AAA Program For 1939 Includes Individual Plan

Delaware farmers can get first-hand information about the application of the 1939 AAA program to their farms by conferring with local committees in using what is known as a "farm plan," according to C. Arthur Taylor, president of the Delaware Agricultural Conservation Program State Committee.

Committees have made arrangements and are meeting with each farmer to help him work out his "farm plan," which is an outline of the way the program works on the individual farm in 1939. Mr. Taylor points out. Through this personal contact with the committee, the farmer who desires to participate this year will be able to obtain information as to application of the program to his farm.

INCREASE PREDICTED FOR CROPS

Total Acreage To Be Planted In State Larger

An increase in the total acreage of spring planted crops of about two per cent over last year is indicated on Delaware farms, according to information received at the State Agricultural Extension office in Newark, from the College Park, Md., office of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

According to the report, increases in the planting of corn, oats, tame hay, and soybeans are indicated, while other spring crops are expected to be about the same as last year.

The acreage of wheat sown last fall in Delaware was materially reduced and much of the former wheat acreage was shifted to other crops. This shift to crops other than wheat is given as a reason for the anticipated increase in the acreage of spring planted crops.

Corn Acreage Increases

The indicated acreage of corn to be planted this spring in Delaware is 144,000 acres, an increase of about 1,000 acres or about one per cent over last year's 143,000 acres. Should the average yield of 27.5 bushels per acre be produced on this year's indicated acreage, a crop of 3,960,000 bushels will be produced. Last year's corn crop in Delaware totaled 4,147,000 bushels because of the high average yield per acre of 29 bushels.

An increase in the plant of oats from 3,000 acres last year to 4,000 acres this year, is indicated, the report showed.

The March 1 survey, conducted by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics indicates that Delaware farmers intend to harvest about 65,000 acres of tame hay while in 1938, they harvested 64,000 bushels. The 1929-1938 average acreage of tame hay in Delaware has been 62,000 acres.

No change in the 1939 acreages of sweet potatoes, potatoes, and cowpeas is indicated for 1939. However, a five per cent increase in the acreage of soybeans is expected. This will be an increase from 41,000 acres in 1939 to 43,000 acres this year.

Crop	1929-38	1939	1939 per cent
Corn	143,000	144,000	101
Oats	3,000	4,000	133
Tame Hay	62,000	63,000	102
Potatoes	5,200	5,200	100
Sweet Potatoes	7,000	7,000	100
Soybeans	41,000	43,000	105
Cowpeas	2,000	2,000	100

Total of above 251,200 267,100
Partly duplicated in hay acreage.

NEW M. E. MINISTER APPOINTED

Rev. O. A. Bartley To Succeed Rev. Leonard White

Sixty pastoral changes, the largest number in nearly 10 years, were announced by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Washington Area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at the concluding service of the 71st annual session of the Wilmington Conference in Asbury Church, Wilmington, Sunday night.

The Rev. Walter A. Hearn, who has been pastor of Laurel, was made superintendent of the Dover District, succeeding the Rev. Dr. E. C. Hallman, who following this completion of a six-year term, is assigned to the Laurel pastorate.

More than 1,300 persons filled the church for the final service. The 60 changes are almost a third of the total number of changes in the conference.

A major change brings the Rev. O. A. Bartley, pastor at the Brandywine Church, Wilmington, for five years, to the Newark M. E. Church, succeeding the Rev. Leonard White who has been assigned to Deal's Island, Md.

A native of Chrisfield, Md., Rev. Bartley was raised in Cape Charles, Va., and attended Randolph-Macon College from 1920 to 1923, when he suffered a breakdown in health. He entered the Methodist Conference in 1924.

Rev. Bartley completed work on his bachelor's degree at the University of Delaware, where he was elected to the Phi Kappa Phi honorary society. He was awarded his master's degree in economics in 1934.

He is married and has two children, a daughter, Frances, 13, and a son, O. A. Bartley, Jr., 10. Mrs. Bartley is the former Frances Holland, daughter of the Rev. F. R. Holland, a retired member of the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Rev. Bartley, who is 38 years of age, is a member of the Cleric Club, vice president of the Wilmington Council of Churches, and last winter, directed the Wilmington religious census. He is treasurer of the Wilmington City Missionary Society, and a member of Chi Beta Phi, an honorary scientific society.

He will assume his duties here on Sunday.

The Rev. Ralph C. Jones, who has been pastor at Delmar for a number of years, succeeds Mr. Bartley at Brandywine Church. Mr. Jones is widely known in Wilmington, having some time ago been pastor for a number of years of Silverbrook Church.

A. O. H. Grier Speaker At Rotary Session

A. O. H. Grier, editor of the Wilmington News-Journal papers, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Newark Rotary Club in the Deer Park Hotel, Monday night.

Speaking on the "Correct Reporting of Criminal Trials," Mr. Grier told of the effort made by a joint committee of the American Bar Association, the American Newspaper Publishers Association, and the American Society of Newspaper Editors to overcome unethical practices in connection with the publicity attached to criminal court procedure. He cited the Hoffman trial and the Hall-Mills case as examples of what he said was improper reporting.

Alfred Deek was welcomed into membership in the club. Singing was led by Allen Jones and William Wilson provided music. Mr. Grier was introduced by J. H. Rumer.

Federation Head To Talk At Newark Century Club

Mrs. L. Mulford Taylor, president of the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Newark New Century Club Monday afternoon. The program is in charge of the American citizenship committee, headed by Mrs. Robert Boyd. A group of girls from the Newark High School chorus will sing under the direction of Miss Catherine Rittenhouse, a member of the faculty. Tea will be served by Mrs. J. Fenton Daugherty and her aides.

Mrs. Jay Robinson has announced that the dramatic committee will present a mystery farce in two acts entitled: "Can This Be Murder?" at the club meeting on April 17. The cast of nine characters has been selected and rehearsals are under way under Mrs. Robinson's direction. This is the first major dramatic production at the club in several years.

COUNCIL CANDIDATE

BATTERSBY IN FIELD

Eastern Contest Looms For Seat In Town Council

Norman E. Battersby, 45, of 224 S. Chapel St., announced himself as a candidate this week for a seat on the Council of Newark as a representative from the Eastern District. He filed in opposition to George F. Ferguson, 334 E. Main St., who posted himself for reelection for a fifth two-year term earlier in the month.

Born in Philadelphia, Mr. Battersby has lived in Newark for 22 years. He is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad in the Maintenance of Way Department. He is married and has two daughters attending local schools.

Party Fight Seen

Although contests for Council seats have seldom been conducted as party fights, the forthcoming test is seen as a possible Republican-Democratic measure. Mr. Battersby is active in Republican affairs, while the 83-year-old Mr. Ferguson is one of the oldest Democrats in White Clay Creek Hundred.

Unless other candidates file for office on or before the deadline is reached Saturday, no other contest is in prospect.

Mayor Frank Collins, recuperating from an illness at his W. Main St. home, is unopposed for president of Council, while Councilman C. Emerson Johnson, Western District, and George E. Ramsey, Middle District, are still unopposed. All of the candidates are seeking re-election except Mr. Battersby. Balloting will take place on April 11.

Bill Becomes Law

The lower chamber immediately passed the Senate bill to transfer the Motor Vehicle Department from the jurisdiction of the Secretary of State to the Highway Department. The bill was then passed to the Governor for his anticipated veto.

With the affixing of signatures by Lieut-Gov. Edward W. Cooch and Secretary of the Senate Harry E. Pierce on Wednesday, the highway re-organization bill immediately became a law. Re-organization will probably take place within the next 30 days.

Governor McMullen returned to the Senate on Tuesday his veto of Senator Edward Abraham's bill to replace the Department of Elections for New Castle County.

Explaining his actions, the Governor said it is rumored without denial that "hundreds and thousands of names of persons, male and female, are on the registration books and voted at every election, who do not live in Wilmington nor in fact do not have a residence anywhere in the state." This bill, he said, "will not aid in eliminating any of the present election evils."

Restored To Calendar

"We protect the youth of our state with proper education and by church teachings," the Governor continued, "then subject them at maturity to the degradation and humiliation of selling or buying votes. I think the election laws should be changed to do away with any possibility of this kind of bribery."

Governor McMullen brought the message to the Senate himself but asked that it be read by one of the reading clerks. This was done by Mrs. Vera G. Davis.

After the Governor had left the room Senator Burton S. Heal, Republican floor leader, moved that the bill be restored to the calendar. This provided by a party vote of 4 to 3, the Republicans favoring and the Democrats opposing the motion.

It is predicted that a substitute bill will be drawn to eliminate several loosely written sections in the original measure.

Asks Budget Boost

Another gubernatorial veto was presented to the House on Wednesday when the general appropriations or budget bill was riddled in several sections. Reduction of traveling (Please Turn To Page 8)

Organized Move Opposing Motor Revenue Diversion

A wave of organized opposition to the proposed sensational diversion of $1,000,000 of motor tax revenues and the juggling of trusted funds is sweeping Delaware and aroused citizens, substantial and powerful groups of highway users, will demand a hearing on the subject at an early date. H. V. Daniel, secretary, Associated Petroleum Industries of Delaware announced this week.

"One of the most important planks in the platform of the party in control was a pledge that they would not permit any further diversion of motor tax revenues," Mr. Daniel stated, "and a majority of Delaware voters accepted that promise at face value and gave it the seal of their approval at the last election. Citizens have looked upon that portion of the plank as a promissory note and they expect it to be honored."

ROAD BILL RE-PASSED; MAY ALTER TWO ACTS

Appropriation And Election Measures May Be Rewritten

With Governor Richard C. McMullen returning outright vetoes on the Highway Bill and the county election board measure and a partial veto on the appropriation act, it looks like members of the General Assembly, endeavoring to wind up a long, hard winter, will drift right through spring into an equally long, hard summer.

For as fast as the Democratic Governor affixes his pained "nay, nay" to a measure, the Republican majority in both houses immediately restores the wounded bill to the calendars and prepares to vote it over the gubernatorial objections.

That the situation is likely to continue ad infinitum is indicated by a belligerent and adamant Democratic minority in both houses, pledged to stand united against every Republican measure, opposing a determined majority that has threatened to pass its acts, then take a ten-day recess while the governor does a wholesale job of vetoing.

Highway Bill Re-Passed

Following the Governor's inaction, the gentlemen will then re-assemble to do a wholesale job of their own—that of re-passing bills over objections notwithstanding.

Republican leaders predicted Sunday that the Legislature will complete its work not later than April 7, three days over the usual 60, but more recent developments leave the adjournment date in doubt.

Governor McMullen, making an unprecedented personal appearance before the Senate last Friday, returned to that branch of the Legislature, with his sharply worded veto, Senator Alden P. Short's bill, which would reorganize the State Highway Commission and turn control of the department back to the Republicans.

But the Senate and House both called sessions for Saturday. The Senate, voting on straight party lines, over-rode the veto Saturday and the House followed suit on Monday. The act increases the membership of the highway commission by the addition of three Republicans named in the bill and eliminates the Governor as an ex-officio member with a vote in case of a tie.

Bill Becomes Law

The lower chamber immediately passed the Senate bill to transfer the Motor Vehicle Department from the jurisdiction of the Secretary of State to the Highway Department. The bill was then passed to the Governor for his anticipated veto.

PIONEER SURGEONS

In an address before the recent Atlanta session of the Southern Surgical Congress, Dr. T. C. Davison, retiring president, paid tribute to 38 Southern surgeons and physicians who have made epochal contributions to humanity. Among those mentioned were:

Dr. Ephraim McDowell of Kentucky, a country doctor who performed the first successful abdominal operation for the removal of a tumor of an ovary; Dr. Crawford W. Long, of Georgia, who first used ether as a surgical anesthetic, and Dr. John Gorrie of Florida, who invented artificial ice while trying to develop a machine for cooling hospital rooms. Statues of these three now stand in the national Hall of Fame.

Dr. James Bennet of Virginia performed the first Caesarian operation in the United States, on his own wife. Dr. Luther L. Hill of Alabama was the first American surgeon to successfully stitch a stab wound in the heart. Dr. James Marion Sims of Alabama was described as "the founder of modern gynecology, and the great pioneer in America in the treatment of women's diseases." Dr. Rudolph Matas of New Orleans is credited with many "first" operations, especially in surgery of the blood vessels.

Other first operations performed in the South, according to Dr. Davison, include those to remove an ovary, to open up the stomach, to remove part of the spine, to tie off the carotid artery which feeds the brain, to remove a rib and drain a lung, to correct cleft palates, to amputate legs at the hip, to correct club feet, and to discover the cause of yellow fever. Truly an impressive record.

PROFESSORS FLUNKED

Undergraduates at the University of Puerto Rico indulged in a rather new and perhaps pleasing indoor sport of rating their faculty members, with grades from A to F. The results were later published in the students' daily newspaper.

The proceeding was not a mere prank, it is said, but a frank appraisal of the professors' fitness for their jobs, and quite a number received an A rating, but there were a few F's. An F, it was explained, denotes that a teacher "has nothing," and lacks preparation, talent or other qualifications for his profession.

One mathematics professor, known as the "hardest" in the university, was almost unanimously voted an A rating, "because he knows his stuff."

The chancellor of the university, possibly desiring to save the faces of some of his low-rated professors, expressed the opinion that the students were governed more by their feelings than by their intellects in awarding the ratings.

This may have been true to a certain extent, as the personal equation inevitably enters into such matters more or less. But, one may ask, does not the same thing often happen when the teacher is doing the rating?

In any event, the experiment may have been beneficial to the professors, regardless of the marks awarded. Some of them may become better teachers as a result of the jolt handed them by their students.

BIRTHDAY OF CONGRESS

For several years the country has been celebrating the 150th anniversaries of notable events connected with the founding of the United States as an independent nation, and March 4 marked the 150th "birthday" of Congress under the Constitution.

The event was observed by a joint session of Senate and House, with suitable exercises arranged, including addresses by the President and others.

While March 4, 1789, was the date set for the assembly of the first Congress, in New York City, the new body was unable to begin its work on that date, because the difficulties of travel did not permit a sufficient number of the members to arrive on time. In fact, the two houses were not fully organized until April 6, and President Washington was not inaugurated until April 30.

At the time the first Congress met, only 11 states were represented, as North Carolina and Rhode Island had not yet ratified the Constitution. They were brought into line when the new Congress treated them as foreign countries and levied import duties against their goods.

North Carolina ratified on November 21, 1789, by a vote of 194 to 77. Rhode Island held out until May 28, 1790, and then ratified by the close vote of 34 to 32. There had been bitter opposition to the Constitution in Massachusetts, Virginia and New York, but ratification carried by close votes in each during 1788.

When it began its new national life, the population of the United States was slightly less than four million—almost exactly the same as the present population of Cook county, Illinois.

Yet the First Congress had problems no less difficult, and in some respects far more difficult, than those which confront the Seventy-sixth.

Economic Boycotts

The Congress appears to be in entire agreement with the policies of arming to the teeth—and hoping that it will not be necessary to fire a gun or drop a bomb.

This may be a very noble attitude, despite the costs. Meantime, Uncle Sam carries plenty of chips on his shoulder, as warnings are issued to crazy dictators not to try to knock any of them off.

The more cool-headed national officials have been favorably impressed with the Administration measure that imposed additional 20 per cent tariff penalties on Germany.

The word Hitler Government has pulled its packs of trick-cards in barter-trading throughout America preserves, and we are warranted, on our own account, in striking back with economic punishments and economic boycotts. That's fair war, on our account, and entirely outside the breakdowns in European civilization.

Fantastic Age

The spirit of good neighborliness from Mexico City rushes northward across the Rio Grande on the wings of spring as announcements from Mexico City tell of a reformed Mexico. Too long has she treated the good friend to the north with disdain, with impunity; too long has she ignored treaty rights, too long has she stolen properties of our nationals. Perhaps none of these practices will be stopped. Nevertheless, the situation calls for proof that Mexico knows how to be a good neighbor, so she has set out to it in a grand artistic and esthetic manner. The gringo's yelps over being robbed of his property will no longer disturb Mexican relations.

From now on those despoiled are to be lulled by croonings of Mexico's best entertainers over an international hook-up with the United States for one hour each week. In order that the people of the United States may understand clearly that these programs are official, the accredited Ambassador of the United States to Mexico, Mr. Joseph Daniels, gives voice of approval to them, and his benediction upon them, just as he was given voice of approval to, and placed his benediction upon Mexico's confiscation of American-owned properties.

For fear that the croonings and other musical offerings over the radio are not convincing, the government of Mexico has assembled and is training a great show entitled "Mexicana," with a cast of 140 of its prettiest girls who, with the show of pretty legs and a melody of soft voices, will help all listening Americans to forget about treaty breaking, stolen mines, farms, oil and other properties. This is a new way to justify theft.

Perhaps in this new and fantastic age it's as good as any other way which any thief might conceive and project.

The Unions

Early hearings on the proposed amendments of the Wagner Act and the Administration of the National Labor Relations Board are to be heard before committees of Congress. The American Federation of Labor is aggressively opposed to conditions existing in the Labor Board. On the other hand the CIO doesn't want any changes.

A sensible Congress can only do its duty by going ahead with the hearings, despite the threat of Mr. Lewis that "there can be no sense in talking peace in one place and battling over other's heads off in another."

Another Canal

The Panama Canal bristles with guns and fighting machines, but that doesn't stop plans before Congress to make it bomb-proof. One plan provides for a "spare" canal across the Isthmus, so that no ship will ever have to go round it enemies blow up any of the locks. The old sailing schooners and clippers went the long way around the Horn, and

FROM CONGRESSMAN GEORGE S. WILLIAMS

ALIENS—The House has unanimously passed one of the most drastic alien bills ever proposed in Congress. A bill providing for exclusion or deportation of any alien advocating a change in the American form of Government. This legislation strikes a blow at alien Communists, Nazi, Fascist or others who urge breaking down of the Nation's democracy.

AGRICULTURE BILL—The House Appropriation Committee last week approved a record breaking $1,067,274,427 Agriculture Department Supply Bill carrying $750,000,000 in benefit payments for farmers, and immediately sent the bill to the House floor for debate. Overriding the President's budget recommendations, the Committee included $250,000,000 for parity payments authorized under the 1938 Farm Act. For comparison purposes the measure is $133,109,146 greater than the regular appropriations voted last year, and $224,598,376 above budget estimates. However, the new measure did not include the appropriation for relief loans to farmers in the amount of $173,000,000 which was carried last year in the Administration's recovery bill.

APPEASEMENT TAX PROGRAM

—Impatient over further delay, Congressmen are making large profits.

Issues are being made that will be fought through the 1940 campaign. As a matter of fact the indications are being kept constantly in mind by Administration and Congressional leaders, and that the gaps grow wider week by week.

Douglas Appointment

W. O. Douglas is to take the place of Justice Brandeis on the Supreme Bench. It is a colorful appointment in which the President for the fourth time ignores the distinguished men on the bench, and of the bar, all of whom are passed by.

Justices Black, Reed and Frankfurter were not distinguished lawyers. The selection of these men was characteristically New Deal experiments. It is admitted that the four new Judges are good men, and it is hoped—for the good of the country—that they may become excellent Judges, after they have learned how. If they don't come up to the hopes or expectations of the President, it will be another situation that is just too bad.

Widening Gaps

It is difficult to tell what will happen next in the Washington situation where there are half-trigger differences between the President and Congress. Out of a blue sky came a vote in the Senate on Government reorganization, with a defeat for the President of one vote—and that indicated a new chapter in the struggle between the White House and Capitol Hill, with endings that may result in an armistice, a political duel, or Congressional revolt from White House control.

gressional fiscal leaders yesterday prepared to draft a business appeasement tax program as uncertainty over the Administration's position became more pronounced. Members of the Congressional tax committee took the initiative as they expressed disappointment over what they termed "a state of confusion," and delay on the part of the Administration in working out a program. Expressing hope that Congress and the Administration can work together on a business appeasement program, Senator Harrison (D-Miss.) chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said a detailed study of the tax structure will begin early next month. Senator George (D-Ga.) illustrated the temper of some members of the Committee when he said, "It looks like the President is about to throw down all proposals for the revision, so far as Administration initiative is concerned. I think that finally Congress has an obligation that it shouldn't try to escape. So when it comes time to reenact expiring taxes, then I think we should take up and write a tax bill aiding business."

TAXES—The following statistics are ample proof that an appeasement tax program is vitally necessary: American business, earning a fraction of the income that it earned in 1929 is paying nearly twice as large a total of taxes. In 1929 with business at record-breaking levels, taxes amounted to $1,233,733,000. In 1939, with business not so good, they will amount to $2,124,275,000 on the basis of official estimates. Ten years ago corporation income taxes produced a revenue of $1,233,733,000. Today corporation income taxes are producing an estimated $266,000,000, or more than $300,000,000 less than they produced back in 1929. Ten years ago there were no pay-roll taxes. Today taxes on pay rolls are yielding an estimated $1,198,175,000 or about $372,000,000 more than all of the corporation income taxes are yielding. As a result of payroll taxes, the tax load of American business is nearly one billion dollars larger than the load carried in the last boom year. Pay-roll taxes, on the other hand, are paid by more than 1,850,000 employers, rich and poor alike. Those taxes are as high in dollars on the employer with 100 employees who is making large profits. In other words, ability to pay is not a consideration in payroll taxation. Each time an employer adds an employee he must figure that a sum equal to 4 per cent of the wage of that employee must be paid to the Government. Each time an employer considers a wage increase, he must consider the 4 per cent of that increased wage must be paid to the Government. These tax experts, in the words of the Government tax experts, are "regressive." This means that they bear most heavily on those least able to pay, rather than most heavily on those best able to pay.

AMERICAN IDEALS—Governor Harlan Bushfield of South Dakota recently said: "The issue today is broader than party—deeper than politics; it is an issue of life and death for an ideal—the ideal of popular government. Either we will continue upon the broad highway of individual liberty by which we have achieved so much, or we will take the left-hand turn that leads backward to government oppression. In retention of our freedom, lies our hope for the future. We want the American form of government to continue as our monument to liberty."

CONGRESS AT WORK—Most of the Congress' time last week was spent in clearing up the so-called supply bills so that action could be taken on the more pressing national problems. There are now three supply bills that have become law, six have been approved by the House and five by the Senate. There are a half a dozen more to be taken up by both Houses.

The March meeting of the Newark Garden Club was held Monday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. F. Mann, W. Park Place, with W. J. McCreight, tree surgeon and landscape engineer, as the guest speaker.

Mr. McCreight stressed the importance of careful selection and proper care in feeding and pruning of trees. He especially recommended red and sugar maples and red oaks for this vicinity, as being long-lived, disease resistant, and practically immune to trouble from Japanese beetles. He heartily commended the club on its selection of dogwood and firethorn as a community project.

A committee was appointed to look into the advisability of holding a spring flower exhibit about the third week in May. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Eastman gave an exhibition of shadow boxes, used for displaying silhouettes of flowers and foliage. Miss Edwina Long presided.

To Slaughter Wolves From Fighting Planes

Damage caused among herds of reindeer by wolves traveling from Russia to the Lapland districts of Sweden and Finland has become so great that it has been decided in Helsinki, Finland, to commission airplanes carrying a pilot and a "hunter" to hunt down the animals.

The wolves will be machine-gunned from the air. Should wolves continue to invade the districts it is quite possible that wolf hunting by airplane, similar to plane hunts in other countries, may be listed as one of the "attractions" offered by the Scandinavian countries to foreign sportsmen.

Haste Makes Waste, Thinks Great Britain

Germany's secret method of producing warplanes at an unprecedented rate has been learned by Britain, and, according to reports received in London, Britain does not think much of it. The secret is an explosive rivet. By its use Germany has saved twenty-five per cent in costs of assembling warplanes and five per cent in production time.

The rivet is filled with an explosive, then placed in position to join two sections. The charge is exploded and the sudden heat expands the sides of the rivet. Tests in England reveal that the rivets are twenty per cent weaker when fixed by this method. A bomber built with explosive rivets would be in great danger of collapsing under strain.

Season Advanced, Feed The Roses Now

The warm weather of the last few weeks has forced rose buds to appear far ahead of general schedules. High temperatures day and night have in many instances caused a soft growth. Stems are weak and foliage is showing a general weakening. Now is the time to do some feeding. Liquid foods are of course the best to use. These can be made by steeping cow manure in a barrel of water or dissolving a pound of a high content commercial fertilizer in fifty gallons of water. Allow a quart of either solution per rose plant as a weekly dosage until after blooming stops in June and never use this or any fertilizer after July. Always use liquid food after the ground is thoroughly soaked with the hose or by rainfall. Never contact the leaves.

The busy gardener can substitute fertilizer as it comes from the bag, using it at the rate of two level tablespoons per plant or, in a large planting two pounds to one hundred square feet of garden surface. Applications should not be closer than three weeks apart and the fertilizer should be worked into the soil with a rake.

Boyd Burke, 22, lived with two wives in a single apartment in San Jose, Calif., until police discovered the situation. Burke states that both wives were satisfied with the arrangement.

Boy Scouts Building World's Fair Camp

Layout of the two-acre Boy Scout camp at the New York World's Fair, to be used by 3900 different Scouts and leaders from all sections of the United States during the Fair season.

Any qualified member of the Boy Scouts of America may apply for an opportunity to take part in a unique demonstration and service camp at the New York World's Fair, Dr. James E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced. The plan for a Scout camp of approximately 150 different Scouts and leaders each week, on a two-acre site within the Fair grounds from April 30 to October 31, was approved by formal action of the managers of the World's Fair Corporation and the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The camp, to be located immediately adjacent to the Federal Building, will accommodate four Troops of 32 Scouts and four leaders. Each site will be equipped with tents of various colors and designs. There will be a large tent for the display of Scouting, including woodcraft, handicraft and campcraft. There will be opportunity for Troops that have produced outstanding articles of handicraft and campcraft to have them shown in this tent at the World's Fair and the exhibit will represent the finest craftsmanship so far developed by Scouts.

Near this tent there will be an open area for flag ceremonies, together with a rustic campfire amphitheatre for dramatic and other spectacular demonstrations and a dining hall with full equipment.

Totem Pole at Gateway
The gateway to the camp is to be an imposing one with a 40 foot totem pole. The headquarters building will serve as the administration center for the camp, and a stockade will surround the entire camp area. In line with the symphony of colors of the World's Fair the Scout camp will be most colorful with the flying flags of all Scout nations waving aloft, a symbol of world brotherhood and a friendly greeting to visitors from all over the world.

Contacts with Officials
Service projects will be an important part of a Scout's program during four or five hours each day. This will put Scouts in touch with the management of the enterprise, and they will have many occasions to meet the distinguished persons involved in the Fair.

There will be accommodations for only 3,900 of the 1,271,800 present registered Scout membership, most of whom, judging from requests already on hand, would like to avail themselves of this privilege. The opportunity will be open to Scouts in any part of the United States who meet the standards prescribed by the National Council, and preference will be given to applications in the order of their receipt.

All camp reservations must be made through local Scout Councils and not directly with the National Council.

Motor Revenue

As proposed in pending legislation, the department will suffer to the extent of over $1,000,000 annually. "Further, an announcement has been made that it is proposed to merge all state funds. This plan is vicious in concept and represents a distinct breach of promise on trusted funds which will promptly lose their identity.

Expect Road Improvement
"Delaware citizens have suffered from diversion of motor funds to the extent of over $1,300,000 during the past two years, but the present combination of proposed juggling represents a profligate tendency that is regarded as being sinister by Delaware citizens and one which has been denounced by highway experts and economic authorities.

"Governmental surveys disclose the fact that a high percentage of motor vehicle owners earn less than $30 a week. Is it fair to defraud this group of citizens of the benefits they have every reason to expect from the payment of their motor taxes? These citizens pay all other taxes and have every right to expect that their special motor taxes will be used exclusively for highway improvement. They have the right to expect that such funds will be regarded as trusted funds.

Sees Resentment Growing
"The protests of this group will emphatically supplement the vigorous demands of the Delaware Highway Users Conference and other substantial and powerful groups in demanding an early hearing against this combination of diversion, virtual default and scrambled finances. It is predicted that legislative history will be made when this growing wave of public resentment becomes vocal. Delaware citizens are going to insist on diversion being eliminated. They want no merging of funds. They resent the attempt to appease them by what must only be a temporary reduction in certain fees when it is coupled with diversion to the tune of a cold million dollars. Party pledges must be redeemed in full, they will insist.

"As this statement is made, groups of citizens in every part of the state are discussing this sensational 'grab' of motor revenues and the proposed juggling of funds. They regard these proposals as dangerous, unfair and vicious in concept. Not for decades have citizens of Delaware been so aroused and so determined to stop practices that are slowly but surely undermining the financial structure of the state."

South Africa Stages War On Baboons

Although thousands of baboons were killed in South Africa in the last year they constitute as great a pest as ever. Farmers ask the Government to help by sending machine gun and poison gas squads. Reports received in Beaufort West show that 3,338 of the beasts were killed in Graff-Reinet and 1,134 in Namaqualand last year.

Divisional councils are paying bounties of from 60 cents to $2.50 a head. The baboons are raiding orchards, stealing grain, mutilating lambs and young goats and carrying off poultry.

General Assembly

expenses for the State Treasurer and State Auditor were frowned upon by the Governor. The partial veto will have no effect on the bill in its entirety.

Immediately following the reading of the message, Rep. Elmer E. Benson, Republican floor leader, moved that the budget bill be restored to the calendar. Speaker Frank R. Zebly, who saw his bow-and-arrow hunting bill voted down on Wednesday, announced that the joint legislative budget committee will meet Friday morning to consider the items to which Governor McMullen objected.

It is understood that will be rearranged, but that the total appropriations will not be changed in any of the items. A new bill will be prepared for introduction within a few days.

According to the Delaware Safety Council, it is an established principle of law that pedestrians and automobile drivers have, aside from statute or ordinance otherwise changing the rule, equal rights in the use of the public highways, including streets. But each must conduct himself with deference to the rights of the other and must exercise reasonable care to avoid injuring the other and to insure his own safety.

The operator of an automobile is required to keep a careful lookout for pedestrians. In such places as the duty to watch for them is constant. He is bound to see persons in the street ahead of him when his view is unobstructed and to have his machine under control. It is conceded that a motor vehicle is a dangerous instrumentality and that its operation must be attended with a great deal of caution, especially with reference to pedestrians.

To Recognize Conditions
The operator is required to recognize conditions which intensify risks, such as the circumstance of many pedestrians being in the street, rainy or icy conditions, the dangers at crosswalks and places where it is possible for a pedestrian to appear suddenly in the path. Finally, if there is anything in the argument of priority, let it be remembered that man was not created for the automobile, but the automobile for man.

The pedestrian owes duty also. He must exercise reasonable care for his own safety. He must make reasonable use of his senses of sight and hearing, give heed to ordinary indication of danger and not walk blindly into it. There are temptations which assail many pedestrians. One is to cross between blocks. Another is to cross one way streets at the wrong time and place. There are other instances where pedestrians go deliberately into the high-

English Housewives Have Servant Problem

With the return of German girls to the homeland in response to Berlin's call, London housewives face a crisis in their servant problem. Hungarian maids are being employed. Many are entering England from Hungary and 3,000 are already established in English kitchens. Newcomers from Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania are also finding similar employment.

An employment agency dealing exclusively with Hungarian servants has been opened in London, and an established one which has placed thousands of German and Austrian girls has added two Hungarian interpreters to its staff and opened a branch in Budapest.

Looking Forward

By FRANKLYN WALTMAN

Penitence

Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins most appropriately chose the beginning of the Lenten season to make his business appearance at Des Moines. Lent always is a period for donning sack cloth and ashes and repenting for sins of the past.

On the whole, Harry Hopkins did a good job of penitence in that speech. Some have regretted that Mr. Hopkins along with repenting did not also see fit to recant specifically some of the New Deal heresies, such as reckless spending, responsible for our present economic plight. Others have questioned his motives and sincerity.

We do not propose to indulge in such criticism. Accepting the Biblical instruction that "Joy shall be in Heaven over one sinner that repenteth more than over ninety and nine just persons, which shall need no repentance," we throw out hat into the air, rejoicing over the Hopkins speech.

Talked Common Sense

Whatever may be the Commerce Secretary's motives and no matter what he omitted to say, his Des Moines address constituted good sense. It has been so long since anyone connected closely with the New Deal talked good sense in the economic field that the occasion calls for loud and prolonged cheering.

The Hopkins speech was impressive chiefly because of the Commerce Secretary's recognition of the importance of business confidence to any permanent program of economic recovery. He perhaps is the first outstanding New Deal figure who has not hooted at complaints that business lacked confidence and that therefore economic progress was impossible.

Realistically Mr. Hopkins recognized that "among many business men there exists a widespread lack of confidence" and he recognized the further fact that "lack of business confidence is and has been a hard stubborn fact, and may be as real a deterrent to restored business health as we have to deal with."

As Mr. Hopkins pointed out, business confidence is "a state of mind" and "a psychological condition affecting our conduct and actions." Things that are strange disturb confidence; those that are familiar promote it. Thus he said it is not surprising that business confidence has been badly shaken in recent years.

New Deal Hubbub!

Although Mr. Hopkins did not become specific—and that is pardonable—he undoubtedly had in mind the fact that during the last six years one New Deal experiment has followed another. Business men have not known from one month to another what their taxes would be—or even the form of taxation—what new labor obligations might be placed on them or whether the national Administration wished to encourage or discourage those combinations of trade banned by the anti-trust laws. Likewise they have not known—and do not now know—the effect that deficit financing will have on their investments and their undertakings.

In short, the New Deal, like the Treasury, has been on a "Twenty-four hour basis—and business cannot be run on the basis.

It is not so much what the New Deal has done but the manner in which it has done it that has been such a disturbing influence. Business men usually can adjust themselves to any set of rules—if they know the rules and feel they will not be changed next month.

Mr. Hopkins evidenced an appreciation of this situation and gave expression to it. Thus his speech marked progress in getting this country back to a basis on which a permanent economic recovery can be built. It is true, of course, that his speech will mean very little unless it is translated into action along the lines which he clearly indicated were necessary to promote recovery.

Deeds Speak Louder

Translating Mr. Hopkins' words into deeds is no slight task. Indeed, it is a gigantic undertaking which, due to past commitments, the Roosevelt Administration may find impossible to achieve. Moreover, there is a question whether other key figures in the New Deal appreciate the need for such action as much as Mr. Hopkins apparently does.

Nevertheless, the turn toward common sense, even though it does not bring forth immediate fruit, has not been taken a minute too soon. At least this much has been accomplished: an outstanding New Deal heresy at last conceded that there has been a great deal of substance for most of the criticism that has been hurled at the New Deal in recent years. And that, my friends, is progress!

Asia's Remote Region Has Industrial Boom

Kamchatka, despite its remoteness and rigorous climate, is luring many from other parts of Asia. Considerable industrial development is reported under way in this peninsula in northeast Siberia. Many of the applicants are young girls, reports M. N. Rudayev, in charge of the personnel department of AKO, the Kamchatka Development Corporation, in a communication to Moscow. Others are women teachers, cooks and workers in fields.

Rudayev warns that until more industries are started, the vast peninsula in the northern part of which is in the zone of perpetual frost.
