Perkins Resigns To Take Post As Dun & Bradstreet President

University Of Delaware President Since 1950, Perkins Resigns Effective Sept. 1, To Accept New Post As Head Of 125-Year-Old Credit Reporting Agency In Expansion

Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware since 1950, submitted his resignation to the board of trustees last Saturday, effective Sept. 1, and has accepted the position as president of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc.

As president, Perkins will have responsibility for operations of companies in the Dun & Bradstreet group. He will succeed Curtiss E. Frank.

Founded 125 years ago as a credit reporting agency, Dun & Bradstreet has broadened its activities to include large-scale computerized systems for sales and marketing purposes, as well as other services in such fields as business education, plant site location, and a variety of investor services.

In his letter of resignation, Perkins wrote that his work at the university "has entailed all my energies usually seven days a week and often 12 to 14 hours a day."

Productive Years Ahead

"For some time, I have felt that it would not be wise or likely that I would carry on in this position many more years. Yet, given continued good health, I am of an age that suggests a number of productive work years ahead. If I am to change activity, however, from the standpoint of usefulness to a new employer, a change of work should be made promptly. While I was thinking such thoughts, an offer came to me of an executive position from a respected business organization. I have decided to accept it effective Sept. 1, and therefore submit my resignation as of that date.

"My many years at the University of Delaware have been happy ones that have given me a satisfying sense of accomplishment. That I have been happy and that progress has been possible are largely owing to the ever steadfast support and the personal consideration of me and my family by our trustees, an outstanding group of its kind."

James M. Tunnell Jr., president of the board of trustees, spoke of Perkins' outstanding record of achievement and his excellent relationship with the trustees. He added that his resignation would be accepted "with great regret."

Michigan Native
Perkins was born in Michigan in 1914. He received his bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees from the University of Michigan; taught at the universities of Rochester and Michigan where he also served as assistant provost; and was budget director and controller for the State of Michigan.

A resolution expressing the trustees' appreciation reads in part that "... Dr. Perkins became president of our university on Nov. 1, 1950. He had been chosen by a trustee faculty committee after a long and painstaking consideration of more than 100 candidates."

"Much was expected of the 36-year-old educator who had already made a name for himself and who was willing to undertake the job, not of maintaining the status quo, but of making a reality of what were scarcely more than daring hopes.

"Dr. Perkins' performance during the past 17 years has been magnificent. He has worked without cease. He has devoted himself to the enrichment of the University of Delaware with a consecration seldom found ...

University Progress
In 1950, undergraduate enrollment was less than 2,000; now, it is almost 6,000; graduate enrollment has increased from 980 to over 1,800; extension enrollment from 1,735 to 3,300.

"In 1950, there were 194 in the faculty, 43 per cent of whom held the PhD degree; this year, there are 417 faculty members, 60 per cent of whom have received the doctorate."

"In 1950, the university offered students the doctor's degree in but two fields; today, it is awarded in 10. The library had 155,000 volumes; now, some half-million volumes are lodged in a handsome new and adequate library building.

"Research expenditures have increased almost five-fold. Instructional athletic and recreational facilities have multiplied.

"In 1950, there were five permanent dormitories for 370 students; now, there are 12 dormitories or dormitory complexes housing 3,600 students.

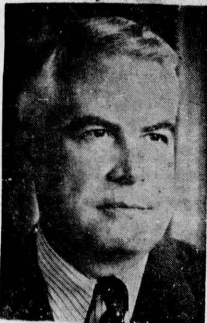

"The investment in physical plant has jumped from $15 to $66-million. In all these things, Dr. Perkins has had a guiding hand.

Extra Curricular Work
"Somewhat, Doctor Perkins has also found time for extra-curricular activities for the benefit of the community and of the nation. He has served in a wide variety of posts of important service.

"Thus far in his career, he is the author of three books and more than 100 articles on education, public administration and government. He holds honorary degrees from the universities of South Carolina and Pennsylvania. He has received the Order of Merit from the Republic of Italy."

Troop 2-A Captain Terms Brookside Police "Excellent"

Capt. Vernon Waller, commander of Troop 2-A, Delaware State Police, spoke at an open meeting at Brookside.

Waller discussed Troop 2-A impressions of Brookside; state Brookside police liaison; juvenile delinquency and the role of the parent; terms discharge control; abandoned cars; and answered questions by residents.

Brookside is one of the least of Troop 2-A's problems now, Waller said.

Brookside police are doing an excellent job in the area, and liaison between state and Brookside police is working well, especially with the 24-hour dispatcher coverage in Brookside, and the greatly increased patrolling, Waller stated.

Brookside is taking steps to provide diversified programs for its youth including BAC-sponsored activities, Scouting, Little League, tennis, and extensive pool facilities.

The Family Court-Brookside police follow-up and liaison program is one that very few other communities have established, and appears to be helping out, Capt. Waller reported.

Waller singled out causes of today's increased delinquency as mobility of juveniles; restlessness, the "no place to go, nothing to do" group; lack of respect toward parents; police store proprietors, and authority in general; and irresponsibility of parents who allow their children to roam at will at all hours of the night.

The Delaware State Police have an active "Youth Aid Letters to Parents Program" covering all warnings given to juveniles for hitchhiking, motor vehicle violations, bicycle reprimands, etc., Waller said.

Parents are given a chance to respond to these letters and state their reactions to the program, and most are very favorable, the captain concluded.

Rat Exterminators Employed By City For Landfill Pests

The City of Newark has hired a firm to eliminate rats at the landfill near the Newark Housing Authority project on Cleveland Avenue.

"I've seen dumps a lot worse, where we could kill enough in an hour to pile up a two-high," said City Manager Edward B. Stiff, who said the city has taken the attitude "As long as there's one rat there, we want to get rid of it."

Reardon, who has signed a one-year contract with Vogel-Ritt, said Reardon outlined a program that emphasizes safety for children who might wander into the area.

He said the primary weapon is a dust with a cyanide base which will be pumped into the burrows, asphyxiating the rats.

Also to be used are 10 locked metal rodent bait stations which cause hemorrhages in the rats. The stations are stacked down and protected so that they will be safe from children and domestic pets.

Reardon, whose firm started with a first inspection on June 5, said he sees no great amount of work involved.

Newbrook Home Ec Club Sponsored Baby-Sitting Workshop Last Saturday

Ninety-one teen-agers received certificates as "Safety Sitters" on Saturday after a full day of participation in a Baby-Sitting Training Workshop sponsored by the Newbrook Home Economics Extension Club at Kingswood-of-Brookside Methodist Church.

Mrs. Clarence L. Smith, program chairman, introduced speakers, and Coral K. Morris, home management specialist at the University of Delaware, opened the workshop with a discussion of responsibility of a baby-sitter, stressing that the sitter has in her hands a human life, the most precious possession of any parent.

Marlin Mowery, executive director of the Delaware Heart Association, instructed participants in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation after discussing the film "Life in Your Hands."

Mrs. Charles M. Raymond, an American Red Cross volunteer, reviewed principles of first aid which every sitter should know.

Mrs. Wilmer Alst, Delaware Safety Council representative, presented a film "Toddler's Hours of Hazard" followed by a question-and-answer discussion which involved safety of the sitter and charges.

Mrs. Frank Moore, RN, demonstrated care of the young child, using a 16-month-old toddler to illustrate her points.

Mrs. James A. Todd, former nursery school teacher, came equipped with books, toys, and ideas for keeping all age groups entertained.

Newark Chief of Police Arthur S. Haussler showed the film "The Door is Open" and discussed security measures which should be taken when sitting in a strange home, as well as parents' responsibilities for welfare of children and their sitter.

Finally, Mrs. Thomas Sowa, a member of the Newbrook Club, summarized a parent's point of view, and presented "safety sitter" certificates.

City To Request Aid To Solve Air Pollution Soot Problems

Coverdale Urges "First Aid" Measures To Control Soot; Stiff Reports Air Resources Commission Able To Aid; Alderman Salary Raised $500 After Executive Session

The Modern Air Resources Commission is to be requested to assist the City of Newark with its air pollution soot problems, after Councilman William M. Coverdale called for "first aid steps—like a fire, we fight it with what we have until the experts arrive"—and City Manager Edward R. Stiff reported at last Monday night's meeting of Newark City Council that a spokesman for the commission had stated it is "geared up to handle such cases upon request." Newark has a soot problem that should be corrected, Stiff agreed.

Coverdale cited "the blowing of soot after dark" by major offenders in the soot problem, and Councilman Arthur P. Mayer replied that the university "west dormitory complex on Hillsdale Road is not very clever—they blow their tubes in the day."

Two ordinances were approved unanimously at second readings last Monday night to eliminate the position of constable, and to restore requirements for mufflers on motor vehicles—before an audience varying from five to nine persons.

Two proposed ordinances were approved at preliminary readings—to increase the $15 deposit for electricity service to $25; with interest to be paid on such deposit at the rate of three per cent per annum, and providing a $25 charge for each electrical connection—and amending the present ordinance for appeals from real property tax assessments.

Stiff reported that the New Castle County Council is considering tax relief for the City of Newark in view of Newark's provision of various public services.

Power Failure
The city manager said that with the recent electric power failure, standby equipment was pressed into service, but difficulty was experienced in maintaining water supplies and sewage disposal facilities; and urged that the city purchase and install additional generators at a cost of $31,300 for standby use in emergencies.

Stiff proposed that ordinances be drafted for the requirement of permits for parades and public gatherings, and for a mercantile license to be issued for control of vendors, "one-night stands," and undesirable short-time business ventures, such as "sealing driveways with pure kerosene," he cited as an example.

City Solicitor Clyde M. England, Jr., was instructed to prepare covering ordinances.

After Stiff's recommendation, and upon a presentation by Col. A. M. Musgrove, consulting electrical engineer for the city, council approved acquisition of Delmarva Power & Light Co. facilities in the Cooch's Bridge Road-Yorkshire area at a cost of $9,496.29 to serve 30 residential customers with an annual $9,000 in electricity charges.

Codification Costs
Council approved 1967 payment of $2,500 for the recording of city ordinances against the City of Newark. Council Law Officers codification of city ordinances, with a balance of $5,000 to be paid from an allocation in the 1968 budget for a total cost of $7,500.

Gus Highfield, a senior at the University of Delaware, will be assistant camp director with primary responsibility for advanced camping for older youth and overnight camps.

Lloyd E. Stiffler Technical Director In STBS Program

Lloyd E. Stiffler, a registered professional engineer, has been appointed the new technical director of the state technical and business services program at the University of Delaware.

According to Dr. George M. Worriow, vice-president for university relations, Stiffler's appointment effective in mid-June, will include service as associate professor of civil engineering.

Stiffler is an assistant professor of civil engineering at Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia, where he is in charge of the construction management program recognized by the American Society of Civil Engineers as one of the five leading programs in the United States, although only two years old.

After more than 20 years of service with the U.S. Navy Civil Engineer Corps, Stiffler retired in 1955 with the rank of commander.

During those years he fulfilled major assignments as engineering consultant to the Chilean Navy on major reconstruction after the 1960 earthquake; working as a member of the selection board for Pacific Polaris bases; and planning Antarctic Deepfreeze programs.

He received his BS degree from Carnegie Tech in 1948 and completed his MS degree in engineering at Princeton in 1955, where he majored in civil-harbor engineering.

Vines Advised For Shade, Screen, Wall Coverings
Vines are valuable for their shade and are often used as screen plantings. Or, use them as a wall covering to relieve monotony of a large expanse, advises Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

The vine climber is particularly valued for beauty of flowers. Although there are different varieties of climatis, the best known are the large-flowered hybrids colorful in early summer.

Donald MacCreary Advises On Control Of Insect Pests

Get rid of insect pests as soon as you notice them — before they cause serious damage to trees and shrubs. Several insect pests are beginning to infest plants in Delaware — control them as soon as possible, recommends Donald MacCreary, entomologist at the University of Delaware.

In a recent survey taken of insects throughout the state, MacCreary found large numbers of azalea lace bugs, juniper scale and euonymus scale, thrips and weevils. The azalea lace bug is found on the under side of azalea leaves, where it feeds on juice of the leaves and causes discoloration. Treat the lace bug with malathion or carbaryl (Sevin) being sure to follow directions on the insecticide label.

Found on arbutus and juniper as tiny whitish spots on needles, the juniper scale hatched in late May in the Newark area.

For control, MacCreary suggests a combination of DDT and malathion or dimethoate (Cygon) with an additional treatment in a week or 10 days.

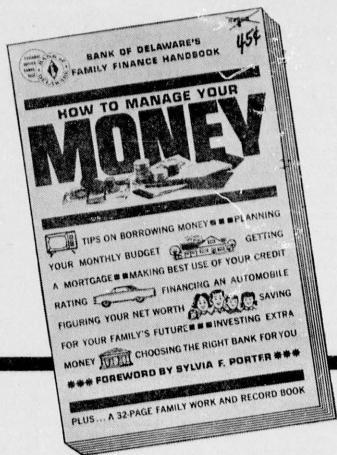

Euonymus scale eggs also hatched recently, and treatment should begin immediately. Malathion, DDT or dimethoate, with a repeat spray in approximately 10 days, is advised.

MacCreary observed Japanese weevils feeding on rhododendron and Japanese holly in the Wilmington area. Weevils also may feed on California privet, camellia and Japanese barberry. He recommends treatment with dieldrin, thoroughly wetting the soil beneath the plants with the spray.

Thrips—tiny, dark brown insects—are damaging roses throughout the state. Rose flowers with thrip damage either stay closed or open like a cabbagehead. Dimethoate or a mixture of DDT and malathion are the recommended insecticides.

Be careful when you use any kind of insecticide, MacCreary urges. Directions on the label should be carefully followed.

The department of entomology and applied ecology at the university can supply additional information on insect control.

John A. Perkins

"We are profoundly grateful to Doctor Perkins. I think of no way more appropriately to thank him for his monumental contribution to the university, to the students who have been here, and to the future, than to those who will come in the future, and, indeed, to the entire state. For this, we can only hope that he will sense unspoken warmth of feeling which we all have for him."

Tunnell announced that step will be taken at once to seek a successor to Perkins. A resolution introduced by Walter S. Carpenter, Jr., empowers him "to appoint a nominating committee to make recommendations to the board of trustees for filling the approaching vacancy in the office of president of the university."

Members of the committee immediately appointed by Tunnell are Walter J. Beadle, chairman; Walter S. Carpenter, Jr.; Harold W. Horsey; Warren C. Newton and Judge C. Burton Pearson, Jr.

President Perkins' competence in education and public administration has resulted in his appointment to local, state and national positions.

From 1957 to 1958, he was on leave from the university as undersecretary for the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare where he played a key role in developing the National Defense Education Act.

In 1953 he was president of the American Society for Public Administration, and from 1960 to 1961 was president of the American Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

Kuscher Directing Andersen's Barn Arena-Style Play

Renee O'Leary As Mary,
John O'Toole Have Leads
In Drama Group Production

"Mary, Mary," popular non-musical stage hit of the early 1960's, is being brought to Andersen's Barn, June 21-24, by Newark's University Drama Group.

This comedy by Jean Kerr will be presented arena-style, completely in-the-round.

The plot concerns a heroine too funny for her husband's taste.

He has found Mary to be "quite contrary" because she is endlessly flip, and at the beginning of the comedy they are already divorced. But it is one of those interlocking affairs which won't become final for another few weeks.

The badgered husband has plans all made to renege as soon as his divorce is complete—and this time to a thoroughly humorless girl, who, however, begins to worry him in a different way.

She's a head fadist, addicted to orange yogurt and other nothings for her digestive system—and she's also extremely rich, making him wonder if he can support her in the manner to which she's accustomed.

Kerr arranges the marital dilemma in the end with the skill and gay humor that made best-sellers of her books "Please Don't Eat The Daisies" and "The Snake Has All The Lilies."

John O'Toole will have the central role of Mary, the girl with the knack for undermining her husband with too much drollery.

John O'Toole will be seen as her somewhat fatuous but very attractive husband.

Eileen Boyer is the diet-faddist, he almost marries.

Others in the cast are Patrick Devlin as a sardonic movie star who almost detaches Mary for good from her ego-wounded husband; and Doug West as an ironic lawyer whose efforts to untangle the hero's tax problems leads to reentangling him with his wife.

Howard Kuscher is the director.

YOUTH OPPORTUNITY CAMPAIGN

JOBS FOR YOUTH

As the school year comes to a close, more young Americans will be searching for work than ever before. It's estimated that over 12 million 16-to-21-year-olds will be knocking on office and factory doors, and that some two million of them will fail to find a job unless something is done to help them.

That helping hand is already taking shape again in the form of the Youth Opportunity-Summer Jobs campaign. In the past two years, the Youth Opportunity campaigns were successful in finding needed extra jobs for young people through the wholehearted support and cooperation of business, labor and government. Civic and religious organizations also joined in the national drive.

This summer the challenge is even greater. Employers are being asked to hire as many young people for the summer months as they possibly can. Many of the youths will be looking for permanent jobs.

For some, not finding a job will mean not returning to college; for others, unemployment may mean the beginning of a long, frustrating effort to become self-sufficient.

Let's make 1967 the year we help young people to help themselves.

City Council

"Frozen assets?" the mayor asked, and it was explained that "invest" referred to police investigation supplies, not investment.

Councilman Frank J. Osborne, Jr., asked "what does the city get for the Memorial Day parade expenditure?" And Mayor Handoff replied that this program "has been a continuing custom—a memorial to the war dead" and that the annual event provided "good public relations for the city."

"Tremendous Job"
The mayor said that until this year she had "never fully appreciated just what a tremendous job of planning is involved" in this Memorial Day program, with plans beginning "the week following the parade itself."

Coverdale questioned changing of charges from "driving under the influence" to "reckless driving" with cases tried before the magistrate, and Solicitor England said that a court would accept a lesser charge and plea of guilty rather than conduct a trial for the greater offense. England said that all cases of "driving under the influence" go to the magistrate as they are "out of our jurisdiction."

Concerning Coverdale's objection to the large number of cases referred to the magistrate rather than city alderman, Stiff said he would "report how many and why."

Coverdale said that he had no intention to "heckle" the local police with his questioning of policeman painting headquarters, but added "I feel it was a problem the Public Works Department painter could handle."

"Enforcement presents many problems," Stiff replied to Coverdale's query on lenience with violators of the minimum housing code.

"Do we want to go in the contracting business?" Stiff asked, and recommended that the city "super-vice repairs for liens against the

I can easily share the enthusiasm felt by the American Jewish people for rejoicing over Israeli victories. God be with them because they fought for a just cause.

Moving from one generation to another, one tends to forget the sub-human treatment of these good people at Buchenwald, Auschwitz, Dachau, Treblinka and many other inhuman, inconceivable, believed death camps.

They suffered in their ghettos, sometimes turned into butchery camps—so much as to reach the point of unbelief, except for the still-alive witnesses who can prove that this miserable orgy—bestial and deploring depravity of living human beings—did take place.

The question is, if they proved that Nasser was just another Hitler, can't we stop the ugly war in Vietnam?

I do love my country, deeply indeed, because it took me a war to join it.

Yet how could a small country, like Israel win a war in four days when our big boys, our lovable sons, can't win the war in Vietnam? Very much concerned,
J. Sadot

Newark's "sanitary" landfill isn't so sanitary. Rate has been taken over. The sad part of it is that it's in the heart of our city.

It isn't pleasant to vote and be in the minority, but that's what I have done 20 years when I felt the cause was right.

Eight years ago, and that is quite a time to wait for truth to prevail, I voted against locating the "sanitary" landfill operation within the city and so did Mr. Steele, the other councilman representing the old Eastern District.

The council in 1959 started the landfill operation. I pointed out then that this operation would be in violation of our zoning law. Residents opposing the operation felt that this zoning law gave them some protection. But, not so, the council then proceeded in 1959 to amend the law to permit the dumping of garbage and trash in the city and burying it. The amendment applied to all residential districts. This was done by inserting a "municipal use" proviso.

I opposed that amendment also and cautioned others that they could wind up with a landfill in their district also. That provision still exists in the law and that possibility still exists today.

In 1959, in pushing for a landfill operation, the health officer said he had the power to supervise the operation and that approval would not be given unless done properly. The city manager of that year said "It is impossible for rats and flies to live in a properly conducted sanitary landfill."

On a more recent basis I said that building homes on and near the city dump by the Newark Housing Authority was a poor choice in site location.

I feel that we should not only get the rats out of the landfill but also get the landfill out of the city. In the meantime, I think that the landfill is not being operated as it should be. It isn't a landfill, it is a dump.

Former Councilman George Wilson called me on the phone on this and said "I'm going to give you a chance to say 'I told you so,' meaning he voted for the landfill and knew my opposition back in 1959. On his suggestion I visited the site. I took a member of the board of health with me.

It isn't a landfill, it is rubble. Large items of debris which should not be accepted are disrupting the normal operation. Logs, concrete slabs, old hot water tanks. This material is strewn along the sides of the fill harboring rats. It is an ideal situation for them.

I saw no evidence of trenching as required. It appears that refuse and garbage is spread out in layers and then covered lightly with dirt before being hauled in and not from the trench.

Mr. Gainer of the board of health concurred in my thinking that it is not being properly maintained. The answer? While it remains in the city we should see to it that proper operations are conducted. Next, get the landfill out of the city.

Newark Witnesses Volunteer To Aid District Assembly

Charles L. Hopkins, presiding minister of the Newark congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced that many from the local congregation have been assigned to positions of responsibility in the assembly to be held June 16-18 at the Dickinson High School auditorium, 1801 Milltown Road.

Conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses are unique in this respect. All conventions are organized into departments and each department is staffed with volunteer workers from ranks of the Witnesses. All volunteers work without pay.

Local Witnesses will be among the several hundred volunteers to staff the 20 departments.

Some will serve as ushers, cooks, sound and stage technicians, refreshment help, cleaning and dismantling workers, painters, plumbers and electricians—others will serve in administrative capacities.

This three-day assembly will be the second in a series to be held in the Delaware Valley area in 1967. Some 1,500 ministers are expected to attend, and all meetings are free and open to the public.

Frances F. Schaaf Dies At Age 53

Mrs. Frances F. Schaaf, 53, wife of Harold G. Schaaf, of 110 Briar Lane, Newark, died June 7, at Memorial Division after a long illness.

A resident of Newark since 1952, Mrs. Schaaf was from Terry, Ia., and attended the University of Iowa as an art major.

She had lived in many parts of the United States with DuPont transfers for her husband, now an engineer at the Louviers Building near Newark.

The family lived in Prospect Park, Pa. prior to coming to Newark.

Surviving in addition to her husband, are three daughters, Mrs. Suzanne Dietrich, Valley Forge, Pa.; Mrs. Margaret Lippert, Crystal Falls, Mich.; and Mrs. Linda Stamato, a student at the University of Kentucky, who with her husband is living in Newark this summer; and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Tennant, Haymarket, Va.

Another daughter, Nancy, was killed two years ago in an auto accident near Zanesville, O.

Services were conducted Friday afternoon at the Newark Methodist Church, with interment in the Head-of-Christiana Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorial contributions to the Newark Methodist Church building fund.

Jehovah's Witnesses Await District Supervisor Visit
Jehovah's Witnesses in the area are awaiting the visitation of their District Supervisor Walter R. Wissman, full-time minister of Jehovah's Witnesses for the past 25 years. As a graduate of the Gilead School, he had served as a missionary for two years in El Salvador. In 1960 he was appointed as district supervisor of the Witnesses, and is serving them in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Delaware. Mr. and Mrs. Wissman will attend the circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at Dickinson High School auditorium, June 16-18.

Kilpatrick Named Graduate Studies Dean At Delaware

Ernest Birchenall Granted Leave Of Absence, Plans To Teach With 1968 Return

Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware, has announced the appointment of Dr. Franklin P. Kilpatrick as dean of the college of graduate studies, and professor of psychology.

The new dean, recommended by an administrative and faculty committee after a nationwide search, succeeds Dr. C. Ernest Birchenall. He will assume his new post on Sept. 1.

Dean Birchenall, who holds a distinguished professorship in metallurgy, has been granted a leave of absence to continue his work in physical metallurgy at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, Livermore, Calif. He will return to full-time teaching at the university in the fall of 1968.

Kilpatrick has been a senior staff member of the Brookings Institution, Washington, D.C., since 1959. A native of Okanogan, Wash., he received his BA and MS degrees at the University of Washington, and MA and PhD from Princeton. His field of special interest is psychology.

In addition to service as an Army officer in World War II, he has

Dr. Edward J. Pellicciaro Wins $12,286 NASA Grant

NASA has awarded a $12,286 grant to the University of Delaware for a one-year research project under the direction of Dr. Edward J. Pellicciaro, associate professor of mathematics, for development of a mathematical theory of adhesion of gases or liquids to a surface.

Pellicciaro said he became interested in the need for the theory in the summer of 1967 when he was a research participant at Oak Ridge National Laboratories, where a chemist associate described his work and noted that a mathematical foundation was lacking.

A preliminary investigation was conducted by Dr. Pellicciaro with support of a University of Delaware Summer Faculty Research Fellowship.

John McVaugh, Jr. Wins H. Fletcher Brown Grant

A senior at the Sanford Preparatory School, Hockessin, John B. McVaugh, Jr., of Newark has been awarded an H. Fletcher Brown Scholarship to enter the University of Delaware and major in chemical engineering.

Established under the will of Mrs. Florence H. Brown, wife of the Wilmington philanthropist, the scholarship fund is administered by Bank of Delaware.

Scholarships in the amount of $1,000 per year, may be continued four years. The selection committee includes Richard L. Cooch, vice-president of the bank.

been assistant to the dean of men and a teaching fellow at the University of Washington; and a research assistant, instructor, assistant professor, and director of a research project at Princeton. From 1955 to 1960 he was head of Consumer Research and head of Research Development with National Analysts, Inc., of Philadelphia.

He has been listed in "Who's Who in the South and Southwest," "American Men of Science," and "Contemporary Authors."

Married to the former Mary F. Reynolds, Kilpatrick has a son and three daughters.

A small paper in California made the following announcement: "The combined circulation of our paper and that of The Saturday Evening Post has reached 4,600,500."

S/Sgt. E. T. Burke Helps Wing Win Gold Certificate

Staff Sgt. Edward T. Burke, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burke of 233 South Chapel Street, Newark, has helped his branch win the 89th Military Airlift Wing semi-annual PRIDE (Personal Responsibility in Daily Effort) Gold Certificate Award.

An autopilot maintenance technician, Burke and the 89th communications and electronics branch were cited for consistently efficient and error-free work under the U.S. Air Force Zero Defects program.

The sergeant's wing is responsible for providing air transportation for the President of the United States and other top government officials.

Sergeant Burke, who served in the Korean War, is a graduate of Newark High School.

He is married to the former Peggy J. Turney.

Deputy Reports Change In Diverted Acre Rules

Harry Deputy, county chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced that rules covering designation of diverted acres are being made.

Because of bad weather some producers have planted and replanted feed grains without getting a satisfactory stand. Some growers have used chemicals for weed control that have left a residue which makes it impractical to devote the land to crops such as soybeans for harvest this year.

Because of this problem some producers now want to designate as diverted acreage, land planted to feed grains which have failed.

The procedure is being changed to provide that land on which feed grains were planted but failed and which is classified as feed grain land for purposes of price-support payments, may be designated as diverted acreage.

This will be subject to county committee approval at the request of the producer.

Safety In Garden Spraying Advised By Frank Boys

Flowers, grass and trees are all green and growing. It's frustrating, but so are plant diseases and insect pests. Before you get out the trusty sprayer to annihilate the pests, stop and think about safety, urges Frank Boys, agricultural chemicals extension specialist at the University of Delaware.

While it may seem thrifty to buy only one sprayer for general garden use, it may prove expensive in the long run. A residue of herbicide left in the sprayer may damage desirable plants when used to spray foliage.

Don't use the sprayer you reserved for herbicides last year with a fungicide this year—the residue may still be there.

Cold, Covered, Dark Milk Preserves Top Quality

Milk comes to you fresh; for milk at its best, keep it cold, clean, covered and dark. Flavor, odor and nutrition change easily; protect them so milk will be top quality when your family drinks it.

Milk in clear glass containers standing in a sunny window or on a doorstep may develop a cardboard-like taste and lose riboflavin in only a half an hour.

Milk is a valuable source of the vitamin riboflavin, points out Marguerite Krackhardt, extension foods and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware. Since this vitamin is readily destroyed by light, take special care with clear glass bottles of milk.

Education Courses Stated With Summer Sessions

The University of Delaware college of education is offering about 25 per cent of its courses during the 1967 summer session to make graduate and undergraduate credit readily accessible to teachers and students.

Of the nearly 200 courses listed in the summer session catalog, 44 are education courses, and 35 are offered for graduate credit.

The first summer session begins June 19 and runs through July 26, with registration on June 19 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Delaware Field House.

The second summer session begins July 31 and ends Sept. 1, with registration on July 29, from 9 a.m. to noon in the Dover Room of the Student Center.

Donald Connell Promoted To Airman First Class

Donald R. Connell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Connell of 424 Tamara Circle, Harmony Hills, Newark, has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Connell is an administrative specialist at Orlando AFB, Fla. The airman is a 1962 graduate of Newark High School.

Cadet Walter Hernson, Jr. To Attend ROTC Camp

Cadet Walter L. Hernson Jr., 21, whose parents live at 105 Fox Lane, Newark, will attend Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps summer camp at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Pa., with his unit from the University of Delaware.

During encampment to begin June 17, he will receive six weeks of training in leadership, rifle marksmanship, physical conditioning and other military subjects.

Hernson graduated from Newark High School and is scheduled to be commissioned at the end of summer training. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Bray, Author Of Bulletin On Pine Beetle Control

Every year borers weaken and kill Delaware trees, particularly loblolly pines in the southern part of the state. Although there are several species of borer, the one causing most concern is the southern pine beetle.

A new publication from the University of Delaware, describes the borer, its life history and control. Author Dale Bray, chairman of the department of entomology and applied ecology at the university, points out that pine trees in Delaware have suffered unusually heavy borer attacks in recent years.

"Control of the Southern Pine Beetle" is available from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

Geological Survey, Bureau Of Mines Plan Clay Study

Clay resources of Delaware will be evaluated in a two-year program conducted jointly by the Delaware Geological Survey and the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

Each organization will provide services in the project with no exchange of funds.

Dr. Johan J. Groot, state geologist, said "The purpose of the investigation is to determine the presence, if any, of clays that have qualities suitable for commercial purposes."

While the project is expected to last about two years, duration will depend primarily on the value of clays found during the first year of testing.

Fifty samples, from different geologic formations in different localities, will be investigated initially, Groot said.

Dr. Thomas E. Pickett, geologist with the Delaware Geological Survey, will direct exploration and sampling of clays, and will perform X-ray diffraction and other laboratory tests.

Wolf Bauer, Dick Kelley, Larry Tucker Win Outstanding Track Athlete Trophies

"This has been an excellent group of athletes," Coach Ray Ciesinski said of the Blue Hen Conference championship Yellowjacket track and field squad of the past season.

"Not only did they win the Flight-A conference, but they tied two state records; broke one state mark; and broke four Newark High School records, the indoor mile mark; and the Frothing record," the Newark coach concluded in presenting variety and javayee letters and awards for the 1967 campaign.

Captains Dick Kelley and Bob Tucker tied state records with a 12-ft. pole vault, and a 6-4 high jump; Tucker broke the state record for the 120-yd. high hurdles with a time of 14.5, and set the Frothing record 7.6 over the 60-yd. high hurdle record; and Tom Curran ran a record 4:39 for the indoor mile.

Newark High School records were set by Kelley with a 12-3 pole vault to break his mark of 11-9½; by Bob Tucker with a 6-4 high jump to top Pat Walker's 6¼ record; and Wolf Bauer ran a record 4:39 for the 120-yd. high hurdles in 1962, and John Ludlow's 10:22 in 1965. Bauer, Kelley, and Tucker received trophies as the outstanding athletes on Ciesinski's championship squad, and Kelley, Conway Hayman, and Tucker won gold awards as four-time varsity lettermen.

Other seniors winning letters are Capt. Dave Townley and Al Jennings—their second varsity N's—Andy Geyer, Gary Carpenter, and Ed Hawthorne.

Juniors Keith Green, Tom Curran, Dale Meyer, Jeff Purcell, Keith Walker, and Jerry McCormick received gold bars as two-time varsity letter-winners, and juniors winning their first varsity N's in track are Dan Banks, Bob Foraker, Terry Kilton, Jim Slemen, Chuck Staiger, and Joe Stenson.

Fulghum Presents Baseball Letters For Yellowjackets

Capt. Mark Brown, one of three captains who led Coach Francis Fulghum's Yellowjackets to second place in the Blue Hen Conference baseball season with Newark High School's best record in a decade, received the gold baseball award as a four-year varsity veteran letter-winner.

Gold bars were awarded to Captains Jack Hecutt and Ron Suppli as two-year lettermen, and 12 other varsity letters were presented for the 1967 season.

Seniors Bob McCrary, John Medlin, Tom Brightaupt, Dick Filligame, and Kerry Bittenbender were their varsity N's, and Juniors Tom Brattan and Tom McDonald won their Newark letters.

Sophomores Gary Ludwig, Don Sticinski, and Dick Bauer won letters as members of Fulghum's varsity Yellowjackets, and Chris Gallo and Chuck Barba received varsity letters as team managers.

Campbell, Clunie Named Co-Captains In Blue Hen Track

Scott Campbell and Bob Clunie have been named captains of the 1968 Delaware track team.

Campbell, a 6-6 and 255-pound junior from Haverford, Pa., is the Delaware record-holder in the shot put with a 53-ft. throw.

Campbell won the Middle Atlantic shot put title as a sophomore and was second in this year's championship meet. He is also a regular tackle on the Blue Hen football team.

Clunie, a junior from Wilmington, is a two-year letterman in both track and cross country. He has a 4:12 mile, the best time ever recorded by a junior at Delaware, and was fourth in the MAC mile this year.

"The team has made an excellent choice," Blue Hen Coach Jimmy Flynn said.

"They have picked two men who are leaders in every sense of the word. They will lead by example, and they have the respect and admiration of their teammates."

Well, fly rods are not noted for being easy to master, and C. W. Mumford is something of a real exception in taking to this new-

for-him phase of fishing, with such dexterity. On the other hand, fly fishing is far more simple than the means of copy written over the centuries would have one believe.

The former poultry expert for the University of Delaware caught a half-dozen stocky, spangled sunfish before we had cleared the St. Andrews School cove where a proud father was teaching a couple of youngsters to swim in the clear, cool, inviting water, and then, chafing a bit at the sole role of spectator to all this fly fishing action, the oarsman began whipping a Royal Coachman beneath the brush in the dark shallows of the wooded shoreline.

A two-inch bluegill latched onto the fly just as we were lifting the rod for a back cast—and the little fellow flew through the air and into the water on the other side of the boat. But the juvenile sunny was unharmed by its first flight, and was carefully unhooked with wetted hands to join its more adult relatives that had been returned to the water. We saved an even half-dozen fish—five bluegills and a stray, silver crappie—for the stringer and a Mumford family twosome, toothsome fish fry to provide the Lady of the House with some positive proof that her husband did catch fish on these outings.

Noxontown sparkled under a golden afternoon sun, and the water was clear and green with no heavy bloom-of algae or other marine vegetation to mar the casting.

Another advantage to fly fishing in the springtime, too, is the absence of fallen leaves floating on the surface—leaves that are more often hooked than fish.

At the south end of the lake, we broke out a bait casting rod for some intensive effort with surface plugs and a red and white spoon for bass and pickerel amid the lily pads. But the big fish weren't interested.

Trotting back down the center of the pond proved strokeless, too, but it was pleasant to ride before a fair wind the length of the pond, while barely dipping the oars for steering.

We stepped ashore a couple hours ahead of darkness for a change, and just as the more serious bass and pickerel fishermen were embarking for the wretched hours—the more productive fishing time of late evening.

"Now's the time we ought to be starting out on the lake," the oarsman frowned a bit wistfully.

But with his first half dozen pan-fish taken in his first fly fishing, safely strung for home, Carroll Mumford didn't quite buy this observation.

"I'm satisfied," he said. "A wonderful afternoon on a beautiful lake. And I'm going to buy a fly rod!"

Damascus Heads Field At Delaware Park With 30th Running Of Leonard Richards

The $35,000-added, mile and one-eighth Leonard Richards Stakes, Delaware Park's longest and richest opportunity for three-year-old colts, has its 30th running this Saturday, and with it a big IF concerning the possible starting line-up.

A year ago, Buckpasser won the Richards enroute to becoming 1966 Horse of the Year. Only five other sophomores ran against him, including the champion's lesser-light stablemate, Crossing The T. In other words, that magic name "Buckpasser" scared out all but a few members of the division.

A somewhat similar situation could develop this weekend IF a brilliant colt named Damascus is among the starters. Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's hero of the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, final legs of the American Triple Crown, is on the grounds. He received his prep for the Belmont at Delaware Park and was quickly returned there following that classic mile and a half.

Trainer Frank Y. Whiteley, Jr. indicated he leaned toward letting the bay son of Sword Dancer-Kerala make his next appearance in the Richards, but said the final decision would have to be made by his boss, the Bancrofts.

Mayor Calls For Cooperation In Burglary Prevention Week

Chief Arthur S. Haussler Cites 134 City Burglaries Last Year, Offers Information To Assist Homeowners In Taking Preventive Measures During Vacation Period

With Mayor Norma B. Handloff's proclamation of the period June 18-24 as Burglary Prevention Week in Newark, Police Chief Arthur S. Haussler cited the need for public cooperation with local police to reduce the summer surge of burglaries that result when families leave home for vacation trips and weekend outings. During this week, the Newark Police Department is providing information to help you protect your home from burglars, Haussler advised.

"Failure to know and practice fundamental techniques of home protection, was largely responsible for the 134 burglaries committed in our city last year," Chief Haussler said.

"Although most people didn't intentionally invite intruders to ransack their homes, they might as well have hung up a sign saying 'No one home — burglars welcome!'" the chief continued.

Check For Yourself!
"A stroll around your neighborhood will tell you at a glance who's away. Their porches may be cluttered with circulars; there may be an accumulation of milk bottles or an unkempt lawn—an empty garage with the door open; or a building mailbox. "All of these are tip-offs that 'no one's home,' to anyone canvassing the neighborhood," Haussler added.

In the evening, most empty homes can be spotted—just look for the dark houses.

Light is one of the best deterrents to crime, yet homeowners go out for an evening and leave their homes completely dark.

Or they'll go off for a weekend or vacation and leave the some light burning day and night.

No light at all, or a light burning continuously is a good giveaway that no one is home, Newark's chief of police warns.

Lights On
A simple but effective means of having light in your home every evening is by connecting an automatic timing device to one or two lamps, Haussler advised.

Such a timer will turn a lamp on early in the evening, then turn it off several hours later. With lights turning on and off during evening hours, it will give the appearance that someone is home and may avert a burglary, the chief said.

Haussler explained that most burglars pick the easiest targets they can find. They want to get in, get the loot—and get away as quickly as possible.

Therefore, if you put several obstacles in his way, the burglar is less likely to try to break into your home, but will seek "easier pickings" elsewhere, the chief continued.

"By observing these few simple precautionary steps, you can reduce the possibility of a burglar selecting your dwelling as his target next time you are away," Haussler said, listing the following measures:

1. Close and lock all doors, including porch, basement and garage.
2. Connect a lamp to an automatic timer to turn lights on and off each evening.
3. Protect all doors and windows with an inexpensive, portable burglar alarm.
4. Illuminate your porch and yard with outdoor lights.
5. Be sure all screens are fastened from the inside.
6. Never leave valuables lying around—keep them in a safe deposit box.

7. Notify your police department when you'll be leaving and how long you expect to be away.
8. Cancel all deliveries.
9. Have a neighbor or your post office hold all mail until your return.
10. Arrange to have the lawn mowed and sidewalk swept, with pickup of any circulars.
11. Leave your shades and blinds as you normally do. Closed blinds keep the sun out, but also make an effective screen for the burglar.
12. Never advertise your departure with an item in the local paper. Give the story about your vacation to the newspaper after your return.

Otis Jefferson, Jr., Selected As Dean For New Colleges

Community And Technical College Program Offered September At Georgetown

Otis P. Jefferson Jr. has been chosen by the University of Delaware as dean of the college transfer program at the Delaware Community and Technical Colleges, conducted by the university under contract with the state's new two-year college system.

The first branch of the new colleges will open in September at Georgetown.

Jefferson, now administrative assistant to the dean of education and acting director of the university summer session, will assume his new duties July 1.

The transfer program will offer college level courses equivalent to those in the freshman and sophomore years at the university in Newark.

Students will receive University of Delaware transcripts; be taught by university faculty; and have the same standards for admission and retention as on the Newark campus.

They will also have the privilege of completing their junior and senior years at the university, or of transferring to another four-year degree institution.

Jefferson said that only freshman-level courses will be taught during the first year. In the next year, he said, the faculty will be expanded as enrollment and number of courses increase.

Courses will be offered leading to degrees in art and science, education, and economics and business administration.

Two-year associate degrees will be granted to transfer students, although the university expects most students in the program to continue their work to the bachelor's degree.

Only Delaware residents will be accepted at present.

Jefferson joined the Delaware faculty in 1962 as assistant director of the division of university extension. He had taught in the Laurel and Millsboro school districts; served three years as principal of Millsboro High School, and two years as principal of John M. Clayton High School.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Delaware College, and a master's of education from Delaware.

Smith School Principal

The Newark Board of Education has named Donald F. Schneek as principal of the 19 Delaware students admitted to the five United States service academies as freshmen next fall.

All three were nominated by U.S. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del.

James H. Cox, Jr., has been accepted at West Point.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Cox of 733 Bent Lane, he is a graduate of Newark High School.

Michael E. Horney, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Horney of 4 Edgill Drive, has been accepted at the Naval Academy in Annapolis.

He is an athlete and graduate of Christiansa High School.

Andrew T. Geyer, III, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geyer of 319 North Dillwyn Road, has been accepted at the Merchant Marine Academy.

He is a graduate of Newark High School.

Three Newark residents received doctorates, and one received a master's degree last Thursday at Temple University's 81st commencement in Convention Hall, Philadelphia.

Charles E. Robinson, 607 Lehigh Road, received a doctor of philosophy degree; and Robert Wesley Mayer, 298 Cheltenham Road, and Robert Thomas Calhoun, 604 North Country Club Drive, degrees as doctors of education.

Travis L. Bowen, 722 Art Lane, received his master's in education.

Edward M. Knight was elected commander of the American Legion's Department of Delaware at the 49th annual convention last weekend at Rehoboth.

Knight, of 3009 Oglethorpe Road, Chestnut Hill Estates, is a member of Newark's J. Allison O'Daniel Post.

Elected as department president of the auxiliary is Mrs. Alice Webster, a member of the First State unit.

A Navy veteran of World War II, Knight joined the American Legion in 1946 in Nanticoke, Pa.

He is a past grand knight of St. Michael's Council 4548, Knights of Columbus, and is active in church and civic organizations.

He is married, has two daughters, and is employed at the U.S. Post Office in Newark.

Hale, Hart Receive Promise Of PRR For Better Safety

Local Legislators Stress Need For Safety Measures At Three Grade Crossings

Two Newark legislators at Dover report progress in their efforts to improve safety at grade crossings when high-speed train tests begin this fall.

The pair received a promise from the Pennsylvania Railroad that no tests will be made until automatic gates are installed at existing grade crossings.

The legislators also announced plans to seek a special federal grant to provide grade separations (under or overpasses) at these locations.

House Majority Leader Everett Hale and Rep. William F. Hart, both Republicans, met with PRR officials headed by D. E. Pergrin, superintendent of the Chesapeake region. The meeting stemmed from Hart's letter to the railroad, asking that tests be held off until gates are installed.

Hart said there are three grade crossings in the Newark area—at Harmony, Red Mill and Iron Hill roads—that now have only flashing lights.

"While we are pleased that the railroad will not run these tests before installing automatic gates at these locations," Hale and Hart said, "we feel that additional safeguards are necessary."

"Therefore, we intend to seek a grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation, working through our congressional delegation."

While there are 22 existing grade crossings on the New York to Washington, D.C., line, the PRR officials said, the ones at Newark are the first from New York south along the line.

Other PRR officials at the meeting were Charles McEachen, assistant counsel; William Spangler, chief engineer; and Howard J. Braun, special representative.

Newark Schools To Be Named For Mrs. Maclary, Miss Wilson

Board Of Education Honors Mrs. R. Elisabeth Maclary, Etta J. Wilson By Naming Two New Elementary School Buildings For Veteran Teachers In Newark District

The Newark Board of Education honored two residents of the Newark district last Tuesday night by naming the elementary school under construction in the Chapel Hill area for Mrs. R. Elisabeth Maclary, and approved the naming of the next local elementary school for Etta J. Wilson.

The 24-room elementary school under construction in Chapel Hill was named for Mrs. Maclary who started her teaching career in a one-room building near construction site of the new Wilmer E. Shue School.

Mrs. Maclary taught in that one-room school from 1914 to 1916, with grades one to eight. From 1916 to 1921 she taught in the Richardson Park schools — for two years in grades three and four; one year in grades five and six, and two years in grades five through eight.

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Maclary returned to teaching. From 1931 to 1935 she taught in Marshallton, arriving in Newark in 1935.

"Master Teacher"
In the letters suggesting that the new school be given Mrs. Maclary's name, former students and co-workers had praised for this "master teacher," Mrs. Maclary retired in 1964.

When Mrs. Maclary was informed that she was to be honored at the June 20, board meeting, tears filled her eyes.

"My goodness!" she said, "thirty-eight years ago to the day, the Lord called my husband home."

After five years of teaching, Miss Wilson, a native of Newark, was persuaded by the editor of The Newark Post to report on commencement speakers, and so began her long, continued dual career of education and reporting.

State Leader
Miss Wilson began interpreting education for the public in 1917 when she was a member of the commission appointed by the Delaware General Assembly to evaluate the public education system launched in 1929.

From this commission, Miss Wilson took a short step to the newly formed Service Citizens of Delaware. Her mission was to convince residents to become personally involved in education for their children.

Miss Wilson helped institute a teacher-training program, taking groups of Delaware teachers all over the country to observe superior educational systems.

In order to understand the needs for education in Delaware, Miss Wilson helped convince the state to find out the exact needs of the public. She then fought for grants to establish education for the native as well as foreign-born.

The exact location of the school to be named for Etta J. Wilson has not been announced by the board of education because it is involved in a site-acquisition program.

A. B. Root Family To Provide Home For AFS Visitor

Newark High School has been selected to host an American Field Service international scholar from abroad for next year's school term.

The scholar will be a member of the American Field Service from San Jose, Costa Rica, will spend the coming school year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Root, 238 Beverly Road.

Ana, who is scheduled to arrive Aug. 26, will not come to Newark, but will live at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Root.

A complete stranger to Americans and their ways, her family has opened its home to American exchange students three times in the past six years. She has command of English, having studied it for 10 years in school, and hopes to be an interpreter.

She enjoys volleyball, swimming, dancing, cooking, and reading, and hopes to learn to play tennis in the United States.

Ana will leave two brothers at home in Costa Rica, but should not be too homesick while living with the Roots. She will gain four American "brothers"—Barney, Larry, Bob, and David—and "sister" Debbie.

She and Debbie will be seniors at Newark High.

Mrs. Boden Grant Offers Seminars With Historians

Mrs. Harry Clark Boden of Newark has provided a grant to establish seminars to bring outstanding historians to the Washington College campus at Chestertown, Md.

The Hyland-Price Seminars, named after Mrs. Boden's ancestors, will bring lecturers in American history for a day to a week or more.

Another grant from Mrs. Boden provides a fund for books, research materials and travel, and a grant for scholarships for outstanding students whose special interest is American development.

The travel fund will make possible student and faculty trips to other institutions where Washington College scholars can study original documents, private papers, and rare books.

One of the most important projects was rebuilding of 32 duplex, prefabricated homes for Vietnamese survivors of a plane crash which occurred last December near the Da Nang Airfield.

Wolf Bauer, Dick Kelley, Larry Tucker Win Outstanding Track Athlete Trophies

"This has been an excellent group of athletes," Coach Ray Ciesinski said of his Blue Hen Conference championship Yellowjacket track and field squad of the past season.

"Not only did they win the Flight-A conference, but they tied two state records; broke one state mark; and broke four Newark High School records, the indoor mile mark; and the Froshite record," the Newark coach concluded in presenting varsity and javayee letters and awards for the 1967 campaign.

Captain Dick Kelley and Bob Tucker tied state records with a 12-ft. pole vault, and a 6-4 high jump; Tucker broke the state record for the 120-yd. high hurdles with a time of 14.5, and set the Froshite record 7.4 over the 60-yd. high hurdle route; and Tom Curran ran a record 4:39 for the indoor mile.

Newark High School records were set by Kelley with a 12-3 pole vault to break his mark of 11-9 1/2, by Bob Tucker with a 6-4 high jump to top Pat Walker's 6 1/4 record; and Wolf Bauer ran a record mile and two miles in 4:31.2 and 10:10.5 to top Bill Reynolds' 4:32.7 in 1952, and John Ludlow's 10:22 in 1965.

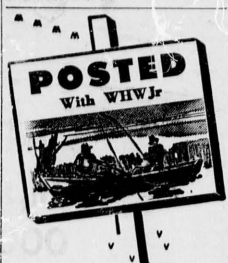

Bauer, Kelley, and Tucker received trophies as the outstanding athletes on Ciesinski's championship squad, and Kelley, Conway Hayman, and Tucker won gold awards as top-time varsity lettermen.

Other seniors winning letters are Capt. Dave Townley and Al Jennings—their second varsity N's—Andy Geyer, Gary Carpenter, and Ed Hawthorne.

Juniors Keith Green, Tom Curran, Dale Meyer, Jeff Purcell, Keith Walker, and Gerry McCormick received gold bars as two-time varsity letter-winners, and juniors winning their first varsity N's in track are Dan Banks, Bob Foraker, Terry Kitz, Jim Simen, Chuck Stalger, and Joe Stenson.

Impressed by Gus Tagnon's fly rod wizardry with willing bluegills flashing at wet flies flicked beneath the spring blues of Nocktown Pond on a recent outing, Carroll W. Mumford frowned a bit dubiously at a fly rod handed him by a companion last Saturday afternoon as we stepped into a brand new aluminum rowboat provided by Hostess Holo Ellison Motter for another go at the Nocktown marine life.

"Just a flick of the wrist, with that elbow sort of tucked into your hip—let the long rod and the heavy enameled line do the work," Mr. Mumford was advised as he hefted Billy's glass fly rod while the carman assembled a veteran split-bamboo wand of his own.

There may be other anglers who developed the knack of fly fishing as quickly as Carroll Mumford, Senior—but we never saw one.

Before the boat had been rowed well away from the Ellison-Motter landing to reach the productive waters where the June green brush harbors bluegills in the shade of the steep, wooded banks of the pond, Mr. Mumford's borrowed rod suddenly whipped into a bow with the thrust of a golden flanked bluegill as it sucked in a Black Gnat—and another fly fisherman joined the clan.

"I've seen Gadabout Gaddis use one of these rods—on television," our companion who sees eye-to-eye with Len Fossett as an admirer and faithful follower of the Flying Fisherman said.

"But I had no idea a fly rod was so easy to—Ah! Another one!" Mr. Mumford interrupted himself with the sudden, second strike of another sunfish.

Well, fly rods are not noted for being easy to master, and C. W. Mumford is something of a real exception in taking to this new-

Fulghum Presents Baseball Letters For Yellowjackets

Capt. Mark Brown, one of three captains who lettered Coach Francis Fulghum's Yellowjackets to second place in the Blue Hen Conference baseball season with Newark High School's best record in a decade, received the gold baseball award as a four-year varsity veteran letter-winner.

Gold bars were awarded to Captains Jack Houtt and Ron Suppli as two-year lettermen, and 12 other varsity letters were presented for the 1967 season.

Seniors Bob McCrory, John Medlin, Tom Brightaupt, Dick Fillin, and Kerry Bittenbender won their varsity N's, and Juniors Tom Brattan and Tom McDonald won their Newark letters.

Sophomores Gary Ludwig, Don Steinski, and Dick Bauer won letters as members of Fulghum's varsity Yellowjackets, and Chris Gallo and Chuck Barba received varsity letters as team managers.

Campbell, Clunie Named Co-Captains In Blue Hen Track

Scott Campbell and Bob Clunie have been named captains of the 1968 Delaware track team.

Campbell, a 6-6 and 255-pound senior from Haverford, Pa., is the Delaware record-holder in the shot put with a 53-ft. throw.

Campbell won the Middle Atlantic shot put title as a sophomore and was second in this year's championship meet. He is also a regular tackle on the Blue Hen football team.

Clunie, a junior from Wilmington, is a two-year letterman in both track and cross country. He has a 4:12 mile, the best time ever recorded by a junior at Delaware, and was fourth in the MAC mile this year.

"The team has had an excellent choice," Blue Hen Coach Jimmy Flynn said.

"They have picked two men who are leaders in every sense of the word. They will lead by example, and they have the respect and admiration of their teammates."

Campbell and Clunie succeed John O'Donnell of Wilmington as captain. O'Donnell is the Delaware record-holder in the mile.

For him phase of fishing, with such dexterity. On the other hand, fly fishing is far more simple than the reams of copy written over the centuries would have one believe.

The former poultry expert for the University of Delaware caught a half-dozen stocky, spangled sunfish before we had cleared the St. Andrew's School cove where a proud father was teaching a couple of youngsters to swim in the clear, cool, inviting water, and then, chafing a bit at the sole role of spectator to all this fly fishing action, the carman began whipping a Royal Coachman beneath the brush in the dark shallows of the wooded shoreline.

A two-inch bluegill latched onto the fly just as we were lifting the rod for a "lock cast," and the little fellow flew through the air and into the water on the other side of the boat. But the juvenile sunny was unharmed by its first flight, and was carefully unhooked with wetted hands to join its more adult relatives that had been returned to the water. We saved an even half-dozen fish—five bluegills and a stray, silver crappie—for the stringer and a Mumford family twosome, toothsome fish fry to provide the Lady of the House with some positive proof that her husband did catch fish on these outings.

Noxontown sparkled under a golden afternoon sun, and the water was clear and green with no heavy bloom

Damascus Heads Field At Delaware Park With 30th Running Of Leonard Richards

The $25,000-added, mile and one-eighth Leonard Richards Stakes, Delaware Park's longest and richest opportunity for three-year-old colts, has its 30th running this Saturday, and with it a big IP concerning the possible starting line-up.

A year ago, Buckpasser won the Richards enroute to becoming 1966 Horse of the Year. Only five other sophomores ran against him, including the champion's lesser-light stablemate, Crossing The T. In other words, that magic name "Buckpasser" scared out all but a few members of the division.

A somewhat similar situation could develop this weekend if a brilliant colt named Damascus is among the starters. Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's hero of the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, final less of the American Triple Crown, is on the grounds. He received his prep for the Belmont at Delaware Park and was quickly returned there following that classic mile and a half.

Trainer Frank Y. Whiteley, Jr., indicated he leaned toward letting the bay son of Sword Dancer-Kerala make his next appearance in the Richards, but the final decision would have to be made by his bosses, the Bancrofts.

Junior Wrestling Tournament Slated At Tatnall School

A Delaware junior wrestling tournament for competition in the junior world championship will be held at Tatnall School near Wilmington on Saturday, July 1, starting at 1 p.m. and ending about 10:30 p.m.

The tournament sponsored by Nur Temple Shriners, is open to any boy 15 to 18 in the state, according to Peter Parlett, Tatnall School wrestling coach.

Entry application may be made through Parlett or any Delaware high school wrestling coach. There is no entry fee.

The tournament will be held under AAU rules, with 12 winners in 10 weight classes.

Winners will compete in a regional meet before July 15.

Regional winners will compete in a sectional meet a week later, with sectional winners going to a Chicago training camp to prepare for the Olympic contests in Bulgaria Aug. 22-27.

The second in a series of professional wrestling matches in the Rehoboth Beach Convention and Civic Center is scheduled for next Wednesday evening, according to Promoter Paul Rodgers.

"We were off to a slow start on June 7," Rodgers commented this week, "but I can assure you that we have an action-packed card for June 21, that will please every professional wrestling fan in the Delmarva Peninsula."

The main event will feature a hefty kick-down who wrestles under the name of "The Friendly Ox," and weighs nearly 300 pounds. He'll take on Tank Morgan of Crooked Neck, Ga.
