"Trendmaker" Bus Offered By YMCA For Teen-Age Fun

Tire of the same old summer drag? The Western Branch YMCA thinks it has an answer in its "Trendmaker" program for high school youth.

On Tuesday and Thursday nights each week, a bus will leave the YMCA building at 2600 Kirkwood Highway to take Trendmakers on a new adventure. The destination may be a play or a picnic; a concert, horseback riding—an art gallery or ice skating. But wherever it is, it will be different and exciting, Glenn E. Mease advises.

Purpose of this program is to give teen-agers a chance to enjoy new experiences together and introduce them to activities available in and around New Castle County.

The program will start next Thursday, with the bus leaving the "Y" at 6:30, returning by 11 p.m.

"Register now for the Trendmakers," Mease concludes.

302 Children In Bubble Bounce On Trip For GNRA Playgrounds at Riverview Park

"Have you ever seen 302 children, all sizes, in a Bubble Bounce? Not all were in at one time, but most of them were there at least once during the day," James F. Hall, GNRA director, reports.

The day was July 12—the place, Riverview Park—and the Bubble Bounce was one of the many rides which the Greater Newark Recreation Association playground youngsters enjoyed on their annual trip to New Jersey.

Buses left McVey School at 11 a.m., and upon arrival at the park, each person received a tag which permitted them on any rides available, until 3 p.m.

Many of the children and almost all adults were ready to board returning buses—but after checking out the tag, they were several missing persons.

Fal Jones, assistant director, and Mrs. Margaret Johnston, GNRA supervisor, rechecked the park and came up with the missing who were still looking for excitement.

The Riverview ramble was termed a huge success, and is just one of the many programs offered for summer playgrounds by the GNRA.

The staff wishes to thank all adult chaperones whose interest and enthusiasm make these trips possible.

Dodge Line Added At Chrysler Plant In '68 Production

Plant Production Workers To Be Recalled Beginning Friday For Aug. 30, Peak

When the Newark Assembly Plant of Chrysler Corp. begins production of 1968 model automobiles later this month, it again will build Dodge cars as well as the Plymouth and Chrysler lines.

All three car lines were built in Newark for several years through the 1966 model year, but 1967 cars assembled in the Delaware plant all carried either the Plymouth or Chrysler nameplate.

Plant Manager C. E. Fowble, Jr., said that 1968 cars produced at Newark will include the full line of the Plymouth Fury, Dodge Polara and Monaco, and the Chrysler Newport and New Yorker except convertibles.

Full production of 768 cars per day is expected to be reached by Aug. 30.

Plant production workers furloughed on July 7, will begin returning to work this Friday.

First to return will be employees in the body shop sub-assembly department.

They will be followed by workers in other departments as the production system is filled.

Chrysler's Newark assembly plant produced 186,708 passenger cars during the 1967 model year, an increase of 2,564 over the preceding year.

New Wilmer E. Shue Junior High School To Open Sept. 6, As Fourth In District

On Wednesday, Sept. 6, the Newark school district will open a fourth junior high school named to honor Wilmer E. Shue, retiring school superintendent. The new school is located at 1500 Capitol Trail, adjacent to the E. Frances Medill Elementary School.

More than three years have gone into the planning, preparation, and construction of what has been listed by school authorities as "the most modern junior high school in the State of Delaware." Construction of the Shue School is in its last stages.

Principal-Elect H. Nelson Freidly, Jr., was relieved of his duties as Central Junior High School principal last fall to oversee construction, planning, and educational planning for the new Wilmer E. Shue School.

"It's been a busy year," according to Freidly. "But one that I would not trade for anything in the world."

"Starting a new school is an exciting and extraordinary opportunity for any school administrator," Freidly declared, "a job worthy of months of planning and hard work. Actually the way the school itself came about is an innovation."

"Two years ago a brain-storming session was held in the Administration Building at 83 East Main Street. Secondary school principals and members of the central administrative staff took part in that program to express their ideas about what they liked and didn't like in existing buildings and to express freely their thoughts on what should be in the Wilmer E. Shue School."

"The best and most practical suggestions were culled and incorporated into the educational and architectural philosophy which were then communicated to Martin Wason and Associates, architectural firm employed for building the school," Freidly said.

Registration for more than 60 courses in the University of Delaware's second summer session is scheduled for Saturday, July 29.

Some 1,300 students are expected to register for the five-week session, from 9 a.m. to noon in the Student Center Dover Room.

The university's first summer session which began June 20, will wind up with 26 examinations for 3,800 students.

Combined enrollment of the two sessions is expected to exceed 5,000.

The second session offers courses in art, biology, business and economics, chemistry, drama, education, engineering, English, geography, history, languages, mathematics, music, philosophy, political science, psychology and sociology.

Bulletins describing course offerings, class schedules, and general information may be obtained by writing Summer Session Office, University of Delaware, Newark.

SPEAKING OF POVERTY —

Their average life span is 43 years compared to more than 70 for America's overall population. They have twice as much influenza and pneumonia in proportion, and seven times as much tuberculosis. They suffer widely from an infectious eye disease — trachoma — all but unknown to the average American.

At the same time, and by no mere coincidence, their unemployment rate verges on 50 per cent; their average family income is at the poverty level of $1,500 a year; and 90 per cent of their housing is substandard.

This is a true picture—not of some remote nation in an underdeveloped area, but of a group within the United States—the 380,000 Indians and Alaskan natives, according to the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society.

These facts, vaguely known but generally disregarded by most people, were reemphasized at a recent conference of the Association of American Indians in New York. Dr. Howard A. Rusk, noted writer on medicine, summed up the conference's main conclusions in these words:

"... that increased preventive medical services and improved environmental conditions hold the key to improved health for American Indians and Alaskan natives."

It has already been shown that the situation can be improved by an increased investment of effort and funds where they will do the most good.

Dr. Rusk pointed out that the condition of the Indians and Alaskan natives, deplorable as it is today, was much worse a dozen years ago before responsibility for Indian health was transferred to the U.S. Public Health Service. An increased appropriation in 1966, helped combat the trachoma problem. But there is a vast need for further effort.

The Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society, alert to the need for TB control and general health improvement everywhere, supports efforts to raise "the first Americans" to a health level equal to the nation as a whole.

Rehearsal Meeting Of Safety Council To Honor Patrol

Director William J. Miller, Jr., of the Delaware River and Bay Authority will be the principal speaker at the summer meeting of officers and directors of the Delaware Safety Council at Rehoboth Beach on Friday, July 28.

J. James Ashton, safety council manager, also announced that special tribute will be paid the Rehoboth Beach Patrol which has been operating so efficiently over the past 20 years.

"We hope that a record number of officers, directors and the public will join us in paying tribute to this patrol which has an outstanding water safety record," Ashton advises.

A social hour will precede dinner at 6:30 p.m., with the Maryland Shellfish Commission serving Chesapeake Bay french fried clams as hors d'oeuvres.

An estimated 2.5-million youth are engaged in some phase of 4-H work.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

July 15, 1967

Our family just read your Letter to the Editor from Lieut. Thomas L. Briggs in Vietnam, and the Editor's Note.

It certainly is a wonderful, warm feeling to have the Newark Post around—"For News of People You Know, Read the Newark Post." Your paper has always respected the citizens of Newark.

Very truly yours,
John Sadot

July 14, 1967

To the best of my knowledge, rules and precedents governing proceedings of deliberative assemblies and other organizations always have "old business" on their meeting agenda. Pursuant to Sec. 311 of the city charter, the council determined its own rules of procedure by passing 7-0, Resolution 67-H on April 18, of this year. Resolution 67-H provides for "old business" under Item 3.

"Old business" had been inadvertently omitted from previous agendas. This was called to the attention of Manager Stiff, who, in turn, restored this phase and placed "old business" items on the agenda. An attempt to make a "hair-splitting" decision on what constitutes "old business" was made by a member of city council at a recent meeting, the reason appearing vague to me. It left an impression that someone was trying to throttle me.

Rushing through an agenda and omitting "old business" does not necessarily represent good legislation. Oddly enough, in spite of having "old business" back on the agenda, the council concluded all of its business one hour ahead of the scheduled adjournment time by finishing all business at 9:30 p.m.

The old items that the member objected to having on the agenda might be of interest to the readers. An opinion from the solicitor on keeping pigeons. Prior to this opinion, a citizen had to suffer it out. He had been advised by someone representing the city that nothing could be done. Pigeons were pets.

Next, was a report on whether the magistrate was turning over fines collected on cases heard as a result of city action. Certainly that's of concern to the city, yet we had an objection.

Third, was overtime paid by the city. I know readers would like to hear more about this. Over $60,000 was spent for overtime in 1966. A requested report reveals that for the first four months of this year, a sizeable sum of overtime being collected by top salaried men. Why should any member object to paying this use of the taxpayers dollar?

To further confuse things, this same member then grumbled over

Michael Harris Completes Navy Radarman's School

Radarman Seaman Apprentice Michael J. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Harris of Wellington Arms Apartments, Newark, has completed the 16-week basic radarman school at the U.S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the course he studied procedures of a combat information center, and demonstrated ability in operation and maintenance of radar equipment.

Items I submitted through proper channels for the published agenda. There were only three items. Nothing very complex about them at all. Yet, this member said he was in the "dark" about them or similar words. This is hard to understand. I have a telephone and can be reached most any time for any required clarification.

My point is this. If this attitude continues to prevail, at city council, please have patience for all members of council in getting district and other problems resolved at the council table. There is, as you can see, an area of confusion.

William M. Coverdale,
24 District Councilman

City Solicitor Clyde M. England, Jr., was requested to draft an ordinance embodying proposals in the police reorganization report, for activation by Sept. 1.

Council unanimously adopted two resolutions. The first urged the State Highway Department to provide for beltways in the Newark area with establishment of "center lines" for the preservation of the rights-of-way... and to amend the "bond resolution" to include money to begin acquisition of such rights-of-way.

"Since the House is meeting, I shall carry this resolution down tomorrow," Mayor Norma Handloff said Monday.

The second resolution requests replacement of the Barksdale Road Bridge "which has been declared by qualified engineering consultants to be of unsafe design and grossly inadequate to the traffic which it is called upon to carry."

Mrs. Samuel McFarlin of 31 Tyre Avenue, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of George Conway through Sept. 15, 1968, as a member of the parks and recreation advisory committee.

Two 4-H'ers To Represent Delaware At Expo '67

Marjorie Hudson, 17, Wyoming, and Ed Lincoln, 17, Wilmington, will represent Delaware 4-H clubs at Expo '67, Aug. 8-14, in Montreal, Canada.

They are among 4-H'ers from 32 states accepting the invitation of Canadian 4-H clubs to take part in International 4-H Day at Expo '67 on Aug. 10.

Following their visit to the exposition, the 4-H'ers will live with Canadian families for a week.

Expenditure of budgeted funds for dinner-work sessions of the Newark Planning Commission were approved in a 6-1 vote, with Councilman William M. Coverdale opposing the measure.

Councilman Thomas urged naming "two of our parks after two persons who have served the city for many years"—the late Elmer Ellison, fire chief for 28 years, and Police Chief William H. Cunningham.

"If we put our minds to work, we could come up with the names of other citizens," the mayor said. Monday's meeting was adjourned at 8:35 p.m.

'Beauty Beyond Touch' Features Theatre With Crawley, Sonderskov In Lead Roles

Theatre '67 reached its half-season mark on Tuesday with the 8:15 p.m. curtain-raiser in air-conditioned Mitchell Hall of Archibald MacLeish's verse drama "J.B."

In praising the premiere of "J.B." John Chapman of the New York News said a line from the play itself to describe its "beauty beyond the touch of fingers." He went on to say that it is a "lovely work which sings of the unconquerable nobility of man's spirit."

The man whose spirit is unconquerable in this play is the main character "J.B."

The name, explains MacLeish, is modern parlance for "businessman" and is as well an abbreviation of the Biblical name "Job."

"My play," says the author, "is put in motion by two broken-down actors who believe that the play is the Book of Job and that one of them is acting God and the other, Satan."

"When J.B. and his family appear, however, it is not out of the Bible that they come."

Eric Crawley and Robert Sonderskov play Nickles and Mr. Zuss, two actors, who, as members of "a traveling circus which has been on the roads of the world for a long time," don masks and force Bill Wiley in the role of "J.B." to suffer the worldly torments of the Biblical Job.

July 25 Deadline For World War II Vets' Home Loans

World War II veterans' eligibility for Veterans Administration home loans will expire July 25, Congressman William V. Roth announced this week in Washington.

Roth said that while almost seven-million World War II veterans have used the VA home loan guaranty, millions of others have not.

From date of discharge, a veteran has 10 years of eligibility, plus one additional year for each three months of active service. However, all entitlements will end next Tuesday unless eligible veterans file an application with the VA for loan guaranty insurance, or a loan report.

Questions should be directed to the Veterans Administration at 1801 Kirkwood Highway.

His children, his wife played by Lorraine Kirby, and finally J.B., fall prey to the disasters and temptations laid for them by the Devil. Nickles, as the Devil, wagers with his fellow actor that infliction upon infliction will break J.B.'s faith in God.

The drama is in that test.

He was studying for his doctorate in chemistry.

William J. Warwick, New Castle County coroner, said that Peterson was last seen about 2 p.m. en route to his apartment.

Mrs. Peterson, also a graduate student in chemistry, told police her husband had been despondent in recent weeks.

Memorial services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church, Rummene.

Kelley, McDonough, Strengari Backfield To Play Behind Hayman, Tucker, Wright

Three-fourths of the starting backfield that spurred Newark High to an undefeated season last fall will be available to Gold Coach Dale Farmer in the Delaware All-Star High School Football Game.

Six members of Coach Bob Hoffman's Newark team which won the Blue Hen Conference A-Flight championship with a flawless 9-0 record, have been selected to oppose the Blues in the Aug. 26 encounter at Delaware Stadium to benefit the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children.

The Golds, who represent the state below the southern boundaries of the city of Wilmington, will be running for their fourth victory—and second in succession—in the 12th renewal of the annual late-summer classic.

Quarterback Lou Strengari and Halfback Dick Kelley—both All-State selections—will lead the Newark team. End Larry Tucker and Orville Wright and Tackle Conway Hayman will give Newark the largest representation of any school on either roster.

Strengari, the 5-9 and 170-pound son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Strengari, 410 Brewster Drive, closed out Newark's season last fall by scoring three touchdowns, passing for three more, and kicking two extra points to account for all 38 of the Yellowjackets' points in their 38-13 romp over Christiana. Strengari will attend Delaware.

Kelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Kelley, 14 Millwright Drive, won three letters in wrestling and four in track in addition to his three in football. The 165-pound, 5-9 speedster plans to enroll at Delaware. He finished sixth in the state in scoring last season with 14 touchdowns.

McDonough, 5-8 and 175, was used primarily as a blocking back and will attend Delaware.

Sonny Pritchett Stars As Athlete Despite Hurt Knee

As a sophomore, P. S. Du Pont's Sonny Pritchett fractured his knee playing football and the doctors said he would never be able to compete in a contact sport again.

But Pritchett, a sturdy 215-pounder at 6-3, rebounded to earn All-Blue Conference honors at tackle last fall in addition to winning letters in basketball and track.

Pritchett, along with Lineman Richard Johnson, 6-0 and 175, will represent P. S. Du Pont on the Blue squad in the 12th annual Delaware All-Star High School Football Game Aug. 26, at Delaware Stadium for the benefit of retarded children.

Johnson also won letters in basketball and track and was a member of Student Council.

of Delaware Park's 55-day meeting is the $50,000 added Delaware Oaks, a mile and one-eighth test slated for its 29th running.

Any Oaks race is to three-year-old fillies what a Derby is to colts of that same age.

The Oaks takes its name from the classic English stakes for distaff members of the horse family, first run in 1779. The name comes from the historic mansion of General John Burgoyne who surrendered the British forces at Saratoga during the Revolutionary War. The Burgoyne property at the top of Barnsted Downs was named the Oaks and later sold to the 12th Earl of Derby.

However, the Rosenna developed two new threats for the Oaks—Lewiston, who finished first but was disqualified and placed second, and I Be Dandy, who was awarded first money after being bothered by Lewiston.

From the first time she faced the starter's stick, this black daughter of Adios Harry-His Lady has shown every evidence of greatness.

As a two-year-old she won seven consecutive races before suffering her first loss in the $16,800 Pocomanas Stakes.

Davis raced her lightly as a two-year-old as he elected to turn her out early to develop into a top-notch three-year-old prospect.

to admire and remember the rest of his life.

Moments after Lois caught her marlin, a third billfish appeared amid the trolling baits—drifted out to starboard without striking—and suddenly jumped clear of the water for our close-up inspection of a free, fabulous, fighting fish.

Another cruised ahead of the boat, its dorsal and sickle tail fins gliding through the surface water to disappear at our approach—and we saw a marlin jump three times after it was hooked by an angler about the Captain Talbot out of Ocean City, Md.

On the way westward to Delaware, we saw the whale, and later, in eager haste to Dick's "Want some bluefish?" passion in our run for home to troll over a Pleasanton-charted wreck in the depths of the trackless blue-turned-to-green sea where we lead down 20 snapper blues in near constant action.

All four light rods would whip into arcs with near simultaneous strikes, and a fish that shook free in tumbling, silvered splashes above the surface, was followed by another blue blitz below.

Twenty blues were enough, and we left the school for another day. "Icing on the cake!" Dick Pleasanton said of the foot-long bluefish leed down around the marlin monster. And they were.

Back beneath the surface, the marlin settled on the starboard tug-of-war with the young lady on the butt end of the bowed rod, while the captain, mate, and all hands shouted encouragement to a busy little angler.

Inch by inch, foot by foot, and then yard by yard, Lois regained line on the reel spool, and then at last we saw the marlin flashing prism-like, deep in the clear blue depths forward and a-port of the Young Lady's transom.

Line whistled from the spool against the star drag, and then the marlin jumped high above a foaming hole in the ocean—a gleaming, royal purple, silvered shaft of opalescence with its rapier bill, golden eyes, and blue-black forked tail indelibly etched in the minds of all onlookers as the fish seemed momentarily suspended over the water in its arrow-like flight.

Her Lady Heads Field For Friday Night Brandywine Raceway $5,000 Pocomanas

Her Lady, the most sensational filly to come from the Delaware Valley since Quick Lady was making a shambles of local and national records, will head the field in the $5,000 added Pocomanas Pace at Brandywine Raceway this Friday night.

Capably developed by Olin Davis, Her Lady became the fastest three-year-old pacing filly at Brandywine last week when she won the Salisbury Pace in 2:03.2.

From the first time she faced the starter's stick, this black daughter of Adios Harry-His Lady has shown every evidence of greatness.

Ronald Mitchell Loses With Final Round Of Delaware Junior Golf Title Tourney

Ronald Mitchell, Newark High School athlete, graduate in the Class of 1967, and Newark Country Club junior golf champion, was defeated 4-3 by Bill Harman of Wilmington Country Club last Friday in the final round of the Delaware Junior Golf Championship Tournament.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Mitchell of Newark, Ronnie won medal honors with a 72 on Monday, July 10, in the qualifying round of the state tournament at the Hercules Country Club course.

Harman, a two-handicap golfer, birdied the par-five second hole and won the par-four fifth and eighth to lead by three at the turn.

Mitchell birdied the 493-yard 10th for his only win of the match but missed a two-footer on No. 13.

"I just wasn't putting—I was hitting it all with my right hand," Ronald reminisced.

"I didn't hit the ball at all bad. I was a lot straighter than I was on Thursday."

"But I couldn't do a thing on the greens. I had a lot of bad lies so I wasn't getting the good shots to the greens, either, and that didn't help."

"But it was mostly my putting," the Newark junior champion said.

Mitchell will miss the Delaware Open because of summer school to enroll at the University of Delaware in the fall.

In Thursday's semi-finals, Mitchell defeated DuPont's Bob Pedrick 6-4, and Newark's Robert Moroz was eliminated 4-3 in the sixth flight by Tom Raubacher of Maple Dale.

Raubacher was defeated 6-4 by Wilmington's Terry Copeland in the finals.

Mitchell defeated John Swett of Hercules, 4-2 in first round play, and stopped Wilmington's Bill Thompson 5-4 in the quarter finals.
