'Green Cockatoo' An Elaborate And Expensive Play

Music And Costumes Used To Reinforce Intense Dramatic Action Of Scene Laid In France During Revolution

"TWO-LEVEL" STAGE

Arthur Schnitzler's The Green Cockatoo, to be given by the E 52 Players on May 2, in Mitchell Hall, is the most elaborate and most expensive production ever attempted by any dramatic group on the campus. The costumes alone, according to Prof. Kase, will cost as much as an entire production does ordinarily.

The scenery likewise will be exceedingly elaborate. The action will take place on what is known as a "two level" stage, so as to make room for the large number of people participating.

The entire production aims to create the spirit of eighteenth century revolutionary Paris. Costumes, scenery, lighting, and story all combine to produce this effect. Music will play an important part in producing the desired effect; a theme song heard from time to time reinforces the dramatic action.

The plot of the play deals with the fate of a group of noble men who are trapped in the Green Cockatoo Inn by the mob which has stormed the Bastille.

Blair Ely, Caroline Cobb, and Louise Ebner, the comedy troupe of Where But In America, the one-act curtain-raiser to precede The Green Cockatoo, have been rehearsing regularly and promise to

H. F. Redmile Presents Prize Winner Before Engineers' Convention At Swarthmore

H. F. Redmile, civil engineering student of the University of Delaware, was awarded a prize of twenty dollars by the Philadelphia Section of the A. S. C. E., for the best technical paper, which he presented before the A. S. C. E. Student Chapter convention in Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa., April 17.

"The Review" Conducts Poll Of Both Colleges To Determine Sentiment On Coeducation

Hume, Taggart, And Lattin Class Presidents Next Year

Croes And Hodgson Vice-Presidents; Stoll, Secretary; Wheeler, Treasurer Of Sophomores

At a meeting of the Junior Class held in West Wing Tuesday at 1:00 p. m., W. Garrett Hume was elected president, and William Croes, vice-president of next year's Senior Class. The secretary and treasurer will be elected at some future date.

"Tubby" Hume is one of the most popular men on the Delaware Campus and has taken a prominent part in extra curricular activities. He was treasurer of the Sigma Nu Fraternity the past year and has just recently been elected the new Commander. He is the captain of the 1935 soccer team. Besides these honors, Tubby is now president of the Junior Class, vice-president of the Blue Keys, a tennis-letter man, and Student Council representative. It was largely due

French Movie On May 28 Free To Del. Students

First Part Of Hugo's "Les Miserables" To Be Shown By Modern Language Department

Thanks to the generosity of Mr. L. Handloff, owner of the State Theatre of Newark, and the interest and support of persons whose names will be announced later, the Modern Language Department will be able to present to the students of this university and to pupils of high schools of this vicinity the first part of the film in French based on Hugo's celebrated novel Les Miserables. The tickets are free. The date of the showing is May 28 at 4:15 o'clock.

This film, which has had tremendous success at the University of Chicago, will be returned to France shortly after its showing here. It pictures the life of Jean Valjean after his nineteen years in prison and continues up to his sensational escape from Javert, who is endeavoring to return Valjean to prison.

The Modern Language Department hopes that in the future many persons in Wilmington and this vicinity will be aware of the high value of these films. Perhaps this realization will make it possible for the department to present regular monthly showings without charge as is done at Harvard University. If this is not feasible there will be season tickets at a charge sufficiently low to permit all students interested to attend.

Students Of Both Men's And Women's Colleges Requested To Vote On Ballot Provided Elsewhere On This Page

In view of the wide-spread discussion of co-education during the past week, THE REVIEW has decided to conduct a poll of the entire student body on the issue.

Copies of THE REVIEW are being distributed this week to every student in both the Men's College and the Women's College. On the front page of this issue is a ballot for each student to vote on. Every student, man and woman, is asked to cooperate by voting on the ballot and sending it to THE REVIEW, BOX D, before noon on Saturday.

There are three alternatives in voting. One can vote against co-education in any shape or form, or for either complete co-education, or for co-education in only small, advanced classes. The ballots do not have to be signed.

This ballot is an endeavor to determine the sentiment of the students in both colleges in reference to the consolidation of the men's and women's classes.

A survey of faculty members last week showed that most of them are in favor of combining small advanced classes. The faculty have shown great interest in the subject and are very desirous of revising the present system here.

The Student Council of the Men's College voted unanimously last week in favor of recommending to the Board of Trustees a change to co-education.

If the students at large are desirous of a consolidation of classes too, it seems only reasonable to assume that since students and faculty want a change, the Board will take action.

Baseball Players Earn Achievement Awards

Ed Thompson, catcher; Jim Prettyman, first baseman; and Horace Payne and Bob Greenwood, pitchers, are this week's winners of flat fifties of Philip Morris cigarettes.

The rest of the program consists of recitations and music in German. The tickets are on sale by the German department at thirty-five cents each.

Prof. Feise of Johns Hopkins University will lead the singing, (Continued on Page 6.)

Large Number Expected To Attend Spring Frolic

Old Fashioned Dress To Provide Informal Atmosphere For Affair; Prizes To Be Awarded Those In Oldest Attire

TICKETS NOW ON SALE

Now that the new Easter finery has already been displayed a return to normalcy will be more than appreciated when Delaware students officially welcome spring at the Student Council Spring Frolic, Friday night.

Old-fashioned dress that may date since antiquity will be the motif of this year's dance. Any type of dress is permissible, but to cash in on the various prizes that will be awarded to those in most unique and original dress, all will be so attired as to provide a colorful spectacle.

To date a great number of tickets have been sold, but the spacious Newark Armory can still accommodate those tardy ones who have neglected to purchase their tickets. Tickets are on sale from any member of the Student Council and sell for $1.50, lowest price ever for this annual dance.

Ty Leroy and his Scotch Highlanders will play from nine 'til two. Patrons and patronesses are Miss Emma Ehlers, Miss Henrietta Fleck, Dr. J. Fenton Daugherty, Mr. Ralph W. Jones, and Dr. Walter Hullen.

The committee for the Frolic is composed of W. Garrett Hume, John Bishop and Jack Geist.

Federal Inspection For R. O. T. C. Next Thursday

Will Be Held On Campus In Front Of Wolf Hall In Morning During Regular Drill Period

Next Thursday morning the local R. O. T. C. boys will don full regalia and fall into ranks for the annual Federal inspection.

Colonel E. E. McCommon, U. S. Infantry, will make the unit administration and unit training inspection. Major John L. Homer, C. A. C., will inspect the coast artillery training.

The inspection will take place between 11:40 a. m. and 12:30 p. m., during the regular drill period. The three batteries will form and conduct platoon and battery movements on the campus in front of Wolf Hall. The battalion will be commanded by student officers.

The inspection will be concluded as the entire battalion passes in review. The public is invited to view this attractive display of military movements.

Every year since 1927 the University of Delaware R. O. T. C. unit has received a rating of excellent from the U. S. Government Inspectors. It is expected that the unit will do equally well at the inspection next week.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The physical education department here deals with two main classes of students—those who are majoring in physical education, and those who are compelled to take the freshman and sophomore courses. The former, of course, have chosen physical education as a career and should be required to meet certain standards. But the latter, it is generally understood, are required to take gymnastics to aid them in their physical development.

Why then aren't the courses planned to fulfill this purpose? At the present time the general scheme of the freshman and sophomore courses is much too formal. On swimming days everybody must swim. On basketball days everybody must play basketball. But suppose the fellow doesn't like swimming, or suppose he doesn't like basketball. He is not permitted to wrestle or box, or to engage in some other form of exercise which he really enjoys. The result of this is great contempt for physical education.

In addition to this restriction on choice, students much pass rigorous tests in the various activities conducted in the courses. If a student can't swim so many lengths, or run a mile in so many minutes and seconds, he flunks. He must suffer the stigma of an "F" on his report. He must go to class under the constant fear of being able to pass this test or that test. The extreme physical exertion demanded in these tests makes many students actually dread going to physical education class.

The idea of requiring students to take physical education is an excellent one. As a matter of fact, we do not think that the courses should be limited to two years. Every student in the college should be required to participate in some form of physical activity. Too many upperclassmen now completely ignore their physical development. But this physical development can be administered without making it boredom or drudgery.

Why not make physical education a form of recreation which students will enjoy? Make them eager to go to a physical education class because of the fun they get out of it. This can be done very simply. Don't require students to pass tests and don't give them marks. Merely pass them or fail them on the basis of their attendance at classes. When the students come to class, permit them to engage in the activity which they most desire. If they want to swim let them swim. If they want to play baseball, let them play baseball. What is the difference what they do, just so they secure sufficient exercise to keep them physically fit.

If the general courses for freshmen and sophomores were revised and made to include juniors and seniors, we think that the physical education department would be taking a step toward raising the health standard of the students here.

CO-EDUCATION?

Last week our survey of faculty opinions proved conclusively that the teaching staff at this University favors at least to a certain degree, the consolidation of classes in the Men's College and Women's College. The Student Council of the Men's College voted unanimously in favor of complete co-education. The Women's College Student Government should take similar action.

Then, if the results of a popular student vote show a desire for coeducation, we will be in a position to press our case with the Board of Trustees. Surely they will meet the demands of the faculty and student body combined. But the success of the ballot we are sponsoring depends upon the cooperation of the students. If you don't vote we can't tell what your attitude is. Here is your chance to express your opinion. Men and women, don't fail to vote and send us your ballots before noon on Saturday.

Reader's Budget

By Theodore Berman

In Come and Get It, Edna Ferber's latest novel, readers will find a fictitious biography of a family through four generations. It is a story of the Glasgow family through the years 1850 to 1929. The first part of the book is the exciting story of Barney Glasgow's life; how he worked his way up from a chore boy in lumber camps to the position of lumber king of north central United States. The second part of the book deals with the less exciting life of Bernie Glasgow (Barney's son) and his wife, Lotta, who is the granddaughter of a Swedish peasant. This book, like so many of Ferber's other novels, has an exciting start, then it drops all hint of adventure and proceeds in a rather dull fashion. The book seems to have been compiled as a research-student or historian compiles facts. The book was published by Doubleday.

Hendrick Willem Van Loon's latest book, Ships and How They Sailed the Seven Seas, is one that can only be classified as a typical Van Loon book. It concerns the history of water transportation from 5000 B. C. to 1935 A. D. Many literature critics state that Mr. Van Loon is one of those happy authors who couldn't write a dull book if he tried. The author calls attention to the fact that the history of navigation is one tragedy after another of human sacrifice. It has been illustrated in a delightful way by the author. It was published by Simon and Shuster.

Future of the West (A Challenge To America)

By Jean Richer

The great mistake of the last hundred years of Western Civilization has probably been to put the stress on the economic and materialistic side of life and to have endeavored to forget all about the spiritual. Man has become the servant and slave of his own inventions.

The choice is generally: Would you rather lead a happy life with a limited income and limited desires or enjoy a high standard of living and spend a life divided between anxiety and boredom?

The civilization which originated along the shores of the Mediterranean seems to have conquered the world, but this does not mean permanent victory. As it forgot its origin and absorbed Nordic mists, there developed an internal conflict between thinking and acting, between culture and material progress. The utmost development of the tendency towards material progress seems to have taken place in America. And now the British Empire and even South America and Latin Europe tend to become Americanized in that respect.

It is a well-known fact that since the days of Buddha, of Socrates, or of Christ, there has been no moral progress in the world. The United States may become the leader of the White race only if it accomplishes some huge moral revolution strongly influencing the destiny of mankind, for instance by bringing about the definite suppression of war. As long as the American people remain kings of the business world only, Europe will retain a predominance based on an acute sense of value and a long cultural tradition.

The old civilizations of China, Japan and India are still less materialistic than European civilization, but they represent the other extreme. In these countries economic conditions were so bad that they lost all creative genius and fossilized themselves, living purely

Baseball Men Register Three Straight Victories

Sasquehanna, Lehigh Overwhelmed With Payne And Lomax On Mound

Lehigh Crashed, 11-3

Ability to come through in the pinches won another game for Delaware's diamonders Saturday when they made good use of nine hits to score eleven runs in defeating a strong Lehigh aggregation, 11-3.

Lehigh took an early lead, scoring six runs in the first three innings. When the Pennsylvanians had no difficulty in solving Bob Greenwood's southpaw slants in the fourth, Coach Doherty sent in Ernie Lomax to stem the tide. Meanwhile the Delaware boys were doing some scoring themselves, sending over five runs in the second and third frames, then tying the count in the fifth, and forging ahead in the sixth. Lomax began to weaken in the eighth when Lehigh took the lead by scoring two runs, greatly aided by a shady decision at the plate by Umpire McKinney. The Hens came back in their half to push over four runs on an infield hit in a maze of misplays. Bud Newman was safe a first on Budura's error. Prettyman was passed, and Captain O'Connell advanced both men. Taking no chances, Leland purposely walked Ed Thompson, who had three hits, cramming the bags. On an attempted squeeze play, Dick Roberts dumped one in front of the plate and Newman scored as Ock held the ball, allowing Roberts to reach first. In the resulting confusion, Prettyman also dented the plate. Thompson cashed in on a wild pitch, and a moment later Greenwood, running for Roberts, followed him across on Hickman's fly.

Ineffective pitching and loose fielding marked the game. Neither Greenwood nor Connors were able to go the distance, and Lomax, who was making his first appearance of the season, had the best of the argument the rest of the way. Lehigh fielders were charged with five errors. Charley Crompton, although responsible for the lone Delaware miscue, supplied the fielding features of the game, making several fine plays. All of the locals' hits were singles, while Ock and Oller had triples for Lehigh, and McKaig got a home run on a misjudged fly to center.

On Saturday, Washington College, fresh from a triumph over Penn State, will come to Newark to furnish opposition for the Doherty men, and next Wednesday, Dickinson, whose pitcher, Pete Sivess, recently fanned thirteen Swarthmore batters, comes to Newark for the first of a brace of contests between the two colleges.

Sasquehanna Falls, 5-4

Horace Payne helped himself to his first victory Friday when he held Sasquehanna to seven hits as well as batting in one run on a squeeze play and scoring one himself in winning the game, 5-4.

Although again bothered by difficulty in locating the plate, Payne held Sasquehanna safely with the exception of two innings, the third and the fifth. In both these innings, however, Delaware came back to score all their runs.

In the third, with one down, Foard singled. In an attempt to force him at second on Crompton's infield hit, Eisenhauer threw wild, and the Hen's third sacker gained third, with Crompton taking second. Payne then bunted, sending Foard over with the first run, and a moment later Newman pulled another squeeze play on the unsuspecting Sasquehannans, Crompton denting the platter. In the fifth stanza, Payne again figured in the scoring when he walked. Newman, Prettyman, and O'Connell supplied hits in the emergency and three more tallies were added to the Delaware total.

Captain Irish O'Connell, Roberts and Foard each garnered two of Delaware's eight hits, while Spitzner also had a pair. Payne had slightly the better of Valunas in giving one less hit, fanning one more batter for a total of six, but issuing five free tickets. Valunas passed one and hit another batsman, Ed Thompson. The Hens had seventeen assists in the field, as against only one miscue.

Haverford Beats Golfers

Delaware golfers went down to their second defeat of the season Monday afternoon by being defeated at the hands of Haverford College, 8-1. The match was lost amid showers on the West course of the Merion Cricket Club.

Haverford took five of the six individual matches and three tallies by scoring the best ball in the three foursomes. Bill Moore was Delaware's only winner with a score of 83.

Allen, Haverford, defeated Jamison, Delaware, 3 and 1; Boyle, Haverford, defeated Pié, Delaware, 2 and 1.

Best ball—Haverford, 4 and 2. Moore, Delaware, defeated Dutton, Haverford, 2 and 1; Linton, Haverford, defeated Porter, Delaware, 5 and 3.

Best ball—Haverford, 3 and 2. Delaware's next match is scheduled with Boston College, at home, tomorrow.

WITH THE BLUE AND GOLD

JOE PERKINS

BASEBALL—Doc Doherty's squad contains three commendable pitchers, Greenwood, Payne, and Lomax, but is weak at the bat, catcher Thompson being the only heavy hitter, as the statistics on this page show. Thompson made one of the two non-stop flights registered so far this year on Frazer Field. A Lehigh man ran the other. . . . Dick Roberts made the only Delaware error last week, but his bright fielding in general more than made up for it.

MAN OVERBOARD—(Please don't repeat what I'm about to tell you, at least not in the presence of authorities, for it's against rules to swim in the pool without a shower.) It seems that Tommy Hill was in a very ferocious mood last week when he met Dillon in the gym. "Dillon," he growled, "you're going in the pool!" Monk started a session of self-defense, and after the two had wrestled fiercely a few moments on the concrete near the tank, a loud splash was heard and Hill found himself, clothes and all, in the water. Tommy swears he will get revenge before school ends, but Dillon thinks Hill will get another free laundry ticket.

A CHEER FOR DROZDOV—In Saturday's track victory, Swede Drozdov dropped the shot 43 ft. 4 inches beyond the circle, eclipsing Carey's mark, as we predicted here last week.

INTERFRAT BASEBALL—The Sig Eps didn't like the schedule, so when the Sigma Nus went out on Frazer Field at the appointed hour, no opponents showed up. Squeals of bad sportsmanship rent the air. But the Sig Eps have explained. They claim the schedule had not been ratified by the Interfraternity Council and was therefore unofficial. A conference today will settle the matter, a new schedule will please the Sig Eps, and games will start at once.

STAHLEY'S TRACK AIDS—Delaware's cindermen owe much of their glory to excellent coaching from Stahley and his assistants, Joe Green and Ken Thomas. Green has made hurdlers out of Arnold, Minner, and Lawrence, who never hurdled before this season, while Thomas, former Penn State flash and coach of Ben Johnson, nationally famous Negro sprinter, is teaching the Blue Hen sprinters advanced technique.

BLUE NOTES AND OTHERWISE—Tomorrow the Houghton-coached golf team will try to get out of the red by beating Boston College on the Newark course. . . . congrats to Bill Moore, whose victory prevented the Haverford match from being unanimously lopsided, are in order.

A Sweet Creature in Turvy Hall wants to see Captain Pié's photo on this page, but her pleas will be in vain until Charley leads the golf team out of their valley of despair.

Our W. C. D. sports correspondent, Jean Sigler, reports that inter-class baseball in her territory holds as little interest there as inter-class track here. No class, she says, has a full nine. A heavy-hitting damsel, Hayes, joins Ed Thompson on the U. of D. 1935 home run list, having toured the bases in a practice game recently.

Four hundred high school athletes will compete soon on Frazer Field in a huge track meet. Many of them are going to college next year, but don't know just where to go. A hospitable attitude on the part of present Delaware students on Interscholastics Day will do much to bolster future Blue Hen teams.

Entries Coming In For Interscholastics

Delaware Host To Four Hundred School Athletes On May 4 At Frazer Field

The 22nd Annual University of Delaware Interscholastic Track and Field Meet will be held on Frazer Field Saturday, May 4. The entries are not complete as yet, but according to Dr. Doherty, about forty schools are expected to enter by next Saturday when the entries close.

The schools are divided into three classes, A, B, and C. All preparatory and senior high schools belong to Class A. High Schools only are in Class B, while only schools belonging to the Delaware Interscholastic Athletic Association are allowed in Class C. The same rules of qualification that prevail in inter-collegiate A. A. A. A. will be followed here.

For the team scoring the greatest number of points in each class a cup is given. Gold, silver and bronze medals are also awarded to the first, second, and third place winner in each event in each class. Winners will be determined by the following point system. For relay races, first place, ten points; second place, six; third place, three; and fourth place, one. For individual places: first place, five points; second place, three; third place, two; and fourth, one.

About four hundred athletes are expected to compete.

Fencers Receive Letters

At the recent meeting of the Athletic Council, fencing letters were awarded to Henry Ridgely, captain; Isador Slovin, Olin MacSorley, Allick Murray, George Vapaa, Abraham Eisenman, and David Kozinski.

The Council also voted to acknowledge the mark set by the relay team of Lawrence, DuRoss, Croes, and Carey in the 400 yd. Freestyle Relay during the past swimming season, as a Delaware record. However, it was decided further that any new events in a Delaware swimming meet in the future must be participated in at least five times before a record may be established. This rule was enacted to decide such cases as the above-mentioned 400 yard Relay, in which case there was no previous official Delaware record, since the event is a new one in Delaware swimming competitions.

Trackmen Defeat Washington College

Young, Of Opponents, Stars With Five Firsts; Drozdov Shatters Shot Mark As Delaware Wins Second Meet

Young personally brought in five first places for Washington College in a track meet on Frazer Field Saturday, but his team was easily overwhelmed, 82-44, by the Blue Hens. Swede Drozdov cracked Carey's shot put mark with a heave of 43 feet as Delaware took all places in that event and the javelin.

Don King proved but with slow races, that in him Coach Stahley has a winning distance man. King won both the mile and two-mile events with homestretch sprints.

The Carey brothers, John and Fenton, did good work in the victory, John getting firsts in the javelin and discus and a second from the shot, and Fenton, after winning the half mile, chased King over the line to net second place in the mile run.

Minner, in trying to do the work of Lambert whose bad leg put him among the spectators, took seconds in the century and broad jump behind Young, of Washington. Del also ran the hurdles, winning the 220 lows.

Capturing prime place in the high jump and third in the high hurdles, Bill Lawrence competed for his first time in a track meet, while Joe Perkins nearly hit the quarter-mile record by winning the lap in 51.3 seconds, after losing Reddish, of Washington, at the start of the homestretch.

The Delaware squad will send a team to the Penn Relays this weekend to compete on Friday and Saturday. The team, the members of which have not yet been definitely selected, is rated a fair chance of returning with honors. John Carey will compete in the field events while the relay outfit kicks up the U. of P. cinders. Drozdov, being a freshman, is ineligible for the Relay Carnival and also the Middle Atlantic soon to follow.

A Letter That States The "Bald" Facts

We received this letter April 20 and pass it on to those who scoff at the bald. When you finish it you will never laugh again at those who disregard their receding hair-lines until it is too late. No, we are not bald.

Dear Friend:-

It begins to look as if you have no confidence in our new discovery for hair and scalp troubles. You might have been jumping with joy this morning when you got out of bed, and running your fingers through your new growth of hair, had you accepted the very liberal offer made to you on the complete treatment. We hope you are not going to wait until some fellow living near you, known to you personally, walks up to you and shows you where he has grown new hair on the bald spot he had for years.

We do not publish the names and addresses of folks who have used the treatment with astonishing success, after various tonics, salves and other methods have failed. Most men don't want people to know they ever had a bald spot, for obvious reasons. That is why we keep their correspondence and business with us confidential. And you would be surprised if you knew some of these "big shots" in the political and financial fields. They don't like publicity of this kind. And neither will you, if you suddenly decide to give this method the six days test that will tell the story, and you come out and face the world with a splendid new new growth of hair.

But no matter what we write you, it will do no good, unless you put aside your doubts and actually give this amazing liquid a chance to prove to you that it will positively remove, harmlessly and in 6 days time, the thin outer scalp film so as to give you . . . scalpfood a chance to penetrate and thus put new life and activity into your dormant hair roots.

Never before has there been such an important discovery made in the history of attempts to grow hair on bald heads. You might be one of the fully convinced people who believe it impossible for hair to grow in again once it has fallen out. Your belief may be due to the fact that you have tried so many different supposed advertised "hair growers"—and never saw even a small new fuzz for your trouble and money spent. You are not the only one who feels that way and we don't blame you for being prejudiced against any new discovery.

Now why not let us get together on a test—a test that will positively convince you that your prejudice is unfounded. And if it don't do what we say, IT WILL NOT COST YOU A CENT! We are not afraid to meet you half way, which shows we have absolute confidence in this astonishing new discovery.

Let us send you the full five dollar bottle of . . . liquid with complete directions for gently and harmlessly peeling off the thin scalp skin, so that you will have a new clean, fresh outer layer of skin on your scalp. This new, healthy skin will not be sore or tender. It is not like when the skin peels off from sunburn. Instead of being burned off, it quickly dries up, becomes a dead foreign substance and shrivels up and peels off, very much like the skin peels off when sunburned. You don't even feel it, but are "tickled to pieces" when you actually see this abused thin covering curl up and fall away. This all happens within six days time.

Why not have a photo taken of your head, (or perhaps you have a recent photo) then in about a month after you go ahead and use the Scalpfood as directed and actually grow new, thick hair, have another photo taken—merely to show your friends the new wonders now performed by science? They may

Darwin Was Right

The pedagogic brow of Professor F. C. Houghton was wrinkled in deep perplexity Tuesday afternoon. Russ Stanton, while searching for golf balls on the campus, had stumbled across a huge snapper turtle fully eighteen inches long. Puzzled by this phenomenon Russ immediately brought his find to the biological authority for explanation.

"This turtle," said the Prof., "is an unusual example of a homeless turtle migrating to its home in the cool waters of the Atlantic Ocean or some Delaware river. How it got off U. S. Route No. 1 and reached the Delaware campus is a mystery to me."

But Russ had just read a book telling all about the preservation of life, etc., by a man called Darwin. Dissatisfied with Professor Houghton's hypothesis, he investigated turtle conditions in Newark and discovered that the turtle had escaped from the kitchen of Powell's restaurant a few hours prior to the time it was scheduled to be made into snapper turtle soup.

not believe your story unless you show actual photographs to prove what you say. We expect to collect a hundred of such photos and publish them in our new book now under way. The price of the complete treatment will then be ten dollars, and not a cent less to anybody. Like investment in stock in the Ford cars when people laughed at them, and shares went begging for so little. BUT, try to buy some of that stock NOW, and see what you will pay!

We are enclosing a special typed Order Blank to accompany this remarkable "can't lose" offer to you. If you do not accept this offer it may be just fate, cheating you out of a new growth of hair.

Very truly yours.

Sophomore Luncheon

The Sophomores are planning another good time. They are treating their big sisters, the Seniors, to a luncheon at Strathaven Inn, Swarthmore, on Saturday, May 4, at 1:30. Gertrude Draper is in charge, and the chairmen of the various committees are: Decorations, Dee Smythe; Transportation, Virginia Roe; Invitations, Betty Child; Business, Nancy Arthurs, and Entertainment, Jean Boyd.

Dr. Wallin, Teacher Here, Completes New Textbook

Dr. J. E. W. Wallin, who has taught in the summer session and in the extension department of the University during the last two years, has just finished a textbook on Personality Maladjustments and Mental Hygiene, which, it is expected, will be available for classroom use in the fall. The book is replete with original, concrete autobiographies of personality maladjustments, classified, analyzed, and interpreted, based on intellectually normal and superior undergraduate and graduate students. His lectures during the year in mental hygiene offered in various parts of the State have been pursued for credit by over a hundred students, about 15 of whom already possess undergraduate and graduate degrees.

Dr. Wallin is one of two living Delawareans whose name appears in The New Standard Encyclopedia. Mrs. Wallin has recently received notice that her biographical sketch will be included in Volume II of "Principal Women of America," published by the Mitre Press of London, England. Volume I published in 1932 contained the biographies of 1500 American women "who, on account of their achievements, or as mothers or wives of important captains of industry, leading professional men, etc., are entitled to rank among the first ladies of the United States."

Thompson Leads Batters

Averages of the first four games of the season show Ed Thompson, slugging backstop, ahead of Dick Roberts, his nearest rival for the batting crown, with an average of .438, compared with Roberts' .400. Ed also leads the field with seven hits, as well as having the only home run credited to a Delaware player. Four players are tied at the top in runs scored, all with four.

Although the team average is only .255, the Doherty men have made excellent use of their thirty-three hits, combining them at crucial times to score twenty-seven runs. Despite the fact that bases on balls and enemy errors have contributed to this remarkable percentage, smart baseball on the paths, especially the use of the famed Delaware squeeze play, has enabled the Blue Hens to come out on top in three of the first quartet of battles. This is best shown by the fact that figures give only one extra base slam to the credit of the local nine.

The averages, not including those of the game with West Chester, scheduled for April 24, are as follows:

| | g | ab | r | h | hr | 3b | 2b | av |

Tennis Practice Begins

When at last the official call for tennis was made, Mr. Jones found an aggregation of enthusiastic racketeers awaiting him. With P. M. C. scheduled for May 1 and May 4, and Dickinson on May 3, the squad is extremely anxious to get underway.

The long winter months haven't helped the courtmen much, but while kinks are being loosened by the hibernated courtmen, Coach Jones is keenly watching his prospects and hoping for a display of talent. At present Captain Joe Walsh is supported by Hume, Wheelless, Lawrence, Eckbert, Rice, Donoho, and Fletcher. These men are all capable and should break into the high winning column for Delaware.

The Kiwanis club has held this affair at the University of Delaware for the past fifteen years. Members from Rehoboth, Seaford, Dover, and Elkton clubs attended.

to his leadership on the Junior Prom Committee that this dance was such a success.

Vice-President "Bill" Croes, who won over James Hallett by one ballot, is likewise highly thought of and very active in campus affairs. He is the president of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity and also of the Blue Keys, vice-president of the A. S. M. E., and co-captain of the swimming team. He, too, served on the Junior Prom Committee.

The Sophomore Class at their elections Monday and Tuesday in Room 6, chose William Taggart, president; John Hodgson, vice-president; James Stall, secretary; and D. K. Wheeler, treasurer of next year's Junior Class.

A significant fact about this election was that a commuter was chosen president, an almost unprecedented occurrence. Bill Taggart is also a very popular member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

Jack Hodgson, the newly elected vice-president, has won a name for himself on the football and track fields. He was the Sophomore Class president and was recently elected sentinel of the Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Wheeler was a Student Council member and is an active member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity. "Jimmy" Stoll is the present secretary of the Sophomore Class.

W. C. D. Science Club Tours Evans Hall

The Science Club of the Women's College, on one of their field trips last Wednesday, visited the various laboratories and classrooms of Evans Hall, the Engineering Building. Escorted by gallant senior Engineering students, the group of girls, who made a thorough tour of the entire department, were particularly impressed by the "magic" of the photo-electric cell. In an experiment a radio was displayed controlled solely by light rays.

The officers of the Science Club, who accompanied their group, are Jane Merritt, president; Marion Spencer, Emily Ford, and Dorothy Markert.

When Jim the watchman came through
I tackled him for a smoke.*

"Sure," says Jim, and he handed

Mr. Kent, take three or four."

Jim said he'd smoked a lot of cigarettes

That was the first Chesterfield I
