Aetna Volunteers To Collect Contributions To Fund Drive

Sunday Canvass From House To House In Newark Area Planned By Local Volunteer Firemen To Obtain Annual Maintenance, Operating Fund With Goal Set At $14,500

Uniformed volunteer firemen of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company will call at each house in Newark, Brookside and Chestnut Hill Estates this Sunday for donations to the 1959 fund drive.

Last Sunday, folders and return, post-paid envelopes were left at all homes in Aetna's fire district by 75 volunteer firemen. Chief Clifton Knotts explained today, "Homes not visited where callbacks will be made this Sunday are asked to mail in their contributions."

This year the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company opens its fund drive on the first Sunday of November. The fund drive is a year-long operation. William M. Doyle said yesterday, "This year Aetna's fund drive goal is $14,500, he continued."

Fire-fighters are paid $100 a month and salaries are paid through the fund drive. The fund drive costs thousands of dollars a year to operate and maintain. Treasurer John List said, "As an example, in March of this year Aetna received its most expensive pump, a 1958 American Pumper with a 750 gal. tank at a cost of over $24,000."

List concluded. He said that only through the support can Aetna buy and maintain modern equipment for protection with present low rates.

Letters were delivered to all places of business. The fund drive is a year-long operation. William M. Grant is chairman of the fund drive and industrial section.

American Folklore Features Program For Cub Scouts

American Folklore featured the monthly pack meeting of the First Presbyterian Church, the Cub Scouts in appropriate costumes.

The Cub Scouts were led by Everett Hale. The program was a discussion of future activities; a film on bicycle safety was shown.

Recognition awards were presented by Cubmaster Linwood Roberson.

Hale was awarded a silver pin, Wolf Badge and one pin. High Brambley, a Bear and two-year pin; and George and a silver arrow, Lion badge, three-year pin.

Parents Invited To Visit Schools In Local District

American Education Week To Feature Dedication Of New School Buildings

The Newark special school district in cooperation with schools all over the United States, will observe American Education Week, Nov. 9-15, and administrators, faculties and students are inviting parents to visit the schools during that period.

Visiting days in the Newark special school district are Tuesday, Nov. 11 in the elementary schools; Wednesday, at Newark High School; and Thursday, in the junior high schools.

Nurseries are being provided by PTA organizations to care for younger children while parents are in the classrooms. American Education Week posters are being placed in local stores and Newark area churches and service clubs have been contacted for their participation in the observance of American Education Week.

New buildings in the district—the Newark Senior High School, the Oglethorpe Junior High School and the Jennie Smith Elementary School, will be dedicated, and in the schools, special American Education Week assembly programs are planned.

Displays in the classrooms and corridors, showing student performance, are being completed.

Adult Education Program To Start With Four Classes

The Newark Adult Education Program will begin Nov. 3 at Newark High School, and at present, night upon his retirement after 41 years and nine months service with the Newark Post Office.

His original mail route of 24 miles which he served from 1916 to 1922 with horse and wagon, now covers a total of 43 miles—Christiana Road, Corner Ketch, Little Baltimore, Stanton Depot, Pleasant Hill, North Star, Polly Drummond Hill, and Milford Crossroads.

During his service with the Newark Post Office, he used 42 automobiles after the first horse-drawn vehicle, and served mail from three office sites—Academy Street, Main Street, and the Center Annex—under six postmasters—Delaware Clark, Levi Bowen, William H. Evans, Cyrus Rittenhouse, James Robinson, and F. Allyn Cooch, Jr.

The father of five children, all residing in the Newark area, Mr. Lewis was born in Newark, Oct. 9, 1888, on West Main Street.

Senior Citizens Seek Club Piano For Entertainment

The Senior Citizens Club of Newark is in need of a piano. Mrs. Cornelia Mylrea reports, adding hopefully, "Perhaps some reader of this article has one not in use now, and would be willing to contribute it for this club for all senior citizens of Newark, both men and women, who enjoy the companionship of others their own age."

Many now belong to the group, and meet twice a week. The club meets on Thursdays from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.—in the dining room of the Newark New Century Club.

Games are played, sewing is conducted for the Visiting Nurse Association, and bandages are rolled. Plans for the future include a craft activity, and it is felt that a piano would add greatly to the enjoyment of members.

A non-profit organization operating on a very limited budget, the Senior Citizens Club is sponsored by the Newark Scriptoriums.

Mrs. A. S. Priestley or Mrs. J. M. Singles will arrange to have the piano moved to the club house.

SCHOOL BOND

The Newark Board of Education has approved a referendum to be held Dec. 13, 1958, for approval of an $800,000 bond issue for completion of the current building program, Administrator Frank Mercer announced yesterday.

Cider, Apple Pie Top List Of Favorites For Fall Parties With Banner Crop Year

While apple bobbing has slipped a notch or two on the party game popularity list, fresh apples, cider and apple pie are still top party favorites at this time of year.

Never before has "King Apple" been so resplendent in his royal robes, nor has he enjoyed so much the favor of his court—the general public—as he does this particular year. Part of the reason, says Dr. Vernon J. Fisher of the University of Delaware school of agriculture, is that "A great fruit renaissance is underway."

Dr. Fisher, who conducts research aimed at improving fruit quality and production methods, believes that people in general are becoming more quality conscious and are using more mature judgment about the things they buy. This trend is reflected directly in apple buying.

Traditionally, only the very high quality specialized steamer basket type of apple received very much pampered treatment by producers. But now apple growers are becoming sensitive to the mass-quality trend and have been working hard to improve their bulk-marketed product.

The fruit renaissance even has extended to Europe where higher living standards have brought about demand for a much higher-quality apple than has been marketed there before, Dr. Fisher points out.

In explaining how patterns of living have effected apple marketing, the scientist observed that the paring knife is fast becoming an almost obsolete utensil for apple preparation in American kitchens.

Goblins, Ghosts, Witches March Tonight In Annual Hallowe'en Mardi Gras Parade

Newark's annual Hallowe'en Mardi Gras will be held this evening, and goblins, black cats and witches will wend their appropriate way in the five block-long parade assembling at the Newark Shopping Center at 6:45 and getting underway at 7:15 p.m. The parade will follow Main Street to Academy, south to Delaware Avenue, west to College Avenue, north to Main, east to Academy Street and to the Academy Building parking lot for disbanding.

The City Council will lead the parade followed by pre-school youngsters in a special group. The Newark High School band will follow dressed in Hallowe'en costume, while floats, small marching groups, marching pairs, self-propelled floats of decorated wagons, scooters, bicycles and carriages will be fourth in line.

Large marching groups will follow, with the University of Delaware Band leading the adult float section.

Riding in the 1959 automobiles on parade will be Mrs. Delaware, and contestants in this year's Mrs. Brooks contest: Miss Newark, the University of Delaware Homecoming and the Newark High Football Queens.

The judges stand will be at Academy and Main Streets in front of City Hall, and the parade route has been planned to afford judges a second opportunity to look over the hundreds of entries. Prize awards will be announced in front of the Aetna firehouse following the parade.

The 14-game midway will be set up in the Academy parking lot, starting at 8 o'clock, with skill-type games including six each for elementary, junior and senior high students, and two for the pre-school set.

Refreshments provided by the VFW will be served by the Aetna Ladies Auxiliary.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Kikmore Civic Association, Sigma Tri-Hi-Y, and Boy Scouts of America have charge of the parade and 40 university students will be parade marshals through cooperation of the Interfraternity Council.

Cartoons will follow the parade at the Newark Armory and a street dance for teen-agers will take place on Academy Street from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Ushers for this special service will be Mrs. E. M. Rahn, Mrs. Henry Brader, Mrs. Robert Meyer and Mrs. Harry Deppert.

A social hour will follow the service in the church dining room, with Mrs. John Chary in charge. Hostesses will be Mrs. T. D. Mylrea and Mrs. Paul Jaquette.

Homecoming at the University of Delaware, last Saturday, drew a crowd estimated at 5,200 persons despite dark weather.

The goal post party in the Newark Country Club was attended by more than 700 alumni following the Connecticut game, many of whom remained for dinner or went on to visit functions at dormitories and fraternity houses.

The principal event of the morning was the dedication of four new dormitories and the Student Center which opened this fall for student use.

Former Judge Hugh M. Morris, president of the university's board of trustees, accepted keys to the buildings from representatives of the architectural firms responsible for the design of the new facilities and, in turn, presented them to Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the university.

Concerning completion of the master plan for the central campus, Dr. Perkins said, "The two new dormitories on the central campus mark the completion of physical plans projected approximately 40 years ago. Seldom are plans so faithfully fulfilled. These dormitories of Georgian design, along with the two contemporary units on the east side of Academy Street give us 569 new dwelling places for students this autumn."

"A total of 1,433 students now has first class, no longer overcrowded, accommodations. In contrast, only eight years ago, we had rooms for only 633 students, almost one-half of them in wartime barracks buildings."

Dr. Perkins spoke of the men for whom the dormitories have been named: Dr. Francis Hagar Squire, Dr. Wilbur Owen Sypher, Dr. Alan P. Colburn and Henry B. Thompson.

Captain Carno Of Space To Visit Newark Tonight

"Captain Carno," space man from the planet Carnasius, will enter the earth's orbit for the first time this evening at the Food Fair in Brookside, from 5 to 7:30 earth time, an official source revealed today.

Youngsters are invited to visit with the space captain, who will present free "satellites" and contest entry blanks at the local super-market.

Bessie F. Collins, author of "Poem For 'Instructor'" is the author of a poem "Patriotic Promise," in the November issue of "The Instructor," nationally circulated magazine.

Mrs. Collins has contributed to several other magazines, and is a member of the National League of American Pen Women.

Local Archer Bags Buck

World Community Day Celebration Planned Nov. 7

Local Women's Council Plans Special Service At Methodist Church

World Community Day will be celebrated here at the Newark Methodist Church at 2 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 7, with a special service planned by the Newark Council of United Church Women.

Mrs. Hobart Hare is the chairman in charge of arrangements, and the speaker will be Dr. John J. Bunting, pastor of the Newark Methodist Church.

Others participating in the service are Mrs. R. W. Helm, Mrs. John Cronin, Mrs. Max Mather, A. J. Burks and Mrs. E. V. Lewis.

All church women are invited to attend this service. The theme is "Exchange—Goods, Ideas, People."

Everyone is asked to bring contributions of yard goods and knitting yarn for women of the South Seas and Pakistan. It is hoped that these contributions will cheer refugee mothers and make it possible for them to sew and knit for their families while they wait for resettlement.

Ushers for this special service will be Mrs. E. M. Rahn, Mrs. Henry Brader, Mrs. Robert Meyer and Mrs. Harry Deppert.

A social hour will follow the service in the church dining room, with Mrs. John Chary in charge. Hostesses will be Mrs. T. D. Mylrea and Mrs. Paul Jaquette.

Explorer Road-co Planned Saturday At Delaware Park

Explorers of the Capitol Trail, Boy Scout District will participate in an Auto Road-co this Saturday, from 9 to noon at Delaware Park, under the direction of the Delaware Safety Council.

Tom Parks is chairman of the Road-co, and Dr. Harold Feeny is events advisor.

State Police will present a radar demonstration; the state champion truck driver will give an exhibition of safe-driving; and a snack bar will be conducted for hungry and thirsty members of the east and audience by Explorer Post 75 Auxiliary.

Methodist Leader To Visit Newark

C. Wesley Bradley, conference president for the local Wesleyan Methodist Church, will make his annual visit to Newark this Sunday, speaking at the 7 p.m. service.

A report of progress and evangelism within the conference will be given by The Rev. Bradley.

The Rev. Norman L. Handy, pastor, and his wife have asked Mr. Bradley to baptize their infant son, Steven Paul, during the service.

The Rev. Bradley was previously pastor of the Philadelphia Wesleyan Methodist Church, of which the Rev. and Mrs. Handy were members.

6-4 Giant In World Of Puppets To Offer Two Shows On Saturday At Mitchell Hall

A giant in the puppet world is 6-4 George Latshaw, nationally known Cleveland puppeteer, who finds the reach of a basketball player, the dexterity of a magician, and the disguise of many voices helpful in his art. These unique abilities are featured in his production of "Wilbur and the Giant" which will be presented in Mitchell Hall this Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Demonstrating his 8-3 reach, Latshaw explains he is probably the only puppeteer in the country who can perform scenes with one puppet appearing over the top of the proscenium while another character looks up from the puppet stage below.

"People seem surprised that I can be in so many places at once," he says with a grin, "but the trick is not to let your right hand know what your left hand is doing." Each hand animates a separate character so each hand must have a different rhythm and pattern of movement. The hand that manipulates a ridiculous bird may pop up a moment later as the king.

"Voice changes take place even faster," Latshaw says. "In one man show, you take all the parts. In this play, roles range all the way from the gruff rumble of the Giant to the baby innocence of the lead character, Wilbur."

Wilbur is a pert puppet with shocking red hair who was featured on Cleveland television for several years. But the Ohio puppeteer has found that children all over the country, who meet Wilbur for the first time, respond as if they were old friends. "He has an implicit quality which children understand," Latshaw explains. "When Wilbur overcomes the Giant at the climax of the play, the young audience usually cheers."

To learn more about his youthful audience and what they like, Latshaw spends his summers at Cain Park Theatre in Cleveland where he directs the junior school division. In addition to teaching classes in puppetry, he writes and directs plays for live children's theatre production. "To see the children create is exciting and gives the adult a chance to limber up with them. Their curiosity and imagination are extraordinary qualities in action."

There are no reserved seats but advance purchase of tickets is recommended to avoid standing in line at the box office. These can be obtained by mail from the Dramatic Center at the University of Delaware, at the Newark Department Store and the Card Center.

Merit-Pay Plan, Bond Control Measures Approved at Council

Revised Municipal Pay Proposal Approved After Months Of Debate, Study; Financial Control Measures Urged For City Funds, Adopted For Current Office Procedure

A modification of the merit and pay plan for municipal employees, as originally proposed by City Manager J. J. Salo-vaara, was approved last Tuesday night by City Council after months of study and debate—and the debate continued well into the evening before council agreed upon the plan and instructed City Solicitor John P. Sinclair to prepare an ordinance for the establishment of the merit and pay program.

The plan presented Tuesday after recent revision and review by Councilmen C. Vernon Steele and George Wilson with the city manager, was changed again to eliminate the proposed municipal posts of road and street foreman; planning engineer; and survey chief of party; and to exclude the public works director and city manager from merit and pay regulations.

Council expressed reluctance to lose control of municipal pay rates and raises as a possible outcome with adoption of the merit and pay plan, and the solicitor asked the city manager if recommendations made by him for council action after municipal employees have received their annual evaluation.

"Never have I learned anything so conclusively," Salo-vaara said. "Recommendations will be made."

Financial Controls Council approved the adoption of financial control measures suggested by Mack & Company, auditors employed by the city; and by Charles L. Cole, local resident, accountant, and financial advisor on municipal affairs. Remedial measures for control of city finances are to become effective immediately, and a special council meeting was scheduled for Nov. 20 for further recommendations.

Former councilman Avery H. Goddin, Cole, and Richard L. Cooch—all of whom served on the committee for preparation of the last municipal bond issue—strongly urged council to adopt adequate control measures, and Councilman William Coverdale cited a warning issued by the council of 1951-52 concerning Bond Issue No. 1, that "if we continue, we shall be subject to uncontrolled spending."

Coverdale cited a page from the current Mack & Company report which states in part: "Accounting records of the two bond funds are completely lacking in controls over contractual obligations. They reflect no permanent record of award contract prices."

The bookkeeping department draws checks for payment of contract estimates on request from the engineering department and because of lack of financial control, does not know whether or not payments are correct."

No. 2 Bond Issue Concerning Bond Issue No. 2, Cooch said that when his committee recommended last summer that no further expenditures be incurred pending a complete audit, there remained some $250,000 unencumbered.

"To finish approved projects would require this amount," he said, "and the city has a very definite limit for borrowing. He recommended close scrutiny of overruns and of every new project."

Councilman Steele announced that Mack & Company were proceeding with the audit for the third quarter, but stated that up-to-date information was not available on both a cash and accrual basis. Such information is to be provided as quickly as possible, council directed.

Mrs. John H. McClendon, president of the Newark League of Women Voters, presented a plan with a map for revision of the three municipal voting districts on a more equitable basis, and a public hearing on the proposal will be scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 18, at the high school.

Suggested boundaries for the eastern district include the area east of North Chapel Street and south of White Clay Creek; south of East Main, and east of College Avenue. The proposed middle district would be east of College Avenue to Elkton Road; north to Main Street, and including all land south of Barksdale and west of Elkton Roads; while the western district would be the area west of Elkton Road; north of Main from Chapel west to the city boundary, and the area north of White Clay Creek.

Council passed a resolution providing two hour parking from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays from the high school parking lot entrance east to the city line, and prohibiting parking on the north side of East Delaware Avenue from Tyre Avenue east to the city limits; deferred action on an ordinance to incorporate changes on a revised zoning map pending further changes; and deferred action on the vacation of Donnell and Manns Avenues.

Concerning vacation of "Aiken Alley" the solicitor's opinion was that the city should maintain the roadway, and either pave it or close it. It is intended to keep the roadway open but protection is to be provided by the city for abutting property owners.

Concerning the extension of West Cleveland Avenue, council approved payment of an amount $750 in excess of the negotiator's offer for required church property and the city manager reported that options had been signed for more than half of the properties concerned, and that an agreement had been reached for obtaining the Lattonus property at a price of $16,500.

Entomologist

Dr. Paul P. Burbutis

A long-standing vacancy in the department of entomology was filled recently with the appointment of Dr. Paul P. Burbutis as assistant professor at the University of Delaware, according to an announcement by Dr. Dale F. Bray, chairman of the department.

Dr. Burbutis is a systematic entomologist with a broad background in economic entomology. Systematic entomology is identification of insects. Economic entomology deals with control of insects which are of economic importance to man.

Dr. Burbutis received his bachelor of science degree at the University of Massachusetts in 1950 and his masters and doctors degrees in entomology at Rutgers University, where he has been teaching and doing research work since 1950.

Acting Postmaster Cites Overseas Mailing Dates

Acting Postmaster Corbin Crompton announced today that the period, Nov. 1-20 has been designated for the mailing of Christmas parcels, Christmas cards and letters to members of our Armed Forces overseas.

Crompton explained that the term "Armed Forces overseas" includes personnel of the Armed Forces, members of their families, and authorized United States civilians employed overseas who receive their mail through an APO number.

Raymond Edwards Named To VFW Chief's Staff

Raymond T. Edwards, Pleasant Valley Road, Newark, has been appointed national deputy chief of staff of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, by John W. Mahan, Helena, Mont., commander-in-chief of the VFW.

In making the announcement, Commander Mahan said: "I can think of no one I would rather have on my staff than Mr. Edwards. Through the years he has been one of our most tireless workers and I am proud that he has agreed to act as my personal representative in the formation of new VFW posts throughout Delaware."

GOP'S BIMBO "Bimbo," the GOP campaign car with public address system and hoisted with campaign posters, will tour Newark streets tomorrow from 5 to 7 p.m., preceding a Republican rally to be held at the Newark Shopping Center when candidates for election on Nov. 4 will be introduced to the public.

Janecees To Hear Jaycee President Discuss Program

The Newark Janecees will meet Monday, Nov. 3, at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Mary Galbraith, 44 Kollman Drive in Brookside, when Harold Wooten, president of the Newark Jaycees will speak on the activities and purpose of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. All wives of Jaycees and new members are invited to attend.

At the last meeting of the Janecees on Oct. 6 at the home of Mrs. Pat Rockwell, Mrs. Sue Kleine and Mrs. Bonnie Sillman were welcomed as new members. It was agreed to sell candy as the first money-raising project, with Mrs. Helen Raphael in charge. New committees were appointed with Mrs. Ramona Miller, state representation; Mrs. Carole Angelini and Mrs. Mary Galbraith, membership; Mrs. Rockwell and Mrs. Raphael, publicity; and Mrs. Sue Kleine and Mrs. Betty Kirk, fund distribution.

Wesleyan Church Family Program Scheduled Sunday

"Building Happier Homes and Better Neighborhoods" will be the theme of a family rally at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

Representatives of the Christian Home League of Syracuse, N.Y., which has sponsored similar rallies across the nation, will be in charge.

The Rev. Norman L. Handy, pastor, reports that the program will be aimed at family members of all ages.

It is expected that a number of complete families will be present, and where this is not possible, at least one representative of a family is advised to come.

On Nov. 1, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. the club will hold its annual Halloween party in Bob Stafford's barn, Ogletown Road. Tam Malin is chairman of the planning committee.

Annual Parents Night will be held Nov. 22 with a covered dish supper. Officers will be installed and year pins will be awarded.

Boy Scouts Plan Supper With Pancakes, Sausage

Boy Scout Troop 55 will hold a pancake and sausage supper next Monday from 5 to 7 p.m. in the basement of the Calvary Baptist Church on Delaware Avenue next to the Masonic Temple. Proceeds will be used for troop equipment.

There will be no charge for preschool children; a pound box of pancake flour will be given free to each adult; and milk for children and coffee for adults will be included with the meal.

The Women's Auxiliary of the troop will assist the scout fathers serving as chefs for the occasion. Everyone is cordially invited and tickets may be purchased at the door, A. B. Eastman announces.

Christiana Calling

Sylvia P. Jones, Correspondent
Phone: EA 8-7413

A chicken and oyster supper will be served beginning at 4:30 p.m. on Saturday in the Christiana firehouse, for the benefit of the Christiana Fire Company. Gilbert Cunningham is general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Frances Hales of the Ladies Auxiliary. The public is invited.

The Christiana Methodist Church will observe annual Homecoming day this Sunday, with morning, afternoon, and evening services featuring special music and guest speakers. The Rev. A. B. Golden, pastor, will be in charge.

The 11 a.m. service will be followed by a luncheon served in the fellowship room of the new educational wing of the church which will be dedicated at 2:30 p.m.

The Rev. Nelson Benjamin, pastor of the Methodist Church of Millington, Md., will speak at the vesper service at 4:45 p.m. The Christiana-Salem MYF will take charge of this service.

A UNICEF program sponsored by the Christiana-Salem WSCS will have local children canvassing the district this evening from 6 to 7:30 on behalf of underprivileged children. Following the "trick or treat" expeditions, the Youth Fellowship will hold a Hallowe'en party in the Methodist church in Christiana.

A retreat for officers of a number of Presbyterian churches in rural New Castle County will be held tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday at Happy Valley Camp, Port Deposit, Md. The Rev. Donald A. Crosby, Christiana pastor, will participate as a staff member.

Members of the local session and board of trustees who will attend include Duncan Anderson, William Cross, Millard Davis, John Holsten, Robert Morrison, Roy Pleasanton, Rhoads Speck, John Hill, Mrs. Rachel Justis, and Miss Sue Morgan.

Nov. 9 has been designated as Stewardship Sunday when members of the Presbyterian congregation, working in cooperation with the every member canvass committee, will visit church members to receive annual pledges toward financial support of the church.

A profit of over $450 has been realized on the turkey supper served Saturday in the Freeman Hall Memorial Building of the Presbyterian church.

The United Presbyterian Women of Christiana, formerly the Presbyterian Women's Organization, will hold its November meeting next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edwin Ely, Bear.

Election of officers will take place. The Women's Auxiliary of the Christiana Fire Company will serve a luncheon in the firehouse, a polling place, on Election Day, Nov. 4.

Edward Baldwin presided at last week's meeting of the Christiana-Salem PTA in the all-purpose room of the school. Mrs. Brita Wooleyhan, membership chairman, reported a total of 90 official members to date.

Following a report on Mr. Fernan's sports program for the older boys as told by Principal Sidney McClain, the group voted to purchase a dozen basketball uniforms for local cagemen. An official school team with an active season of intramural games is hoped for.

Mrs. Howard Perry, leader of the Christiana Girl Scouts, gave a plea for volunteers to reactivate local Brownie troop. About 25 seven-to-10 year-olds are anxious to participate in a Brownie program, and mothers or others who can spare even a small amount of time for this worthy cause are asked to contact Mrs. Perry.

The next PTA meeting on Nov. 19 will be an Open House where teachers will be available for conference with parents. A Book Fair will be held with profits on merchandise sold to be turned into books for the new Christiana School library.

Local residents are thanked for their cooperation in the school's magazine campaign, which this year went well over its goal of $784. Profits will be divided among the various classes to be used as they decide.

Tomorrow is "P" Day—publication day for the "Christiana Call," a school paper which has been in the making for several weeks. Copies will be available to the student body at a small fee.

Diane Taylor is editor, with co-editor Suzanne Larson. Also on the staff are Lillian Cleary and Harry Lavey, sports; Peg Schulz and Joan Carroll, art; Maria Dziewit and Donna Sharpe, business; Yvonne Gebhart and Catherine Jackson, social; Norma Lee Broomall, exchange.

William Howell was honored for 25 years of service at the recent banquet at the Newark Country Club for employees of the Continental-Diason Fibre Company.

Huge Test Machine Purchased By U.D. At $190,000 Cost

A giant testing machine, unique in design and operation and one of the largest in the world, has been purchased by the University of Delaware for use in its school of engineering.

The machine to be delivered in about three weeks, will be assembled and erected in P. S. DuPont Hall on the campus under the direction of Thomas W. Brockenbrough, acting chairman of the department of civil engineering.

The machine, auxiliary equipment and installation costs totaling about $190,000 are a part of the original gift which made possible the construction and furnishing of P. S. DuPont Hall.

The machine itself will cost $150,000, auxiliary equipment will be about $10,000, and the installation cost will be approximately $30,000. It will take six weeks to install the machine after delivery is made.

The huge machine stands 24-ft., 6-in. in height and has a 10x19-ft. test opening. Its unique feature is its ability to duplicate dynamic loading conditions experienced by actual structures, a great advantage over similar testing machines which apply only a static load.

The machine is hydraulically operated and all testing is performed in one opening between the bedplate and a single crosshead which is motorized. It can apply up to 1,000,000 pounds pressure.
