FIRST WINTER SCHOOL PROVES HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

MORE THAN EIGHTY IN REGULAR ATTENDANCE

BOYS AND GIRLS WELL CHAPERONED ARE HAVING A DELIGHTFUL AND HELPFUL EXPERIENCE AT THE COLLEGE

With the same dauntless spirit that made them champions, the boys and girls who won scholarships at Delaware College for Club Week, braved the worst brands of weather that the weather man had in his kit, arrived in a driving snow storm, trudged through slush, battled with wind and to all appearances are having a splendid time.

Monday morning they arrived, more than fifty strong and took up residence in the students' quarters at Harter Hall. The girls, chaperoned by Miss Dorothy Emerson, were assigned to the south wing and the boys to the north wing in charge of W. F. Lilly. Soon after their arrival they registered at Wolf Hall and were given blue and gold identification badges on which was placed the names and addresses of the wearers, so that all might easily become acquainted. After dinner served by the Commons, the regular program of work was begun. The girls were shown how to keep a room with Miss Dorothy Emerson, club leader for Sussex County, as demonstrator, and were given an hour or so of fun under Miss Emerson's direction in the gymnasium.

Professors Grantham and Friant led the boys about corn culture and conducted laboratory experiments for their instruction. The afternoon was spent in the gymnasium with Professor J. M. LeCato in charge. Monday evening they assembled

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HAS UN- IQUE ENTERTAINMENT

Class of Young Ladies Sends Gift to Western Sunday School

The children of the Presbyterian Sunday School, and the children of larger growth who were present in large numbers on Monday evening were entertained by Rev. Charles Woolson, who has been pastor of a Baptist church in Philadelphia for 33 years. Mr. Woolson told with effective illustrations, the ever-popular stories of "Jack-the-Giant-Killer," and "The House that Jack Built." Some of the boys and girls were called to the platform to assist the entertainer and all were rewarded—the girls with fans and the boys with books. With the assistance of these little helpers, laughable slight of hand tricks were performed.

Santa Claus made his annual visit entering with much merry chatter. He brought a graphophone with which he entertained the congregation for a little while. Afterward he distributed gifts from his pack and from the huge Christmas tree which is always a part of the decorations at this church.

The congregation presented to the pastor and his family a sixteen pound turkey and all of the usual trimmings essential to a good old fashioned Christmas dinner. Mrs. J. Edwin Steele's class of young ladies presented $25 to the Board of Publications and Sabbath School work to help organize a Sabbath school in the West. The class has pledged itself to contribute the same sum yearly to the support of the school.

Next Sunday evening Dr. Rowan will preach the second of the series of sermons on the book of Zephaniah.

duPont Co. Again Offers Scholarships In Chemistry

The duPont Co. has offered for the third time, two scholarships in chemistry valued at $325 each, to students at Delaware College for the scholastic year 1920-21.

Eugene Kennedy of Newark and Ralph Kennedy of Marshallton are holding the scholarships this year. Jay Robinson and Irvine McElwee who were the beneficiaries the previous year are now holding excellent positions in the chemical field.

Bible Class From Wilming- ton Surprises Newark Folk

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. McCully of Newark, formerly of Wilmington, on Saturday afternoon and evening were given a surprise party by the Day Star Bible Class of Wesley M. E. Church, Wilmington. The reception took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCully, on East Main street, Newark. The guests made the trip in automobiles. The afternoon was passed in music and games and at 7 o'clock dinner was served. A fine silk quilt was presented to Mr. and Mrs. McCully.

Postoffice Force Does Good Work

Postmaster Levi K. Bowen and his able corps of assistants are to be congratulated upon the splendid work done during the holidays in distributing and handling so expeditiously the unusually heavy Christmas mail. The additional burden of sorting out, retying, addressing and sending to its original destination, the mass of Christmas mail scattered as a result of Tuesday's accident was borne cheerfully by the Postoffice force.

FINE CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT AT HEAD OF CHRISTIANA

Pastor and Wife Are Presented With Handsome Gifts

The Christmas entertainment at Head of Christiana Presbyterian church held on Monday evening was unusually well presented and drew a large attendance from the surrounding country. During the course of the exercises, the members of the congregation presented a purse to the pastor, Rev. Walter R. Clyde, and Mrs. Clyde's Sunday School class presented her with a gold lavalier.

Santa Claus was there with gifts for all of the children.

The program was as follows: Recitation, Harry Miles Selection by the choir, "The Message the Starlight Told" Recitations, Robert Brown, Gerald Clyde and Vera Heath Singing, Primary School Recitations, Calvin Miles and Hil-da Heath Selection by the choir, "Wonderful Tidings."

Burglars Visit Depot Road Homes

Early Sunday morning sneak thieves entered the homes of George Wood, Lester Gallagher, Charles P. Wollaston and Mrs. Ernest Armstrong. They entered the Wood home by prying off the latch on a kitchen window and ransacked the entire lower floor. A gun and case valued at $65, an overcoat, and about 80 cents in money were secured. Three banks belonging to the children were also taken but contained very little money since the contents had been taken to the bank the previous day. A coat belonging to Mrs. Wood was dropped in the kitchen when the burglars made their get-a-way.

The home of Lester Gallagher was entered through a shed window which gave easy access to the kitchen and lower floor. Mr. Gallagher's railroad pass, a pair of new shoes and a lodge pin constituted the booty secured here.

A small sum of money was taken from the Wollaston home but nothing from the home of Mrs. Armstrong.

The burglaries were committed evidently between the hours of 12 and 4 a. m. Mr. Gallagher heard noises shortly after 12 o'clock but supposing them to be caused by neighbors had no thought of marauders.

Mrs. Armstrong was not at home but found upon her return that the lower floor had been ransacked. In no case did the thieves ascend to the second floor and their over-looking silver and other valuables seemed to indicate that they were after money.

The music committee will furnish vocal and instrumental selections for both meetings.

MURDERER ES- CAPES IN MYSTERI- OUS MANNER

Slayer of Policeman Zebley Is Still At Large

Several mysterious features characterize the escape from the work house of Lemuel Price who was under sentence to be hanged January 8.

The murderer, supposed to be locked securely in one of a series of cells opened only by levers worked from an outside corridor, in the most mysterious manner passed through supposedly barred doors, through several public corridors, past open doorways to rooms in which prison attaches were seated, and was permitted to pass to freedom by chief clerk R. W. Suddard, who supposed him to be a "trusty." Although a reward of $1000 has been offered by Governor Townsend on behalf of the State and $500 by the Workhouse Trustees, and although every effort is being made to capture the fugitive, he has not yet been apprehended.

Governor John G. Townsend and Secretary of State Johnson who were in Wilmington when news of the escape reached there, went at once to the work-house and heard from Chief Warden Cross and others the curious combination of circumstances which permitted the murderer to leave the work-house. In the late afternoon the prisoner was permitted to take exercise in an area way used exclusively by dangerous criminals and barred off from the other enclosures. At supper time the guard glanced into the area-way saw that Price was not there, but supposing him to be in his cell, threw the lever which locked the cell door. The other prisoners and the guards went to their respective dining rooms and in this interval, Price made his way past open doorways to the store room where he secured a sack of flour which he placed on his shoulder and with his identity partially concealed, succeeded in deceiving the chief clerk who believing him to be a "trusty" obligingly opened the barred door and allowed him to escape. He was traced as far as Faulkland when the trail was lost.

Rumors of his escape to Baltimore via a B. & O. train on which he threatened to kill the conductor who demanded fare; and of his being seen near the Pennsylvania Station here about midnight seem to be groundless.

The Trustees are holding an investigation today.

Census Takers Begin Work Next Friday

Expect to Have Records Complete in Two Weeks

Miss Martha Wilson is Enu- merator for Town of Newark

Although tomorrow is officially known as "Census Day," the actual enumeration will not begin until Friday morning. The census takers for this district are ready to begin work and hope with the assistance of all residents to complete the enumeration within a few weeks.

Miss Martha Wilson will secure the required information from the residents of the town; Vernon Lynnam from those of rural White Clay Creek hundred and Ray Lomax from residents of Pencader hundred. The Federal government has for several months been conducting an educational campaign through the press and through persistent personal correspondence in an effort to secure cooperation in this gigantic task, and to dispel erroneous impressions to the effect that the information thus obtained would be used as a basis for taxation, for military service, jury duty, or other purpose.

Elsewhere in this paper is a list of questions to be asked by enumerators and assurance that they are not for the purpose of satisfying the curiosity of the census taker but because the information sought is very necessary to the government. Your aid is solicited in facilitating the work of the enumerators in this vicinity.

Mechanics To Attend Service

The Junior Order American Mechanics will attend service at the Presbyterian church in the morning of the second Sunday in January when a special sermon will be preached by Rev. W. J. Rowan. A full attendance of members is expected.

On Thursday morning from 8:30 to 10, O. H. Benson of Washington, D. C. who is here in connection with the work of the Boy's and Girls' Club week will hold a conference with all persons interested in education and all extension workers, at Wolf Hall.

ENUMERATORS HAVE IDENTIFICATION CARDS

Census enumerators will carry identification cards as well as written commissions. These will be shown promptly upon request of any person. In all cases where persons are suspicious of impostors these cards should be demanded. It is a violation of the Federal law to impersonate a census official, and impostors should be reported to the authorities.

CENSUS QUESTIONS MUST BE ANSWERED

The same Act of Congress that provides for the census makes it the duty of all persons to furnish the information asked for and to fill out the census schedules. No person should hesitate, neglect or refuse to answer fully and accurately all of the enumerator's questions. He asks only those necessary to fill the schedules required by Act of Congress.

Fashion Notes

The choice of the separate blouse is as momentous as that of a suit or a coat.

As with all other clothes, simplicity and color are the main reason for smartness, and the skirt one wears, the hat and the accessories, all go to make or mar the success of the blouse. Really nothing looks well without other things in keeping, but with a blouse this is particularly true. It is not the fault of the blouse that the wearer insists on an unsuitable skirt to wear with it.

Both figured and plain blouses are shown separately, but the skirt should be chosen at the same time, remembering always when in doubt plain materials are smarter and far more certain.

The cleverest of blouses in plain colors owes much of its smartness to the material of which it is made. There is a rough soft silk like etamine. The colors are clear and soft, pale yellow, coral, deep purple and black are a few of the choices offered one.

Other blouses are strictly Oriental in effect. The silks with human figures and animals also contribute to the startling but very attractive air of these blouses. delightful little Nippon figures tripping down the garden steps against a background of rose and blue is the color scheme of one blouse.

Matching the exquisite blue in the material of the blouse is the inch wide ribbon which is used as a finish about the neck and the sleeves and also as a girdle. There is no attempt to modify the lines of this blouse as copied. The ribbon is laid as flatly as possible about the round neck and the typical slash down one side of the front is finished with ribbon, loops and buttons. The one departure from Chinese lines is in the short sleeves, which are ribbon edged and slashed and buttoned in a manner corresponding to the front of the blouse.

For sports skirts the Shantung, the linens, flannels and rough weave silks are all good. The flannels are, if anything, a bit the smarter, although the other materials have their uses. The rough weave silks in white, either plain or in plaids or stripes of satin, make blouses, a little too sheer for colored or figured material.

In colors these skirts are worn with white silk blouses and typical sports coats. Duvetyne is the correct material for the latter, although the black velvet coat is still worn.

A lettuce green duvetyne coat is worn with a crepe weave silk skirt of the same shade, showing a tone of blue underneath, and striped in plain green satin. The only trimming of either the coat or the skirt is the pockets. In the skirt these are unobtrusive slits finished with narrow flat bands, and those in the coat are large patch pockets, held with buttons. If it is not a bit too much of the green, a hat may be found in the same shop of the plain rough silk in the green and blue tone.

With the rough silks a striking combination is found in contrasting it with white Angora or colors with white silk. A lavender silk in a shimmering crepe weave is thus contrasted with the white Angora. Cuffs, scarf collar and belt are of the Angora, as well as the patch pockets on the skirt.

Literary Critic Praises Women As Executives

George Bernard Shaw, the brilliant and erratic critic who never says or does or thinks what one expects him to do, has scored again. And this time his subject is woman in politics. Of Lady Astor, who recently took her seat in the House of Commons, Mr. Shaw said, "I'm glad she won. It will improve the house of commons. All governmental bodies, all boards and commissions, should include women. I have never known an executive body—and I have sat on innumerable ones—that wouldn't have been better for having women on it. The mere presence of a woman improves matters. Besides, women understand so many things better than men do! Motherhood, for instance, or the spending of half a crown!"

"I didn't care whether women got the vote or not. I'd rather they didn't get it because I'd rather nobody had it, but, no matter how badly women vote, there ought to be women on every administrative body on earth. Go out and collect them at random, as you sometimes do coroners' juries—I am particular they shall be all sorts of women—and mix them with men on committees, boards, juries and tribunals. Then we shall have something practical. Men can think up things, but they shouldn't be allowed to try to do them. They aren't practical. Women are. Since the beginning of time, women have done the practical things and most of the despised and unpleasant work. They often do it badly—like keeping house—but they do get it done."

"Women may know nothing whatever of politics, but they will make excellent politicians. A woman is close to immediate reality. She sees the chore that must be done, and she does it."

Housemaids Get More Pay Than Teachers

According to Mrs. Josephine Corliss Preston, vice-chairman of the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, and president of the National Education Association, housemaids of ordinary ability receive more than twice as much as the average salary of teachers throughout the country. Comparing the salaries paid to teachers with that of laborers and other workers, Mrs. Preston says: "It is worth, per year, $394 more to carry bricks than to train children, $563 more to mould dough than to make boys and girls into citizens, $800 more to hammer hot iron than to hammer ideals, and $1,084 more to build frameworks for buildings than frameworks for character."

Mrs. Preston's figure were quoted from a study of teachers' salaries and salary schedules in the United States for 1918 and 1919, prepared by Dr. E. S. Evenden of Teachers' College, Columbia University, for the National Education Association of which Mrs. Preston is President.

Pig's Head Cheese

Cut the head into four pieces. Remove the brain, ears, skin, snout and eyes. Use the fattest parts for lard. Put the lean and bony parts to soak over night in cold water to extract the blood and dirt. After cleaning the head put it on to boil, using plenty of water to cover the meat. Boil until the meat separates readily from the bone. Remove from the stove and pick out all bones. Draw off the liquid and save for future use. Chop the meat fine. Return the meat to the kettle, and add enough of the liquid to cover the meat. Boil gently for nearly half an hour. Season to taste with pepper and salt (some add a little mace or nutmeg) just before removing from fire. Turn into a shallow dish or pan, cover with cheese-cloth, and then put on a board with a weight to make it solid. When cold slice thin and serve without extra cooking.

INAUGURATES STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN FOR DEVELOPMENT

Equitable Trust Co. Creates Departments of Publicity and New Business

The Equitable Trust Company of Wilmington has just celebrated the close of a most successful year by inaugurating a comprehensive campaign for the development of new business on a State-wide basis.

At a banquet tendered to the officers and employees of the Company in the Directors' room of the Bank on the twenty-second instant, in recognition of the faithfulness and loyalty which made such an excellent showing possible, an announcement was made by the President Otho Nowland of the creation of the new Departments of Publicity and New Business, in charge of E. D. Prince recently elected Assistant Secretary.

In order to assume charge of this campaign, Mr. Prince resigned as Trust Officer of The Milford Trust Company where he has successfully established Trust and Real Estate Departments during the past year.

Mr. Prince is well known throughout lower Delaware, having been connected with The Diamond State Telephone Company for eighteen years and in the capacity of Manager in charge of the development of the business of the Company in the State outside of the Wilmington District since 1911.

It is the purpose of the Equitable Trust Company to develop intensively general banking and fiduciary business by a campaign of education devoted to the explanation of the various services performed by the Company in the matter of acting as Executor; Trustee of Estates; Guardian; Trustee both Living and those created under Wills and the general advantage of banking connections.

That there is a wide field for work of this character is beyond dispute and in line with its established progressive policy the Equitable Trust Company believes it to be the duty of the Company to spread information of this character by every proper means.

The Equitable is one of the oldest banking institutions in the State and has enjoyed a wonderful growth during the past thirty years of its existence, due entirely to the spirit of willingness to serve, which has been the keynote of its policy from the day of organization and which is evidenced by the attitude of every person connected with the institution.

The banquet was also the occasion for the formation of The Equitable Trust Society of Wilmington, which is composed of the employees and officers of the Company. The objects of this Society are to weld closely all the people of the institution into a co-operative force that will endeavor to serve the public more faithfully if possible in the future and to bring the service of the Company to the highest possible point of efficiency.

College Annual Issued

The Blue Hen, the annual publication of the Junior Class at Delaware College was issued last week. It was printed by the Star Publishing Company and reflects credit upon the publishers.

The book, bound in blue DuPont fabrikoid covers, is dedicated by the Class of 1920 to those Delaware College men who gave their lives in defense of their country in the late world war. The names of the Delaware heroes thus honored are:

Dr. John Lee Fisher, Lieut. U. S. N., 1911.
Rupert Mandell Burstan, Major, 1914.

Alfred Rickert Hamel, Captain, 1914.

James Allison O'Daniel, 1st Lieut., 1918.

Lawrence Raymond Witsell, Corporal, 1918.

Mark Donald Dare, 2nd Lieut., 1920.

Samuel Taylor Lambert, Gunner, 1920.

Portraits of Pierre S. duPont and H. Rodney Sharp, loyal friends and supporters of the College appear in the first pages of the book. A great many most excellent portraits of the faculty, students, societies, clubs and organizations of all kinds connected with the college activities add to the extreme attractiveness of the publication, and many scenes familiar to lovers of the college are excellently set forth. Even "Hazo," the picturesque janitor of the college for many years is not forgotten in the picture gallery.

Prof. E. N. Vallandigham, 1873, presents an intimate history of the college. The outstanding feature of the book is, however, the wonderful art work of Alexander Blair, the Art Editor. Original paintings by Mr. Blair were used and these have been reproduced in four colors by The Star Publishing Company. F. Bayard Carter, the Editor-in-Chief, with Mr. Blair, is responsible for the great amount of work and labor bestowed on the preparation of the volume.

As a Matter of Cheap Health Insurance Be Vaccinated

Commenting upon the necessity for vaccination in view of the prevalence of small-pox in the southern part of the State, the Delaware Health News says:

"No amount of argument can change the fact proven by years of practical experience with millions of persons that vaccination is safe and almost infallible preventive of smallpox. It is always the unvaccinated and not the recently vaccinated who contract the disease whenever it appears in a community. According to a recent announcement by the United States Public Health Service there have been over 3,000,000 persons vaccinated in this country during the past two years without a single death, whereas there have been many, many deaths from smallpox (preventable deaths) during the same period. Vaccination does not protect all persons indefinitely against smallpox but when the protection has decreased to such an extent that a person contracts the disease the attack is much more mild than in an unvaccinated person. After two successful vaccinations the protection usually lasts a lifetime, although persons who have been directly exposed to smallpox should be revaccinated as a precautionary measure if it is more than five years since their last vaccination.

As cheap health insurance and as a financial proposition get vaccinated! Back up compulsory vaccination and keep your tax rate from being needlessly raised to pay for the care of smallpox patients!"

New Thrift Stamps To Go On Sale January 2

Postmaster Levi K. Bowen announces that Thrift Stamps for the year 1920 will be placed on sale January 2. Purchasers are urged to fill up their 1919 cards if possible in the five purchasing days that remain, since next year's stamps may not be stuck on this year's cards.

Of course, any number of War Savings stamps or Thrift Stamps are perfectly good for their proper value, but the issues of this year and next year must be kept separate.

The next stamps will resemble those of 1919 in general shape but will be carmine in color so as to be distinguished easily from those of the year just closing.

Arrangements for the big thrift week campaign, to commence January 17, are being completed rapidly. Miss Hughes attended a conference in Philadelphia recently in which details of the undertaking were discussed. It is proposed to carry out in the State a campaign in which the subject of thrift in various forms such as banking, thrift stamps, life insurance, building loans and the like will be talked of by speakers from different organizations.

School children of the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and High School grades have handed in over 1,000 essays on the subject of "thrift" and these have all been forwarded to Delaware College authorities for examination. Each essay is known to the examiners only by number. The essays all have been examined by the teachers of the school from which they were sent to decide whether they are worthy of consideration. Those sent in will again be examined by the general committee at Delaware College and the most commendable ones sent to a sub-committee for further examination. Who the examiners are only the college authorities know.

From the booth prepared as part of the Armistice Day parade the children of the grammar school have sold a creditable number of stamps.

Boy Scout Burial

Boy Scout Joseph J. Hornich, a member of Troop No. 178 of the Bronx, New York City, died after a brief illness, and was given a scout funeral.

Scouts acted as pallbearers, and the full troop accompanied the casket, upon which were laid the dead scout's hat and bugle.

At the grave the long-drawn-out notes of "taps" were sounded by a bugler, with the scoutmaster repeating the familiar words that go with the call.

This note has come to the troop from the parents: "We want to thank you with all our hearts for the beautiful and impressive ceremonies in which you took part at the funeral of your comrade, our dear son Joseph. We owe you a debt we cannot repay, and your kindness has increased our respect and fondness for your wonderful organization. It has helped to lift the burden of our grief and will always remain with us as a gracious and sacred memory."

Has No Fear American Legion Will Go Too Far

They faced the armed enemies of their country—and won victory. To them America means everything that the human heart holds dear. For America they fought and bled and all too many died. Small wonder, therefore, that the American Legion has "caught up the torch" here at home against the red, the radical, the secessionist, the class agitator who would make mockery of the hard-won victory.

America is only safe for Americans. Such is the dictum of the American Legion. They have earned the right to speak.

They do not propose to see the country for which they so unselfishly fought, in defense of which they sacrificed personal fortunes, personal comfort and held not life itself dearer than duty—torn and disrupted by class revolution.

Fear has been expressed that these veterans may "go too far" in their new declaration of independence!

Did they "go too far" at Chateau Thierry, at St. Mihiel, in the Argonne?

Only those to whom the principles of genuine Americanism are repugnant, only those who would set at naught their victory, only those who would plunge this country into the chaos of violence, have need to fear that these stalwart Americans will "go too far."

If you can laugh over your little vexation and tell it so as to make others laugh, you have mastered a most desirable accomplishment. There are people who take the little bothers of the day and turn them into fun. Whatever comes, they find its humorous side, and force it to contribute to the amusement of their friends. In this age a great many of useful articles are manufactured out of what our fathers considered waste and refuse, but the most triumphant illustration of this art is when one uses the little irritating, perplexing occurrences to make smiles of.

HAD NOTABLE ATHLETIC RECORD OVERSEAS

Delmarvia Star Recounts Activities of Lt. Ferguson in Recent Issue

Last Sunday's issue of the Delmarvia Star in an article telling of the five Delawareans at Walter Reed Hospital gives the following record of Lieutenant George Harvey Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ferguson, East Main St.:

"Delaware has at least five of its sons, who were in the service during the World War, at Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D. C., recovering from wounds or illness. One of them is a distinguished service cross man, Lieutenant George H. Ferguson, of Newark, who was a prominent athlete at Delaware College.

Lieutenant Ferguson is almost entirely recovered from wounds received at St. Mihiel, France, when the Americans stormed that town and won their first big victory. After he was wounded, Lieutenant Ferguson was removed from the field to a hospital, where he sufficiently recovered to be sent back to duty with the Army of Occupation. Later the wounds were reopened and, Lieutenant Ferguson was ordered to the United States, and has been at Walter Reed Army Hospital since.

While in the hospital in France Lieutenant Ferguson was decorated by General John J. Pershing with the Distinguished Service Cross for "extraordinary heroism" at St. Mihiel.

Lieutenant Ferguson has a most unique athletic record with the A. E. F., having played on four division teams. In the fall he made the Fifth Division football team, which was one of the best in the Army of Occupation. This team lost but one game. Perhaps no greater tribute has been paid to his ability as a muleskin artist than his being selected for the Fifth Division team, which was one of the best in the A. E. F.

During the winter Lieutenant Ferguson was selected for the division basketball team, which won the championship of the Third Army, losing but one game in 14. Early in the spring he was nominated for the Fifth Division golf team and won a trip to Nice, where the A. E. F. tournament was held. Returning to the division, Lieutenant Ferguson joined the baseball nine and played with it until a recurrence of his old wounds necessitated his removal to a hospital. The baseball team won the championship of the Southern Army of Occupation. Lieutenant Ferguson is also a crack shot, and participated in the famous national matches on the Mexican border with the Delaware Guard team.

Lieutenant Ferguson was a star athlete at Delaware College before entering the service. He made his letter at the Delaware institution in football, basketball and baseball. Men who have seen Ferguson on the gridiron say that the Delaware man is one of the best broken field runners in the game, while baseball fans declare that he is easily of major league caliber.

Lieutenant Ferguson has never played professionally, and plans to remain in the service. He has seen service on the border with the Delaware National Guard and went through the World War with the Fighting Fifth Division.

Lieutenant Ferguson is now eagerly awaiting assignment to duty."

State May Receive More Federal Aid For Road Building

According to word received recently from Washington, Delaware will receive a substantial appropriation for road building when the next budget for Federal aid is made up.

The argument of Delaware Congress men that Delaware pays more in income taxes than several other States combined, appears to have impressed the Good Roads Bureau. Delaware is a small State geographically, and this fact influenced the bureau in apportioning the funds for the improvement of the roads.

During the past year a survey of the needs of Delaware has been made by the Good Roads Bureau, and it has been found that though the mileage is relatively small, the use made of the highways is tremendous. More miles are traveled by automobiles in Delaware in the course of a year than in some of the Southern States measuring ten times her area. Hence, it is argued, there is greater need of improved highways in Delaware than in the commonwealth referred to.

Roads For Motor Truck Traffic
It appears to be the policy of the national government to give every possible aid throughout the country in the development of a highway system which would meet all the needs of surface travel. The Good Roads Bureau is looking forward to the time when at least half of the freight of the nation will be carried on motor trucks. To make this possible it will be necessary to have durable roads, constructed to fully meet the needs of such travel.

"It will be very necessary to have roads that will bear heavy burdens in the shape of freight," said a member of the bureau, "It is unfortunate that in some States the road builders have in view the gratification of luxurious tastes. They should remember that the road of the future will be expected to bear the burdens of great auto trucks each carrying many tons of freight. I am glad to find that in Delaware this idea of roads seems to prevail. If roads were built merely to accommodate joy-riders, they would hardly be worth the expense of their construction and tax-payers would have a right to kick."

Will Carry On Educational Campaign Against Tuberculosis

In accordance with the intent of the law regarding tuberculosis as amended by the Legislature of 1917, the Delaware State Tuberculosis Commission has engaged Charles H. Keene, A. B., M. D., as its Executive Secretary for the purpose of making an intensive study of tuberculosis in Delaware, and to organize and carry on a definite, active campaign of education throughout the state along the lines of prevention and cure. The ultimate purpose is "to arouse general interest in securing adequate care of tuberculosis patients." Dr. Keene has recently returned from fifteen months army service as Major in the Medical Corps. Following the Armistice he served in the Physical Reconstruction Division of the Surgeon General's Office, and in charge of the reconstruction work of an Army Hospital containing 1200 tuberculosis soldiers.

Let The New Year Be A Living Issue

Whatever the past year may have meant to you, make it dead history. But let the new year be a living issue. With a big fresh sponge, dripping with the clear water of forgiveness, wipe clean the slate of your heart. Enter the new year with a kind thought for everyone. You need not kiss the hand that smote you, but grasp it in cordial good feeling, and let the electricity of your own resolves find its connecting current—which very often exists where we think it not. Make the new year a happy one in your home; be bright in disposition; carry your cares easy; let your heart be as sunshine, and your life will give warmth to all around you. And thus will you and yours be happy.

FIRST WINTER SCHOOL PROVES SUCCESSFUL

fulness secured from somewhere, a sled which they used for a half hour or so.

Yesterday's program for the girls was carried out at the Women's College where Miss Miriam Null and Miss Agnes Medill conducted demonstrations in bread-making and laundering. Dr. C. C. Palmer talked to the boys of swine diseases in the morning. In the afternoon they went out to the college farm when they were given an exhibition of swine judging by Professor Thomas Baker and M. C. Vaughan, County Agent for Sussex. Upon their return they, together with the girls were entertained at tea by Dean Winiford J. Robinson at the Women's College.

Today's program for the girls consisted of discussions and demonstrations on the question of clothing, with Miss Helen Atwater of the Department of Agriculture as instructor.

Dairy Cows and the care and feed of the new born calf were the subjects studied by the boys under Dr. C. C. Palmer. A joint program with the girls on the subject of Home Sanitation, Personal Hygiene, and Rural Recreation, was conducted by Dr. C. H. Keene of the State Tuberculosis Commission. This evening O. H. Benson, of the Department of Agriculture, in charge of Club work, North and West will speak on that subject and moving pictures showing "Uncle Sam's Pig Clubs" will be shown.

About 30 farmers from this and nearby communities are enrolled for the short course and the Tractor School.

Something new in the way of social affairs is promised this year when on January 30, the Juniors will hold the annual Prom in the Ball Room of the Hotel duPont in Wilmington. This is the first college dance held outside Newark.

Tonkin, president of the Junior class, announced the plans for the affair at the Tuesday chapel meeting and asked how many students would attend. About 150 men showed their intention of being present, a number which guarantees the success of the affair and shows clearly the need of the large floor for the dance.

The duPont Ball Room is, in its appointments, the rival of any such room in the country. It accommodates 250 couples. In addition to the Ball Room, the DuBarry room, the rest room and the parlor adjoining the Ball Room, will be given over to the dancers.

The dance will be strictly a Delaware College affair, for the Juniors have decided that no outsiders shall be admitted, thus setting another new precedent for Junior Proms.

The holding of the dance at Wilmington has been greeted with hearty favor not only by the students, but by Dean Winifred J. Robinson of the Women's College, and by the Social Committee of the Faculty. To further the success of the affair, too, the Faculty has decided to change the schedule of the mid-year exams so that there shall be no college work on Saturday, January 31. This arrangement will make the dance a fitting celebration for those who have successfully finished their mid-years, as well as a jovial "swan song" for the unfortunate ones who have failed to stand the gaff.

The price of the dance has been fixed at $4.00 per couple.

Warns Against Wearing Army Uniform

The military authorities at Washington have issued a warning against men not in the Army or National Guard wearing the soldier's uniform. Attention is called to section 125, Act of Congress, approved June 3, 1916, which provides that violators shall be fined not more than $300, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both penalties may be inflicted. This law does not affect members of the National Guard, cadets or actors. It is provided that no stage artist shall wear the uniform in any act or play which would discredit the Army, Navy or Marine Corps. The Boy Scouts of America and the Naval Militia are also exempt from the order.

A member of the Army may wear his uniform three months after the date of discharge, but not after that time, unless such garb is worn at ceremonies.

I see not a step before me
As I tread another year,
But the past is in God's keeping,
The future His mercy shall clear,
And what looks dark in the distance
May brighten as I draw near.
—Mary G. Brainard.

Santa Claus Visits St. Thomas' Sunday School

Santa Claus paid his annual visit to St. Thomas' parish last Monday evening and rewarded with a box of candy and an orange everyone who was present.

Previous to his arrival the children gave a particularly fine entertainment which did credit to the faithful work of their teachers and themselves. The program as published last week was given in the Parish House which was crowded to the utmost capacity with standing room at a premium. At the close of the entertainment Santa Claus presented three gifts which came as a pleasant surprise to the recipients. Purses were given by the Sunday School to the pastor, Rev. Walter G. Haupt and to the sexton, Mr. Burnley.

A handsome clock was presented to the Sunday School by Mr. and Mrs. D. Lee Rose. Mr. Haupt on behalf of the Sunday School thanked the donors and lauded their zeal and faithfulness in the work of the church and Sunday School.

American Legion Keeps Busy

The American Legion is preparing to supplement its work of protecting America abroad by helping save America at home. It is organizing practical warfare on anarchists and anachism. Every post in this city is directed to form teams to "keep tab" on the Reds.

There will be four teams sent out by every post—one each on radical speakers, radical press, education and deportation. The names of the teams suggest the various latitudes of activity.

Caution against direct action is advised, and well so. In preliminary efforts to combat anti-Americanism nothing should be done which might run counter to law and order. "Fair Play!" is the battle cry, and the use of constitutional means of government is the programme. If Americans seek to teach law and order and constitutional liberty they themselves must keep within the law and the constitution. If there is to be violence let it first come from the enemies of the country. The law and the authorities then will deal with the offenders.

The work which members of the Legion are undertaking is distinctly in line with the purposes of that organization. It is formed to preserve and to promote Americanism, and in its activities against anarchism and anachism it will have the support of all patriotic Americans.

In an infant school the teacher chose the miracle of the water being turned into wine as the subject of the usual Bible lesson.

In telling the story she occasionally asked a few questions. One of them was:

"When the new wine was brought to the governor of the feast what did he say?"

A little girl, remembering what she had heard, probably on some festive occasion, called out:

"Here's luck!"—Cleveland News Leader.

Very Cheap Farms

Real farmers seeking high grade corn, grain, dairy and fruit farms, with warm, well drained, easily worked soil famous for big yields should quickly investigate this section. Former Member of Faculty To Succeed Professor Short Howard W. Preston has been elected Professor of Mathematics and Engineering in Delaware College to succeed Professor Clarence A. Short, resigned. As Professor Preston taught most acceptably these subjects in Delaware for five years before the war, his return will be especially pleasing to faculty, students, and alumni.

Professor Preston is a strong and inspiring teacher. He is a graduate of the Civil Engineering Department of Lafayette College in the class of 1909, where he also taught for two years. In 1912 he became a member of the faculty of Delaware College, teaching mathematics and engineering. When the war broke out, he gave his services to the government as an engineer and was employed in building the great munition plant near Nashville, Tennessee. After the armistice he was connected with the State Highway Commission of New Jersey as engineer in charge of the district around Asbury Park. He returns, therefore, to Delaware College greatly enriched by his engineering experiences. Professor Preston will enter upon his duties at Delaware College on February 1, 1920.

Know What You Can Do

People make surprising successes without the aid of education; but whatever they are ignorant of, they must know themselves. Young people applying for positions are asked if they can do certain things, and it is surprising how often the answer comes, "I don't know." They have no idea what their capital is. A knowledge of our limitations is worth something. A knowledge of our capacities is worth everything. Make it your business to know what you can do.

A. D.—The world writes the letters carelessly as it turns the page to record for the first time the new year; but in these letters is the "open secret" of the ages, for this too is a "year of our Lord," an "acceptable year," "a Year of Grace."

A Watch-Night Prayer

Almighty God, Father of all mankind, at the end of a year in which malice has so often thwarted love, we join the prayers of all Thy children around the world for peace, the elevation of justice and of brotherhood.

Thou Creator, possessor of all things, Who didst make the earth for the races of men and didst set bounds for their habitation, forgive us our greed as we repent of our sin, and restore to all hearts the recognition of the transcendent right of human life to live.

Open our eyes, we beseech Thee, to the dignity of labor, the sacredness of human service, and the privileges of production, that nation may join nation in honest work to replenish a devastated earth.

Quicken the sympathy of hearts made dull by reports and sights of suffering, incomprehensible and needless.

Call us again that we may bow before the eternal laws of creation, putting aside malice, envy, covetousness and brutality, to enter into the peace of the sons of the Most High.

Hasten by Thy gracious providence and by the consecrated efforts of Thy children the coming of Thy world-wide kingdom where justice, mercy and love shall rule the hearts and hands of men.

Create in us, O Lord, clean hearts, and renew right spirits for the coming year.

This we ask in the spirit of Jesus Christ, our only Hope. Amen!

The Old Year is Dead!

The old year is dead, the new year is born. Humbly, fearfully, we sink to our knees, and slowly in answer to our prayers, comes back something of the old faith of our childhood, and we rejoice that we are granted one more New Year's day on which to begin again—not in our childish way, with utter disregard of the past, but trustfully, patiently, knowing that we must ever carry with us our past, and rejoicing that with God's help, we rise from our knees, we look bravely forward to the veiled figure that stands at our threshold; we know nothing of what it brings, we know only that it is God's new year. May He bless it to us all!

The Mystic Seven

On the seventh day God ended His work.

In seven days a dove was sent from the Ark.

Abraham pleaded seven times for Sodom.

Jacob mourned seven days for Joseph.

A plenty of seven years, and a famine of seven years were foretold in Pharaoh's dream of seven fat and seven lean beasts, and seven ears of full and seven ears of blasted corn.

On the seventh day of the seventh month the children of Israel fasted seven days, and remained seven days in their tents.

Each seventh day the law was read to the people.

Solomon was seven years in building the temple.

In the tabernacle there were seven lamps.

Naaman washed seven times in the River Jordan.

Our Savior spoke seven times from the cross and after His resurrection He appeared seven times.

In the Apocalypse we read of seven churches, seven candlesticks, seven stars, seven trumpets, seven pledges, seven thunders, seven virgins, seven angels, and a seven-headed monster.

New Year's Day

In the Gregorian calendar this date occurs twelve days earlier than in the Julian; thus in Russia and in those countries where the latter is still employed, New Year's Day is celebrated on our 13th of January.

The ancient Egyptians, Phoenicians and Persians began their year at the autumnal equinox (September 21), and the Greeks, until the fifth century B. C., at the winter solstice (December 21). In the year 432 B. C. the latter altered their New year's Day to the 21st of June. The Romans celebrated the beginning of the year on the 21st of December, but Caesar by the adoption of the Julian calendar postponed it to the 1st of January.

The Jews have always reckoned their civil year from the first day of the month Tishri (September 6, October 21). The 25th of March was the universal date among Christian peoples in early medieval days. In England, however, the 25th day of December was New Year's Day. William the Conqueror ordered that the year should begin on the 1st of January—the day of his coronation. Later England began her year with the rest of Christendom on the 25th of March. The Georgian calendar (1582) which restored the 1st of January at New Year's Day, was accepted by all Catholic countries at once; by Germany, Denmark and Sweden about 1700, and by England in 1751.

Two Sides To Profit-Sharing

George W. Perkins writes an interesting article in the current issue of Rotarian Magazine, entitled "The Workers' Fair Share," in which he devotes considerable attention to profit-sharing.

At first thought profit-sharing would seem to be a ready solution to the industrial unrest now prevailing, inducing the worker to produce as much as possible in the hope of sharing in the profits, the same as stock-holders.

But there are two sides to profit-sharing, as there are to every other proposal.

Little Benjamin, accompanied by his governess, was out for his morning stroll, when they passed a street where a load of straw had been scattered in front of a house in which there had been a serious illness.

"Miss Teacher, why have they scattered all this straw about here?" asked Benjamin.

"Well," replied the good lady, "a little baby came to Mrs. Jones last night."

"My goodness," exclaimed Benjamin, "but it was 'well packed'."

Work

I am a Power, a Giant, a King. He who will follow me, wins everything.

I have found Fortune and brought her to men.

I have forced Failure back into her den;

I made the roadway that leads up to Fame,

I teach a man how to carve out his name

On History's tablets to stand for an age;

I can make warrior, rich man or sage;

'Tis I who can conquer weakness and sin.

I give the courage that helps men to win;

I quiet sorrow and bring peace to bless,

I hold the keys to the portal Success;

He who will follow, achieves any end.

For I, humble Work, am man's truest friend.

Disregard of "Styles" Is Latest Thing in London

The latest "style" in London is to disregard styles. That is to say, the up-to-date woman has a dress made as she desires it, regardless of what is supposed to be "the prevailing fashion." She seeks "personality," as she calls it, and pays no attention to the fashion plates. It need not conform to anybody else's dress as regards length, "fullness," fabric or "hanging effects," if those are proper dressmaking terms, with which we confess no familiarity.

What a wonderful lot of trouble it would save the women if it should come to prevail that one woman paid no attention to another woman's apparel! If a woman imagines she looks better in a long skirt or if she prefers "fullness" or "skimpiness" or anything else let her have it—and there shall be none to point the finger of scorn at her and to remind her that she is out of style. All she need to do to be happy would be to convince herself that the garment displayed "personality."

And the men might be left the same scope in their apparel—and, glory be! We have several pretty good derby hats of the past, one a little fellow with a low crown and crimped brim, the vintage of 1898 or thereabouts. It is in good state of preservation. It certainly possesses a good deal of personality, and we believe we would make a hit under the London rules by wearing it to office some fine morning this fall. But we shall have to wait and find out more definitely whether styles are going out of style before putting it on. We have kept it all of these years in the belief that styles would eventually get back to the low-crowned derby.—Columbus Dispatch.

"Going far?" asked the chatty little man of the man in the corner. "Oh, no, only to Scotland," replied the other, who hated talking to strangers, and who wished to nip this one in the bud. "I am a commercial traveller. My age is forty-six. I am married. My name is Henry Bigfoot. I have a son of nineteen. He is in the 11th Clamshires. My father died last July. He was on the Stock Exchange. My mother is still living. I have a niece with red hair. Our char-lady's name is Mrs. Smuggs. Is there anything else?"

"What oil do you use for your tongue?" he inquired slowly.

District School Houses Sold

The novel sale of six school houses by order of the New Castle county board of education, was an event of more or less interest to Middletown and vicinity. They are rural buildings abandoned through the consolidation plan being put into effect by the board. The houses are at Armstrong's Corner; "Brown Cottage," near Middletown; "Mill Lane," between Armstrong's Corner and McDonough; Mathew's Corner, between Odessa and Taylor's Bridge; "Stump Corner," near Odessa, and the "Deal Corner" school house, between McDonough and Augustine Beach.

Parachutes to Be Used In Mail Delivery

Parachutes to be used in the delivery of mail from airplanes now are being manufactured in Philadelphia and soon will be ready for experiments to be made by the Postoffice Department. Upon the success of these experiments depends the possibility of obtaining airmail service for Baltimore, according to Otto Praeger, Second Assistant Postmaster General.

At present Mr. Praeger sees little chance of Baltimore having air service for mail which originates in that city. It has been found, he said today, that it is not possible to operate air-mail lines economically on jumps of less than 200 miles.

WILL VOTE ON PEACE TREATY AFTER HOLIDAYS

Vote to Obtain Sentiments on League of Nations to be held in all colleges

In accordance with the plans of the editors-in-chief of the daily publications at Yale, Harvard, Princeton, and Columbia Universities, a nation-wide, non-partisan vote of faculties, and student bodies will be polled throughout the United States on January 13 to determine the academic sentiment on the treaty of peace. The vote is being polled through the agency of the various college papers.

The vote will be held on six propositions, as below:
 1 I favor the ratification of the League and Treaty without amendments or reservations.
 2 I am opposed to the ratification of the treaty in any form.
 3 I am in favor of the ratification of the treaty and the League, but only with the specific reservations as voted by the majority of the Senate.
 4 I favor any compromise on the reservations which will make possible the immediate ratification of the Treaty and the League.
 5 I favor the Government proceeding to make peace with Germany at once and leaving the question of the League of Nations to be settled afterwards.

6 I favor a compromise on the reservations of such character as will avoid the danger of defeating ratification while still making clear that America can only be involved in war by a declaration of Congress and that domestic questions and the Monroe Doctrine are entirely outside of the jurisdiction of the League.

It is expected that discussion at Delaware College will be as general and as wide-spread as possible before the date for the taking of the vote.

All the students are urged to familiarize themselves with the problems involved so that no matter what the outcome of the local vote may be, it shall be an intelligent vote,—the result of real thinking.

Widespread interest attaches to the vote throughout the country. Although the colleges can not be said to represent general public opinion better than any other organizations, yet they are regarded as centers of thinking men and women, and of the more idealistic group. Therein lies the element of general interest.

The vote will be non-partisan, and will be accepted as the unprejudiced judgment of the college students and professors on this most important of national questions.

The interest attaching to the vote and the opinion of value which will be placed upon it are such as to require the very best judgment upon the part of every voter, upon whom rest, the reputation of the whole group of college men as thinkers.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Let There Be No Discords

If your Ford car is out of tune, there is undoubtedly a good reason for it. And the best way to find that reason and have it remedied, is to drive to our authorized Service station where one of our mechanics who knows the Ford way to adjust and repair Ford cars, can tune it up in a shop that is properly equipped to give Ford service. Then, too, we use only Genuine Ford-made parts. They wear from thirty-five to one hundred per cent longer than the counterfeit parts.

We are a part of the gigantic Ford service organization; we have more than a passing interest in your car. Prompt service is given on all work. Drive in and see for yourself, there's too much money invested in your Ford car to miss connections with the authorized Ford dealers.

There are two leading purposes in view in conducting the Institutes this year. The other is to promote the "State Program" in all its features,—in other words, to place Delaware at the "head of the procession" in agriculture, education and state government.

The Service Citizens of Delaware have very generously provided the

Arranges Interclass Series Of Games For High School

Delaware College and the Rockefeller Fund

All friends of Delaware College will hope that the institution at Newark will share in the magnificent gift to the cause of education made by John D. Rockefeller. It is a great sum, this $100,000,000 for the General Educational Board and for the Rockefeller Foundation. The interest on the money will be used to increase the salaries of instructors and to promote research work in combating disease. It is a huge addition to the munificent contributions that Mr. Rockefeller has already made. The gift comes at a most opportune time. All the colleges and universities are pinched by the war and by the depreciation of the purchasing power of the dollar and they have been endeavoring to increase their endowment funds. Some institutions will be benefited by the late Mr. Frick's gifts though the figures, after the taxes have been paid, will be whittled down very materially.

There are, however, no such legal strings attached to the donation of Mr. Rockefeller. Large as it is, it will not cause any of the higher institutions to lag in their search for funds. It should be remembered that the purchasing power of the dollar, measured in the commodities it will command, and that is the only right way of estimating it, is only about one-half of what it was before the war. This shows how those who live on fixed incomes are severely hit and endowments are in the same class. Delaware College has been affected in two ways. As at other institutions the work of the college was much interfered with by the war. And this year there was a heavy influx of new students. The college had in some way to make up for the depreciation of the dollar and at the same time it has been forced to provide means for taking care of the new stud-much thought, at the age of 60, to the business of putting their estates in order.

They consider turning their investments into forms which may be easily transferred to their successors.

Some make plans to turn their business capital, as far as practicable, into investments. They withdraw from active business, believing it a better policy to bequeath investments rather than business responsibilities.

They take pains to make provision for safeguarding their estates to their families. They wisely believe that, with their ripened experience, they can invest more safely than can inexperienced heirs.

The man of 60 who is thinking of putting his estate in order will find an answer to some of his perplexities in the "Equitable Trust Plan." It has features which commend it to those who would remove pitfalls from the path of those who will inherit his accumulations. Inquire for our booklet which describes the plan.

ents. Had times been normal and the increase of students been gradual, and this increase was going on at a satisfactory rate, the college would not have found itself in the present dilemma. Its progress may be halted by a lack of sufficient funds. If it should share in the Rockefeller gift, that would be helpful, but by no means should such sharing cause the friends of the institution to relax their efforts.

RECONSTRUCTION READY TO RECEIVE MORE SOLDIERS

Most of Those Treated At Longwood Have Returned To Former Occupations

The reconstruction center for convalescent soldiers, maintained by Pierre S. DuPont on his farm near Kennett Square, is ready to receive more men. Numbers of the soldiers and sailors who have been spending the summer there are now restored to health, and are about to leave to take up their various lines of work. The farm is able to accommodate comfortably about forty-two men. Most of those who have been convalescing there were sent by the American Red Cross, the Pennsylvania state employment service, the federal vocational board and other agencies.

Many men who returned from overseas in a disabled condition have found that they were not able to do the same amount of work at their occupations as previously, and it was for the purpose of helping them to regain their full health that the farm was thrown open to them. A staff of doctors is in attendance, and everything possible is done to make them happy. Physicians have found that many of these wounded men require a period of rest. Their average stay on the farm has been about ten weeks and while there are not required to do any work and are given the best of food and ample opportunities for recreation. However, when they do recover their health to such an extent that they can do a little work this is given to them, if they desire it, so that they can earn money even while they are recuperating.

One of the problems in the treatment of many soldiers and sailors who have been gassed or wounded is to give them enough exercise and rest in the open air so that they will be fully restored to health. Many who have returned to their work after a short period of rest believing that they were as strong as ever have soon learned that their strength had not yet fully returned and a number of these men have been forced to leave their employment and seek a further period of complete rest.

The duPont farm near this borough will continue to receive soldiers for an indefinite period and men in this vicinity who are suffering from the effects of wounds or gas are welcome to the hospitality there.—Exchange.

Choctaw Is Model For Portrait of Typical Doughboy

Otis W. Leader, a Choctaw Indian, of Calvin, Akla, who was with the artillery force which fired the first American shots in the world war, and who, after having engaged in the major operations of Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Argonne, still was "present and accounted for" when the last guns of the war were fired, has been selected as a model by the French artist, Dewarieux, for a portrait of a typical American soldier.

"Hands up!" cried the business-like highwayman. The victim laughed as he complied. "The joke is on you," he asserted, chuckling. "I've just paid a large bill sent by a lawyer for aiding me to fill out my income-tax schedule. A month ago my landlord raised my rent. My son has just come home from France and can't get a job. Yesterday my salary was decreased. Today the bank in which I kept the remnant of my money went smash. I've been looking all night for one of you chaps. I want to learn this hold-up business." Weeping bitterly, the highwayman thrust the revolver into his would-be victim's hands and disappeared in the darkness.
