Delaware Princess

Miss Marjorie A. Brennan

Cherry Blossom Princess Chosen In College Poll

Marjorie Ann Brennan
Selected by Students
For Washington Fete

Marjorie Ann Brennan was elected Delaware's Cherry Blossom Princess for 1953, over ten other university candidates last week, receiving nearly half of the 627 votes cast. She was the "commuter" candidate, traveling from her home at 4800 Washington Boulevard in Wilmington.

As Cherry Blossom Princess, she will be Delaware's representative in the nation's capital from April 7 to 12 where she and "Princesses" from each of the states will be introduced.

Marjorie Anne Brennan is an unusually attractive "Brownette" with blue eyes and clear complexion. She is interested in music and dramatics and her participation in school plays and musicals and her activities with the Brandwinners will make it easier for her to meet the public in all of the functions of the next few weeks.

Marjorie is 5'3", slender, and enjoys wearing suits and sport clothes, she is partial to the lighter colors—"Oh yes, I love bright red!" she makes her eyes even more blue. She is excited about seeing all of the sights in Washington and says, "I can't imagine what it will be like when the time comes, but it's all so exciting now."

Marjorie's mother, Mrs. Marjorie Brennan, and her sister Jane, a junior at the university, will accompany her to Washington, where they will be the guests of the News-Journal at the Mayflower Hotel.

Born in New York City, Miss Brennan came to Delaware about ten years ago. She graduated from Tower Hill School and attended Hollins College in Virginia for her freshman year. She entered the University of Delaware in 1950, and was runner-up for the Cherry Blossom crown. She is the first senior to receive the title, previous Princesses having all been juniors.

Marjorie is very fond of sports, especially tennis and swimming. She's good at hockey, too, but didn't go out for the team this year, because she was commuting.

Marjorie is looking forward to a career in advertising or personnel work after graduation. She took a year out for a whirl at clerical work and then decided she would return to get her degree in English and prepare for a business career.

Firemen Roll Out In Record Time For Frat House

Motorist Clocks Aetna
Volunteers In 2:10
From Main St. Post

The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. firemen had four engines and 36 men on the street just two minutes and 10 seconds after a 2:23 p.m. Saturday alarm was received of a fire in the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house on East Main Street.

A motorist, who stopped at the intersection of Main and Academy Streets when he heard the fire alarm, clocked the Aetna men from his stationary post despite protests from other drivers who were more concerned with the green traffic light than with the traffic problems of the fire-fighters.

The fire was promptly extinguished with some minor damage to the roof of the house.

Sparks from a burning hedgehog ignited the house roof and the students' activities with hand fire extinguishers prevented greater damage. The extinguishers had been checked and re-filled just that morning in a visit to the fire house.

Two grass fires were put out with no damage—on Saturday morning at Millford Crossroads, and on Friday afternoon at the property of Charles Hopkins along the Chestnut Hill Road.

Thursday evening, at 7:25, a blazing chimney at the home of Fred Wakefield, 209 Haines Street was extinguished, with no property damage reported.

City Manager Plan Discussed in Special Council Assembly

Pros and Cons Weighed Before Spectator Group
Of Nine Interested Citizens' Special Caucus
To Be Held By Council For Drafting Ordinance

The proposal for employing a Newark city manager was discussed at a special meeting of the City Council in the City Hall Tuesday night before nine interested citizens.

The pros and cons concerning this position were carefully weighed and it was finally agreed that a special caucus of Council would be held in the near future to draft a revised ordinance from two proposals, for presentation at an early public meeting.

Mayor Wallace M. Johnson, Councilmen John Rankin, Samuel Diehl, Wm. Coverdale, and Dr. E. F. Downes, City Solicitor John P. Sinclair, and City Secretary Charles Long were present at the Council table and the primary topic of discussion was "Do we or do we not want a City Manager?"

The cost for employing a qualified man to serve as the chief executive for the city ranges between $10,000 and $15,000 and the proponents felt that this expenditure would be more than justified with savings from more effective and efficient city administration.

Councilmen are not necessarily professional executives, it was pointed out, but a cross-section of the general citizenry, who, because of their occupational commitments find it physically impossible to devote to city affairs the necessary time and attention that could be applied by a full-time city manager.

It was further indicated that considerable money could have been saved in such matters as the bond issue, purchasing policies, and passage of a sewer ordinance had Council been able to give more time and attention to such matters.

It was pointed out that the Engineering Department was overloaded with administrative office work to the possible impairment of field efficiency — office detail that could be handled by a City Manager.

On the other side of the question it was remarked that the City Manager plan was best suited to small cities in which there was active public interest, whereas in Newark, only 140 citizens participated in the recent bond issue, and less than one-third of the potential voters in the area are registered and eligible to vote.

It was further pointed out that more efficient city administration may result from the establishment of definite lines of authority for the City Engineer and the City Secretary.

In the matter of police jurisdiction, Mrs. R. O. Bausman, who has devoted much time and effort to the City Manager proposal, read from a letter received from the International City Managers' Association stating "It is not at all sound for city police responsibility to be divided under a city manager plan. The police department should be the responsibility of the City Manager."

Newark Joins in Celebration of National Girl Scout Week

Girl Scouts all over the nation are celebrating the Girl Scout birthday this week. It was on March 12, 1912, that the first Girl Scout troop was organized by Juliette Low in Savannah, Ga.

Girl Scouting in Newark is 18 years old, for it was in the winter of 1935-36 that 15 girls banded together under the leadership of Miss Frances Wilson and Miss Ruth Mylrea to form Troop 8. With Mrs. Carlton Douglass as chairman of the first Girl Scout Council, and several other scout mothers to help her, scouting prospered in Newark. We were not far behind the first Wilmington Girl Scout organization and the two towns struggled through early "growing pains" together.

By 1938, there were 3 intermediate troops and they were meeting in "The Little House," a small building owned by the Board of Education and loaned to the Scouts for a few years. The girls and mothers cleaned and painted the building, made curtains and added a few home-like touches. The old records show that Jackson's Hardware Store donated paint and that the Scouts bought coal and wood and paid for carpenter and janitor service.

In November 1949, the Mariner Troop, "The Flying Cloud," was organized and has been an active Senior troop ever since.

At present Newark (including Ogletown, Christina and New London School) has eight Brownie, seven Intermediate and one Senior troop with a total of 302 girls, 34 leaders, 14 district council members and about 50 troop committee mothers all active in Girl Scouting.

HISTORICAL REVIEWS
OF THE NEWARK AREAby
Ethel M. Hill

From time to time, Mrs. Hill's articles concerning Newark's interesting historical background will appear in the pages of the Post. Your comments and suggestions will be appreciated by the writer.

To the east of Guthrieville, now Milford Cross Roads on the west bank of Muddy Run lies the Harkness farm—later Fox Den Farm. William Harkness and his three sons came from England in 1799 and settled this neighborhood as far west as Hopyard farm on the White Clay Creek.

Like most of the Swedish and English, they built log houses—white oak logs, squared rough-hewn and chinked with mud, or plaster, when it could be gotten—usually of four rooms with five places in each room. There were no stoves as yet. I think Benjamin Franklin had the first stove, made by David Potts, at his iron furnace at Valley Forge.

The Irish and Scotch Presbyterian came to Pennsylvania and Delaware prior to 1700, where they could enjoy liberty of conscience and religious freedom.

Religion was the very life of these Presbyterians. Whenever they established a settlement, they planted a church. At the time of the Revolution there were 27 Presbyterian churches in the three lower counties.

A Presbyterian church was built on the Welsh Tract, near Newark in 1710, and Old Draywers, near Odessa in 1711.

In 1703, the Welsh Baptists built the first Baptist Church on Welsh Tract near Newark.

The Methodists came to Delaware in 1769, but made little progress until after the close of the Revolutionary War. Since they had not withdrawn from the established church of England, they were regarded as Tories.

The Roman Catholics held services at the home of Cornelius Hallahan in Mill Creek Hundred in 1730. Going from Milford Cross Roads, now Louviers, down O'pinghki Possum Ground, or as the white settlers called it Possum Park Road, to White Clay Creek toward Newark was the location of the Roseville Cotton Mill.

When I was a child a row of ten Brandywine Granite houses stood to the east of the covered bridge.

The first mill, a flour and feed mill, built before the Revolution by Capt. James Black, was described as a merchant mill, one which sold its flour on the market instead of grinding for the local farmers as did the smaller custom mills. In 1828 it became a cotton manufacturing plant and operated as such until it burned after the Civil War.

At one time this mill was operated by Thos. Couch. Later it was owned by the Chillas family who owned the adjoining farm and a fine old stone house filled with very fine old mahogany furniture from England.

The house was more pretentious than most old farm houses. The older Chillas liked to sit on his front porch in the afternoon and see his herd of cows come in from the west pasture to the barnyard. They came through an old English "Haw-haw"—a ditch about three feet deep, paved with stone, and walled up to permit only one cow going through at a time.

This house had been burned and only the stark walls remain of what was once a prosperous farm. Along the south bank of the White Clay Creek from Roseville to Dean's Woolen Mills, was a beautiful walk four generations ago. Four generations ago it was shady and pleasant and on Sunday afternoons, very popular.

The Dean's Woolen Mill employed many persons in Newark until it was burned in 1896.

Before it was Dean's it had been Simonson's, and before that, Tysons' Grist Mill.

The creek here was shallow and teams crossed at Tyson's ford. The covered bridge was built across White Clay Creek at Tyson's Ford in 1812. Later, in 1861, another covered bridge replaced this first one and it was called Nonantum Bridge.

Tyson owned all the land from Lumbrook to the railroad and to North College Road.

He was very active in the Methodist Church and gave a half acre of ground for a burial plot on condition that it and the Methodist Chapel that stood in the middle of it would be cared for.

When a child, I remember seeing the chapel, which was no longer in use, being torn down along with a small stone house that stood in the middle of New Street which was then opened from Chapel St. to Choate Street.

This other stone house had been the home of the Methodist minister.

It is because of this chapel in the Methodist Cemetery that the name was given to Chapel Street.

SERMON OF THE WEEK

By G. J. Peterson.

Most minerals and stones used for jewelry and other ornamental purposes are called gems. The word gem comes from the Latin gemma meaning bud. The story of precious gems is much like that of the blooming of flowers. Like tiny buds which burst into beautiful blossoms, dull lumps of mineral matter can be cut and polished into brilliantly flashing or beautifully glowing gems. They hold in their depths forever all the lovely tints and hues that fade and die in flowers.

Hardness, color, brilliance, rarity and demand determine the value of a gem. Diamonds are generally the most prized gems because they surpass all others in hardness and brilliance. Rubies are more valuable than sapphires because they are more rare, though they have the same degree of hardness. The value of a sapphire depends on the intensity and quality of its blue color. Probably the most celebrated gem in the world is the Koh-i-noor diamond, which was presented to Queen Victoria in 1850 by the East India Company. It was recut in London and now weighs 106 carats. The 3106-carat Cullinan diamond was famous because it was the largest in the world. It weighed a little more than 1 1/3 pounds originally, but was cut into two large and seven smaller stones. The largest of these now belongs to the Crown Jewels of England. It is the 530-carat "Star of Africa," and is set in the Queen's royal scepter. The Queen of England also owns the four most famous rubies in the world.

Some gems are worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. We cannot afford to own them. But although these gems are very valuable in man's sight, they cannot even be compared to the treasures which enrich the person who has found all in the Lord Jesus Christ by faith, for in Him are "hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge" (Colossians 2:3). This same Jesus, who owns all the wealth of heaven and earth, once became poor for our sakes, that we through His poverty might be made rich (II Corinthians 8:9).

Brookside Reflections

by Mrs. Mark Case

Many of our Brookside Park residents have been talking about a civic association or community group of some sort.

Because of the interest that seems to be so evident a small group of us took the initiative to get things going.

Last Wednesday, March 4, six interested neighbors got together and discussed the various committees needed to organize.

Another topic of great importance was a meeting place large enough so everyone could come to a general meeting. We have been very fortunate in obtaining the State Theatre for Sunday, March 15th at 2:00 P.M.

Equally important is cooperation from everyone in Brookside Park as well as those who will be moving into Section K in the near future. There are quite a few committees needed and we want to have an opportunity to think about them and decide which group or groups you could help.

The proposed committees are as follows: by-laws and constitution committee; finance; publicity; membership; community improvement (i.e.) community pride, (i.e.) enhancing facilities such as bus service, police protection, etc.; children's activities (i.e.) recreation facilities, playgrounds, holiday parties, etc.; adult social activities.

From the committee we went to the subject of the purpose of a civic association. Roughly we considered the following: community pride; community value; improvement of public facilities—fire protection, police protection, street lights, safety signs.

Civic action—representation on Newark School Board, voice in selection of stores in shopping center.

Recreation—administration of recreation facilities; information.

If you know people moving into Section K please ask them to come to our general meeting. They will be as concerned with this organization as we in Section C. Please extend our invitation to all of them.

The Sewing Group has decided to organize on a regular membership basis. There are ten regular members and they plan to invite guests to their meetings. The last meeting was held at Mrs. Dan Sharp's home.

Miss Gayle Eden Morse, 2 Curry Lane, made a very dramatic appearance on March 2, 1953 by arriving at home instead of the Delaware Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morse are the proud parents. Now that the "storm" is over a beautiful "Gayle" is welcomed.

The Morses also have a daughter Carey age four.

Mrs. Morse's mother, Mrs. H. B. Jones of Emporium, Pa., arrived on Tuesday and stayed until the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin R. Barton, Jr., of Ardmore, Pa., visited Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Case, Jr., for the day, last Sunday.

Delaware Gasoline Taxes Approach $6 Million Mark

Collection of motor fuel tax in Delaware during the year 1952 was $4,281,913.63 in excess of the amount collected during the preceding year, according to the figures in the office of Leroy F. Hawke, Secretary of the State Highway Department and administrator of the Motor Fuel Tax Division.

According to these figures the total collected during 1952 was 5,773,204.38. For six months, from May to October, inclusive, the receipts exceeded a half million dollars while in 1951 only one month, August, showed receipts in excess of a half million dollars.

Letter To Editor

March 4, 1953

Dear Editor:

Recreation can only be enjoyed if it is preceded by hard work. The young people of this community are willing to do purposeful work—the youth of Newark want a recreation area and a park system. Once they have the land and the opportunity, they will deliver in work and deed.

Too many parents of today just assume that Johnnie will not labor, create or think. Four years ago we had an experience which helped us to realize that these "lazy" boys only need guidance.

Our new home was located on a street of homes that had been built for some time. The lot adjacent to our home had been used as a "catch-all" for many years and was filled with bottles, cans, etc. My husband mentioned to the Scout leader in our neighborhood that the lot could be a really beautiful spot if it were cleaned up—and stated that he would plant it in flowers and care for the trees that were already there if he could get some help.

The Boy Scouts came with pick and shovel—they worked hard leveling the ground, carrying away the trash, burning the brush. Their only pay was the hot chocolate and cookies we passed around, but I am sure that the lot is still a great satisfaction to passers-by with its dogwood, jonquils, day lilies, etc. It was made beautiful by the "spoiled and pampered kids of today."

Newark needs small neighborhood "Fun Lots" as well as the lovely area out on the Glasgow road.

Agronomy Expert Advises to Buy Fertilizer Early

"Order your fertilizer early," advises Claude Phillips, chairman of the University of Delaware agronomy department. "There may be a temporary shortage if orders pile up."

According to the United States Department of Agriculture, temporary fertilizer shortages are likely during the last rush. High analysis phosphate materials and ammonium nitrate may fall short of demands. Total fertilizer supplies, however, are expected to be about 12 percent higher than last year.

Farmers aiming at high production are depending on large quantities of fertilizer. Demand for all three primary plant nutrients, nitrogen, phosphate, and potash, is up. To farmers receiving early delivery, Phillips says, "Make sure the fertilizer is the right kind and is in good condition. Then keep it that way by storing it in a dry place."

With early delivery, you'll avoid the rush and the possible shortages. You'll be sure of having at least one of the things it takes to raise yields per acre, improve soil productivity, and increase your net return. "Be safe. Order now."

Kindergarten Bake Sale To Be Held This Friday

The membership committee reminds the members of N.K.A. that membership renewals are due in April. At this time also applications will be accepted for enrollment of 5-year-olds in the kindergarten for the 1953-54 season.

Dusting 'em Off

By
E. A. RAUGHEY

Well, folks, another baseball season is just around the corner and the pro boys that throw and bat and field that old apple are in warmer climes as Spring Training time is here again.

Since the Yankees put the cover on the 1932 season lots of water has gone down the stream. Of all the player trades made this past winter, only two seem to stand out. The first was made by the AAA's with the White Sox and from here it looks like both clubs got what they were after. The Sox have the idea that this is their year and have taken a page out of the Yankee book and gone in for defense. Fain won the batting title two years in a row, and is a good defensive man. He puts on a big show and the fans go for it. But where is the Sox power? They went out and got old Vemur, Junior Stephens from the Red Sox to drive in the runs and he played most of the 1932 season in the hospital ward.

The AA's wanted power to back big Zerk, so they got what they wanted in Robinson. Now they stack up with a good bunch of hitters—all the way from Joost to Astroth. And who knows? Maybe Jimmy Dykes, knew something when he gave the green light on the trade.

Now for the other big swap. The Phillies wanted a first baseman who could hit the long ball. So they gave up Russ Meyer for Torgerson. But Boston didn't want Meyer and he went to Brooklyn for a couple of minor leaguers. Manager O'Neal, the day before the trade, praised Meyer and predicted a big year for him. Now if he has the big year, maybe he pitches Brooklyn into the Series again. And the Phillies have two left handed hitting first basemen.

In the National, we'll see two new managers operating at Pittsburgh and Cincinnati—Honey for the Bucs and Hornsby for the Reds. Honey has the big job of getting out of the cellar with a bunch of boys and a couple of pro ball players. Rickey has gone in for the Youth Movement and it looks like another basement seat for his crowd. One thing certain, Hornsby will have his boys playing ball for all its worth. Look for the Reds to give plenty of trouble in 1933.

This winter also brought death to one of our local legends. The Inter-State folded up on us. The big league teams pulled the rug out from under and that was it. No wonder, with the majors offering special days and bargains for drawing fans from Delmar to Harrisburg. And they could stay home and see a Big League game for free. The same trouble goes on all around these 48 states and minor leagues, as usual, are in for a tough year.

In just a few weeks now we will hear how the rookies are taking the play away from the veterans. The boys will all be second Ty Cobbs or Musialis; the young pitchers will be Groves or Johnsons, but with all the nice notices, come June most of them will be back in the bushes hoping to see Florida again next Spring.

Right now, a lot is being written about salary hold-outs. What with Kiner taking a 15% cut; and Eddie Lopat, a 25% reduction, we read where Yost of Washington gets a great big $10,000 raise for leading his club in just about everything.

Remember way back, when Hans Wagner got the princely sum for being the best in everything except pitching and Rube Waddell was had for $1500 and a bugle. Times have changed.

Derby, Preakness Threat Probable Stanton Starter

Delaware Park racing fans are almost certain to see the Greenlee Stable's Kentucky Derby and Preakness threat, Straight Face, in action at the Stanton oval this spring. The son of Count Fleet-Exposition is still among the nominees for Delaware's rich three-year-old fixture, the Leonard Richards Stakes, and there is no reason to believe that his connections of $50,000 will make the final payment of $50,000 on May 1 to continue his eligibility. It is quite possible that the Greenlee colorbearer could race here on successive Saturdays, June 13 and 20, the $25,000 added Kent, and in the Richards, which is expected to gross approximately $40,000, of which $30,000 will be added money, to be run the following week.

While Straight Face is being pointed for the Derby and Preakness, he would not be eligible to try for the third "leg" of the Triple Crown, the Belmont Stakes, as he is a gelding. Therefore, with the Belmont down for June 13, it is very likely that the colt will run here the second Saturday in June and, providing all goes well, remain for the Richards on the 20th.

Delaware to Play Football Opener In Local Stadium

Dave Nelson, University of Delaware's director of athletics, has announced a final change in the 1933 football schedule.

As the result of an agreement with officials of Gettysburg College, the opening game of the season, September 26, 1933, will be played in Delaware Stadium instead of at Gettysburg. This gives the Blue Hens an attractive home schedule of six games with only three away—Connecticut, Lafayette, and Bucknell.

The revised Delaware schedule 1933
Sept. 26—Gettysburg Home
Oct. 3—Lehigh Home
Oct. 10—West Chester Home
Oct. 17—New Hampshire Home
Oct. 24—Connecticut Home
Oct. 31—Muhlenberg Home
Nov. 7—Penn. Mil. Col. Home
Nov. 14—Lafayette Away
Nov. 21—Bucknell Away

Are you one of those who had carefully packed away your winter hat with a generous dose of moth flakes last week, only to have to snatch it out again last Sunday?

By the time this article is printed "the big snow" of 1953 will be gone and we will all be going about the business of getting ready for spring. Queer, isn't it, what a habit these storms have of stealing up on us, including the weather forecast?

Friends of Mr. David G. Anderson, Jr., Harmony Road, were saddened by the news of his untimely death, last Saturday, March 7, after a long illness.

Mr. Anderson is survived by both parents, of Philadelphia, his wife, Elizabeth, and three children, Gwendolyn, Lare and Edith.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning at the Newark Funeral Home, with interment in Philadelphia.

Manlove McMullan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. McMullan, Kirkwood Highway, left last Sunday for Atlanta, Georgia, where he plans to study law at Emory University.

Mrs. McMullan left by train on Saturday for Atlanta, the home of her parents.

A number of dinner parties were given for the young couple by relatives and friends, during the past two weeks.

Mrs. David Eastburn, Red Mill Road, gave a demonstration of Flower Arrangement at the New Century Club, on Monday, as part of the Creative Hobby Shop program, presented by the Fine Arts Committee.

An important meeting of Cub Pack leaders and other interested people was held at White Clay Creek Church on Tuesday evening of this week, to discuss future plans for carrying out Cub Scout work in this community.

Roseville Park Branch Library

The library is located at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raymond, Laurel Ave. It is open to the public from 10:00 A.M. to noon, Saturdays.

White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church

Inasmuch as the snow storm last Sunday prevented many people from coming to church, Rev. Bishop announces that offerings for "The One Great Hour of Sharing" will still be received next Sunday.

Children who are saving for this project will bring their offerings boxes on Easter Sunday.

Members are reminded that the need is much greater this year because of the flood disaster in the Netherlands.

Mr. Willard Johnston, president of the White Clay Fellowship, announces that this group voted last week to send $10 for the aid of flood victims.

It was also voted to show appreciation for the Youth Choir by providing a good time and a treat following rehearsal on Monday, April 20. The Senior Choir will also be included in the plans.

The following committee was appointed to make the arrangements: Hazel Johnston, Florence Reed, Margaret Johnston, and Rev. Bishop.

Elizabeth Brown, Eleanor Murray, Margaret Johnston, and Ruth Murray comprise the calendar committee for 1953.

It was voted to contribute $5 to the Easter Flower Fund.

Plans were completed in the meetings of the afternoon and evening circles of the Women's Association held this week, for serving

Last Saturday afternoon, while toying with the idea of getting down to work on the federal income tax returns, a rather unpleasant train of thought was pleasantly interrupted by "And Torgeson found one off the handle of his bat."

Gene Kelley was broadcasting an account of the Phillies-Red Sox game from Clearwater, and the old radio showed the new television set and the perennial income tax problem out of the immediate picture.

Even the old pros apparently have their difficulties with that March 15 deadline.

While talking with Postmaster Cochran the other day, we indicated our last to the matter of filing our income tax returns prior to the eye of the final day, and Y. Allyn assured us that we weren't in any sense alone.

"Just made last year's deadline myself," he smiled. "And it looks like another race this year."

The Newark High School is offering prospective employers of clerical talent an opportunity to obtain some interesting part-time clerical assistance. Interesting, because a high school youngster, just starting out on a first job, is all of that.

Miss Pellegrini, high school instructor, gave us the details of a cooperative school-work plan last week — details which we promptly forgot about until now. We aren't too clear on them at this point and we're ashamed to call the lady for clarification.

Anyways, senior students who are taking the course in office training at high school, are available for part-time employment several afternoons each week. It's a cooperative plan that should benefit all concerned.

Commenting on a recent news item concerning a child that was taken out of school because of the punishment meted out to her classmates, the Dover Index comes up with the answer to a lot of school headaches. Says the Index: "We believe that if parents visited any classroom for a day they would better understand the teachers' problems."

And the teachers will probably go along with that.

Pennsylvania's by birth, and trout fishermen and hunters by choice, have at least one thing in common — a starry-eyed look when mention is made of the Keystone State, fly rods, and deer country.

Howard Myers, who keeps one eye pretty well occupied in a watch glass along Newark's Main Line, is not only a native-born Pennsylvania Dutchman, but trout fisherman and a hunter, too. And that is a combination.

Howard momentarily forgot about the watch repair deal — and our advertising solicitation intent went out the window — in a spirited discussion of Pennsylvania trout, trout streams, and the white-tailed ridge runs.

Myers and Skipper Wetzel should get together.

State Approves 4-H Program For 1953

As a means of helping 4-H members acquire the ability to speak convincingly in public, two college scholarships of $300 each and two all-expense trips to the 32nd National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November will be awarded to a 4-H boy and girl selected from the state winners for outstanding achievement in the 1953 4-H Public Speaking program.

In addition, the Pure Oil Company provides gold-filled medals of honor for county winners in each participating county, a set of silverware for the top-ranking 4-H girl, and a 17-jewel wrist watch for the outstanding boy in each of 36 states.

More than 12,000 4-H Club members took part in the 1952 program, 1,271 of whom received merit medals for their proficiency in public speaking.

The State Club office in Delaware has approved 4-H member participation in this educational program, conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

A free booklet, "How to Make a Convincing Speech," is provided by the awards donor, and may be obtained by 4-H Club leaders and members from the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, 59 East Van Buren Street, Chicago 3, Ill. It contains valuable tips on platform presence, how to interest an audience, good delivery, how to open — and of equal importance — how to end a speech.

Newark Gospel Tabernacle To Hold Special Services

The Newark Gospel Tabernacle, Lovett Ave. & Benny Sts., will present a team of students from the Eastern Bible Institute, in special services this week-end. This team will consist of Jean Saltzman, soloist; Jennie Sager, pianist; Gerald Smeltzer, who is both instrumentalist and vocalist; and Joe Vitello with musical talent.

The services to be held are a youth rally on Saturday night at 7:30 with Joe Vitello, special speaker; Sunday School at 9:45 A.M.; Sunday worship at 11:00 A.M. and evening service at 7:30. The public is invited to attend these services. Rev. Arthur E. Hardt is pastor.

Delaware Grads Exhibit Creative Work in Library

An exhibition of creative work by Alumnae and Alumni of the University of Delaware is now being shown in the University Art Gallery in the Memorial Library. The exhibition shows a wide range of interests as well as many different media—paintings in water color, oil and pastel; sculpture in clay and wood; metal-work in silver, brass and steel; weaving and ceramics.

Though most of the entries come from Delaware and neighboring states, there are some from as far away as California and Michigan. The exhibition will remain on view through March 26 and may be seen during library hours.

Local Kindergarten Group To Meet in Hullahen Hall

The Newark Kindergarten Association will hold a regular membership meeting on Monday, March 16th, at 8 P.M. in Hullahen Hall on the university campus. Members of the association's advisory board, Mrs. Hazel Sulcliffe, Dr. Clifton R. Brooks, Samuel Handloff, and Dr. G. Gorham Lane will speak on various aspects and problems of kindergarten, and all interested in kindergarten education are invited to attend.

The Membership Committee reminds members that the Association's year ends in April and renewal of membership is then due. Parents of children who will be five by December are invited to apply now for enrollment.

Newark Welfare Group To Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Newark Central Welfare Committee will be held Wednesday evening, March 25 at 7:45 in the New Castle County Health Office 132 West Main Street. Officers for the coming year will be elected and reports of the work of the Christmas Committee and Thrift Shop will be given.

All service clubs and similar organizations are invited to send representatives. Interested individuals are also welcome to attend.
