Christina cleans up school in time for classes

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The work is done at Jennie Smith Elementary School but some parents are skeptical the problems are solved.

Christina School District Superintendent Iris Metts met Aug. 23 with parents and put Dr. Capes Riley, district assistant superintendent of planning and facilities management, in charge of the Smith project.

The meeting came about after some parents entered the school expecting repair work to be completed during the summer and found — two weeks before the first day of school — a gym without tile, a leaking roof with buckets set up to catch water and water-stained ceiling tiles hanging in hallways.

But with hard work, swift action and overtime pay to workers for putting in 12-14 hour days and working on Saturdays — major repairs were made to Smith and threats of parents picketing ceased.

The school's gymnasium has been redone with a new floor, new metal roof, repainted walls and new window shades on order and planned to be up within three weeks.

Riley said other reported roof leaks were repaired throughout the school and a drain was added so rain runs off the roof.

Also, damaged ceiling tiles, electrical fixtures and cracked floor tiles damaged from the roof leakage have been fixed and the ventilation system has been professionally cleaned by an outside company.

Batta, an independent environmental testing agency, conducted a walk through of the school and reported,

"the quality of the indoor environment is satisfactory."

"It's (the school) in real good shape," Riley said. "I think the district has met its commitment to the parents."

"I will continue to do my part, even though I have 31 other buildings to maintain in the district, to keep this building in shape," Riley said.

"I appreciate what Mr. Riley has accomplished in a few weeks. It's what the school has been trying to get done for over a year," said Smith Parent Karen Kolodi.

The Batta report and Riley said further indoor environmental air monitoring will take place while school is in session and when heating ventilators are running this winter.

Although quick results have been accomplished, some parents are skeptical about what the winter months will bring at the school and that the upkeep will continue.

"Now we'll wait and see what happens to the school when it rains," said Vivian Sartori, vice president of Jennie Smith PTA. "That will be the real test (if the problems are fixed.) We'll be here during the first rain."

Sartori said the parents have formed a group called Children's Rights Coalition and plan to follow the upcoming air quality test. "I'm very, very anxious to see the winter Batta report," she said. "I'll be shocked if the air quality problem is fixed."

"I feel satisfied steps are being made to do things. The gym looks great," said Parent Sue McKone. "I'm still concerned about the air quality of the building, but I feel much better about sending my son to the school than I did two weeks ago."

Heather Jones, third grader at Christiana-Salem Elementary, is greeted by librarian Leslie Friedman on Thursday's first day of the 1994-95 school year.

Local races to be decided in Saturday's primaries

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Both Democratic and Republican voters in the greater Newark area have a primary race to vote in this Saturday.

Registered Democrats in the area will have two primary decisions to make.

The race between two political newcomers, Paul G. Clark (D) and Anthony J. Deluca (D) for the 11th State Senate District is probably the most hotly contested in the area.

The seat opened up when Sen. Roger A. Martin announced he will retire after 22 years in the 11th District.

The senator endorses Clark for the position.

Deluca is backed by the AFL-CIO and Sen. Thomas Sharp (D-Pinecrest), the former majority leader in the Senate.

The winner of this race will go on to oppose Donna Reed (R), another newcomer to politics.

In addition to state primaries, New Castle County Council Democratic candidates David Lohoefer and incumbent Christopher J. Roberts will vie for the district 6 seat.

The county's district 6 area encompasses the Bear/Glasgow area and continues south to the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal. Issues surrounding the area's fast-paced growth rate are often discussed during council meetings.

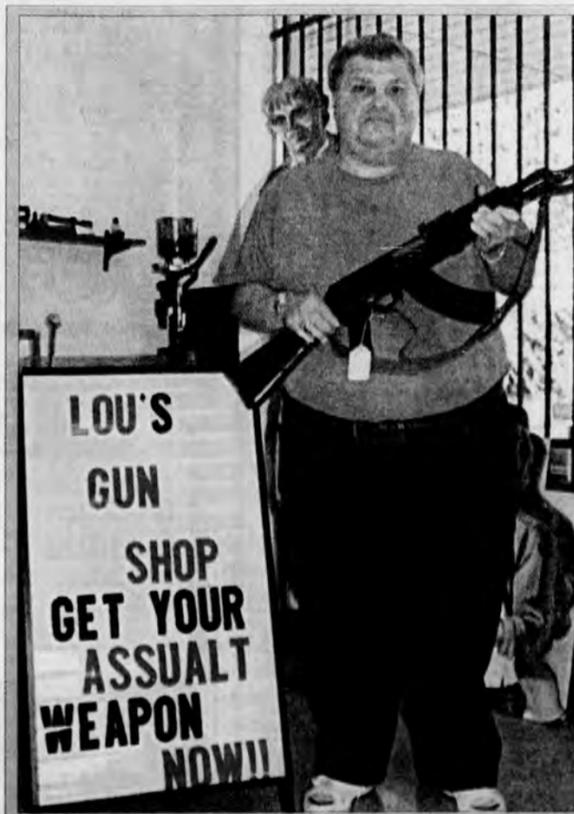

The winner of this race will oppose Erik L. Adams (R). Registered Republicans also will decide on two races.

State Representative Steve Amick (R) and Nancy S. Kelsch (R) will compete for the Republican slot in the 10th State Senate District race.

This seat also was opened by the decision of long-time GOP incumbent Sen. James P. Neal, to retire. He announced last fall he would not seek reelection after 21 years of service.

Amick currently holds the state representative seat in District 25. He announced he would run for the senatorial seat soon after Neal said he would retire.

Lou DiLeonardo hopes to sell more assault weapons before the ban.

Local owner could be blown away by new law

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

REPERCUSSIONS from the passage of the federal crime bill, which bans assault weapons, have already surfaced in one local gun store.

Although assault weapons sales have increased since the bill passed, Lou DiLeonardo-owner of Lou's Gun Shop In Meadowood Shopping Center off Kirkwood Highway, predicted that ultimately "it will probably" put him "out of business."

The assault weapon, which is categorized as a semi-automatic gun that holds more than 10 bullets, is no more dangerous than many other "legal" guns, according to DiLeonardo. Now that the gun is almost unavailable, the gun store owner said it is on its way to becoming a collector's item.

The weapon sold for $250-$400 a year ago, and last week DiLeonardo sold one for $2,100. "The assault weapon ban is the biggest joke in the world," DiLeonardo said. "There are 10,000 gun laws on the books now and it hasn't stopped crime."

Since the bill has passed, DiLeonardo said more people have been looking for guns. Whether guns are assault weapons or revolvers, people appear to be buying them because they fear the opportunity to buy them

District task force studies magnet schools

By HEATHER HARTRIM
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Christina School District's Community Task Force will be easing into the second phase of their effort to reform the district as a result of unitary status.

Unitary status calls for the release of court ordered desegregation.

The task force, which is composed of Newark and Wilmington parents and residents, was started eight months ago to explore different models of schools in order to make a recommendation to the Christina School Board.

"The task force is a sample of the diversity of opinions in the community," Superintendent Dr. Iris Metts said.

Thus far, the meetings have provided information to the members about the make up of a school district. Materials have been presented on topics such as transportation, money management, building maintenance and restructuring.

Different models of schools have also been presented. Dr. Peter Demyan, assistant superintendent for instruction, made a presentation on magnet schools. He came to the district from Lorain, Ohio, where he started a magnet program. He also started a program in Yakima, Wash.

Magnet programs were originally designed to accomplish voluntary desegregation by attracting ethnically diverse students to schools based on their curriculum rather than on location at traditional public schools do, according to the U.S. Department of Education.

"Magnet schools are driven by student, parent, and teacher interests," Demyan said.

Marijuana plants found growing on UD property

Delaware State and University of Delaware police officers spent time Sept. 4 cutting down about 68 marijuana plants, which were growing on University of Delaware property.

David Citro of the Delaware State police said the plants were growing in the middle of a cornfield on the Morris Farm off Polly Drummond Hill Road near Newark and were discovered by officers in a state police helicopter flying over the area.

Police said the plants were about 5 to 6 feet tall and would yield about 10 pounds of drugs with a street value of between $15-18 thousand dollars.

The plants, police said, will be destroyed. Police are investigating to find out who grew the plants.

Reed to vie for 11th senate district seat in November

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE Donna Reed decided to run for the 11th senatorial district in Newark because she believes she has the energetic leadership needed for change.

Reed was months into her campaign against 22-year incumbent Sen. Roger Martin (D-Windy Hills) when he announced his retirement from office.

Although her opponent has changed, her ambition is the same — to be elected to the Delaware Senate because she believes she can do the best job of working for the people.

"I'm concerned and committed to see the needs of the people are represented," Reed said, when asked why people should vote for her. "I'm not afraid of a challenge."

Reed said to stay assessable to the public, if elected, she will attend civic association and community meetings, return phone calls, listen to and actively work on complaints of constituents.

Reed, 37, is a home-bound instructor, teaching children with long-term illnesses at home or in hospitals, for the Christina and Colonial school districts. Her education includes a bachelor's degree in elementary education from the Baptist Bible College in Missouri and 10 graduate credits from the University of Delaware.

She said education is where she wants to put her efforts. "I am against forced busing," Reed said. "The need for it has passed because the Newark area is integrated."

She said she believes control of public schools needs to go back to the local school districts and wants to see some changes made in the way public schools receive funding.

"There is too much disparity in pay for Delaware teachers as compared to other states," Reed said. She believes a lot of good teachers have been lost to surrounding states because of higher pay.

She wants to see not just local taxes and state monies going to public schools but alternative ways of funding, for example lottery and slots revenues.

Reed also believes students with discipline problems need to be school in alternative buildings and options of choice and magnet schools need to be offered by public schools.

On the healthcare issue, she wants to make sure people are protected in Delaware from any healthcare legislation which comes down federally. "We want to provide services to the truly needy, but not risk losing services we already have," Reed said.

Reed said she wants to see small business owners pooling together to get inexpensive healthcare and affordable health clinics available to the working poor.

She said she also favors term limits for politicians because of the unfair advantage incumbents have when running for reelection.

Her community involvement includes Stubbs PTA Committee Chair 1993-94, Cobbs PTA president 1992-93, legislative representative for Cobbs and Stubbs PTA, vice-president of Breezewood II Civic Association, Den Mother for Cub Scouts and weekend manager with the Ronald McDonald House 1991-93.

Reed is married to her husband, Chris, of 15 years. They have two sons, Christopher, 11 and Kyle, 8.

Reed's opponent will be decided in tomorrow's primary race between Paul G. Clark and Anthony J. DeLuca.

Baby drowns in pool

New Castle County police are investigating the apparent drowning death of a 17-month-old boy which occurred Sept. 1 in a backyard swimming pool in Newark.

The child was from Sussex County and was with his mother visiting relatives in Newark, when the accident occurred in .

Police received a call in regard to a child found in the swimming pool at a house on Harmony Road in Tanglewood in Newark.

New Castle County police officers and paramedics performed CPR on the child and transported the boy to the Christiana Hospital Emergency Room, where he was pronounced dead.

The child's body was turned over to the Delaware State Medical Examiner's Office for an autopsy to determine the exact cause of death.

Police report investigation continues and at this time it is not known how the child entered the pool and how long he was there before being found.

Bear/Glasgow meeting to discuss town center

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A possible town focal center for the Pencader Hundred area will be the main topic at the Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations Sept. 12 at 7 p.m. in Room 209 at the Glasgow Medical Center.

Slides from a recent trip to the Kent Lands and Columbia, Md., and some from historic New Castle will be presented.

The council is trying to get as much public input as possible and is planning to take it's slide show on the road. The show is booked for various civic organizations and clubs, such as the Lions Club, for the next few months.

Bryan Shuler, director of planning for New Castle County, will attend Monday's meeting and be available to answer questions.

Stephanie Hansen, president of the Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations, said she is eager to get community input concerning the town center.

"We have developers chomping at the bit for us to go ahead with these presentations so they can go ahead with their projects and incorporate their ideas," Hansen said.

Gun sales affected

► GUNS, from 1A

will be limited, according to DiLeonardo.

"There is a little bit of a scare going on now," DiLeonardo said. "People are more afraid of the prices then what they're buying. Some people are buying the assault weapons as collector's items, hoping to sell them in a year or two for 'big money.'"

No time limits have been set for the ban on assault weapons yet. DiLeonardo said no one has told him when to stop selling them. He speculated that legislatures are avoiding a publicly announced deadline for fear everyone will rush to buy an assault weapon before they are outlawed.

NEWARK VETERANS GROUP HONORED

American Legion celebrates anniversary

By ELMER SAXTON
SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

The Newark American Legion Post 10 in Newark recently celebrated its 65th anniversary.

The American Legion was born nationally in a caucus held in Paris in 1919 and has grown to the nation's largest military and naval veterans' organization, currently with more than 3 million members.

Locally the Newark American Legion came to be in 1929 when meetings were first held in the basement of the old Academy Building.

The legion moved to the building later occupied by Hadley Plumbing & Heating on Cleveland Ave. and started one of Newark's earliest bowling alleys. The bowling alley was moved with the legion when they later occupied a building on Main Street.

Funds generated from bowling helped early members to acquire the Community Center in the George Reed Village for the post. This property was across from Newark High and the early facilities included several swings, slides, a wading pool and a "Backstop" but no complete baseball or softball diamond.

Tenants included later, the Newark Parks & Recreation Service, meeting facilities for a church, karate classrooms, distribution points for food for needy families in addition to the normal post meetings and social facilities.

Currently, Post 10 of the American Legion shares building space with the Newark VFW Post 475 located off Elkton Road.

The American Legion Motto "For God and Country" emphasizes the meaning of organization. The legion is dedicated to its precept "to promote peace and good will on earth."

Post 10 has attained all time highs in membership enrollment during the past two years, reaching a high of 241.

Principle details since its inception have been centered upon the veteran and family members, the community, state and nation and those items incident to the promotion of law and order, defense of the nations, causing our associations in periods of strife to be remembered and memorialized and to help each other as best we can.

Programs in which Post 10 is involved in at present include: volunteer work at the Veterans Affairs Hospital, working with youth, conducting Post social activities, sponsoring contestants in oratorical contests, scouting, entrants in Boys and Girls State, planning parades, needy family projects, Reserve Officers Training at the University of Delaware and Junior Reserve Officer Training at the high school level.

Any honorably discharged veteran of the United States Armed Forces is eligible for membership. For more information, call Joseph Hoar at 234-0592 or Edward Knight at 998-9448.

Remember to vote

EVEN THOUGH IT SEEMS MORE like football season or soccer season or sneak one more weekend at the beach season, it's also election season.

Fall Saturdays are probably not the most convenient time for people to take time to vote but that, fortunately or unfortunately, are when the primaries are scheduled.

There are races for both Democratic and Republican voters in the Newark area to decide.

Both state and county primaries are on the docket and with them are several hot issues.

The Christina Bypass is a big issue for many residents of the 10th State Senate District.

"No Bypass, No Vote" has been the cry from West Main St. residents. It would be a shame to do all grassroots work that already has been done and then waste it away by not voting.

This is a perfect example of how, we the people, actually do have a voice. We have to take advantage of one of the few vehicles we have left to determine policy, especially in a situation — like the primaries — where a few hundred votes can swing an election one way or the other.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.

If you are registered (if not, remember to do so before the November election) to vote and will be around Saturday, make the small effort to get to the appropriate polling place.

If you have any questions about where to go to vote please call the Department of Elections at 577-3464.

MRS. RODGERS' NEIGHBORHOOD

Bypass is definitely needed

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

MEETING PEOPLE is one of the things I like best about my job and I believe I've even managed to make some friends, but there is one drawback.

While covering controversial issues, a lot of people stop to ask what I think.

My standard answer has always been — "I'm not paid to have an opinion, I just try to be fair."

However, there is one issue in Newark about which I would like to comment. That is the proposed Christina Bypass.

I was telling an out-of-town friend about the road this weekend and he asked, "The Christina Bypass...is it a road, an operation or a birth control device?"

I have to admit, I laughed for a while at the irony in that question.

In fact, the road does seem to be an abortion of sorts — a beltway bun taken out of the heat of the oven so many times that it is seemingly impossible to put back in.

After a good laugh, my thoughts soon returned to the day I visited some residents on West Main Street — where trucks barrel down the road day and night.

I wasn't living in Delaware when the road was proposed in 1953. I wasn't even born, and because of the relatively short time I've been in Delaware I usually try to stay neutral in both thought and word.

But no one could spend time on West Main Street and not feel for its residents. I've driven on the street amongst the trucks many times, but until recently I'd never stopped to walk the street.

Rodgers

I was truly appalled at what I saw and more accurately, what I felt and heard.

To begin with, the residents I interviewed had to lead me to the rear of their homes so I could hear what they had to say. The noise from passing trucks was so loud we had to shout to be heard or wait for the truck to pass in order to continue.

MUSED, AMUSED, BEMUSED

Before I knocked on any doors, however, several tractor trailers breezed by and I could feel the ground shake.

I heard many stories, too numerous to list them all, about the problems residents are forced to endure because of truck traffic. Pictures rattling on the walls, plaster chipping, diesel fumes eroding outside siding, trucks too big to fit on the roads and noise so deafening people can't open their front windows on a nice day.

Residents, some who have lived on the street their entire lives, have decided to collectively channel their frustrations. They are sending a message to their state representatives, "No Bypass, No Vote."

So the road has now become a political football for candidates in November's election. Soon after the signs were posted, candidates were quick to promise residents the road would be a "top priority."

There is no doubt in my mind that it is a priority, however, I don't believe there is anything our state

Despite help, this Gump is a chump

By MARVIN HUMMEL
NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Reverend really cared for all the people in the little town where he was stationed — and he had a particularly warm concert for one poor soul, Angus Gump. Or he did at one time.

You probably know his first cousin Forrest, and the older ones among you probably remember his uncle Andy. The name "Angus" was from his mother's side, who came from a whole line of Anguses. Distinguished stock, she insists.

Angus was a nice man in his 30s who was neither as mindless as cousin Forrest nor as chinless as Uncle Andy. The Reverend, ever Angus' defender, claimed he simply missed or was unaware of "social signals," and that these could be taught him, thereby bringing Angus into the social matrix. Angus was the Reverend's project.

In the middle of a church service, Angus received a mighty whack from the female worshiper in front of him. While kneeling, the

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

No Wilburfest compromise yet?

To: The Editor
From: Jerry Grant
Newark City Councilman

I am writing in response to "Wilburfest Organizers Compromise with City" (8/26/94) and the accompanying editorial. I feel I should address some errors and omissions in both pieces.

The August 17th meeting was attended by Emmaus House officials, Dale Gravatt, Mary Ellen Green, and Arlene Baxter; Wilburfest organizer Angela Storkman; and City Council Members Hal Godwin and myself. This was the first, exploratory session in what will probably be a series of meetings to discuss Wilburfest's future.

Issues such as ticket prices and attendance limits were considered in a preliminary fashion. I regret that your editorial presents them as etched in stone.

Wilburfest has always paid for its own security. This past spring, the City deemed that security insufficient, and provided extra police. The Wilburfest organizers offered to pay for the additional police during a lively City Council discussion, but their offer was not accepted by Council.

Securing an alternative site will call for careful negotiation, not premature speculation at this early stage in the process.

I'm excited that an agreement may be reached which will enable Wilburfest to maintain its original spirit while protecting the rights of its neighbors.

Soon, we hope a compromise will be achieved through negotiation and cooperation — when that happens, let the headlines roll.

Readers are encouraged to use the Opinion Page to speak their minds. Please remember: Letters should be thought provoking and concise; letters deemed libelous will not be printed; we reserve the right to edit for clarity; and writers must include a telephone number so that letters can be verified prior to publication. OPEN HOUSE AT BRADER representatives can do in the near future.

The road will require cooperation between three states, (Delaware, Pennsylvania and Maryland), time and last but not definitely not least—a lot of money.
I don't want to undermine the efforts of our elected officials because doubtless there are some who are trying to move forward with the road. I do want to express my concern for the safety and well being of people who regularly travel West Main Street or live there.

The Christina Bypass, intended to route Maryland and Pennsylvania traffic around instead of through Newark, is necessary and environmental concerns over lost open space should take a back seat to the welfare of Newark residents.

At the drive-in window, the Reverend sensed something was wrong — he looked in his rear view mirror and saw Angus, the hearse, and a line of cars with their lights on fighting their way through a

"Let's-go-shopping-it's-Saturday' crowd."
Angus kept the hearse door locked and was rightly fearful of opening a window against the blind, boiling wrath of the Reverend.
"I guess this isn't the cemetery is it?" was all the saddest of all Gumps had to say for himself.

These parents are grand

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

This Grandparents Day (Sept. 11) three Newark boys, who attend Downes Elementary School, will be able to celebrate the holiday without leaving home.

These boys are being raised by their grandparents. Each child has been unconditionally welcomed into their grandparent's home as a member of the immediate family after being taken in under exceptional circumstances.

Newarkers Jim, 54, and Arlene, 51, Madewell are raising their grandson, Christopher Madewell 7, for at least the next year until their single-parent daughter can arrange for daycare.

Their daughter, Janice Madewell, 26, is in the United States Navy on active duty stationed in Lexington, Ky. at a reserve center.

"In Lexington, there are no daycares open on weekends," Janice said, "and twice a month with reservists drills, I have to have a babysitter."

She said, even after being in Kentucky for two years, it was getting much more difficult for her to find safe, reliable childcare. "I've been through five or six babysitters," Janice said. "Plus I work 11 hour days and have duty two weekends a month."

Janice said it would be easier if she was stationed at an active duty base where base support services are available.

That, not being the case, about one month ago she asked her parents to raise her son. And her parents said, without hesitation, "he always has a home with us."

Janice said it's hard being separated from her son. "The good thing is I know he is being very well taken care," she said. "They have always been close to Chris. Mom was my Lamaze (childbirth) partner when he was born."

"My parents are very special people," said Janice, who was adopted by them at age 10. "Christopher is like the child they never could have."

The Madewells understand well their daughter's responsibilities, not only to her son, but to the military. Jim retired from the U.S. Army after 20 years. They took care of Chris, from age 6 months to 2 years, when Janice was in basic training and military schools.

"We didn't have one really this young," Arlene said, "but he feels pretty close to ours because we've had him on and off since he's been born."

With raising a child has come adjustments for the Madewells, who both work full-time.

"It's just we're lazier as we get older," said Jim. "We used to come home and relax and now we have to get out and do things."

But they feel blessed. "Not everyone gets to see their grandchildren as often as they want," Jim said. "Not only are we raising him but we are keeping him pointed in the right direction in life."

Christopher said he enjoys doing things with his grandparents. He said he calls his mom when he misses her.

Arlene said he seems to be happier now that his dog Hobo has joined him in Newark.

Janice hopes within the next year she can take care of Chris by either being stationed closer to her parents or setting up a permanent day care situation.

Coach honored for hours of dedication

UNsung HERO

Newarker Mike Von Steuben has recently been named Newark Parks and Recreation Volunteer of the Season for spring-summer 1994.

Von Steuben, a coach with the city for 19 years, said it is nice to be recognized for his coaching.

Parks and Recreation Director Jim Hall said Von Steuben has been a long term volunteer with the city.

"It's probably an unofficial record in the city's history for being a coach," Hall said of Von Steuben's longevity with the Newark parks department.

Hall also said Von Steuben sometimes coaches two teams during a season and that his popularity extends to parents who ask that their children be placed on Von Steuben's teams.

Von Steuben said parents generally appreciate a positive attitude in a coach. "I teach kids some of the fundamentals and make sure they are involved in the game," he said.

When he was a University of Delaware student Von Steuben started working with the City of Newark to earn money by refereeing and umpiring.

"It's like my interest evolved and I took an interest in coaching," Von Steuben said.

With city leagues, he has coached boys basketball, baseball, soccer and girls soccer. He also coaches with the Catholic Youth Organization and manages a Newark American Little League team in the summer.

Von Steuben said he has turned out to be a much better coach than a player.

"Part of it is that I understand how to communicate with kids," he said. "And I develop a system, no matter what the sport, which Von Steuben uses strengths of each kid so it's a positive experience for everyone."

He said while he believes winning is important as a common goal for the whole team, kids can focus on individual goals they want to achieve. For example in basketball each player can focus on rebounding or shot selection.

Von Steuben resides in Fairfield and works as a revenue analyst with Delmarva Power.

Von Steuben said he would not be able to volunteer so regularly without the help of his wife of 15 years, Donna. He said she does the administrative work with coaching and more than her share of work around the house.

They have three children — Karen, 15, David, 12 and Randy, 7.

This fall, Von Steuben will coach his youngest son in the Kirkwood Soccer program.

Single grandparenting tough

Newarker Norma Whallon, 64, has legally adopted one of her grandchildren who she has cared for since he was a baby.

Whallon adopted, Jesse, 7, in 1990. She said her husband and herself cared for him after the state of California took him away from his mother, their daughter, for being negligent.

"My husband and I were appointed guardians or he would have been placed in foster care," Norma said.

"We took him in when he was five months old," Whallon said. "We're the only parents he knows."

She said she is called mom by Jesse because when he was learning to talk she was the one with him. But she has explained to him that he is adopted and she is his grandmother.

"I joke with my other grandchildren that they have to call him Uncle Jesse," she said.

Whallon said raising her grandson was easy until she became a single-parent when her husband died in 1989, just before the legal adoption went through denying the family any financial support from her husband's death benefits.

She said it's both wonderful and very painful to raise her grandchild. "The reason is always painful for a grandparent to be raising a grandchild," Whallon said. "But it is wonderful. No parent could love a child more than I do Jesse."

"He's just like my child. I saw him take his first step and get his first tooth," she said.

But she said it is wonderful raising him and seeing everything through a child's eyes.

'Granny's always there'

Newark grandparents Sandy, 49, and Bill, 50, Houck are raising their grandchild Chris, 8.

Chris has been with his grandparents since he was born. "I've been taking care of him since the day he came home from the hospital," Houck said.

She said her daughter had Chris when she was still living at home but about a year later left home without telling anyone. Houck said she did not hear from her daughter for 13 months.

Now the Houcks are Chris' legal guardians, even though his mom lives in Delaware. "There was never a question to us that he wouldn't live here with us," she said.

Houck said Chris attends the same school her children did, but other things have changed through the years.

"I have more patience with child rearing now that I'm older," she said.

Other differences this time around make parenting tougher. "I didn't work when my kids were home," said Houck. She and her husband both work full-time. "I didn't deal with daycare. It's hard to find really good people to watch children."

Chris is in the aftercare program at Downes Elementary School and Sandy's sister Barbara Urian of Bear helps raise him.

There's lots of love in their home. "Granny's always been there and that means stability to him," Houck said.

Don't eat the mushrooms — just yet

NEWARK OUTLOOK

FROM THE STAFF OF THE COOPERATIVE EXTENSION OFFICE AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

With a cooler and wetter-than-normal August, the fall mushroom season started early and, well, mushroomed.

From the number of calls we've received on the Garden Line and the samples brought to our office, I'm certain now that my yard isn't the only one producing a bumper crop of fungi.

Mushrooms are but a brief part of a fungus's life cycle. The mushroom is a transient reproductive organ that emerges to send spores out into the rest of the world to settle and make new fungi.

The major part of the fungus, both in time and space, is the seldom seen mycelium that has been threading its way through organic matter, living or dead, using its chemical might to disassemble the host into food and energy sources. If you've ever seen a white webby material in mats of leaves in the woods, or mulch in the garden, you've seen the mycelium of a fungus.

The mycelium is present year-round. When the season, temperature and moisture are right, certain cells in the mycelium fuse and shoot up the specialized fruiting bodies we call mushrooms, toadstools, puffballs, and other names.

Within a matter of hours or days, the mushroom absorbs water, expands its cells, makes an above ground appearance, disperses spores, then decays away. Some mushrooms have life spans of the few hours between sunset and sunrise and are rarely seen by the average person. Others, such as the bracket fungi, can persist for several years and add annual growth rings that produce the current year's crop of spores.

Aside from mushrooms, there are many other fungi we encounter everyday.

Many are microscopic friends and enemies which help us make bread and cheese or cause our crabapple's leaves to fall off or give us respiratory infections. But my curiosity was piqued these past few weeks, because I'd never seen so many different mushrooms at one time in real life. So I turned to the holdings from my personal library and the University of Delaware Agriculture Library.

As for edibility, each of the authors I read advise careful study with an expert and nibbling experimentation even with "safe" mushrooms. Our common cultivated mushroom, the reason Kennett Square is "mushroom capital of the world", is argued to be a descendant of the Field Mushroom or other species in the genus Agaricus.

Even within this genus, there are other highly prized edible species, some that are questionably safe or are lacking flavor or size for eating and others that are poisonous to anyone who eats them.

Any widely recognized edible species of mushroom can be epicureal heaven for some, while it causes disagreeable or deadly symptoms in others. Certain species are agreeable to the human system unless consumed with other things, such as alcoholic beverages.

If you've been captivated by the lore and beauty of mushrooms, here are some books you'll want to find. They're available at local bookstores or the University of Delaware Agriculture Library: Edible Mushrooms by Clyde M. Christensen; Mushrooms and Toadstools by Geoffrey Kibby; Mushrooms of North America by Roger Phillips.

This week's author: Jo Mercer

Although I've not had the time to critically identify all the mushrooms in my yard, I've had a lot of fun reading and wondering about their true identities.

By James C. McLaren

A sweet little Puppy
Stared through bowl at a Guppy,
And wished he could swim to and fro.
Then, a Cat crashed the dish,
And fast swallowed the fish.
So, Puppy preferred status quo.

A drunken jailbird,
Weirdly weirdo and nerd,
Felt at home with his life behind bars.
He burped at his jailors,
Retched out on his bailors,
And planned havoc - times with his cars.

What would one call bickering between Iroquois women?
Intents squawbling!

Why would a masochistic skunk use deodorant?
To become extinct.

Hanging from a thread in Purgatory gives slim hope to fat Sinners on the road to Redemption.

It is horrendous to think that a pregnant cat might have an un-feline feline feeling.

Author's note:
Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws — the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

Local students travel to Australia

By HEATHER HARTRIM
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

After a twenty hour trip, Newark residents, Alexis Cooper and Lauren Brohawn touched down for a three week tour of the land "down under."

Brohawn and Cooper, both 14, were two of a delegation of 35 eighth and ninth graders who traveled to New Zealand and Australia with the People-to-People Student Ambassador Youth Science Exchange.

Neither Brohawn nor Cooper had traveled to Australia. "I hadn't been to Australia yet," Cooper said. "I really wanted to see the Great Barrier Reef."

The girls agreed that the Great Barrier Reef was their favorite memory.

"The water was clean and clear," Cooper said. "I liked swimming with the fish."

The delegation's tours through New Zealand and Australia afforded them unique opportunities to interact with wildlife. They got to pet and feed kangaroos, ride horses and milk cows.

They also learned how to throw a boomerang and crack a whip. One of the social activities was a "bush dance" — a square dance by a fire in a barn. Another evening, the group went searching for kangaroos with a spotlight in a truck.

One of the things the girls missed about the states was the food.

"Everything was pretty good except the food," Cooper said.

The food tasted different, Brohawn added.

"They did get a taste of home when they had "regular food" at the Hard Rock Cafe though.

On the whole the girls enjoyed exploring marine life and learning about environmental issues.

"Australia was a lot cleaner than the United States," Brohawn said.

Newark High School Key Club had great year

The 1993-94 school year proved to be one of the most industrious and rewarding in the history of Newark High thanks to the Key Club.

Last year's members logged in over 3,000 hours of school and community service.

One of the most active members last year was senior Kate Herman, whose hundred hours placed her at the top of Key Clubs awards list.

The fourteen other members who completed over fifty hours of service were: Paula Houghton, Lisa Taber, Mandy Jarrell, Megan Brown, Tina George, Tina Houghton, Heather Lloyd, Crown Marra, Bryan Martin, Kortney McCarthy, Ellen Rannels, Stephanie Rys, Sarah Thorpe, and Lori Wagner.

Working at the annual Wilmington Flower Market, participating in the March of Dimes Walk America, helping to clean up the Christina River, and spending time at The Meadows, a home for mentally challenged adults, were some of this year's most remarkable projects.

The NHS Key Club was saddened to bid farewell to the seniors, however, adviser Jodie Gwinn is confident that the 1994-95 members will be able to fill their shoes. They will be under the leadership of Bryan Martin, president; Frances Lawrence, vice-president; Cristina Henriquez, treasurer; and Erin Harper, secretary.

Philadelphia Orchestra at the Grand

It is quite natural, once Labor Day gets by us, that our thoughts turn to the upcoming arts season in Post Country.

It is also quite natural that when we think of the performing arts in Post Country we think of the Grand Opera House. After all, it is Delaware's Center for the Performing Arts.

What isn't quite so natural is the sensational news that the Grand's Mike Schuster is spreading abroad — the "Fabulous Philadelphians" are coming for a performance this season!

The world renown Philadelphia Orchestra hasn't been in the delightful house at 818 The Market Street Mall since the Grand's renaissance at the time of our country's bicentennial. It is a pleasure and an honor to welcome them back! Mike added to the good news by pointing out that The Philadelphia Orchestra is only one of three major, international orchestras to come to the house during the 1994-95 season. It's all part of the oldest, and still very popular, series at the Grand, the Classical Series.

Each year when I share information about the various series the Grand Opera House will offer, I usually give chronology its due and list them in order. Forgive me, dear reader, if this time I don't do that. I want to begin with the second offering — but I will tell you about the other two as well. That's a promise.

On Friday evening, February 24,

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

music lovers in this area will be making their way to the Grand Old Lady of Market Street to delight in the orchestra that makes its home in the Grand Old Lady of Locust Street, the Academy of Music in Philadelphia. It will be a gala in every sense of the word.

Charles Dutoit will be on the podium at 8 p.m. ready to offer a program which includes Haydn's Symphony No. 30, Nielsen's Violin Concerto and close the program with one of the Philadelphia's greatest showpieces, Rimsky-Korsakov's "Scheherazade."

Come prepared to be dazzled by the strings as they recount the tale of "A Thousand and One Nights" in the harem. "Scheherazade" was on the program of one of the very first Philadelphia Orchestra concerts I was ever taken to. Under Ormandy, the work left a life-long impression. I have a number of recordings of the work in my record and CD library, but none has ever sparked the way the one with the Philadelphia Orchestra does.

Many of us still make the hour-long journey to be part of this sound that is the Philadelphia Orchestra. But, in February of 1995, you won't have to fight Philadelphia traffic. You may simply drive to Wilmington and bask in the glorious sound. The Grand's Classical Series opens on Saturday, December 10, at 8 p.m. with the Oslo (Norway) Philharmonic on part of their world tour to celebrate their 75th anniversary.

Conductor Mariss Jansons will conduct a program which will include Beethoven's Leonore Overture No. 3, Shostakovich's Symphony No. 9 and conclude with a tour de force presentation of Berlioz's "Symphonie Fantastique." In this area, usually one only gets a chance to hear this orchestra via overseas broadcasts or recordings. It should be a great evening to hear this fine musicians in person.

The final orchestra in the Classical Series will be on stage Tuesday, April 11 at 8 p.m. It is the British Broadcasting Company Philharmonic from Manchester.

This is one of England's primary orchestras and regularly shares its sounds through the airwaves with us in North America.

The BBC group will offer us Britten's "Four Sea Interludes," Sibelius' Symphony No. 2 and Elgar's Cello Concerto with Colin Carr as soloist. Tickets for each event are as follows: The Oslo Philharmonic, $48, $41 and $33; The Philadelphia Orchestra, $50, $43 and $35 and the BBC Philharmonic, $48, $41 and $33. If you plan to attend all three concerts, you may deduct $2 from the price of each ticket. This season, there is also a new opportunity for you to "Make your own series" with discounts on tickets. If you would like a brochure, more information or to reserve your seats, you may call the Grand's box office at 302-652-5577 or 1-800-37-GRAND. If you care to write, the address is 818 The Market Street Mall, Wilmington, DE 19801. If your work, or any other reason, take you downtown, you may stop in the box office at the main entrance of the house.

Kirkwood Mustangs earn second place in Labor Day tournament

The Kirkwood Mustangs under-12 girls soccer team finished second in the Eric Ross-Kristen Haney Labor Day Classic last weekend in Northeast Philadelphia.

After winning five straight game, the Mustangs dropped a 1-0 decision to Keystone in the championship game.

In preliminary action, the Mustangs defeated Fox Chase 1-0, Mayfair 5-0, Souderton 3-1 and Easthampton 6-0. Jessica Natalie led the Mustang scorers with six goals while Maria Zamboni and Sarah Wilkinson added two each. Heather Purcell, Jennifer Hudson, Kati Mazzio, Sherry Smith and Marilyn Obrofta added one apiece.

In the semifinal, the Mustangs fell behind 1-0 early in the first half but exploded with five second half goals to win easily. Natalie again led all scorers with three, while Mazzio and Kristina Fisher chipped in one each.

Obrofta was outstanding in goal all weekend and made five outstanding saves in the final. Other Mustangs contributing to the fine performance were Jordyn Mattei, Kimberly Satterfield, Ceara Carroll and Shelby Hanna.

Blue Hens set to open 1994 season

Tribe to be strong test for Hens

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

There would certainly be easier ways for the University of Delaware football team to open its season than traveling to William & Mary for Saturday's 1 p.m. kickoff at Cary Field.

The Tribe — ranked 18th in this week's I-AA poll — is already 1-0, opening their season last week with a 38-17 win over Rhode Island. Starting a week earlier also means that William & Mary was able to open preseason practice a week earlier than the Blue Hens as well.

"That's a very definite advantage," said Delaware Coach Tubby Raymond, who starts his 29th season as head coach Saturday. "I'm one of those who buys that the biggest improvement a team makes is between the first and second games. There's a big jump there."

"They didn't play their best last week. It's frightening to think that they'll have it all ironed out and we'll be going through our baptism."

Add to the mix the fact that returning quarterback Shawn Knight set an NCAA record for passing efficiency last season with an incredible 204.6 rating and it's easy to see why the Hens' coaching staff is calling this the toughest opener since Navy in 1988.

Knight, who played minor league baseball in the San Diego Padres farm system this summer, wasn't overwhelming against Rhode Island, completing nine of 19 passes (well below last year's 69 percent completion percentage) for 167 yards.

"He played reasonably well," said William & Mary Coach Jimmye Laycock of Knight's opening game performance. "He started slow and came on in the second

Hamlett to start at quarterback in Saturday's opener

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

The quarterback question has been answered but there are still others as the University of Delaware football team opens the 1994 season Saturday at William & Mary.

Sophomore Leo Hamlett will get the nod at quarterback this week, ending an eight-month battle with junior Keith Langan.

"We're leaning toward starting Leo," said Delaware Coach Tubby Raymond in a Tuesday press conference. "I don't think any of us have seen what he's truly capable of yet."

"He hasn't played well in every scrimmage but he has been exceptional at times in practice and that's why we're leaning that way."

Hamlett started the second half of last year's thrilling 49-48 NCAA playoff win over Montana and played the first half of the quarterfinal game against Marshall.

"There was less nervousness before Marshall [than this week]," Hamlett said. "I only had one week to think about it then.

Now I've had the whole off-season, the whole spring, the whole summer and the whole preseason to be thinking about starting."

Hamlett, though, won't have to win the game himself as the Hens return a powerful running game led by fullback Daryl Brown, Delaware's all-time leading rusher.

Last season Brown rushed for 174 yards against the Tribe in Delaware's 42-35 win in Newark. Raymond knows William & Mary will try and avoid a repeat.

"If our running game is effective at all, it will help [Hamlett] immeasurably. We know they'll make adjustments," said the coach. "We just have to hope that we can adjust after that. They are also smart enough that they can't sell out to stop one phase of our offense because we should be able to do something else."

"What they'll be able to do is of definite interest to me. One advantage to our offense is that if the defense reacts to take away something, we should be able to do something else."

The big question is whether the Hens,

Thank goodness for football!

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

As the oppressive August heat gives way to September's gracious coolness, my thoughts turn to football. Professional, Canadian, college, high school, even women if it exists. It doesn't matter as long as it's football. I'm a confirmed football junkie. The off-season for me is like withdrawal. It really is. I'm sure I'm not alone.

But this football season is different, and I'm glad. For once, at least in my lifetime, this beautiful Autumn isn't tainted and tarnished with that other sport, baseball. This year it's all football, 100 percent glorious, glorious football, and I couldn't be happier. I'm sure I'm not alone.

For once, I don't have to stagger through ESPN late night games between the Seattle Mariners and the Texas Rangers. Ken Griffey who? Nor do I have to listen to Chris Berman saying, "Back, back, back, back, back, back." And I love it, I really do. I'm sure I'm not alone.

For once I don't have to tolerate another sport infringing on my beloved football. This fall is all mine and Joe Montana's. I feel great. I'm sure I'm not alone.

For once, I don't have to read about baseball players making millions that want more millions. Now I can read about football players making millions that want more millions. Baseball players do inane things like turn their caps around and play clubhouse pranks. Football players get sweaty, dirty, bloody, break body parts, sometimes even their own, and always say "Hi Mom" on national television. I think they deserve those extra millions. I really do. I'm sure I'm not alone.

For once, I don't have to watch stupid baseball mascots trying to be funny. Now I can watch real people in the stands at football games because they really are funny. Or stupid. But I love it. I'm sure I'm not alone.

For the first time I can remember there might not be a World Series, no Fall Classic. Which is fine with me because if there were a World Series this year, it would probably be held in late October or November with games being played on weeknights and in possible competition with Monday and Thursday Night Football. Now I don't have to use the channel clicker. I'm really looking forward to that. I'm sure I'm not alone.

But there is one negative drawback to the strike if it lasts through the winter and into next spring. No spring training. And if that unthinkable does happen, whatever will I do with myself until preseason football starts again. I might not make it. I'm sure I'm not alone.

Caravel-Hodgson matchup one of first weekend's most interesting

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

You know the fall is truly here when that phenomenon of high school football finally kicks off.

All six local schools will be in action this weekend. There are some wonderful games to start the year: Newark-Salesianum, Christiana-Caesar Rodney, St. Mark's-Concord and Glasgow-Milford.

No game, however, has more allure than the Caravel-Hodgson tilt.

The two schools — just three miles apart — have played just twice before with Caravel winning big both times. Those games, though, were four and five years ago when Larry Cyle was guiding two powerful Bucs' teams to back-to-back state championships.

Cyle was let go from Caravel a year later after his team went 0-10. He surfaced this year at Hodgson and — BOOM! — will play Caravel right off the bat.

"It spices the game up a little bit," Cyle said of his situation and Saturday's game. "Sure it does. But what we told the players is that this is Hodgson's game. It's not my game. It's not win one for the Gipper time.

"This is our first game of a new era and we'd want to win no matter who we were playing. It's just happens it's Caravel."

The game was scheduled well before Cyle became the head man at Hodgson.

"We scheduled when Jack Hoopes was still there," said Caravel Coach Wyatt Parker. "I'm not worried about [the hoopla]. There's only two kids that were even here when Coach Cyle coached. The coaches are different and all the kids are different. They really don't have anything to do with the past. I hope it's a game we can play all the time with both schools being so close."

"It's a big opener like any other opener. I know Coach Cyle is a good coach and will have his team prepared. I just hope it's a good game."

The other games are no less meaningful, especially to the teams involved.

Newark's battle with Salesianum has the potential to be a great game in front of very large crowd. It will certainly give both teams a good idea of how good they really are.

So settle back and enjoy an other year of high school football. It promises to be as exciting as ever.

POST PICKS OF THE WEEK

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN! High school football is here!

For the first time in several years, all the local teams will be opening up on the same weekend. There are five big games this weekend, all of them will go a long way in determining what kind of seasons the area squads will have.

Once again this year we will take a shot at predicting the winners of each local game. Success has been varied over the years, ranging from a career-high .798 winning percentage four years ago to a low of .745 two years ago. Last season we finished at .767.

Enough with the stats; let's get to the games.

NEWARK VS. SALESIANUM - Friday night, 7 at Newark's Hoffman Stadium. This is a much anticipated battle between two traditionally tough programs. Sallies, however, has had the better success over recent years, culminating in a state championship last year. The Sals should be tough again this season. Newark, coming off a 6-4 campaign, is looking for big things this season. A win over Sallies would go a long way in solidifying the 'Jackets as state tournament squad and a contender for the Flight A title. This should be a good game but Sallies may have just a little more fire power. The Pick - Sallies 20, Newark 14.

CHRISTIANA VS. CAESAR RODNEY - Friday night, 7:30 at Caesar Rodney. This is a good opener for the highly touted Vikings. CR is rarely a slouch and could provide a strong test. Christiana plays a strong non-conference schedule to go along with a tough Flight A slate. A win against the Riders would be a great way to get the season rolling. Marvin Adams and the rest of senior-laden team should be able to get out of Camden with a victory. The Pick - Christiana 26, Caesar Rodney 13.

GLASGOW VS. MILFORD - Friday night, 7:30 at Glasgow. Milford still hasn't beaten a Division I opponent in forever. The Dragons certainly don't want to be the first one to go down to the Bucs. Tyjuan Lewis will lead a Glasgow team that many people are having a tough time figuring out how good it really will be. There's no doubt, though, how good Lewis is. With any help at all, the Dragons should win with ease. The Pick - Glasgow 22, Milford 7.

ST. MARK'S VS. CONCORD - Friday night, 7:30 at Baynard Stadium. The Spartans are looking for one of their best seasons in recent memory. Coach Vinnie Scott is extremely optimistic about his team's chances this season. Concord is coming off a 1-9 season and is being predicted to finish in the lower half of Flight A. This could be a good way for St. Mark's to start a season. The teams have played some wild openers in past years. This year, though, won't be so wild. The Pick - St. Mark's 19, Concord 6.

HODGSON VS. CARAVEL - Saturday morning, 10:30 at Hodgson. This neighborhood game has some added spice in that Hodgson Coach Larry Cyle was the former coach at Caravel. He coached the Bucs to two routs over the Silver Eagles but is now on the other sideline. Hodgson has a young team. Caravel, though, is very young. This should be a good, competitive game with lots of emotion. The Pick - Hodgson 15, Caravel 14.

Kirkwood Explosion win Labor Day tournament

The under-10 Kirkwood Explosion knocked off Aston 8-0, the Cecil Cobras 3-1 and CDSA Wizards 4-0 and the Downingtown Hot Shots 2-1 to capture the Kirkwood Kickoff Labor Day Soccer Tournament.

Goalkeeper Matt Brown and the Explosion defense, led by Matt Logan, Tori Schumacher, Justin Esposito, Bryan Thomas, John Milligan and Eric DeAscanis, tallied two shut outs and only allowed two goals the entire tournament.

Goal scorers for the Explosion were Ryan Dzielak, Jeff DiGiacobbe, Matt Logan, Justin Esposito, Ryan Flanigan, Greg Mattei, Nick Encarnaceo, Brian Welch and Matt Richards.

► HENS, from 1B

which will be going after their fourth straight NCAA playoff appearance, will be ready to play such a good team, that has already played and won a game, in their opener?

Preseason camp closed with a less-than-auspicious scrimmage that left Raymond looking for answers. That, combined with the fact that many coaches believe a team's biggest improvement takes place between the first and second games, has the coaching staff concerned.

NOTES - Nine players are expected get their first career start this week...Delaware is ranked 12 in the first regular season I-AA poll, which came out this week...The Hens have won five straight season openers and under Tubby Raymond are 23-5 in openers...This is Delaware's ninth season in the Yankee Conference, in which it has posted a 42-19 (.688) record and won conference titles in 1988, 1991 and 1992.

Tribe a tough opening task for Hens half. I don't know if the summer of baseball set him back or not."

One player who had no problem getting the season started was junior tailback Troy Keen. Keen rushed for 113 yards and three touchdowns on 18 carries and was named the Yankee Conference Offensive Player of the Week.

Defensively, the Tribe had a tough time stopping the Hens running game in last season's 42-35 loss in Newark. Daryl Brown riddled the William & Mary defense for 174 yards to lead a 342 yard ground assault.

That, again, could be a problem Saturday as Brown and Pat Williams will again lead a potent Delaware rushing game.

"We didn't do a good job last year defending the run," Laycock said. "We expect to do better this year but I don't know how yet."

Another factor in the Tribe's favor is the home field. William & Mary has won 11 straight home games dating back to Nov. 16, 1991 loss to Samford. Delaware, as well, beat the Tribe in Williamsburg earlier in 1991 - a 28-21 victory. The Hens, in fact, are 6-2 at Cary Field.

The Delaware-William & Mary series, which the Hens lead 11-6, has been a good one. Seven of the last 10 games have been decided by seven points or less. Delaware, though, has won the last two games of the series.

The game is also a big Yankee Conference contest. The Tribe were picked to finish second behind Delaware in the Mid-Atlantic Division.

Family business survives five generations

By HEATHER HARTRIM
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

AT 7 A.M., an Easter Seals bus driver stopped on her route at McKean Place in George Reed Village.

She had closely followed the renovation progress of a house across the street from her daily stop — watching every day as workers gutted and repaired the home that was damaged by fire.

She walked to the construction site, knocked on a window frame and asked for a siding estimate on her own home.

Robert Hawthorne Jr., a general contractor, made arrangements to meet with her later in the week.

Since 1911, the Hawthorne family has been giving estimates to commercial and residential clients.

Now in its third generation of ownership and fifth generation of workers, Robert Hawthorne Jr.'s general contracting company is prospering due to its adaptability.

The family business started with Robert's grandfather, Wilmer Hawthorne. The family believes that in 1911, Wilmer was the first and only contractor in Newark. He primarily built barns, but also worked on the Phillips Cannery and Stroud Farm, which is now part of the University of Delaware.

"I worked with Wilmer on one job," Robert said. "I remember him, though, I learned the trade under my uncle Paul."

Wilmer worked until 1941 when his son, Paul Hawthorne, took over.

At the onset of World War II, most construction ceased and Paul was forced to take another job, but eventually returned to the family trade.

Robert Hawthorne joined Paul in 1964 and they worked together until 1982, when Paul retired. In the meantime, another family member, Robert Sr., joined the business.

Economic hardships associated with World War II taught businesses to adapt to the changing market demands.

"We're pretty diversified," Robert L. Hawthorne, of the fourth generation, said. "When things get slack, we pick up something new."

Just as Paul took up renovations and repairs in addition to building custom homes, Robert Hawthorne Jr. features commercial and residential remodeling and renovations. They are most frequently asked to do decks, roofs, siding, guttering and additions in Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania.

Both Robert Hawthorne and Robert L., father and son, started working in construction during summers and vacations at age sixteen.

Robert Hawthorne hadn't aspired then to have his own contracting business.

"I had no intention of going into business," he said. "My wife asked why don't I work for myself. Those were the days when you could walk in (to the Department of Revenue) and get your contracting license and that was it."

Licensing is not the only change Robert Hawthorne has seen in his 30 years in construction.

"Wilmer used a hand saw," he said. "I remember when power tools came out. Power tools really cut down on labor."

Robert L. decided after working at DuPont for 10 years it was time to be his own boss and joined his father in business.

"It's better to be your own boss sometimes," Robert L. said. "You have to meet your own goals. You give the homeowners what they want and 110 percent more."

His father agrees that the homeowners must be treated well.

"I try to be honest and fair with everyone," he said. "People appreciate that. We get a lot of business from word of mouth and people approaching us after seeing our work."

Robert Hawthorne Jr. supervises his son Robert L. Hawthorne (right) and his grandson Alexander Hawthorne at their current construction site on McKean Place in George Reed Village, Newark.

The call from the bus driver is not unusual, according to Robert Hawthorne.

"It makes you feel great that they like what you're doing," he said.

Both Hawthornes manage to stay busy this way and even get some help from a fifth generation of the family in the summer.

Sixteen-year-old son Alexander is a junior at Newark High School and, this summer, he worked with his father and grandfather as he has the past three summers.

"I like working with them because they're family," Alex said. "They don't really boss me around that much."

He also works at the Dairy Queen in Newark. Alex aspires to be a doctor.

His 14-year-old sister Gina has been encouraged by her grandmother to take over the business. Gina is a freshman at Newark High School and helps do clean-up occasionally.

"I work whenever I feel like working," Gina said. "I help with clean-up and I do little jobs."

Both families live near Windy Hills.

You can't tell a book store by its cover

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

SO, WHAT'S NEW on Main Street? The former Eagle Furniture Building at Main and Haines Street will soon be home for a national book store chain.

Saul Savitch, owner of the building, said he couldn't name the company yet, but confirmed it would be a book store, which corroborates the rumors circulating around town.

"I'm not a guy that likes to hold things back," Savitch said. "It will be a bookstore."

Savitch opened the furniture store with his father in 1949 and named it Eagle Furniture. He said he eventually "got tired of working," and sold the business to its most recent owners who went out of business a couple months ago.

He plans to release the name of the store as soon as possible.

NBA plans for broad base

Members of the Newark Business Association (NBA) met with city officials to discuss broadening the citizen base of the NBA. No solutions have been found yet, according to Maureen Roser, associate planner for the City of Newark.

Deirdre Peake, executive director of NBA, said she plans to have some ideas for the board of directors by the end of next week.

Peake will have some help. Natalie Collins a freshmen graduate student in the Urban Affairs program at the University of Delaware, will be an intern at the NBA during this school year.

Peake said she and Collins would also be updating NBA's bylaws. Rough drafts should be ready for community input by the end of next week, Peake said.

Coffee is hot in Newark

Do you remember the old fashioned coffee houses where a person could go for a "cup of Joe," some good conversation, or a comfortable place to read the paper?

According to Roy Lopata, planning director for Newark, a lot of people are interested in reliving those days. Lopata said coffee house inquiries are up in his office, with two in the last week alone.

"Different operators have proposed gourmet coffee stores on Main Street and other places in Newark," said Lopata. "Coffee is what's hot in Newark."

Lopata said he has answered about 12 inquiries this year.

SERIOUS BUSINESS

However, he said, "This too shall pass, maybe three or four years ago it was pizza, before that it was ice cream, before that it was video arcades..."

County: 'No' to rezoning

The New Castle County Planning Department recently recommended against Pettinaro Inc.'s request to rezone the front portion of a proposed development from agricultural to commercial.

The project, called Queensbury, is 144 acres off U.S. 40, near Lebanon Church Road. Pettinaro proposes a combination of townhouses, apartments and commercial space on about 78 acres, 25 acres for public use, and single family homes on 41 acres. Bryan Shulex, director of the county's planning department, said there is already a lot of undeveloped commercial space along U.S. 40 and creating more parcels would serve to add to existing infrastructure problems.

Just For You SENIOR CITIZEN SERVICE DIRECTORY

KEEPING YOUR COOL IN THE HEAT

KEEP COOL. Spend as much time as you can in cooler surroundings, such as a cooler room in your home, an air conditioned shopping mall, senior center, public library or movie.

AIR CONDITIONING can provide lifesaving relief from heat stress, especially if you have a medical condition like heart disease.

COOLING WITH FANS. Fans can draw cool air into your home at night or help to provide good indoor air circulation during the day. Air movement reduces heat stress by helping to remove extra body heat. (When it is extremely hot, a fan may cause you to gain body heat by blowing very hot air over your body.)

BATHS AND SHOWERS. Cool baths or showers (with water temperature around 75°F) provide amazing relief from the heat. Cool water removes extra body heat 25 times faster than cool air.

CLOTHING. Wear as little as possible when you are at home. Lightweight, light colored, loose fitting clothing is more comfortable in hot weather. Cotton is very comfortable. Wear a hat or use a parasol or umbrella to protect your head and neck when you are outdoors.

DRINK OFTEN - In hot weather, your body needs more water. Don't wait until you are thirsty, because your body needs more fluid than thirst will indicate. By the time you feel thirsty you may already be dangerously low on water.

- Drink often and in reasonable amounts. Don't try to drink a lot of coffee or tea. They are all right in moderation, but water is your best bet.
- If you have a disease, a medical condition, or a problem with body water balance, check with your doctor for advice on how much water you should drink in hot weather.

SLOW DOWN. Take it easy, especially at the start of hot weather when your body is less prepared for the heat. Physical activity produces body heat.

WATCH WHAT YOU EAT. Avoid hot foods and heavy meals. They add heat to your body. Try using your stove less. Cook your meals during the cooler part of the day.

WATCH SALT USE. Check with your doctor before you increase the amount of salt or potassium in your diet. Do not take "salt tablets" without your doctor's permission.

AVOID ALCOHOL. Alcohol interferes with your body's fight against heat stress. It can put a strain on your heart.

How To Save Money On Your Family's Clothing

- Buy color-coordinated clothing which can be mixed and matched.
- Buy all-season styles, fabrics and colors when possible.
- Buy clothes of a design that will stay in style
- Look for quality fabric and good construction in clothing.
- Choose clothes with simple trim that is of good quality and requires the same care as the rest of garment.
- Before buying a garment, check fabric labels and care instructions. Is it wash-and-wear? Can it be dried in the dryer? Avoid clothing that requires special care such as dry cleaning.
- Read and follow care instructions to make clothes last longer.
- Dress up or modify an outfit you already own. Accessories can add a new look to last year's wardrobe for a minimal cost.
- Store clothes properly to protect from sun, moths, mildew and stretching.

Vikings shoot for elusive state title

Newark, Glasgow seek tournament berths in wide open year

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

THE 1994 HIGH SCHOOL football season gets underway this weekend. It should be the start of what many think will be a very exciting fall.

Christiana enters the season very highly touted. That Coach Bill Muehleisen has another good team shouldn't be a surprise to anyone. The Vikings have been as consistent as any team in the state over the past three years, with only a state championship missing from a very impressive resume.

First team All-State defensive back Marvin Adams will help lead the Vikings both offensively and defensively this year. Adams will be back as a force in the secondary but also the starting quarterback.

Besides Adams, the Vikings return 10 other starters from last year's 8-3 state tournament squad. That, along with very talented skilled positions and a big line, make the Vikes a strong preseason favorite to win Flight A and, possibly, the elusive state championship.

Other teams who could very well be contending for that state title include defending state champ Salesianum and Dover — everybody's preseason pick to win the Henlopen North crown.

Sallies lost quite a few players to graduation, but the team has always been very deep in talent so don't be surprised if players step right in to what was a very potent and very diverse offensive attack last year. One possible roadblock for the Sals is a very difficult schedule. The team could go undefeated in the state but still have three or four losses.

Dover returns 13 starters from last year's 5-5 team. The nucleus of the team has been together four years, going undefeated as freshmen and jayvees.

William Penn, as always, will be tough. The Colonials Oct. 1 matchup with the Vikings could go a long way in deciding the Flight A champ.

After that it's anybody's guess.

We'll start with Newark. The Yellowjackets have the potential to challenge for the Flight A championship and a slot in the Division I state tournament. They will know a whole lot more after their opening game against Salesianum. A win against the Sals automatically makes the 'Jackets a championship contender.

Glasgow, with Tyjuan Lewis at quarterback, is also a team that could give the big boys trouble. It's also a team that could win seven games and slip into the state tournament.

Other downstate teams expected to be among the best include Caesar Rodney, whom all three Christina District teams play, defending Division II state champ Sussex Tech (now in Division I), defending Henlopen North champion Seaford (now in the Henlopen South) and Sussex Central, who went 8-2 last season. St. Elizabeth, whose only loss came to Middletown in the Division II state semifinal, should be good again this season.

NEWARK HIGH's upperclassmen seem to have the upper hand as the 1994 football season gets underway.

The Yellowjackets return 22 seniors, many of whom are experienced starters at skill positions.

Second-team all-conference quarterback Jeff Strengari (5-11, 165) started every game last year and will be joined in the backfield by fullback and the team's second-leading rusher Mike Parker (5-10, 193), and halfback Mark Lutes (6-1, 174), who will play with a soft cast on his right wrist. The three players are co-captains.

"Obviously our success has a lot to do with how (Strengari) runs and throws the ball," said Newark Coach Butch Simpson. "Parker is a big part of our offense; we're happy about how he's stepped in and what he's done this year, and we hope Lutes' cast isn't anything more than temporary."

Newark rotates three tackles through the lineup. Senior Steve Parent (6-3, 228) is an all-conference and all-state selection that will play both ways, as will Shawn Palmer (6-1, 218) and Shawn Selk (5-11, 238). Dennis Adams (6-0, 202) plays center.

Eric Buck is a 5-foot-10, 168-pound guard who'll be joined by first-time starter John Toomey (5-8, 205) at the other guard position. Ryan German (6-3, 206) will start at tight end, play some linebacker and has backed up as quarterback for four years.

"We have experience at some key positions, but then again we also have tremendous inexperience at some positions," Simpson said. "I would like to feel right now we have a physical football team. I don't know how physical, but I know we're more physical than we have been lately. So there's some confidence in that factor."

"We feel pretty comfortable the players in our skill positions can handle the ball," Simpson said. "We have experience and depth at quarterback and halfback. I feel comfortable with our wide receivers. Therefore we have balance offensively. I think we can run it, I think we can throw it."

"I think the game is won up front. So if you're physical in the offensive and defensive lines, you have an opportunity to establish both parts of the game."

Defensively, Newark starts 5-foot-9, 143-pound John Bush at defensive back, along with junior Butch Patrick (5-7, 152). Butter (6-0, 176) Pressey is also a starter in the defensive backfield.

Jerry Harrison (6-0, 206) anchors the defensive front and will get help from linebacker Sean McCullough (5-11, 188), who might see some time as halfback. Steve Gwinn will handle the kicking duties and should be consistent with field goals from the 40-yard range.

"I think the most important factor for us right now is getting off the season and playing well," said Simpson. "We've been sporadic in the past and we would just like to perform and have some poise. I believe we have bettered our intensity."

"Overall we've had a pretty decent preseason. We're just looking to play well. We know what our challenge is and our hope is our kids handle the good with the bad. We're encouraged in the fact that we have some kids that are interested and might want to take it to another level. It's a long season; we just hope we take this first game (against Salesianum) and build from it."

Other players that will see playing time are: Darren Biscoe (5-10, 130, hb/lb), Doug Campbell (6-0, 155, se/db), Talib Salaam (5-10, 152, db), Terrance Harvey (5-9, 130, db), Chris Johnson (5-9, 130, se), John Stansbury (6-0, 159, db), Mike Satterfield (6-3, 197, te/lb), Tom Emig (5-11, 153, te/lb), Kevin Hudson (5-10, 150, se/db), Scott Hunt (6-0, 181, qb/db), Nick Jones (6-1, 180, te/lb), Mike Livingstone (6-1, 186, guard), Tom Mullins (5-11, 191, off. line), Larry Rambert (6-1, 245, def. line), Rick Rohrbough (6-1, 190, fb/lb), Court Vincent (5-9, 196, guard), Ernie Wyatt (5-11, 173, db), Jeff Bush (5-11, 221, tackle), Duevorn Harris (6-0, 199, lb), Solomon Lane (5-10, 158, fb/lb), Barry Word (5-10, 152, hb/db) and Barry Zehnder (6-1, 162, qb/se/hb/db).

Vikings could be letter-perfect

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

CHRISTIANA — Christiana High's football team this season could very well be letter-perfect.

The Vikings return a slew of letterman from the 1993 team that qualified for the state tournament and should compete again this year for the Flight A title.

"We're a senior dominated team," said Christiana Coach Bill Muehleisen. "Almost every position is filled by seniors."

Seniors returning on the offense are spread end Curt Henry (6-2, 175); guard Shane Rynkowski (5-9, 220), quarterback Marvin Adams (6-0, 170) and Seth Davis (5-9, 165) at halfback.

Defensively Rashad Bailey is a 6-foot-1, 190-pound returning letterwinner and all-state selection at safety who will play linebacker and Henry will play cornerback. On the other corner is Cliff Hayes (5-9, 170) and veterans Tim Walz (5-9, 215) along with junior Vaughn Brooks (5-11, 290) return on the line.

Christiana relies on its kicking game, especially for extra-points and sophomore Andrew Allen (5-11, 175) should produce again this season.

The offensive line is also dominated by experienced seniors. Tim Clarke is a 5-foot-9, 225-pound center; Ron Mick (6-2, 200) plays guard, Brian Prinski (6-5, 215) brings nice size to the tackle position and Mike Carrington at 6-foot 195 pounds gets the nod at tight end.

Behind the ball senior Willie Harris (5-9, 160) joins Davis at the other halfback spot and Bailey plays fullback.

"I think on both sides of the ball there are only three non-seniors which lends for a certain amount of maturity," Muehleisen said. "We have a chance of being good again; we have a great opportunity. How will it end up? Well, I'm not too good at predicting anything."

"Newark is coming back up; they're going to be good," Muehleisen said. William Penn is always good; Brandywine is steady; Concord returns almost everybody so they have to be better. And from what I understand Mount Pleasant has the biggest team sizewise.

"I think we had scrimmages that were very helpful, but we need to get the offensive line as much experience as possible. The first four teams we play are all ranked. It's going to be a tough start for us. We'll find out a lot about ourselves quickly. We'll know very soon."

All state safety Marvin Adams will also play quarterback this year at Christiana.

The Vikings open the 1994 campaign on the road Friday evening against Caesar Rodney, then play Seaford and Dover at home. Christiana's first Blue Hen Conference game is against William Penn in New Castle Oct. 1.

Lewis main ingredient in recipe for success

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

GLASGOW — Glasgow High lost a lot of fire power to graduation but quarterback Tyjuan Lewis is still around and that will make the Dragons a team to be reckoned with.

Lewis, a 6-foot, 1-inch senior who is being recruited numerous Division I schools including Syracuse, Rutgers and Maryland, threw for over 2,700 yards last season in completing 68 percent of his passes. He also threw for 26 touchdowns while throwing just 10 interceptions.

"He didn't make too many bad decisions last year," said Glasgow Coach Dave Scott, who starts his seventh year as the head man of Glasgow football program. "We'll try to get him more involved with the option as well. The big question will be whether the offensive line can come around."

That line will be anchored by senior Chris Belcher and sophomore T.J. Cook on the right side. Belcher is a 6-1, 275 pounder while Cook is 5-9 and 195. Sophomore Greg Kirby (6-3, 255) will be the center and junior Tim McCord (6-2, 235) will be the left tackle.

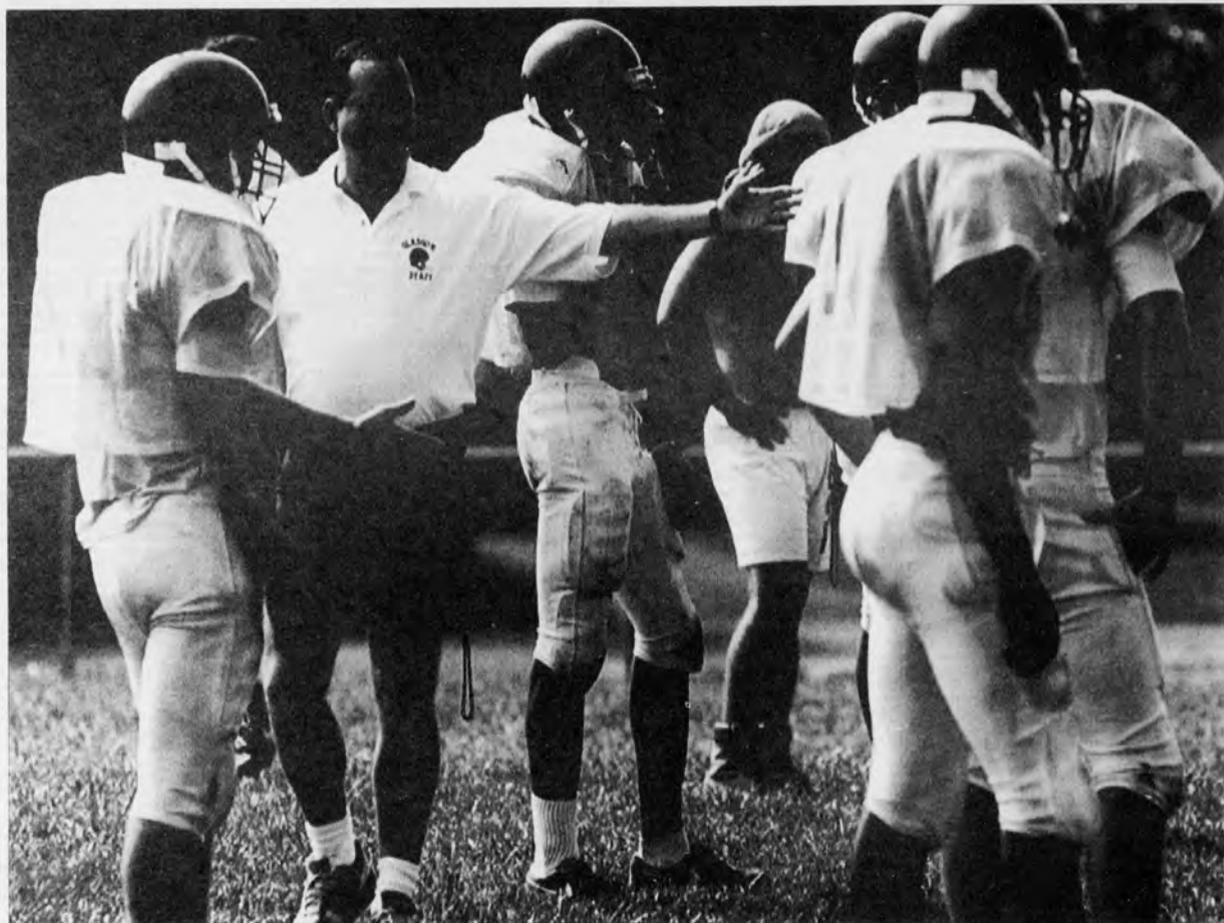

Juniors Lamar Coleman (5-10, 190) and Mark Matthes (5-11, 235) will battle for the left guard spot.

With the loss of Corey Curtis, Antoine Haman and Shannon Riley, the Dragons will have a lot of offense to replace at the skilled positions.

"We've lost some quality players in the past (Pat and Paul Williams, Shawn Money, Dana Boyer for example)," said Scott. "This year there are a few more but we just have to move on and hope that some of our guys step up."

Junior Tom Macomber and senior Corey Watson, both of whom saw time last year, will take over the job of catching the ball from the split end position. Senior Jon Hackett is the fullback while junior Rob Quigley and freshman John Adams will play halfback. Senior Vinnie Clark will also contribute as a tight end or split end.

Defensively, Lewis, Clark and Watson will be in the secondary with Glasgow coach Dave Scott has to replace three All-Staters on his Dragons team this autumn.

sophomores Chris Belote and Duane Wright battling for the final corner position.

Senior Wayne Allen will play the middle and lead the linebacking corps while seniors Justin Taylor and Hackett will be on the outside.

Keith Husler and Jason Forbes are also expected to see time at the linebacker position. Up front will be sophomore Brian Duncan (6-6, 315), Matthes, McCord, Tyjuan Mundy (5-9, 285), Coleman and Stephen Driver (6-2, 275). The Dragons play an always tough Flight A schedule plus non-conference games with Caesar Rodney, Cape Henlopen and Milford. The opener is home Friday night against Milford.

UD's Blue Hens eye fourth straight tournament trip

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

THE UNIVERSITY of Delaware football team begins its annual quest for a national championship against William & Mary this weekend.

The Hens, coming off a 9-4 season and a trip to the NCAA I-AA quarterfinals, enter the season with high expectations. Delaware was picked first in the preseason Yankee Conference media poll and are ranked 11 in The Sport Network's I-AA preseason national poll.

"It's nice for our players to have things expected of them," said Delaware Coach Tubby Raymond in early August when told of his team's preseason touting. "That's to our advantage. The players have been entrusted with a great tradition and that's good."

Those expectations were good three weeks ago when Raymond made those preseason comments. However, after watching his team finish preseason with a less-than-impressive scrimmage, those lofty expectations may become burdensome.

Opening the season against William & Mary certainly presents its share of problems; the main one being that the Tribe is a very good team (also ranked in the Top 20) that has one game under its belt and seven more practice days than the Hens.

Sophomore Leo Hamlett will get the starting nod at quarterback, beating out junior Keith Langan in the preseason battle.

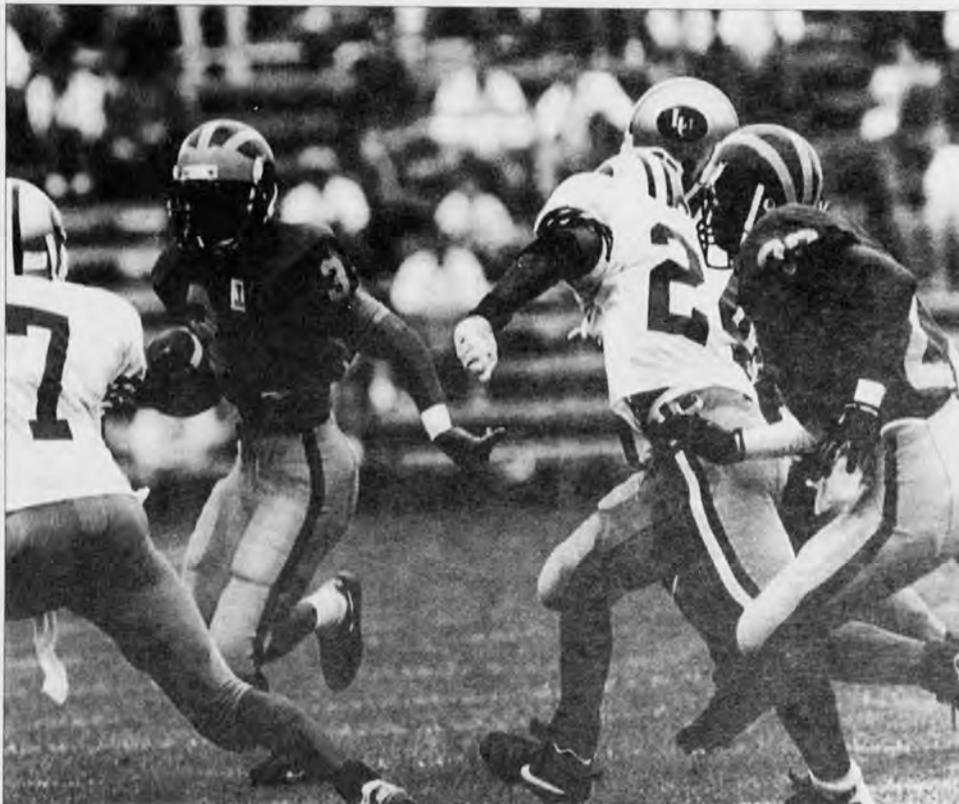

There are no questions about the Hens' running game with fullback Daryl Brown leading a host of very talented returning backs.

The receiving corps with Courtney Batts at split end and Rob Higbee at tight end leading the way should also be solid. The offensive line, coming off one of its best year's in Delaware history, should be strong again.

The next big question is the defense.

Last season the defense gave up 414 yards and 28

Young Bucs hope to survive opening weeks

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

BEAR — Many high school coaches talk of how young a team they are going to have. Caravel Coach Wyatt Parker, however, isn't just blowing smoke.

The Bucs, who have just 23 players on their varsity roster, will start just one senior this season while five freshman will line up on offense alone.

"It's a brand new team," said third-year Coach Wyatt Parker, whose team compiled a 4-6 record last season. "Not only did we lose a lot of graduation but we had several players transfer out."

"We're so young that almost our entire preseason was spent just teaching the basics. We've made some progress though."

Offensively you can bet the Bucs will try to take advantage of the strong right side of their offensive line. Junior Dan Foraker (250 pounds) will play right guard and sophomore Billy Cain (270) will be the right tackle.

"Their our only two lineman back with any experience," Parker said. "But we feel good about them."

Junior Jimmy Frazier will take over the quarterbacking duties from graduated Brian Greene.

Two freshman will start in the backfield with Steve Delgado taking over at fullback and Alex Faircloth starting at tailback. Sophomore Chris Rocke will be the tight end while senior Rhett Walls will be a split end.

Junior Steve Haman will play wing back and linebacker while Jason Abbondi, Brian Cohee, Scott Cheeseman and Jarrod Cousins will join Foraker and Cain on the line.

With the numbers so small, many of the players will play both ways.

The Bucs will also be counting on sophomore Matt Rice, who will miss the first several games due to a dislocated knee. Rice was slotted to play tight end and linebacker.

Caravel's schedule has been paired down to one that fits the size of the small school and should give the Bucs a chance to be very competitive.

The Bucs open at Hodgson — one of five new teams on the schedule.

"I think we'll be OK," Parker said. "We just have to get past the jitters of the first couple of games.

We have some first-time players and they'll be nervous.

"Once we get by that I think we'll be able to play pretty well."

EIGHT SENIORS RETURN

Improvement expected at St. Mark's

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

MILLTOWN — St. Mark's football team hasn't won a game yet this year, but talk to their coach and he'll tell you winning the biggest game takes place off the field.

"I've coached one sport or another for 33 years and every season I'm the same; very optimistic," said Spartan coach Vinnie Scott, after finishing last year 5-5. "We always set our goals to be the best we can be. The important key is to see the team improve. That's a goal that's attainable. That's what important to me and the players."

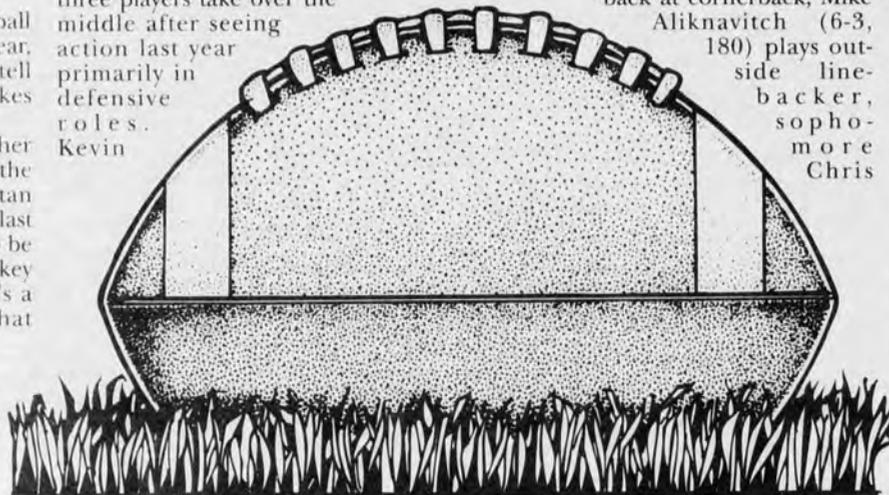

Scott has a reason to be excited. St. Mark's returns eight senior veterans, including the entire offensive backfield and receiving corps with the exception of starting quarterback Jamie Nichols.

Left halfback Chris Hill (5-9, 165) figures well with 6-foot-1, 187-pound fullback Chris Hutchinson and J.P. Budd, a 5-foot-11, 173-pound right halfback whose size complements Hill's quickness and speed.

Tim Hamberger (6-3, 175) was an honorable mention all-state selection last year and returns at split end and safety where he'll team up with tight end Tim Avers (6-1, 205). "We have a lot of experience at the skill positions," said Scott. "But our success hinges on the two guards, the center and the quarterback. We have to be strong there and we'll be decent."

On the interior offensive line three players take over the middle after seeing action last year primarily in defensive roles. Kevin Vanella is a 6-foot-3, 220-pound tackle and Jason Vanderkoven (6-7, 244) plays tackle and linebacker. Joe Kopec (6-0, 185) is the new center.

Seniors Todd Scarborough (6-1, 170) and Matt Maguire will compete for the quarterback position. Both were mainly junior varsity last season. Rajesh Reddy (jr., 5-11, 215), Tom Marando (sr., 5-8, 190) and Tim Reilly (jr., 6-0, 174) will share the guard positions. Sophomore Kevin Boc (6-0, 193) will also see time at guard and junior Andy Burt (5-9, 183) stars at inside linebacker.

Brad Simendinger (5-9, 165) is back at cornerback, Mike Aliknavitch (6-3, 180) plays outside linebacker, sophomore Chris

Scott said. "And that's a real pleasure for a coach. It doesn't matter what kind of record we have. As long as the kids give 100 percent and everything they've got, we'll handle adversity."

Scott credits his staff to the team's great attitude and physical improvement.

"We have a good mixture of older and younger guys," Scott said. "This is the best staff I've ever had. It's tremendous for the kids to get so much attention. It's great."

St. Mark's opens its season Friday with Concord at Baynard Stadium, followed by home games against Elkton and Cape Henlopen before traveling to Dover Oct. 7 for the road opener.

Birch (6-1, 175) is the kicker, Rob Markey (5-11, 179) plays linebacker and Mike Watkins (5-7, 160) is a defensive back.

"It would be great if everybody that ever coached had kids that worked as hard as this team," said Spartan Coach Vinnie Scott. "The kids worked hard starting in the offseason and hopefully that effort will pay off in the regular season. Everybody's bigger and stronger."

"And these kids have the greatest attitude; we have good team unity,"

Hens hope to return to NCAA tournament spotlight points per game — not good numbers by any standard. The coaching staff, however, fully expects the group to be better this season.

► HENS, from 5

"We have every right to believe that we will be better on defense," Raymond said.

A host of injuries riddled last year's defensive squad. That, hopefully for Hens' fans, won't be the case again this season.

Hodgson's Silver Eagles hope to soar with new coach

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

GLASGOW — It's the beginning of a new era of Hodgson football.

Larry Cylc, who guided Caravel to back-to-back state championships in 1989-90, is now the head man of the Silver Eagles' program. Cylc has compiled a 64-25-3 record in nine years as head coach at Archmere and Caravel. Besides the two state titles at Caravel, Cylc, who replaces Jack Hoopes, was also runner-up twice at Archmere.

"It's the dawning of a new day," said the always-quotable Cylc. "Everyone is responding to the new program and regimentation. It's going very well."

Just three seniors return from last year's 1-8 squad. In all there will be just four starting seniors on the team.

"We're very young," Cylc said. "But we've handled ourselves pretty well in our scrimmages. I think they believe in themselves."

Senior quarterback Marty Cuomo returns as do seniors Jeff Boyd (fullback/defensive end) and Tom Palmer (linebacker/tight end). Victor Pinder, a 6-foot, 4-inch 280 pound first-year senior will be a two-way tackle.

Joining Boyd in the wishbone backfield will be juniors Anthony Marsh and Casey Swain. Cameron Donovan, a junior, will play split end and cornerback.

Cylc's biggest concern will be up front where sophomore Bryen Stewart, junior center Mike Adams, sophomore guard Ralph Merced and sophomore tackle James Johnson will try and handle the load.

"That's been our biggest problem in the preseason," Cylc said. "But that's what happens anytime you have a first-time line. It takes time to come together; recognizing fronts and adjusting to the defense are things that will take some time."

Many of the same players will be on the defensive side of the ball as well. Boyd (defensive end), Palmer (linebacker), Johnson (tackle), Pinder (tackle) Stewart (line), Swain (safety) and Donovan (cornerback) will join sophomore Sakima Brown (cornerback), Mike Pierce (linebacker), junior Tim Brennan (linebacker) and sophomore Robert Curtis (safety).

Cylc feels the first three games of the schedule — Caravel, Academy New Church and North East — are key to the season.

"Those first three games are the first phase of our schedule," he said. "We haven't won anything yet but we have to do well in those games going into a tough Flight B conference."

"The conference looks pretty good. Everybody knocked each other off last year and many teams are of the same caliber."
