegation From This County Meets
At Newark; Join Others In Trip
Over Shore; Meeting At Bohemia

DR. MANN'S TO GIVE LECTURE

Tomato Day in Delaware and along the Eastern Shore of Maryland has been set for Tuesday, August 4, on which day more than a thousand growers will tour this section, visiting experimental plots, and at Bohemia Bridge, Md., listen to lectures delivered by three agriculturists and tomato specialists. Promoters of the tour are hoping to thereby bring about a great increase in tomato production throughout the Eastern Shore and Delaware, which until a few years ago was the greatest tomato producing area in the United States.

The principal tour will start from the post office in Dover at 9 o'clock on the morning of August 4. Growers from Camden, Wyoming, Harrington, Magnolia, Milford and other points in lower Kent county and in Sussex county will meet there and proceed northward under the direction of Russell E. Wilson, Kent county agent, and Edgar W. Montell, tomato promotional specialist. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Montell have jointly arranged the tour, the former in the interests of the growers and the latter in the interests of the co-operative and independent canning houses.

From Dover the tomato tourists will go to the experimental plots near Cheswold and Smyrna, which are being conducted with the assistance of the extension department of the University of Delaware. After an inspection of these fields, together with growers from upper Kent county, they will proceed across the tomato country of Kent county, Maryland, finishing their tour at the Frazier farm, Bohemia Bridge, just below Chesapeake City.

University of Maryland workers have been conducting experiments in tomato growing for many years on the Frazier farm. These test plots cover an area of about six acres, one section being devoted to hot bed early plants, another to southern-grown early plants, a third to variety tests and the remaining section to fertilizer tests.

After a luncheon, which will be served the growers without cost, the tourists will have the results of the experiments explained to them. Following this part of the program, A. D. Radebaugh, of the University of Maryland, a nationally known tomato specialist, will talk on "Seed and Plant Beds," Dr. T. F. Manns, of the University of Delaware, will deliver a lecture on "Tomato Culture," and Mr. H. F. Hall, canning company representative, will discuss "Early and Second Early Plants."

Besides those tourists starting out from Dover, other growers will join

THE MINNEHAHA BAND OF NEWARK

The Minneha Band will give the second of its series of weekly concerts tomorrow night at 7.30 o'clock, standard time, on the new bandstand at the Academy on Main street.

An attractive and interesting program has been arranged by Arthur Gray, director of the organization. Frequent rehearsals during the past few weeks have greatly benefited the band, and an evening of real music is expected.

Arrangements have been made for the placing of seats on the Academy lawn tomorrow night. In the past, most of the audience have been forced to stand along the pavement, patiently enduring the noise of traffic on Main street. It is believed that with the chairs in place, a large number of townspeople will attend the concert.

The Program

Director Gray's program for this week's concert follows:

"America" March—"Colonel Miners," Rosecrans

Comic Fantasia—"Brudde Garner's Picnic," Rollinson

Selection—"Maritana," W. B. Wallace

March—"Radio Pioneers," Lietz

Overture—"Scenes from Operaland," Al Hayes

Fox Trot—"O Katharina," Fall

Waltz—"Daughter of Love," C. W. Bennett

Selection—"Prince of Pilsen," Luders

Fox Trot—"At the End of the Road"

March—"We Americans"

Cecil Ministers Urge Jury Probe Of "Wedding Mill"

Delegation Referred to County Officials by Governor, Who Said He Could Do Nothing at Present in Case

Girl of 14 Wedded In Elkton Saturday

More ammunition for the ministers' fight against the so-called Elkton "marriage mill" was indicated early this week, when it was learned that Marie Jackson, of Wilmington, whom her parents claim is but 14 years of age, was married to William Burbage, also of that city, in the Cecil county seat Saturday afternoon. The marriage was said to have been performed by the Rev. Weaver. The parents of the girl got in touch with the Wilmington police upon receipt Saturday of a telegram from their daughter announcing the elopement. Desirous of taking action in the matter, the parents asked the police to investigate. It was then found that the wedding had taken place as announced and the couple had gone. The bride was four years under the legal age limit under State laws.

A grand jury investigation of the activities of ministers alleged to be running a "marriage mill" at Elkton, Md., will be requested by the Cecil County Ministers' Association, the Rev. J. Gilbert Lynn, president of the association said Friday, according to the Baltimore Sun.

Mr. Lynn made the announcement following a conference with Governor Ritchie.

With the Rev. J. W. Prettyman, vice-president, and the Rev. A. D. Stockbridge, secretary of the association, Mr. Lynn visited the Governor Friday to ask his aid in eliminating the alleged objectionable activities of certain ministers in Elkton.

Petition Given Ritchie

The delegation presented the Governor with a petition signed by 402 residents of Cecil county, requesting his assistance in ridding Cecil county of certain practices, "which are a travesty on the sacraments of God."

Mr. Stockbridge told the Governor that one minister in Elkton had entered into an agreement with bus owners by which the chauffeurs brought couples to him to be married. This minister, he said, charges $10. Of this, Mr. Stockbridge declared, the minister keeps $1 and gives $9 to the bus owners. This clergyman, it was asserted, was brought to Elkton about a year ago by the bus owners.

The Governor also was told that another minister had opened an office in one of the Elkton hotels and that it was in this place that he married couples.

To Consider Legislation

The delegation was told by the Governor that he could do nothing at present, but would consider recommending remedial legislation to the next Legislature.

Mr. Stockbridge said there was a State law which prohibited ministers from splitting fees. The Governor then suggested that the association go to the State's Attorney of Cecil county and ask him to lay the matter before the grand jury.

Churches Powerless, He Says

He explained that the enforcement of laws was a matter to be undertaken by the county officials. Mr. Prettyman replied that the county officials showed little disposition to enforce the laws in this instance. Governor Ritchie said he did not know of the law referred to and the delegation admitted it only had heard of its existence.

It finally was agreed among members of the group that the matter would be laid before the State's Attorney in the county. They said the churches could take no action against the offending ministers. It was explained that an ordained minister has the authority to officiate at marriages whether he has a church or not.

Harry C. Sniderman, of Perryville, an extra agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Miss E. Pearl Mowery, of Lancaster, Pa., surprised their many friends on Monday when they came to Elkton and were married by Rev. W. G. Harris, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church. They will reside in Perryville.

Gets Try-Out In Easton

"Jack" Woolman, star slugger on the Elkton Tri-County League team, was in Easton one day last week, where he was given a try-out by Manager "Buck" Herzog, manager of the Eastern Shore League team. Woolman has been playing great ball for the Elkton club and a bright future is predicted for him by his friends.

Stomach Trouble Grips Communities

The Marshallton and Richardson Park communities are being visited with an epidemic of stomach trouble, according to reports early this week.

More than a score of people are reported ill, but none seriously. It is not known definitely what is causing the outbreak of sickness.

Locals

A number of Elkton Odd Fellows motored to Frederick, Md., Sunday, and attended the dedication of the Maryland Odd Fellows House for the Aged and Orphans which has been erected at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars.

Elkton Town Council has just finished laying sewer on "Pumphouse Lane" and one is now being laid on East Main street from the Gilpin property to Farr creek, and one on East High street extending from North street to West Main street and Lot's Lane.

A. V. DAVIS LEAVES ELKTON PULP WORKS

Head of Bleach Plant to Enter Radio Sales Field Soon; Successor Named.

A Victor Davis, superintendent of the bleaching plant of the Jessup and Moore pulp mill in Elkton, resigned his position there last week, and it is reported, will enter the radio business. "Vic" as he is familiarly known in the county seat, has been connected with the pulp firm for about eight years. In addition he has taken an active interest in affairs of the town, and has a host of friends. He was one of the early variety of radio bugs in the town, and is considered no mean authority on the eccentricities of the various types. He has built and rebuilt dozens of machines in the past few years.

Mr. Davis will become associated with Dr. Ralph Morgan in the latter's attractive radio store on Main street.

Tobias Rudolph, a former Elkton boy, has been appointed to the position left vacant by Mr. Davis at the pulp mill.

ELKTON CHANGES

Old Post Office To Be Occupied By Insurance Co.

Two important changes are being made these days to the business section of Elkton.

The old McIntire building at North and High streets, is being completely remodelled inside and fitted up for the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Cecil County, which firm will occupy it in the near future.

The insurance headquarters will be moved there from the Mechanics Hall building further down North street. This latter structure is being refurnished for Jacob Rubenstone, the new owner, who will conduct his furniture business there. A new outside entrance to a group of second floor offices in the building is also being erected.

Contractor Walter C. Miller is in charge of the Mechanics Hall work, while William P. Stephens is remodeling the former post office building for the Mutual Company.

Elkton Lodge Notes

Messrs. Charles W. King and William B. Merrey will represent Washington Camp P. O. S. of A. of Elkton at the annual State Camp to be held at Hampstead, Frederick county, on August 4. The Camp has also made a donation of $10 towards the Elkton Athletic Field.

St. Georges Agog Over P. O. Fight; Huxtable Winner

Backers of Fred Sutton for Federal Post in Canal Town Offer Arguments; New Appointee Has Strong Supporters

HISTORY OF CASE TOLD

Although the fight is over as far as the town is concerned, St. Georges, along the C. and D. canal near here, is still in the throes of argument, carried forward by the momentum and dust kicked up by the recent struggle for the possession of the Post Office job there.

Fred Huxtable, a barber by trade, and not asleep when it comes to politics, was adjudged the winner of the bout for the postmastership and received his commission dated July 11th, taking charge Monday evening of this week.

The other leading candidate was Frederick Sutton, son of the late postmaster there, and popular with the townspeople. The storm of the discussion centered about these two men. In commenting on the affair, a Wilmington daily says:

"With Huxtable's victory many of the residents of St. Georges throw up their hands in disgust, for the change is unpopular—very unpopular. Not that Fred Huxtable, as a man, is disliked, but there are other reasons, in the opinion of the townspeople, why Frederick Sutton, assistant to his father and acting postmaster when his father crossed the Great Divide, should have been allowed to retain the office."

In the first place, there is the matter of civic pride. St. Georges, they admit, is a small town, but there is no valid excuse for making it appear smaller than it is. Fred Sutton, druggist, ice cream purveyor, lunch room proprietor and auto accessory dealer, has the postoffice on Front street, the main thoroughfare of the town. Fred Huxtable, it was announced, will establish the office on Church street, known locally as Back street, removed from the business center of the community. A step backward, indignant townsmen exclaim.

Sutton Knows the Job

Next for the consideration is the matter of fairness. Fred Sutton has been interested in the postoffice of St. Georges for many years, as assistant to his father. When the elder Sutton died, in the latter part of last

MRS. MARY E. TULL

Mrs. Mary E. Tull, widow of Robert F. Tull, died at her home in Elkton on Tuesday morning, after an illness of two weeks, aged 77 years. Mrs. Tull was the last of one of Elkton's oldest families, being a sister of the late Dr. Charles M. Ellis, a well-known physician and for a number of years president of the National Bank of Elkton. She was a member of the Elkton Methodist Episcopal Church, and in early life was active in church circles. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Richard Reese, of Wilmington, and Miss Roberta Tull, of Washington, D. C., and two sons, Charles N. Tull and Rudolph Tull. Funeral services will be held at her late residence on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with interment in Elkton Cemetery.

LAD BREAKS LEG

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Andrews, of Elkton, while playing on the sliding board at the playgrounds Tuesday afternoon, broke his leg. It is said the youngster jumped off the board while sliding down the incline.

spring, Fred took over his father's duties and continued the office pending the appointment of a new postmaster. On July 10, 1924, when the Postoffice Department held an examination for applicants for the position, two men responded. One was Fred Sutton, who passed with a mark of 82.80. The other was John F. Nelson, who did not reach the 70 per cent requirement.

"Sutton's name was then certified as the only eligible, but the Postoffice Department returned the certificate, requesting a list of three eligibles from which to make a selection. On January 17, 1925, Fletcher B. Nelson took the examination, emerging with a rating of 63.60, and Sutton's name was again certified on March 3 as the only eligible. The department was then informed that in the event it did not wish to appoint Sutton, the vacancy could be filled by appointment on the recommendation of a postoffice inspector.

Huxtable Wins, Hands Down

"On April 16 the case was submitted to an inspector and he visited the little community, combing the entire place for eligibles. After covering the situation from every angle, the inspector made his report, recommending two men. One was Sutton, the other was Huxtable.

"On another point the St. Georges score. Their town, they claim, under the regime of Sutton, has had a postoffice service that could not be found in any other community in the United States, from New York City to Rocky Point, N. C. Three hundred and sixty-five days in the year the office has been open, from 7:30 o'clock in the morning until the darkness of midnight had settled over the town."

But Huxtable is not without his friends. The town barber has many strong supporters who believe that the Federal plum has been in the hands of the Suttons long enough, and a change would freshen up the town a bit. One Huxtable roofer has offered the new appointee the use of a vacant lot on the main street for nothing, in order to appease those who object to the moving of the office to a back thoroughfare.

NOT AMERICAN

In his Memorial Day address, President Coolidge struck at the root of a rapidly growing evil in the administration of government in Our Country. If the states are to preserve rights guaranteed them by the constitution, they must perform the duties necessitated by these rights. The President said:

"The individual, instead of working out his own salvation and securing his own freedom by establishing his own economic and moral independence by his own industry and his own self-mastery, tends to throw himself on some vague influence, which he denominates society, and to hold that in some way responsible for the sufficiency of his support and the morality of his actions. The local political units likewise look to the States, the States to the Nation and the Nations are beginning to look to some vague organization, some nebulous course of humanity to pay their bills and tell them what to do.

"This is not local self-government. It is not American. It is not the method which has made this country what it is. We cannot maintain the western standards of civilization on that theory. If it is supported at all, it will have to be supported on the principle of individual responsibility."

PRACTICAL FORESTRY FOR DELAWARE

The Milford Chronicle in its last issue made the practical suggestion for Forestry in Delaware. Scarcity of timber has long been a subject of discussion and warning that have been unrecognized and unheeded. Only during the last few years, has seriousness been admitted. President Roosevelt in his Country Life Commission started a survey that has revealed facts that challenge those who look to the future.

The solution that was practical and at the same time easy of accomplishment has not been forthcoming. The Chronicle has struck an idea that can with little effort and money, do much.

We present the editorial to our readers. With the leadership of our State Farm and a little capital, the idea will spread. The editorial suggestion of The Chronicle follows:

"The State of Delaware needs to have effort made to increase planting of walnut and other hard wood trees, by owners of farms generally. It is a fact, that on each farm in Delaware there are several places where trees of the black walnut variety, hickory, oak and other kinds of hard wood trees, can be placed without obstructing the management of the farms. It is well known that the supply of hard wood forests is about exhausted in the State of Delaware. As the prices of this kind of timber advance, each farm can be made a source of supply to the advantage of the owners of land. We have a State Board of Agriculture and an experimental farm available for plans and as a source to supply the farmers with young trees each planting season; also we have Forestry Laws to assist in the development of this interest, which is vital to the people of Delaware; especially those who will be active in the affairs of Delaware products and sources of revenue in the years to come. Aside from the value of the wood, trees of these varieties enhance the value of farms as shade and in landscape effects, of far greater importance than the ornamental trees now popular. The State Agricultural Department of Delaware should supply seedlings trees for planting on Arbor Days, free of cost, sent postpaid by mail, to schools, farmers and citizens in the State of Delaware. This is no experiment, for it has been worked out and is in effect in the State of Michigan in one of the Normal Schools. Delaware has the Agricultural Department and the State Experimental Farm to work with in this new departure, and above all, Delaware has the urgent need that such action be taken to restore in considerable measure the growth of hard wood trees and the oak forests, which have been cut ruthlessly by the lumber speculators, until the end of the hardwood forests is at hand. This can be accomplished by starting an interest in planting in a small way, by land owners generally and means growth of trees that will in the next decade be growing money for those who then own the land and assure a supply of hard wood for manufacturing purposes."

THE SUMMER SCHOOL

This week the Summer School will close. No comment of ours is of any merit except perchance as that of a nearby observer of Summer Schools since their beginning. The one this year is, without doubt, the most successful in its history. We base this comment on what we hear from students who have attended the various leading Summer Schools in the East, who are now with us, on comments from the staff of teachers and from comments of the community. The teaching, the entertainment, the new Library facilities have all received more than usual praise. And not unimportant is the favorable comment of the community on the conduct of those who have been here during the past few weeks.

It is difficult to estimate the true value of this course, but certain it is that the teachers, by their association and training here, will carry back to their communities and schools much that is really worth while, and will bring the public school system just that much closer to the University, which is a vital factor in our educational problem. Director Wilkinson and his staff are receiving unusual praise, and comments that do not reach their ears are much more favorable than we have yet heard.

Congratulations to all of those associated with this Summer School for teachers in Delaware. We can voice the sentiment of this community when we say that we have appreciated their attendance and are sorry to have them go, and extend them a hearty welcome and our best hospitality that they come again next year, bringing with them the thought and sentiment of their community to exchange for that brought by their associates. In our judgment no more important work is being done today in the State than at the Summer School.

"Good Roads, Flowers, Parks, Better Schools, Trees, Pure Water, Fresh Air, Sunshine and Work for Everybody"—OUR MOTTO

HOW THEY TRAVELLED 25 YEARS AGO

(From The Oxford Press, May 3, 1900)

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Kirkpatrick, Philadelphia, arrived in Oxford Sunday evening on a gasoline locomobile. They came from Baltimore that forenoon, making the distance, (60 mi.) in about eight hours, and stopped at the Oxford Hotel over night. Monday morning Mr. Kirkpatrick proceeded to load the motive parts of the "loco" before starting. The tank beneath the footboard was filled with gasoline, capacity less than three gallons. Then he pumped the rubber tires full of air until they were dead stiff. This part, that part, all parts were examined and a match applied to the igniter of the little engine beneath the body of the vehicle, when a burst of flame spread suddenly and seemed to fire the entire under part of the outfit. Water was handy, however, and the fire extinguished after some effort. When everything was in apple pie order Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick stepped aboard and guiding the vehicle went out the Lincoln road and in a few minutes were out of sight. The "loco" went up and down the grades like a great bird on a billowy sea.

HOW LIVING HAS ADVANCED IN AMERICA

Some astonishing figures as to the variation of the cost of living during the past century have been unearthed by the Department of Agriculture. Eggs at three cents a dozen, ham at seven cents a pound and whiskey at twenty-five cents a gallon were staple in the United States at one time. But this was many years ago.

It is a matter of record that Caleb Hitchcock, a merchant of Perry County, O., purchased from Holten Majors, a farmer, thirty-five dozen eggs at three cents a dozen and sold to him two gallons of whiskey at twenty-five cents a gallon. But this happened in 1860.

The records further show that Hugh Maney, of Lake City, Miss., in 1848, sold ninety-eight pounds of raw cotton at eight and one-half cents a pound. In 1860 corn in Minnesota sold for thirty cents a bushel and wheat for seventy-five cents a bushel. In 1846 in Chester county, Ill., ham sold for seven cents a pound, beef two and one-half cents a pound and stove wood $1 a cord.

In 1848 in Charles county, Md., two pounds of chewing tobacco sold for thirty cents. In 1834, in Cleveland, Ohio, corn sold for from fifteen cents to twenty cents a bushel and wheat from fifty cents to sixty cents. During the same year in Morgan county, Ill., cows sold for from $10 to $20 and live hogs at two cents a pound.

ANOTHER ONE GETS AWAY

John B. Miller was having a fine time hooking trout at Bower's last week. Suddenly he apparently had a locomotive tugging at his line. John serenely allowed the Big Boy 150 yards of line. Came time to check him. An instant's tangle at the reel, a hand misplaced, and the biggest drum fish Mr. Miller had ever seen, tore free in the bay.

He's fished for years to get his "drum", has Mr. Miller. This time he had him good and proper. One little slip and a Dream was shattered. He patiently re-baited and caught more trout.

In spite of the way they are tightening up on the rum runners it is still more dangerous to consume moonshine than to produce it.

College Students Boost Merchants

Not a little interesting is the following report recently published in Chestertown, Maryland, a small college town about forty miles from New York:

"Washington College Department of Commerce has compiled statistics showing the value of the institution to the business interests of the community. On a basis of an enrollment of 110 students for a period of thirty-three weeks, it is shown that the sum of $19,614.21 was spent in the stores of the town, which is an average of $178.53 per student for the time. Each week of the thirty-three the 110 students spent $594.37, or an average of $5.41 per student per week. The six items of purchase upon which the computation is based were: drugs, $346.50; food, $4,622.31; clothes, $8,136.81; transportation, $913.26; luxuries, $3,674.22. Upon these figures President Titworth has made a strong appeal to the business interests of the community to co-operate with the college authorities in the drive now being made to increase the enrollment at the college next year to at least two hundred students."

Teachers' Examinations

The State Board of Education will hold teachers' examination on Friday, August 7th, and Saturday, August 8th, in the following centers:

For white teachers—No. 1 School, Wilmington; Dover High School; Georgetown High School; Seaford High School.

For colored teachers—Dover Colored School.

Candidates may take the examinations at the centers most convenient to them.

Students Make Survey Of State Farm Homes

Class at Summer School Compiles Interesting Report Upon Careful Investigation; One-third of Rural Homes Have Autos, Probe Shows

The following interesting report is the result of an investigation conducted by Miss Beverley's class in Rural Life, at the University Summer School here.

The investigation has been under way for some time, and has for the most part, rested upon the shoulders of the students. In addition to ascertaining the exact conditions in rural homes, the class has studied methods for the improvement of conditions not of the best.

The report follows:

One of the fundamental institutions of American farm life is the home. Since farming is the basic industry and since our greatest rural problem is to keep a standard people on the farms, we are forced to realize that the rural home problem is a serious one and one which needs immediate attention.

The problem can be approached through no better channel than the rural school, which is at present in most sections of Delaware, the most vital force in the community. Since the rural teacher is usually the leader, a study of this problem will enable the teachers to return to their different fields of labor with a deeper knowledge, a broader vision and a higher ideal, thereby using every means at their disposal to render their best service in helping to make every farm house a home.

May the 10,000 farm homes in Delaware make an earnest appeal for a richer life and may the teachers heed this appeal by consecrated service.

A number of projects have been studied in connection with this better farm home and they are as follows:

1. The House Itself (Inside and Out). This included location of the farm home, outside appearance, kind of a house and inside arrangement. The report was made by Misses Nattie E. Short, Eva E. Hudson and Ruth A. Brittingham.

Conveniences

2. Conveniences. A great many homes of rural Delaware are without any kind of modern conveniences, while a number have a generous supply and a very few enjoy almost all the up-to-date methods of lighting, heating, cooking and general living.

The exact numbers are, as follows:

One-half have telephones, two-thirds have automobiles, one-third have electric lights, one-half have oil stoves for summer cooking, two-thirds use rugs instead of the old germ-filled carpets, one-third use cleaning devices, one-third have running water in the house, one-third have refrigerators and two-thirds have organs, pianos or victrolas.

A small number have homes heated from the cellar.

Remedies for this condition were made by Mrs. Blanche Carpenter and Miss Evelyn F. Cavendar.

3. The Family. The spiritualized life of any home is the only true measure of its worth. Household slavery is not now considered real home-making, therefore there is a need for better home management which will require less time, strength and money. There should also be interesting reading material and music in the home for both young and old; opportunities for social gatherings and recreation that will help lead the minds of the people from the monotony of the farms and make home life richer, fuller and happier.

A solution of the problem in the home by reading, games, music either produced by the family or radio programs; and a combination of Farm Bureau was suggested by Virginia Smith.

4. Food. As conditions exist in the home there is a lack of knowledge of food values, poor cooking, lack of conservation and poor school lunches.

Mrs. Lillian B. Clark and Miss Jennie E. Smith suggest that the teacher instruct the mothers in these things.

5. Clothing. Miss Bernice Hendricks in her report said that the main things to teach the farm-mother were: Better selection and buying of clothing; the relation of clothing to health; how to plan the family wardrobe, and the care of clothing.

Farm Economy

6. The Economy of Modern Farm Home. The economic condition of most rural homes has not yet developed as rapidly as it might have. Wiser management of the household is necessary to bring about better economic conditions. The housewife must learn to purchase the kind of food and clothing that are best suited to the needs of her particular family. The lack of these are often due to unwise buying rather than lack of finances, says Edna Short.

7. Relations of the Farm Home to Church and School. The Rural Teacher's Part in the Plan of Rural Home Improvements. (1) The church and school should develop to meet the needs of the home. (2) There should be a regeneration of rural social institutions. (3) Teachers should be prepared to attack the rural problems. (4) A survey should be made of conditions. (5) Practical suggestions on improvement should be made to the parents by the teacher. This problem was worked out by the Misses Mary I. Johnson and Blanche J. Smith.

TOUR WILL BE AID TO COUNTY POULTRYMEN

Farm records taken in a typical Delaware community by the University of Delaware show that out of 65 farms 36 farms had poultry and egg receipts less than $200; 14 farms had poultry and egg receipts between $200 and $400 and 9 farms had poultry and egg receipts over $400. There was some variation in the size of the flocks on these farms but generally the flocks ran rather uniform in size ranging from 150 to 200 birds. According to R. O. Bausman, County Agricultural Agent, this differential in poultry and egg receipts is due largely to the fact that some flocks were managed better than others. The fundamental points in poultry flock management will be discussed on the farm of Mahlon P. Lee of Hoekessin by Mr. H. S. Palmer, Extension Poultryman of the University of Delaware.

An Iowan is said to have gained international fame by shaking hands with the kind of Engand, but we doubt whether this will get him many votes if he goes back home and runs for Congress.

German professors are said to have discovered two new elements and doubtless the French politicians will detect a plot in this somewhere.

Britain, France and Germany are trying to get a peace agreement so that they can wind up the watch on the Rhine.

"Do Horses Weep?" Oft Discussed Question Settled By Local Woman's Experience

Do horses weep?

Some say they do; others say they don't. And there you are.

Those of the community who have lived long enough to remember when horses were in the ascendancy, and autos were called "devil wagons," will be interested to know more about the above question.

Mrs. J. W. Suddard, living near Newark on the Cooch's Bridge road, sends in a communication relative to the matter at hand. She says:

"The Army Chemical Warfare Service, New York, announced that gas masks had been developed for carrier pigeons, dogs and horses. The masks for horses and mules cover the upper jaw only, as horses never breathe through the mouth, neither do they cry, so the eyes need no covering against tear gas.

"I do not know about breathing through the mouth, but I do know that they cry. We bought a beautiful bay mare from one of our prominent business men when we first came to Delaware. She had a colt at her side. After she was brought to our stable without her colt, I often went out and found her with tears streaming down her face. I felt so sorry for poor Lady, for that was her name, she was one of the finest horses I ever rode behind, I will never forget her.

"Yes, horses do cry." We all can remember some particularly affectionate horses, and many with almost human tendencies. It would be, therefore, interesting to know of any other incident which might further the above discussion between Mrs. Suddard and the Chemical Warfare Service.

MEGARY

For The Modest Home That Would Be Well Furnished—

This August Sale offers exceptional values.

There's Bedroom and Living-room and Dining-room furniture here, thousands of dollars worth that's unusually low priced. It's furniture whose cost fits the pocketbook of most of us, furniture whose good looks and quality is not to be measured by it's low price.

For example the Living-room suites. They range in price from $150.00 to $700.00 the suite. But most of them are marked from $175.00 to $300.00.

There's a suite of three pieces, davenport, chair and wing-chair, made with a full webbing construction and filled with clean moss and cotton. It is covered in blue and walnut velour and cut-velvets, with reversible cushions. It is a very attractive suite and priced this month at $175.00. A similar suite in a fine deep cut jacquard is $216.00. There are a number of suites in cut-velvets, and jacquards, some with the cushions covered in contrasting materials, ranging in price from $240.00 to $300.00.

There is a special Bedroom suite in combination walnut, in either the light French or darker American walnut finish, with a roomy dresser, a wardrobe fitted with hangers and sliding trays. The bed is of the bow-end style and there is a very attractive full-size, long-mirrored vanity case. The suite is set off with a dark wood over-lay, and gold striped. This special suite is marked $175.00 for four pieces. There are some twenty other suites that are likewise moderately priced, in combination American walnut at $158.00, $198.00, $234.00, $250.00 and $300.00 the suite.

You'll find among the Dining-room suites two exceptional values. One has a sixty-inch buffet, with mahogany interior, silver tray, and deep cupboards, a rectangular table, a closed serving table, and a semi-inclosed china-closet. The Chairs are covered in leather or tapestry. This suite is in combination American walnut, gold striped, and is marked, for the ten pieces $202.10. The second suite is of a similar design, also in combination American walnut, with a larger buffet, table and china-closet. This suite is marked $216.00 the suite of ten pieces. A third suite, with sixty-six inch buffet, mahogany interior, the chairs covered in a blue-gold damask, is marked $292.00 the suite of ten pieces. These are but three suites picked at random from our stock, and there's a dozen others to choose from, ranging in price up to $450.00, particularly suited for the dining-room that would be well furnished at the lowest cost.

National Figures Attended School In Old Academy Here Years Ago

This Week's Installment Of "Newark Past And Present"
Relates Little Known Facts About Famous Old Building
In Main Street.

NEWARK ACADEMY

NEWARK ACADEMY, one of the oldest institutions of learning on the Peninsula, if not the oldest, was established at this place in 1767. Previous to that time, the Rev. Francis Alison, a Presbyterian minister from the north of Ireland, who was the pastor of the New London Presbyterian church, ten miles northwest of Newark, in 1741, had established a school in the midst of his congregation. In 1743 the Synod of Philadelphia adopted Mr. Alison's school as its own, having sent to Europe to secure assistance to carry it on. Dr. Alison held the position of Rector of this academy until 1752, when he was appointed Vice Provost and Professor of Moral Philosophy, in the Philadelphia Academy, now the University of Pennsylvania. He was succeeded by the Rev. Alexander McDowell, who removed the academy first to "Elk river," now Rock church, and fifteen years later to Newark. In 1769 Newark Academy was again chartered as an institution of learning, by Thomas and Richard Penn, proprietors of Pennsylvania and the lower counties.

In 1773 Rev. Dr. Ewing and Dr. Hugh Williamson were sent to England and Scotland, to secure funds for the academy. They were quite successful, and through the means secured by them, and the generous assistance of the Penns and others, a very substantial building was paid for, and the basis of its present endowment formed. Dr. Rush, the celebrated physician of Philadelphia, after the Revolutionary war, also assisted the Institution financially. During that war it has generally been thought that the academy was closed. But this is only partially correct, for the proceedings of the Board of Trustees show that on the 22d of June, 1785, "an account was exhibited by Mr. John Bratton, who had been a teacher in the academy in 1776 and 1777," and a balance due him for such services was allowed him of 29£ 11s 6d, the amount certified by Mr. Robert Davidson, who was during those years rector of the institution. The proceedings of the Board also show that on October 16th, 1783, the following resolution was passed: "The Trustees taking into consideration the meritorious conduct of Mr. William Thompson, the present teacher of the scholars in their academy, in undertaking that employment for near three years past, under many discouragements, and the small compensation he has had for his services, have unanimously agreed to allow him the sum of fifty pounds, as a gratuity on that account, to be paid as soon as the same can be collected by the treasurer."

It thus appears that during parts of the years 1776 and 1777, and 1780 and 1781, the academy was carried on. But it is undoubtedly true that for two or three years during the Revolutionary struggle, probably between the years 1777 and 1781, the academy building was used for the manufacturing of shoes for the Continental army under General Washington. This structure was a good sized, solid building made of stone; the upper part for years was dedicated to the teaching of the elementaries, English branches generally and arithmetic, whilst the classics were taught in the room below. Tradition says that at some period during the war for Independence, shots were fired from the old school building at some British troops, and that in revenge the English opened with artillery and sent several cannon balls through the building. The old Platt house, which was torn down only a few years ago, and which stood a short distance north of the academy, bore marks of bullets which were probably made on this occasion. Unfortunately the minutes of the Board of Trustees kept before and during the Revolutionary war, were lost during that struggle. A new minute book was procured in 1783, and the following is a portion of the first entry made therein:

WILMINGTON, 5 June, 1783.

In consequence of previous notice the Trustees of the Academy of Newark met at this place:

PRESENT:

Rev. Dr. John Ewing, Rev. William McKennan, Rev. Thomas Read, Mr. John McKinly, General Sam'l Patterson, Mr. James Mease, Mr. John Thomson.

ABSENT

Rev. Mat. Wilson, Rev. Joseph Montgomery, Mr. Chas. Thomson, Hon. Thos. McKean, Hon. John Evans.

Dr. Ewing laid before the Board an account of the money belonging to the fund in his hands, which is as follows:

Continental Certificates, for $1200, dated March 26, 1777,	450	0	0
Continental Certificates for $2000, dated 8th November, 1779, equal in specie,	31	4	2
Continental Certificates for $3500, of different dates, equal in specie to	36	10	1 1/2
Dr. Rush's bond, £200 principal, about ten years interest, about	300	0	0
Dr. Warren's bond, £113 principal, with interest	200	0	0
Dr. Francis Alison's bond, £50 principal, with interest	80	0	0
Legacy from Samuel Scott's estate (supposed)	25	0	0
Due in part of a house sold £1000, Continental money, September, 1779, equal to	52	0	0
	£1275	4	3 1/2

"Ordered that the Certificates be delivered to the treasurer, General Patterson.

"The business of the academy having been interrupted some years by the war, the trustees now resolve to carry it on as extensively as their circumstances will admit, and therefore, for the present, agree to employ in the capacity of their principal teacher, Mr. William Thomson, till the next meeting. His excellency N. Van Dyke, the Reverend Messrs. James Latta and John McCreary, the Honorable James Latimer and Colonel Richard Cantwell were unanimously elected Trustees, and General Patterson is requested to acquaint them with the same. * * * Dr. Ewing is appointed to have it published in the Pennsylvania newspapers, that the Newark Academy is revived, and will be carried on as formerly."

At a meeting of the trustees, held October 6th, 1785, it appears that though the academy had lost considerable funds during the war, they still had $6700.74 in the treasury, and some outstanding notes and bonds. Mr. Thompson continued in charge of the academy until 1794, when he resigned, and a Mr. Johnston was appointed in his place. From this date until 1811, the school did not flourish, and indeed part of the time was entirely closed. Part of the time Rev. Francis Hindman was principal, but the trustees becoming dissatisfied with his conduct removed him, after a hot discussion.

In 1811 Rev. Andrew K. Russell was appointed principal. Under his administration it greatly improved, and whilst he occupied this position, the project of organizing a college was formed, and to a great extent carried out. In 1834 the academy was merged into Delaware College, first known as Newark College, and a deed was made by the Trustees of the Academy of the buildings, etc., to the Trustees of Delaware College, January 15th, 1874.

On the 4th day of May, 1869, the Trustees of Delaware College, deeded back to the Trustees of Newark Academy, the buildings, &c. By virtue of the power especially conferred by a special act, passed by the Delaware Legislature on January 27th, 1835, the only surviving trustees of the old Board resumed their functions September 29th, 1869, and elected the following gentlemen as trustees: Rathmel Wilson, John W. Evans, James H. Ray, George G. Kerr, Walter E. Turner, William Reynolds, Edward R. Wilson, David J. Murphy, George G. Evans and Charles W. Blandy. The venerable Judge, Honorable Willard Hall, and William T. Read, the two surviving trustees, made this election. Professor E. D. Porter took charge and for years under his control the institution was carried on with varied success, but most of the time with a fair number of students.

In 1873 Miss Hannah Chamberlain was elected principal, and it was decided to admit girls. She was an able and conscientious instructress. In 1877, Rev. J. L. Polk was appointed principal, and under his administration, the affairs of the academy have prospered in the most satisfactory manner.

Old School Sheltered Great Men

It is probable that over 5,000 boys have been educated at this venerable institution, many of them afterwards becoming distinguished, and most of them valuable and useful citizens. Among some of the most prominent were Chas. Thompson, Esq., Secretary of the first Congress; Rev. Dr. John Ewing, Provost of the University of Pennsylvania; Dr. David Ramsey, the historian; Dr. Hugh Williamson; Captain Kirkwood, the Revolutionary hero; Rev. Dr. James Latta, eminent as a divine and teacher; Thomas McKean, Governor of Pennsylvania; George Read and James Smith, distinguished jurists, and the last three signers of the Declaration of Independence. Many gentlemen of distinction now living were students of this academy, many in this and other states. Perhaps it would be invidious to speak of these, but it may not be improper to mention that among them are Hon. David Davis, acting Vice-President of the United States; Dr. D. Hayes Agnew, the eminent surgeon of Philadelphia; George Alfred Townsend, the distinguished journalist, and Hon. John W. Houston, ex-member of Congress, who has long been an eminent jurist in our own State. There is scarcely an old family name of the peninsula, which cannot be found in the academy catalogues. Reeds, Rodneys, Bayards, Claytons, Spruances, Blacks, Causeys, Pearces, McKeanes, Harringtons, Higgins, McLanes, Groomes, Constables, Graysons, Purnells, Wootens, Grays and Whiteleys are names which frequently appear upon the roll, and in some instances three generations of the same family are represented.

The following is a list of the principals from the opening of the School to the present time: Rev. Dr. Allison, Rev. Alexander McDowell, Mr. William Thompson, Mr. Johnston, Rev. John Waugh, Rev. Francis Hindman, Rev. A. K. Russell, Mr. Thomas Madden, Mr. N. Z. Graves, Professor Wm. S. F. Graham, Mr. W. W. Ferris, Rev. Matthew Meigs, Mr. J. W. Weston, Rev. Whitman Peck, Professor E. D. Porter, Miss Hannah Chamberlain and Joseph L. Polk. The present condition of the academy is most prosperous.

Youngsters in Premium Competition at Harrington Fair

UNIVERSITY HAS OWN BUILDING

One of the real features of the annual Kent-Sussex Fair which opened at Harrington yesterday for a five-day run, is the exhibit of the Extension Department of the University of Delaware, including the competitive exhibits of members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs and educational exhibits arranged by the county agents and specialists of the department.

Approximately $1,000 has been offered in premiums by the directors of the fair for exhibits of articles made or grown by boys and girls who are members of agricultural or home making clubs. These exhibits include clothing, canned fruit and vegetables, bread, corn, potatoes, soy beans, pigs, calves and poultry.

Going to the fair is the crowning event of the year for most of the 1,000 club members of the state, and the boys have been putting in the last few weeks grooming their pigs and calves, selecting their fanciest corn and potatoes, and the girls have been putting neat stitches in their dresses and canning choice products from the garden and orchard.

Yesterday and today picked teams from the organized clubs of the state competed in judging contests for the honor of representing their clubs at the Junior Short Course at the University of Delaware. Expenses of these winners while at the Short Course will be paid by the Fair Association.

Exhibit County Work

The county agents of the state have a combined exhibit featuring

Amateur Crabbers Have Little Luck

Although the wharves and canal locks at Delaware City were thronged with crabbing parties Sunday, small catches were reported. The waters near the entrance to the canal have for many years been the Mecca for crab fishermen. This season, however, has been the worst in the memory of many old residents.

Crabs are selling at Delaware City for 75 cents a dozen; not many years ago, they were so plentiful that many parties coming into the wharves gave away dozens of them to on-lookers rather than see them go to waste.

some of the work they are doing in each county including some of the results of farm management surveys, and modern methods of improving farm crops and controlling insect and disease pests.

A section of the exhibit under the supervision of Miss Kathryn E. Woods, State Home Demonstration Agent, features exhibits of several women's club groups.

Occupy New Quarters

The University of Delaware exhibit occupies new quarters this year in the building previously used as a restaurant. The fair management has remodeled the building for temporary use for this purpose.

According to A. D. Cobb, State Leader of County Agents, who has general supervision of the extension exhibits, a new feature of particular interest to poultry growers is an educational exhibit featuring several fundamental practices in successful poultry raising. This exhibit was planned by H. S. Palmer, recently employed as Poultry Extension Specialist, and will demonstrate methods of culling hens for egg production, and the value of meat scraps in the ration. Mr. Palmer will be in charge of this exhibit and will be glad to meet and talk with all poultry growers.

Newark Woman Recalls Murder Mystery Related In "Newark Past And Present" Series

Mrs. C. S. Brekaw, Years After Mattie Polk Tragedy, Throws Light On Affair In Letter To The Post; Says Old Slave Knew The Facts

To Editor of The Post:

Seeing in your issue of last week of the murder of Miss Mattie Polk many years ago, recalls to my mind a little incident in her life often related by my grandmother, Rachel Kennedy, depicting her wonderful integrity.

She (Mattie) was a devout member of Rock Presbyterian Church near Fair Hill, Md., of which my grandmother was also a member. On a certain Sabbath Mattie forgot her usual penny. She stepped over to grandmother's pew and said, "Rachel have you a penny?" Rachel had and Mattie placed it on the collection plate, remarking "I'll pay it back to you." Grandmother protested she did not want her to, but to her amazement the next morning (Monday) Mattie appeared at her door when they were at breakfast (and that was pretty early those days) saying "Rachel, here is your penny."

"Why Mattie," grandmother said, "you did not walk away up here with that penny," the distance being three miles, and three back. "I told you not to return it." But Mattie said, "I borrowed it and must pay it back."

"Well," grandmother said, "come in and have a cup of coffee and some breakfast." "No," she said, "I am in a hurry, I want to go home by Mr. Stackhouse's, he promised to pay me interest money this morning which is much overdue."—Mattie moved on. In leaving the Stackhouse home she had (to avoid crossing Big Elk creek on foot-log) to go through a dense strip of woods adjoining the late Jonathan Straborn's property; she lived further up the creek near what is called "Dublin dam."

She was seen by some one entering the woods, but she never came out.

It was thought Stackhouse cut across fields, which he could do, and waylaid and murdered her, thus saving interest, principal and all. That same night about dusk, Stackhouse drove up to a near neighbor in a covered wagon and stopped to borrow a piece of rope or harness or something. The neighbors had an old slave living with them, which was very common in those days. Old Dove was very curious what Mr. Stackhouse had covered up in that wagon. The family being at supper, Dove put her hand in the wagon, feeling over the covered object. She was frightened terribly but would not tell what was scaring her. She never would tell for a long time. She lost her mind, remaining so all her life. Some thought that Stackhouse saw her before he left and threatened her. It was said he was on his way to the new Chesapeake Canal, then in building, and there dumped poor Mattie's body, burying it deep, perhaps. At any rate, she was never found. Surely seekers were not so thorough as the present day or it would have been unearthed.

Old Slave Dove Henderson lived and died a poor, demented creature, near the writer's home, over in Maryland. Death was caused by the shock from what she found in Stackhouse's wagon.

Fibre League Goes On Rocks--Easton Golfers Beaten--Other Sports

Two Teams Leave Local Circuit

Continental Easy Winner of First Half Championship. Lose to Yorklyn In Saturday's Game When Hitters Fail to Produce.

Events of the past week have caused the dissolution of the Fibre League, it was learned from the management of the Continental Fibre Company's team yesterday. Two clubs, the Delaware Hard Fibre and Diamond State Fibre, are reported to have disbanded for the season. Yorklyn and Continental are the survivors as the second half is scheduled to open.

With conditions in such a state, caused principally, it is learned, by the inability of the two withdrawing teams to abide by the original rules governing the amateur standing of the players, it is practically certain that the league cannot exist. Both Continental and Yorklyn rather than continue the circuit with semi-pro teams, stuck to the ruling made by League officials.

The local fibremen won eight games without a defeat to win the first half pennant, beating every team in the league at least once. The one game which was protested by Continental was thrown out but will hardly be replayed now.

Yorklyn Wins Saturday

A scheduled game with the National team of Yorklyn was played in that town Saturday, resulting in a sound trouncing for Newark, 8-3.

In the first frame a combination of walks, errors by Yorklyn and one hit counted three runs for the Newark clan. From then on, however, they were impotent before the able flinging of one Watson, a most talented performer. This chap Watson held the Newark batters safe, allowing them but two measly hits. On the other hand, Shorty Chalmers, a natural infielder, essayed a pitching role, to the utter chagrin of his teammates and himself. He was relieved in the eighth by the veteran Alf Crow, who showed a flash of his old time mastery. Chalmers, thanks to his drubbing at the hands of Yorklyn, will make a better infielder than ever.

Continental played a loose game afield, Buck Ramsey contributing two errors in left, and the infield messing up three or four chances. It was not Continental's day, as every-one could see.

Touhey, the Yorklyn catcher, was the leading gunner for his club. He reeled off four hits in four attempts, not bad for one afternoon.

BIG JUMP NOTED IN AUTO SALES

Colin Campbell, vice-president, Durant Motors, Inc., states that sales of Star cars in April, 1925, exceeded April, 1924, by 71 per cent; May, 1925, exceeded May 1924, by 145 per cent, and June, 1925, exceeded June, 1924, by 145 per cent. These increases are said to be due to rapid growth of the dealer organization as well as to continuous improvement in the Star cars.

Strong advertising, both nationally and at important trading centers, has undoubtedly been a contributing factor.

NEWARK VOLUNTEERS DOWN DELAWARE CITY

Local Ball Tossers Clear the Decks In Canal Town In Sunday Game, 5-1.

A Newark team composed of all-star talent, with a few visitors thrown in, sunk the Delaware City hopefuls in a fast ball game at the Fort DuPont diamond last Sunday, 5-1.

The pitching of Reggie Rose, High School star, was the feature of the game from a defensive standpoint. Reggie let the canal town boys down with five scattered hits. He was accorded splendid support from his associates, particularly Shorty Chalmers and Jimmy Malone. Most of the work went to the infield, and Watkins, Edmundson and Chalmers in the garden had plenty of time to count their money.

"Watty," however, not to be lost sight of in the picture, slapped the ball away for a home run in the ninth inning, just to keep his hand in. Waiting all day in the outfield for a fly ball often makes players desperate. With one on base, the blow boosted the Newark score considerably. Out of the ten hits garnered by Newark, Malone and Chalmers, the two kid infielders, gathered exactly half of them. It was indeed their day.

Bradford's catches in the outfield and Holiday's hitting were the only interesting things about the game from a Delaware City standpoint. Newark sailed in under wraps.

RIISING SUN NOSES

OUT BEL AIR TEAM, 2-1

Pitchers Take the Limelight In Fast Contest Saturday; Only 11 Hits Registered During Afternoon.

With Reagan and McNutt both pitching airtight ball, Rising Sun and Bel Air hooked up in a torrid duel Saturday, the issue finally being decided in the eighth when the Sun team manufactured one run to break a tie score.

McNutt had a shade the better of the argument from a twirling standpoint, although his team fell before the enemy. Five singles were his limit, but they were bunched and helped along by errors. On the other hand Reagan kept the Bel Air hitters in misery when a pinch arose.

Newark Linkmen Whip Easton Team Here 15-2

Second Match of Series Proves Overwhelming Victory for Newark Club; Seven Matches Played

Newark took sweet revenge, albeit a sportsmanly one, last Saturday afternoon, when the local golfers waded into the Talbot Country Club team of Easton, and tore up their team by a 15-2 score.

Only one match went wrong. J. P. Armstrong, a leading match player here, lost to Gregg of Easton, former intercollegiate star, in a hard fought round. Gregg got the only points made by his team. As the contestants trooped in after their rounds, and the scores were posted, it was evident early in the afternoon that Newark held a comfortable lead.

The match Saturday gives Paul Pie's talented athletes a distinct lead in the series. The next match will be played in Easton. If the Marylanders win, a play off will be arranged. If Newark wins, that ends the struggle.

Mr. Pie stated a few days ago that he is working on plans for matches with several other nearby clubs, notably Kennett Square and du Pont Club of Wilmington.

The score of the Easton matches:

Gregg, Easton	39	40	-79
J. P. Armstrong, Newark	43	40	-83

FORE!

The Week's Worst

(From Answers, London)
"Your husband plays golf, doesn't he?"
"No; he works at it."

Spivus Welcomed

Mr. J. Spivus has become associated with the Newark Country Club as a contributing member, it is rumored. The announcement is being greeted at the clubhouse with cheers, (and tears).

The advent of the Bard of Cooch's, it is believed, will greatly boost the cultural tone of the organization. His keen sense of humor, the stories he tells about the traveling salesman who went into an oyster house one night, etc.; and the size of his hat, are all factors in his popularity, or something.

While Mr. Spivus knows little or nothing about the Game of Golf, he argues that he is therefore entering competition at the club on a fairly equal basis. He expects to tee off for the first time as soon as the tide is right and the wind is in the southeast, which will be probably Thursday or Friday, as near as he can estimate.

The Post is endeavoring to catch Mr. Spivus and get his name on the dotted line for a series of articles on "How To Be a Dub, Or What Have You." Watch the scoreboard!

Wilmington Pro Breaks Record

Alex Taite Batters Al Ginther's Mark Over Local Links by Two Strokes Sunday

Playing in a foursome with three Wilmingtonians, Alex G. Taite, professional at the Wilmington Country Club, shattered the Newark course record to bits when he shot a brilliant 70 Sunday.

Taite was accompanied on his remarkable round by William Denham, J. H. Dallett and Horace G. Chickering, all well known golfers of Wilmington.

Al Ginther, pro at the course, in company with Robert Seasholtz, took a 72 for the eighteen holes about a week ago. Ginther was one of the first to congratulate the Wilmington man on his record, when the foursome trooped into the clubhouse.

Gets Seven Birdies

Mr. Taite took seven birdies in the course of his journey, and was over par only three times, on the fourth, ninth and fourteenth holes. He had birdies on the first, sixth, eighth, twelfth, fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth holes.

Some mighty fine golf was exhibited in Mr. Taite's round. For instance, he took two birdies on the long sixth hole, a feat seldom accomplished in one afternoon. The treacherous roll of the fairway and the high green have sent many golfers into the doldrums. His card shows not only brilliant shooting but steady shooting.

Likes Local Course

In common with a number of visitors, the Wilmington pro expressed delight in the fine condition of the course here. "The greens were very keen and true," he said after the match. "It is a real pleasure to play on the course at Newark."

All of which speaks well for the care which the club officials are putting on the links. J. P. Armstrong is actively directing the greenskeepers and it is to him a great deal of credit should go. During the recent drought it was said by many visitors that the greens at Newark were the best in this section.

Since the recent rains, the fairways have fairly leaped into a bright green. The addition of several more

Hard-Fought Game Ends In Seventh, When Rain Steps Into The Scene; Good Pitching The Rule

Providence and Elk Mills fought to a tie Saturday when they were stopped by rain at the end of the seventh inning. Rain fell throughout the game but despite this both teams played airtight ball in the field. Both Richards and Arrants were in fine form. Lawrence with a double and triple led the attack for the home team while Scarborough with two singles and a double and Deibert with a double and single were the leading stickers for the visitors. Smyrna Loses Fight For Clayton Branch

Railroad Officials Decide to Motorize "Dummy" Line Despite Strong Protest From Business Men

In spite of the protests and arguments of a determined body of Smyrna business men, officials of the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad have decided to remove train service from Smyrna to Clayton on the main line, and to substitute in lieu thereof, a bus service between the two towns. All freight, however, will be run into Smyrna on the railroad tracks.

A few days ago, a group of Smyrna men, representing the Chamber of Commerce and other interests called on I. B. Sinclair, superintendent of the railroad, with the following results, as reported in the Smyrna "Times":

"The Smyrna delegation fought for Smyrna being continued a 'railroad town' instead of a 'bus town' as proposed by Supt. Sinclair at his recent visit to Smyrna. W. O. Hoffecker was spokesman for the delegation and Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, Senior United States Senator from Delaware, went along with the Smyrnians to aid all he could. Mr. Massey backed Supt. Sinclair in the proposition and announced that the passenger service on the Smyrna Branch would be discontinued and a bus service subsidized to meet all trains at Clayton, as Smyrna at present, with Sunday trains included. The Smyrna Railroad station, however, will not be closed but will be kept open, a one-man station, to handle freight. Mr. Massey did favor Smyrna in the matter of handling lower than car load lots of freight. These will be brought in by rail into Smyrna as well as carload lots. Just how Smyrna will appear on the railroad time table was not clear but some mention was made that it would appear as Clayton and Smyrna. The bus, it is understood, will run from the 'Four Corners,' Smyrna, to the Clayton R. R. Station. The Smyrna delegation tried in every way to convince Mr. Massey that the Railroad Company would be 'keeping sweet' with a live community by retaining the present arrangement, but he would not promise anything in the way of passenger service, neither would he guarantee a bus service as part of their system. The bus will be subsidized service and continued if it pays and taken off if it does not pay. Smyrna appeal went at naught. The effect, to say the least, was discouraging to business men of Smyrna."

Maryland Crabbers Show Delawareans The Latest Wrinkle

Fish Commission Worried Over Problems Of Preserving Crabbing Beds On River And Bay, Since Visitors Demonstrated New Method

The future of the crabbing industry along the rivers and bays of Delaware is worrying the members of the State Fish and Game Commission as the result of the invasion of the Delaware Bay in the vicinity of Woodland Beach last Wednesday by fishermen from Crisfield, Md.

The Maryland fishers were driven away by the Fish Commission patrol boat, but not before they had taught the Delaware fishermen how to crab on a large scale.

As a result of the visit of the Maryland fishermen, the Delawareans put out in boats to crab on Thursday, following the methods taught them by the Crisfield men, and thousands of crabs were caught.

One boat returned after a twenty-four hour trip with 60 barrels of crabs that were sold for $390, at the rate of $6.50 a barrel.

Members of the State Fish and Game Commission are worried over the thought that wholesale slaughter of crabs in the Delaware river and bay will deplete the supply, as has been done in the waters of the Chesapeake bay.

The Maryland method of crabbing, as followed by the Crisfield men, is the throwing overboard of a rope, a mile in length, with crab lines three feet in length tied at intervals of two feet. The line is hauled aboard the vessels by the aid of a windlass, a man stationed on the stern of the boat dipping the crabs up as the short lines are brought to the surface.

Dr. Herbert Watson's Condition Is Critical

Former Chief of State Health Laboratory Here Collapsed Last Week; Spinal Injury Is Cause

Dr. Herbert J. Watson, for many years State Bacteriologist and chief of the State Board of Health laboratory here, collapsed at the home of his parents in Holly Oak last Wednesday, and his condition is said to be critical at this time.

Last October Dr. Watson was injured about the spine in an auto accident in Wilmington. The vertebrae failed to respond to treatment, and for the past few months he has been wearing a steel cast about the lower part of his body. Despite the pain, he has been attending to his work in the Attorney General's office on liquor cases, and testified thereon in court until his collapse.

The former Newark resident left here on June 16th, 1924, to become associated with the Attorney-General following the State's decision to move the laboratory to Dover. He was succeeded by Dr. Robert Middleton, of New Mexico. Shortly thereafter the equipment was moved to Dover and the building here turned over to the Department of Physics of the University.

Doctor Watson has a host of friends in this community who are greatly alarmed over his condition. His genial disposition is well known. He has a passion for work and frequently went days without rest, when his office was flooded with requests for aid from all parts of the State.

SEVERAL IN HOSPITAL ON WAVE OF SICKNESS

The United Packing Co.'s plant here, was rushed to a hospital in Wilmington Sunday and on Monday was operated upon for appendicitis. He is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Ernest B. Wright has returned from the hospital where she was under treatment for several weeks.

Continued improvement is seen in the condition of Mrs. John A. Richey, 80 year old resident of East Main street, who fell and sprained her hip about ten days ago.

Mrs. Daniel Casey, of this town, who is undergoing treatment in the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, is improving rapidly according to reports received early this week.

Mrs. Frank Crompton was taken to a Wilmington hospital Monday for observation. An operation may be necessary, it is understood.

Florida Boom Hits Newspaper Hard

Miami, Florida.—The largest newspaper ever published in the United States made its debut here Saturday in the early Sunday edition of the Miami Daily News. It contains 504 pages and marks the 29th anniversary of the city as well as the formal opening of the Daily News' 14-story home on Bay Shore Drive. There are 22 sections. Total weight is eight pounds.

PRESIDENT FIRM ON COAL STRIKE ISSUE

Extra Session of Congress Not Likely, Latest Report.

There will be no extra session of Congress unless the President is satisfied in his own mind that one is absolutely necessary, says the National Press. Mr. Coolidge is of the opinion that it will be better for business all over the country if Congress does not convene until its regular date, the same being the first Monday in December.

Unless some unforeseen happening takes place between now and the 15th of September there will be no general coal strike in the anthracite region. The President has let all hands know that he does not propose to have the public's comfort or safety imperiled, and as a result it is more than likely that both sides of the controversy will find some manner of amicable adjustment.

Mr. Coolidge has given much study to every phase of the threatened coal strike. He has conferred with John Hays Hammond, who was chairman of the United States Coal Commission two years ago; he has talked with Secretary of Labor James J. Davis; and other men who are in close touch with the situation. While the President believes that every man should receive honest and good wages, that business should receive a proper return, he is likewise determined that the great mass of the American public shall not suffer because of lack of fuel with which to run the industries of the country and to heat the homes of the citizens of the nation. He is likewise determined that fuel shall not be sold at an exorbitant figure.

CHURCHES

First Presbyterian Church

Rev. H. Everett Hallman, Pastor
Sunday, August 2, standard time.
Sunday school, 9.45. Morning service, 11.00. Topic: "The Test of Character," being the last of a series of sermons by the pastor.

The church will not be open for regular services from Sunday, August 2nd, until Sunday, September 13th. Sunday school will, however, be held regularly as usual.

Many Attend Closing

The final exercises of the Vacation Bible School completed last Friday at the church, were well attended that evening by parents and friends of the pupils. The three young instructors, Misses Annabel F. Jarmon, Sara Steel and Ida MacMurray were complimented upon their successful work in leading the group of youngsters through the course.

Workers Conference

A meeting of the Workers Conference of the Presbyterian Sunday School will be held on Friday evening, July 31st, at 7.00 o'clock, standard time, at the home of R. W. Heim on South College avenue.

Baptismal Ceremony

On Sunday, August 2nd, at 11 a. m., one-half mile north of Newark, there will be baptism of candidates, with Rev. E. C. Tryman, of the Pilgrim Baptist Church, officiating.

GROUPS PICNIC TOGETHER

North Star, Red Clay and White Clay People At Beach Tuesday

Mill Creek hundred from Milford Cross Roads to Hockessin was considerably depopulated Tuesday of this week by a pilgrimage to Delaware Beach, where three large picnics from that vicinity were held.

The Sunday Schools of Red Clay Church and White Clay Church, and a large group of the North Star Community Club of near Hockessin, happened on the same date and place this year for their annual outings. As a result, scores of families spent the day at the beach. During the afternoon the various groups mingled together and enjoyed a delightful round of amusements.

FESTIVAL A SUCCESS

About fifty dollars was cleared at the annual Peach Festival, held at Welsh Tract school last Thursday evening. A large attendance was noted.

HOLLY HALL FARM GREATLY IMPROVED

Use of Explosives For Drainage a Real Help; Other Farmers Have Blasting Done.

Holly Hall Farm at Elkton has just completed the work of making 1387 feet of ditch by blasting with du Pont explosives.

Rev. R. M. Fontaine has been making extensive improvements at Holly Hall since taking charge for Salvatore Mission, and the appearance of the property shows the result of the progressive work being done there.

Other property owners who have been improving their property with du Pont explosives include Mr. Clarence Beadenkopf, on New London road, Mr. R. C. McMullen, at Bear Station, and Mr. Joseph Vought and Mr. Elwood Sheldon near Fairview School House.

W. H. Dean, of Newark, had charge of handling explosives on all these jobs.

LAWN FETE SUCCESS DESPITE SHOWERS

A lawn fete and band concert was held last Saturday evening on the playgrounds of the Pleasant Valley School, near Newark, for the benefit of the Pleasant Valley Community Club.

The booths including ice cream, cake, candy, pie, hot dog, soft drink, fancy articles and novelty did a rushing business between showers of rain, realizing $106.00.

A splendid concert was given by the 23-piece Elkton Band during the evening. The music was greatly enjoyed and appreciated by the members of the club and the visitors.

A meeting of the officers of the club will be held in the near future to decide on the date for the community picnic.

OBITUARY

George H. Pennington, Jr.

"Junior," seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Pennington, of Chester, died at his home there Thursday morning last. Death was caused by a relapse as he started on the road to recovery from a three weeks' illness. The youngster was stricken with tonsillitis, followed by measles. His condition was greatly improved early last week, and high hopes were held for an early convalescence.

Junior was a frequent visitor at the Singles home on Depot road here, and was a favorite with the staff of the Newark Trust Company. Possessed of a brilliant little mind, and a winning personality, he made friends everywhere he went. Perhaps no boy of his age in the community had a keener brain and a readier smile. He was indeed a little gentleman.

Funeral services were private on Saturday last, and interment was made in Head of Christiana Cemetery.

Junior is survived by his parents, two uncles and an aunt, Ona, Warren and John Singles, all of Newark. His Aunt Ona and Uncle Warren, both on vacation trips last week, were called home by the sudden death, and reached Delaware before the funeral. Junior's mother will be remembered before her marriage as Miss Elva Singles, of Newark.

COMMUNITY CHORUS FEATURE OF SERVICES

Two Newark singers assisted the chorus, Prof. George H. Ryden and F. Johnson Rowan. With Misses Pyle and Trumbull, they formed a mixed quartet which greatly pleased the audience in their rendition of a sacred anthem.

Others who took solo parts and otherwise assisted in the concert were Elizabeth Duncan McComas, soprano; Elizabeth Pyle, soprano; Geraldine Edgar, violinist. Miss Nell B. Wilson assisted at the piano in several numbers. Miss Caroline Heinel also accompanied.

The entire series of Sunday evening services and weekday entertainments were arranged through the office of the Service Citizens of Delaware.

The sacred concert program follows:

1. Anthem, O For the Wings of a Dove! Mendelssohn-Rees, Chorus.
2. Soli, a. Light, F. Stevenson, b. How Beautiful Upon the Mountains, Flaxington Harter, Mrs. McComas.
3. Quartet, He Shall Come Down Like Rain, N. H. Allen; Misses Pyle and Trumbull; Messrs. Ryden and Rowan.
4. Soli, a. Adagio, de Beriot; b. Reverie, de Paulio, Miss Edgar.
5. Anthem, Hark, Hark, My Soul, Shelly, Chorus and Miss Pyle and Mr. Ryden.

APPLETON GRANGE

All members of Appleton Grange are urged to be present at Grange Monday evening, August 3rd, to perfect plans for Field Day, August 6th, at Appleton.

The Rev. Harvey W. Ewing, D.D., has accepted an invitation to be the afternoon speaker at Field Day, Thursday, August 6th, at Appleton. Plan now to spend a day of pleasure and profit. Cafeteria lunch will be served by the Grange ladies.
