

STUDENTS ADD TO FUND FOR BRITISH

Dance To Be Staged Saturday
Under Auspices
Of Student Council

Students at the University of Delaware have enlisted in the drive to send assistance to Great Britain and a benefit dance will be staged in Old College on Saturday night as part of the program.

Under the sponsorship of the Student Council, permission has been granted to Charles E. Grubb, business administrator, to use Old College for the affair.

The services of Andre Malecot and his orchestra and employees of the university have also been donated for the dance and it is hoped that more than $200 will be cleared.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements include: Chairman, John Willard, Frank Clendaniel, Leon Beck, Jack Ernest, Walter Smith, Warren Smith, Warren Grier, Harry Beck, Robert Berry, Leonard Lipstein, William Richardson, Ray Hecht, Al Green, Robert Vaughn, Rodger Bowman, and Herman Schuttmann.

A total of $9.60 was contributed to the fund last week as a result of the new program which followed the student-faculty dinner staged under the sponsorship of the Humanist Society.

The amount represented 10-cent forfeits played by either baffled "experts" or members of the English department who found the questions they had compiled answered.

Included on the board of experts were: Dr. Walter Hultihen, Dr. George H. Ryden, Dr. M. M. Daugherty, Miss Margaret Fleck, Miss Quasita Drake, Mrs. William Brimjohn, and David Anderson. Dr. Joseph S. Gould acted as master of ceremonies.

Another contribution will be made to the fund next Thursday when the proceeds from "Candida," to be presented in Mitchell Hall, will be turned over to the British Relief, Inc.

The E-52 Players, the university's highest-ranking dramatic organization, will present the play, written by George Bernard Shaw.

CONCERT VERSION OF OPERA To Be Given In Mitchell Hall March 13

The concert version of a contemporary opera will be presented by the musical department of the University of Delaware on Thursday, March 13, in Mitchell Hall.

A 30-piece symphony orchestra from Haverthmore will assist the university chorus of 50 voices, and three guest artists who took the leading roles either in the Chautauqua or New York performances of the opera will take part in the program. Miss Margaret Dennis, member of the Women's College faculty, will do the soprano role.

The opera, "The Devil and Daniel Webster," is a folk opera in one act. The story and libretto is by Stephen Vincent Benet while the music was written by Douglas Moore, head of the music department at Columbia University.

Webster's almost legendary power of oratory is told in the opera which relates that upon one occasion in New Hampshire, he was able to triumph over the Devil, himself, in a dispute about a farmer who had given him the soul of his soul in exchange for prosperity on his barren New Hampshire farm.

The Bach cantata, "Sleepers, Awake!" planned for the same program, will include the assisting group of instrumentalists and soloists of the opera. Paul Terry will be at the organ for the Bach cantata.

Edward Paine Art Work On Display

The Washington (D. C.) Sunday Star of February 16 carried an interesting article on the art exhibit of Edward Paine son of Mrs. and the late Dr. Geo. P. Paine who are well known in Newark.

Commenting on the exhibit, the Star said "There are about 25 paintings and a large screen. In nearly all of them the colors are naturalistic but arrangements and color schemes are highly imaginative." His work is very individual and one can describe it as "different" with justification.

To Sponsor Appearance Here
Of Dr. And Mrs. G. C. Myers

Dr. and Mrs. Garry Cleveland Myers, two nationally-known editors and educators, will lecture here on Wednesday, March 5, in the Newark High School auditorium. The program, planned by the Newark Parent-Teacher Association, will be open to all residents of this section and will also be attended by members of parent-teacher groups throughout New Castle County.

These editors and child experts have traveled throughout Europe as well as over nearly all of North America. Numerous researches in scientific journals and many books have their names as joint authors. In addition, Dr. Myers writes a daily syndicated column addressed to parents, which reaches about three million homes a day in the United States and Canada.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Myers have taught children and youths at every level from the first grade to the university, inclusive. Each has taught in several colleges, and both served on the teaching staff of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, O., for a number of years. Mrs. Myers, who has taught college courses at University of Washington, Seattle, Washington, for the last three summer terms, will teach at the Oregon State College at Corvallis during the spring quarter of 1941.

In the fall of 1940, Dr. and Mrs. Myers discontinued their regular teaching at Western Reserve University in order to extend their services through the courtesy of "Children's Activities", a publication which they edit to the whole nation. Before the present school year has expired, they will have spoken almost daily before parents, teachers and youths in scores of cities and in nearly half of the states of the union.

Although for years, each has lectured and conducted public forums throughout the United States, only this year have Dr. and Mrs. Myers been speaking from the same platform.

Mrs. George M. Hyde and Mrs. Robert J. Boyd are serving as co-chairmen of committee in charge of the program.

Local Educators At Atlantic City Meeting

ONE FIRE PER DAY LAST WEEK

Seven Alarms Answered In Seven Days

The Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company had a busy week answering no less than seven alarms to extinguish harmless fires during the past week.

Last Thursday the department was called out twice the same day. The first time was to help extinguish a grass fire at the home of Harry deRosa on Harmony Road. The Christiana Department also answered this alarm. In the afternoon the local firefighters were called to the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company to help subdue a grass fire which had ignited from burning trash and spread along the railroad tracks.

Two alarms on Saturday, the first a grass fire at the home of E. Victor Armstrong, Sandy Brae Road and the second to extinguish a faulty oil heater at the residence of Mrs. Mae Morgan, West Cleveland Avenue, were promptly extinguished.

The boys were again called into double action on Sunday to quell a large fire at the rear of the Wollaston Apartment building, 55 E. Delaware Avenue, and in the afternoon to combat a raging grass fire along the B. & O. tracks on East Main Street behind the town garages and residences of John C. Greer, Jonathan Johnson and Thos. Young. Whipped by a stiff breeze the fire was spreading rapidly but was soon brought under control upon the arrival of the department.

The seventh run of the series was completed yesterday afternoon when the company answered an alarm at Leisure's Garage, to put out another grass fire.

Thus the local department had an average of a fire a day for the last seven days although they were not answered in exactly that order.

Episcopal Youths To Hold Meeting At St. Andrew's

PLAYERS TO GIVE "CANDIDA" MARCH 6

University Group
Selects Shaw Play;
Phyllis Wood In Title Role

The nimble-witted George Bernard Shaw will take possession of the Mitchell Hall stage for the first time since his "Arms and the Man" was produced in 1931 when the University of Delaware E-52 Players present his "Candida" on March 6. In accord with the current Student Council drive in behalf of British War Relief, the E-52 Players will allocate the proceeds from "Candida" to the British War Relief Fund.

In "Candida," the redoubtable Shaw has turned his talents toward a human drama, not without its appealing comedy, of human emotions and conflicting ideals. Phyllis Wood, a senior at the Women's College, plays the title role, while Frank Annand portrays the poetical Marchbanks and David Snellenburg the austere Morell. Supporting the principles of the "triangle" are Mina Press as Prossy, Lloyd Jones as Burgess, and Walter Sanford as Lexy.

Miss Wood assumes the task of actress after her success as the director of "Air Raid" which appeared on a recent Playbill. Annand will be remembered for his stellar performance in last year's "Our Town" and Snellenburg (Please turn to page 8)

KRONACHER LECTURE TONIGHT

Theatre Director
To Give First In Series Of Talks

Dr. Alvin Kronacher, prominent European theatre director who has joined the University of Delaware faculty, will give the first in a series of four lectures tonight at Mitchell Hall. Presented under the sponsorship of the English department, the lectures will be given on the general subject, "The European Theatre."

Dr. Kronacher joined the university staff as lecturer in dramatics this month, coming directly from Europe where he had been directing plays in the theatres in Vienna, Prague, Paris, and Switzerland since he left Germany in 1933. During this period, he also lectured at the Sorbonne and the Free German High School, Paris.

Before 1933, he had served as director of the municipal theatres of Leipzig and Frankfurt and had collaborated with Max Reinhardt at the Munich Art Theatre and in Karlsruhe.

The general public is invited to attend these lectures for which there will be no admission charge.

Following his lecture, Dr. and Mrs. Kronacher will be given an informal reception by the E-52 Players, university dramatic society. Miss Emma Lou Stevens is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

COUNCIL TO VOTE ON AMENDMENT

Delegation From PTA To Oppose Passage

A full attendance of council members is expected at the regular monthly meeting of the Newark Town Council next Monday evening when the third and final reading of a proposed amendment to an existing ordinance pertaining to the erection of garages and filling stations is expected to be acted upon by the council.

Final action on the matter was deferred from last month's meeting upon Councilman Hubert's motion to table the amendment, due to the absence of three members. Councilmen Ramsey and Wollaston have returned from Hot Springs and are expected to be present at the March meeting.

A letter sent all P-T. A. members also indicates that their delegation will again be on hand to oppose passage of the amendment. The letter, dated today and signed by the president of the P-T. A. is reprinted below:

"At the last Council Meeting, the matter of building a garage across from the grade school was not acted upon by the Council due to an insufficient number of Council members present. Some action is expected at the March 3rd meeting and P-T. A. members are urged to attend. Be at the City Building, 26 Academy Street, by 8 o'clock of March 3rd."

22ND YEAR OF FUEL TAX MARKED THIS MONTH

Levy Launched In Oregon In 1919; Daniel Attacks Merger

February, the month of famous birthdays, is augmented by a further date which will be observed but not celebrated by motor vehicle owners of this state, according to H. V. Daniel, secretary, Associated Petroleum Industries of Delaware, who today pointed out that mid-February marks the 22nd birthday of the American gasoline tax which was launched in Oregon in 1919.

"Delaware motor vehicle owners have contributed in state and federal gasoline taxes approximately $25,000,000 since our gasoline tax was imposed in 1923," Daniel declared. "Last year our motor vehicle owners paid approximately $3,000,000 in gasoline taxes and the 1941 tax bill will be further enlarged by the fifty per cent increase in the federal gasoline tax imposed last July. The overall burden of gasoline taxes in the United States is equivalent to a sales tax of 48 per cent of the retail price."

"The gasoline tax, when all revenues are devoted exclusively to highway improvement, is a fair tax and an exact measure of highway use. However, when these revenues are used for other purposes, as has been the practice here in Delaware, the tax becomes inequitable and unjust. Eleven states have recognized this principle and have enacted constitutional amendments which prohibit diversion of these funds to non-highway purposes. Such an amendment will be introduced in this session of the legislature and should receive the unqualified and vigorous support of highway users."

"Delaware motor vehicle owners will observe this February birthday with some genuine misgivings. These tax payers, many of them small business men, farmers and rural dwellers realize that unless the 'One Fund Merger Act' is amended that our highway fund will be submerged into the general fund and that further diversion is inevitable. The gasoline tax birthday will cause no joy among citizens anxious to protect our highways and to have Delaware's fiscal structure improved. Legislative action, alone, can save the day and make the date next year one really worth celebrating."

MEDIUM HOGS FEED OUT BEST

Better Pork Prices Held Likely

Present prospects for better hog prices are reviving Delaware farmers' interest in hog production. Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard recently took note of the brighter swine market outlook and said that increased consumer income and purchasing power will give farmers an opportunity to increase their income from hogs by increasing production.

Any increase in hog numbers naturally brings up the question of swine type. Shall we raise small hogs, middle-sized hogs, or large hogs?

A study conducted by the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry at the Beltsville, Maryland, Research Center since 1931 has compared the pork-producing ability of hogs of different types. Large, intermediate and small type Poland-China hogs were used.

The nine-year study brought out the following facts:

Large type and intermediate type sows farrowed and weaned a larger number of pigs per litter than small type sows. Large and medium type pigs were heavier at birth and at weaning time. The medium type pigs made the fastest gains, the large type pigs ranked next and the small type pigs last. But the difference in feed consumption for each 100 pounds of gain was too small to show an advantage for any of the three groups.

When the three lots were fed out to a final weight of 225 pounds, the small type hogs were too fat and the large type underfinished. And when fed to the same degree of finish, the small type hogs weighed 143 pounds, the medium type 214 pounds and the large type 225 pounds. Considering all factors, the intermediate type is believed to be superior in its all-round ability to meet present-day marketing requirements. The medium type has the weight advantage that is flexible enough to furnish a good market hog at weights of 200 to 235 pounds and heavier if conditions warrant.

After Miss Dorothea Hall of Mobile, Ala., was robbed of $50, she gave this description of the holdup man to police: "He was a perfect gentleman, and spoke in a cultured manner, even when he threatened to kill me."

WHAT, NO MERCHANDISE SHOW?

It appears questionable whether or not the Newark Chamber of Commerce will again sponsor its annual Merchandise and Food Exhibit, due, possibly to lack of interest and the fact that the Army is not available this year.

Despite the handicaps, we feel that the years of work and goodwill built up by previous events of this nature will have been in vain if the Merchandise Show is abandoned in 1941. We believe this affair has been a source of benefit to local merchants, consumers and the town as a whole in that it has brought literally thousands of buyers into Newark specifically to see what merchants and manufacturers had to offer them.

We believe the people of Newark and nearby rural areas have enjoyed these shows—we believe they have purchased products displayed at these shows and we believe that sponsors of the shows have profited either directly or indirectly from them.

The mere fact that a few merchants aren't sufficiently interested or that the Army isn't available seems a poor excuse for abandoning such a worthy project.

There are plenty of merchants who do believe the Merchandise Show is a good thing and there are other places it can be held besides the Armory. Maybe not so large, maybe not so desirable, but in these critical times we can't always have things just the way we would like them to be.

We believe that if the Merchandise Show was worth starting, if it was worth promoting for three years, it was either darn poor judgment to stage it in the first place or its darn poor judgment to abandon it now.

A MOOT QUESTION

The question, "Who is the Head of a Family", might well give rise to controversy in some families where divergencies of opinion exist on the subject. Still, in other instances, there exist 'Casper Milquetoast's' who readily admit the sovereignty of the so-called weaker sex, commonly called the 'better half'.

But, in the case of Uncle Sammie's Income Tax Returns, there exists but little doubt as to who is Head of a Family — at least not where any payment of taxes is concerned.

For income tax purposes there can be only one head of a family. In addition to being the chief financial support, the head of a family must be related by blood, marriage, or adoption to his dependents, and he must have a legal or moral obligation to exercise family control over them and provide for their care. As such he is entitled to the same exemption allowed a married person—$2,000.

There are some unusual cases under this classification. A single person, who supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood, by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for them is based upon a legal or moral obligation, is the head of a family, and as such is entitled to the exemption allowed a married person—$2,000. In addition he may claim a credit of $400 for each dependent.

Another example not so much out of the usual is this: A widower who supports in his household his aged mother and his child 17 years of age is the head of a family, and as such is entitled to an exemption of $2,000 and a credit of $800 for two dependents.

Not infrequently a case like this is reported: It involves the support of an indigent adult by a single person who is morally and legally obligated to provide a home for this individual. In such a case the exemption as the head of a family may be allowed—the circumstances of each case are considered in making the determination. If the individual so supported is not financially dependent, even though the taxpayer maintains a common home and furnishes the chief support, the latter may not claim the exemption.

A taxpayer who supports in his home his minor children over whom he exercises family control is classified as the head of a family, even though the children may have an income of their own sufficient for their maintenance. If he does not support them, by reason of their own income, but does exercise family control, he cannot be classified as the head of a family.

FUN PROMISED

Fun galore will be in store for the townspeople at the high school gymnasium this evening when the business men meet the faculty in what has been dubbed 'Burro Basketball'.

If any credence can be given the stories we have heard about the trained animals who will supply the motive power for the combatants, they will surely live up to the saying "as stubborn as a mule".

It's all in the spirit of good, clean fun, however, and promises an evening of excellent, if side-splitting, entertainment at little cost. Proceeds derived from the affair will go towards the support and maintenance of the general athletic fund which can well afford to have its coffers replenished.

Ernest Faulkner, motorist, sued Abram Ostrander, pedestrian, in a Peoria, Ill., court on the grounds that he suffered $1,000 worth of worry because his car hit Ostrander.

By mistake Moe Mamek broke into a jail yard at London, O., and explained to the sheriff that he was hungry and thought the fence surrounded a canning factory.

Weekly Sermon

RELIGIOUS REPAIRING

Text — "The perfecting of the saints"
—Ephesians 4:12

In Matthew 4:12 we read that Jesus saw James and John "mending their nets." The same word translated "mending" here, is the one rendered "perfecting" in Ephesians 4:12. This gives us the idea that Christians may need mending or repairing. A broken net must be mended to be usable. What of a Christian who is broken down?

The standard of the Christian Church is very high. Our pattern is perfect, since we aim at Christlikeness in life and service, "the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ." The Church—the body of Christ—must be built up or edified. In some cases it must be rebuilt, much as a machine is sometimes made over or renewed by being repaired. A house can be so fixed up that it will be "just as good as new."

We express ourselves through our buildings. Solomon's temple spoke of Israel's devotion to God. Our great Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., expresses our interest in learning. The Empire State Building in New York indicates our commercial life. Churches and cathedrals tell of our religious life. Paul in I Corinthians 3:9 says, "Ye are God's building." God expresses Himself through His Church. Therefore should not the Church be what God would have her be?

Now Ephesians 4:12 says, "For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ." The body of Christ is built up by the work of ministering. As soon as Peter's wife's mother was healed of the fever, "she ministered unto them" (Mark 1:31). Paul had the "care of all the churches" (II Cor. 11:28). Jesus urged Peter to "feed my sheep" (John 21:16, 17). Active service is required in order to build the Church of Christ.

Sharp tools are required for good work. Even a first class mechanic cannot do a good job with dull tools. So Peter had to repent of the denial of his Master before he could feed the Lord's sheep. John Wesley became a renowned evangelist after his "heart was strangely warmed." The poet puts it thus:

"O teach me, Lord, that I may teach
The precious things Thou dost impart;
And wing my words, that they may reach
The hidden depths of many a heart."

Yes, "saints" should be "perfected." They ought to be, so that they can do what they should do. We do not repair "junk," but a real car. Sinners need saving, but saints may need mending. And the evangelist, the pastor, the teacher are bound to do this. A housekeeper transforms a hovel into a home. A missionary must preach to the unevangelized. A true pastor adjusts his church to the pattern of Christ.

Food for Thought

Health

The new growth of wintercress is now in season.

Wintercress is one of our most common Delaware weeds. It is most noticeable when it is in full bloom and it is then called wild mustard. Its bright yellow flower covers many Delaware fields through the late spring and early summer.

The young plants now in our fields are the product of the seeds of those yellow flowers. The lobed leaf closely resembles watercress. The plants' leaves are now two or three inches in size and are very tender.

Wintercress is commonly used by many Delawareans. It is sometimes called winter greens or sometimes pronounced wintercress or just cress.

This green is equal in food value to any which you might buy at the store. It supplies an abundance of iron, vitamin A and, if properly cooked or used raw, of vitamin C.

Wintercress can be used either raw or cooked. Its pungent flavor blends well in a mixed salad or it may be served alone as a green salad. It may be substituted for lettuce as a salad leaf. Meat is attractive garnished with wintercress as well as with watercress.

Sandwich fillings such as chopped meat, cottage cheese or mixed vegetable will be improved by the addition of wintercress.

Wintercress may be cooked by the usual method for spinach. It should be thoroughly washed and then cooked with little added water until tender. Add butter, season and serve. Avoid over-cooking.

Panned wintercress is also very good. Melt cooking fat in a skillet and add the chopped greens. Cook slowly for 15 to 20 minutes, or until the greens are tender. Sprinkle with a small amount of flour, add milk or cream and season to taste.

Wintercress is so common in Delaware that almost anyone should be able to find it. However, if you are not sure that you can recognize it in the fields have someone who knows it help you. In most Delaware towns wintercress can be purchased. For example in Dover you can get it from a corner wagon or from the Amish market. In Wilmington it can frequently be purchased on market days on King Street.

If you have never used this green, get acquainted with it and see if your family doesn't approve.

The State Board of Health has a leaflet on Delaware Greens. We will be glad to send it to you if you will write for it.

A FOOTBALL PLAYER CAN BE the laziest guy in the world and the spring grid drills inaugurated by Coach Bill Murray are sure to work a hardship on most of the boys who, every year, look forward to their spring siesta.

Not that the program won't benefit them in the long run for, in the majority of cases, boys will be conditioned in the spring time for the first time in their lives. After all, it takes a lot of will power to leave a bed and go out into the cold air for calisthenics, laps, etc., especially with the lazy atmosphere of the training house dragging them down. But they won't have much choice—the practice has been scheduled and they're "it".

The grid season is a grueling three-month grind at best, although it's worse for some than others (depending upon condition and mental attitude) and the average run of athlete is content, at the end of November, to hang up his athletic toga for another year.

THERE ARE A FEW EXCEPTIONS, of course—some three lettermen who can take academic work in stride and also participate in the football, basketball, and baseball programs. Lew Carey was an example of this and he even added a fourth sport, tennis, to his repertoire. A rare exception, Lew was outstanding in all sports.

Earl Sheats, another top-notch athlete at Delaware a couple of years ago, was also in this class during his first three years, but even he crumbled under the pressure and dropped basketball in order to enjoy the gap between the football and baseball seasons.

But there's no rest for the sleepy gridders this year and just when the climate gets balmy, he'll be prancing around Frazier Field in heavy grid equipment throwing blocks and tackles just as if it were mid-fall.

Coach Murray lost little time on Monday when he called a squad of about 25 for the first unofficial workout and the gridders were given several new plays in addition to conditioning exercises.

We're all in favor of the idea—it'll give the one-sport football men not participating in track, baseball, golf or tennis something to do with all the spare time he finds on his hands come the first day of spring.

ALTHOUGH HE PROVED HIS mettle by emerging victorious in Jimmy Martin's championship billiard tournament at the State Parlor and by downing Ren George and Frank Porter in challenge matches, Bob Walls found himself minus the cue crown Tuesday night, when Don Pierce, local pride and joy, racked up a 100-89 triumph.

Recognized as one of the best players in this section, Pierce was favored to take over the champion, but whether or not he can do it again, in view of Tuesday's results, is problematical.

With all due respects to the new ruler's ability, there are several facts to be considered. A student at the University of Delaware, Walls was forced to play a 500-point match with George which covered a period of four nights and another 100-point match with Porter. The increasing pressure of studies and the defense of his crown may have had something to do with the outcome of his final match with Pierce.

THE COMPETITION, KNOTTED AT 73-73, was nip-and-tuck throughout, with Pierce finally gaining the advantage when Walls missed a difficult break shot. In all fairness to the dethroned king, a return match should be scheduled, and it should prove well-worth watching.

Jimmy Martin, sponsor of the tournament and the challenge matches, has announced that Pierce will now defend his newly-gained title and Walls is almost a sure bet to be included in the list of competitors.

With the activities at the State parlor and another tournament now being conducted at the Newark Billiard Academy, interest in the sport has skyrocketed to a new high this year.

Managed by Charles (Bunny) Walters, the Academy competition (two tournaments are being held) has sixty-four entries participating, a new high for this section and both managers report that new devotees to the recreation are turning up every day.

Don Pierce, favorite in the Newark Billiard Academy Class A billiard tournament, moved into the quarter-final round of the competition this week via a victory over Brother Wayne Pierce. The winner experienced little trouble as he rolled up a 100-55 triumph.

Other second round, class A winners were: Fred Cote who trounced Frank Porter, 100-84, and Bob Mace who handed Kenneth Barnes a 100-50 setback.

In the Class B division, Billy Gray drew a forfeit from Bayard Cox and Joe Coyle defaulted to John Davis. Hugo Thomas, leading exponent of style, completely polished off Bill Dickerson, 50-17, to join the second-round ranks, while Tom Kirkley racked up a 50-33 conquest over Frank Dunn.

BLUE AND GOLD CAGERS GO ON SCORING SPREE TO COP WINS OVER TWO OPPONENTS

Haverford Downed Tuesday Night In Unexciting Contest; Hens Stage Brilliant Rally Wednesday To Defeat West Chester; Sadowski Gets 18 Points

Coach Joe Shields' University of Delaware cagers closed their home basketball season this week in brilliant style when they sent two quintets, Haverford College and West Chester State Teachers' College, down to defeat.

Defeated by one point in an over-a-time tilt with the Teachers earlier in the season, the Hens gained revenge for the setback when they staged one of the strongest rallies ever seen on the local court to turn what looked like a probable victory for the invaders into a positive defeat.

With Conrad Sadowski, Capt. Bill Gerow, and Carly Douglass splitting the chords with reckless abandon, the Hens racked up a 22-point third quarter, a spurge that offset the five-point deficit at intermission and put them in front, 36-25.

The Teachers found point-gathering bad business during those hectic ten minutes, accounting for only two field goals and two charity conversions. Both action shots were marked up within the first two minutes of the third period, giving the visitors a 23-14 advantage, but it was then that the home forces went into action.

George Barlow started the uprising with a double decker and Sadowski ignited the spark when he dropped in three long-range shots, punctuated only by Jay Smith's foul for West Chester. Gerow dropped in another and within three minutes of play, the Hens, trailing by nine points, had evened the count at 24-24.

Then it was Douglass with a long overhead shot and the Hens' captain started moving as he dropped in two straight. Sadowski again, then Douglass, and Gerow, and when the smoke of the third period had cleared away, the locals were in front, 36-25.

Sadowski, with eight field goals and two fouls for 18 points, was high scorer for the Hens, while Gerow accounted for 16, and Douglass, 14. Smith was top man for the invaders with eleven.

Hampered by a weak offensive, Haverford trailed throughout the entire game after the first two minutes, and the Hens were limited in their scoring only because of their inability to make shots count.

Conrad Sadowski handed Joe Shields' charges a two-point lead at the start of the tilt when he zipped a long shot through from the floor and the Blue and Gold forces were never headed thereafter.

Off slowly, the Hens were held to a 13-8 score during the first half, but broke loose following the intermission to roll up 26 points while holding the opposition to nine.

In front by only five points at the start of the second half, the Hens staged their big drive in the first ten minutes of the second half when they rolled the lead up to 30-15.

Bob Miller, whose three field goals represented Haverford's entire action-shot total for the first half, led the visitors' scoring with nine points, while Capt. Bill Gerow paced the locals with ten.

BOB WALLS DETHRONED IN THIRD DEFENSE

Don Pierce Turns In 100-39 Win To Lift Cue Crown From Champion

Victorious in Jimmy Martin's championship cue tournament, Bob Walls withstood the challenges of two aspirants to the title when it was placed on the block, but found his crown lifted in his third defense, Tuesday night.

After Ren George and Harvey Johnson had made desperate, but futile attempts to dethrone the University of Delaware star, it remained for "Dandy Don" Pierce, a smooth-working local boy to turn the trick.

Pierce, off to an early lead, found the match tied up at 73-73 as Walls staged his comeback, but the ex-champion missed a difficult shot to permit his challenger to gain a margin almost impossible to overcome. The final score: Pierce 100; Walls 89.

Walls turned back his first challenger, George, in a grueling 500-ball match which ended in the former's favor, only 16 balls in front. Played in four blocks of 125 points each, the affair proved nip-and-tuck throughout but in the final analysis, it was Walls' performance in the second block that provided the victory margin.

The defending champion, after trailing his opponent, 127-99 in the first block, came back in the second stanza to grab off 152 balls to his opponent's 76, thereby giving him a 48-ball margin. George cut this down somewhat in the third block when he triumphed, 158-124, to slash the lead to 14 balls, but Walls won the final battle, 125-123, to provide the margin of victory. The final score: Walls 500; George 484.

Harvey Johnson, the second challenger, was limited to a 100-point match but fell before Walls' superior stroking in a close encounter, 100-92.

Pierce, recognized as one of the best cue-handlers in this section, will now defend his championship against all challengers.

MUSEUM IS DEDICATED AT COLLEGE SATURDAY

Collection Of 15,000 Pieces Presented By H. G. Omwake

The possibility of man's existence in the state of Delaware 15,000 years ago was suggested Saturday at the eighth annual meeting of the Archaeological Society of Delaware, celebrating the opening of the society's museum room in the basement of the east wing of the Memorial Library at the University of Delaware.

C. A. Weslager, editor of the society, speaking last night on the "Archaeological Perspective of the Delaware Peninsula," with a resume of Indian history on the peninsula, stated that Folsom Man was the oldest known living man in America. Evidence of the existence of Folsom Man in the southwestern part of the country 15,000 years ago has been found. Folsom Man made a distinctive arrow point and eight of these points have been found in Delaware. He existed in the pre-pottery age and was a nomadic hunter-gatherer, it was stated by Mr. Weslager.

The meeting of the society opened at 1:30 in the new museum room with registration of guests and members, followed by an inspection of museum exhibits under the supervision of H. G. Omwake. During the afternoon session papers were presented and read as follows: "Local Indian Quarries" by Harry Wilson, archaeologist, West Chester, Pa.; "Florida Shell Heaps" by Richard E. Stearns, curator of archaeology, Natural History of Maryland; "Comments on the Museum Exhibit of Arkansas Pottery" by Archibald Crozier, president, Archaeological Society of Delaware; "Pots and Gourds" by Dr. Frank G. Speck, chairman of anthropology, University of Pennsylvania; and "Technique of Pottery Reconstruction with Demonstration" by Eugene Gardner, archaeologist, National Youth Administration, Altoona, Pa.

Following a banquet at the Betty Ann Tea Shoppe the annual business meeting was held and Archibald Crozier was elected president of the society. Other officers elected were: Vice-president for New Castle County, H. V. Lang, Wilmington; Kent County vice-president, William O. Cabbage, Wyoming; Sussex County vice-president, State Senator Harold T. Purnell of Georgetown; corresponding secretary, John Swietochowski, Wilmington; recording secretary, Arthur Volkman, Wilmington; treasurer, Frank Long, New Castle; editor, C. A. Weslager, Richardson Park; museum adviser, H. G. Omwake; directors, Dr. Walter Hultihen, president of the University of Delaware and William Hobart of Claymont. Lamont DuP. Copeland and Col. George A. Elliott became patrons of the society for 1941. Six new members were admitted to the society.

St. Rep. Dr. George W. Rhodes' bill in the state legislature to purchase the Wigglesworth collection was approved by the society.

Mayor Frank Collins of Newark welcomed the guests at the evening session held in the museum room and said he was sure that this was only the nucleus of something better to come.

The large private collection of more than 15,000 pieces was officially presented to the museum by Mr. Omwake. Augmenting the Omwake collection are: one of stones and arrowheads given by the University of Delaware; stone implements from a Neolithic quarry section, given by Harry Wilson of West Chester, Pa.; a collection of Florida Indian Pottery, presented by Richard E. Stearns, curator of archaeology of the Natural History Society of Maryland; an exhibit of Arkansas pottery, presented by Mr. Omwake and Archibald Crozier, president of the Delaware Society.

Mr. Crozier also made a gift to the museum of stones and implements representing the chert making industry of Page County, Va., and an additional exhibit of quarry tools and stones given by C. A. Weslager, editor of the Delaware Archaeological Society.

SURPLUS FOODS LISTED

Fresh Kale Is Added To List In Three States

National surplus food items listed on the official surplus bulletin for the month of February remain the same for the period March 1—March 31, 1941. It was announced today by the Surplus Marketing Administration, Louis Bessemer, in charge of the Food Stamp Plan operations in New Castle County, said that needy families who are participating in the plan will also be able to buy fresh carrots which are continued on the list in the Northeastern Region, including the State of Delaware.

In six areas and three states the addition of fresh kale was made to the surplus list. Persons eligible to take part in the Food Stamp Plan in Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, and in Allentown-Bethlehem-Scranton and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and in Yonkers, Nassau County and the five boroughs of New York City, may use their food order stamps to purchase this surplus item.

Mr. Bessemer again urged that all housewives, whether or not they are participating in the Food Stamp Plan, take advantage of the excellent buys of these foods currently listed as surplus. He said the list of foods which may be purchased with blue surplus food order stamps include dairy and pork products, and fresh fruits and vegetables.

The new list for the Northeastern Region, effective March 1st to March 31st, inclusive, makes available the following food items:

Butter, raisins, rice, pork lard, pork, corn meal, shell eggs, dried prunes, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour and whole wheat (graham) flour, onions (except green onions), fresh carrots, Irish potatoes, fresh oranges, fresh apples, fresh pears, fresh grapefruit, fresh kale.

*Pork shall include all cuts, fresh, including chilled or frozen, pickled, salted, cured or smoked, but not cooked or packed in metal or glass containers.

Although he never worked for the city, Bob Skinner of Nashville, Tenn., was recently voted a pension by the city fathers for his years of unofficial service as office-boy in the municipal building.
