Community Day returns to its traditional site

Following a detour to the parking lot near Pearson Hall last year, Newark will again host Community Day for thousands of visitors on the University of Delaware campus.

The annual daylong event begins at 10 a.m. on Sunday with more than 250 food vendors, music groups, demonstrators, artisans, children's activities, sellers of attic treasures, and community organizations displayed across several blocks of the University campus.

Virtually every interest in Newark will be represented with public and private schools, Scouts, pets, churches, businesses, the Blood Bank, realtors, war veterans, Jaycees, Mom's clubs, support groups, and political candidates and parties all planning to publicize their programs.

Newark's Conservation Advisory Commission has information on how to designate Newark as an official "Green Community," while the Newark Lions, like many other organizations this year, is sponsoring a fun activity for kids at their booth. The Lions are also selling tickets for a car raffle.

Members of the League of Women Voters of New Castle County will have voter registration and election information at their booth. Local, state and national elections mean a lot of interest this year.

New this year is an open Fine Art and Crafts competition area. Organizers also expect more than 40 artists and craftspeople to exhibit original works for sale at their site in front of Sypherd and Sharp halls.

Children's crafts and activities, as well as the popular scarecrow-making, will be found near Mitchell and Evans halls, while several dozen booths with antiques and attic treasures crowd the Bazaar area behind Sypherd and Brown halls.

Don't Bus 16 where are you?

Irate bus riders hope they're heard

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

DART First State was guaranteed an earful of public comment on at least one bus route this week.

According to Newark residents and city councilmembers, eliminating the Route 16 which travels along Nottingham Road to neighborhoods on the west side of the city is not an option.

"Some residents who don't want the bus in the community haven't ridden a bus in 20 years," said Fairfield resident Bruce Diehl who rides the route daily. "I'm asking that they keep it because not only Wilmington commuters ride it, but also DelTech students, young parents with children, people going to jury duty and people just traveling into Wilmington for the day."

Diehl noted that the new owners of a house empty for two years near his told him they bought in that location because of the bus service to Wilmington.

"If you go down (Interstate) 95, you'll see 90 percent of the cars have only drivers in them," Diehl said. "I'm a 'bus freak'—I even ride the bus on Saturdays when it only brings me back as far as Main Street. Then I walk or sometimes bum a ride the rest of the way."

City councilmember Karl Kalbacher said he agreed with Diehl. "It seems crazy when we're trying to get people to use public transit more and more to have routes being eliminated," Kalbacher said Monday.

Diehl suggested using the city of Newark's Unity bus to connect passengers with the Route 16 at a different point if there are too few riders in his community. He also suggested reducing the number of trips before eliminating the entire route into Newark.

Councilmember John Farrell said Secretary of Transportation Anne Canby had promised to consider the Unity bus suggestion when she visited city council last year. "They did not take that into consideration at all," said Farrell. "It bothers me when (DelDOT officials) don't listen to us."

Parents say no to realignment

Christina plan affects over 70 communities

By KATY CIAMARICONE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Christina School District officials will drive children out of public schools and into private or out-of-state schools if they proceed with a proposed school realignment plan, perturbed parents said at a public hearing last week.

Officials from the district's K-4 Realignment Committee have devised a new feeder pattern map which will move some children out of their current elementary schools and reroute them into other schools in the district.

The plan will affect students living in approximately 70 developments in New Castle County, in addition to residents of non-developments and select areas of Wilmington. Officials said the move will take effect at the start of the 2001 school year.

"No district enters into a realignment unless there is a critical need for it," said committee chairperson Deborah Rodenhouser. "We have Keene Elementary opening up soon (on Route 40), and it would be a shame to see that school remain empty when other schools in the district are overcrowded."

But parents at the hearing, which attracted approximately 60 people, said they would not accept those answers. The longer bus rides, lowered academic standards, and separation of students from their school friends that will result from the realignment are unjustified, they said.

Rita Wood was among several Rutherford residents present at the hearing. She said her son is currently a kindergarten student at Gallaher Elementary School. The alignment plan requires him to transfer to Brookside Elementary next year.

"I don't see why someone that young should have to get on a bus to go to a school that is five miles away from home when his school is now only 2.2 miles away," Wood said. "He's just getting used to a new school and now you're going to put him in another one."

One parent of a student at Marshall Elementary School said his son will be heartbroken if he is forced to move to another school next year.

"He is dressed up and ready to go to school at six every morning and the bus doesn't even get (to my house) until eight," the mother explained.

She said if the realignment plan does go into effect next year, it might drive her to quit her transportation job so she will be able to take her son to school every day.

Debbie Jones said she was opposed to her two children, who are both academically successful students at Gallaher, being rerouted to Brookside. Students who attended Gallaher scored within the top 25 percent on the Delaware Statewide Testing Program, Jones said, while Brookside students scored within the bottom 15 percent.

Fischer contract renewed

By KATY CIAMARICONE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

School board members voted Tuesday to keep Nicholas Fischer—the district's most controversial leaders—in the school superintendent seat for another two years.

The 4-3 vote in favor of renewing Fischer's contract came after parents and teachers stepped to the microphone and stated their reasons why he should not be re-elected. After the vote was tallied, disgruntled parents and teachers walked out of the meeting.

Parents Laura Zigney told the superintendent that she was pleased with some of his attempts to increase student achievement. One of Fischer's admirable efforts, she said, is urging people to donate their used instruments to schools so that children can learn to play music, even if they cannot afford their own instruments.

"I applaud you for making these efforts, they're what you do best," Zigney said. "But if board members vote for a contract renewal, you're going to have to work on your communication."

Another parent said that while Fischer attempts to help below-average students meet the standards on statewide tests, above-average students are not being challenged. "This district is striving for mediocrity," she said. "We are leaving behind the best and the brightest students."

School board member Spring Davidson, who voted against contract renewal, said students' scores from the Delaware State Testing Program are not as high as they should be. And, she said, a large number of teachers resigned this year because they were dissatisfied with the Christina School District.

"I look at this list of resignations and I'm really sad to see these teachers leave," Davidson said.

In Fischer's defense, board vice president Michael Guilfoyle said Fischer's leadership could prove to be

Man caught on tape stealing money

A Middletown man was caught on surveillance tape stealing money from a Charity Jar located on the counter of a convenience store.

Investigation revealed Thomas Heil went into the Shore Stop/Texaco on Main Street in Middletown on Sept. 6 around 4:30 p.m. A store employee saw him remove two $5 from a collection charity jar on the front counter. The store's security camera also captured him on tape taking the money. He turned himself in after learning that he was under investigation.

Police have charged Thomas Heil with the theft of $10.

Woman arrested for trafficking cocaine

Newark resident Danita Eskridge has been charged with trafficking cocaine.

On Sept. 8, Officer Mary Devine was helping with an unrelated investigation in the area of the Lexington Green Apartments in Newark. Around 5:30 p.m., Officer Devine stopped a suspicious vehicle which was operated by Eskridge who was found to have 6.7 grams of crack cocaine and over $500 worth of suspected drug money. She was charged with trafficking cocaine and committed to the Women's Correctional Institute after failing to post $12,000 secured bail.

Cougar sighting

Delaware State Police are investigating a reported sighting of a cougar around 8 p.m., on Sept. 10 along the railroad tracks on old Porter Road. Troopers along with the state police helicopter responded to the scene but were unable to find the cougar.

If anyone sees a cougar, please remember the following tips: Don't run because it may chase you; keep children behind adults; don't turn your back on the animal; make yourself as large as possible by pulling your coat up over your head; and call the police as soon as you get to a safe place.

Shot fired during armed robbery

Delaware State Police are investigating a Sept. 12 armed car robbery at the Wilmington Trust Bank in Community Plaza Shopping Center on Route 273.

A suspect described as a black male, 5 feet, 3 inches to 5 feet, 5 inches tall, with stocky build, wearing a long-sleeved plaid shirt, dark ball cap and blue jeans, approached the guard from A.T. Systems as the guard returned to the truck from the bank and pointed what appeared to be a gun. The suspect picked up one of two bags dropped by the guard and fled to a silver Ford Escort driven by a second suspect described only as a black male who may have been wearing a white T-shirt.

The bags contained an undisclosed amount of currency. A security guard seated in the truck got out and fired one shot into the driver side rear of the Escort. The car later found along Appleby Road had been reported stolen last week. It is not known if either of the suspects was injured. No one else at the scene was hurt.

Anyone with information about this incident is asked to call state police at 302-323-4411 or Crimestoppers at 1800-TIP-3333.

Being green is in the hands of the community

Newark could become one of the nation's "Green Communities" — areas recognized by the Environmental Protection Agency as places where residents demonstrate concern for their environment and then establish plans to improve it.

Steve Dentel, Newark's Conservation Advisory Committee chairman, said the city is already well on its way to becoming "green."

"We have bike paths, parks, we're showing concern for the water and the traffic in the city," Dentel said. "Now we just need to talk with the community and see what other areas we need to work on."

Dentel said he and fellow CAC members will ask Newark residents at Community Day about their views on land development, population change, and commercial and industrial activity in Newark.

CAC members are also planning a public forum later this fall, and Dentel said he hopes it will draw representatives from businesses, city and University of Delaware officials, and anyone else concerned about the environment.

Newark's city council gave qualified endorsement of the plan at this week's regular meeting.

"It's OK with me, as long as it doesn't cost any (city) staff time," said Mayor Hal Godwin.

City manager Carl Luft cautioned his staff is already stretched to the limit with projects like the $20 million reservoir, plans from the Downtown Newark Partnership, bikeways, and electric deregulation in addition to regular work. "I don't want to sound defensive," said Luft, "but we're the busiest we've ever been with people working many extra hours already. I just can't see (how we'll do) it unless we add staff."

Plans for turning Newark into a Green Community include continued bicycle path development around the city and reduced traffic and noise as a result of these paths, restrictions on the development of residential areas at specific locations around town and renovating the foot path leading from Main Street to White Clay Valley.

Dentel said it might take up to a year before Newark is officially named a "green community," but the reward will be well worth the wait. "This provides us with a focus — it says we are concerned with the environment and the way we grow as a community."

Volunteer expo at UD

Volunteer/Internship EXPO 2000 will be held 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 19, at the Trabant University Center, Main Street and South College Avenue, Newark.

The expo offers students and members of the UD community a chance to learn about internships and volunteer opportunities that exist at many non-profit agencies in Delaware.

Among the organizations that will be represented at EXPO 2000 are Child Inc., March of Dimes, Ronald McDonald House of Delaware, and Boys and Girls clubs. Other non-profit organizations taking part are Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Delaware Inc., Girl Scouts-Chesapeake Bay Council, Delaware Futures, Delaware Helpline, Food Bank of Delaware and the Hilltop Lutheran Neighborhood Center.

Students interested in an internship or volunteer work do not need to bring a resume to EXPO 2000, and do not have to stay for the entire two-hour period, but may browse and pick up literature from the presenters.

The program, held at the beginning of the fall and spring semesters, is sponsored by the Career Services Center, DANA, CITE and the College of Arts and Science.

Centuries-old barn to be demolished

By KATY CIAMARICONE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A developer will demolish a Newark barn that dates back to the late 1770's after receiving unanimous approval from city council.

The barn on Old Paper Mill Road adjacent to the newly-developed Paper Mill Falls community was deemed unsafe to surrounding property. Edward Sobolewski, a developer for EJS Properties which is building the residential neighborhood for active adults, requested that it be torn down after he learned that its walls were crumbling.

"There is a bulge in the back wall which was sand-made and the sand is coming out," explained Sobolewski.

During a presentation before the Newark planning commission in August 1998, Sobolewski assured city officials and residents living near the new community that the picturesque view of centuries-old house and barn would remain in the new community.

"The property will have 26 new townhomes, the original 1770-something house, and two units in the old barn," said Sobolewski in 1998. "(When the community is finished), people across the road will essentially see what they see now."

But, Richard M. Longo, president of Hillcrest Associates Inc., a civil engineering and land surveying company, later inspected the land and said he noticed a significant amount of deterioration around the barn.

"I found it to be entirely risky to build two units on the existing foundation," Longo wrote in a letter to city planning director Roy Lopata. "When I originally looked in and below the barn in the summer of 1998, [there was] junk there, including cars, so I could not see as much as I can see now. Also, more recently, part of the foundation wall collapsed."

Sobolewski decided his best bet would be to get rid of the barn all together. The developer plans to add two single-family dwellings to Paper Mill Falls in its place. Lopata said the barn will be removed within the next couple of weeks.

White Clay Creek State Park getting more forest

The Friends of White Clay Creek State Park announced plans to reforest a nine acre agricultural field in the Possum Hill section of the park. The initial planting of 600 trees on two acres of the field will be during the weekend of Oct. 28-29.

"We are picking tree species that are compatible with the surrounding forest," said Al Zverina, project co-leader. "Without this intentional planting of native species, open land like this farm field would almost certainly be overrun by invasive, nonnative plant species if it were simply allowed to 'revert to nature.' The project is at least a small step in the right direction toward maintaining the state's biodiversity."

Another goal of the reforestation effort is to improve wildlife habitat and forest quality for the many forest-dwelling wildlife species which require large, continuous forest areas to live successfully.

A third benefit of the project is public involvement and education through volunteer participation in the reforestation effort and subsequent public education programs conducted by the park staff.

White Clay Creek State Park, located in northern New Castle County, contains more than 3,200 acres of fields, forest, streams, and trails. It was established by a partnership of government agencies, private citizens, conservation organizations, and corporations to protect the natural resources of the White Clay Creek Valley and to provide scenic beauty and recreational activities for the public. The park received approximately 90,000 visitors in 1999.

The National Park Service also has awarded the state of Delaware $373,537 which will help purchase 233 additional acres for White Clay Creek State Park and fund a band stage, playground and trailhead facility at the park's recreation area.

Grant funding from the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund, derived from off shore oil drilling taxes to help preserve and protect the nation's parks and open space, will also help finance the burial of overhead electric lines at the entrance to Cape Henlopen State Park.

The local reforestation project is being supported by grants from Delaware's Longwood and Welfare Foundations, combined with funds previously committed by the Division of Parks and Recreation and the friends toward expenses for the project. "While we already have a number of volunteers signed up, we need more people to help with the planting," said Christa Stefanisko, also a project co-leader.

Those interested in participating should call 369-1933.

the district officials' reasoning for the realignment. One of their major areas of concern was the bilingual program, which is moving from Brookside to Wilson school because 44 percent of students in the program currently live in the Wilson attendance area.

The move will create empty classroom space at Brookside, so students, including children living in Rutherford, must be transferred in to fill it.

Rodenhauser said the board will be reviewing all of the public's comments and concerns until mid-October when they submit the plan to the Christina School Board for review. Board members will vote on it in November.

highly effective, if everyone would just give him a chance.

"This is probably one of the most difficult decisions that I've had to make as a board member in my eight years of service," Guilfoyle said. "I guess the concerns that everyone has are about style. A large component of leadership is style."

Critics of Fischer said that they believe his sometimes-withdrawn personality and lack of communication are not those of an effective superintendent.

"The reason that I'm voting for this contract," Guilfoyle said,

"is because we are now staged, in this district, to make some real advances in improving students' achievement."

He said Fischer is making changes in education that were proposed, but not put into effect, by other leaders more than 10 years ago.

"I think that what we need, for the next year or two, is to keep going in the same direction to see that that plan occurs," said Guilfoyle, "because we owe it to our students to focus on improvement and achievement in our schools."

Fischer's new contract expires on June 30, 2003.

Superintendent has school work to do

Christina District school superintendent Nicholas Fischer must feel a bit like John Burris today. Each prevailed in close votes within the past week.

But, just as the gubernatorial candidate's 44-vote margin was anything but a mandate, the extension of Dr. Fischer's contract for two years symbolizes less than full support.

It's been no secret that parents have felt left out of Dr. Fischer's plans to carry out the board's orders to improve student achievement.

Leaders of the teachers union earlier this week urged the school board to let him go.

The 4-3 vote on Tuesday verifies that there is concern on the board about his effectiveness as a manager and the success of his administration to date.

His challenges are clear. Dr. Fischer must continue and even accelerate his programs to boost student achievement. It's what the board wants and what parents demand.

And he must do this by improving his dialogue with parents, including them in the process and satisfying them that their thoughts and opinions have been considered, if not adopted.

Teachers, parents and the board had high hopes for Dr. Fischer when he arrived at district headquarters on Main Street in Newark.

Dr. Fischer talked the talk. But when it came time to walk the walk, he stumbled. And it almost cost him his $119,970-a-year job this week.

Much of the discontent surrounding interactions with the superintendent might be attributed to what laymen call his people skills.

Simply, he rubs people the wrong way.

During the board debate Tuesday, vice president Michael Guilfoyle said later the board may have to work on Dr. Fischer's style.

Sooner is better.

Dr. Fischer needs to give those he leads the sense that he is hearing and considering what they have to say, even if eventually he decides contrary to their wishes.

Most reasonable people understand they don't always get what they want. But they want assurance that they'll be heard.

Teachers and staff deserve such consideration — the public demands it.

Dr. Fischer must address this problem...and now.

OUT OF THE ATTIC

This photo shows Newark School District music educator Harley Schuman Hastings rehearsing the Newark Schools-Community Orchestra in the band room at Newark High School around 1960. The orchestra later developed into Hastings' lifelong dream, the Newark Symphony Orchestra. Barbara Kerner, first chair cellist shown here, was among the first members of the orchestra. According to Philip Toman who loaned this picture to the Newark Post, the group was the first performing arts organization in the state of Delaware to have its own broadcast series.

"Out of the Attic" features historic photographs from Newark's history, recent and long ago. Readers who have a historic photo and would like to share it with other readers are invited to loan their photos for reprinting in this space. Special care will be taken. Send old photos to the Newark Post, "Out of the Attic," 153 E. Chestnut Hill Rd., Newark 19713. For information, call the Newark Post, weekdays, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., at 737-0724.

Bids are asked for $160,000 "Dorm"

Bids will be opened on October 6th next for the erection of a new $160,000 dormitory, Kent Hall, for the Women's College of the University.

From all reports, the completed building will be ready for occupancy in plenty of time for the re-opening of college in September, 1926.

Freak storm fails to relieve drought

The Newark territory is still in the grip of the most severe drought of the year despite the storm which raged here for a few minutes last night.

Scores of farmhouse wells have been dry for over a week, necessitating the carrying of water from nearby springhouses.

A Newark man owning a large farm near town reported to The Post Monday night that for the first time in twenty years a stream over his place has gone dry.

September 13, 1978

Area III schools pleased, hopeful

Warm smiles, friendly chattering, and enthusiasm rippled through the long halls in Area III high schools Monday, as court-ordered desegregation got underway.

Students from Wilmington and Newark reported that everything went smoothly.

Usual back-to-school problems like finding the way to class, locating the bathrooms, and searching for the bus home, were apparent, but students say no other difficulties arose.

Academy Hill rezoning controversy surfaces again

After a hiatus of several months, county planners are again confronted with a controversial proposal to re-zone and build homes on the Academy Hill tract, just outside the city of Newark.

And the proposal by Magness Construction Co. to re-zone a 46.7 acre tract to build about 100 homes off West Chestnut Hill Road is again generating considerable opposition from nearby residents who fear drainage, sewage and traffic problems will result.

Mayor was right

Mayor Ronald Gardner approached Gov. Thomas Carper back in June and asked him what the state was doing about the need for a new reservoir.

"He told me he hadn't heard anything about it," said Gardner. Discouraging news at the time, but now it appears a reservoir is the second most popular topic of conversation.

According to Gardner, the first topic of conversation in Newark these days is water.

"I hope (the drought emergency) has an impact," he said.

Uniquely Newark

If it rains on Sunday, Community Day will be postponed. On the other hand, we need the rain. Decision, decisions.

Local groups have spend countless hours preparing an afternoon of small town delights in the likely event the sun will shine for the celebration.

Can we help?

GUEST OPINION

State institution should grow where state needs it

By GUNTER SHAFFER

GUEST COLUMNIST

One of the most critical questions facing Newark's older neighborhood and downtown is: will the University of Delaware continue to grow?

In response, one local businessman observed that "if a business is not growing, it is faltering." Another businessman observed that "the preferred peers of University of Delaware administrators are playing football against Michigan and Ohio State, rather than West Chester or New Hampshire...Where do you think they're headed?"

In other words, for the upper echelons of any multi-million dollar business, growth is the bottom line and always will be.

The effect of this mentality on the older neighborhoods and downtown Newark are obvious: more problems with traffic, parking and housing, and a Main Street which may have to shift its focus away from the community and more towards bagels and beer.

Yet, if growth is inevitable, these deleterious byproducts may not be.

For instance, the city of Wilmington is begging for students. And small towns all over Delaware would love to sample Newark's growing pains. Why not encourage this state university to share its wealth with the rest of the state?

Move: the business school to Wilmington where it can rub elbows with corporate giants; the engineering school to the experimental station (DuPont, Hercules, Zeneca, etc.) for valuable hands on experience; the urban studies school to Wilmington where their expertise is needed; the life sciences to Lewes; political science and pre-law to Dover; architectural history to Odessa, Wilmington and/or Lewes; and the agricultural school to Georgetown.

Of course, the logistical headaches would be daunting. But today's digital culture would eliminate many problems.

And if seniors and/or juniors were required to spend only one year at their appropriate academic enclave/outposts, many scheduling and commuting problems could be avoided.

The benefits of this Diaspora would be many of the following: towns all over the state could benefit from growth and business from faculty, staff, students and classroom leases and senior or grad student housing; University of Delaware would gain a powerful new marketing tool: real world exposure and internships plus a chance for students to escape from Newark to a "real" city or a "real" small town; and the negative byproducts of growth in Newark would become manageable.

With each year of University of Delaware growth, living in Newark becomes less desirable for many residents who must deal with traffic parking and housing problems. If the University of Delaware must grow, perhaps it can do so without ruining much of old Newark. Instead, bring much needed business and vitality to the rest of the state. The University's growth should go where it is wanted and needed.

Simple ways to save for the future

We all say we should save but many of us just don't get around to it. Saving doesn't have to be a huge hassle, it just needs to be planned.

Here are a few ideas:

* Save a windfall... tax refund, work bonus, overtime pay, garage sale proceeds.

* Collect loose change - put it in a box or bottle. By the end of the year you may have a couple of hundred dollars.

* Trim excess spending.... One method is to be conscious about your spending and then taking the money you'd save by not spending on that item and put it in the bank. For example.. Decide you'll go pack your lunch three times a week rather than once a week and save the difference.

* Continue installment payments once a loan is paid off. If you've finally paid off your credit card, reallocate the money that you earmarked to pay off the debt and put it in a savings account.

* Pay yourself first... Consider savings like paying a future bill. Set aside a regular amount each pay period and put it in the bank. Better yet, direct deposit money to a savings account.

* Maximize your contribution to your company retirement plans especially if they are matching dollars.

Putting away any amount, even $25 per month, is a great start. Investing in your company's 401 or 403 is the first place to start.

Buying shares of mutual funds from a broker or financial institution is also a simple start. You can also give your money to trust administrator in a bank or other financial institution who for a fee will invest your money for you or you can buy an annuity from an insurance company. In addition, you should contribute to an IRA savings plan and potentially get a tax deduction.

There are lots of options out there and it can be confusing. You need a sense of how you want the money to be invested, you want to know about the person and company with whom you work and you want to know about the policies and the fees involved with working with this company. You also need to look at the average rate of return on the investment over the last 5-10 years. Talk to people, interview the company and the person and read about the things you're interested in.

OperaDelaware season offers four works

OperaDelaware General Director Lee Kimball has a smile for everyone these days, especially when he talks about the upcoming season. There are many reasons for those smiles but one of them is the number of operas scheduled for 2000-2001. That number is four, that's correct, FOUR! There will be three major works and a children's special.

Struggles were very much a part of OperaDelaware and its predecessor The Wilmington Opera Society. As a new millennium season gets underway it is obvious that some of those struggles are over with the announcement of what is in store for everyone in our area — and beyond.

The first opera will be "that nose-gay" of operatic literature, the opera even those who don't like opera enjoy, Puccini's "La Boheme." Of particular interest to Newark residents is the fact that a young soprano very much associated with our part of New Castle County will be singing the role of Musetta. She is Erin Windle, no stranger to Newark area stages, daughter of Herbert B. Windle, outstanding music educator of the Newark School District.

Windle performed both at Newark and Chistiana high schools during her younger years and appeared with the late Don Rittenhouse in one of his children's opera productions. Since that time she has expanded her performing venues and roles considerably.

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

She has sung Olympia in "Les Contes d'Hoffmann," Adel in "Die Fledermaus," Norina in "Don Pasquale," Glauce in "Medea," Blondchen in "Die Entführung aus dem Serail," Maria in "La Fille du Regiment," Queen of the Night in "Die Zauberflöte," and I think you see what I mean, even from that incomplete listing. I am really looking forward to enjoying her artistry on the stage of the Grand Opera House, site of all OperaDelaware performances.

Others in the "La Boheme" cast are Barton Green, Rodolfo, Kelly Kaduce, Mimi, Jeffrey Ray as Marcello, Ed Barra as Colline, Patrick Evans as Schaunard and Alan Wagner as both Benoit and Alcindoro. David Wroe will conduct and Lee Kimball will direct the production, something he has been wanting to do for several seasons. OperaDelaware hasn't presented this opera since 1922. It will find many friends in the Grand anxiously awaiting its return on Oct. 28, Nov. 2, 4 and 5.

As a special added treat this year, OperaDelaware will present the Teatro, Lirico d'Europa in a production of Verdi's "Aida." There will be only two performances of the tragic masterpiece on March 31. You may remember the company for the magnificent job they did at Delaware's Center for the Performing Arts last season in Puccini's "Turandot."

The third of the major operas to be presented is Offenbach's "Les Contes d'Hoffmann." (You can't say Kimball has scheduled an "easy" season.) The demands put on the main singers are many, both vocally and theatrically.

That is especially true of the villains and the lovers of Hoffmann. All of the villains will be performed by Eduadro, Chama and all of the lovers by Alison Charney.

Both are ready for their multiple roles. Charney is fresh from performances of the title role in "Tosca" and Micaela in "Carmen." Chama just finished a stint at the New York City Opera as Leporello in "Don Giovanni." Gran Wilson will sing the role of the besieged Hoffmann and Jennifer Cooper will sing Nicklausse, the Muse and the Mother.

The opera will be conducted by David Lawton and directed by John Lehmeyer. Performance dates are April 28, May 3, 5 and 6.

On March 3 and 4, the Family Opera Theater will offer "The Cricket in Times Square." It is a charming tale of a cricket who learns to sing opera arias. It should be a lot of fun for the whole family. Evelyn Swenson will conduct and direct.

For more information about the operas, including a colorful brochure, or for tickets, you may stop by the Grand box office at 818 Market Street, or reach them by phone at 302-652-5577 or 1-800-37 GRAND; on the World Wide Web at Encampments of Civil War reenactors will sprout up in the park while some of the soldiers wait to be taken over to Fort Delaware.

In the afternoon, a Victorian Fashion Show will flaunt the "latest" styles for men, women, and children. And if one tires of strolling, there will be horse and carriage rides as well as pony rides.

Many varieties of food will be available, from hot dogs to crab cakes and water ice to apple pie. In the late afternoon there will be a pit-barbecue dinner.

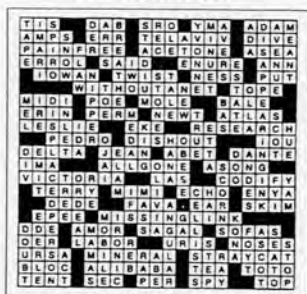

Come dusk, visitors will be entertained by the Chesapeake Brass Band. The band has 35

It's Bilbo's BIRTHDAY PARTY!

Fantasy arts and games, door prizes, storytelling, limericks and videos mark the 20th annual Bilbo's Birthday Party on Friday, Sept. 22 from 2 to 7 p.m. at Days of Knights on Main Street, Newark.

For fantasy buffs, Sept. 22 is a very significant date — the day that Bilbo Baggins, the beloved hero created by J. R. R. Tolkien in his classic fantasy trilogy, "The Lord of the Rings," celebrates his 111th birthday.

In 1937, Tolkien, an English professor at Oxford University, published "The Hobbit," his first tale of this member of a furry-footed diminutive race called hobbits. In this fantasy classic, Baggins went on an adventure with 13 dwarves and a wizard. Along the way, he encountered elves, trolls, goblins, and a fire-breathing dragon. And, in the end he found treasure and literary immortality.

Each year, the Days of Knights and its Game Club invite the public to venture into the realm of Tolkien's Middle Earth with a day-long celebration.

A variety of activities and contests echo the fantasy theme. The public is invited to don medieval garb for the occasion. Attendees can vie for prizes in the "Rogue's Gallery" Costume Contest, "Riddles in the Dark" Tolkien Trivia Jeopardy, and a Tolkien Limerick Contest.

"The hobbits had a wonderful birthday tradition — they gave presents to their guests, rather than receiving them," said store manager John M. Corradin. "In true hobbit spirit we give of ourselves to all of our guests from free cake and punch to a wide variety of prizes."

Glasgow soccer knocks off Christiana

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

What a difference three weeks makes.

Early in preseason practice Glasgow High soccer coach Bob Bussiere was concerned with what he was seeing from his team. Some tough scrimmages and a team trip to Connecticut, though, brought the team together. Wednesday night the Dragons knocked off Flight A and Christina District rival Christiana 3-0 to pick up its second straight win to start the season.

Glasgow broke a scoreless tie with two quick goals in the game's 47th and 48th minutes. The first came from freshman Tolu Olowalafe, who beat Christiana keeper Steve White. Junior David Nimroozzi blasted home the second one on a direct kick. Nimroozzi also scored on another set piece in the match's 68th minute.

"To be honest, no way I thought we'd be able to compete like this, this early," Bussiere said after the victory over the Vikings. "We're still a work in progress but hopefully we can still get better."

One area where the Dragons will have a tough time getting better is on the set pieces.

"He's just very good at it," Bussiere said of Nimroozzi. "We didn't teach him, he just came in here with that kind of talent. He's been hurt a little bit so we've been cautious with him. But he's just good at it."

Bussiere was also impressed with his freshman goal scorer.

"For a freshman up top, he was good," the coach said. "We have some good players, so he's not going to be a focal point. But he is probably our best attacking player."

The scoreless first half was able to establish anything.

"I felt we were kind of nervous," Bussiere said. "We were playing without our captain (Rob Poore), who was serving a suspension for getting a red card in our first game and this was a big Flight A game. I just think we were kind of wondering what to do out there in the first half."

"We talked about coming together more in the second half. We were just stretched out all over the place in that first half and we couldn't get anything going."

Glasgow also got a strong game from goalkeeper Matt Smith, who is taking over from the state player of the year David Scruggs. Smith made six saves.

"I thought [Smith] played well, he's been waiting his turn," Bussiere said. "I thought he was OK in our game (a 4-1 win) against Charter, but I thought he did a better job tonight as far as positioning and just being more assertive."

Glasgow outshot Christiana 14-8 and White, the Vikings' goalkeeper, had nine saves.

Glasgow opened its season Saturday with a 4-1 victory over Wilmington Charter. The Dragons were scheduled to play St. Elizabeth next.

Newark wins opener

Jackets blank Sallies 32-0

By JERRY RHODES
NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

You could call it the quiet before the swarm.

The quiet came during a scoreless first quarter of a non-conference game between Salesianum and defending Division I state champion Newark.

The Yellowjacket swarm began late in the second quarter when Drew Kisner outran several Sals defenders for the first touchdown in a 32-0 Newark victory.

The Yellowjackets did have some big plays in the first quarter of their home opener, including a long run by Nelson Drew, deep into Salesianum territory, but the play was called back due to a holding penalty on Newark.

While penalties would continue to hurt Newark in the first quarter, the Yellowjacket defense kept the Sals from mounting any kind of extended drive despite the credible passing efforts of quarterback Jason Bolinski.

"We did our share of self damage in the first quarter," said Newark coach Butch Simpson. "In the second quarter we made some adjustments, and then we began to execute things a little better."

Part of this improved execution was a 65-yard drive by the Yellowjackets late in the first half, when junior quarterback Erec Spiese connected on four of five passes to set up Drew Kisner's 24-yard touchdown run that gave Newark a 7-0 halftime lead.

"Erec is throwing a lot more," Simpson said. "That let us open up our offense a bit."

Newark really opened things up in the second half when Nelson Drew, a transfer from Caravel Academy, ran for a 21-yard touchdown with eight minutes left in the third quarter.

Drew added his second touchdown on the night when he dodged, ducked and sprinted the width of the end zone for a 2-yard touchdown with 5:15 left in the fourth quarter.

Running back Brad Needham gave Newark its final score on a one-yard run late in the fourth quarter. John Brayman added another dimension to Newark's scoring capabilities by booting a pair of field goals, including one for 43 yards with just over a minute left in the third quarter.

The Yellowjackets got outstanding defensive performances from Orien Harris, Awet Estifanos and junior linebacker Austin Kisner, who seemed to be

St. Mark's rally stuns Christiana

Spartans win first-ever game on campus

By JOE BACKER
NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Overcoming opening day jitters, oppressive heat and humidity and a considerable size difference, the St. Mark's Spartans rallied from a 15-point deficit to defeat Christiana 28-22 Saturday afternoon in the first-ever varsity football game played on the St. Mark's campus.

The Spartans scored 21 straight points in the second half to earn the victory.

"It was an exciting game and it was definitely a motivating factor to play the opening game here at school," said St. Mark's coach Vinnie Scott, echoing the sentiments of many of the 2,000 fans. "It was the first, but unfortunately it may also be the last game we'll play here."

Christiana coach Marvin Spence chose not to elaborate on the game, but said, "I'm disappointed for my players at the outcome of the game."

Christiana opened the scoring with an impressive 62-yard drive in only four plays to take a 6-0 lead. Viking running back Danny Foster scampered 42 yards for the score.

The Spartans countered with a balanced passing and running attack led by quarterback Mike Lemon and running back Mark Rash. A 10-play, 68-yard drive was capped by a touchdown pass from Lemon to Josh Radulski. The successful extra point gave St. Mark's a 7-6 lead.

"Mike is a great competitor," Scott said. "He works very hard in practice every day and I'm sure he'll get better every game. Mark's a real competitor, too. One guy alone couldn't tackle him, he had a great game for us." Christiana, behind the work of its big offensive line, began moving the ball on the Spartans. Following a Spartan fumble, the Vikings marched 55 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. The score came on a 32-yard pass from quarterback Jeff Tatnall to Lerl Morris. Tatnall then found Foster in the back of the end zone for the two-point conversion, giving Christiana a 14-7 lead.

The Vikings continued to pound the ball on the ground but were unable to score. That changed, however, when defensive back Willie Milem stepped in front of a Spartan receiver and raced 45 yards for a Christiana touchdown. The score and two-point conversion improved the Vikings' lead to 22-7.

Christiana, though, committed a series of turnovers to open the door of opportunity for the Spartans.

"We just made a lot of mistakes in the second half," Tatnall said. "And it finally killed us."

The turning point came with about a 1:30 left in the third quarter when Geoff Ashton intercepted a Tatnall pass and ran 25 yards for a touchdown to close the gap to 22-13.

St. Mark's then went to work on the ground as Rash scored two fourth quarter touchdowns (six and 21 yards) to give the Spartans the lead.

"Both teams looked to be in pretty good shape," Scott said of the day's heat. "But I think our smaller team was a little better to handle the heat and play well in the second half."

The Spartans' Ashton said the team noticed the Viking players tiring in the second half.

Glasgow High soccer team looks to rebuild

Dragons must replace 12 seniors

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Glasgow soccer coach Bob Bussiere finds himself in a much different situation this season after graduating 12 seniors from last year's squad.

Included among those 12 were state player of the year David Scruggs and four other players that earned All-State recognition. It's easy to see why Bussiere feels this will be a challenging year for the Dragons.

"It's a whole new approach," said Bussiere, who is entering his ninth season as the Dragons' coach. "I have to be much more patient and I have to stress that we have to get better every day. We have to establish a foundation and just keep getting better. We want to be better in October than we were in September. Then, maybe, we can get into the tournament. Once you're in the tournament, anything can happen."

"But right now, we just have to concentrate on getting better."

One obstacle that Bussiere had right from the beginning was the relative short preseason. School started earlier this year and that meant less practice opportunities.

"Of all the years for us to have this, it figures it's this year when we need the practice the most," he said. "But there's two ways we can look at it. We can say we're not going to be as good as we have been for the past four or five years or we can buckle down and work at it."

After a slow start to the pre-season, Bussiere feels his team has finally adapted the latter approach.

"We went on a trip to Connecticut to see some great college games and we scrimmaged a couple of state champions from Massachusetts and New York," Bussiere said. "Finally, while we were there, we showed some signs of coming around."

Newcomers expected to contribute include junior midfielder Matt Scherr and junior forward Mike Ruggiano. Bussiere also singled out freshman midfielder Tolu Olowalafe as someone that will contribute this season.

involved in just about every Newark tackle.

The Sals did stage a late-game rally, but were stopped on the Newark 6-yard line with less than 30 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter.

"We're pleased with the final result," Simpson said. "When we have a long history of playing Salesianum, you have your share of grief, so I'm very glad we did so well against a very strong opponent."

Although Simpson is now in his 24th season as head coach of the Yellowjackets, he said there are always things to worry about when any team takes to the field for the first time.

"In preseason, you work on skills rather than concepts, so it isn't until the season begins that you try to bring it all together," Simpson said.

"You're never really comfortable, because you don't know how they will perform."

While looking ahead to next week's game with always thought Caesar Rodney, Simpson was glad to have the first game out of the way.

"I'm pleased with our performance in the first game against a quality opponent like Salesianum," Simpson said. "Now, we know there are more things we have to do."

Blue Hens prep for big game against No. 4 Hofstra

Big win over The Citadel provides momentum

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

In most cases it's pretty tough to make a case for an early-season non-conference game being a big one. For the University of Delaware football team, however, this week's game against Hofstra is an easy sell.

The Pride is 2-0, with a big road victory over then No. 2 Montana and a comeback victory over Maine, and is ranked fourth in this week's I-AA poll.

The Hens, ranked No. 11 this week, are also off to a fine start, winning their first two games convincingly. The 38-0 victory over The Citadel Saturday proved to be a stellar defensive effort.

"This is a big challenge for us," said Delaware coach Tubby Raymond. "When we go to Hofstra we can get it. They're not ranked where they are by accident. There are a lot of people that think they're pretty good." Hofstra enters the game with its typically explosive run-and-shoot offense. First-year starter Rocky Butler has done a superb job of replacing All-American quarterback Gino Carmazzi. The Pride racked up a school-record 705 yards of offense in its 51-30 victory over Maine.

In addition, the Pride also has displayed a good defense.

"We're pleasantly surprised to be 2-0 at this point," said Hofstra coach Joe Gardi, who brings an 0-1-1 record against Delaware into Saturday night's game. "We held a Montana team that averaged 47 points per game last year to just nine. Against Maine, our defense really didn't come to play early in the game. But our offense was there and our defense toughened in the second half."

As big as the game appears to be for Delaware and its fans, it's even bigger for Hofstra. It marks the first time since 1969 that the Hens have traveled to Hempstead.

"We're very excited about Delaware coming here," Gardi said. "It's nice after having to play down there a couple of times to have Delaware come up here. We're obviously developing a nice rivalry with Delaware in basketball and I think we're getting there in football as well."

Gardi is hoping for a big crowd at Hofstra's new stadium.

"We hope to have a nice crowd," he said. "I'd like to see it get near 15,000 and a sellout. I just hope it's not all Delaware fans."

Gardi also realizes that this Delaware team appears to be on the rise.

"I see a defense that has been awesome," he said. "They have great team speed on defense. But we've got to play our game. As tough as it is for us to simulate the Wing-T in practice, I think our run-and-shoot poses some problems for them to look at in practice. It takes different types of players to run these offenses and it really makes it tough to practice against."

The Delaware defense has been dominating in its first two outings. The Hens have allowed just seven points, 13 first downs and 174 total yards in two games. It marks the first time in school history that the defense has held two straight opponents to less than 100 yards.

"I don't know if it's just that we've faced two modest offenses," Raymond said of the defense's success. "Or if we're for real. I know will get that test with Hofstra this week."

What is for real is the improved intensity and speed on the defensive side of the ball.

"We've talked about a renewed commitment to hardness and intensity," Raymond said. "That's what football is all about."

And while Raymond and Delaware realize how big of a game this is for Hofstra, they also recognize the importance for the Hens.

"We still have the conference," Raymond said. "But the game still represents a parachute for us in case we don't win the (Atlantic-10) championship. That's why it's important."

Pressey leads nation

Former Newark High running back Butter Pressey is tied for the NCAA I-AA lead in scoring with 30 points on five touchdowns in two games. He has scored two touchdowns rushing, two receiving and one on a 90-yard kickoff return.

Pressey needs just 175 yards to reach 1,000 for his career.

POST PICKS OF THE WEEK

NEWARK (1-0) VS. CAESAR RODNEY (0-0) — Friday night at Newark's Hoffman Stadium, 7. The Yellowjackets were impressive in an opening victory over Salesianum while the Riders didn't get a chance to play because of a scheduling snafu. CR has a big and very good offensive line. The Riders have no secret that they want to be a power team this season. Newark remembers how good that line was last season as CR handed the Jackets their only loss in the last three years. CR certainly has Newark's attention. It should be a good early-season test for both teams. Look for the Jackets to avenge last season's loss. The Pick: Newark 15, CR 7.

CHRISTIANA (0-1) VS. DOVER (1-0) — Saturday afternoon at Christiana's

Coder Field, 1. The Vikings had a bitter loss last week at St. Mark's. That certainly was not a game that the team expected to lose, especially after jumping to a big lead. You can bet Christiana will be ready to play four quarters this week. The Vikings will need to be ready to play because the Senators were impressive in an opening week victory over Glasgow. Dover has one of the best receivers in the state in Jason Lilly and comes into the game on a high. If Christiana wants to live up to its own preseason hype, it will have to have a better showing this week. We look for the Vikings to bounce back strong. The Pick: Christiana 22, Dover 13.

CARAVEL (0-1) VS. LAUREL (0-1) — Friday night at Caravel, 7:30. These are two of the state's better Division II teams and neither one can be happy after opening night losses. That makes this game even bigger as falling to 0-2 could seriously hurt any at-large state tournament berth aspirations. We still believe the Bucs are a team that can challenge for a Division II title. But they'll have to win this week to prove it. We think that they'll bounce back strongly. The Pick: Caravel 28, Laurel 20.

HODGSON (1-0) VS. SUSSEX TECH (0-1) — Saturday morning at Hodgson, 11. The Silver Eagles got their season off to an impressive start with a big victory over Polytech. Hodgson should be able to keep its momentum going this weekend as well. Sussex Tech dropped its opener and, with Bill Collick as coach, will probably improve as the season goes on. Right now, though, the Silver Eagles should be the better team. The Pick: Hodgson 21, Sussex Tech 6.

ST. MARK'S (1-0) AT CONCORD — Saturday morning at Concord, 10:30. The Spartans are coming off a very emotional win and week-end. They got to play their first-ever home game on the St. Mark's campus and earned an unbelievable come-from-behind victory over a very tough Christiana team. This week's game will be a return to normality. The question is whether St. Mark's can match the emotional high it had last week. We think if the Spartans were good enough to beat Christiana, they should be good enough to top the Raiders. The Pick: St. Mark's 21, Concord 13.

Spartan gridders have good attitude

By JOE BACKER

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The St. Mark's High football team may have a difficult time returning to the state championship game this season. Last year, the Spartans surprised everyone by upsetting undefeated Caesar Rodney in a thrilling semifinal and playing Newark in the title game.

This year's squad has only 10 returning seniors, but a lot of good younger players. Spartan coach Vinnie Scott, now in his ninth season, said he's optimistic about this group.

"The team is very good fundamentally, with good work ethic and a wonderful team spirit," Scott said. "I know they'll develop, but it's a matter of how soon, hopefully we'll improve throughout the year."

Scott hopes to develop a more balanced attack on offense this season.

"We hope to throw the ball more this year. If we can get the ball to our skill players, they will do some real damage," Scott said.

This year's offense will be led by 6-foot, 5-inch quarterback Mike Lemon. Scott said Lemon has had good concentration in the preseason and is reading defenses very well. Lemon will likely throw to Josh Radulski, Mark Rash and Rob Mullen. Transfer student Michael Page should also see plenty of playing time.

The Spartans will once again play a tough schedule, including Newark and Salesianum. They'll also travel out of state to play West Chester East and Owen Roberts.

Despite the loss of many key players from the 1999 team, Scott refused to call this a rebuilding year.

"We'll take the season one game at a time, because you never know what's going to happen," he said. "I just hope we can improve as the year progresses."

Two veteran linebackers — Rash and Jeff Ashton — are expected to anchor the Spartan defense. Radulski is also expected to have a strong season at defensive end. According to Scott, the balance of the defense will consist of first-time starters.

Overall, the team is not as big as it was last season. But, Scott said, "We have some big freshmen trying out this season that may be huge by the time they are seniors."

Scott is also happy with the team's attitude.

"This team is really very attentive to my instructions and is a pleasure to coach, so regardless of the win-loss record, the team is a winner as far as I'm concerned."

all-state honors. They set a very high standard of excellence for this team to see."

Cataldi inducted into Hall of Fame

Former Newark resident Domenico "Buddy" Cataldi, voted best athlete in his Fork Union Class of 1948, was inducted into the Fork Union (Va.) Military Academy's Sports Hall of Fame.

Cataldi captained the Academy basketball team and was named to the All-State basketball team from 1946-1948, and the All-State Virginia Military Academy squad in 1947.

He still plays sports as a member of the All-Star 70-plus Softball travel team and the San Diego Top Guns, finalists for the senior softball world championship in 1997.

Glasgow plays the always rugged Flight A schedule plus non-conference games against Caesar Rodney, Middletown, Salesianum, Dover, Garnet Valley and Wilmington Christian. "I expect us to struggle some early," Bussiere said. "But I think we can keep getting better. They've already come a long way from where they started."

JOB OPPORTUNITY

Chesapeake Publishing Corp.'s respected community newspapers-The Newark Post and The Route 40 Flier-has the following immediate full-time opening:

ASSISTANT EDITOR

Founded in 1994, The Route 40 Flier has become an important "house organ" to residents of the fast-growing, suburban Delaware communities of Bear and Glasgow. This is a beginning editor's position, where a qualified candidate can cut their editorial teeth in a safe, supportive newsroom environment. In addition to reporting and writing, this working editor is responsible for processing and making decisions involving processing of all copy, editorials, story selection and page design of the weekly.
