Courtyard party has no friends

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The new Courtyard Apartments on East Main Street opened by Commonwealth Management less than three weeks ago have already been logged into the Newark Police reports.

According to media officer Mark Farrell, police were notified around 12:40 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 26, of loud noise and disorder throughout the building complex. "There were about 200 subjects and loud music in the outside courtyard area when we arrived," said Farrell. "We weren't happy about it."

Farrell said the people attending the party began to flee in all directions when they saw the police. "We could not determine the apartment where the party began," said Farrell, "so we went to the landlord, Commonwealth Management."

Jeff Lang, president of Commonwealth, said he was not happy about the incident, either. "Obviously, we're very concerned," said Lang. "We designed this as a place where tenants could hang out and relax, and two weeks after we open, an incident of this proportion happens."

Lang said gates were supposed to be installed on the courtyard which would limit the free access to the property. "We've speeded up that order and they should be installed (this week)," said Lang on Tuesday. "Then people only will be admitted to the building if a tenant lets them in."

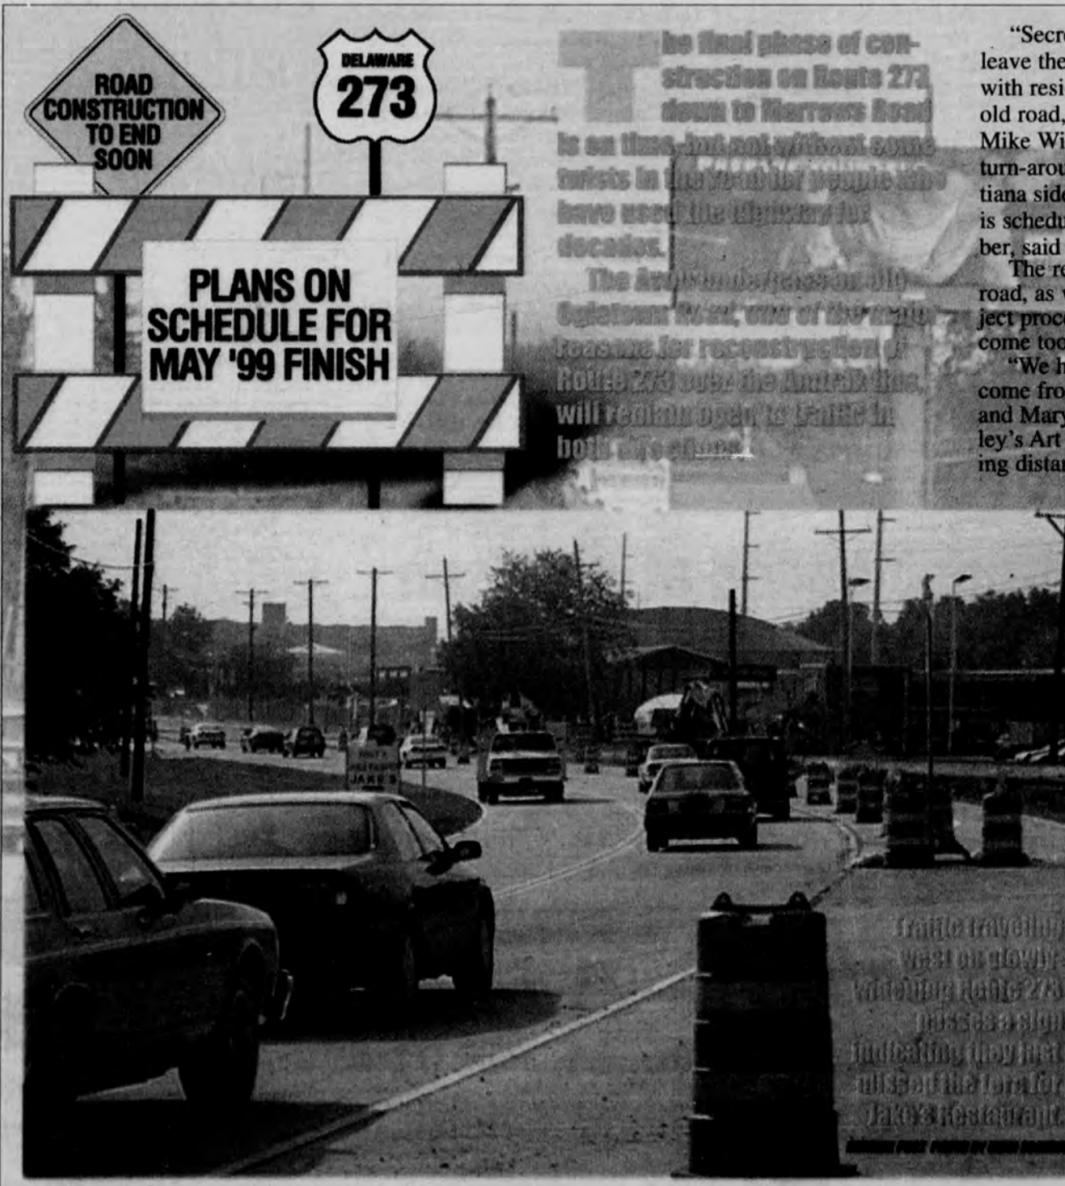

After doing an investigation of his own, Lang said it appeared about five of the 42 apartments had parties last weekend. "Some of it spilled over into the courtyard, but then people hanging out on Main Street heard about it and just started showing up," he said. "Many tenants said they didn't know anybody at the party."

In addition to installing gates, Lang said he is also hiring a security guard who will be on-site "at least three to four nights a week" for the indefinite future.

"He will sign people in and out at night, so then we'll know who is having parties as well," Lang noted.

Lang expects these measures to take care of the party situation as well as security concerns. "If this doesn't work, we'll try something else," he said. "We have to look out for the rights of those other tenants who didn't have anything to do with this and just want a nice place to live."

"Secretary (Anne) Canby decided to leave the road open after discussion with residents and businesses along the old road," said DelDOT spokesperson Mike Williams. Presently closed with a turn-around westbound on the Christiana side, the old road at the underpass is scheduled for re-opening in November, said Williams.

The re-opening of the underpass and road, as well as completion of the project proceeding parallel to it, can't come too soon for businesses there.

"We have a lot of customers who come from New Castle, Wilmington and Maryland," said the clerk at Finley's Art Shoppe which is within shouting distance of the underpass. "We've had to tell some of them to call us on their cellphones when they get to Newark and we 'talk them in' to where our store is."

The road to Finley's and other businesses on the former Route 273, which requires a turn off the new highway stretch, is unmarked and easy to miss amid the traffic and construction. "We tell people to turn at the sign where it says Ogletown Road is closed," said the clerk. "But that only works if you're coming from the direction of Newark."

Williams said that road through the underpass will eventually be "signed" as Ogletown Road while the completed and newly-widened road will be designated the Ogletown Bypass/Route 273.

Rapist arrested after second incident

Newark Police charged a Newark man with rape and kidnapping on Sept. 29 in connection with two assaults that occurred last week.

According to Media Officer Mark Farrell, the suspect, William Jay Hammons, 36, of the 800 block of Marrows Road was picked in the vicinity of the second incident on Sept. 24.

Hammons was using his brother's name when he was arrested. "That took a little time to be straightened out," said Farrell. "Then we connected him to the earlier incident."

The 28-year-old female victim told police the suspect allegedly attacked her in front of her home on New London Road shortly before 11 p.m. that night. He attempted to drag her into a wooded area, however she was able to fight him off.

The attacker fled the area but the woman identified him a short time later when he was found by police.

Two nights earlier around 9:40 p.m., an 18-year-old woman was attacked while walking in the 200 block of Paper Mill Road. The woman told police a suspect matching Hammons description raped her in a nearby area overgrown with shrubs and high grass.

Police have charged Hammons with two counts of rape, one count of attempted rape, two counts of kidnapping 2nd degree, one count of kidnapping 1st degree, one count of terroristic threatening, one count of assault 3rd degree, three counts of forgery 2nd degree, and two counts of criminal impersonation.

He was placed in Gander Hill Prison in default of $185,000 secured bond.

POLICE BRIEFS

Two more incidents at College Square bar

Newark Police were called to a report of a fight inside Klub Korona at College Square Shopping Center on Sept. 26 around 1:30 a.m. When police arrived all the customers had fled except for a bleeding man standing outside on the sidewalk. The 23-year-old Newark man, who had an injury to his nose, told police he was punched and kicked by unknown suspects during the fight.

Around midnight on Sept. 19, police arrested two men after police found two loaded nine-millimeter handguns in a vehicle outside the club. Arrested were Norman Harris, 21, and Dwayne Lamont Fogg, also 21, both of Wilmington.

Driver punched in parking lot

A 23-year-old man told Newark Police he was punched in the face by an unknown man on Sept. 25 around 7 p.m. in the parking lot of Bennigan's on Ogletown Road. The man said he was driving his vehicle when he met another car in the lot. Both cars stopped and the driver of the other vehicle came over and started punching him. Witnesses to the incident said it was unprovoked. The suspect is described as a white man between 45 and 50 years of age, 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds, with brown hair and wearing glasses. Police have a Maryland license plate number for the Isuzu Trooper the suspect was allegedly driving.

Man charged in shoplifting

Newark Police have charged William Francis Navis, 34, of East Main Street with shoplifting on two occasions at Pathmark Supermarket in College Square Shopping Center. Store employees stopped Navis at the store on Sept. 26 and called police. A search of his apartment also revealed items taken on an earlier date at the store. Police said the total value of items taken was more than $360.

Loud party on Church St.

On Sept. 25 around midnight, Newark Police cited Melanie Jeanne Kafader, 20, with hosting a loud party at her residence on Church Street. Police said there was also a fight as the party involving approximately 300 guests was dispersed.

Man shot with BB gun

On Sept. 15 around 6:50 p.m. a 20-year-old Newark man was shot with a BB gun while in the backyard of a residence on Murray Road.

The man, who received a cut above his left eye, told police he saw the shooter with the gun in the next yard while the victim was barbecuing. The victim fell over but the shooting continued until the victim's friends yelled to stop. No charges were filed.

Railroad trespassers cited by police

Newark Police made additional arrests for trespass on the CSX railroad line. In the area of New Street: Jason Hastings, 20, was cited on Sept. 17 around 11:45 a.m.; Jeremiah K. Kissane, 21, was cited on Sept. 15 around 12:45 p.m.; and Scott Annaud, 22, was cited on Sept. 16 around 11 a.m.

City of Newark leaf collection scheduled

Newark's leaf collection, provided as a seasonal service to its residents, begins on Monday, Oct. 12 and continues through Friday, Dec. 18. Public works crews will attempt to adhere to the collection schedule. However, as the volume of leaves increase, it will take longer to complete the collection of leaves in each neighborhood. Equipment failures and inclement weather, which require more manual work in using of the leaf collection equipment, may cause further delays.

The city does not have the resources available to complete a route in one day. When the crews are unable to complete collection in a particular neighborhood they return the following week and begin at the point where they stopped. Therefore, although leaf collection will occur in your neighborhood each week, your leaves will not be picked up each week as the volume of leaves increases. You should expect to have leaves picked up at your home at least four times (i.e., every two to three weeks) during the ten week collection period. Please note that the Fall 1998 schedule has been changed from last year's schedule to allow communities to share the convenience of having leaf collection early in the week.

Monday - Area west of Bent Lane and Radcliffe Drive including Nottingham Green, Pheasant Run, Cherry Hill, Elan, Cherry Hill Manor, Barksdale Estates, Country

Hills, Country Place and Abbotsford.

Tuesday - Oaklands, Nottingham Manor, College Park, Westfield, West Branch, Christianstead, Timber Creek, Woodmere, Valley Stream and Stone Spring.

Wednesday - Southern area of the city including Devon, Binns, Arbour Park, Silverbrook, Yorkshire, Yorkshire Woods, Cobblefield and Cannons Gate.

Thursday - Center of city from Elkton Road to Marrows Road from Main Street to northern boundary of Tuesday's route.

Candidates forum planned at Hodgson

County councilmember Karen Venezky (D-Newark), and state senators Stephen Amick (R-Newark West) and Donna Reed (R-Breezewood II) together with their opponents are among county and state candidates in the November election who will appear at a reception sponsored by the Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations on Monday, Oct. 5. The forum, which is open to the public, starts at 7 p.m. at Hodgson Vo-Tech High School, Glasgow. For information, call 322-4747.

Girls Inc. raffling Dom Perignon

Girls Incorporated is having a raffle for a case of 12 bottles of Dom Perignon, vintage 1990, valued at $1,495 on Oct. 8. The wine was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Gerret van S. Copeland and the Wine and Spirit Company of Greenville. Tickets for the raffle which will benefit youth programs are $5 each and can be purchased by calling Chris Motoyoshi at 575-1041, ext. 13.

Two recent armed robberies may be related

Newark Police are investigating two more armed robberies that occurred this week and the possibility that one is related to an earlier incident.

On Saturday, Sept. 26, around 10:10 p.m., two suspects entered the Video Showplace in Suburban Plaza Shopping Center on Elkton Road and displayed what appeared to be a sawed-off shotgun or rifle. The two are described as an Hispanic or Asian male in his 20s, 5 feet, 8 inches tall with a thin build, clean shaven with possible sideburns, wearing a red windbreaker jacket, and a black male in his 20s, about 6 feet tall with a thin build, wearing an Army-style jacket with pockets. The suspects fled after receiving an undisclosed amount of cash. No one was injured.

Media Officer Mark Farrell said Newark Police think these might be the same suspects who held up Malin's Market on South College Avenue around 9:40 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 22. Those suspects had similar appearances, captured on Malin's store camera, and displayed a similar weapon.

Around the same time of night on Monday, Sept. 28, an unknown suspect robbed a pizza delivery person at gunpoint in the unit block of Aylesboro Road. Described as a black male about 6 feet tall with a slight build and wearing dark clothing, the suspect fled on foot toward Kimberston following the robbery. The victim was not injured.

Anyone with information about these incidents can call Newark Police at 366-7111.

Additional football parking at train station

Tailgating prohibited

DART First State officials announced the bus company will allow overflow parking at the Newark Rail Station for the remaining University of Delaware home football games.

The overflow parking is being provided because of the construction of a new artificial turf stadium that resulted in a loss of approximately 500 parking spaces for home football games. Cost for football parking in one of the 286 spaces at the train station is $4. Tailgating events are prohibited in this lot which is open from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. on game days.

The remaining home games are tomorrow, Northeastern at 1 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 31, Maine at 1 p.m.; and Saturday, Nov. 21, James Madison at noon. The train station is normally used by commuters for the SEPTA R2 rail service that operates Monday through Friday. DART First State is operated by the Delaware Department of Transportation's Delaware Transit Corporation. DART First State provides commuter rail service, bus service, and the RideShare Delaware Program. For more information about DART services call 1-800-652-DART or 1-302-652-DART.

Good time again on Main Street

Old clock to get facelift

The old clock near the intersection of Main and Academy streets, maintained for the past eight years by the Newark Rotary, is getting a "facelift."

According to Stanley Einhorn, the group has ordered a whole new set of units for each of the four faces. "Actually, there's one master clockworks that controls the other three faces," explained Einhorn. "Whenever the power would go off, I'd have to go down there and reset it."

Einhorn said the cold also affected the mechanism. "It would seize up and I was the only person who knew how to restart it," said Einhorn. "With the new parts, it can be corrected by anyone."

Einhorn said the new units were ordered from Elderhorst Bells Inc.

in Palm, Pa. "I hope to have the new units installed this week," said Einhorn.

The Rotary also recently cleaned and repainted the clock, according to Einhorn. "It looks like a million bucks," he said. "After I install the new units, we'll have good time all the time on Main Street."

The clock had not worked since the 1970s and was slated for demolition when the Newark Rotary came to the rescue in 1990 as a project in honor of the group's 50th anniversary. Dating from the 1940s, the 18-foot clock is owned by the University of Delaware.

Refurbishing and restoring the clock this year will cost the Rotary about $1,150. "We have the $180 we set aside for annual maintenance and the University of Delaware said they will put up $250, but we need the rest," Einhorn said.

Anyone who would like to make a donation for the clock can send it to Stanley Einhorn, 816 Dallam Rd., Newark 19711.

What's with the traffic lights?

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

As if Newark didn't have enough traffic problems to complain about, it seems the past few weeks have brought a new wrinkle — left turn rage.

Newark resident Bruce Diehl told city council this week that something has to be done about the traffic gridlock on South College Avenue. "Sometimes traffic is backed up all the way to the Route 72 overpass on I-95 trying to get off at 896," said Diehl. "There's something wrong with the light at Christina Parkway and 896 and you don't get enough time to make the left turn, so all that traffic backs up."

Country Hills resident Susan Pini worried there is going to be an accident there. "I sat on I-95 for half-an-hour last Friday afternoon wondering what was happening," she said this week. "When I finally got to Christina Parkway, I made the turn on the yellow light — and five more cars followed me through on the redlight!"

Newark Mayor Hal Godwin, who owns the Shell Service Station on Route 896 near the interstate exit, said he asked city manager Carl Luft to call the Delaware Department of Transportation last week. "We were told there was a problem with the computer that controls that light," said Godwin.

On Wednesday, Godwin reported that the city was putting a Newark Police officer at the intersection to direct traffic during rush hour until the light was adjusted. "And we're going to bill the state for the officer's time," said Godwin.

Pini also said the light at College Square near Newark High School does not give more than a few cars time to turn each cycle. "I had a long wait in traffic on Delaware Avenue in front of the high school after a football game trying to make the left turn onto Library Avenue," she said. "I don't understand why all of a sudden we're having problems."

Godwin noted these intersections are not part of the signal changes in the Monarch system, referring to the DelDOT plan that is supposed to coordinate lights and make traffic flow smoother — if not quicker.

The Monarch system is currently being installed at downtown intersections like Main Street and South College Avenue. However, on a recent weekday around 5 p.m., a Newark Post reporter's vehicle sat through three complete signal cycles while trying to drive from Delaware Avenue to Main Street on South College. Only two cars were able to make a left turn at Main Street before the light changed each time.

Agri-science not just for farmers

Despite little experience in tilling the fields, members of Christiana High School's Agri-science Club are competing aggressively in regional and national competitions nationwide this fall.

According to director Richard Ferez, the floriculture and forestry teams traveled to Massachusetts last month, while the poultry and landscaping teams will compete in Missouri in November. "These competitions are tough," Ferez said. "These kids are not farmers — they had to learn from scratch."

The club is part of the National FFA Organization, dedicated to agriculture education, and founded as the Future Farmers of America organization in 1928. The organization was brought to Christiana in 1971.

At competitions, students compete individually in written tests and practical demonstrations. Then, they come together for a team demonstration. All the individual scores are combined with the team score at the end of the competition.

In Massachusetts, the floriculture team of Kathy Michael, Jara Luke, Sarah Crowe and Mary Maslowski, came within 30 points of qualifying for the national competition.

Ferez said Michael, who was the top individual scorer in both floriculture and forestry, was only allowed to compete on one of the two teams at regional.

"She is brilliant, to say the least," the director said. "I can't remember one person earning the top individual score (in the state) in two areas before."

Ferez feels the club is a positive influence on all its members, not just the ones in competition. Last year, Christiana had the largest Agri-science club in the state with 275 members.

Wyoming Road extension project funded

► 273, from 1

"That's good, because most businesses don't want to change their address from Ogletown Road," said the Finley's employee.

Businesses which will still be directly on the widened Route 273 are faring better. But hand-lettered signs with arrows attest to their efforts to remain accessible and visible behind rows of orange construction barrels.

The owner of Jake's Restaurant has signs along the road in both directions trying to indicate where to turn into their parking lot. A few yards further along, the success of this effort is put in doubt as another sign appears: "You've just passed Jake's."

Most businesses will have the same or nearby entrances when the road is completed up to Marrows Road. But access will be another matter.

According to Todd Willits, project supervisor from KCI Technologies for DelDOT, there will be two lanes of traffic in each direction with shoulders on both sides as well as a medial barrier down the middle of the road.

When the road widening is complete in May 1999, businesses like Jake's and SAK Tires will be accessible only from the westbound lanes. "People will have to make a U-turn at the light at White Clay Drive and go back when the road is done," Willits said.

Three private homes also on the north side will be accessible only from the westbound lanes as well.

Kraft/General Foods on the south side will have a new entrance, while the auto dealerships at Saturn and Winner will retain their old eastbound entrance and share a new entrance/exit for traffic from both directions.

According to Jim Satterfield, supervising engineer for road design, DelDOT is discussing whether to put a signal at the location of the Saturn/Winner main entrance.

Further to the west, a new, fully-signalized intersection at White Clay Drive will continue the existing entrance to businesses like the Bank of New York in the White Clay Park.

Satterfield said the grassy field behind the former produce stand across the road from White Clay will eventually be another business park. "It's on hold until the road-widening is complete," said Satterfield this week.

FMC Corporation already has a new entrance with access from both directions on Route 273, as well as an eastbound only entrance at their old driveway.

The construction entrance from the eastbound lane also will remain for use by FMC employees only.

Southern States will have access at their existing entrance from the eastbound and westbound lanes at a crossover. "But there's no signal," said Willits.

Customers and employees of Gaylord Container will be able to enter from eastbound or westbound lanes, but only exit eastbound.

The entrance familiar to most customers at 84 Lumber will be accessible from the westbound lanes only. But a new main entrance, already in use at Marrows Road. Extension of Wyoming Road from Library Avenue to Marrows Road, which will provide an alternative to waiting through a left turn from Route 273 at Library Avenue and Main Street, is coming next year.

According to Mike Williams, that project is funded and already scheduled for construction.

City staff members in Newark have been reviewing the proposed plan for Wyoming Road as well.

When complete, the extension will also provide access to College Square Shopping Center and the Delaware Technology Park from the direction of Library Avenue.

will allow access from both lanes of Route 273 as well as Marrows

Library Avenue.

Inky fingers and wasted time will be a thing of the past when the new digitized fingerprint/video mug shot system arrives at the Newark Police Department.

According to Police Chief William Hogan, the so-called "live scan" system will allow immediate transmission of fingerprints and mug shots to anyone that needs them. "We used to have to make individual inked cards for other agencies," said Hogan. "Now it will all be done once electronically and sent to various agencies and the FBI whenever needed over the course of time."

Fingerprints can be captured by the new technology on a screen without ink. "If there's a 'smudged' print, it can be cleared from the screen and immediately reprinted," explained Hogan. "The need for inked cards is eliminated."

The Automated Fingerprint Identification System scans latent fingerprints from a crime scene and compares them to prints in the state's central repository. "We had a case here this week where a suspect used his brother's name and it took us some time to sort out," said Hogan. "This system would have told us instantly."

The digital mug shot component will store all mug shots in a centralized record system which all agencies in the state can use. Photo line-ups of suspects in other jurisdictions also can be arranged.

"For example, if we needed a suspect's picture from Rehoboth Beach, we used to have to drive to Rehoboth or have it mailed to us," said Hogan. "This allows us to have the photo instantly."

Hogan added that police departments throughout the state also intend to photograph an arrestee's tattoos and scars in the future.

"This will allow a victim of a crime to view those photographs when trying to identify an unknown suspect (with such identifying marks)."

The new system will cost $109,892 to install in Newark. Hogan said a Delaware Police Chief's grant will pay $82,419 while an additional $27,473 is available from the 1997 State Aid to Local Law Enforcement and the department's Impoundment account.

City council unanimously authorized purchase of the system with these funds.

Newark plan discussed at meeting

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The final recommendations for the Newark/Elkton Long-range Intermodal Transportation Plan will not reach the Wilmington Area Planning Council until the council's regular monthly meeting in January.

Elements of the study were among those discussed at a public meeting was held on Sept. 23 in preparation of the Delaware Department of Transportation's Capital Improvement Program for Fiscal Years 2000-2005.

According to WILMAPCO senior planner Anthony DiGiacomo, because of an inability to schedule a committee management meeting until mid-October, the final report and recommendations to WILMAPCO will be delayed.

Also, according to DiGiacomo, WILMAPCO will have another public meeting, probably around Thanksgiving, for the Newark/Elkton plan.

"Based on the last public meeting I think there is a considerable consensus on what recommendations will be presented," Di Giacomo said. "Of course, there will be some modifications to the report."

At that meeting, the committee presented the six major categories of recommendations in the report, including transit services, new roadways, bike and circulation proposals, land use management, travel management, and traffic orientation and system management.

Under bike and circulation, the report will most likely call for two major changes to the Newark area. The first will be to develop a greenway and bike system connecting Elkton and Newark. The second recommendation will be the continued development of an integrated bike system in Newark.

According to DiGiacomo, the report also will ask for a feasibility study of a north connector route linking New London road to Kirkwood Highway and Marrows road to the east.

"Newark does not have a grid system of streets as some cities like Wilmington have, and a lot of problems we have in Newark come from the excess traffic flow on the few connector roads," Di Giacomo said. "If we could get a north connector route we could take pressure off roads like Cleveland Avenue, Route 72, and Ogletown Road."

Di Giacomo said the report likely will call for the widening of most intersections to include turning lanes, and the widening of the CSX underpass at Casho Mills.

In addition, in the areas of land and travel management, the recommendations will try to protect land and continue to develop forms of mass transit.

The public meeting held on Sept. 23 was attended by around 100 county citizens. Many of those citizens were concerned with the ongoing work in northern Wilmington. Of particular concern was construction work scheduled to start next year on Interstate 95. Representative Roger Roy (R-Limestone Hills) warned that if I-95 is reduced to only two lanes during construction it would effect more than just the people living in Northern Wilmington.

Partnership gets off the mark

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The board of the Downtown Newark Partnership, created in March, finally met last week for the first time - but the real work is yet to come.

All 13 board members approved by council in July were represented as the group tentatively got to know one another and the job they've accepted.

Board member and Newark city manager Carl Luft said the board's major functions will be management of downtown, directing parking operations, and policymaking. Luft assured the group the city staff is working on the budget for 1999, and the "tools" will be available to operate the Partnership.

Joseph Maxwell, co-owner of Rainbow Books and Music who was voted chair by the group, wanted to know if their mission could be more specific.

"We all bring lots of different plans and ideas to this table," said board member James Streit, publisher of the Newark Post. "Now's the time to get started and we'll get more specific in doing the job."

Board member Ronald Gardner, the former mayor of Newark, agreed. "We'll home in where we can about where we are and where we're going," said Gardner. "But we have to come up with some priorities because things like parking aren't going to wait."

Board member Gene Daneman, voted vice-chair, said traffic on Main Street definitely was one of the things that could not wait. "It's a disaster, right now," said the owner of the Copy Maven and former president of Newark's business association. "Every day looks like Friday afternoon."

University of Delaware president David Roselle said he wants a presentation on the budget for the Newark Parking Authority as soon as possible. "I'd like to talk about how we will view parking, as well," said Roselle. "Is the city going to view it as a utility and raise rates in one place to possibly pay for a facility located in another place?"

The board agreed that the working committees for the board will be Parking, Special Events, Design, Business Services, and Economic Restructuring. A nominating committee composed of Roselle, Gardner, Streit, Maxwell, Luft and Commonwealth Management president Jeff Lang will prepare a list of possible committee members for consideration at the board's next meeting.

"These are the people who will be doing the work of gathering information and bringing it back to you," DNP coordinator Maureen Roser told the board. "We need to have persons from every entity that makes up the Partnership."

City's right to bill state for problem

WE'RE SURE IT'S NOT intentional. The current and promised traffic improvements from the Delaware Department of Transportation which seem to ring Newark are meant to be helpful. And if it seems that road conditions are getting worse faster than they improve, well, it either must be our imagination or a mistake. Because we're sure it's not intentional.

And let's be honest. We know there are temporary inconveniences associated with road construction. The dust, noise and discontent associated with work on Route 896 south of the town seemed to go on for decades. But now we all love it, right?

And there isn't anyone who wishes they could wait again for the light to change on Red Mill Road across from MBNA so they could make that little turn and continue down Route 273. Right? And once all the traffic signals in Newark are coordinated, sometime before the Y2K crisis hits all the computers, traffic will just circle Newark like a dream.

So, we're sure it's not intentional. But while no one was looking, the traffic signals in areas outside downtown began to escape the control of their makers.

People are waiting in long lines to make left turns miles away on a different highway. Now that can't be intentional. Right?

So, we applaud Newark's mayor and city manager this week for deciding to put a Newark Police officer at one particularly problematic intersection to manually control the signal.

And we applaud even more their intention to bill DelDOT for the time. Now, that's right.

PRINCIPALLY SPEAKING

More classrooms needed to support teacher-pupil ratio

By MARTIN GROUNDLAND

NEWARK POST COLUMNIST

AN E W SCHOOL year has begun and I want to extend a congratulations and thank-you to our Newark area legislators, particularly Richard DiLiberto, Stephanie Ulbrich, and Timothy Boulden for sponsoring and pushing H.B.758 to reduce the unit count and class size funding for elementary schools.

This legislation is needed as an initial step to address the educational realities parents, teachers and principals have known for years. The fewer the children in a classroom, the greater the chance each child will receive more attention.

Today's children require more attention, more services and more differentiated instruction than those I taught 36 years ago.

Our schools and teachers are asked — no, required — to perform a greater variety of services dealing with social needs, family instability and over-parenting skills, and a broader range of educational problems and still be accountable to achieve newer educational standards.

These conditions are present in today's classrooms with no change of class size or unit funding since the late 70s. I doubt we will ever see class size reach 15 children in a primary class but the recently passed legislation is a good initial step toward helping today's teachers.

Any help to reduce class size will benefit the atmosphere in a class and enable the teacher to practice newer instructional techniques.

Having expressed a big thank-you to our area legislators, it is important to emphasize this is a first step.

Much needs to be done. For class sizes to really be lowered insuring a teacher-pupil ratio of 22:1, we need more classroom space, particularly in districts such as Christina. Class size reduction is not going to occur without constructing more classrooms. The state must be ready for this next step.

Additionally, merely lowering class size will not, by itself, improve instruction, nor will state standards by themselves insure higher achievement.

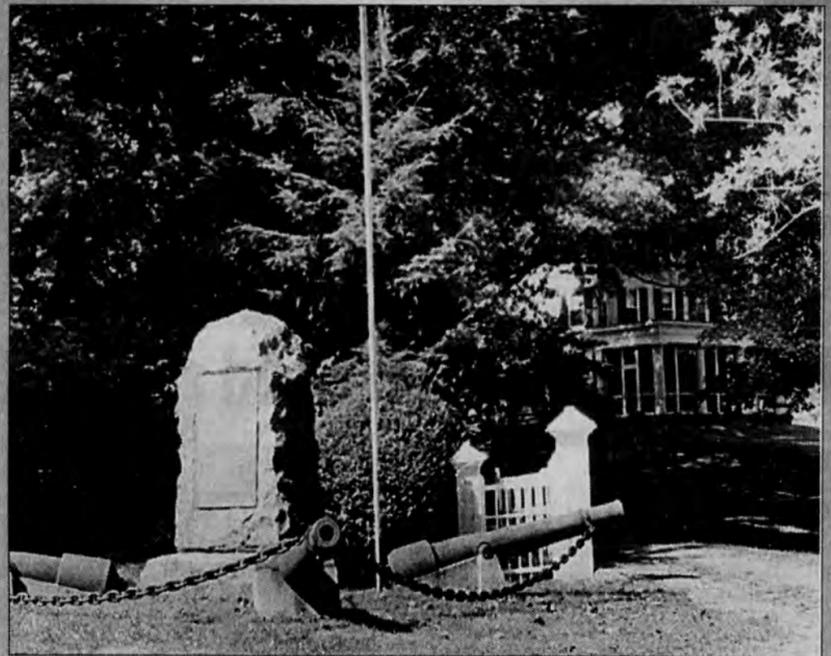

For both to be effective, the state must devise a staff development program to train teachers and principals in newer instructional techniques, materials and approaches.

Without such training and the state funding to do so, lower class size and the new state standards will be an afterthought. That, in my mind, would be criminal.

Yes, a new year is starting with a few new resources. The real struggle for

OUT OF THE ATTIC

The two lower stories of the Thomas Cooch house on old Baltimore Pike were erected in 1760. The third story and a new roof were added by his great grandson, Levi Griffith Cooch, about 1865. In September 1777, the family having been evacuated to Lancaster County, Pa., Washington fought a battle here in an attempt to halt the advance of British troops. Lord Cornwallis occupied the house and the mill built here in 1770 was burned before the British continued toward Philadelphia on Sept. 8, 1777. The home is still owned by the Cooch family. #### Strike of workers at National Fibre Mill

About thirty employees of the National Vulcanized Fibre Company went on strike at the local mill last Friday, and tied up several departments of the plant.

The workers who struck were members of the tube mill force, and most of them experienced and skilled workmen.

News of the strike spread throughout the town, and to avoid any trouble, it was reported that precautions, in the form of a policeman, were taken. Nothing developed, however.

The reasons given for the strike, according to the men out, were a general dissatisfaction with the wages being paid and the working conditions.

B.&O. and Newark Center Crossings must be permanently fixed

Despite frequent and expensive repairs made by the railroad maintenance crews, the two Main Street graded crossings, Newark Center and at the B.&O. Station are again in bad condition.

At Council meeting Monday night it was ordered that Pennsylvania and the B.&O. Companies be notified that they put a permanent crossover of planks or other material and keep it in repair in the future.

County-State police work to mend fences

New Castle County and Delaware police officials are maintaining a walk-and-see stance regarding the scheduled February implementation of S.B. 252, which will strip the county force of all investigative powers in the areas of homicide, suicide, kidnapping, and rape in unincorporated areas of the county.

State Police superintendent Col. Irvin Smith and Col. Michael Larotonda, chief of the county police, are gearing their efforts toward an amendment to the law they expect will be introduced to a reconvening General Assembly in January.

Chamber taking tailgate position

Another opinion has been added to the tailgating controversy that is swirling around Newark City Council.

At a meeting Tuesday afternoon, the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce went on record in opposition to a proposed ordinance that would legalize public drinking in the city.

In supporting retention of the old law, however, chamber members recommended that it be amended to allow property owners like the University of Delaware to apply for a special permit which would sanction supervised and controlled drinking.

October 1, 1993

Town talk turns to student center

Residents protesting a new University of Delaware Student Center and parking garage used the Newark city council meeting as a forum to appeal to city and university officials.

The council voted 6-1 on Monday to relinquish responsibility for Darlington and Church lanes, which serve as entryways for the parking lot adjacent to the university-owned dining hall called the "Abbey". Councilman Tony Felicia opposed because he believed more time was necessary to consider resident petitions.

Perot pays a visit, bashes NAFTA

Former presidential candidate H. Ross Perot rallied a crowd of about 3,000 people at the Bob Carpenter Center Sunday, urging the crowd to contact their representatives in Congress in protest to the North American Free Trade Agreement.

I want to express my sincere gratitude for the overwhelming expression of concern and support for my daughter, Michelle Baynes, after she was in a critical accident while racing at Cecil County Dragway on Oct. 5, 1997.

Although the accident has left Michelle a quadriplegic and dependent on a respirator, she has high hopes for recovery and to date has defied all odds. She wants to go home with her fiance and live as close to normal a life as possible.

Michelle and I want to let each and every one that has supported her in the past several months know that their actions and words of concern has helped the family and Michelle through these very trying times. God bless you and yours for this precious support.

Many thanks go out to everyone who came out on Sept. 18 and helped make Delaware a little cleaner. This year marked the twelfth year for Delaware's Coast Cleanup participation. Over 2,000 volunteers preregistered, and although not everyone could make it, the ones who did "got the drift" and bagged over 13 tons of garbage and debris.

In the past, the "Coastal Cleanup" focused only on the coast, but as the beaches became cleaner, the cleanup moved inland. This year we continued to assist the regional wildlife area managers with cleaning the state's public use areas.

The very young to the very wise came out to help. Scouts of all ages, school children from elementary to college age gave a helping hand. The physically challenged and retirees did their part.

Everyone who pitched in should know what a vital part they played in this effort, even the smallest child. Thanks to all the contributors; Browning Ferris Industries; Harvey and Harvey; The Department of Natural Resources; Division of Parks and Recreation; Fish and Wildlife for trash removal; and to Playtex Family Products for all the rubber gloves.

Finally, thanks to all of the kind employees at DNREC who either volunteered working space, or helped load and unload vans.

The day was enjoyed by all and everyone is looking forward to next year. If every single person told one person the dangers of littering and the effects it has on our environment, just think what a cleaner place we would all live in!

I would like to offer a few corrections to the comments regarding the photo of the 1941 Delaware State Legion Championship Baseball Team printed in your Sept. 11, 1998, issue.

The photo was taken before our departure and not upon our return. This is evidenced by our crisp and dapper appearance. Also you will note our confidence with jutted jaws and wind swept brows in anticipation of our victory over our competition in Poukeepsie. Upon our return we appeared more disheveled and saddened, for victory was not our mantle.

NEWARK OUTLOOK

At the root of the problem

■ This weekly feature on the Lifestyle page is authored by the staff of the Newark-based Cooperative Extension Service.

FALL IS HERE, at least by the calendar if not by weather. Fall is the best time to plant most trees and shrubs. The cooler temperatures and somewhat more reliable rainfall help new plantings avoid water stress. Many trees and shrubs also put out considerable root growth because the soil stays warm long after the air temperatures stay cool.

One of the most common calls we get in our office concerns tree roots—roots lifting sidewalks, roots impeding lawn mowing, roots growing into in the neighbor's yard. Many of these root problems could have been avoided with some understanding of tree root physiology and just plain planning ahead.

There are three types of roots and they serve different functions. The large woody roots near the trunk provide stability and a direct connection from the outermost roots to the trunk, branches and leaves. All water and nutrients must pass through these roots to keep the treetop growing and functioning.

By Jo Mercer

Further along are the transport roots that reach out into the soil, but not much deeper than several inches, even in optimal soil conditions. Again they transport water and soil nutrients for use by the rest of the tree. As growth proceeds, transport roots may fork and grow in many directions as the soil conditions allow. After all, a treetop that continuously grows needs more roots to support its needs.

The "business end" of the root system is nearly microscopic. Fine white root hairs, often only a few cells wide, are the only part that can absorb the water and nutrients from the soil. Root hairs have a relatively short life span. The form near the ends of the finer transport roots. As the transport root pushed further, more roots hairs form at the tip, while ones further back die off. Transport roots reach well beyond the reach of the tree's branches. Poor soil conditions can force the roots to grow even further to get adequate water and soil nutrients.

Tree roots are made of mostly living cells. And living cells need oxygen and water—but in the right amounts. Oxygen levels fall as depth into the soil increases. Soil dries out faster near the surface. Roots can sense water and oxygen will grow toward promising soil. But here's where the balancing act begins. In order to grow into a water-rich area, there must also be an abundance of oxygen.

Tree roots start to slow growth when oxygen level falls below 15% (oxygen in the atmosphere above the soil is around 21%). At 5% oxygen, root growth stops; 2% and less leads to root death. Soil loses oxygen by being too deep, having its air spaces squeezed out by compaction, having its air spaces filled by water or carbon dioxide, having the surface sealed off from the atmosphere or by having an overload of competing oxygen-using organisms. Root cells and other organisms release carbon dioxide as they burn carbohydrates for growth and maintenance. Root suffocation can result when carbon dioxide can't get out to the atmosphere.

The three most important causes of soil oxygen deprivation are oxygen competition from other organisms, soil compaction and water saturation.

I've described the reasons roots do what they do and the consequences for their abuse. Next month, I'll give some pointers on how to avoid future root problems with new trees and offer some root zone protection and relief for older trees.

JEFF SCHWARTZ of Newark was among hundreds of volunteers at Battery Park in New Castle as he bellowed out instructions during Coastal Cleanup Day regarding wearing gloves and what they may find along the park waterway.

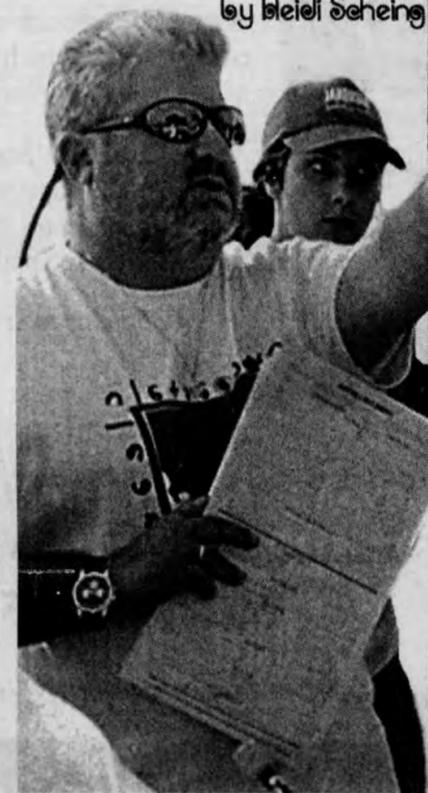

"Do not touch syringes," urged the volunteer site captain. "The coast guard will pick them up. Just make a note of it and let them know."

Schwartz was participating for his seventh year in the coastal cleanup effort. "I enjoy seeing kids who started here (in the cleanup effort) who now come back as teenagers," said Schwartz with a smile. "It makes kids aware of what's going on."

Bear resident Joseph Dooley along with his mother, Shirley, combed the beach edge finding a variety of objects. The boy got a kick out of what appeared to be a clown nose.

Victoria Minker and her mother, Claudia, worked together gathering small items, some of which were drug paraphernalia. See CLEAN-UP, 11 ▶

Fall concerts set at Longwood

By PHIL TOMAN

NEWARK POST ARTS WRITER

October is the signal for our performing arts institutions to be get into full swing for their 1998-99 concert seasons. Longwood Gardens in nearby Kennett Square, Pa., is ready to roll with three outstanding concerts the first three Sundays of this month. Each is in the Conservatory and each begins at 2:30 p.m. The theme of the three concerts is "Celebrate the American Spirit." All of the concerts are free of charge if you are at Longwood Gardens any one of these upcoming Sundays, beginning with this Sunday!

Longwood's Performing Arts Director Priscilla Johnson, who presents about 300 concerts a year on the former estate of Pierre S. Du Pont, has a most impressive start to the indoor season after an exciting and delightful outdoor season. "In keeping with our theme," she told me, "each of the three concerts, October 4, 11 and 18, will feature works by American composers."

The first concert is an organ CD release performance by Peter Richard Conte featuring all the solo organ works of Firmin Swinnen on October 4. A world premiere performance of a new piano work by Philadelphia composer Allen Krantz will be unveiled in a concert featuring R. Clipper Erickson is set for October 11. The following week composer Alan Krantz becomes performer Allen Krantz and joins flutist Pamela Guidetti in a chamber music concert.

Peter Richard Conte will open the season with a "Swinnen-Fest," a performance of the complete organ solo works of the composer who was himself a recitalist and resident organist at Longwood from 1923 to 1956. Conte has recorded all the works on a new CD on the 10,010 pipe instrument. It is on the DTR label and the CD will be available after the concert that Sunday. You may enjoy the performance at Longwood and then take it home!

To be heard on October 4 are Swinnen's "Chinoiserie," "Soir de Printemps," "Soir de Automne," "Aria" (dedicated to his wife,) and the suite "Longwood Sketches." I have an advance copy of the disc and if you enjoy organ music it will be a worthy addition to your own library.

Conte is the resident organist of the Grand Court at Lord and Taylor's, the former John Wanamaker Store on Market Street in Philadelphia. He is only the fourth person since 1911 to hold that title. He records for both Dorian Records and DTR.

A personal word about the late Firmin Swinnen at this point, if I may. He lived across the street from me in Wilmington when I was a young lad. In the summer time when all the doors and windows were open if he were passing our home when I was practicing on the piano he would always come to the door, knock and say, "Philip, you must practice Bach and Bach and Bach." I remember that as if it were only yesterday. He was dear man and a wonderful musician.

Pianist R. Clipper Erickson will continue the Longwood season with a recital he calls "American Journey."

The concert series ends on Oct. 18 with a chamber music concert presented by Allen Krantz and Pamela Guidetti. The program will feature six arias from Mozart's "Die Zauberflote," and works by Handel, Carulli and the multi-talented Allen Krantz.

He abandoned his books
For his sinkers and hooks,
And forgot how to lecture his class.

When they get a cold what is the noise made by nutty people?
CASHEW!!

What is a soprano who jumps into water from a ladder?
A high diva.

Chewing garlic will likely undo an unwanted liaison.

A full moon need not necessarily mean that lunacy is universally rampant.

■ Author's note:

Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws — the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

Local students participate in coastal cleanup

CLEANUP, from 8

The hardest part of the effort was recording everything that was picked up. Mary Crossan of Bear sat on the bench and recorded as her 4-H group called out what they were finding.

The types and quantities of trash collected are marked on the data cards and forwarded to the Center for Marine Conservation. The information helps identify the source of the debris and focus efforts on reducing or eliminating it.

First and second graders from Marshall Elementary worked along with their parents picking up items in and around the park. Many were finding little plastic juice containers which Schwartz called "hand grenades."

"The plastic does not degrade," said Schwartz. "People don't throw things away properly."

Another of the biggest finds is cigarette butts. "People just don't think cigarette butts litter, but it causes all kinds of problems," said one volunteer.

The event, co-sponsored by Conectiv, was part of the International Coastal Cleanup held annually mid-September in conjunction with the Coastweeks Celebration.

By day's end, approximately two-and-a-half tons of debris were picked up from Battery Park alone. Approximately 60 locations participated in the cleanup efforts throughout the Delmarva Peninsula and New Jersey.

ARE THESE GUYS FAMILIAR?

While on vacation at Rehoboth Beach this summer, Connecticut resident Carol Foley took this photo at the request of the boys' parents. Unfortunately, she lost the family's name and address, although she remembered they were from Newark, Delaware. "As you can see, the boys worked hard on their creation, and I think they would like to have the pictures," said Foley. The family can call the Newark Post for information about how to contact Foley.

SENIORS SEW IT UP

Auction to fund new kitchen

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Marrows Road needs more room to stir things up in the kitchen.

"The church has been here since 1954 and we've had a little closet for a kitchen since then," said pastor Ernie Olson. "When you would put three women in there it was literally butt to butt."

To raise money for the renovation, the church is holding an auction on Saturday, Oct. 10, starting at 3 p.m. Due to space considerations, nearby Kingswood Methodist Church is letting them hold the auction there.

The church has asked for auction items from businesses and church members around the area. "The businesses give a lot of good new donations and collectible antiques," Olson said. "Other people give homemade items like afghans, Christmas wreaths and oil paintings."

Olson said the new kitchen will be used for the church's many community projects which include dinners open to the entire community, a breakfast where the men of the church prepare pancakes and sausage, and a Christmas "cookie walk," which also offers homemade soup and sandwiches.

"There are a lot of ways that we include the community, our neighbors and friends," Olson said.

With the new kitchen, the community will be able to rent out the hall for private events like wedding receptions, banquets and other social functions.

Stroke a leading cause of death and disability

Despite the fact that stroke kills nearly 160,000 Americans each year and disables over 600,000, an overwhelming majority of Americans do not even realize that stroke is a leading killer and disabler.

In poll results announced recently, only 5 percent of those responding to a survey commissioned by the American Heart Association could recognize stroke as a major killer of Americans. The AHA believes this is an alarming lack of knowledge, especially considering that the incidence of stroke continues to grow and that stroke is the No. 3 killer and the No. 1 disabler of Americans.

Among Americans at greatest risk for stroke - those 65 years of age and older - only 34 percent named stroke as the No. 3 killer and 1.8 percent thought it was No. 2. Even more troublesome is the fact that a recent survey of Congress showed that only 4 percent of elected officials and staff named stroke as the No. 3 killer.

"This lack of knowledge should be a wake-up call to the medical community and to all Americans," says Lawrence H. Frame, M.D., president of the American Heart Association of Pennsylvania and Delaware. "Stroke is only going to become a larger problem if it goes unchecked. The fact that such a small percentage of Americans even realize stroke is a major problem is disturbing."

There are 4 million stroke survivors alive today, but 1 million of them are seriously disabled. Stroke is expected to cost the United States a total a $43.3 billion in 1998 alone.

According to the survey, Americans evidently recognize the need for more funding for stroke. Just over three-fourths (75.9 percent) of those surveyed said stroke should receive more research funding from Congress. Still, more Americans mentioned cancer, breast cancer, heart disease, diabetes and AIDS as deserving more funding. These diseases currently receive more funding than stroke.

"In order to reduce the incidence of stroke and to improve outcomes after stroke, there needs to be more research on the causes of stroke and its treatment," says Frame. "But research money goes to those diseases considered to be major health concerns. If the Americans public doesn't recognize stroke as the No. 3 killer, how can research funding for stroke grow?"

In the survey, only 5 percent answered "stroke" when asked what they thought the No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3 cause of death among Americans is.

"We hope this data sounds an alarm that we have an emergency on the horizon," says Frame. "Education about stroke - especially warning signs and risk factors - must be a paramount priority for not only our organization, but for other protectors of the public's health."

John Julian, reconstructed Main St.

Delaware road contractor John Julian, died Monday Sept. 21, 1998 of heart failure in Methodist Country House, Greenville.

Julian, 88, was native of Italy and immigrated to the United States at age 15. In 1933, he moved from Allentown, Pa., to Delaware and worked in heavy construction.

Six years later, he established John Julian Construction Co. Among his many projects were the reconstruction of Route 72 in Newark. In 1957, the city of Newark gave him a key to the city for his work in the reconstruction of Main Street.

Before retiring in 1975, he founded Eastern Shore Concrete Pipe Co., Diamond Realty and Diamond State Construction Co.

In 1954, Julian was appointed to the City (of Wilmington) Zoning Administration which eventually became the Wilmington Planning Commission. He served on the commission for 11 years, including two years as chairman. He also served on the board of the Wilmington Parking Authority.

He was a member of the St. Anthony of Padua Catholic Church Holy Name Society. An avid golfer, he was a founding member of Cavalier Country Club and was a member of Glades Country Club, Naples, Fla.

His wife, Rosa Tavani Julian, died in 1988. He is survived by his sons, Gabriel L. Robert Jr. and J.R., and daughters, Adeline J. Sarro and Joan J. Rizzo, all of Wilmington; brothers, Antonio C. Giuliani of Wilmington and Arcangelo Giuliani of Sulmona, Italy; sisters, Aurelia Fontana of Introdacqua, Italy, Gina Iudiciani of Providence, R.I., and Camilla Volpe, Mary Tavani and Adele DiRienzo, all of Wilmington; 19 grandchildren; and 16 great-grandchildren.

Services were held on Sept. 25 at St. Anthony of Padua Catholic Church.

THE SIDELINE

It's going to be a heckuva high school football season. Other than Newark High and Middletown, just about everybody in the state already has a loss. The good thing about this is that every regular season game means a lot in terms of at-large berths into the playoffs. An example of this is St. Mark's-William Penn this weekend. The loser will have a tough time gaining that berth. Every weekend there's a game like that somewhere.

ALL THUMBS

UP: To the Christiana football team and new coach Marvin Spence. The team rebounded from a loss to St. Mark's with a 25-0 shutout of Dover. The win was Spence's first at Christiana.

UP: To Glasgow volleyball team. The Dragons knocked off Flight A powers Newark and William Penn.

DOWN: To the fans at high school games who feel it's necessary to shout profanities at kids.

GAME OF THE WEEK

The Newark and St. Mark's volleyball teams will square off Saturday afternoon. It's a big match for both teams. St. Mark's has clearly been the best team in the state so far this season. Newark has struggled a bit, but there would be no better way to get going than to upset the Spartans.

DID YOU HEAR?

Former Caravel star quarterback Mac Harrison-Dixon is now the defensive coordinator at Glasgow High. Dixon was the state's offensive player of the year his senior year in high school. He went on to play at Delaware State after transferring from West Virginia.

Parson leads offense with two TDs

WITH A 27-14 VICTORY over St. Mark's last Friday night at Baynard Stadium, Newark extended its on-field winning streak to 15 games. However, according to Yellowjackets coach Butch Simpson, this year's team has yet to play up to its capability.

"From a coaching standpoint I think we must—and can be—a better football team," he said.

For the third week, Newark's high powered offense showed signs of brilliance, but failed to totally dominate the game.

The brilliance came on the legs of Richie Parson's 162-yard, two touch-down rushing performance. Still, the offense's inability to sustain any prolonged drives found Newark in a 14-14 tie at halftime.

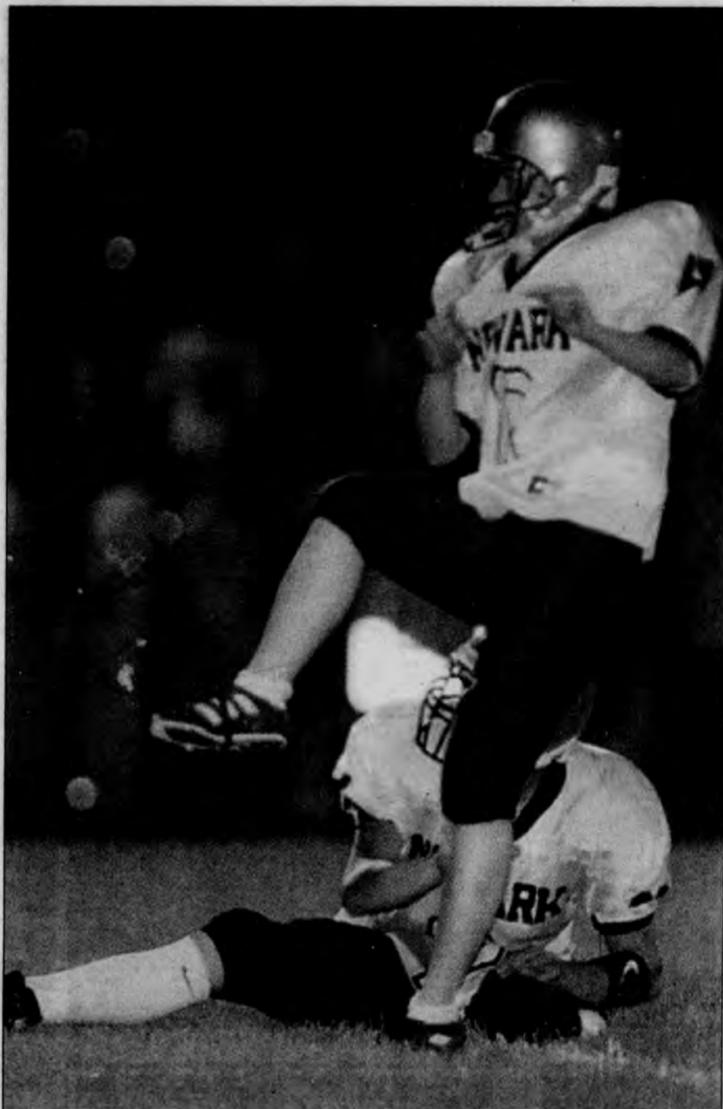

Early in the third quarter, Newark's massive offensive line wore down the smaller Spartans as the Yellowjackets went on a 10-play, 52 yard drive for the deciding touch-down. The score came when Charlie Porter recorded his only completion of the night, a 20-yard strike to tight end Jim Knight.

St. Mark's coach Vinnie Scott said the differences between halves came down to field position and his team's defensive line depth.

"We've had some injuries on the defensive line and we didn't have anyone left to rotate in," he said. "The size of [Newark's offensive line] wore us down. They were bigger than us, but they also have good technique and I think all that really took its toll on us in the second half."

St. Mark's penetrated Newark's end of the field just once during the second half.

tans early in the final quarter. Two plays after Dan Stregari grabbed Newark's second of three interceptions, Brandon McClennon turned a counter over the left side into a 14-yard touchdown run.

Both teams' first scores were set up by turnovers. Newark linebacker Justin Caserta recovered Steve Rogers' dropped option pass at the Spartan 38. The Yellowjackets then used a six-play drive to set up Parson's first touchdown, a nine yard sweep around the left side.

St. Mark's responded when Darne James came untouched to sack Porter from his defensive back spot. The blind side hit forced Porter to fumble and Spartan Brett Davis recovered. On the ensuing play, Spartan tailback Louie Wright broke an arm tackle at the line of scrimmage and ran 19 yards through the center of Newark's

Despite completely dominating the game in a 3-0 win over Mount Pleasant last Friday, Newark coach Hugh Mitchell felt his Yellowjackets were a little flat.

"Well they just weren't sharp," he said following the win. "It's not so much the goals I was disappointed in—yes we should have scored more goals—but it is the fact that we didn't play sharp."

Newark held the ball on the Mount Pleasant's end of the field for almost the entire first half. In the half, Mount Pleasant was only able to penetrate Newark's zone five times. On almost every occasion, Newark immediately played the ball back towards the Green Knight net.

Even with this total dominance the Yellowjackets scored only one goal in the first half. That goal came at the 15:00 mark when Lorni Antwi scored off an assist from Mark Rigney.

Antwi would also score in the second half. At the 75:00 mark, he blasted a penalty shot past the Green Knight goalkeeper to finalize the scoring.

Mitchell said Antwi has the potential to turn into an efficient scorer.

"He's going to be a great scorer," Mitchell said. "He's had a lot of opportunities and hasn't been scoring real well, but he looked better today. I would like to see him be a little more aggressive by the net. He likes to create things by pass, but sometimes he needs to learn to be a little more selfish."

Rigney got credit for the second goal of the game with a head shot.

Newark's defense held Mount Pleasant without a shot. The Yellowjackets recorded 24 shots and had 14 corner kicks.

"We dominated the flow of the game," the coach said. "But at the

There's nothing wrong with the Newark football team

What's wrong with Newark?

That's a question I heard a hundred times during the month of September about the Newark High football team. And I'm not sure why.

Yes, the Yellowjackets return a ton of players from last year's state championship team.

Yes, they were deservedly the state's top-ranked team before the season started.

And yes, they haven't beaten anybody 40-0 yet this season.

However, last time I checked Newark was still unbeaten. Not only are the Jackets 3-0. They also haven't had a game closer than 13 points.

I keep reading and hearing that they haven't played well. I thought a team was supposed to get better as the season goes along. Why was this team supposed to come out and be playing in mid-November form in September?

All I know is that they keep winning. Throw in the fact that they've beaten Salesianum, Caesar Rodney and St. Mark's — all quality teams — and I'm even more confused by all the naysayers.

If you don't think that's a pretty good achievement, take a gander at last week's top 10 teams.

Middletown (a Division II powerhouse) is still unbeaten. But the Cavaliers led rebuilding Glasgow just 7-0 at halftime. If they're judged the same way Newark is, that's not a good win.

William Penn lost to Salesianum (one of Newark's wins). Newark's already beaten St. Mark's and Caesar Rodney by two touchdowns each. Christiana lost to St. Mark's. Cape Henlopen lost to St. Mark's. Brandywine lost to Concord.

Who out there is playing better than Newark?

Why do we immediately expect more from a group — although talented and experienced — that lost the best player in the state (Corey Wallace) from last year's team?

Football is obviously a team game. It takes a lot of good players working together to win. But anyone who objectively watched last year's team would be hard-pressed to deny that Wallace's skill and will were the dominant characteristic of that team. Starting quarterback Bobby Johnson and end Chris Adams (both of whom also graduated) were excellent high school players and leaders as well.

Vettori steps down as Glasgow High wrestling coach

Led Dragons to three Flight A championships

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The next Glasgow High wrestling coach will have some tough shoes to fill.

Marc Vettori, the Dragons' coach for the past five seasons, resigned earlier this month due to time conflicts with his full-time job at MBNA. Vettori led the Dragons to a 41-10-1 regular-season dual-meet record and three Blue Hen Conference Flight A championships.

"It was a tough decision, but the time was right," Vettori said. "The last match I coached was my little brother (Bryan) in the state finals. It doesn't get any better than that.

"Plus, I have a lot of good opportunities in my career right now."

Glasgow had 39 wrestlers qualify for the state tournament and 11 state tournament place winners during Vettori's tenure. In addition, eight of the top 10 winningest wrestlers in school history were on Vettori's teams.

"It was a great experience overall," said the coach. "I had a great staff around me and I'm very proud of what we accomplished. We put Glasgow High wrestling back where it should be."

Glasgow posted a 6-3 record in 1994 - Vettori's first season. The Dragons were 5-5 in 1995, 11-0 in 1996, 10-0-1 in 1997 and 9-2 last season. They won Flight A titles in 1996, 1997 and 1998.

"Marc did a great job for us," said Glasgow athletic director Randy Nowell. "His work time got switched and it made it impossible for him to do both."

Vettori was voted the Blue Hen Conference Coach of the Year in 1996 and 1998.

"It's really a credit to the wrestlers," said Vettori, whose team also won the 1997 Bill Laurelli Sportsmanship Award. "They had a great work ethic. We don't have a feeder program in the Christina School District. All the downstate schools do and some of the better programs upstate do. We were able to compete with those teams."

Glasgow now is obviously looking for a new coach.

"I think if somebody that was on my staff got (the job), things would just continue on," Vettori said. "We have six kids coming back that went to states and three of them placed. Whomever gets the job should be off to a good start."

Members of Vettori's staff from last season included Al Lanouett, Jon Hackett, John Jacob and Keith Ellis.

Anyone interested in the Glasgow wrestling coach position should contact athletic director Randy Nowell at 454-2381.

VOLLEYBALL

The Glasgow High volleyball team kept itself in the thick of the Flight A championship race with two big victories last week.

After knocking off cross-town rival Newark Saturday afternoon, the Dragons came back with an even bigger victory over William Penn Monday night.

Glasgow defeated the Colonials 15-13, 15-9 to stay squarely entrenched in second position behind Alexis I. DuPont in conference play.

"This was a really big win for us," said Glasgow coach Robin Dunlap, whose team improved to 7-3 on the season. "William Penn has been playing very well. They've beaten some good teams. It's definitely important to beat them."

Glasgow built a 12-5 lead in the opening game of the match. Poised to take a 13-5 and cruise to the first game win, the Dragons were called for being in the net on a sure point.

William Penn then fought back to cut the lead to 12-10. Glasgow, however, was able to hold off the Colonials.

"I don't have a reason for why [the momentum changed so dramatically]," Dunlap said. "That's just the way it is in volleyball. I don't have an answer. But I was happy with the way we were able to hang in there and get the win." The second game was tight early with the lead switching hands. Glasgow, however, ripped off five straight points to build a 9-5 lead. The Dragons were able to close out the match from that point on.

"We played much better in the second game," Dunlap said. "I was very happy with the play of our front line."

Lashanda Simpson's and Candice Bowman's dominating net play helped lead the Dragons to the win.

"That really was the key," Dunlap said. "We really had the better in the middle."

Simpson led the Dragons with eight kills, four blocks and nine perfect passes. Bowman added nine kills and four blocks while Stacey Watson contributed six perfect passes and three aces.

"It was great to be able to block their big girls," Simpson said. "We knew that the middle was going to be a big part of the match."

Glasgow knocked off Newark 15-9, 8-15, 15-4 last Saturday.

Simpson again led the Dragons with 10 kills, three blocks and two aces. Watson added four aces, six perfect passes and three digs. Lisa Scanlon chipped in with 10 assists and an ace.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

DAVE SYLVESTER - NEWARK

THE NEWARK HIGH soccer team is on a roll this season and one of the big reasons is Dave Sylvester.

The 6-foot, 3-inch Sylvester has scored six goals to help the Yellowjackets to a 5-0-1 start to the season. Four of those goals came in Newark's last two victories over Caesar Rodney and Delcastle.

Sylvester, who scored seven goals all of last season, scored two of the Jackets' goals in Saturday's 3-2 victory over CR. He then came back with two more goals in a big 7-0 win over Delcastle Monday.

"I really have to give credit to my teammates," Sylvester said. "Most of my goals have come on headers. I've got some really great crosses from my teammates."

Sylvester has been more aggressive in trying to score this season.

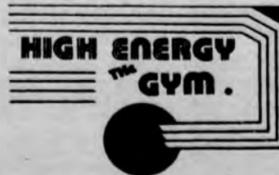

"The difference is really wanting the ball and going and getting it," he said. "We've really worked on corner kicks this season and it's paid off."

"He's done a great job for us," said Newark coach Hugh Mitchell of Sylvester's play. "We're doing some things differently this year in the midfield that's enabled us to break out a little more. Dave's a big target and we've taken advantage of it."

As far as the team goes, both Sylvester and Mitchell are encouraged with what they see.

"I think we're really playing well right now," Sylvester said. "I don't want to get carried away and say we're going to win this or that. But I feel we're playing well and if we just concentrate on one game at a time, I think we'll keep getting better."

Hens prep for Northeastern

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Another game, more improvement.

The University of Delaware waxed visiting New Hampshire last week and now heads into its toughest three-game set of the season.

Before the 3-1 Blue Hens contend with games at William & Mary and at top-ranked Youngstown State in successive weeks, they have to contend with a solid Northeastern squad.

Delaware will host the Huskies (also 3-1) Saturday before an anticipated large Homecoming crowd.

Northeastern has beaten New Hampshire (10-3), Lafayette (41-7) and Rhode Island (24-17). The Huskies' lone loss came in a tight 24-21 game at then fifth-ranked William & Mary.

"They're as good as anybody we've played," said Delaware coach Tubby Raymond of the Huskies. "Except for maybe Villanova. And I see no reason why they won't be the best defense we've seen."

The Huskies' defense returns nine starters from last year's unit that was ranked among the best in the country in I-AA. Currently, they lead the Atlantic-10 in scoring defense.

Another problem that Northeastern will pose for the Hens comes in the form of kickoff returns. The Huskies are second in the nation in that category.

Delaware has had its problems in defending kick off returns.

"I've spent more time this year working on kick off coverage and it's getting worse," Raymond said. "Our coverage really stinks."

That, however, may be the only thing the Hens do that stinks.

Sophomore quarterback Matt Nagy, in his first start of the season last week, completed 19-of-25 passes for 244 yards and a touchdown.

"He was exceptional," Raymond said of his quarterback. "He looked like he improved a full year during the week. He cleaned up all the detailed things he was doing wrong. He came by early in the week and took home tapes of New Hampshire. That's something he's never done before. It really shows that he has accepted the responsibility of being the starting quarterback."

The coach is also happy with the play of the receivers and the protection the offensive line has given the quarterbacks so far this season. The Delaware running attack has also been strong. The Hens are second in the league (behind New Hampshire) in rushing with an average of 236 yards per game.

"The thing that really impresses me about this Delaware team is their balance," said Northeastern coach Barry Gallup, who teams have posted an impressive 17-9 record over the past two-plus seasons. "Other than that overtime loss at Villanova, they probably would be the number one team in the country right now."

"They are incredibly consistent. They've spent 48 straight weeks in the rankings and have a great staff that has been together a long time."

Another of Raymond's concerns is the lack of playing time the backups have gotten. He was disappointed that his team let New Hampshire have some life in the second half.

"We have to find a way to get other people in the game," the coach said. "We have to find a way to play [backup quarterback] Sam Postlethwait. When we flatten out in the second half like [against New Hampshire], it takes away valuable time from other people."

If the only concern coming out of the next several weeks continues to be the amount of playing time the backups get when the Hens have big leads, it will be quite a month.

KSC Magic blanks Downingtown

The Kirkwood Magic under-11 girls soccer team shutout the Downingtown Spirit 5-0.

Katie Thomaides led the offensive attack with three goals while Mindy Hutson and Lindsay Schmid scored one each.

Kim Schezes, Allyson Olewine and Katie Hunt added assists.

Leigh Ann Jasinnas, Stephanie Kappler, Mary Ann Magee and

Heather Miller all combined to earn the shutout in goal.

The Magic's offense also got contributions from Jessica Manlove and Stephanie Rueda. The defense was led by Magee, Schmid, Katie Marshall, Michelle Betty and Miller. Kaleigh Voss and Sophie DeMasse also contributed to the team's effort.

Glasgow falls to Middletown

POST PICKS OF THE WEEK

Dragons play tough in loss to Cavaliers

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Both Middletown and Glasgow football teams got something out of last Friday night's game at Glasgow.

The highly-touted Cavaliers earned a 19-0 victory to stay unbeaten on the season. The rebuilding Dragons showed they can battle against one of the state's best teams.

Middletown, leading by just 7-0 at halftime, pulled away with two second-half touchdowns. Rashaad Boyd scored on a 14-yard run late in the third quarter to improve the Cavaliers lead to 13-0 and Shaun Raye scored on an eight-yard run in the fourth quarter to seal the victory.

The defending Division II state champion Cavaliers (3-0) rolled up 260 yards in rushing with junior halfback Brandon Brown getting 144 on 21 carries. Middletown, which was buoyed by a large visiting crowd, also was helped by Unitas Todd's 80-yard return for a touchdown of the opening kick off.

The Dragons (1-2) managed just five yards rushing in the first half. However, some key pass completions by junior quarterback Matt Folke allowed Glasgow to keep possession of the ball and run time off the clock. The Dragons also benefited from several Middletown penalties that negated big Cavalier plays.

“We don't ever develop a game plan to try to keep a game close,” said Glasgow first-year coach Mark DelPercio, who was on the Middletown staff for the previous 10 years.

“We always try to win. But I was very happy with our effort. I felt really good at halftime.”

Glasgow, though, was unable to keep the more experienced Cavs out of the end zone in the second half.

“I think we showed a lot of depth in that second half,” said Middletown coach Bill DiNardo. “We had second team backs score both of those touchdowns.”

DiNardo acknowledged penalties hurt his team in the first half but also praised Glasgow's effort.

“We're an aggressive team and sometimes you're going to get penalties when you play like that,” DiNardo said. “But I'm not surprised that Glasgow played so well. That's a tribute to Mark [DelPercio] and those kids. They really played hard.”

Middletown's defensive effort was the difference in the game. Glasgow gained just 83 total yards.

“Our defense has played real well for us,” DiNardo said. “They play an aggressive style. We know we're not going to shut everybody out. But they've been solid so far this season.”

Glasgow will next play at top-ranked Newark Oct. 9 while Middletown will travel to Delmar Friday night.

It was a pretty good week for our prognostications, nailing five of the six local games. The only loss came when Salesianum upended William Penn.

There's not quite as many games this week as Newark and Glasgow are off and St. Mark's and William Penn are playing each other as are Hodgson and Caravel.

We'll have a try at four games this week.

WILLIAM PENN (1-1) VS. ST. MARK'S (2-1)

Friday night at Baynard Stadium, 7:30. Both teams - two of the best in the state - enter this game stinging from losses. The Spartans fell to top-ranked Newark while William Penn was beaten up by Salesianum. This is a big game for both teams. Unless the Colonials win Flight A, they will be fighting for an at-large berth to the state tournament. One of the teams they'll be fighting with is St. Mark's. The Spartans have no conference to win and no chance for an automatic berth. This game has even more significance to them. It should be very emotional and competitive. Look for the Colonials to bounce back with a little more. The Pick: William Penn 16, St. Mark's 14.

MIDDLETOWN (3-0) VS. DELMAR (2-1)

Friday night at Delmar, 7:30. This is a battle between two of the best Division II programs in the state. It's also a battle of two of the best fan followings in the state. Delmar's only loss came to a strong Maryland high school team. The Cavaliers are rolling along unbeaten. Look for Middletown's outstanding skilled people and strong defense to be the difference. The Pick: Middletown 20, Delmar 7.

CHRISTIANA (1-1) VS. SEAFORD (2-0)

Saturday afternoon at Christiana's Bill Coder Field. The Vikings got coach Marvin Spence's first win very impressively last week. The Blue Jays are unbeaten but haven't played nearly the competition the Vikings have. This will be a good game for awhile, but the Vikings will pull away in the second half. The Pick: Christiana 20, Seaford 13.

HODGSON (2-1) VS. CARAVEL (2-1)

Saturday morning at Hodgson, 11. This is a big game for both teams. Both have state tournament aspirations and neither can afford to pick up its second loss this early in the season. The Bucs got beat by traditional Maryland power Damascus last week while Hodgson - after stumbling against Tower Hill in its opener - has looked good in its two wins over Division I teams Sussex Tech and Delcastle. This will be another competitive game between the neighboring schools. The Pick: Caravel 22, Hodgson 21.

same time we weren't real sharp. We're a young team trying to put in a complicated system.”

According to Mitchell, as the team gets experience in the system it should be able to capitalize on opportunities more readily. He added the team needs this theory to come true quickly as the Yellowjackets were scheduled to face seventh ranked Caesar Rodney and first ranked St. Mark's within a week.

The visiting Yellowjackets defeated Caesar Rodney 3-2 on Sept. 26.

All the scoring came in the second half as Newark used two goals from Dave Sylvester and one from Noah Thomas to seal the win.

Newark added another 7-0 victory over Delcastle Monday. Sylvester added two goals in that game as well.

The wins improved Newark's record to 5-0-1 before Thursday's game against St. Mark's.

defense for the touchdown.

At the 2:35 mark of the first quarter Parson broke through St. Mark's defense for a 61 yard scamper into the end zone. St. Mark's again responded, going on a 14-play, 66 yard drive.

Newark ran almost exclusively to the left side. That side is manned by the massive tackle Kwame Harris and his brother, guard Orien Harris.

Simpson said the offensive did not run to that side intentionally.

“To the credit of St. Mark's coaching staff, they give you a lot of defensive looks,” the coach said. “We weren't looking to run at any particular side. It was just what they gave us.”

Kirkwood Twisters win one, tie one in PAGS League fall soccer play

The Kirkwood Twisters defeated Spirit United 7-0 and tied Philly Soccer 1-1 last weekend to improve their record to 3-1-1 in the PAGS League.

In the win over Spirit United, Megan Watson scored two goals while Ashley Fogelman added a goal and two assists. Alli Stanley, Natalie Brousseau, Anna Lewis and Kate Attenberger each scored one goal. Rachel Andrews and Jennifer Piechowski contributed assists.

Danielle Weaver, Shannon Crowley, Megan Bastianelli and Beth Kitchen all played well on defense, helping goalkeepers Heather Richardson and Brittany Oncay earn the shutout.

In the game against Philly Soccer, the Twisters lone goal was scored by Attenberger. Fogelman picked up the assist. Brousseau, Weaver and Watson also contributed to the offense.

Strong defensive play from Oncay, Lewis, Crowley, Kitchen, Andrews, Richardson and Stanley helped goalkeepers Bastianelli and Piechowski keep the game tied.

Newark High football team doing just fine so far

► POST GAME, from 15

It's not fair to have to go through a 12-week season having to win by 30 points every time out to avoid everybody thinking there's a problem. There's no way a team can do that. And there's no way anybody can enjoy a season under those circumstances.

There's a long way to go in this high school football season. Newark going undefeated and winning a state championship is certainly not a lock. Too many things can happen.

But as of right now, I'm here to answer the question of the month.

There is nothing wrong with an undefeated football team that has defeated its three top 10 opponents by the combined score of 73-31.
