Officials installed for new terms

New and returning city officials were sworn in Tuesday night at a special organizational meeting of Newark City Council.

Nancy Turner, who defeated incumbent Jane Tripp in the recent election, was sworn in as the new councilperson for District 5.

Returning councilmembers Anthony Felicia of District 3 and Gerald Grant of District 6 were also installed by Mayor Ronald Gardner. Felicia and Grant ran unopposed in their districts.

In a paper ballot by city council, Harold Godwin defeated Anthony Felicia to return for a second term as deputy mayor.

In nominating Godwin, councilmember Irene Zych commented that she thought Godwin had brought a lot of initiative to the job.

Loreto "Larry" P. Rufo was named to serve a one-year term as the new city alderman after Thomas B. Ferry resigned from the post.

Guns discussed at Town & Gown

Guns on campus was a topic of note at the last Town and Gown Committee meeting following a recent news story claiming they are likely at the University of Delaware.

According to committee member Timothy Brooks, dean of students at the university, he was interviewed when the story was being prepared.

"I told them I could only remember three cases where guns were found in the possession of students in the last five years," said Brooks. "Those students are no longer with us."

Brooks said students are not allowed to keep guns on campus at any time but "the article in the Review seems to indicate there is at least one more somewhere."

Referring to the picture which ran with the story, Brooks said, "We notified Public Safety and asked them to look for a student meeting the description of this person."

Guns have not been a problem on campus in the past, explained Brooks, but they are always a concern.

Main Street Pep Rally cancelled

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A Main Street Pep Rally, planned in the old Farm and Home Building for this month after rescheduling in March, has been postponed indefinitely.

According to Karen Pedano, spokesperson for the 1492 Hospitality Group which owns the building, the event was "indefinitely put off because the organizers were unable to get a day for complete participation of all businesses." Billed as an opportunity to show off local businesses, invitations to the event had been issued to 113 merchants.

Pedano said plans to develop the Farm and Home Building were still in progress although owner Davis Sezna has not returned phone calls.

According to Newark city officials, consultants from 1492 met with planning director Roy Lopata on March 22 for preliminary discussions concerning redevelopment of the site.

Boy robbed of little league money

Police report that on April 12 around 2:40 p.m. a donation can was taken from a 10-year-old Newark boy collecting for Newark National Little League near College Square Shopping Center.

According to witnesses, a car pulled up and one of the occupants called to the boy. When he walked up to the car, the suspect grabbed the can and the car drove off. Both suspects in the car are described as African-American females in their 30s.

The car is described as a blue compact car, possibly a Honda having a Delaware license plate with the first three numbers 374.

NHS student found with pot

On April 2 around 12:15 p.m. a 16-year-old at Newark High School parking lot was found to be in possession of marijuana.

Police charged the youth with possession in the incident.

Boys enter building

On April 8 around 1 p.m. a 13-year-old and 8-year-old were apprehended after entering a building in the 200 block of E. Main Street.

Police said the boys apparently entered an unsecured cellar door and first opened doors and searched through cabinets in a medical lab at the location. The boys then went to the second floor where they broke a window and entered apartments.

While in the apartments, the boys cooked and ate pizza and eggs found there.

They were finally spotted after one of them dropped a roller skate off the roof attracting attention of nearby workers who called police.

The boys were turned over to their parents pending an appearance in Family Court.

McDonalds payroll checks stolen

Employees of McDonalds on S. College Avenue reported to police that sometime between Jan. 1 and March 27 a suspect allegedly removed payroll and expense checks from the safe and cashed them at local banks after forging endorsements.

The company became aware of the theft and altered their method of handing out checks so employees had to sign for them. Police are still investigating and no charges have been made.

Compressor swiped

Sometime between 4:45 p.m. on April 8 and 11 a.m. on April 9 unknown persons removed a Trane 4-ton compressor valued at $1,300 from outside an unin-ished house at a Toll Brothers construction site on Hayden Way.

Anyone with information is asked to call Newark Police at 366-7111.

Van damaged

Police report that between 10 p.m. and midnight on April 11 unknown persons damaged a Ford Van parked behind Formal Affairs on Main Street.

Police said it appeared a pellet gun had been fired at the van causing a hole in the window. The person reporting the damage said this was the third time in a week that this occurred.

Graves desecrated

The caretaker for the cemetery at N. Chapel and New streets reported to police that sometime overnight on April 12 to 13 unknown persons desecrated and damaged tombstones.

Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Police have no suspects.

Arts Alliance hosts Spring MusicFest

The Newark Arts Alliance kicks off the spring season with a free outdoor event, the second annual Spring MusicFest.

Three area bands Juliet's Wishing Well, Mance Java (formerly Splatterdash), and Lash La Rue (formerly Smashing Orange) - will play from 1-5 p.m. on the Academy Building lawn, Main Street.

Other NAA events this weekend include the C3 Coffeehouse on Friday at 8:30 p.m. at Jam'n & Java Coffee House in the Newark Shopping Center. Featured performers are poet Aliza Appel, singer/songwriter Joe Rasemas, and guitar-and-vocals duo Jacque Porter and Laurie Lincoln.

A Sunday Sketching Session for artists of all skill levels will be held Sunday, 2-4 p.m., at Jam'n & Java.

For more information on any NAA event, contact NAA Staff Person Terry Foreman, 302/731-5801.

Man reported missing

Police continue to search for Thomas C. Deputy who was last seen at his home in Mendenhall Village, Hockessin, on Sunday, April 7 at around 10 a.m.

According to Officer Patrick Crowell of the New Castle County Police, relatives said Deputy's unexplained disappearance "is highly unusual behavior for him."

Deputy, an aircraft pilot, was reported missing after failing to arrive at a relative's home on Easter Sunday. He was last seen driving a black 1989 Chevy S-10 pick-up truck, with Delaware license plate

Police do not suspect foul play although the exact circumstances of his disappearance are still in question. Relatives and police simply want to know he is alright.

Deputy is described as a 37-year-old white man, 5'10" tall, weighing 180 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes. He was last seen wearing khaki pants and a teal blue jacket.

Anyone who believes they have seen Deputy or his vehicle is asked to call Detective Stephen DiVirgilio at 571-7924, New Castle County Police at 571-7930 or simply 9-1-1.

An outstanding officer and a good man dies

Cpl. Alfred G. Scarpello, a New Castle County Police officer and resident of Chestnut Crossing in Newark, died of an apparent heart attack at his residence on Wednesday morning.

A graduate of Salesianum High School and Delaware Technical Community College, the 40 year-old Scarpello had served as a Military Police Officer in the U.S. Army for three years prior to joining the county police force.

In 1983 Scarpello became a member of the 11th Recruit Academy and in the past 13 years he had served in the uniform patrol division, detective division and the 9-1-1 center. Decorated twice for his service, Scarpello has received numerous letters of commendation from both the public and the department.

Scarpello leaves behind two sons, Patrick, 12, and Michael, 9. He is also survived by his parents, Alfred J. and Doreen Scarpello, his brother, Patrick and his sister, Margaret Roche.

County officers said Scarpello will be remembered as an outstanding police officer and a good man.

Plans for a full police funeral had not yet been finalized as of press time.

Grass cuttings recycled

Newark's Grass Recycling Program to help limit the amount of grass entering the waste stream begins tomorrow and continues each Saturday until Oct. 12.

Grass clippings only should be put out for collection prior to 8 a.m. on Saturdays or after 6 p.m. on Friday evenings.

No plastic bags will be accepted. Clippings must be placed in 20 to 32 gallon garbage cans not to exceed 40 pounds. Lids are advisable since wet grass is very heavy.

Do not put out grass clippings on normal trash collection days as it will be taken away with refuse.

Only grass clippings will be collected on Saturdays. No animal waste, brush, sticks, dirt or garbage will be accepted.

To arrange for collection of branches, call 366-7045 for a special Wednesday pickup of up to six tied bundles measuring 3' x 3' x 4' not exceeding 40 pounds. Plant cuttings and discarded annuals not exceeding 40 pounds can be put out with the normal trash collection.

All single-family, duplex and townhouse residents are encouraged to participate.

For further information call the Newark public works department at 366-7045.

MORE THAN SPRING CLEANING

With a flurry of springtime activity on Main Street, it seems that work on buildings is a common thing to do. Here the Newark Mini-Mall gets some work done to its facade as warmer weather brings the walkers out.

A host of local officials were on hand to watch the Lions Club presentation of the Policeman of the Year Award to Officer Rick Williams. Shown are (front) Lions director 'PK' Krishnan, Mayor Ronald Gardner, Rick Williams and Teresa Williams; (back) Police Chief William Hogan, city manager Carl Luft and Lions president Frank Hoagey.

Williams named Policeman of year

CPL. RICK WILLIAMS of the Newark Police Department has been named Policeman of the Year by the Newark Lions Club. Chief William Hogan said "What's difficult, what I can't even put into words, is the work ethic of Rick Williams." Hogan said Williams puts in many hours of personal time on his cases and is known for his "hard-nosed investigative work."

During the past year, Williams served on a task force of state, county and local officers organized to investigate a series of rapes occurring in New Castle County between 1991 and 1995.

The suspect in the case was apprehended and Cpl. Williams played a role in the prosecution which resulted in a conviction on the three counts of sexual assault placed against the suspect by the Newark Police Department.

In December of 1995, Williams responded to a report of a fatal shooting at a house on Elkton Road. Subsequently he worked through the holidays, interviewing witnesses and suspects in an effort to clarify the accounts of the incident.

"There were drugs involved in this case and we were not getting the greatest cooperation in the world in this matter," said Hogan. "It was Williams' hours of work and dedication that led to an arrest."

The suspect in the case, arrested and charged with first degree murder and robbery, is presently awaiting trial.

A member of the Newark police department since 1984, Williams served in the patrol division before transferring to criminal investigations in 1992.

Hogan said Williams was chosen for the award by the Lions after nomination by a police department committee. "The Lions have been honoring our officers like this since about 1988," said Hogan. "We're very grateful to them for the recognition, especially in view of the attitude toward the police in a lot of places today."

Historic properties and rentals on city agenda

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Incentives for owners of historic residences in Newark and new regulations for persons renting to roomers and boarders are on the agenda for Monday night's city council meeting.

During the final two-hour discussion and vote on the twice-tabled historic preservation ordinance last July, councilmembers emphasized a need for incentives for owners of the affected properties. "If we pass this tonight, can we still continue to talk about incentives?" asked Anthony Felicia at that time.

Proposed now for council review and vote are two ordinances which would give possible tax waivers, rate freezes, tax credits and/or partial tax exemptions to owners depending on the location of the property and whether the site is already tax exempt, residential or commercial.

Under the enacted historic preservation ordinance, property owners are obliged to seek city review before altering or demolishing a site listed in the ordinance as historic. Thirty-five properties are presently listed and only two have sought building permits, both of which were granted, since the ordinance's passing.

Council will also consider clarifications to the city zoning code to ensure that both landlords and non-owner occupants are covered under the roomers and boarders regulations.

An ordinance addressing the practice of placing a nominal owner on a deed to increase tenant capacity in an 'owner-occupant' rental; an amendment requiring a rental permit fee for those taking in more than one boarder; and sanctions for repeat noise or disorderly premises violations at a rental site will also be up for council's vote.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. at the Newark Municipal Building on Elkton Road.

Taking Care of Delaware's Trash — It's What We Do!

The counts are in...

Traffic counted at 10 locations throughout the Newark area during the week of December 10-15, 1995 in a License Plate Survey. Also shown are the daily average number of trucks counted at each location as well as the percentage of all traffic which did not stop in Newark.

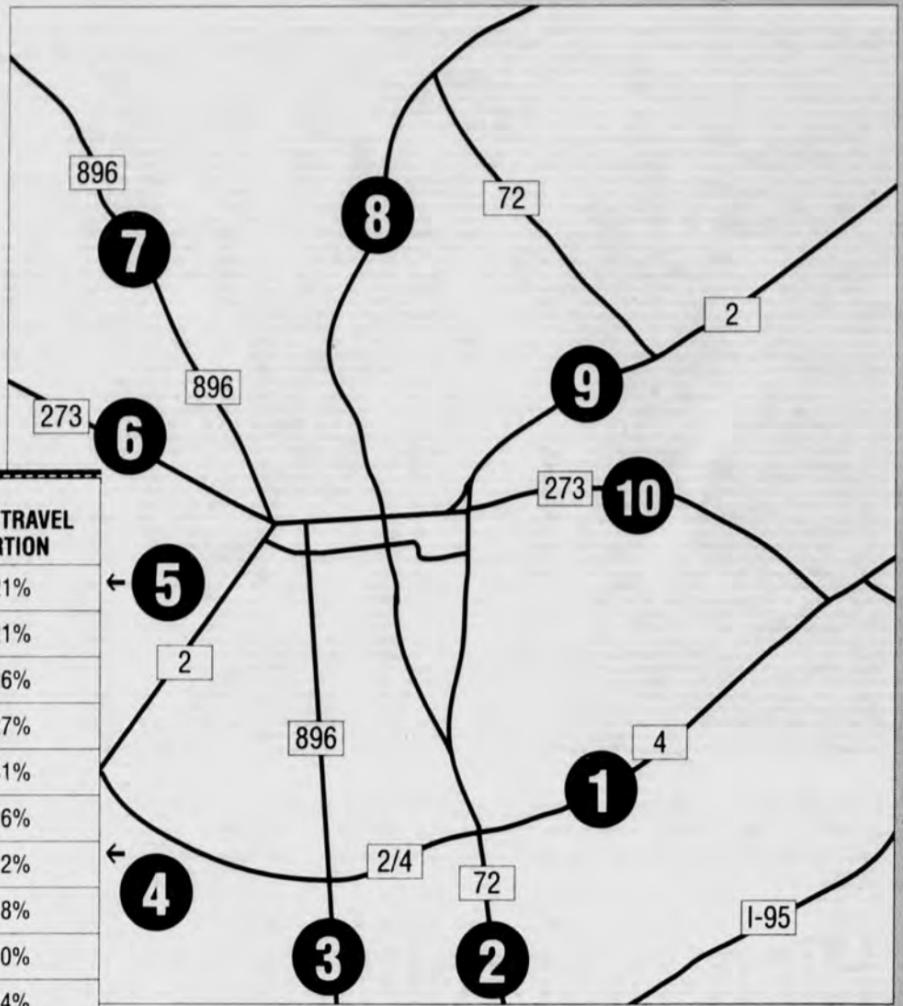

Maryland officials cited this information to bolster their refusal to consider a bypass on the north or west side of Newark.

According to Anthony DiGiacomo, principal planner for WILMAPCO, the survey results substantiated one done by the Citizens Against Traffic (C.A.T.) last April and May. "This says that their survey was a good one," said DiGiacomo. "The numbers for northbound and southbound traffic on 896 were a little different because we counted at a point further north than C.A.T."

DiGiacomo speculated that trucks turning into Fairfield Shopping Center would have appeared as "through traffic" in the prior count accounting for a 50-truck difference in numbers.

Locations for the December count were chosen by representatives of Delaware and Maryland departments of transportation and the city of Newark. According to G. Alexander Taft, director of WILMAPCO, the methodology used in collecting and analyzing the License Plate Count data was consistent with that of both Delaware and Maryland transportation departments.

FURRY FRIENDS AT LEASURE SCHOOL

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

LEASURE ELEMENTARY School was recently overrun with bears of every size and description. Led by the Leasure Bear, the entire student body at the school in Bear held a R.I.F. (Reading Is Fundamental) book distribution and celebrated the furry Ursidae (that's Latin for bears) family.

Children brought teddy bears to school and played video clips of bears while they waited to select their R.I.F. books. Everyone enjoyed teddy bear crackers donated by C&G Distributors as a panel of third-grade experts fielded questions about bears.

The children also received bookmarks from the Delaware Department of Agriculture Forest Service and coupons for free ice cream from Dairy Queen.

R.I.F. distributions at Leasure are organized and directed by parent volunteers led by parent Jan DeCoste.

Exuberant first-graders, Justin Snow (holding Santa bear), Janayah Mitchell, Jessica Mears (with book), Rashawn Westcott and Monica Pannell, greet the Leasure Bear.

Kalbacher seeks House seat

Newark resident Karl Kalbacher announced his candidacy for a seat in the Delaware House of Representatives from the 25th district this week.

Kalbacher, a Democrat, will be challenging incumbent Stephanie A. Ulbrich (R-Newark South) who has served for the past two years.

In making his announcement, Kalbacher said the cornerstones of his campaign are safe neighborhoods, local control of school districts and responsibility to the community.

Karl Kalbacher

A past president of the Arbour Park Civic Association, Kalbacher, 34, is also a member of the Newark Conservation Advisory Board and the Newark South Wellfield Advisory Committee. He has served as the legislative representative of the West Park Elementary PTA and is a member of the school's Restructuring Committee.

An environmental program manager of the hazardous waste division at DNREC, Kalbacher resides in Arbour Park with his wife and two children.

Tuning in by tuning out

SOME PARENTS AND their children will get a respite from the blue glow of the television screen this week as they participate in the national TV-Turnoff Week. We applaud the parents for acting on their children's behalf, and the children for cooperating. A temporary moratorium on television watching is not a cure-all, but it may be the introduction of a little preventative medicine for some families.

In this age where the Buck is stronger than any Values, turning off the television is a move away from the demands of national marketing conglomerates to a more intimate focus on the family under one roof.

Several local organizations are contributing to the effort by promoting activities and events for the non-television watchers. The Christina Skating Rink, The University of Delaware's Ice Rink, Delaware Art Museum and McDonalds have all offered passes and coupons for families by organizing programs specifically geared for interaction.

The bottom line is that television is not the problem, but it does block solutions and distract attention from home. Several brave families are willing to turn off the television and take the chance of getting to know each other without distractions from the outside, televised world.

THE REST OF THE American History class was both puzzled and amused that Ben Franklin feared the Pennsylvania Dutch so much that he talked the colonial legislature into sending teachers of English behind the Sauer Kraut Curtain as part of the defense department's protection of the state and its citizens.

These teachers (seven of them, I believe) were to convert the Dutchmen to the use of English, thereby melting them into our pot. It didn't, of course, work. I could have told Mr. Franklin and the rest of the class that it would take a second world war to effect such a change.

Most kids in my town loved Teachers' Institute Days, two in the fall and two in the spring, when the teachers had to go to school but the kids didn't. From sun up to sun down, everybody met at the old ball field and played non-stop games of football and/or softball—except me. My family dragged me off to Pennsylvania Dutchland to see our very Dutch relatives: I hated it!

It wasn't even the missing of 12 hours of playing ball I hated the most—it was my parents' disappearing behind the Sauer Kraut Curtain with all their relatives and leaving me alone—while in the same room. Almost all the conversations were in Dutch, and the only words I could understand in any given hour were Dutch surnames: Spiegelmeier, Hiffendorfer, Bowersox, Bickel, and Walther.

THROUGH THE WOODS

Green is my favorite color

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

WHETHER MY LOVE of growing things was born with me I cannot say, but I know green has always been my favorite color. My mother used to tell me that as a baby, I 'talked' to the trees as she pushed my stroller through our West Philadelphia neighborhoods.

Despite this, I spent my first 14 years largely surrounded by miles and miles of concrete and bricks. Though we did have many old trees lining the sidewalks of the wider streets, a lawn in that world of rowhomes was a plot of grass ten feet long and two feet wide.

Some gardeners, transplanted to a place where scope was limited but the urge to cultivate was undiminished, managed to do miracles in those tiny spaces.

Next door to us lived the Devine family which included a grandmother who helped keep house. In their backyard was the first formal garden I ever remember seeing, complete with a minute concrete edging and one magnificent rosebush.

Every year, tended by the older Mrs. Devine, that spreading bush burst forth with lush blooms of pale pink roses.

I never knew what kind they were, but they feature in many pictures of Victorian flower arrangements. And even as I write this, I can smell the incredibly sweet, heady scent that filled their yard and ours on summer nights.

That one rosebush required a lot of care and I must have seen the work over the years because I remember being cautioned not to ever touch the flowers that were so special to Mrs. Devine.

OUT OF THE ATTIC

This week's "Out of the Attic" photo shows a building once located on the northwest corner of Main and North Chapel Street during the last century of its existence. Some of the last businesses located there and for which it is best remembered include Minuteman Press, Newark TV, Greggs Jewelers and Bunnys Lunch. The building was demolished around 1990 and the site is now a vacant lot. The photograph which is from the collection of the Newark Historical Society was taken in 1954 with research provided by Hal Godwin. In an effort to provide more complete descriptions of our "Out of the Attic" photographs, volunteer historians of the Newark Historical Society are identifying and researching the historic shots. Readers are encouraged to send old photos to the Newark Post. Special care will be taken. For information, call 737-0724.

Letter to the editor, Organized absurdity

On the university page of this newspaper, is a story about a group of engineering students at the University of Delaware who have asked everybody in New Castle County to not waste water tomorrow.

The idea, we are told, started with a professor who allegedly told the students the public would be made more aware of the value of pure water if it did without for a day. We are further told the students are feeling somewhat happy at thus having struck a blow for ecology.

Who would suggest to students and public alike that the best way to stop water pollution is to not flush the hopper?

County OK's sewer

New Castle County Council passed an ordinance April 9 that would make available $1.28 million for the Melody Meadows development in Glasgow, to connect to a county sewer system.

Residents say they have been plagued by failures and other problems with the on-site septic systems, currently in use at the homes. Residents will be charged a proposed $3,000 per household for hook-up fees.

Teachers reach settlement

Tensions ran high at the Christina School District school board meeting on April 9, and teachers and administrators faced off in an ugly exchange which seemed to put away the hope of settling a teachers' contract.

But after hours of mediation the following night, which went on from 6 p.m. to 2:30 a.m., teachers and district officials emerged with a tentative settlement. The groups met again April 11 for three hours to agree on final details, said school district spokesperson Dr. Terri Klemm.

Thank you very much for the photograph and article in the April 12 issue drawing the attention of your readers to the bicycle helmet law which went into effect on April 1. Bicycle helmets can be very effective in reducing the severity of head injuries in bicycle crashes.

I am concerned, however, that the photograph on the front page showed a child wearing the helmet incorrectly. A bicycle helmet needs to be worn so that it is nearly level on the wearer's head. This helps to protect the front of the head in the event that the cyclist goes over the handlebars and lands face-first.

I also want to point out that the phone number for information about the bicycle helmet bank is 302-739-BIKE (it was incorrect in your article). This is the phone number of Liz Holloway, the Bicycle-Pedestrian Coordinator for the State of Delaware.

I am a member of White Clay Bicycle Club, and have participated in a local program of bicycle safety education in the schools in cooperation with the Cooperative Extension Service. In our presentations in the schools, we stress that the children need to wear bicycle helmets for protection, and need to ride predictably and on the right side of the road (if riding on the road) for safety.

► HUMMEL, from 6

It was always a point of pride to me that I understood no Dutch—until I found myself speechless and clueless in a foreign land where people I once knew (my parents!) took on another identity. I literally felt like—and was—a cultural orphan.

For days after we got back to Pittsburgh, the conversation was of happy hog-slaughters and of romantic bulls meeting-demure-but-willing cows and how great would be the veal thereof.

Why didn't I play with the Dutch kids? Ben Franklin could tell you! Although most of their families had been in America since the 1740s and 1750s, the kids spoke English only when forced to in school. The soccer team, for instance, played all its games on a farmer's field so the cheers in Dutch would be legal after the State Board of Education had monitored their cheers and declared them against the Constitution.

They worshiped in Dutch in their Protestant churches and withered aliens with a shunning that was palpable—you could feel it and smell it. You could even taste it in their unpasteurized milk.

I ran afoul of a group of kids one day. I had staggered out onto my uncle's porch, away from all the burghers' Dutch-talk inside. There they came down the hill, throwing pebbles at each other from the newly tarred street. They all wore the same bib overalls, each with one strap hanging down, and gigantic, crude, clodhopper shoes. Their hair was long, and since "shampoo" is a Hindu word and not a Dutch one, they obviously did not believe in it.

"Hey, kitt! Vy do you dress so funny?" "I am not dressed 'funny.' That's the way we dress in McKeesport!" "Miggysport? Neffer heard off itt!" "Oh, it's quite an industrial town of 60,000 people."

"Sixty towsant people! There iss no such town! Vy do you lie so?"

Before I could make it worse, one of the kids tried to intercede by telling the gang that he had heard of such vast metropolises—but he had one question of me—which side of The River was this Miggysport on?

The River? What could he mean by "The River?" Since he had capitalized the word "RIVER" when he said it, obviously he meant The Mississippi! Of course! "This side," and the moment I said it, I knew!

"Say, now, you are a liar! Dere iss no town of sixty thousand this side of the riffer." He cast the first stone and was immediately joined in his blitzkrieg by the gewaltsam junges. Deutschland uber Marvin!

Soon their brothers would go to war and teach them of rivers other than the Susquehanna—and of cities bigger than 60,000. Soon in their tiny, monolithic county there would be a synagogue and a Roman Catholic Church; and, if they wanted to make a living, they had to speak English some of the time, at least on the streets and in the stores. Some people brought home a taste for wine, and now Eulenspiegel's Haus aus Biers has a Weins Teil. And the kids wear Nikes, and to bridge the cultural, Gap jeans instead of bib overalls.

Nevertheless, it was there to enjoy for anyone who passed. Her rosebush lived a long time in that small backyard, and lives still in memory.

I have known other Mrs. Devines over the years and always admired their dedication to creating beauty year after year despite weather and age and varying levels of appreciation by those around them.

In the neighborhood where my children grew up, Mrs. Augustine was already elderly and living alone when we moved there. We learned from other neighbors that she had lived in her house for many years and her husband was deceased.

In the winter, we almost never saw Mrs. Augustine, except when it snowed. Every March, however, she was out in her yard, clearing away the winter's debris on her front lawn and preparing for the growing season.

As the spring progressed, her immaculate green carpet of grass was framed by pink and white azalea bushes arrayed in front of the porch and beside the steps to the sidewalk. Providing a footnote to these imposing specimens were hosta plants with spikes of green and white leaves.

All summer long, Mrs.

Augustine weeded and mowed by hand and often I saw her out in the coolness of early morning as I started off to my day's work.

As the years passed I came to expect and look for the glorious exhibition each May. At some point I noticed that the scalloped edge of the window on our storm door created a greeting-card view of the pink, green and white garden across the street.

For two weeks each year, the azaleas presented their finest moments and provided a celebration of spring for everyone—although it sometimes felt as though the display was for me, because Mother's Day and my birthday usually occurred during those weeks.

I don't think I ever told Mrs. Devine how much I liked her flowers but I did tell Mrs. Augustine on one of the rare occasions when we chatted. I hope it added to her happiness in her gardening although that's not why she did it. People like the Mrs. Devines create their transient masterpieces whether we care or not.

But for all those who are even now, raking and sweeping and pruning in preparation for another green season, thank-you. I wish you sunny days, warm winds, gentle rains—and very long life.

Half truths, politics and Mad Cow Disease

BY NOW, almost everyone has seen the file footage from Britain of the cattle that have been diagnosed with mad cow disease. There is no doubt that this disease exists and is a large problem in the cattle industry in Britain. What is in question is the exact link between mad cow disease and a similar disease in humans called Creutzfeldt-Jakob Syndrome (CJD).

CJD occurs naturally in about 1 out of every 1 million individuals. Given this rate of occurrence, you would expect about 50-60 cases in Britain. This disease has been reported in cattle for the past 10 years, and has not caused an uproar. What has suddenly propelled this issue to the forefront?

There are a number of factors at play behind the scenes in Europe that are driving this issue. The first and probably most important issue is politics. The British produce, consume and export huge quantities of beef. They export primarily to other European Union countries, who have latched onto mad cow disease as a legal way of stopping the importation of beef into their own countries and thus preserving the market for home grown products. This is a common trade tactic. Just recently we witnessed the big flap over American poultry being sent to Russia, who declared it unsafe. The exportation of supposedly inferior American products such as apples and auto parts to Japan has been the basis for a longstanding trade dispute.

A second major factor is the relatively strong influence that animal rights organizations have in Europe. They are a much more powerful force in Europe than they are in the United States, and this issue fits nicely into their agenda.

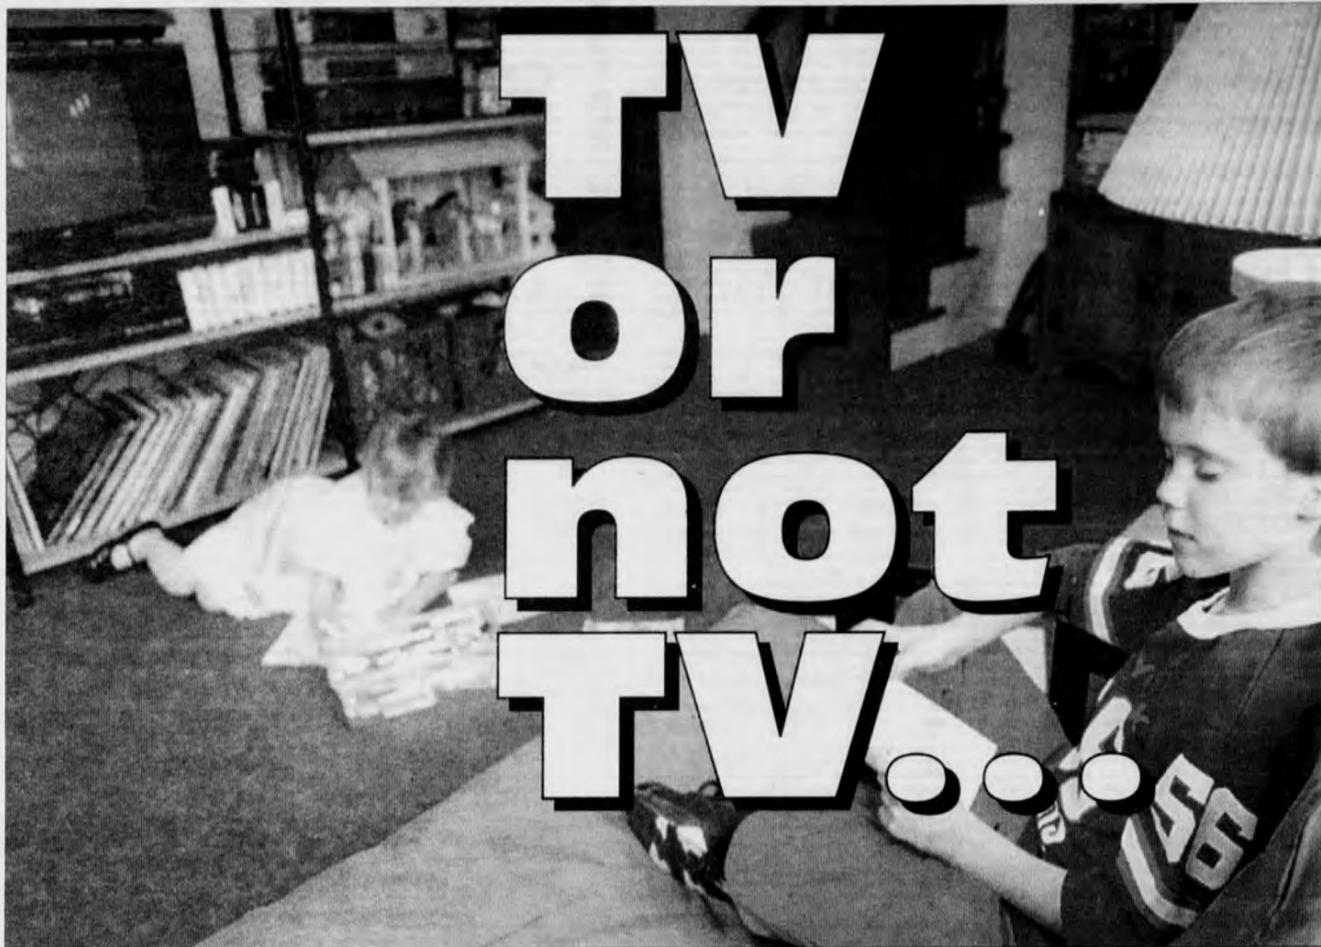

A third important factor is the role of the media in this and other food safety issues. The hysteria caused by mad cow disease is reminiscent of the uproar that occurred in this country a number of years ago with Alar and apples. These kinds of stories simply make good print. The sad part of most of these stories is that facts are very difficult to come by. At this point in time there is absolutely no evidence that there is a link between mad cow disease and a similar disease (CJD) in humans. Years of painstaking scientific research will make eventually make that determination.

For all the furor around this and other health related issues, the fact is that when it comes to determining risks, we humans are not very good. We regularly make deliberate choices

WHAT WOULD IT BE LIKE to not watch TV for an entire week? Students and their parents at West Park Elementary School are taking up that challenge.

According to Catriona Binder-Macleod of the West Park PTA, during the week of April 24 to April 30, the school is participating in National TV-Turnoff Week.

"According to TV-Free America (a national organization), the percentage of parents who would like to limit their children's TV watching is 73 percent," said Macleod. "However 50 percent of children between the ages of 6 and 17 have TVs in their rooms. What does that say?"

Macleod, a mother of two, said her family has not had television for two years. "We only use the TV set to watch videos," said Macleod.

Sheila Smith, mother of 2-year-old Felix and 6-year-old Sylvie, said her family watches very little TV now. "My children don't even know about Saturday mornings," said Smith. Her family is participating in an effort "to open

Storyteller tells his story

"Over 50 years we've been taught we are Indians. That is not what we are. What I am is Cherokee and that is all. We are all Native Americans."

Diamond Brown, a full-blooded Cherokee, grew up on a reservation in a remote mountainous area called Snowbird in North Carolina. He grew up telling stories.

Brown spent all day at Bancroft Elementary School sharing the culture and tradition of the Cherokee with the students.

"Our culture went underground and another race of people taught inaccuracies, they taught their opinion," Brown explained.

Growing up on the reservation, Brown thought he was a cowboy. "We wore traditional American clothes such as blue jeans. We had T.V. and vehicles."

Brown's first impression of an Indian male came from images shown on television.

One day when he went into town with his family, Brown and his brother saw a man in the bathroom fixing his headdress and combing his long hair. Working as a tourist attraction, the man was dressed in an Indian costume. Brown said he remembers saying to his brother "look, there is an Indian."

It's a special year at Longwood

LONGWOOD Gardens plays host to performing arts groups from around the world all year long. There is a wide range of music from ancient through contemporary and groups to appeal to a wide range of ages. Once every three years, however, an extra special event comes to Longwood and 1996 is such a year.

Next month, on Sunday, May 19, at 2:30 p.m., the Delius Society will pay a visit to the former estate of Pierre S. duPont and present a concert in the Conservatory Ballroom. I wanted you to have plenty of advance notice, especially if you are a devotee of the music of Frederick Delius and his followers.

I would take a moment to introduce you to Frederick Delius if you are not already familiar with the man and his works. Delius was born in Bradford, England, in 1862 and was a bit of a rebel. His German-born parents had already planned his life in business, but that was not to be. He left England to come to Solano, Florida, ostensibly to raise oranges. He began studying on his own and even his violin expertise was self-taught. Finally, the father gave his permission and Delius was off to Europe and serious study.

His works were well received in Germany, but in England it was an uphill struggle. His great English champion was none other than Sir Thomas Beecham. As he did in most things, Sir Thomas succeeded in this effort and England finally welcomed the music of this composer.

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

Clearly his idol was Edvard Grieg whom he met in Leipzig when he was studying at the conservatory there. He settled in Grez-sur-Loing and, in 1897, married a painter named Jelka Rosen who was devoted to him until the end. And the end was horrible. Eric Fenby's tome on the composer recounts those last years in agonizing detail.

Delius became a cult figure, or close to it. Music writers have had much to say about him, for example, A. K. Holland, "His is a rhapsodic art but it is also an art of pure contemplation." That is one of my favorite quotes about the man.

Of course I had heard of the composer growing up, perhaps had even come in contact with some of his music, but my understanding and appreciation wasn't to come until a dear friend, Harley S. Hastings founder and first Music Director of the Newark Symphony Orchestra, "made a more personal introduction." Thanks, Harley.

Philadelphia Orchestra program annotator George Diehl wrote, "Many have come under the spell of the man's wholly personal music. He was a dreamer, to be sure, and he spoke his sensitive musical language with ease."

The Delius Society, which sponsors the upcoming Longwood concert, was founded in 1976. It presents a variety of musical, social and educational events in cooperation with musical and scholarly groups throughout the world.

A quick check for record and CD catalogs today shows that many more recordings of the music of Frederick Delius are available today than ever before. Interest in his music continues to grow. The society has done its work well.

The May 19 concert will include selections from the works of A. A. Milne, British art songs by Frederick Delius and his contemporaries, songs by Sir Granville Bantock marking the 50th anniversary of his death and the American premiere of songs by English composer Kenneth Leighton. The principal soloists will be David Newman and Nora Sirbaugh.

Nora Sirbaugh earned her doctorate in musical arts from the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore. She is a champion of the British art song. She did her dissertation on Ivor Gurney and spent much time in England on her research. The mezzo-soprano has performed opera, oratorio and recital engagements throughout the country. Sirbaugh is now teaching music at Trenton State University and Mercer County Community College.

David Newman earned both his bachelor and master degrees from Westminster Choir College at Princeton. He has appeared with many groups and was a soloist in Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms" at the composer's memorial concert in Carnegie Hall. He is heard on the Philadelphia Orchestra's CD of "I Pagliacci," joining Luciano Pavarotti in the cast.

The two organists for the concert are Douglas J. Tester and Joseph Jackson.

As with most of the concerts presented by Longwood Gardens Performing Arts Coordinator Priscilla J. Johnson, there is no admission charge. Your admission ticket to the gardens covers the concert as well. Beauty of all kinds for

Cherokee tells students 'You can't go wrong if you listen to your heart'

"He scared me and I told my brother that we needed to tell father so he could protect us. I slid under the bathroom stall where my grandfather was and said there's an Indian out there and he's going to scalp us."

■ Solution to puzzle, page 11

"My grandfather started to laugh. Back at the car he said to my mother, Diamond has seen his first Indian. My mother laughed as she said, "You are an Indian, Diamond. Be proud of who you are."

"Who I am is Diamond. What I am is Cherokee."

With full attention from a crowd of students Brown explained, "Columbus named us Indios which is Latin for God-like people. Indian is a slang word from Indios. We are not from India."

"What I am trying to get across to the kids is that the Cherokee culture never had homeless people. There were no vulgar words in our language. There were no jails, no policeman. I want them to understand the word respect. Respect for people, for mother earth and all things living," he said.

Brown told the children, "We thought with our heart. You can't go wrong if you listen to your heart."

TeeTime 12-0-24 50% Nutralene™ the professional's partner The Andersons	Tee Time™ Fertilizer with Nutralene™ Nutralene™ represents the latest in fertilizer technology. Because it releases through hydrolysis and microbial activity, it is not dependent on temperature or moisture level to provide 10 to 16 weeks of sustained plant growth. The low salt index of Nutralene™ also makes it safe for year-round use. A more agronomically sound lawn program benefits from the use of Nutralene™ based products because nutrients are provided at a rate to which fine turf-grass will use them. By reducing excessive fertilization, better root development and lower levels of thatch build-up are achieved.	COUPON Tee Time™ Par 12-0-24 with Trimec™ Weed & Feed 40 lb. Cuomo to lead Bear/Glasgow civic council

THE BEAR/GLASGOW Council of Civic Organizations has a new president—only the second in their almost five-year existence.

Deborah Cuomo, a former president of the Fox Run Civic Association, was elected to complete the term of Stephanie Hansen who stepped down in March to run for president of New Castle County council.

Cuomo, once described by Hansen as a "good example of a person who learned to empower herself" through civic involvement, said she did not seek the nomination for head of the council. "Others came and asked me to run," she explained.

The new president said she feels she has a lot to learn and a lot to live up to in following Hansen. "I'm not making any changes," Cuomo said. "The council works well as it is and there's no need to reinvent the wheel."

Cuomo said she has already served on just about every committee in the council and likes to think of the group as "an avenue for people to receive information—particularly with maintenance organizations, because the county isn't any help."

Hansen agreed. "When people call the county about maintenance organizations the county gives them my home number and my work number. My employer hasn't always been too thrilled about it."

According to Hansen, longtime vice president Janice Hawkinson did not want to be considered for the lead role in the group. "Janice likes the rough and tumble of planning and zoning and that's where she wanted to stay," said Hansen. "If she was president she wouldn't be able to work in that role."

UD's mortgage program is working

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The first house has gone to settlement in the new Mortgage Program at the University of Delaware.

John Brook, vice president for government and public relations, said another settlement is planned soon and two others are talking about applying.

"We've had numerous inquiries since the start of the program," Brook told the Town and Gown Committee where the idea for the program was first discussed.

Under the program, the university will make a $5,000 interest-free loan to an employee at the time of settlement. The loan will be forgiven at the rate of $1,000 per year for every year the employee maintains the home as a primary residence.

Eligible employees who leave the university within two years from the date of the settlement must repay the remaining unforgiven balance on the loan. Employees must still find a property and qualify for a mortgage on their own before applying for the loan.

The first loan candidates are for houses in Wollaston, Academy and the Kells Avenue areas. "These are some of the neighborhoods where we want to reduce rentals," said Brook.

Responding to questions from resident Jean White and others, Brook said he was unaware of any stipulation in the program requiring employees to give the university "right of first refusal" when they sell in the future.

"I have no knowledge of that proposal," said Brook. "If it was there it probably would be because the university wants to protect property from deterioration and multi-family properties." Brook promised to look into the matter and report at a future date.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST BY LYNN TROY MANISCALCO

Shane Goodenough

Shane Goodenough recently won first place at the Drew Pyle Elementary School annual science fair.

Steven M. Haus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Haus, was recently named one of 2,600 candidates in the 1996 Presidential Scholars Program. The candidates were selected from more than 2.5 million students expected to graduate from U.S. high schools in 1996. Haus is a senior at St. Mark's High School.

Newark resident Leann Bankoski recently won an award for her participation in the fall 1995 Delaware Stock Market Game sponsored by the University of Delaware's Center for Economic Education and Entrepreneurship. Bankoski placed second in the Stock Market Game Essay Contest.

The Nottingham Players are presenting The Fantasticks play play at West Nottingham Academy campus, Colora, Md. Joel Swanson of Newark will be playing the character Hucklebee and Jamie DeCaria of Newark is the stage manager.

Ursuline Academy recently announced the recipients of their annual Academic Scholarships for young women entering the ninth grade. The awards are based on the students' performance on Ursuline's Scholarship/Entrance Test. Newark residents Kathryn Drake, Jill Schwartz and Emily Wardrop all received scholarships.

Four Newark High School seniors were recently named 1996 National Merit Finalists. The four finalists are Jared Bayer, David Leitch, Carrie Lock and Alice Shipman.

Newark High School senior, Priyanka Nath, was the only student from Delaware to be accepted into the 1996 National High School Honors Orchestra. The orchestra will perform at the Music Educators National Conference at the Kansas City on April, 20, 1996.

that involve a relatively high percentage of risk such as smoking cigarettes, drinking and driving, forgetting to wear our seatbelts, and consuming unhealthy diets even when the research shows the absolute risk involved in making these choices. On the other hand we often panic at unsubstantiated safety risks well before the facts are in.

As consumers, we're constantly being bombarded with information on risks associated with virtually everything we do. The only rational course of action is to assess the known facts in each case and make informed decisions based on the facts at hand.

Don't forget about Ag Day on Saturday from 10-3 on the grounds of the College of Agriculture on Route 896. As usual there will be plenty for the entire family to see and do. There will be the usual plant sale, hayrides, farm machinery and plenty of 4-H booths with lots of things for the kids to do. It's all free and open to the public, so stop on by.

Angelou to speak at UD Commencement

Dr. Maya Angelou, hailed as one of the great voices of contemporary literature and as a remarkable Renaissance woman, will deliver the University of Delaware Commencement address on May 25.

"We are very pleased that Dr. Maya Angelou has accepted our invitation to speak," said Robert R. Davis, director of the office of alumni and university relations, adding that Angelou was one of the most frequently named to be speaker by the graduating seniors.

A poet, educator, journalist, historian, author, actress, playwright, civil rights activist, producer and director, Angelou has written 10 bestsellers, including "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings," also presented as a two-hour television special.

Born in St. Louis, Angelou grew up in Arkansas and San Francisco. While touring with a company presenting "Porgy and Bess" Angelou met and married a South African freedom fighter and went to live in Cairo and then Ghana. In both countries, she worked as a journalist, becoming the first woman editor of the only English-language news weekly in the Middle East, and feature editor of The African Review (Accra) in Ghana. Angelou has served as the northern coordinator for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, a member of the Bicentennial Commission and a member of the National Commission on the Observance of International Women's Year.

In 1981, she was appointed to a lifetime position as the first Reynolds Professor of American Studies at Wake Forest University in North Carolina.

The free public commencement ceremony, held rain or shine, will begin at 9 a.m. in Delaware Stadium, located on South College Avenue in Newark.

the eyes of families to the things they could be doing together."

Sylvie Smith, a first grader at West Park, said, "I don't really like watching TV so much. It's not so fun to do." Sylvie prefers to "draw pictures and play with friends" in her free time.

Third grader Sam Henzy said he doesn't mind giving up TV for a week because he's only allowed to watch two days now. Asked if he would stop watching TV entirely, Henzy said, "I wouldn't mind if it was two weeks but not forever!"

Sam's mother, Jude Henzy, said "Henzy said Sam and his sister 5-year-old sister, Anna, are forced to negotiate for the little TV time now permitted, because the family only has one television set.

None of the children were sure what they would do instead of TV but possibilities abound. "I like activities that promote personal interaction between parents and children," said Sheila Smith. A variety of sponsors are providing incentives for alternative fun such as skating passes from Christiana Skating Rink and the University of Delaware Ice Rink, family passes to the Delaware Art Museum and free cheeseburgers from McDonalds.

The Henzy family used to watch a lot of TV. "We went through a weaning process after I noticed Sam used to pass up other things because it was just too easy to watch TV," Jude Henzy said. "We went cold turkey at first and it was just like withdrawal."

She concluded, "TV doesn't have the same kind of values I have. Most of it is really inappropriate for kids—or anyone."

C.A.T. holds fundraiser barbecue

On April 27, Newark Citizens Against Traffic will hold a barbecue to raise funds to find solutions to Newark's traffic congestion.

The barbecue will take place at 176 West Main Street, beginning at 11 a.m. where Boss Hog, Inc. will prepare North Carolina-style barbecue chicken and roast pig on location.

All dinners are prepared for carry-out and include baked beans, cole slaw and rolls. The price is $5 per dinner. For advance orders at $4 prior to the day of the barbecue call 731-5454.

Volunteers from the community and the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will provide "curb service" during the barbecue for added convenience.

Newark C.A.T. believes that increased traffic and interstate trucks pose a hazard to pedestrians, bicyclists, and drivers along Newark's streets.

For more information, contact: Nancy Turner 368-4225, Shirley Tarrant 731-4769, or Bob Smith 731-5454.

Car show benefits kids helping other kids

By MARY E. PETZAK
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

CHILDREN with hearing impairments will be getting a little help from their peers this week.

Job's Daughters, a Masonic organization for girls between the ages of 11 and 20, raises money each year for the H.I.K.E. (Hearing Impaired Kids Endowment) Fund.

Susan J. Warren, of the Grand Guides of Delaware, said an Antique, Classic and Custom Car Show on April 21, is the principal fundraiser for the girls this year.

"In the past the most we've ever raised was $2,000," said Warren. "We hope to raise over $5,000 with the car show."

The local chapter of Job's Daughters has 130 members who participate in civic, business, religious, fraternal and social activities while hopefully learning respect for elders and love of country, said Warren.

Children who qualify for hearing equipment can be any age and need not be members of the Masons. "The money is put into a national fund and shared with applicants until the funds are exhausted," explained Warren. "The amount can be $100 or $1,000—whatever the need is."

Since no one ever knows how much money will be raised or what the needs will be, applicants do not always come from the local area. "I am really excited about this last presentation," said Warren, "because it is someone my son knows from Shue school."

Kristine Stroik, 13, of Harmony Hills recently received money to purchase a hearing aid. Leukemia, now in remission, has left Stroik with a hearing problem.

Warren said two other recipients, one a 5-year-old, have been referred by doctors from Delaware in the ten years of the endowment fund. "It's really nice when we see someone from Delaware get a grant because the girls can see the fruits of their labor right here," Warren said.

The car show will be held Sunday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Nur Temple on DuPont Highway in New Castle. Older members of Job's Daughters will also provide fun activities and games for children.

Newark booters can't find net

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Too bad the outcome of soccer game is determined solely by the number of goals.

Newark's girls soccer team dropped a 1-0 decision to No. 1 Dickinson on a windy Wednesday that made the ball do more tricks than a big-league knuckleball.

Still, the 'Jackets dominated the defending state champions for virtually the entire second half. They nearly tied the game when a shot by Niccole Clair hit the upper post about three minutes into the second half.

One glance at the scorebook will confirm the majesty of the 'Jackets' second half:

■ The Rams finished the game with 12 shots, the same number Newark attempted in the second half.

■ Newark won the battle of the cornerkick 6-2.

But Newark's defense stumbled about midway into the first half, allowing the ball and the Rams' Kelly Walker to slip through. Walker's goal at the 25-minute mark from short range proved to be the difference in a game in which Newark did everything but put the ball in the net.

The goal also took away from an otherwise gritty performance by

Spartans have needed chemistry

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

St. Mark's baseball team may lack its customary bevy of big names, but the No. 1 Spartans have something just as important.

Coach Tom Lemon attributes his team's 5-1 start to "chemistry," meaning everything fits together. And it's a notion difficult to dispute.

Three of the Spartans' wins have come courtesy of the ultra-tough Catholic Conference of the No. 2 St. Elizabeth, defending state champion Salesianum and Archmere, which beat St. Mark's twice in '95.

The Spartans, who lost to Sallies in the state semifinals last season, graduated several All-State players, including first baseman Bob Fad, shortstop Tim Hamburger, catcher/third baseman Chris Hill and outfielders Will Vanjonack and Joe Saggione. Doug Fischer, the No. 2 pitcher, and second baseman Brian Keane also graduated.

But right-hander Dan Sullivan and All-State outfielders Kevin Mench and Andy Burt lead a group of upper classmen that Lemon said is determined to continue St. Mark's legacy.

Since Lemon, 41, became head coach in the early 1980s, the Spartans have won three state titles (1985, '88 and '94) and nine Catholic Conference crowns.

Yellowjackets improve despite tough losses

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Newark's girls lacrosse team took a step forward in its 9-6 loss to Archmere. The Yellowjackets want to carry the momentum into the rest of the season.

The 'Jackets finished strong after starting slowly against Archmere Monday. Down five goals early, Newark hung on to make a game out of what could have turned into a blow-out.

"We're slow starters," said center Lindsay Bellman, who led the 'Jackets with four goals. "We weren't really into the game [early], but everybody worked really hard. I think this game really got us psyched. "Archmere's a really good team...[and] this lets us know we can play with the big girls," Bellman said.

Defender Debbie Caron attributed the strong finish to the 'Jackets commitment to defense in the second half. "I think we got more aggressive," Caron said. "We started watching our girls more. [Also], we started playing closer to the goal."

Newark Coach Marcia Merena has tailored her expectations to the level of her players. The 27-year-old Hockessin native started the season with a team that lost six seniors.

The 'Jackets opened the season with losses to Glasgow and A.I. Du Pont, and Merena is resigned to spending her rookie year establishing what is only a third-year program. She wants to start a junior varsity team and possibly a freshman team if Newark's program continues to draw well.

Merena, a former assistant at Sanford and A.I. Du Pont, believes in building a team around a strong defensive foundation. "I haven't stressed offense because I feel as though defense wins games. I wanted to get them sound and ready on defense before I start designing plays," she said.

Secondly, she said the players still need to work on their stick skills, which takes priority in the girls' game where contact is limited by the often-strict officiating. The smaller pockets on girls sticks also make fundamentals such as cradling more difficult.

"We're an aggressive team," said Merena. "There's no doubt about that. They're very enthusiastic. We just need to tone up on our basics, and we'll be a good team. The girls have really stayed focused and kept their heads up."

"They're not allowing themselves to get frustrated. They're remaining very positive."

Merena played basketball and lacrosse at Sanford, and attended Division III Chowan College on a basketball scholarship. She split her eligibility between the tiny school near Greenville, N.C., and Newark lacrosse coach Marcia Merena rallies her troops turning a timeout.

'Jackets lax improve

► NHS LACROSSE, from 17

Wilmington College where she is finishing up her degree in early childhood education.

In addition to coaching, she serves as president of the Delaware Women's Lacrosse Association, which fields an amateur team. She plans to approach the balance of the season with patience.

"I'd love to win some games," Merena said, "...but I want to see them improve. When I see them do something in a game that we just went over in practice the day before, I get really excited."

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

CARAVEL'S Wayne Tyler had the kind of game he will remember for some time.

Tyler pitched the Bucs over St. Andrews 12-4 last Saturday. The 17-year-old junior threw five innings and gave up two unearned runs in earning his first decision.

At the plate, the right-hander pounded a two-run double to give himself an 8-2 lead. He also hit a home run later in the game.

Tyler sometimes finds himself torn between pursuing life as a pitcher and as an infielder. His fastball's been clocked in the low 80s, which puts him in some pretty respectable company.

The New Castle resident also has the versatility to play in the infield. He fills in for both short-stop Jon Markle and second baseman Jimmy Frazier when either take the mound.

"Anywhere they need me — anywhere and everywhere," he said. But Tyler prefers pitching. "I just like being in the center...controlling the game's tempo," he said. "Speeding it up, slowing it down, I like having that power." Tyler keeps hitters honest with his loopy curveball, which he sometimes uses as his out-pitch after he gets ahead in the count. "I used to be a strike-out pitcher," he said. "But ever since I came up to varsity, they're starting to hit the ball."

"It doesn't really matter to me as long as I throw strikes and get them [the hitters] out."

As a hitter, Tyler likes to tear into a fastball as if it were a big, juicy steak. "I love the fastball," he said. "Ninety-five percent of the time I'll pull the ball."

But he's not really a power hitter and has to control his tendency to take an upper-cut at his favorite pitch. At 5-foot-10, 145 pounds, he's just big enough to pound the ball over the fence consistently.

Likewise, he can be wild on the mound, which he attributes trying to be too precise. "I try too hard to hit spots," Tyler said. "When my control's down, I think I'm pretty much un-hittable."

DSB Kickers tie, lose

A brick wall of defense helped the '84 Kickers forge a tie with Concord, 0-0 in Nordel U-12 premier division play. The defense was anchored by Jeff Manget, Kyle Mullin, Nate Phillips, T.R. Herlihy and keeper Ryan Driscoll.

The Kickers lost the second game of their double-header to the always tough CAA Crunch by a score of 2-0. The Kickers' record is 1-1-1.

Hawks dominate

Alex Rawles and Ray Brown scored three goals each in leading the Delaware United FC Hawks over the Kirkwood Phoenix 10-0 in a U-11 soccer match at Kirkwood Soccer Complex. Blake Wiley added two goals and Zak Golladay and Ryan Robinson closed out the scoring with one goal a piece.

The Hawks defense held the Phoenix to only one shot on goal in helping goalie Kevin Walker post his first shutout of the season.

Swimmers qualify

Nine Western YMCA Wahoo swimmers have qualified to compete in the YMCA Short Course National Championships which began April 9 in Orlando, Fla. Among the local qualifiers are Brian McGillen from St. Mark's, Melissa Plummer from Kirk Middle School, Chris Shaer from Christiana High, Jill Turner from St. Mark's and Jodie Washington from St. Mark's.

Caravel's Jimmy Frazier watches the ball skip into centerfield as Smyrna's Brit McNatt steals second base in last week's action. The Buccaneers lost to Smyrna 4-0.

Bucs fight through injuries

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

HALFWAY INTO its season, Caravel's baseball team has won nearly as many games as it did during all of last season. And the Bucs have done it despite several injuries to players expected to anchor the middle of the order.

Caravel (7-2) won only eight games in '95 and missed the state tournament. But the Bucs have turned things around behind pitchers Greg Huff, Jon Markle and Wayne Tyler.

Aside from a 4-0 loss to Smyrna, the Bucs appear to have shifted into cruise control. They shut out Perryville (Md.) 13-0 Friday night behind Markle's 14 strikeouts and four hits and three RBIs. They bounced St. Andrews 12-4 a day later behind Tyler's pitching and three RBIs.

But Caravel Coach Paul Niggebrugge remains cautious.

"It's way too early," Niggebrugge said. "Because of the weather situation, teams have not established a routine yet. I think you're going to see some changes [in the Top 10]. I think it's pre-ture to say who the top teams are going to be at the end of the season. "There's lots of parity. I don't think there's any dominating teams this year."

But there is the mighty Catholic Conference, and teams such as “There's lots of parity. I don't think there's any dominating teams this year.”

PAUL NIGGEBRUGGE
CARAVEL ACADEMY BASEBALL COACH

Salesianum, St. Mark's and St. Elizabeth could figure prominently in the state tournament seedings.

"They set the tone," Niggebrugge said. "They're a great barometer. If you can play with a St. Mark's or a Sallies, that's an indication of where you might stand in the state."

Based on the coach's yardstick, the Bucs are doing as well as their record suggests. They have already beaten Sallies, who entered the season as defending state champions. Bad weather has sidelined the match-up with No. 1 St. Mark's.

Yet even with Caravel's impressive start, Niggebrugge believes his team can improve significantly before tournament time. Thus far, injuries have played a role in determining his lineup.

Shoulder woes have forced Niggebrugge to use catcher Matt Rice as his designated hitter. And leg problems have sidelined first baseman-pitcher Dan Foraker and outfielder Brian Gollicker.

But players like Dan MacElroy, Curtis Rock and Gary Ferrante have taken advantage of the opportunity to play.

"Right now, things are falling into place when someone gets injured," the coach said. "Everyone seems to have a role and has accepted it as such. And that's not always easy. Some people have really stepped up."

Caravel plays at Woodbridge Saturday and Wilmington Christian Tuesday at home.

Yellowjackets stymied by Wm. Penn, weather

By ERIC FINE
NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Forget winning. Newark's baseball team has had problems just getting out on the diamond. A month into the season, the Yellowjackets have played just four games.

After losing 6-2 to arch rival William Penn last Saturday, the 'Jackets (2-2) suffered yet another loss to Mother Nature. A soggy field pushed Tuesday's game against Concord back to Friday, forcing Newark to play three games in three days.

The string begins at Brandywine Thursday and ends with Sussex Central Saturday at Frawley Stadium. The weather will likely force the 'Jackets to play three games a week for the balance of the season and could expose a thin pitching staff.

"I think we've played one game a week for a month," said Newark Coach Curt Bedford, who officially replaced Harry Davies on April 9. "We haven't been able to get outside. But we've got a long ways to go."

The 'Jackets slumping bats generated a total of only three runs in losses to Mount Pleasant and William Penn. "The hits don't fall for us," Bedford said. "I thought Scott Hunt pitched great [against the Colonials]. But we can't support him with one run. It's not fair to him."

The Colonials struck first last Saturday, converting an infield single, a fielder's choice and a passed ball into two second-inning runs. Newark didn't get on the scoreboard until the fourth after getting runners thrown out at the plate in the first and third innings.

Hunt doubled in shortstop Sean McCullough to cut the lead to 2-1, but William Penn erupted for four runs in the sixth to put the game away. Jim Bob Harrison, the Colonials' ace, held Newark to only six hits.

"We're putting a lot of pressure on ourselves at the plate," Bedford said. "We have to try to relax and have fun. It's hard getting into a rhythm. It's just been so awkward, and we're kind of readjusting as a team. It's an uphill battle right now."

On the plus side, Bedford likes the chemistry he sees developing among the players, particularly against William Penn. "We didn't roll over and die, and we didn't fall apart. The chemistry is getting better. It brought us back to focusing on what we need to do as a team," he said.

And Newark is going to need everything it can get. The 'Jackets are defending Blue Hen Conference Flight A champions, and other teams know it.

"Everybody's going to be gunning for us," Bedford said. "They know the talent we have. They've been hearing the same names for three years. This is a respected program. It's been very successful. This team has earned a little of it [the recognition]. They have a chance to earn a lot more."

Streaking Christiana overcomes slow start

Christiana's baseball team has put together a nice winning streak after a tough opening-day loss.

Coming off a season in which the Vikings won only four games, they dropped an 11-10 heartbreaker to Middletown on a day that saw the pitching staff surrender nine walks, uncork four wild pitches and hit three batters.

But after dropping a 6-3 decision to Mount Pleasant, Christiana (3-2 overall, 3-1 in Flight A) defeated Concord, Delcastle and Brandywine. The Vikings had wanted to maintain the momentum against heavyweight William Penn, but a mushy field postponed Wednesday's scheduled bout.

"They were looking forward to today," Christiana Coach Scott Tuozzolo said. "We figured we were going to see [Colonials ace] Jim Bob Harrison. It would be a real good challenge."

"They know more or less that they made a statement after they beat Brandywine. But had we played today and won, people would have really taken notice. Had we won, we would have cracked the Top 10."

But Tuozzolo is more concerned with guiding this group of mostly underclassmen into the state tournament. And to do this, the Vikings will have to navigate a perilous journey that has them facing Newark next Tuesday followed by Mount Pleasant Thursday, William Penn on April 27 and Brandywine on April 30.

"The pitching's the key," he said. "We'll hit the ball."

Of late, Joe Rineer and Jordan Donovan appear to have settled down. Rineer threw a four-hitter in the Vikings' 3-2 win over Brandywine.

And Donovan relieved Jeff Fleming in their 20-8 win over Concord and hurled three solid innings after a shaky start. He also struck out nine to pick up a 6-2 win against Delcastle.

Spartans play with chemistry

► SPARTANS, from 17

"We may not quite have the quantity of marquee-name players," the coach said, "but I think as seniors they realize the great tradition of our program and that it's their turn to step up and assume the leadership."

"Going back to March, I just sensed they were on a mission. They want to be known as a good baseball team."

The Spartans sandwiched Friday's win against St. Elizabeth and Monday's against Archmere around this season's lone loss to Elkton. Sullivan (3-0) lived up to his status of staff ace with a solid 4-2 win against St. E.

"Anytime you win in the Catholic Conference, it's big," Sullivan, 18, who lives in Brookside, "St. Elizabeth, Sallies and Archmere are all equally big games for us."

He described his performance as typical of his approach.

"I felt comfortable, and our defense made the plays. I was keeping the ball down and throwing strikes. That's what I try to do," he said.

Sullivan, who finished 7-1 in

'95, relies on control more than velocity. He has a repertoire that includes fastball, curve and changeup. "I don't throw hard," he said. "I try to mix it up."

Mench, the lone starter from the '94 team, hit one of two fifth-inning triples in the 5-4 win against Archmere and scored the Spartans' fourth run on a ground ball.

"We don't have the big names like we did a couple years ago," said Mench, who hit .455 with four home runs and 20 RBIs in '95. "We just have guys who get the job done."

Besides winning the state title, the '94 team Mench played on had three guys who were picked by big-league teams during the annual amateur draft: pitchers Jamie Nichols (White Sox) and Rob Borkowski (Mets) and shortstop Brian August (Orioles), who starts for the University of Delaware.

Mench said the '96 team has answered the challenge by stressing fundamentals: running the bases, laying down bunts and getting the big hits.

Coach Lemon said the team is striving to play its best ball at stretch time. "We don't really talk about winning," he said. "Our philosophy is 'Let's have a good effort' — whether it's a practice, a scrimmage, a regular-season game or a tournament game.

"I think you have to have the same approach."

rookie goalkeeper Erin Calvert, who deflected another of Walker's shots from point-blank range.

"Trust me ladies," Newark Coach Mike Clair said to the team after the final horn sounded. "You lost the game on paper but technically you won the game."

And the players seemed to believe their coach, leaving Dickinson's field talking about a rematch in the state tournament. And this time the 'Jackets intend to begin the game without butterflies.

"I think we started off real nervous," said Amy Hunt, Newark's lone freshman starter. "But I think we played really well, and our team really stepped it up. We stayed with them which is really awesome."

Emily Marx also said the 'Jackets hurt themselves early in the game, but downplayed the severity of the loss.

"We came out flat-footed and nervous," said Marx, one half of the "Marx Sisters" who lead the team on and off the field. "[I'm] disappointed but we still have the state tournament. This is a just a stepping stone. But this is definitely a big achievement."

"I'm really happy with the play of the team."

Both Emily and Julie Marx agreed the Rams' strategy of "packing in the box" was a major factor in shutting down Newark's offense. "If you noticed, we would shoot it, and it'd always deflect off something," Emily said.

But Julie said the loss will keep the team from getting cocky around tournament time. "We won't be back on our heels," she said. "We'll score first. Now we know what to be ready for."

Clair was already looking ahead to Monday's face-off with Ursuline, who threw a 5-0 shutout at the 'Jackets in the first round of last year's state tournament.

"They're going to have to come out like they were shot out of a cannon," he said.

David R. Leonzio, 11, victim of house fire

David Ronald Leonzio, 11, of Chesapeake City, Md., died March 12, 1996, at Union Hospital in Elkton, Md., after a fire in his home.

David was born in Wilmington on May 24, 1984. He was a sixth-grader at Chesapeake City Elementary School, where he was an honor roll student.

He was a member of the Friday night archery league at Shane's Archery in Smyrna. He participated in tournaments in Delaware and New Jersey and was awarded several trophies.

David was interested in and knowledgeable about World War II fighter and bomber airplanes. He hoped to be a jet pilot in the U.S. Air Force and attended many air shows.

He traveled to Europe where he retraced the final mission of his grandfather, who was a World War II pilot, shot down in Holland, while flying the F.A.F. Lancaster. He also loved bulldogs, which his mother showed.

He is survived by his father, Lawrence M. Leonzio of Chesapeake City; his mother, Eileen M. Leonzio of Chesapeake City; a brother, Bernie Alimenti of Newark; three sisters, Kathy Alimenti of Chesapeake City, Lisa Leonzio of Fair Hill and Linda Harkness of Bear; and paternal grandparents, Pompilio and Alice Leonzio of Newark. A service was held March 19 at Red Lion United Methodist Church.

Burial was in Bethel Cemetery, Chesapeake City. The family suggests contributions to the Chesapeake City Elementary School for the David Leonzio Memorial Library Collection.

Carl W. Mortenson, 81, Gore corporate counsel

NEWARK-AREA resident, Carl Walter Mortenson, died March 13, 1996, of congestive heart failure at his home.

Mr. Mortenson, 81, was the first corporate counsel of the Newark-based manufacturing company, W.L. Gore & Associates, Inc.

In addition to serving as, Inc. Mr. Mortenson was elected to the Board of Directors upon incorporation of the Company in 1959 and served as a director until 1979.

Mr. Mortenson earned an undergraduate degree at the University of Illinois, where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary society.

He later received a Ph.D. in organic chemistry from the University of Wisconsin, and a law degree from Temple University. He was a scientist, attorney, and life-long lover of books.

Mr. Mortenson spent his early career at E.I. DuPont Nemours, where he worked in chemical research and, later, the company's legal department. A fifty-year member of the Delaware Bar Association, he founded a private practice in Wilmington in 1955, and specialized in patent law until his retirement in 1986.

He also taught and lectured on intellectual property at the University of Delaware at various periods from 1951 to 1981. In 1988, Mr. Mortenson's substantial gift to the University of Illinois established the C. Walter Mortenson and Gerda B. Mortenson Center of International Library Programs at the University.

Opened in 1990 at a ceremony in which Librarian of Congress, James H. Billington, spoke, the Center is active worldwide. Its mission is to promote the exchange of information by strengthening international ties among libraries and librarians. A life-long bibliophile, Mr. Mortenson was an avid book collector and dealer, operating a business, "Attic Books" from his home.

Mr. Mortenson is survived by his wife, Gerda B. Mortenson of Newark; a sister, Ruth M. Sowash of Bethesda, Md.; his sons, Ray S. of New York City, and Carl W. of Moyers, W.Va.; and his granddaughter, Kira S. Mortenson of Moyers, W.Va.

A memorial service was held March 23 at the Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship of Newark.

The family suggests contributions to the Mortenson Center.

home, apparently of sudden infant death syndrome.

He is survived by his parents; sister, Brooke L., at home; paternal grandparents, June Leibenguth of Glasgow, and Robert A. Carter Jr. of Virginia; maternal grandparents, Jean D'Amato of Newark, and E. Frank D'Amato of Camden; paternal great-grandmothers, Bertha Martin of Glasgow, and Joan Martin of Newark; maternal great-grandparents, Mildred Leitch of New Castle, and Regina and E.F. D'Amato Sr. of Boothwyn, Pa.

A divine liturgy was conducted March 22 at St. Nicholas Ukrainian Catholic Church with burial in All Saints Cemetery.

The family suggests contributions to Catholic Charities.

Newark and Lewes resident, Joseph P. McCormick Jr., died March 18, 1996, of complications from leukemia in Christiana Hospital.

Mr. McCormick, 59, was an insurance broker for 34 years with the Lyons Insurance Agency.

He was a member and past president of the Defiance Athletic Association and the Cavalier Country Club. He was a 1954 graduate of Salesianum School.

He is survived by his wife of 35 years, Barbara Roslan McCormick; sons, Joseph P. III of Hockessin, and Sean P. of Pike Creek; brothers, Eugene E. of Newark, and Terrance Michael of Wilmington; sisters, Elizabeth Ann Dobek of Yorklyn, and Maureen Boot Sinton of Newport, Pa.; and three granddaughters.

A Mass of Christian Burial was said March 22 at St. John the Beloved Catholic Church with burial in All Saints Cemetery.

The family suggests contributions to the Salesianum General Scholarship Fund.

Patricia Tankersley, 75, avid swimmer

Newark-area resident, Patricia M. Tankersley, died March 17, 1996, of emphysema in Christiana Hospital.

Mrs. Tankersley, 75, was a native of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., moving to Delaware in 1963. She was a homemaker, avid swimmer, loved flower gardening and for many years bowled on several leagues in the area.

She is survived by her husband,

Marvin O.; daughters, Sheila C. Burg of Newark and Patricia S. Tankersley of Bear; five grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Services were held March 22 at Beeson Memorial Services of Christiana-Elkton. Burial was private.

The family suggests contributions to the American Lung Association.

Stella Shiffer, Braunstein's clerk

New Castle resident, Stella Shiffer, died March 20, 1996, in Christiana Hospital.

Mrs. Shiffer, 89, was born in Denton, Md., and has lived in Delaware for the past 48 years. She was a sales clerk for Braunstein's for many years.

She was a member of Holy Spirit Church in New Castle and the Howard Senior Center in New Castle.

She enjoyed ceramics and watching golf on television.

Her husband of 20 years, John R. Shiffer, died in 1974.

She is survived by one brother, Robert L. Needles of Leesburg, Fla.; one sister, Blanche of Denton, Md.; one grandson, and one great-granddaughter.

Services and burial were private.

Carolyn E. Hibbard, 52, homemaker

Newark resident, Carolyn E. Hibbard, died March 21, 1996, of ovarian cancer at home.

The Apostles of the Historic Christian Church taught the truth about God the Son, Jesus Christ, and they taught the truth about salvation through faith, not by works. In these end times compromise of the truth or apostasy as God calls it has entered into the doctrines taught by many "Christian Churches" of the 20th century. In all of the 2,000 Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod Churches throughout the world, the historic truth about God is still proclaimed and taught. The same historical truth of Jesus Christ is the underlying assumption of the academics taught at all of our schools and colleges.

NEWARK POST ❖ OBITUARIES

children; and a companion, Dorothy Richey of Bear.

A memorial service was held March 26 at the Doherty Funeral Home. Burial was in St. Georges Cemetery.

Peter S. DeStafney, 95, operated farm

Newark resident, formerly of Yorklyn, Peter S. DeStafney died March 22, 1996, in Newark Manor Nursing Home.

Mr. DeStafney, 95, and his three brothers operated a farm in Yorklyn until they sold it in the 1970s.

He was a former member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Ashland, and St. John's Catholic Church, Hockessin. His wife of 47 years, Della B., died in 1983.

He is survived by daughters, Irene Wendelgest of Richmond, Va., and Joyce Backman of Hockessin; sons, Edward A. of Kemblesville, Pa., and Wallace of Wilmington; and six grandchildren.

Services were held March 26 at Chandler Funeral Home with burial in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

Mark Louis Capano, 31, youth coach

A service for Mark Louis Capano, 31, of Newark, was held March 27 in Crouch Funeral Home, North East, Md.

Mr. Capano was killed early Saturday morning, March 23, 1996, after his car hit a telephone pole at Hopewell and Post Roads, near Rising Sun, Md.

He was a concrete finisher for Ledgemont Construction, Newark. For the past four years, he coached North East Youth Football.

He is survived by his wife, Betty J.; son, Mark Jr., and daughter, Ashley A., both at home; father and stepmother, Louis and Joan Capano of Milton; mother and stepfather, Nola and James Bradley of Sarasota, Fla.; brothers, Michael L. of Pompano Beach, Fla., Christopher L. of Charlestown, Md., and Daniel L. of Elkton, Md.; and grandmothers, Mildred Hartman of Port Penn and Messina DiPatre of Wilmington.

Burial was in North East Methodist Cemetery.

Mary Ceolia Fink, 77, homemaker

Ogletown resident, Mary Ceolia Fink, died March 22, 1996, of heart failure at Christiana Hospital.

Mrs. Fink, 77, a homemaker, was a member of the women's auxiliary of the Port Deposit Veterans of Foreign Wars Post.

She is survived by her husband of 32 years, David H.; sons, Ralph Carr Jr. of Conowingo, Md., Clyde Carr of Newark and Franklin Fink of Wilmington; sister, Pearl Smyth of Havre de Grace, Md.; 11 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Services were held March 27 at Beeson Memorial Services. Burial was in Delaware Veterans Memorial Cemetery.

Helen E. Jackson, sang with Street's Gospel Singers

Christiana resident, Helen E. Jackson, died March 23, 1996, of cancer at home.

Mrs. Jackson, 69, worked at J.B. Swayne Mushroom Co., Kennett Square, Pa., for 20 years, retiring in 1977.

She sang in the choir at Star of Bethlehem UAME Church, West Grove, Pa., and with its Street's Gospel Singers.

She is survived by her husband, Edward C.; brothers, Raymond P. Lewis and William G. Lewis, both of Lancaster, Pa.

Services were held March 27 at the Edward L. Collins Funeral Home, Oxford, Pa. Burial was in New London Presbyterian Cemetery, Pa.

Edna M. Snyder, retired saleswoman

Former North Wilmington resident, Edna M. Snyder, died March 24, 1996, in Millcroft Nursing Home, her residence for four years.

Mrs. Snyder, 78, a homemaker, was a saleswoman at the former Sears store at 30th and Market streets in Wilmington for 20 years until retiring in 1970.

She is survived by her husband of 57 years, Walter A. of Wilmington; son, William of Newark; daughter, Barbara Rew of Newport; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Services were held March 27 at Nichols-Gilmore Funeral Home, Newport. Burial was in Gracelawn Memorial Park.

“ They treated me like I was buying a Maserati or something. ”

Mark Neal,
Finance Director, Saturn Owner.

Just because you're looking to buy a used car doesn't mean you should get short-changed on courtesy. And if you stop by a Saturn showroom, you won't. Whether you're in the market for a used Saturn or another used make, you'll get the same respectful and honest treatment that all of our new car customers receive. And that includes your inalienable right to browse. Hope to see you soon.

Here's a first. Pressure from a Saturn retailer.

As a proud sponsor of the Tour DuPont, we're naming Saturday, April 20th "Saturn Bicycle Safety Check" Day.

To celebrate, we'll be giving away nifty stuff like Saturn Cycling Team calendars, posters, fanny packs and other give-aways. We'll even have a local bike shop rep on hand to give you a free bike safety inspection, and to pass along some valuable road tips. So swing by April 20th. We promise, the only pressure you'll receive from us is if your tires need it.
