Additional $673,175 Sought For 1961-62 Year To Meet Competition For Faculty Demand, University President Tells State Budget Commission, For Total $3,873,175

A 21 per cent increase in state funds for operation of the University of Delaware in 1961-62 was requested by Dr. John A. Perkins, university president, in addressing the State Budget Commission at Dover last Tuesday.

A total of $3,873,175 is sought from the state for next year, an increase of $673,175 over the current appropriation. President Perkins told the commission that the university needs the money to pay its bills and to maintain its standards for qualified personnel.

The university now gets 35 per cent of the state's total budget for higher education, and Perkins said that the state is not doing its share.

Perkins said that the university is not asking for more money in order to maintain its standards for qualified personnel.

The Newark League of Women Voters will conduct its annual finance drive from Oct. 3 to Oct. 10.

"The work of our league, on both the local and national levels, is supported not only by dues and gifts of our members, but by public spirited men and women who consider contributions to the league an investment in Democracy," President Margo Perkins said today.

The league is non-partisan, and dues are kept as low as possible so that money will not be a barrier to membership. Consequently, in order to meet the budget, non-members are solicited for contributions.

This is not a community-wide campaign. Contributions are solicited from a relatively small, selected list of interested persons, who, as citizens, are concerned with increasing citizen participation in government.

The league feels that in addition to raising needed funds, the annual finance drive affords an excellent opportunity for making friends, and explaining work of the league to the community.

This year the League of Women Voters plans to study housing, planning and zoning in the Newark area.

At the state level, the league is concerned with Delaware's finances. Nationally, it is continuing study of foreign policy.

President Roger Douglass Expresses "Consternation" At "Excessive Criticism . . . Of Excellent Police Force;" State Certifies Need For Newark Housing Authority

A certificate of determination from the State Housing Board as a step in the right direction to obtain federal housing funds; a request from the Central PTA for protection of elementary school pupils on city streets; and a letter from the Newark Chamber of Commerce commending the Newark Police Department, were presented at the regular meeting of Newark City Council last Tuesday night.

In a letter to Mayor Frank Durnall, President Roger E. Douglass of the local chamber of commerce wrote: "We have heard and read with some consternation the excessive criticism of our city police department and it has been a matter of discussion at our board meeting."

"The board of directors has advised me to write you of this matter and it is with pleasure and a great deal of pride in our police force that I make it a matter of record that we believe the protection afforded our businesses and our citizens has been of the highest order."

"We believe the jobs these gentlemen do in the performance of their duties is and has been of the highest caliber. We believe we have an excellent police force and are proud to state the fact."

The certificate from the state board was presented to council by Attorney Kenneth W. Lewis, counsel for the Planning Commission, to establish a six-man Newark Housing Authority with three persons each to be appointed by the mayor and by the governor to serve without pay.

"I hope you will arrange with the governor to act on this by the next meeting," Councilwoman Betty McClelland observed, and Mayor Durnall responded "I've already talked with the governor, and we need authority from Washington."

A letter is to be sent to Washington for such authority, and a survey of local housing needs is to be pursued with a view to Councilman George Wilson's recommendation that "we hire someone within the area . . . as the people will be more apt to talk with someone they know."

Council approved the first of two readings for a proposed ordinance to establish a $25 monthly cost of living raise for all municipal employees, effective Oct. 1, and authorized advertising for bids to purchase an automobile for city use by Public Works Director Ben Campagna.

Mrs. Edmund J. Cain, president and spokesman for the Central PTA, urged council to provide added police protection on Academy Street with the prohibition of double parking as school buses are discharging or receiving passengers at the Central school; and requested crossing guards, traffic signs, and painted crosswalks at the Main Street-Elkton Road intersection with New London Avenue and the B&O Railroad tracks.

Councilman William Diehl suggested that immediate action be taken, that auxiliary police and other volunteer services be requested. The city manager is to act on the matter.

Concerning cross-walk painting, Mrs. McClelland said that she had requested this be done last spring, and asked Campagna—pinch-hitting for the ill Francis Neide—how long a time such painting required. And Mr. Campagna admitted one day.

Councilman Samuel Diehl suggested that Central school authorities consider off-street parking with use of the athletic field.

Police Exams

Diehl reported that some 20 police patrolman examinations were to be given the next night; that four candidates for the job as Newark chief of police had been interviewed, and that "all qualified persons interested in the police chief position would be given tests."

A request to provide city water for A&D, Inc. home developers on Chestnut Hill Road, was referred to the Planning Commission for development of facts; council prohibited display of all commercial banners across Newark streets, with requests for banners advertising non-profit or charity events to be decided by the city manager; and David Gallo's letter concerning water and sewer assessment relief was referred to the Planning Commission.

Concerning Murray Avenue resident Charles L. Cole's complaint of trash and incinerator burning at the Park 'n' Shop, Mayor Durnall said "Call me the next time you notice such a violation." The incinerator has met with the approval of Fire Marshal William M. Donahue, who has demanded controlled burning.

Campagna reported that the deadline for reconstruction of the 29 Ray Street property had passed last Monday, and that the landlord had requested time to tear down all four buildings from 23 to 29 Ray Street.

Local Marksmen Selected On Team For Army Tourney

Thos. F. Leo, Jr. Heads State Drive To Save Battlefield

Thomas F. Leo, Jr., 73 Mercer Drive, Newark, recently was appointed Delaware state chairman of the Gettysburg Battlefield Preservation Association with national headquarters in Gettysburg, Pa.

The purpose of the Association is to purchase privately owned portions of the Gettysburg Battlefield and turn it over to the United States Government to prevent it from becoming commercially developed.

Because of limitations imposed by Congress, after $450,000 had been appropriated for the purchase of this land, and because about 700 acres are privately owned, parts of the battlefield are in danger of being sold to commercial enterprises, thus destroying its physical beauty and historical significance.

Interested individuals throughout the country have banded to form the Gettysburg Battlefield Preservation Association and to ask for donations to buy this land through contributions.

Checks should be made payable to "Battlefield Gettysburg," and mailed to Leo at his Newark address.

Donors of $1 or more will receive a deed of one square foot of the battlefield from national headquarters in Gettysburg.

Anyone wishing to help in this cause is asked to contact State Chairman Tom Leo at the Photo Center in Newark, or at Leo's home.

The couple, who comes to Delaware from a successful tour of Europe and Israel.

Luboshutz and Nemenoff are familiar guest artists with every leading American orchestra.

Playing two pianos as one, the sound falls between that of a soloist and an orchestra and is considered most unusual.

The teamwork is something to behold. Without so much as a glance at one another, the music flows and pauses in a flawless manner. Two pianos heighten the music of Bach, Beethoven, Mozart, and Strauss, as well as the music written especially for the couple.

The Russian-born Pierre Luboshutz, and Parisian Gina Nemenoff met in Paris when she was a student in his class. They were married in 1940, and have been together for the last 20 years have been tops in their field.

On their most recent concert tour they played a command performance for the Queen of the Belgians attended the performance.

Odd On Chances For First Frost Listed For Hay Fever Sufferers, Home Gardens

How much longer do we have before winter's cold hand falls over the ragweed, the garden, the flowers and the crops?

Hay fever sufferers are anxiously awaiting the first killing frost which will remove most of them from the sneeze and drip group. Home gardeners wonder when they should get those house plants that have spent the summer outdoors, back in the house.

Vegetable farmers wonder whether they should spray their crops with insecticides and herbicides again when a hard frost will come along and kill the plants anyhow.

Can we predict when it will frost?

Dr. Donald J. Fieldhouse, horticulturist at the University of Delaware, has been doing some figuring for Delaware pepper growers so they can tell how long they should spray to control corn borers, anthracnose, and bacterial spot, before giving up to winter.

His figures can be applied for house plants and sneeze weeds too. Dr. Fieldhouse provides the facts but not the guesses. He said everyone will have to make his own guess as best he can.

Someday other cars will probably offer these features but in 1961 you'll find them all only in the cars from Chrysler Corporation

Amazing New Alternator

replaces old-fashioned generator. Keeps your battery charged even when you're in a traffic jam, with radio and heater on. This new electrical system is similar to the type found in jet aircraft, and you get it at no extra cost in every 1961 Chrysler Corporation car.

New ease of entry and comfort inside

Unibody puts more room inside without raising the roof or stretching the car. Because it's a single unit rather than a body on top of a frame, inches of space are saved. These inches show up as added room inside. Big, wide doors make it easy to get in and out.

Automatic door locks

You can lock all doors, front and back, just by flipping a switch on the dash. Wonderful with kids!

Freckle-free chrome

keeps showroom shine two times longer than ordinary automobile chrome. New double nickel layer under chrome helps keep "brightwork" weather-proof.

Goodbye Squeaks and rattles

Chrysler Corporation's Unibody is built to last for years. Even if you never plan to drive a car that long, you'll appreciate this single unit, all-welded construction that puts a damper on squeaks and rattles, makes these cars twice as strong as cars built the old way.

No dip, No squat, No sway...

that's the story with famous Torsion-Aire Ride (still exclusive with cars from Chrysler Corporation). It's the big reason the experts say these are "the best road cars ever built in America, bar none."

20% more go—15% less gulp

Chrysler Corporation's new Economy Slant Six engine delivers 20% more passing power than previous sixes, yet uses 15% less gas. You get 40 to 50 more miles per tankful, plus the extra smoothness of a three-speed automatic transmission.

7-soak rust protection

in the 1961 cars from Chrysler Corporation helps your car keep its good looks—and its high resale value. Car bodies are soaked seven times to protect the metal from rust inside and out.

V-8 pep on regular gas

Big new V-8, available in most models, makes it possible to get premium performance on regular gas.

A new look in economy

The cars that won 9 out of 12 possible first and second places in the 1960 Mobilgas Economy Run have fresh new styling for 1961. A look of directed forward motion.

Speaking of Money...

"So you want to start a business"

by JOHN BUCHANAN

Breathes there the man with soul so dead, who never to himself hath said . . . "One of these days I'm going to have a business of my own" . . . ?

If you are one of millions of Americans who are working for someone else for a living, I'm sure you've seriously considered that prospect. But a number of imponderables stop you. What fields are best to enter at this time? How much experience and cash do you need? Most important—what are your chances of succeeding?

For the immediate present and long range, what are your chances of success if you were to start your own business today? Reasonably good, now, say the economic experts, and improving each year as we edge toward 1963 and '64. Here's why—remember that bumper crop of war babies of the early 1940's? They'll soon be of marriageable age. That means more living quarters, more furniture and appliances, more services to supply these new families in the daily routine of living. And the sooner you get started in a business that will cater to them, the better you'll be established to take advantage of increased business when the real boom hits—which is expected to be 1963 or four.

Your chances of remaining in business until then? Well, don't let this discourage you, but government figures show that only 65 percent of all new firms are still in business at the end of the first year. And only 37 percent ever celebrate their fifth birthday. After that, however, the picture brightens substantially. The chances that they will survive beyond the fifth year are 10 to 1 in their favor.

To get started, three things are needed—you should have enough cash to ride out the first year . . . you ought to have some experience . . . but you must have enough customers. How many? Depends. If you are starting an appliance store, you'll need a thousand families to support you. A delicatessen . . . 250; a photo supply store . . . 12,300. A restaurant, 300 . . . and a dry cleaning shop, 1300. Remember that next time you decide to open Ye Olde Book Shoppe because there happens to be an empty store in your neighborhood. That business needs 12,800 families to keep it from becoming another empty store.

Now—what about cash? How much do you need? Again, it all depends on the type and size of your enterprise. Two to three thousand dollars will put you in business as a beauty shop operator . . . 40 to 60 thousand dollars as a motel owner. The rule of thumb—the smaller the business, the more of your own hard cash you'll be expected to put up.

But suppose you are short on cash and long on experience. You can still raise funds through other sources—credit from suppliers, personal loans from friends and relatives, or by forming a partnership. You supply the brains, they supply the money. Or, if you feel you have a product with a favorable long-range outlook, you can incorporate and sell stock in your venture.

Yes—it's a good idea to be well-heeled with experience. But if you are short on cash, the door still open to you to start your business? Surprisingly, yes. You can get started offering some unique but much-needed service. One man did it by offering skeptical parents Bonded Baby-Sitter service. The cost $200 to have 13 baby sitters bonded. Another man in cleaning before they sell or trade their cars. There are scores of other service businesses waiting for someone with a little cash and foresight to start them.

At the Savings Fund our business people save regularly. Why not? Why not a savings program with us and make Savings Fund, too. Your money will interest at the current rate of 4 1/2% in a Special Purpose account. You open an account with as little as $100, with full passbook privileges and office regardless of the one at which you opened your account. You can withdraw comfortably at home and bank by mail or wish. Won't you drop in soon?

Employ the Physically Handicapped Week—Oct. 2-8

WITH OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL

The day has long passed when American industrial workers were treated as mere cogs in the machinery of production. Pension plans, medical and accident insurance, sick pay, holidays and vacations are standard throughout the industry today. Many companies offer cafeterias, recreation facilities and other programs to make working as easy and pleasant as possible.

One of the more encouraging aspects of the change in industrial philosophy is the attitude many employers are taking toward workers with physical handicaps. Industrial organizations, such as the National Association of Manufacturers, have played a leading role in persuading employers to hire the handicapped.

NAM President Rudolph Bannow recently asked his organization's nearly 20,000 member companies—which employ two-thirds of the nation's industrial workers—to review their operations for additional job opportunities during "Employ the Physically Handicapped Week," Oct. 2-8.

Bannow did not base his case on charity. "Experience shows that physically handicapped employees ask no favors they successfully perform their jobs side by side with the able-bodied in the workplaces of the nation," he pointed out.

Both management and the workers themselves are to be congratulated on their contribution toward realizing the dream of making America a nation in which everyone has the opportunity to make the fullest use of his capabilities.

First State Toastmasters Judge Ivins' Talk Tops

The First State Toastmasters Club met Sept. 14, at the DuPont Chestnut Run Laboratory, with Vice-President Bob Pearson of Newark as toastmaster for the evening in which Dr. Leonard Ivins' speech "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" was judged the best.

Ivins discussed evidence linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer. Newark speakers for the evening included Corresponding Secretary Melvin Dempsey and William Habeeb.

Other local officers are Harry Wolfe, a vice-president, and Joe Merkel, recording secretary.

THIS IS THE BEST CAR WE'VE EVER MADE. It runs more quietly and economically, rides more comfortably, steers and stops and handles more precisely. It offers a number of thoughtfully developed evolutions . . . to bring an already excellent and spacious automobile one step closer to perfection.

Every feature and component has won its right to exist through hundreds of tests and refinements. This careful evolution will go on. And its continuity of excellence adds value to every Imperial now on the road. See this great Imperial of the classic look. Drive it this week.

Charlie Word, Lloyd Wells, Art Carney Score As Yellowjackets Defeat Conrad

Halfbacks Charlie Word and Lloyd Wells scored Newark's two touchdowns, and Co-Captain Art Carney at guard kicked two extra points last Saturday as Coach Bob Hoffman's Yellowjackets stopped Coach Dick Smith's Conrad Redskins, 14-0, in the season opener here at home.

The Yellowjackets met the Dynamiters of Coach Dick Paciaroni and P. S. duPont High School in another Newark home stand this Saturday, with a 2 p.m. kick-off.

Last Saturday, while Newark was having some trouble with "a much improved team over the Conrad we played last Thanksgiving Day," as Mr. Hoffman puts it, P. S. duPont came from behind with three touchdowns in the second half to tie Coach John Meccariello's De La Warr eleven, 19-19.

Rylander To Speak At Local TD Club Luncheon Meeting

Roy Rylander, tennis coach and trainer at the University of Delaware, will be the guest speaker for the Newark Touchdown Club noon luncheon meeting next Monday at the Colony Inn, Brookside, Vice-President Francis Neide announced today.

At the initial meeting of the club last Monday with Eric Mayer presiding at the Newark Restaurant, Delaware Line Coach Milo "Mike" Lude reviewed the Hens' loss to Lehigh.

Lude lauded Capt. Mickey Heineken for his defensive play, citing nine unassisted tackles made by the Delaware end—twice as many as any other player made. "Statistics don't mean points," Mike Lude said, pointing out that the Hens topped the Engineers in yardage gained.

He praised the punting of Pape Ludek who averaged 34.4 yds. with seven kicks.

"But we hope we don't have to use him often in this capacity," Milo mused somewhat ruefully.

Inexperience, injuries, and breaks of the game hurt the Hens, he said.

"I can't go fishing. I have too much work to do around the house," Axel Anderson said last Sunday morning, and then—pondering the chores that faced him at home—quickly changed his mind. "Let's go," the Swede said.

With Axel, a pair of 12-year-old boys, and Buck, a veteran Chesapeake Bay retriever, we picked up a dozen fresh fatback or mullet from Mildred McCarty at Dewey Beach, parked the car close to the dunes on the road recently abandoned by the Army, and stepped out into a northeaster whistling over the gray ocean where whitecaps tossed from the horizon into foaming thunder on the Delaware sand.

"You'll never catch anything in this wind," the Swede said gloomily. And he was almost right. It took a bit of doing to get a strip of mullet into the water with the wind trying to blow hook, line and sinker back over the dunes to Rehoboth Bay, and when a cast did hit the ocean beyond the roaring breakers, the surging seas sought to drag everything up onto the beach—and too often did.

But we did catch one bouncing bluefish, and Axel was almost encouraged to the point of rigging his own rod and joining young Billy Richards and his adult companion in some surf fishing, when a film of heavy black oil washed in with the tide to gum things up for fair —and unfair, too. Our lines were reeled in dripping with globs of black, gooey, tar-like oil, and Billy promptly transferred most of this mess onto his hands—and it didn't wash off.

"I'll wear off—in a year or two," Mr. Anderson cheerfully informed the young fisherman, but observing Billy's doleful look, hurriedly added "I have some stuff at home that will take it off."

The oil ended things in the surf, and with Axel's observation that the black coating would serve as a protective substitute for the rod varnish that had not been applied for too long, we transferred some of the oil onto the car in driving to the Indian River Inlet where the day before had been a rough one, too, with Gibby Young, Carl Linden, Bill Murray, Jim, not Axel, Anderson, and Don Crossan in some tossed trolling from Cape Henlopen to P-Booy over the Atlantic's eastern horizon.

Jim Anderson caught an amberjack—a species that we had sought in vain in July off Hatteras where they abound—and a rarity, indeed, off Delaware, and we caught one big bonito. But that was it.

Bob Kinkaid, Carl Linden's brother-in-law from Minnesota, had reluctantly declined Cap'n Young's invitation to accompany us on the bounding Main, and as a result, had spent a quiet, restful day ashore.

Insofar as Mr. Kinkaid was concerned, everything happened for the best.

"We'll hit a calm weekend, yet! Mr. Young said grimly as we staggered up the rolling walk to the Anglers Restaurant and sustenance for the long drive home.

Another football season has rolled around—and how they DO roll around, too—with Coach Bob Hoffman's Yellowjackets stopping the Conrad Redskins here at home, 14-0, in Newark's bid for the Blue Hen Conference championship that the Yellowjackets lost last year by a lone game—and a near thing at that.

Wayne Pollari's undefeated Mt. Pleasant champions, Dave Nelson's Fightin' Blue Hens dashed most of their hopes for a second straight year as MAC champions and Lambert Cup winners, against the Lehigh legions.

Former State Champion "Morrie" Adams Named Ass't Manager At Blue Hen Lanes

Former state bowling champion and a prominent figure in local bowling circles for the last 30 years, Morris M. Adams has been named ass't manager of the Blue Hen Lanes in the Newark Shopping Center.

Morrie Adams, who resides at 155 Courtney Street in Newark, has rolled four 300 games in his life and is credited with one 299 game in league competition.

Morris M. Adams

Possessor of a lifetime average of 190, Adams started his bowling career about 35 years ago in Tulsa, Okla., while attending high school.

When the American Legion opened bowling lanes on Cleveland Avenue in Newark in 1933, Adams was engaged as alley man and assistant manager. Two years later the bowling lanes were moved to Main Street and Adams was named manager, a position that he held until he entered the Army in 1943.

After military service, Adams returned to Delaware as ass't manager of a bowling center in Wilmington. Late in 1945 he and Walter Sparks of Newark purchased the Newark Bowling Center on Main Street. Adams managed this bowling facility until this year.

Morrie won the Delaware All-Events Championship and teamed up with Charles Clifton to claim the Delaware doubles title 10 years ago.

In the Wilmington Major League, he once rolled a spare and 10 straight strikes for a score of 299 recognized by the American Bowling Association.

The Blue Hen Lanes' ass't manager has bowled exhibition games against Andy Varipappas, "World's Greatest Trick Shot Artist."

Throughout his career the popular Newark bowler has used a 16-lb. ball—even when as a high school student, he weighed a scant 106-lbs.

Adams attributes the increased popularity of bowling to the invention of automatic pin-setting machines first installed in the Wilmington area some five years ago.

Dean, Matthews Place One, Two In Golf Tourney

Chauncey Dean won the Doyle McSpadden Open Golf Tournament at the Newark Country Club Sunday with a 36-hole score of 136.

Art Matthews was second with a score of 137.

In the women's division, Eloise Cannoles was the winner with a 76, while Audrey Fernengel took second with a 77.

Inaugurated by Doyle McSpadden, the tournament is played annually for the benefit of the local junior golf program.

Gladys Gasper Wins NCC Ladies Day Flag Tourney

Gladys Gasper won the Ladies Day Flag Tournament at the Newark Country Club last Tuesday.

Lovina Bradley won second place in the golf event, and Edna McKenna won third place honors.

Messina, Boulden Coon Hounds Win Field Trial Honor

The hounds of two Newark sportsmen—Raymond Messina's Lucky Draw, and Omar Boulden's Spare Ribs—were first tree and first line winners among 104 coon hounds from a tri-state area in field trials last Sunday at Paige Vannoy's farm near Kemblesville, Pa.

Red Fox and Smart Alex, owned by Goodman and Ferguson of Readville, Pa., were second tree and second line winners.

The refreshment stand was sponsored by the Cecil County Coon Hunters Club, and a prize ham was won by Ethel Ferguson, Strickersville, Pa.

Dallas Green To Address National Little Leaguers

Dallas Green, former Blue Hen basketball and baseball star, and now a pitcher with the Phillies, will be the guest speaker at the Newark National Little League banquet on Saturday, Oct. 15, at 6 p.m. in the Astoria fire house.

Tickets for the Little League banquet may be obtained from Ron Bramble, Harvey Fulton, Ken Snow, and Bob Stafford, National Little League team managers.

Along the line, Nelson will use Capt. Mickey Heineken, and either Ollie Baker or Dave Ennis at ends; Joe Jerkovich, and Mike Boyd at tackles; Earl Ritchie and Dick Poloquin at guards, and Dick Hammer at center.

Still missing from the lineup is Dick Broadbent, from Wilmington, Delaware's fastest end and top receiver, who injured a knee in practice three days before the Lehigh opener.

Amherst College will make its first appearance in Delaware Stadium Saturday. A brand-new opponent for the Blue Hens.

Jeffs showed strength last week in defeating Springfield 21-4, in a 1959 defeat.

One thing is certain, Coach Jim Jeffs—they use Delaware's MAC champions meet Amherst this Saturday at Delaware Stadium at 2 p.m.

Delaware took its worst beating by Lehigh since 1930, a year before Nelson arrived, when the Engineers won, 21-0.

Nelson probably will go with the same lineup that started against Lehigh—with one major exception, Dave Beinner, recently recovered from a shoulder injury, should be ready to go at left halfback.

Speedy senior from Irvington, N.J., carried the ball only three times last Saturday and was the Hens' leading ground-gainer, largely on the strength of a 47-yd run that set up Delaware's second touchdown.

He will be teamed with Ken Schroeck at the other half and Travis Cosaboom at fullback, with Gary Hebert, calling signals.

Nelson is expected to make liberal use of sophomore backfield talent. Tom Michaels, and Ron McCoy, saw a lot of action at Lehigh, and while they "made some mistakes," according to Nelson, they showed promise. Another sophomore, Dick Gemp, is expected to play.

Course For Coffee-Loving Intellectuals Offered Free By UD Extension Division

The extension division at the University of Delaware has come up with another first for the fall term—a course for coffee-loving intellectuals.

The experiment, entitled "Cafe Intellectual" for lack of better name, will enable students, faculty and other friends of the university to gather weekly to converse informally on the serious topics, personalities and books of the day.

A member of the faculty, versed in the week's topics, will lead the discussions.

The group will gather in the small cafeteria of the Student Center at 8 p.m. on Sundays, Oct. 2, 9, 16, and 23. A pot full of coffee—and tea—will be available and there will be no time limit on the discussions.

Strictly a "come as you wish" proposition, there is no registration, fee, or tickets.

Two conversations will be carried on at once, at either end of the lounge, so persons may choose the topic in which they are most interested.

The semester's program:

Oct. 2 — Thomas Mann's "Magic Mountain," Dr. Max Kirsch, assistant professor of modern languages, leader; Scott Fitzgerald's "Great Gatsby," Dr. Charles H. Bohner, assistant professor of English, leader.

Oct. 9 — C. P. Snow's "Strangers and Brothers," Dr. Robert F. Jackson, professor of mathematics, leader; Boris Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago," Irene Nagurski, instructor of modern languages, leader.

Oct. 16 — Albert Camus' "Stranger," Dr. Frederic St. Aubyn, assistant professor of modern languages, leader; Friedrich Duerrenmatt's "Deathly Game," Dr. George H. Henry, professor of education, leader.

Oct. 23 — The Contemporary Portuguese Novel, Dr. Kimberley S. Roberts, chairman of the department of modern languages, leader; William Faulkner's "Sound and Fury," Dr. Edward H. Rosenberg, assistant professor of English, leader.

Bowbenders Hold Archery Tourney Near Hockessin

The Delaware Bowbenders field archery tournament last Sunday featured competition among bowmen from this state, Maryland and Pennsylvania, with simulated animal targets.

Harold Robinson of Penn-Del won top honors with a score of 337 in the distinguished class; while Duke Tyler and Buck Crowe of the Bowbenders scored first and second, and Jack McCasters, New Castle, was third in the expert class with scores of 252, 230, and 212.

Tom Craig, Jim Russell, and Ken Karens won the first three places in the master's class; Bob Anthony, Ralph Miller and John Jordan topped the bowman's class; and Margaret Craig won the ladies event.

Jim Russell, Jr., won the junior event, and Joe Bukowski, Jr., the bantam class.

The next tournament on Oct. 9, will feature a 28-target field shoot with NFAA scoring rings on animal targets.

The public is invited to attend the archery shoots conducted on the second and fourth Sundays of each month on the range two miles west of Hockessin at the intersection of Landenberg and Broad Run roads. Registrations open at 9 a.m., President Len Marsh reports.
