

Greek Community

Brotherhood and sisterhood are the very essence of Greek life at the University of Delaware.

Beginning with the rushes in the fall, Greek life revolves around common interests and shared goals. More than just an opportunity to socialize, the Greeks are serious about their commitment to bettering of the university. Greeks encourage strong scholastic achievement and award scholarship from their national chapters. Participation in athletics has long been a Greek tradition both in the form of the intramural program and informal competitions such as the Greek games. The Greeks donate countless hours in service to the local community as well as national charities.

Above all, Greek membership leads to friendships that last throughout the college years, and well beyond.

The crowd gathers to watch the soft-ball throw during Greek games in early May.

A pep rally on the mall in 1953 marks the start of the first homecoming weekend in Delaware's history.

The Pledging Experience

Enjoying burgers hot from the grill, KA pledges find a desirable alternative to dining hall food at the KA Pledge barbeque.

Before pledging begins, all interested students go through Greek Rush. Rush occurs twice a year; in the fall and then again in the spring. Rush is a time to meet all the brothers or sisters and get an impression of each organization. The brothers and sisters devote many hours to the preparation of Rush, and all of their hard work clearly shows. Each night the brothers and sisters present a new theme by dressing up and throwing a party. The themes range from Halloween to the Olympics. Whatever the theme, the air is filled with renewed enthusiasm.

Choosing which sorority or fraternity to pledge is a tough decision, but once made, the best part of Greek life begins! Pledging lasts anywhere from three to five months and is an unforgettable experience. The pledge class members work together making a class project and the many friendships made are kept throughout college.

Each sorority and fraternity makes up its own secret rules for pledging, but lots of fun and many surprises are guaranteed for all. At the same time, pledges learn all about the history of their Greek organization as well as how the Greek system works. Of course every pledge can't wait to be a brother or sister! But pledging only happens once in a lifetime, and is the exciting part of becoming a Greek.

Kristen O'Neill

Engaging in intra fraternity competition, these pledges from TKE and AEPi participate in a chugging contest at an AEPi mixer.

A bit of tradition, the pledge book, paddle and pin signify the pledging experience.

Displaying a traditional pose, Alpha Phi Alpha pledges synchronize their movements in the Student Center dining hall during Spring Rush.

Working for the Greeks

Chatting with the brothers, Bertha Layne has quickly become a fixture at the KA house.

Wanted: Female to be escorted to dinner every night by a Southern gentleman, to attend at least three formal dances a year, and to live under the same roof with 54 college men.

Mrs. Bertha C. Layne, Kappa Alpha Order's new housemother wasn't ecstatic when this position was first offered to her. "Never in my wildest dreams did I think I'd become a housemother to so many boys," Layne said.

However, one night this past September, Layne received a 10:30 phone call from KA president Jim Insel, who informed her that she had been unanimously selected by the fraternity to be KA's housemother.

At home in the Alpha Phi kitchen, Bob Trethaway cleans in the afternoon before the dinner rush.

A dose of motherly affection goes a long way as Bertha Layne tucks in one of the KA brothers on a chilly winter morning.

Layne described her duties. "My main responsibilities are to grace KA's dining room and to meet and reassure the parents." Other duties include joining the boys circling the house during parties and dances, teaching proper etiquette and dining manners.

Layne happily revealed her favorite duty of tucking the blankets around the boys shoulders during the winter months. Layne exclaimed, "I just love it — these boys are my knights in shining armor!"

The brothers of KA agree that Layne is a friendly sharp-minded lady. "You can't put much past this lady. She's smart, and knows what's happening around the house," said one member. Another brother exclaimed, "She's gentle, affectionate, intelligent and very amusing."

"It's marvelous being KA's housemother," boasted Layne. "I'm having a ball and you can bet I'll be around here next semester."

Taking a break from the kitchen, Vince Impagliazzo joins in a game of fooseball with an AEPi brother.

In addition to housemothers, there are other people who serve the Greek community, such as house cooks.

Robert Trethaway cooked the dinners for Alpha Phi this past spring semester. Trethaway likes cooking for the girls at Alpha Phi because "they're nice to look at and always smiling." Trethaway said, "My main responsibility is to keep the kids happy, and not hungry. It's nice to work around a bunch of college kids, they're so lively and easy to please."

Vincent Impagliazzo has cooked for Alpha Epsilon Pi ever since they moved into their house three years ago. Impagliazzo starts his day at 7 a.m. and cooks breakfast, lunch and dinner for the brothers at AEPi. "Vinnie" says he loves working at AEPi because he feels as though he is a part of the fraternity. He jokes with the brothers and occasionally attends AEPi parties. Vinnie says he doesn't cook for the money but for the fun atmosphere around the house. Impagliazzo said, "These kids are great. There's never a dull moment."

Tara Talmadge

Stepping Out

The brothers of Omega Psi Phi are proud to capture the evening's coveted first place trophy at the fifth annual Greek Step Show.

On February 17, 1984 at Mitchell Hall, the Black Greek fraternities and sororities once again performed in style at their Fifth annual Greek Step Show. Each organization dressed in their own distinct costumes and performed their own choreographed dance routine. The proceeds of the show were donated to the United Negro College Fund.

The organizations were judged for their stage use, precision, showmanship, originality, appearance, clarity, and transitions. Each routine was allowed 20 minutes, and scored on a scale of one to ten.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority opened the night's entertainment, singing and dancing in bright pink and green dresses to the song "Encore."

Next on stage was Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity specializing in synchronized dance movements to the theme, "From Us, All Others Originate." Their black and gold costumes, as well as a cloud of fog surrounding the stage, enhanced the mystical ambience of their routine.

A spattering of dazzling blue jumpsuits on the stage contrasted the previous skit as the members of Sigma Gamma Rho appeared. Dancing with scenery depicting their symbol, the poodle, they delighted the audience with their talent.

The members of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity were next on stage with a wild opening of screams to attract attention. Dressed in purple and gold, singing "Q Psi Phi," the men displayed great physical agility, leading them to a well-deserved, third straight victory.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority was the final group on stage. Their alternating red and white costumes brightened the stage as they danced their way to the top. Using a combination of dancing, singing, and comedy, they gained the women's victory.

Kristen O'Neill

Encore! The sisters of AKA sorority stunned the audience with their opening routine.

A winning combination. Delta Gamma Theta sorority displays their first place form.

"From Us, All Others Originate." Alpha Phi Alpha hypnotizes the audience with their original routine.

Ann Massey leads the sisters of Sigma Gamma Rho in their poodle oriented show.

With an amazing display of stage presence and talent, Omega Psi Phi gives the audience a step lesson.

Dancing the Night Away

At the Second Annual Pi Kappa Alpha Dance Marathon, the Freeze Dried Boys kick off the evening with an energetic set. The dance provided $3,500 for the United Way.

Sharing a quiet moment, winners Ann Doberenz and Al Gorczynski dance closer to their first place prizes.

Undaunted by the fatigue of their partners, these hearty dancers lend each other a hand.

On the weekend of February 17, 1984, the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity hosted its second annual dance marathon in the Rodney Room of the Student Center to raise funds for their major philanthropy, the United Way. Co-sponsored by WILM News Radio and various corporate contributors, the 36-hour event began on Friday night with 27 couples.

In addition to dancing for a good cause, couples had an extra incentive: three prizes were awarded by Pi Kappa Alpha to the couples who raised the greatest amount of money for the United Way. First prize, a five-day vacation to the Bahamas, was awarded to Al Gorcynski and Ann Doberenz. A two-day trip to The Sands casino in Atlantic City went to Jeff Cichocki and Amy Smith, who placed second. Carl Trachte and Christa Von Hillebrandt, the 3rd place winners, won a pair of Walkman stereos for their effort.

Starting off the marathon at 8 p.m. Friday night, the Freeze Dried Boys, performed for the crowd. Their energetic and powerful musical display made the Freeze Dried Boys a tough act to follow.

For every two hours of dancing, couples were allowed a 15 minute break. By the time 8 hours had passed, 19 couples had dropped out, narrowing the competition to only 8 couples. In the remaining 28 hours of the marathon, six of the female dancers succumbed to exhaustion.

By this time the long hours of dancing began to take their toll on the participants. Dancers sported shorts, ace bandages, and athletic tape, and one girl wore ice packs taped to her knees to alleviate some of the swelling. In spite of discomforts, spirits still remained high, and dancers continued to have a good time.

At the end of the 36 hours, dancers had raised over $3300 in pledges for the United Way. With additional contributions from corporate sponsors and campus contributors, the marathon brought in a total of nearly $3,500.

Co-chairmen John Beins and Mike Blando were quite pleased with the outcome of the marathon. Said Beins, "I think that besides contributing money to charity, the act of organizing something like this and having the fraternity cooperating is very rewarding."

The brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha proved that with hard work, dedication, and a little imagination, a task like organizing the Annual Pi Kappa Alpha/United Way Dance Marathon can be a huge success!

Ester Norvell and Chris Warner kick up their heels to the sounds of the Freeze Dried Boys.

We've gotta keep going! Fresh from her 15 minute break, a revived dancer sings to her sagging partner.

Running for a Good Cause

In the second annual 5-K run, first and second place finishers Mike Wyatt (800) and Steve Eachus (827) were ahead of the pack even at the start of the race.

A large and eager crowd of 758 runners began the race in front of Phi Kappa Tau.

Hamming it up for the camera, these two runners seem content to jog at their own pace.

The first Saturday of March was a brisk day but Academy Street was alive with activity in the morning. Seven hundred and fifty eight runners were assembling for the Second Annual 5-K Run for Bruce sponsored by Phi Kappa Tau.

Fourteen minutes, 28 seconds later, Miky Wyatt, one of the premier runners of the East coast and owner of a sub-4:00 mile, crossed the finish line first. Following close behind in second place was Steve Eachus from West Chester State University. Denise Marine, a James Madison University runner, was the first female finisher. Although winning is nice, many runners were unconcerned about finishing times but ran the race simply to support a good cause.

Keeping the pace, these runners are working their way towards the final leg of the race.

The Annual 5-K Run was held for the Benefit of Bruce Peisino, who was paralyzed during a 1980 Christiana High School football game. Race director Andre Hoeschel came up with the idea of holding the race when he was put in charge of philanthropy for Phi Tau. "We've done fundraisers for the Delaware Lung Association," said Hoeschel, "but we could never see the people who benefited. That's why I chose Bruce. He is a person who I could see the money help."

The two 5-K races have raised a total of $6,200. Of this money, over $5,000 has gone directly to Bruce and his family to help pay for Bruce's medical expenses. The Delaware Wheelers, a group of paraplegic and quadriplegic wheelchair athletes, received about $1000 from this year's race. "We wanted to expand who the race would benefit," said Hoeschel, "along the line of athletes who are confined to wheelchairs." The Delaware Wheelers fit the bill.

The race, scheduled at the beginning of the road racing and track seasons, serves as a less demanding tune-up for the more experienced runners. "There weren't many 5-K's in the state at the time," said Hoeschel. "It's a good distance for students and recreational runners."

Jim Colvard

Thinning out as they go, the group moves down Courtney Street.

Alpha Epsilon Pi

Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity was founded in 1913 at New York University. At that time, their aim was to promote friendship, brotherhood, ambition and idealism. The Rho Deuteron chapter of AEPi, established at the university in 1925, has maintained these goals throughout the years.

AEPi's are a socially active group hosting mixers, tailgates, a Red Light District Party and a spring formal in Ocean City, Maryland. The fraternity participated in Greek Games and hosted an Open House Barbecue with Alpha Phi. The brothers hosted their Buccaneer's Brawl, a longtime AEPi tradition in which they transform the entire house into a "Treasure Island" theme.

While AEPi likes to stress an active social life, they feel that academics are a major part of the fraternity. Receiving the award for the highest grade point average over all Greeks for the past seven years, the brothers are active in groups across campus including Hillel, Order of Omega, Political Science Honor Society and Engineering Honor Society.

Although there are chapters throughout the United States, AEPi at the University of Delaware has achieved the award of being the number one chapter in the Northeast region. The brothers of Alpha Epsilon Pi believe that Greek life is a rewarding experience — rewarding throughout both the college career as well as one's lifetime.

Tara Talmadge

Battling it out at AEPi's Buccaneer Brawl are Maurice Segall, Gina Pierelli, Josh Salmanson, and Karen Schwenk. The Brawl has become a house tradition.

Mixers with sororities highlight the AEPi social calendar. This Friday the guests are sisters of Alpha Chi.

Alpha Epsilon Pi — Front: J. Amdur, G. Lustgarten. Row 2: R. Singer, L. Molotsky, E. Trechak, D. Greenblatt, R. Rubin, I. Beiser, M. Kaplan, M. Segall, M. Gardner, N. Wolff. Row 3: S. Bloom, M. Klotz, B. Katzen, A. Zucker, L. Charak, K. Meyer, D. Grossman, Vinnie, J. Meyers. Row 4: P. Novick, S. Moskowitz, G. Michel, S. Kobernick, D. Sleppin, J. Richter. Back: W.B. Slater, S. Lippman, J. Katz, S. Weissman, M. Gelfond, S. Schriber, D. Cohen, K. Kaplan, J. Thomas, D. Rosen-garten.

Alpha Phi Alpha

Boasting the motto "First of All, Servants to All, We shall transcend All", the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity was founded at Cornell University on December 4, 1906. The Xi Omicron Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha was installed on Delaware's campus in 1980.

The brothers of Alpha Phi Alpha strive for "Excellence in Everything." The fraternity's flower is the yellow rose, its colors black and old gold, and symbol the Sphinx of Egypt. The Alphas' philanthropies include NAACP and American Cancer Society activities.

This year, Alpha Phi Alpha's events were of many varieties. A few included a Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. National Holiday Drive, the Special Olympics, a YMCA Free To Be program, visits to the Layton Home, tutorial programs, and Black Health and Black History Awareness programs.

Trish Csakany

At the Annual Black Arts Festival, held in early April, William Rice tosses a baseball for onlookers.

At their bi-weekly meeting, Don Brunson, Al Woolfolk, and Craig Hill plan their next service projects.

Alpha Phi Alpha — T. Kilpatrick, A. Woolfolk, M. Cubble, W. Rice, D. Brunson, C. Hill, R. Smith.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega began in 1925 at Lafayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania. The local chapter, Zeta Sigma, was founded by H. Bruce Ahers on May 24, 1948.

Each fall and spring students take advantage of the low prices at APO's Book Exchange. The Book Exchange is the best known of APO's activities, but they offer many other services to the University. At Christmas time APO eases the Christmas card rush by helping with the delivery of cards on campus. For the health conscious, APO sponsored a CPR clinic and two blood drives during the year.

Alpha Phi Omega's services are not confined to the campus alone. They cook a Thanksgiving dinner for residents of the Newark Senior Center. At Easter time, they serve an Easter Dinner at the Soup Kitchens in Wilmington. Field trips are also provided for the children from our Lady of Grace Orphanage each fall and spring. Alpha Phi Omega's good will is even felt as far away as Assateague Island in Maryland, where the members assist in cleaning up the community beaches.

Even with all their projects, however, APO members take time to entertain themselves with Christmas and Spring formals and mixers with Alpha Omicron Pi.

Kristen O'Neill

The stack slowly diminishes as the books are sorted at the APO Book Exchange in the Student Center.

Demonstrating wheelchair expertise is a requirement at the APO Obstacle Course during Student Center night.

Alpha Phi Omega — Front: K. McAlley, R. Redcay, P. Cesard, E. Korber, C. Nicholson. Row 2: R. Hyland, M. Van Bruggen, A. DalNogare, J. Walsh, R. Smith, C. Carey, S. Mulford, R. Horn,

M. McCambridge. Back: G. Pomajevich, C. Mueller, G. Inguito, B. Banks, M. Manniso, M. Marine, T. Rickenbach, B. Maass.

Alpha Tau Omega

Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity was founded in 1965 at the Virginia Military Institute. The Epsilon Rho chapter was established at Delaware in 1949.

ATO excels in many aspects of university life. Consistently maintaining a high grade point average, ATO is represented in the Order of Omega and in the Engineering and Business Student Associations.

Along with academics, ATO prides itself on being a fine athletic fraternity. During the year the brothers participated in seven varsity sports, including football, wrestling, and lacrosse. The brothers have won numerous overall intramural championships, and have won Greek Games three times in the last five years.

Alpha Tau Omega's philanthropy includes the American Cancer Society, Delaware Wheelers, and Big Brothers of Delaware. To raise money for the March of Dimes, the brothers sponsored a walkathon.

Maintaining a full social calendar, ATO enjoyed tailgates, theme parties, and mixers. Highlighting the year was ATO's Spring and Winter Weekend formals, and alumni events such as the annual Bullroast.

Tara Talmadge

Alpha Tau Omega Front: S. Young, L. Pennington, J. Taylor, B. Minos, D. Mauro, T. Huffman, A. Anapolle. Row 2: J. Cichocki, B. Miller, D. Fink, K. Sheridan, R. Tharpe. Row 3: J. Dooley, Loretta, R. Silver, B. Holston, J. Scott, B. Bensky, T. Chaby, J. Feeney, R. Longyear, M. Zeto, E. Lebreton, D. Faust, M. Sandomeno, T. Houston. Back: J. Fusella, C. Neff, J. Gibson, J. Curran, E. Dean, S. Katherine.

With their irreplaceable binoculars, Mark Sandomeno, Ray Chase, and John O'Corran check out the ladies of Harrington C, conveniently located across the street.

An ice cold drink eases the late summer heat during a Saturday afternoon football tailgate.

Delta Tau Delta

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity was founded in the spring of 1858 at Bethany College in what was then Virginia, and now West Virginia. The Delta Upsilon Chapter was established on Delaware campus on October 24, 1948.

The Delts participated in a variety of activities. During fall semester, the brothers of Delta held their traditional Homecoming Alumni gathering and Christmas formal. Spring Semester was also a busy time for the Delts. In February, the brothers took on the task of renovating their house on S. College Avenue, and traveled to Charleston, West Virginia for a Regional Conference. The annual brother/pledge softball game and barbecue were held in March, and in April the brothers had a fundraising book raffle.

In May, Delta Tau Delta held its traditional Delt Weekend, their spring formal, which was followed by their annual cook-out. Throughout the year, the Delts also hosted mixers, happy hours, and numerous parties.

Trish Csakany

Teaching the brothers how to play pool is not an easy task, but Lauren Plisicca and Terrie Silcox are willing to devote some time to the worthy cause.

Taking a break Scott Miller and Gary Yates show a little affection for Duke the Wonder Dog.

Delta Tau Delta Front: G. Yates, S. Parker, S. Cammauf, K. Monaco, D. McPherrin, M. McMenamin. Row 2: D. Wolfe, C. Ivans, P. Armstrong, M. Snoberger, R. Coe. Back: B. Almquist, P. Trucco, S. Miller, J. Warnick, M. Rigney, B. Hamilton, D. Godfrey, P. Strawderman, R. Seibert, J. Campbell, R. Barbour, P. Luongo, T. Campbell, T. Nettleton, M. Catanzaro, T. Gay, T. Oberdorff, G. Leshner, D. Macleod, J. West, M. Bilunas, J. Elfers.

Kappa Alpha

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College in Lexington, Virginia in 1865, while Robert E. Lee, KA's spiritual founding father, was president of the college.

Kappa Alpha is an Order of Christian Knights pledged to the highest ideals of character and achievement. They are "Southern Gentlemen" who uphold the honor of God and women. The Beta Epsilon chapter, the first fraternity here at the University of Delaware, was installed April 29, 1904.

With an active membership of 81 men, the Kastle is filled with enthusiasm and spirit. A new addition to the Kastle is their housemother, Mrs. Bertha C. Layne, a 1926 graduate of the university. Housemothers are a Kappa Alpha tradition and Mrs. Layne has proven to be an asset to the fraternity.

KA began the fall semester with theme parties, date parties, tailgates, and, of course, Homecoming and Christmas celebrations. January highlighted KA's convivium, a tribute to spiritual leader Robert E. Lee. This celebration also marked the 80th year of Kappa Alpha's presence at the university. Spring semester featured fundraising for Muscular Dystrophy, mixers, a toga party, St. Patty's Day party, work week, and the annual Old South Ball at the Hercules Country Club in Wilmington.

Tara Talmadge

Pledge week at KA gives the pledges a chance to experience life with a house full of brothers. Here the brothers release some tension with a bout of rough-housing.

At the KA Parents Tea, President Jim Insel chats with Mike Romeo over the lunch buffet.

Kappa Alpha — Front: J. Rea, M. Romeo. Row 2: J. Insel, C. Giannuario, B. Taylor, Bufu. Row 3: T. Byrne, S. Byrk, S. Oride, T. Oves, J.B. Kruzinski, P. La-testa, P. Ventrella, D. Ewing. Row 4: W. Humphreys, D. Hargarten, M. Wagstaff, B. Sopko, P. Freebery, G. Sparks, A. Cicio, B. Flyge, S. Beiner, G. Vuolde. Back: B. Caldes, J. Struzowski, D. Naurman, J. Welsh, R. Hammer, K. Donnelly, N. Rubenstein, B. Reilly, M. Powell, B. Wilson, P. Picuch.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Lambda Beta chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha was installed at the University in December 1965. Since then, the active chapter has grown to 67 men.

The brothers that make up Lambda Chi hold a variety of beliefs and interests, but all are brought together by the bonds of friendship that come from working and being together. Unique to Lambda Chi is the concept of the "associate brother" — no distinctions are made between fully initiated brothers and newly associated ones.

The chapter's various activities included "Bounce For Breath" — dribbling a basketball to Philadelphia collecting pledges from corporations and local contributors. The money collected went to Cystic Fibrosis research. In addition, the brothers enjoyed mixers, tailgates, date parties, and intramurals.

The members of Lambda Chi Alpha feel that the best way to learn about fraternity life is to learn it from the inside. This not only makes for better understanding of the Greek way of life — "it makes for the best friends you'll ever have."

Tara Talmadge

Seeking the thrill of victory, the brothers of Lambda Chi relax with a game of foosball in the downstairs game room.

Life in the house sometimes gets a little wild. Here President Bob Fedorka tries to exert his authority over the brothers.

Lambda Chi Alpha — Front: S. Pal-lack, K. Houang. Row 2: S. Hanson, B. Holden, T. Bacharach, G. Lewis, J. Sa-grate, M. Rothenheber, S. Sabo. Row 3: R. Byrd, B. Devoe, D. Marcozzi, J.

Eberly, T. Jerakis, J. Falk, T. Leong. Back: B. Siegle, P. Burch, S. Hammond, G. Mathias, D. Lewis, W. Gygyrnyuk, M. Kimm, L. Deist, H. Bullit, E. Frey.

Omega Psi Phi

Omega Psi Phi fraternity was founded at Howard University on November 17, 1911. On April 18, 1974, the Psi Zeta Chapter became a part of the Greek community as the first black fraternity on Delaware's campus.

The motto of Omega Psi Phi is "Friendship is essential to the soul," and the fraternity is always involved with programs Showing their winning style, the brothers of Omega Psi Phi are on the way to victory in the fifth annual Greek Step Show.

Little sisters of Omega Psi Phi assist with a Halloween party at the Childrens Hospital in Wilmington.

that uplift the community. Some noteworthy programs this year were the annual Halloween party, Canned Food and Clothing Drives, the Martin Luther King Memorial Dinner, and the Holiday Basketball Tournament which raised funds for Omega Psi Phi's philanthropies, the NAACP and UNCF.

Trish Csakany

Omega Psi Phi — G. Brown, A. Holden, C. Rochester, R. Reid, C. Webb.

Phi Kappa Tau

Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity was founded at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio in 1906 and was established at the University of Delaware in 1924.

This year, the brothers of Phi Tau were quite active. Once again, the fraternity sponsored the 5-K for Bruce, a race held to raise funds for Bruce Peisino. The race was a huge success, and over $2000 was raised for Bruce's benefit.

During Spring Semester, the brothers celebrated their 60th Anniversary Founder's Day and Franklin S. McMuller Commemoration Day. Phi Tau also enjoyed a full social calendar, which included mixers, winter and spring weekend formals, and their traditional Toga party.

Phi Kappa Tau is a strong and growing fraternity dedicated to academic, community, campus, and social activities. The brothers of Phi Tau participated in a variety of activities, which included campus activity groups, varsity and intramural sports, ROTC, and community fund raisers.

Trish Csakany

Partying in the den, the brothers of Phi Kappa Tau are surrounded by signs of their favorite beverage.

Enjoying the fruit cup at the Founder's Day Dinner are Roger Wilstein, chapter consultant, Jeff Brittingham, President, and National President Ray Bichemen.

Phi Kappa Tau — Front: J. Brittingham, T. Houser, P. Gagliardi, P. Chetkin, J. Minnisalle. Row 2: G. Hughes, G. Gallagher, P. Kady, K. Lentini, M. Keenan, R. Guariano, J. Vitella, B. Dolan. Row 3: S. Firment, J. Stout, B. Henry, J. Armstrong. Row 4: M. Hendricks, C. Danberg, K. Hill, R. Przyhara, M. Sasso, B. Martell, T. Gleason.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity was founded on March 1, 1868 at the University of Virginia. The Delta Eta Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha was introduced to Delaware's campus on March 13, 1948.

The brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha are proud of their numerous achievements. The fraternity is very active in community services, such as Newark Community Day. Last year 40 Pikes participated in the program, and this year PIKA was asked by the town to return as the exclusive Greek representative from the University of Delaware. Pi Kappa Alpha also co-sponsored an Easter Egg hunt for local underprivileged children.

PIKA's main philanthropic event of the year was the 2nd Annual Pi Kappa Alpha/ United Way Dance Marathon. A very successful effort, the dance raised $3,500 for the United Way, and awarded a trip to the Bahamas to the couple who brought in the greatest amount of money.

In addition, Pi Kappa Alpha also had a busy social calendar. Fall activities included a September Crabfeast with Alpha Sigma Alpha, a Parent's Day tailgate, happy hour and dinner, and a Homecoming celebration consisting of a tailgate, cocktails, dinner, and party.

Spring semester, too, was filled with a host of activities for the Pikes. Events included a Valentine's Day mixer with Alpha Chi Omega, the Annual Spring Formal/Weekends, and the North Atlantic Regional Conference which was hosted at Delaware. Over 290 Pikes were in attendance for various seminars and banquets and an unforgettable semi-formal party.

Finishing off the last of seven kegs, Dave Phillips and Michael Blando get a little help from bartender Roald Rasmussen.

Relaxing with friends on a warm spring afternoon, Todd Wells strings his guitar.

Trish Csakany

Pi Kappa Alpha — Front: A. Shawl, K. Conover, D. Escott, D. Kelsh, J. Markels, J. Bowen, P. Kelly, T. Sapala (pledge), D. Phillips, M. Blando, J. Kenderdine, L. Hill. Row 2: M. Williams, J. Hartz, R. Rasmussen, J. Donanico, F.

McKelvy, K. Kramer, C. Warner, D. Sheaffer, L. Udoff, S. Rambo, G. Rosser, A. Gresh. Back: T. Wells, S. Timmins, J. Beins, J. Barton, C. Pijanowski.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity had its beginnings in 1899 when it was founded at Illinois Wesleyan University. The Nu Pi chapter of TKE at Delaware's campus was initially the Delta Epsilon Chi colony, residing in Ivy Hall Apartments. On March 6, 1971 Nu Pi was installed as the 303rd TKE Chapter.

Tau Kappa Epsilon strives to be involved in many community activities. Some of TKE's annual activities include helping Freshmen during moving day, volunteer work for the Newark Community Day, assisting at a children's Haunted House on Halloween, and the Keg Roll for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

In addition, TKE is involved in intramural, competitive and recreational sports. These include touch football, broomball, indoor soccer, softball, water polo, volleyball, racquetball, and basketball.

Along with these activities, the brothers of TKE maintained a full social calendar. Events included mixers with other fraternities and sororities, a New Year's Eve and St. Patty's Day Party, and a Skating Party at the university ice rink. Highlighting the spring semester was TKE's Spring Formal, held at the Granery in Georgetown, Maryland, which was followed by the Alumni Picnic the next day.

Trish Csakany

Up on the roof, TKE brothers make use of the view to watch passersby and an occasional night of star gazing.

Trivial Pursuit has swept college campuses. Here the brothers of TKE enjoy a quiet evening at the house.

Tau Kappa Epsilon — Front: V. LaSorsa, S. Frasier. Row 2: D. Berardelli, G. Brewer, A. Wing, T. Wyman, D. Ryan. Row 3: T. McGreevy, G. Sloyer, J. Denion, J. Straumanis, B. Carol, J. Boyle, M. deBussy, J. Hamrick.

Theta Chi

Theta Chi was founded in April 1856, at Norwich University in Vermont. Today they have 96,600 members nationwide and 147 active chapters. The Alpha Xi chapter, established June 9, 1923, is the second oldest fraternity on campus.

Theta Chi — Front: D. Powell, P. Beaty. Row 2: A. Schmidt, B. Matthews, R. Krett, T. Peone, B. Kuttruff, J. Merklinger, B. Schwartz, F. Lee, F. Prinze, G.

Homan, D. Morris, J. Shapiro, C. Skolnick, P. Bhaya, S. Okupski, K. Fiori, S. Jones, R. Hyman. Back: C. Lee.

With an active membership of 43 men, the Alpha Xi chapter represents a balanced selection of academic and athletic interests. Theta Chi is represented in the Council of Fraternity Presidents and Order of Omega, the Greek honor society. The brothers are involved in most intramural sports, as well as having the Boxing Club president and football, rugby, and ice hockey team members in the fraternity.

The brothers at the Delaware chapter served charities such as the Kidney Foundation and the Newark Senior Citizen Center. In December, Theta Chi and Omega Psi Phi sponsored a Holiday Basketball Tournament. This event not only raised money for the Police Athletic League, but also enhanced interfraternity relations.

Theta Chi hosted many social events this year. Homecoming, Pearl Harbor Day party, mixers, and tailgates kept the brothers and their guests busy and entertained during the fall semester. Spring semester included a Founder's Day Dance, St. Patty's Day party and Greek Games. Theta Chi's busy social calendar was highlighted by the annual Bull Roast Semi-Formal held in conjunction with the Blue-White football game.

Presently, there are 24 brothers living in the house on West Main Street, which was built for them in 1976.

Tara Talmadge

Taking requests at a Theta Chi party are DJ's Nick Grieco and Ken Nicholas.

Zeta Beta Tau

Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity was founded in 1898 at Columbia University in New York. The Epsilon Theta chapter of ZBT was introduced to Delaware on October 2, 1982, and is the youngest fraternity on campus.

In the two years since ZBT was founded at Delaware, the chapter has grown to over fifty members. The brothers recently gained a chapter house located on Wyoming Road, attaining their main goal for the 1984 school year.

ZBT is involved in community services as well as being an active participant in the Greek community. This year, they co-sponsored a Haunted House with Gamma Sigma Sigma Sorority to raise money for the Rockwood Museum in Wilmington, Delaware. Some of the ZBT's social events included mixers, happy hours, and theme parties such as their Pre-school Dress Party and Toga Party.

Trish Csakany

Always dressed for the occasion, Dave Britton and Kevin Mills model the latest in corporate and party attire.

Toga parties like this one during spring semester are a favorite of the ZBT brothers.

Finding motivation to hit the books is often a chore, but Dave Bolig and Todd Skopic seem to have found a short cut.

Zeta Beta Tau — Front: J. Menafra, D. Goldberg, J. Comber, D. Bolig, M. Zebley, R. Pentz. Row 2: J. Marino, M. Bowytz, A. Klein, C. West, K. Harris, K. Hughes, T. Skopic, J. Hayes, K. Seigel, J. Perine. Row 3: B. Marra, S. Flinn, K. Mills, L. Cranmer, J. Sanders, R. Pryzwara, C. Fisher. Back: M. Stiefvater, M. Pollak, B. Dougherty, M. Fox, A. Trachtman, S. Whayland, S. Poole, J. Castle, E. Emrich.

Council of Fraternity Presidents

Composed of presidents from each of the social fraternities on campus, the Council of Fraternity Presidents facilitates communication between the Greek community and the university administration. The council is comprised of 12 members, 5 officers, and advisor Dean Eddy.

Together, the members of the Council are responsible for coordinating inter-fraternity activities. One of its major concerns is the overseeing of formal rush. Other annual events which are handled by the CFP include Greek Week and the Homecoming King and Queen competition.

Trish Csakany

Council of Fraternity Presidents — Front: D. Hamilton (activities), J. Brittingham, P. Enterline (vice-president). Back: A. Zucker, D. Mauro, J. Insel, R. Krett, K. Monaco.

Panhellenic Council

Panhellenic Executive Board — Front: Ellen Troy (secretary), Kim Kokesh (vice-president). Back: Danielle Masleh (president), Mary Lavin (activities chairman), Lauren Clark (treasurer).

Founded in 1972, the Panhellenic Council is the local governing body for sororities and is composed of delegates from chapters of Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Phi, Phi Sigma Sigma, Alpha Sigma Alpha, and Alpha Omicron Pi. The offices of the Executive Board are represented by one member of each sorority.

The Panhellenic Council is responsible for local Panhellenic operation in accordance with the National Panhellenic Conference, unanimous agreements, policies, and procedures. The Council strives for good scholarship, high standards of social conduct, and to work in harmony and understanding with others to further the ideals of fraternity.

During this year, the Panhellenic Council coordinated rush and all the activities involved, and helped to raise money for the American Cancer Society.

Trish Csakany

Alpha Chi Omega

Epsilon Rho chapter of Alpha Chi Omega has the distinction of being the oldest sorority on the U of D campus. The sorority was established here in 1972, and it boasts a history that extends back to 1885, when it was founded at DePaul University.

The sorority has a history of activity, and this year was no exception. The chapter enveloped itself in philanthropic work, supporting The McDowell Colony, Easter Seals, Self Help Toys, and Cystic Fibrosis through many different fund-raising events.

On the social end of the spectrum, the sisters hosted many events. Over the year they sponsored the Homecoming Tailgate, the Pledge Retreat, (with 30 new pledges), a Founders Day Celebration with Alumni, a Parents Tailgate, a "Blind Date" Party at the Amber Lantern, many mixers, a Thanksgiving dinner, and a Christmas dance at the Radisson Hotel in Wilmington.

This year saw another major event for the chapter when they signed a new lease on a house on Delaware Avenue.

Robbie Raffish

Trying to gain an edge on their opponents, Sharon Whaley and Judie Cook practice for Alpha Chi's frisbee golf tournament.

Enjoying an AEPi mixer open house, the sisters of Alpha Chi keep a busy social calendar.

Alpha Chi Omega — Front: J. Swarely, E. Giovanelli, M. Cytron, S. Burfiend, K. Dickey, B. McKeon. Row 2: S. Cohen, S. Galt, E. Frank, J. McCrell, L. Boyle, J.

Lewis. Back: J. Unger, D. Tichio, D. Masleh, J. Weisman, G. Pierelli, J. Gordella, C. Gill, B. Pollard, S. Herder.

Alpha Omicron Pi

Alpha Omicron Pi was founded on January 2, 1897 at Barnard College in New York City. It then became the twelfth sorority to join the National Panhellenic Conference in 1950. It was founded at the University of Delaware in 1972.

Since 1931, Alpha Omicron Pi has worked continuously to raise money for various philanthropic projects. Today, the sorority is the only Greek organization that officially supports the Arthritis Foundation. The girls can be seen raising money through events like carwashes, hay rides, bowling nights, and other fundraisers during the year.

The chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi that is located on the University of Delaware's campus is Delta Chi. It presently consists of over thirty girls, and the number keeps growing each year. The girls uphold tradition by having an annual volleyball marathon, Thanksgiving dinner, Parents Day Tailgate and Senior Sendoff.

Taking care of the plants, Lisa Castrianni does the daily watering, but Mary Butler is concerned over her choice of seats.

Kristen O'Neill

Arriving back at the house, Beth Powell and Leslie Pors strike a pose that would make advertising executives at General Motors happy.

Preparing for Greek Games, Lauren Clark tosses a keg across the lawn.

Alpha Omicron Pi — Front: D. Segal, L. Spangler, L. Lipton, J. Hershman, L. Castrianni, C. Barecchia. Row 2: S. Rogers, V. Corton, M. Fondiller, L. Pors, A. Marks, J. Regira, Y. Cerrada. Row 3: M. Butler, G. Knecht, J. Mason, K. Kramark, S. Soranno, V. Vabuena, L. Wilson, A. Witkowski, B. Kline, M. Seto. Back: B. Penwell, L. Clark, S. Cressman, S. Chrismer, M. Stude, J. Cerceco, K. Rupert, D. Schacklinsky, L. Davis.

Alpha Phi

Alpha Phi International was founded in 1982 at Syracuse University by women who recognized the value of fraternity living and its close friendships. In February 1972, the sorority was initiated at Delaware as the Epsilon Nu Chapter of Alpha Phi.

Alpha Phi's motto of "Union Hand in Hand" exemplifies their goals of sisterhood, scholarship, and service. Their philanthropy is the American Heart Association, for which Alpha Phi is the largest single contributor. Alpha Phi occupies the largest sorority house on Delaware's campus with a maximum capacity of 35 girls. With 67 sisters, Alpha Phi is a strong and growing sorority committed to social, academic, community and campus activities.

Epsilon Nu started the fall semester with 31 pledges — the highest quota ever. Included in the calendar of events for the year was the Homecoming tailgate and dance, and the blind date hayride. Alpha Phi enjoyed mixers with a fraternity from Lehigh University. Other events included Christmas caroling, a Halloween party for orphans, a homemade cookie sale, Christmas and Spring formals, and Greek Games.

Tara Talmadge

Open house at Alpha Phi provides an opportunity for other Greeks to tour the house.

Celebrating Founders Day, Alpha Phi had a dinner dance in their house.

Preparing for the Spring Formal, Libby Arnold and Mary Anne Moomau select party favors.

Alpha Phi — Front: D. Zurlo, L. Herold, M. Haefele, J. Citren, M. Nemetz, S. Distefano, W. Citren, M. Isaac. Row 2: T. Talmadge, K. Dixon, K. Manzo, C. Loper, S. Mullen, C. Leonard, R. Ballik, J. Pula, J. Sprouls, D. Dixon. Row 3: D. Zeiders, S. Sproul, L. Arnold, L.

Bolster, N. Sibley, D. Howley, M. Houghton, R. Rogolsky, E. Smith, P. Dunn, A. Cornell, B. Zimmerman, L. Fox. Back: D. Crites, J. Modica, T. Schwebel, L. Metz, T. Borick, L. Kimball, S. Roberts, B. Smith, S. Tondi.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Alpha Sigma Alpha, with its motto of "Aspire, Seek, Attain," was founded on November 15, 1901 at Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia. The Delta Iota Chapter has been on campus since April, 1972.

The symbols for ASA are the Star, Crown, Palm Tree, and Phoenix. Ragedy Ann represents their mascot. The colors of ASA are crimson, pearl white, palm green, and gold.

Alpha Sigma Alpha is growing in size each year. Dedication and hard work have proven to be valuable assets to Alpha Sig sisters. ASA takes pride in the fact that they doubled their size this past year, reaching a total of 65 girls.

ASA has engaged in many philanthropic, recreational, and social activities over the year. The sisters and pledges united for their annual pumpkin carving in October and then held their traditional mum corsage sale at Homecoming. ASA members could also be seen helping at the Special Olympic games in the fall.

Many social activities took place including their Founder's Day celebration, mixers with Phi Tau, ZBT, PiKA, and Delta. The winter and spring formals were also very special for Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Kristen O'Neill

Alpha Sigma Alpha — Front: H. Visconti, H. Burkowitz, M. Lewis, J. Torbert, A. Lindenauer, A. Goldberg, M. Fusco, M. Becce. Row 2: E. Fithian, L. Roth, S. Klauber, D. Sinnot, K. Davidoff, K. Kokesh, L. Marron, L. Picoult, B. Bannister. Row 3: S. Picoult, J. Griffin, L. Walsh, J. Doberenz, D. Fetterly, M. Chamberlain. Back K. Lyons, T. Hahn, T. Smith, L. Weinert, K. Fawley, J. Sharp, S. Conforte, K. Berman, A. Glowacz, K. O'Neill, I. Brommer, L. Gawreluk, L. Holz, K. Estavanik, D. Weaver, M. Schrier, T. Kunz.

Relaxing with the house mascot, Kathy Estavanik pages through the sorority magazine.

Teaming up with Pi Kappa Alpha brothers, the sisters participate in intramural water polo.

Gamma Sigma Sigma

Gamma Sigma Sigma was founded in 1952 at Beekman Towers in New York City. It is a national service sorority with high ideals of service, represented by the Greek letter omicron.

Beta Gamma, the chapter of Gamma Sigma Sigma currently on campus, is the smallest sorority at the university, but the girls enjoy their unity and ability to form lasting friendships.

Although the sorority is small, the girls take pride in providing many services for the university and surrounding community. The sorority volunteers at Newark Community Day, YWCA, and the A.I. Du Pont Institute. The girls frequently can be found at the Senior Center, where they organize films, pancake brunches and dances for the residents. The girls also make time in their busy schedule to provide themselves with services by having semi-formals, weekend retreats to the beach, parties, and mixers with other fraternities.

Kristen O'Neill

Looking goulish, the sisters of Gamma Sig prepare to work at a haunted house in Wilmington.

Joining in Community Day, these Gamma Sig sisters get their slice of "Old College."

Gamma Sigma Sigma — Front: M. Monckton, B. Wilson, A. Jennewine, D. Weaving, S. Anker, M. Kaplan, L. Neal, A. Magaziner. Back: K. Weiss, L. Snow,

Phi Sigma Sigma

Phi Sigma Sigma sorority was founded on November 26, 1913 at Hunter College in New York. The Delta Eta chapter was introduced to Delaware's campus on December 4, 1982.

To reward their work on campus and in the Delaware community, Delta Eta Chapter, was recognized as a Delaware sorority.

The sisters of PhiSS worked hard for this recognition, sponsoring many events over the past year. They held their annual Parents Day Tailgate, a Wild West Party, and the Big Sister Roast. Over the year, the sisters raised money in support of the National Kidney Foundation, their major philanthropic concern.

Delta Eta Chapter won the National Sisterhood Award for its dedication and perseverance in building a sorority. Randy Garfield, a founding sister, was recognized as Archon of the Year.

Robbie Raffish

Boxing doughnuts for a Phi Sigma Sigma fund-raiser are Pam Kestler, Resi Buell, and Anita Young.

One happy family, the sisters of Phi Sig join together for a group shot during a fall rush function.

Phi Sigma Sigma — Front: R. Keech, L. Madrianos, J. Finch, E. Xydis, S. Frank, C. Connor, K. Macek, V. Rees. Row 2: M. Clarke, N. Fair, D. Strunge, J. Goodman, D. Friend, R. Buell, C. Newswanger. Row 3: S. Shannon, L. Lanzilotti, R. Garfield, R. Harris, S. Price, D. Banford, C. Tingle, C. Miller, S. Driscoll, coll, P. Hagimallis, B. DiPietro, A. Stack. Row 4: B. Salins, L. Esbitt, S. Constantine, M. Lavin, P. Kestler, L. Harrison, E. Troy, J. James, C. James. Back: M. Kindberg, I. Daugherty, B. Adams, M. Langerman, E. Devine, S. Zuegner, L. Smith, A. Young.

Celebrating Greek Unity

On his way to a championship in the left handed heavyweight competition, ATO brother John Ressler wins this semi-final match.

Greek Week was a great success, with a full schedule of events for Delaware's Greeks. Lasting from Monday, April 24 till Sunday, April 29, there was plenty of opportunity for every Greek member to partake in the activities.

Monday started the week off with a mind-boggling night of Trivial Pursuit in Bacchus. It was a close finish, but ATO put their heads together to triumph over the intellectual minds of Pi Kappa Alpha, who had been in the lead most of the night. The ATO team was composed of Jeff Cichocki, Randy White, Harry Pennington, Mark Ford, and Donald Ratledge.

The Comedy Cabaret at the Down Under was a barrel of laughs on Tuesday night for Greeks and non-Greeks. A good crowd kept the spirits high for Wednesday night's Arm Wrestling Tournament. ATO won the left-handed heavy-weight category, while Theta Chi won the below 170 pound left-handed category, and KA and PiKA tied for first in the above 170 pound category. For the right-handed competitors, TKE won the above 170 pound category, and Phi Tau won for below 170 pounds. Alpha Phi won the competition for the women's right-handed category, while Phi Sigma Sigma won for the left.

Kristen O'Neill

Dancing in the Sheets, Alpha Phi sister Amy Johnson displays her talent at the Greek God and Goddess competition.

Celebrating their victory in the Greek Trivial Pursuit competition, these ATO brothers whoop it up in Bacchus.

Taking a break from performing, comedian Todd Glass refreshes the thirsty audience at the Comedy Cabaret at the Down Under.

Entertaining the audience at the Greek God and Goddess contest, AEPI's Howard Koenick displays his supernatural powers.

Hamming it up, Phi Tau's Brian Dolan and Michelos engage in a humorous role-reversal at the Greek God and Goddess competition.

Frowning in concentration, Alpha Sig sister Beryl Bannister prepares to finish off her opponent in the arm wrestling competition.

Celebrating . . .

Enjoying themselves after a night of performing, Greek God and Goddess contestants dance to "Animal House" before a crowded auditorium.

Greek socializing was the main activity at the Greek Barbeque on Saturday following a morning of campus beautification.

Living it up, Lynne Jalowsky of Alpha Chi Omega dances to the tunes at the Greek Beach Party in Daugherty Hall.

Supervising the grill, AEPI little sister Barri Weill is put to work at the Greek Barbeque.

Thursday's event was a display of true talent from each sorority and fraternity. Dave Bolen, CFP president, hosted the Annual Greek God and Goddess competition, where the competitors were judged on their talent, poise, and intelligence. Surely the decision of who would be crowned God and Goddess was difficult, but the winners were well-deserving of the honor. Glenn Hale of PiKA walked away with the title of Greek God with his comical impersonation of Rodney Dangerfield. Phi Tau came in 2nd with an impressive role reversal of man as dog and dog as man.

"No respect," complains PiKA's Glenn Hale, who captured the Greek God title with his impressive and humorous Rodney Dangerfield impersonation.

Greek Goddess went to Patti Kirk of AOPi who twirled her way to the top with an excellent baton routine. Diane Sinnott of Alpha Sigma Alpha was awarded 2nd place with a very funny dance routine to the theme of "Flashdance."

Friday night, Theta Chi threw a party for everyone with plenty of drink and dance to end the week and start the weekend.

Campus Beautification took place on Saturday morning, where Greeks were cleaning up South Central campus. AEPi hosted a barbeque later on Saturday afternoon.

Kristen O'Neill

Cleaning up campus, Alpha Sig sisters Stephanie Piccoutl, Emily Fithian, Lori Gawreluk, and Tammi Smith participate in Campus Beautification.

Enjoying the outdoors, Doug Coffin of PiKA bags leaves during the Greek Campus Beautification project.

Competing the Greek Way

Coming out on top of the tough competition, Kappa Alpha Fraternity won the Greek Games Championship for the fraternities.

Last, but definitely not least, Greek Games were the grand finale to a spirited week of Greek events. On Sunday, April 29, Harrington Beach was packed with enthusiastic Greeks as well as non-Greeks. The day was hot, and the competition between the Greek teams caused the temperature to rise even more.

The days' events included the obstacle course, keg throw, tug of war, mattress carry, softball throw, running, volkswagon push, and chariot races. For the fraternities, it was neck and neck between KA and ATO up until the last event. KA won the chariot race, however, and defeated ATO, last year's champion team. Phi Sigma Sigma, competing in the games for the first time, triumphed over the other sororities with the Greek Games championship for the sororities. The award for Greek Spirit was awarded to PiKA.

Kristen O'Neill

Concentration reflected in their expressions, Theta Chi runners Jeff Hale and Rod Krasley carry passenger Barry Schwartz to a 4th place title.

Giving it their all, Alpha Phi sisters succeeded in achieving the fastest time and a victory in the volkswagon push.

Pulling with determination, Phi Sig sisters tugged their way to a first place finish for the sororities in the tug of war competition.

Competing in Greek Games for the first time, the sisters of Phi Sigma Sigma celebrate their victory.

Finishing just barely ahead of the Pi Kappa Alpha team, the Delts finished 2nd place overall in the mattress carry competition.

Relaxing in the hot sun, sisters of Alpha Sigma Alpha take a well deserved break from the day's tiring activities.

Grimacing in determination, KA president Jim Insel hurls his way to a second place finish in the keg toss.