COUNCIL MEETS IN REGULAR SESSION

SEWER FINANCES CONSIDERED—METER PROBLEM DISCUSSED

At the meeting of Town Council Monday night arrangements were made for borrowing $7,500 more on notes for the Sewer Commission as an installment on the new system of sewers and disposal plant being constructed by Contractor L. B. Jacobs. This will make a total of $14,500 that Council has borrowed for the purpose since the work was started. The contract price of the entire system was slightly more than $50,000. The sewer work is progressing fairly well considering the fact that the contractor has been handicapped numerous times with cave-ins. The contract calls for the work to be completed within 150 working days which will expire in December. The work of laying the sewer pipes on Main street will be completed this week and the work will then be started on Delaware Avenue again.

Council Monday night received a communication from the Prudential Committee of Delaware College asking that North College Avenue where the college gave ground for the widening of the street, be macadamized from curb to curb. This will be done as it was practically agreed at the time the trustees gave the college property that the street would be so fixed.

Egmont Horn, a representative of the General Electric Company, was before Council with a proposition for the town to handle that company's meters and transformers. It was decided to enter into a contract with the General Electric Company for what supplies are needed along that line.

The report of the treasurer showed the receipts during September, including the balance on hand at the previous meeting to be $3,228.80. The disbursements during the month amounted to $2,063.38. Bills of the street committee amounting to $1,017.23 and the water and light committee amounting to $672.53 were ordered to be paid.

A contract from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad relative to the laying of east iron sewer pipes under the tracks at College Avenue, New London Road and Main street, was referred to Council attorney Charles R. Evans, to examine before it is signed by Council.

Defining Clerk's Authority

The test cases of City Councilman Jacob Zimmerman, William Warren and Michael Palese, charged with illegal holding of stands in the King street market, Wilmington, came up in the City Court last week. Palese was discharged for lack of evidence and Zimmerman and Warren, who were dismissed on the first information, were to be re-arrested on a second one. It is hoped that the matter will be promptly threshed out so as to show clearly the scope of authority vested in the Clerk of the Markets.

To Observe Centenary

The Ladies' Missionary Society of Pomeroy Presbyterian church, Glasgow, Del., propose to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of their existence by holding two services in the church on next Sabbath, October 12th.

One service in the morning at 10:30 o'clock and another in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All are invited to come.

PENN MAR PENNANT GOES TO PROVIDENCE CLUB

PLANS FOR NEXT SEASON—MEETING ON SATURDAY

At a meeting held by the officials of the Penn Mar Base Ball League in Center Hall, Newark, last Saturday evening, the pennant was awarded to the Providence Club. Other business, such as protests, etc., was settled.

The season just closed proved a successful one in every respect. The contesting teams provided some splendid contests. From the writer's viewpoint, however, the season, not ending until September 20, was too long. It would seem a wise policy to have the season close not later than the last of August.

The League is constantly growing in popularity. They have adopted strict rules, delegating all authority to the umpires to enforce them. One of these names a penalty for the use of profane or abusive language by players on the field. It was only necessary to fine one or two players and the rest took warning.

DELAWARE HOLDS HAVERFORD 7 TO 0

FIRST GAME ON FRAZER FIELD MARKED BY ENTHUSIASM—STUDENTS ENCOURAGE TEAM

Delaware won. That was the opinion of practically every witness of the first game at the opening of the Frazer Field last Saturday. Although the score said 7 to 0 in favor of Haverford the game was won by Delaware. The best proof of this is from Haverford himself. If you don't believe Delaware won, ask Haverford. She was beaten. So the team that defeated her must be the winner.

The day was ideal. The weather was fixed up specially for the occasion.

The Field—it looked fine and many strangers gazed. They couldn't take it all in at one time. Magnificent was the nearest to description heard from every one.

Then the crowd was there—the sports, strangers, students, Faculty Newark's fairest, fashion—and all wild with enthusiasm. Delaware had the crowd with them at first; had them at the end. Why? The nerve, pluck and best sports ever. They played, played well and every cheer was from the heart. Troubles, work-day worries simply faded away. Men forgot how old they were—women always do. It was a day of sport such as Delaware never saw before. The Field brought them and the boys were in keeping with the Field. It was one long Hurrah for Delaware.

The details of the game follow:

After holding the Haverford boys for days in two hard fought periods, Delaware awakened at the middle of the third quarter and allowed a touchdown.

Haverford easily made the extra point with a nicely placed kick.

The game began at 2:35. Haverford kicked off to Handy, who was tackled almost immediately. In the next play Houston got away for nearly forty yards, then in a rapid succession Handy and Doherty tried rushes and runs to advance the ball. Handy tried a forward pass that failed and Haverford had the ball. At this point Sangree of Haverford was hurt. He soon got back into the game and did great work for Haverford.

Haverford tried to run the ball around left end but Captain Billy Cann stopped the runner as he crossed the line. Handy smashed Haverford's next rush. Haverford kicked, Houston catching the ball. He kicked and Houston caught the ball. He tried hurdling and Delaware lost 20 yards under the Gold and Blue goal posts. Handy kicked the ball to mid-field, Haverford rushed the ball to Delaware's 40-yard line, but were penalized 20 yards for hurdling.

A kick was tried but it got no farther than Delaware's line. In the mixup Haverford recovered the ball. They used the forward pass successfully and then rushed the pigskin to Delaware's 25-yard line.

SECOND PERIOD.

In the first rush-off of the second period Haverford hurried and was set back 20 yards. In the next play they lost a yard by Taylor carrying a Haverford runner back of the line. Then Haverford tried for a field goal from the 20-yard line and failed. In this scrimmage, Crothers, Delaware's center, had his nose hurt. Houston carried the ball forward.

STATE FARM AND EXPERIMENT STATION

Prof. McCue, Drs. Manns and Tamberhaus and Mr. Pailthorpe conducted a field meet at Laurel yesterday. Considerable interest is being manifested in the growing of sweet potatoes in that vicinity, and the meet was held at a farm where some co-operative experiments have been carried on this season.

Prof. Hayward judged the Jerseys and Ayrshires at the Trenton Fair last Tuesday and Wednesday. On the latter day the students in Agriculture who are competing for the Inter-collegiate Dairy Cattle judging team were present, and through the courtesy of Prof. F. C. Minecker of Rutgers College, were extended the privileges of the judging ring. This gave them an opportunity to examine all the individuals in the various classes, and to ask the judges their reason for awarding the prizes as they did. In the afternoon they were taken in hand by Mr. F. C. Pierce, a successful breeder and exhibitor of Jersey cattle from Winchester, N. H., who went over in detail all of the Jerseys, laying especial emphasis upon the important desirable and undesirable points that the team are likely to meet in their work at Chicago. It was the unanimous opinion of the students that by having this instruction from a practical breeder they gained much information that will be of use to them.

Mr. Alan Cunningham, Jr., of Media, Pa., has entered Delaware College, taking the two years' course in Agriculture. Later, however, he expects to change to the four years' course. Mr. Cunningham's registration brings the total number of students in the Agricultural courses at the present time up to 41.

Prof. McCue will judge the apples at the Maryland Horticultural Society exhibit, which is to be held in Baltimore early in December.

Prof. Genthum will take up his studies at the University of Pennsylvania for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy next week. He expects to complete the work this year with the exception of his thesis.

The Agricultural students, who are competing for the Chicago judging team have been invited to take part in a contest at the Hagerstown Fair next week. It is expected that Maryland and West Virginia will also enter the contest.

Mr. M. T. Phillips, a prominent Guernsey cattle breeder of Pomeroy, Pa., is a guest at the College farm today.

The milk and butter yields of the test cows at the College farm have been computed for September. They show that the Holstein cow Maud H. 2nd's Lass, in 7 months, has produced 13,350 pounds of milk and 463 pounds of butter fat, which is equivalent to 540 pounds of butter. The Jersey cow, Rose of Greenway, in 11 months, has made 9,299 pounds of milk, and 499 pounds of butter fat, equivalent to 582 pounds of butter. The Ayrshire cow, Geisha, in 3 months, produced 4,199 pounds of milk, and 172 pounds of fat, the equivalent of 200 pounds of butter.

Overhanging Wires Wreck Sewer Digging Machine

The Sewer Digging Machine moving from Main street to Delaware avenue, along South College avenue, brought out a striking illustration of the recklessness of overhanging wires by the telephone company in Newark.

A guide stay wire is stretched across the street at this point, being fastened to one of the trees at Strahorn's livery. Without thought of any obstruction, the men operating the machine, struck this wire, twisting the heavy adjusting screw that operates the digging boom. The digger is put out of service temporarily. Contractor Jacobs began immediately to dismantle this part of the machine. He is not at all sure that the break can be repaired here. If not, a new screw beam will have to be made.

Measurements made show that this heavy guide wire is only 13 feet from the ground. This wire was placed here, at the request of the telephone company, it being understood at the time that it was only a temporary arrangement.

This is only another illustration of the wire nuisance in this town. Trees from one end of the town to the other are their victims.

This apparent disrespect for property should be brought to their attention and in such a way as to guarantee a remedy.

HELPING THE CHILDREN ORGANIZE

UNCLE SAM'S METHOD PUT IN PRACTICE IN DEL-AWARE

During the past year the work of Mrs. Frederick C. Snyder of Newport in behalf of the boys and girls of rural Delaware, has become well-known throughout the State. The following interesting account is clipped from the Philadelphia North American of September 21:

"The United States government is helping this state (Delaware) solve the problem of keeping boys and girls on the farm."

"Because the problem is a vital one to the farming interests of this state, the work which was recently started here is being watched with a great deal of interest."

"This work consists of organizing canning and preserving clubs for girls and corn-growing contests for boys, under the auspices of the Federal department of agriculture, and in the cases of girls, the main subject, aside from teaching them the things which formed a part of the education of their grandmothers, is to stimulate their interests in rural life. The government agents go on the theory that if the girls remain on the farm it is only natural to expect that the boys will have more incentive to do so; but in order to keep up their enthusiasm in farm life, the corn clubs are now being organized."

"The problem of labor is the greatest of the Delaware farmer and fruit grower. Many of them have been seriously handicapped by their boys and girls leaving the old home for a business life in the city. Some of them have been compelled to quit farming for that reason."

"Laborers in Delaware are scarce, and boys and girls are needed on the farms today more than ever if agriculture is to continue to progress on this peninsula."

"It is to this end that the department of agriculture is working, not only here, but in many other states. The work is under the direction of Professor O. H. Benson, and each state has its organizer and demonstrator."

"Mrs. Frederick C. Snyder of Newport, near Wilmington, has been chosen as Delaware's organizer and demonstrator in charge of the canning and preserving clubs. The work in this state only began in July, but attesting to the interest in the movement, four clubs have already been organized. They are in Elsmere, Newport, Newark and Dover. The clubs are not limited to membership, but the members are divided into teams of five, and the ages range from 10 to 18 years."

The Elsmere and Newport clubs engaged in a canning contest at the recent state fair held in Wilmington, and Newport won by a few points. The prizes were not offered by the State Fair Association; not only did the winning club get a prize, but there were individual prizes offered. The girl who cans five jars of fruit or vegetables is entitled to wear a club pin, furnished by the government, and at the end of the summer's work the government awards a prize for the best essay written by a club member regarding her work during her period. These awards will be made the first of November."

"The state is divided into sections, and each one has a canner, which must be approved by the government. The canning demonstrations are given under the direction of Mrs. Snyder."

DOMESTIC SCIENCE A FEATURE

"Another idea of these clubs is to use up the surplus about the farms. The plan is for the young canners to purchase from the parents the products desired and then sell them back the canned article. The Dover club made arrangements with some apple growers whereby they got all the apples they desired, returning one-fourth of the output."

"The work of the clubs does not end with the advent of fall, for on October 1st begins the winter work which consists of domestic science, and the clubs will give an exhibition some time during the winter."

"One of the features in the domestic science work will be to emphasize the harmful effects of the patented colorings now on the market and to make these colorings from vegetables of different kinds."

"For illustration, if green is desired for mint jelly, the club members will be instructed how to make the coloring from spinach. Many other important things will be taught, so that the domestic science feature promises to be an important branch of the club work among girls of Delaware and a work which will show beneficial results later on."

tions of statistics, and other office paraphernalia. Since the Pennsylvania System, in 1906, began the construction of all-steel passenger equipment, four steel office cars have been built. This includes the two which are not yet finished."

COMMISSIONER WAGNER GETTING ACQUAINTED

Arranges Regular Day For Each County's Work

Dr. Charles Wagner, State Commissioner of Education, in order to get better acquainted with the schools, teachers and parents of Delaware, has arranged a series of ten meetings to be held in Sussex county in the near future, five or six of which will be held in the rural districts. Similar meetings will be held in the other counties at a later date. At these meetings, the parents of the scholars will be invited and requested to ask the solution of any problem of the child's school life, upon which they wish information."

It is the purpose of Professor Wagner to spend Fridays with Professor Hardesty, superintendent of Sussex schools; Thursdays with Professor Carroll, of Kent county; and Tuesdays with Professor Cross of New Castle county. It is most likely that Professor Wagner will spend each Wednesday in Dover, making that his official day where he can be reached at any time."

New All-Steel Cars

Two all-steel business cars to be used by officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad to transact railroad business while traveling, will soon be finished at the Pennsylvania Railroad's shops in Altoona, Pa.

In a railroad system like the Pennsylvania, with some 11,000 miles of line and with extensive terminals located in many cities, it is necessary for the officials to spend much time traveling from place to place to confer with local officers and to inspect various parts of the road. By the use of the business cars last year traveling 159,517 miles, were able to conduct the affairs of the railroad just as if they had been in their own offices. The business cars are provided with typewriter desks, maps, accompany school conditions found in this Maryland county are by no means peculiar to it, but are typical of what is still found in country districts elsewhere. In several respects Montgomery county is superior to other rural localities in its educational features. It has, for instance, a school year of 180 days, as compared to terms as low as 40 days in parts of some states; and, like every other Maryland county, it has county supervision of schools which educators consider the most effective means of building up rural education."

To make the one-room rural schools as efficient as possible, but to do away with them by consolidation wherever practicable, is the motto the rural school improves have adopted. Constant improvement is reported in the facilities offered by the one-room rural school, particularly in relating school work to farm needs, but side by side with this improvement has gone the movement for consolidation, until there are now several thousand consolidated schools in the United States."

Country Problems

We do not believe in confining governmental activity to the city. We believe that the problem of life in the open country is well nigh the gravest problem before the nation. The eyes and thoughts of those working for social and industrial reform have been turned almost exclusively toward the great cities, and toward the solution of the questions presented by their teeming myriads of people and by the immense complexity of their life. Yet nothing is more certain than that there can be no permanent prosperity unless the men and women who live in the open country prosper. The problems of the farm, of the village, of the country church, and the country school, the problems of getting most value out of and keeping most value in the soil and of securing healthy and happy and well-rounded lives for those who live upon it, are fundamental to our national welfare. The first step ever taken toward the solution of these problems was taken by the Country Life Commission appointed by me, opposed with venomous hostility by the foolish reactionaries in Congress, and abandoned by my successor. Congress would not even print the report of this Commission, and it was the public spirited, far-sighted action of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce which alone secured the publication of the report. The farmers must organize as business men and wage workers have organized, and the Government must help them to organize. Theodore Roosevelt in the Century Magazine.

Joseph C. Nichols, President pro tem, of Camden, N. J., and John Manlove Smith, Secretary, of Moore, Pa., have issued the following call to their comrades:

"Through the grace of our Father we have been permitted to enter the last lap of another milestone in this life's march. We need no one to tell us of the rapidity of time and the certainty of death. Hair growing whiter, eyes growing dimmer, steps feebler, form bent, with a final dissolution not far in the future.

"Let us lash ourselves a little closer together and close up the fast thinning ranks of the famous

Young men of Elkton gave the first of a series of dances to be held during the fall and winter, in Mechanics' Hall, on Friday evening, which was fairly well attended.

Thomas M. Hague, a well-known resident of Elkton, died at his home on East Main street, on Wednesday of paralysis, aged 67 years. His wife, four daughters, and a son survive.

A sad incident of Wednesday's storm was the drowning of Layton, the 10-year old son of Harry Buckworth, tenant on the Landing farm, near Elkton. The boy went to drive home cattle from pasture and finding them on the opposite side of the Little Elk rode into the stream, which was greatly swollen by the rain. The horse stumbled and fell, throwing the child into the rushing waters. Railroad hands nearby ran to his aid but he was swept down the stream and drowned. His body was found on Thursday several hundred yards below the spot where the sad accident occurred.

Naylor of Townsend, found guilty of murder in the second degree for killing Earl Francis, a neighbor's son, in January last, was set for the November term of Court.

A resolution offered by Chairman W. E. Stover of the Finance Committee to employ a first class detective for such work as the Committee may desire to have performed was lost in Wilmington City Council by a vote of 6 to 6 on Thursday night. It is said that the resolution may yet be adopted. Rumors prevail, Mr. Stover says, of laxity in several of the City departments, and there is a desire to get at facts. It is said that detective work on the line suggested has been in progress for some time, at private expense.

Training Boys For Citizenship

How the Winston-Salem, N. C., Board of Trade is helping the high school to train boys for citizenship is told in a bulletin just issued by the United States Bureau of Education.

The school authorities established a course for high-school seniors in government and economics, and put it under the direction of the secretary of the Winston-Salem Board of Trade. The course is a foundation course in the principles of economics and government, but with special reference to the industrial, commercial and agricultural problems of the United States, particularly the Southern States.

Next a "Juvenile Club" was organized among the boys, in connection with the Board of Trade, the purpose being to have the boys check up their theoretical knowledge gained in school with the practical, every-day problems of an industrial center, such as Winston-Salem is. Boys in the club were granted all the privileges of regular Board of Trade members, except voting. They were allowed to take part in debate and were assigned to committee work. Before entering the club they took the "Athenian Oath," whereby they promised allegiance to the highest ideals of civic righteousness for their city.

One of the first tasks assigned the boys was to assist in the industrial survey of Winston-Salem which the Board of Trade is making. Students who had been specializing in the economics and government department of the high school were chosen for this work.

In this way they are getting a first-hand knowledge of organized industrial efforts in its relation to the welfare of the community.

"The Winston-Salem plan," says LeRoy Hodges, the secretary of the Board of Trade, "trains the boys of the city directly for citizenship; first, in the high school, where they are taught the principles of civil government and instructed in the theories and basic problems governing our economic order; second, in the juvenile club, where they have the means of being identified with the real work of municipal development, and take part in actual social and industrial investigations. An opportunity is thus provided for the boys to study at close range the varied industries of the city under competent direction and in an official capacity.

"In brief, the plan contemplates first, teach the boys how to live; and, second, equipping them with an education whereby they can make a living, which, in the end, is the real secret of practical training for intelligent citizenship."

That Touch of Refinement

No matter how expensive the furnishings of your home may be if the feeling of appropriateness and refinement is lacking, you cannot be satisfied.

This is especially true of the bathroom as it should accord with the rest of the home in the quiet appropriate design of its furnishings, and here good taste is so evident. Good health, as well as appearances, must be considered, for true refinement is shown by that deeper unobtrusive feeling which pervades the home, but is best and chiefly shown by the appointments for the health and comfort of the household.

Well-Known Names On Old Document

In 1776 two years after the Revolutionary War under act of the General Assembly, all loyal and patriotic citizens of Pennsylvania were required to take the oath of allegiance to the State of Delaware. J. Wilkins Cooch, president of the Farmers' Trust Company of Newark has a document which will no doubt be of great interest to present and former citizens of the hundred as it contains the names of those who subscribed to this oath. The document was recently presented to Mr. Cooch by Judge Henry C. Conrad who happened to find it among a lot of historic relics. Descendants of many of those whose names appear as having taken the oath of fidelity still live in that hundred. Thomas Cooch, one of those who took the oath was the great grandfather of the owner of this interesting document. Pender Hundred has been the home of many generations of the Cooch family.

The document contains the form of oath taken by the residents of Pender Hundred which was as follows:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm as the case may be) that I do not hold myself bound to yield any allegiance or obedience to the King of Great Britain, his heirs or successors, and that I will be true and faithful to the Delaware State, and will support and maintain the freedom, independence and Constitution thereof, against all open enemies and secret and traitorous conspiracies and will disclose and make known to the Commander in Chief for the time being, or some Judge or Justice of this State, all treason or traitorous conspiracies, attempts or combinations against the same, or the government thereof, which shall come to my knowledge."

The document contains the names of 129 men who took the oath of fidelity and that they did so willingly is evident from the following paragraph which was added to the document by the Justice before whom the oaths were taken: "The persons that were qualified after the first day of July rendered me a good reason of their not appearing at the time limited by the act of Assembly, viz: some of them were sick and could not come, and some of them were far abroad and could not reach here and some declared they did not hear of the affair till the time was past, but every one of them were free and willing to take the oath of fidelity."

Witness my hand,
Thomas James.

The complete list of those who took the oath follows: John Boggs, John Townsend, Matthew Jack, Daniel Howell Thomas, Mulham McIntire, William Eynon, William Scott, James Jones, Moses Mynor, Stephen Eynon, Enoch Jones, Andrew Fisher, Daniel Jones, Evan Davis, Daniel McGarry, Arthur Caton, Robert Owens, Thomas Walton, James Orr, Alexander Thomson, William Cummins, James McCowen, Timothy Carney, Robert McCobey, William Barnes, John Jack, William Reddick, Samuel Jones, Thomas Jenkins, Thomas McCrea, John McKinly, Thomas Cooch, John Aiken, David Howell, William Milligan, Valentine Dodd, Matthew Aiken, Joseph Thomas, James Thompson, William Thompson, Richard Roberts, John Neel, David McKinly, Jacob Welch, John Underwood, Rees Evans, Joseph Kennedy, John Stewart, John Evans, Andrew Muldrow, Andrew Allison, Robert McCay, Howell Evans, David Muldrow, Charles Johnston, John Edwards, William McCaughey, Peter Flood, William Murdaugh, James Porter, James Boldin, Nathan Boldin, Christopher Jones, John Griffith, William Haughey, David Rees, David Anderson, John Faries, Jacob Morgan, John Torrains, John Moore, Thomas Whitlock, William Robinson, Samuel Beatman, John Elder, William Camblin, Thomas Cumberland, Christopher McAlister, William Cumberland, Elijah Barnes, Amos Barnes, John Bowen, William McKinly, Isaac Faries, William Guthrie, Joseph Johnson, Joseph Thomas, Joseph Bowen, Abel Holland, John Evans, James McMul-

Splendid Athletic Field

Joe Frazer Field is an adornment to Delaware College, and would be to any college in the East. In the possession of such a superb athletic field Delaware's only College may well boast that in this particular it stands at the head of eastern colleges. Persons competent to judge pronounce the field superior to that connected with any college the size of Delaware in the country. The donors should receive the heartfelt thanks not only of every "Son of Delaware," but of every citizen who takes pride in every honor achieved by the Diamond State.

We feel safe in making the prediction that the addition of Joe Frazer Field to the college equipment at Newark will prove as strong a drawing card as any improvement made there in years. The visiting Haverfordians, who are accustomed to a good athletic field at home, were loud in their praise of Joe Frazer Field. Its formal opening Saturday attracted notices from the press of Philadelphia, New York and other cities. It would be a matter of keen regret should Delawareans fail to appreciate highly an acquisition which is the envy of college men from institutions older and richer than Delaware College. Thanks to the Frasers for their liberality.

PEOPLES' COLUMN

How Philadelphia Does It

Editor of The Post:

They manage things differently in Philadelphia, it seems, for the police, acting under orders of the Superintendent of Police raided the Morris street Business Men's Carnival the other night and forbade all games of chance. The raid followed an announcement from Director of Public Safety Porter that hereafter all forms of so-called petty gambling, including the wheel of fortune, would be under the ban of the police department and would be suppressed at once wherever found in operation. This rule, it was stated, would apply to business men's carnivals, church fairs, and society organizations of every kind. The Director said he was convinced that such practices were nothing more than gambling and as such contrary to State law and city ordinances.

And how angry many Newarkers were when the ministers of the town, representing the highest moral sense of the community, united in a polite request to the local firemen to do away with the "Wheel of Fortune" at the recent Firemen's Carnival which had given offense to many minds and which was in the way of inciting and encouraging the gambling spirit in the young.

Indignantly the firemen asked the ministers why they didn't protest against the same sort of a game of chance used at St. John's R. C. Church fair last summer and against the playing of cards for prizes at private houses by many of the young society women of the town.

The firemen's point was well taken and the ministers appreciating how consistent such a course would be adopted it. Their protest was extended accordingly. But the gambling devices went on just the same at Firemen's Carnival.

What does this mean?—that Philadelphia has keener moral perceptions than Newark?

APPLE PACKING SCHOOL CLOSES

To Be Continued On Larger Scale Next Year

While the apple packing school for central Delaware, which opened on Monday of last week and closed October 3, was a new venture for Delaware and but lightly attended on the first two days of the instruction was attended by a large number of apple growers from different parts of the State. The State Board of Agriculture, under whose auspices the school was held, is much gratified over the success of the school.

A larger school next year is predicted by the State Board and Professor Steitz, the expert packer who was secured by the Board to give instruction.

Interesting Chat From Newark Schools

HIGH SCHOOL

The Principal's report to the Board for the month ending September 26th, shows a total enrollment of 516 with an average daily attendance of 468, or slightly over 90 per cent of the total possible attendance. Of this number the High School was credited with an enrollment of 96 with an average daily attendance of 90, or nearly 94 per cent. If such a record of attendance could be maintained throughout the year, there would be few failures to report next year.

The children of the First Grade were delighted Monday morning to find that during their absence the tops of their desks which had been worn rough by decades of use, had been planed down to a smooth surface and finished with oil.

Harry Green, remembered as one of our most popular athletes during the year 1911-1912, has returned after a year's absence to take up his course with the Junior Class. We expect much from him, both in class and athletic sports.

A series of seven lectures to be delivered during the winter before the High School, is being arranged by the Principal. Pupils and teachers are pleased to know that

Dr. W. O. Shepherd, head of the department of English at Delaware College, has consented to open the series on October 24 with an address, the subject of which will be announced later.

Last Friday afternoon the pupils succeeded in organizing a literary society with Knowles Bowen as president. Other officers elected were: First and second vice-presidents, Lavinia Bye and Harry Green; recording secretary, Lela Horbner; corresponding secretary, Hernon Little. The selection of a special committee to prepare a constitution and draw up a set of by-laws, was left to the president. The next meeting of the society is scheduled for Nov. 7.

Thirteen new Remington Typewriters for the use of the Commercial Department, have been received at the High School. Some of these were bought outright, others were exchanged for old machines of different make, while others are loaned gratis for the year. With this equipment this Department lacks nothing for efficient and thorough work.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL

In a contest by the Seventh Grade pupils to find who could make the most words from the letters composing the word "Baltimore" Ethel Robinson won, having found 281 words.

Edna Green of Welsh Tract, spent Saturday and Sunday with her grandparents in Wilmington. The class studying "The Courtship of Miles Standish" boasts of having a lineal descendant of Priscilla and John Alden.

Additional members of the Grammar School chorus for October are: Emma Lovett, Dorothy Hoffecker, Clarice Weller, Florence Walton, Johnson Rowan, Tom Armstrong, William Cann, John Williams, Harry Sanborn, Gertrude Willis, Margaret Doyle, Leah Poole.

The Fourth Grade is very much pleased with the addition of a set of supplementary readers, also with a map of the U. S.

Records In Attendance

The following pupils of the Third Grade attended school regularly during the month of September:

THE DISAPPOINTED DUCK

One day in the barnyard, this duck met her old friend, Mrs. Leghorn Hen, walking proudly away from the admiring glances of a group of Summer boarders.

"Tell me," said Mrs. Duck, "as an old and candid friend, what is the matter with me anyway? I lay as many eggs as you do, and my eggs are just as good; I do not cost the boss half as much as you do; he builds an expensive house for you to live in and gives me the cold side of an open shed. Your table is supplied with every dainty from beef scrap to oyster shells; I live on faith and bugs, fresh air and cold water, with a little mouldy grain thrown in. My eggs cost the boss less money than yours; I am never sick; I do not go into his garden and scratch the life out of his crop; in fact, my husband and myself are model citizens of this farm. Yet we get no credit, either in song or story or in the common things of life. If you do not want me to become a rank Socialist right here and now tell me what is the matter with me."

"My friend," said the hen, as she helped herself from a pail of seed corn, with no rebuke from the farmer, "the trouble with you is that you do not advertise and I do. Now look at it as a plain business proposition: When you lay an egg you act as though you are ashamed of your job; you crawl off into the brush or into the pasture, out of sight, lay your egg, and then sneak away, as though you might be arrested. You do not even quack; and your husband, Professor Pekin, is less interested than you are; all he says is 'Come and take a swim and forget it.' The farmer wouldn't find your egg except by accident, and, as likely as not, he would step on it when he walked through the grass. Your eggs are all right and you lay a whole lot of them. As a producer, you do well enough, but the trouble is you are hiding your talents and your eggs under a napkin."

"Well, what of it," said the duck; "what can I do in addition to laying my egg? From 'way back thousands of years behind me, every ancestor did the same thing. They crawled into the brush and laid their eggs out of sight, and I am bound to follow in the steps of my ancestors and do the same thing."

"And there is where you get out of the modern game," said the hen. "Your ancestors were all right in their day, but you seem to forget that the world has turned around several times since they hid their eggs and scratched the dirt over them. Now I am popular because I am up-to-date. When I lay an egg, do I crawl off out of sight as though I were ashamed of what I did? Not a bit of it. I go into the most public nest I can find and I lay my egg where I know it will be noticed. Then I get out in a prominent place and let the world know that another egg is born. I cackle and I scream, and my husband, the Honorable Wm. White Leghorn, gets up on the fence and he flaps his wings and crows. We advertise to the world that we are doing business at the old stand. You do the business, but you are afraid to let the world know what you are up to, and then you have the nerve to find fault when it is your own fault because you won't advertise."

"But how can I advertise as you do?" said Mrs. Duck. "I haven't your voice, and if I were to lay out in the open and quack, and my husband were to scream, we would frighten people away from our eggs."

"The thing for you to do is to get a little melody into your voice. Instead of spending your time swimming, and standing on your head in the water, why don't you practice music, or do something unusual to let people know you are in the egg business? It is a curious thing about this old world. You, as an honorable and reliable duck, may go through life doing your full duty in the egg line, but you will have to die to get your reward, and that will come in the frying-pan and on the table, if you can only get some one to try and carve you up and have you slip away from the knife all over the table. The way to get a reward for duty done in this world is to advertise and let people know what you are doing and what you have for sale. Get music into your voice and then get up on the fence, and let that music out whenever you lay an egg."

At this moment the Leghorn hen heard her husband calling that he had found a worm, only to find that her husband had eaten the worm and merely desired her pleasant society. And the duck went thoughtfully across the barnyard to the pond.

"It is all true enough, I suppose," she said, "and I ought to advertise, but every one of my ancestors knew that if they advertised the foxes would get their eggs as fast as they laid them. It is hard to get away from old habits, and I think the best thing for me to do is to take a swim and cool off."

State Commission Considers Game Reserve

The State Game and Fish Commission in session at the State House, Dover, last Friday, heard reports from the National Game Commission Convention, held recently in Boston. Messrs. Reed and Davis who represented Delaware at the convention gave reports. While in New England they visited several State Game reserves in Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey, with the idea of securing information as to maintaining a game reserve in Delaware. The State Commission last week visited Sussex county with the object in view of securing a game reserve, if possible for immediate stocking.

Two tracts of land, one near Laurel, and the other near Georgetown are being considered by the Commission.

The Commission authorized the appointment of three additional wardens for the coming gunning seasons. These will be selected from those who took the examination some months ago, standing highest on the list.

Valuable Papers To Be Added To Public Archives

The Public Archives Commission of the State has received promise of a number of papers relative to Delaware men who fought in the early wars. Among those who have promised either the originals or copies of the same include Richard Rodney of New Castle; Miss Harriet Conneys, Dover; S. E. Nivin, Landenberg, Pa.; Thomas F. Bayard, Wilmington; and Col. Theodore Townsend, Milford. The Commission greatly appreciates the generous offer on the part of the Delawareans and others having such data, as the work, when completed in book form will be of considerable interest to the present and future generations.

Already the work of publishing the war records of 1812 is under way and any information as to this war, will confer a favor to the Commission by sending the same to the Public Archives Commission at Dover, or Mr. W. G. Tatnall, Wilmington, Delaware.

Dr. Steel On Visiting Committee

Dr. W. H. Steel was appointed at the recent meeting of the trustees of Delaware State Hospital for the Insane, the visiting committee for the coming month. The report for the month showed the population to have exceeded all former marks, including 472, of which number 264 are males and 208 females.

Pharmacists Examination In Newark

The Delaware Board of Pharmacy met in Newark at the State Board of Health Laboratory, when ten candidates for practical work were examined, and 13 for the written examination. No women were among the number, but one negro from Philadelphia was examined. The board had as a visitor, Dr. R. Millard of the Maryland Board of Pharmacy, who was well pleased with the manner in which the Delaware board worked. The papers were examined at Seaford today. No announcement has been given out by the board.

Discovery Of Rosin Puzzles Community

Workmen digging a cellar for the new Wooten and Moore building, on the lot on Market street, Laurel, one day last week, came upon a barrel of rosin buried at a depth of five feet. 100 years ago Caleb Ross, father of the late Governor William H. Ross, occupied a store that stood on the lot. Levin Hearn, a resident of the town, 83 years old, recalls that in his boyhood, rosin was bought in Laurel and shipped to points north but southern competition killed the business. So far as is known there never was a cellar within 50 yards of the spot where the barrel was unearthed and why it should have been buried there is a puzzle.

Speak Distinctly When Telephoning

Many errors in telephone calls are due to indistinct enunciation and to the confusion of numbers which sound so much alike over the telephone—for example: Eighty-three and thirty-three, seven and eleven.

In calling a number speak plainly with your lips close to the telephone mouthpiece. Separate the number as one-two-oh-three. Correct the operator if she repeats the wrong number.

Never take a number from a card or memorandum, for numbers are occasionally changed. The current issue of the directory is the surest—the only guide.

AMATEUR FLOWER GROWERS' DISPLAY

Women of the New Century Club, Kennett Square, have instituted a Flower Show. The second annual exhibit was held at Library Hall last week, and included many blossoms of great beauty. The display of Lewis Eastburn of New Garden included 200 varieties of dahlias. Their beauty and splendor elicited great praise from the admiring people who visited the show. Other exhibits including zinnias, marigolds, and rare candian, cosmos, spider plant, butterfly plant, heliotrope, sweet fern, pansies and nasturtiums added variety to the show.

Among the novelties were a straw hat, gilded and filled with splendid white dahlias; a birch bark canoe filled with nasturtiums and another quaintly artistic vessel of bark filled with the black berry seed pods of the iris. A good spray of Virginia creeper in its most brilliant fall colors, a jay of golden red and asters and a branch of beautiful oak leaves were noticeable for their simple natural beauty.

The Country Church

The country church needs all the attention that the student can give it. Some of its difficulties are very easy to find. Some devout and gifted man, very often one from amongst themselves, was formerly the leader of the service; was tried, proved, then chosen and ordained to be the pastor. He knew his flock. He knew their trials, weaknesses, knew their trials, their weaknesses, their sorrows and their zeal for right, for honesty. He knew their religious views and he loved them. He was himself a God-fearing, devout and honest man. He was real his people were real and had faith in him. These things became too slow for some of the well-educated clergy, and schools were established, especially for educating young men for the ministry. Some of them are earnest, godly men, others can learn to answer all the questions that are necessary to gain for them a place in a pulpit, but at heart they are not religious men; they have learned their business just as men try to learn farming in college. They lack one important requisite, i. e., experience. They have studied their oration, their manner, and their gestures; all their eloquence and force (if they call it that) is put on, and all their audience know it. Just that insincerity would drive real devout people from the heartfelt interest of former times, if there was nothing more of the comparison, but these men are in a professional class. They must be well paid. They must have all the week to rest and prepare an oration for Sunday, so they cannot do anything for their own support or to help any of their flock, many church people would think it very wrong for their minister to do any manual labor, yet the great ministers of the past were workmen. The exercise gave them strength of fibre, and good red blood, so they had clear minds, and could say what the spirit gave them to speak without taking a week to have it all arranged on paper ready. The cost of the modern church is great; and peculiar ways are used to get the cost gathered from the people, so that it is noticeable that much of the money for carrying on the machinery of religion is gathered from the young people, who do not give it for the cause as "the widow's mite," but to have a good time. These are a few of the troubles that confront the country churches. When the inquirer goes among the country people if he is really devout he will find as much good company as 50 years ago.

Turkey And Cranberry Sauce

In the coming feast of Thanksgiving the cranberry will play its usual modest but not unimportant part. It is the piccolo of the gastatory orchestra, too sharp and shrill to be enjoyable by itself, but adding to the symphony of the whole dinner a touch of piquancy that nothing else supplies. And in its own home, on Cape Cod, the cranberry is a thing to be reckoned with. From a natural fruit growing wild in the swamps it has become a most important special crop, carefully cultivated and systematically marketed. For this year's crop, although it was somewhat injured by frost, the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad had to furnish over a thousand freight-cars; and every day during the harvest the "cranberry specials" left Taunton or Middleboro for Boston, New York City, Canada, and the West. The cranberry, like the turkey and the feast that they both help to celebrate, is now not only national, but continental.
