CONTINENTAL MOCK RAID PRACTICE PRAISED

Mill Employees Give Perfect Performance In Surprise Drill

Employees of the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company cooperated splendidly in a mock air raid drill held at the plant here Thursday afternoon. More than 600 workers took part in the test which included all facilities of the plant.

A cordon of guards was thrown around the premises, including the parking lot. Telephone service was disrupted. No one was permitted to enter or leave the grounds in one of the most thorough and expertly conducted tests conducted by a New Castle County industrial plant thus far during the war.

Conceived and directed by Edward A. Curtis, plant manager, even the time of the drill was not known. Five minutes after the telecall alarm sounded, zone wardens opened sealed instructions which outlined damage done in various sections of the mill and office. Numerous casualties required immediate attention and twelve 'saboteurs' were at work through the vast organization.

Relaying instructions to first aid squads, plant police and fire brigades, zone wardens and assistants moved with rapid precision to bring the situation under control. Incendiary bombs were smothered, fires were extinguished, damaged areas restricted and traffic rerouted. The 'saboteurs' were apprehended and lodged in the plant jail. Casualties ranging from shock to broken backs and dismembered limbs were given first aid and hospitalization under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Hughes, R.N., and her assistants. Dr. E. Hughes Nutter, plant physician, was present and complimented the first aid squad upon their accomplishments.

H. L. Bonham, local Civilian Defense director, and a U. S. Army Inspector were on the scene and acclaimed the superb conduct of the entire plant personnel.

In expressing praise for his fellow workers, Mr. Curtis said the most remarkable feature of the test was the way employees conducted themselves, without a show of emotion or excitement but going calmly and efficiently about their appointed duties and returning to work when the 'all clear' sounded in a serious, determined manner.

PLANTS COMPLETE DEFENSE

Study Use Of Bells As Alarm For Gas Raids

H. L. Bonham, chairman, presided at the semi-monthly meeting of the Newark Council for Civilian Defense in Town Council rooms Monday evening.

Robert J. Boyd was appointed to counsel by Mayor Frank Collins and chosen treasurer of the organization. Receipt of funds totalling $175.00 announced by Mr. Bonham who $150.00 represented the contribution of the Town Council and the remaining $25.00 was a gift from an anonymous donor. Disbursements of the council to date were listed at $23.

Mr. Bonham reported that four local clubs and the U. of D. have completed organization for air raid defense. S. Rankin stated that the new Continental-Diamond Fibre Co. whistle-ringed several weeks ago, had not received and that the present whistle would be used until the new arrived.

Alex D. Cobb was appointed to act the local Catholic and Episcopal churches relative to working out a plan for ringing of bells as an alarm for possible gas attacks. Present at the meeting were: Mrs. F. F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., Mrs. J. H. Hollibaugh, Carl S. Rankin, Mrs. E. Grubb, H. L. Bonham, M. J. Parsons, Robert J. Boyd, C. E. Bonham.

Preceding with the business of the meeting, Mr. Hoffman called for nominees from each district and the following slate was unanimously elected:

No selections were made in the Third District as it was decided to await the results of a caucus to be held in Christiana. 4th district — William Clancy and Mrs. Frank Balling; 5th district — Rees S. ## FIREMEN CONFINE BLAZE TO BARN LOSS

Wind Swept Flames Threaten So. College Ave. Residences

A barn owned by William J. Holton, two horses, an automobile belonging to T. Raymond McMullen, two tons of hay and about fifty bushels of corn were completely demolished by fire that threatened to spread to residences facing on South College Avenue here about 9 o'clock Monday night.

A pony made his escape from the blazing building and another horse, owned by James Hall, was severely injured. High winds swept sparks and blazing embers for more than two hundred yards and started a grass fire near the pumping station. Only heroic efforts of the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company saved residences on South College Avenue from the same fate. Pouring water on nearby dwellings, firemen were stationed on roofs and beat out sparks before they could ignite, but could not prevent slight damage to the homes of Mr. Holton, 414 South College and Miss Jennie Smith, grade school teacher.

Seen for more than a mile, the blaze attracted a huge crowd that added to the confusion but was excellently handled by members of the local police force under the direction of Chief Cunningham who rushed to the scene although not on duty at the time. Unofficial estimates placed the damage at approximately $3,000.

First noticed by a neighbor, the alarm was answered by local firemen at 9:10. Fearing greater damage from wind-borne sparks, calls were sent to nearby fire companies and were answered by companies from Christiana, Elkton, Mill Creek and Newport. The barn and its contents were a total loss. A nearby shed was slightly damaged as flames licked its side but were extinguished before they could do much damage. Then, just for good measure, the company was called out at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon to put out a chimney fire at the residence of Paul O. Veit, near the Box Toe Factory on Ogletown road. No damage was reported.

LIONS HOLD DISCUSSION

Benefit Card Party April 5

Members of the Newark Lions Club held their regular Tuesday dinner meeting in the Country Club with President John K. Speicher in charge. A. D. Cobb led the singing.

Paul D. Lovett, program chairman for the evening, opened a discussion on the need and problems surrounding the erection of a new and larger school building to alleviate present overcrowded conditions. Reviewing the recently passed bond issue authorizing funds for the building, Mr. Lovett called for expressions of opinions from members and a lively discussion followed.

President Speicher announced that plans for the Lions Benefit Card Party, to be held in the Newark Country Club on the evening of April 5, were progressing. Benefits of the party go towards maintenance of the Lions sponsored playgrounds and swimming pool.

FULL TIME RATIONING OFFICE TO BE OPENED

Civil Service Employee To Take Over Office Work

The Newark Rationing Board will open a full time office Monday with a Civil Service employee taking over office and clerical work for the board. It was announced yesterday.

Organized February 5, the local board has taken on duties of rationing tires and automobiles and will likely operate in conjunction with the rationing of sugar and other commodities in the near future. The increasing volume of stenographic and clerical work attending these increased duties makes it necessary to keep an office open daily.

The Board will continue to sit weekly to consider and pass on applications of eligible parties for rationed items, Leon H. Ryan, chairman, said, in the Town Council office until more permanent quarters are established.

Meeting in Town Council offices this week, the board passed favorably on applications for tires to the following: Claude Brooks, 1 tire and 1 tube; Stiltz, Inc., 1 tire and 1 tube; James Brown, 2 tires, A. L. Geist, 2 tires and 2 tubes. The first automobile authorized under the new Automobile Rationing Regulations was issued to Dr. E. E. Weggenman, local physician.

Quotas for the board, covering the March period, are three automobiles, 3 passenger tires, 1 passenger tube, 5 truck tires and 5 truck tubes.

Club Meeting Hour Moved Forward

Miss Edith Salmon will address members of the Newark New Century Club on "The History, Manufacture and Use of Rayon" at their bi-weekly meeting in the club room at 2:00 o'clock Monday afternoon, March 16. The club will convene at 2:00 for the duration instead of the regular 2:30 meeting hour.

Miss Salmon is a representative of the American Viscose Corporation and will be honored at a luncheon given by Mrs. T. Douglas Mylrea, vice president for New Castle County, at her home prior to the meeting. Other luncheon guests will include Mrs. Helen McKinley, Mrs. Milton L. Draper, Mrs. Robert J. Boyd, Mrs. A. D. ### Resigns From Council

C. Emerson Johnson

JOHNSON RESIGNS FROM TOWN COUNCIL

Successor To Be Named At Annual Town Election

Councilman C. Emerson Johnson submitted his resignation as a member of the Newark Town Council Friday morning with a little more than a year of his fourth consecutive term yet to run. Pressure of other business was given as the reason for his resignation.

First elected to the local governing board in 1935, Mr. Johnson has served continuously since that time. His recent acquisition of Rhodes Drug Store from Dr. George W. Rhodes is seen as motivating his resignation which creates a vacancy in the Western District to be filled at the annual town election on April 14.

Mayor Collins said this week that Councilman Johnson's resignation would undoubtedly be accepted and a successor named next month when voters go to the polls to elect representatives from each of the three town districts.

Councilmen whose regular terms expire this month are: C. C. Hubert, Eastern District; Herman C. Wallston, Middle District; and John F. Richards in the Western District. Mayor Collins' present term of office expires in 1943 as do those of Councilmen Ramsey and Ferguson. Mr. Johnson's successor will be elected to fill out his unexpired term.

FIREMEN VISIT HERE TONIGHT

Entertainment Planned For County Ass'n.

Ira Shellender, Roger Pierpont and Robert Cook form the committee on entertainment to arrange a program for this evening's meeting of the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company which will be attended by members of the New Castle County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

A large number of visiting firemen from other sections of the county are expected to be present and view Newark's recently remodeled firehouse which has been completed at a cost approximating $14,000.

Charles Moore, Newark fire recorder, reported nine Newark alarms answered by the company in February with a fire loss of $175. The company also responded to ten calls outside of town but in the district and one call outside the district. Nineteen field fires were reported for the month.

Funeral Services Held For G. R. Sinclair

Funeral services for Gervase R. Sinclair, who died suddenly at his home at 227 Orchard Road early Thursday morning, March 5, were held from his residence at 2:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon with the Rev. Andrew W. Mayer, pastor of the St. John's Episcopal Church, officiating.

Following the services, attended by immediate members of the family, interment was made in White Clay Creek Cemetery.

VACCINE GIVEN TO 600 PUPILS MONDAY

Immunization Program Begun In Schools By Dr. J. R. Downes

Classroom attendance at Newark Public Schools was disrupted Monday afternoon and most of Tuesday morning as more than half the students were sent home ill from reaction to the typhoid vaccine administered in the initial series of immunization programs Monday morning.

Dr. John R. Downes, New Castle County health officer, and his staff administered the immunization to more than 600 students within two hours. The reaction began to take its toll shortly after noon when scores of students were forced to leave class and go to their homes. Dr. Downes said the reaction was natural and that a temperature would accompany it for a short period but expressed the belief that most of the pupils would return to school on Tuesday.

The second of the series of injections will be given local students, and adults who desire it, at the school at 9:30 Monday morning. The third and final administration will take place at the same time the following Monday when smallpox vaccinations will also be given.

An evening clinic for adults who cannot attend the daytime ones held at school will be arranged within the near future, Dr. Downes said. About ninety percent of those receiving the immunization this week were students.

The Marshallton School was also visited by Dr. Downes and his staff on Monday afternoon and immunization administered to 428 pupils there.

13 CENTS LESS SPENT FOR FOOD THAN IN '17

Weekly World War I Costs More Than At Present Time

The average working man leaves about 13 cents less of his weekly payroll dollar at the grocery store today than he did during the year America entered World War I, even though food prices generally have risen some 15 per cent during the past twelve months.

Reduction of extra marketing costs by efficient distributors has been one of the most recent factors helping to "stretch" retail food dollars, according to current reports of the United States Department of Agriculture showing that the "typical working man's family" of 4.9 persons today spends only 23 cents of his income dollar on food for the family dining table.

In contrast, the department reports that 36 cents out of every dollar of the family's income went for food in 1917, when the typical working man's family earned $1.331 compared to $1.888 last year.

Super markets are cited by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics as bringing "important economies" to food retailing, and confirming reports were issued this month by a leader in developing this type of sales unit, the A. & P. Tea Company. The food chain announced that elimination of unnecessary handling operations and costs has reduced over-all operating expenses to the lowest point in the company's 82 years, with as little as 10 cents of the retail dollar now covering distribution charges for some foods trucked direct from growing areas to company super markets.

For the nation as a whole, on food marketed through all trade channels, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports that marketing costs took 52 cents on the average out of the retail food dollar, eight cents less than in 1938.

On the basis of food costs alone, budgeteers among working families are better off today than they were during the "prosperity" years of 1920 and 1929. Government reports show that the typical working man fed his family for $430 last year, compared to the $540 required in 1929 and $688 in 1920.

The 23 cents that food costs take from the income dollar today is the smallest share in 29 years of government record.

Veteran Duck Hunter Dies In Cecil Hospital

Death of Capt. Jesse D. Poplar, 77, in Harford Memorial Hospital this week removes one of the most widely-known duck hunters of the Susquehanna Flats, the famous ducking grounds at the mouth of the Susquehanna River.

"Captain Jesse," as he was familiarly known, had a reputation for being probably the oldest and best duck shot in this section. He was known to have used two double-barreled shotguns while in the field, firing both so rapidly that the four shells sounded like a single shot to observers. He also was an expert at "bunching ducks on the wing," a method used to bring down two or more fowl at a time.

Parents Corner

The Lunch Box

Whether your child eats lunch at home or at school, he should have a real meal. It should provide about one-third of the day's nutrient requirements which are needed for the development of strong robust children.

Lunches served to school children should be well-rounded in food value and also appetizing. Often there is a limited variety of foods from which to choose, but lunch box meals can be tempting and well-balanced. Milk is the most valuable single food for growing children and therefore should have a conspicuous place in school lunches. Sandwiches form the basis of box lunches. The kind of bread determines to a large extent how nourishing the sandwich will be. A variety of bread should be used, including whole wheat, graham, raisin, rye, and cracked wheat as well as enriched white bread.

For sandwich fillers choose such meats as pot roast, meat loaf, liver loaf, or ground cold meat seasoned with a little cooked salad dressing or chopped onion. Cheeses of various kinds — alone or combined with jelly, chopped nuts or leftover meats — are good.

Combinations of cooked and raw vegetables such as celery, carrots, cabbage, and raw spinach, and ground meat mixed with mayonnaise, a little milk, butter, or cream add food value and crispness to a lunch of sandwiches. Celery, whole tomatoes, carrots, onions and green peppers are all good to eat raw. They should be washed and wrapped in waxed paper while they are still moist in order to keep them fresh and crisp.

Any fresh fruit in season makes a good dessert — for example, apples, plums, peaches, apricots, grapes, cherries, and berries.

Uncooked dried fruits also may be used. Cooked dried fruits and canned fruits may be carried in a waxed paper container with a tight fitting lid, or in a jelly glass or mayonnaise jar.

Semi-solid desserts, such as rice pudding, tapioca pudding, baked custard, bread pudding, and chocolate pudding can also be used in covered containers. Molasses cookies, oat meal cookies, and firm cakes can be packed well in lunch boxes.

The thermos bottle makes it possible to have hot or cold food in a box lunch when desired and also adds to variety of liquids from which to choose. Every meal is more appetizing and healthful if it includes a hot dish. Suitable hot foods are soups and hot beverages such as hot tomato juice and cocoa.

With these suggestions the school lunch may provide its share of needed nourishment to build healthier bodies for defense.

NECESSITY DRIVING FAVORED

The stress of war will undoubtedly be responsible for some restriction in the use of motor vehicles but certain types of necessity driving must be favored under these restrictions, H. V. Daniel, Secretary, Associated Petroleum Industries of Delaware, stated today.

"A recently completed national survey reveals that fully two-thirds of all wage earners use their cars to reach their work," Mr. Daniel explained. "According to recent reports, the number of Delaware citizens employed in productive industries is being substantially increased from month to month."

"It is obvious that it is vital for these workers to reach their tasks with settled regularity. Otherwise, production schedules will suffer and a great annual payroll will shrink alarmingly. Defense schedules must swing upward as the fate of the world depends on that upward surge. Our farmers must be able to reach markets with their produce. Defense materials must be kept steadily moving over the great highway system of this state. All this falls within the classification of necessity driving."

"While most of the cars owned by workers and farmers are old, they represent essential and economical transportation and these vehicles generate gasoline tax revenues to state and federal governments of considerable substance. The state revenues, including license and other fees have enabled us to build and maintain an excellent highway system.

"Necessity driving must be characterized by efficiency and the application of every possible economy of operation. The state will undoubtedly receive substantially reduced revenues from automotive taxation but should not be allowed to affect monies to be made available to the Highway Department. It is apparent that all revenues from motor taxes must now be devoted to highway improvement and that diversion must be eliminated. Our investment in highways must be protected at this time and in the future."

GARDENERS CONSERVE MATERIALS

U. of D. Specialist Sees Increase In 1942 Crops

In 1942 the production of vegetables in Delaware will be larger than usual, according to E. P. Brasher, truck crop specialist for the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Family gardens in urban areas of Delaware will play a part in this increased production. But he points out that in extending this part of the food production program to urban areas, gardeners should proceed with caution and consider fully all factors involved in garden growing.

He suggests that every potential gardener ask himself two questions before he decides whether or not he will have a garden—Is my soil suitable for growing vegetables? Do I have the time and energy to carry through to completion a successful vegetable garden? If the answer to these two questions is "Yes," Brasher says by all means plant a garden that will supply as much of the family food needs as possible. But if the answer is "No," he suggests that the garden idea be abandoned so that more fertilizer, seeds and insecticides may be available to those who have the proper soil available and who will have the necessary time to devote to gardening.

Due to shortages of many garden materials, he suggests that all gardeners and potential gardeners be sure to plant garden seeds at the proper time, plant recommended quantities, use the fertilizer and amounts and care intelligently for the garden.

Every gardener should go about his work this year with the determination that his garden will be one in which nothing is wasted and large enough to meet family needs.

APPRECIATION

Taxpayers of Newark lost a good executive and the benefit of a keen, progressive mind when C. Emerson Johnson tendered his resignation as a member of the Newark Town Council Friday morning last.

A member of the town governing board for seven years, Mr. Johnson has served his constituents well and always in the best interests of the town at large. He has played no favorites, little politics and ever stood for a far-sighted, progressive government and administration of town affairs.

The youngest member of the body, Mr. Johnson's insight into needs of the community and wishes of its residents were a decided asset. He was largely responsible for the extensive street repair programs carried on here during the past few years. Through his efforts, Newark now boasts of hard-surfaced streets throughout most of its incorporated area. In addition to being chairman of the Street Committee, Mr. Johnson was also a member of the Police and Town & Sewer Committees.

The press of personal affairs due to recent acquisition of Rhodes Drug Store is given as the reason for his resignation. While townspeople are reluctant to lose a loyal representative, they have nothing but approval for his decision.

NO ALTERNATIVE

Belatedly following the inevitable parade of publications to raise their prices, the Newark Post reluctantly announces that it, too, is forced to increase single copy and annual subscription rates effective with the issue of April 2, 1942.

Scarcity of paper and rising costs of both newsprint and in the labor field make it imperative that newspapers and periodicals increase their prices. More than 200 American newspapers have done so during the past year. Announcement has been made that the nation's largest five-cent magazines will be sold at ten cents within the next thirty days. Saturday Evening Post and Liberty already have published statements to that effect and Collier's will follow suit shortly.

Newspapers, it seems, are usually last to raise prices and first to reduce them when conditions warrant. Milk is up, food is up, salaries generally have been increased, clothing is out of sight, sugar is darn scarce and tires can't be had. So, although we regret it exceedingly, we believe we are justified in a fifty-cent a year increase in subscription rates.

Effective April 2 ALL subscriptions will be $2.00 per year, payable in advance. This applies to new subscribers as well as old. Persons owing for arrears prior to April 2 will be charged at the old rate of $1.50 per year until April 2 and $2.00 thereafter. Newstand and individual sales of the Post will be priced at five cents per copy.

Readers desiring to subscribe for a period of years in advance, at $1.50 per year, may do so by sending in their subscriptions and payments BEFORE April 2, 1942.

"THE HOME FRONT"

There's nobody in Delaware, or in Maryland, or anywhere in these United States, who can't be a vital part of this country's forces for the victory in the war against the Axis. In fact, there's nobody who conscientiously can fail to recognize and accept a vital responsibility.

There may be physical and other limitations on your eligibility for active military or naval service, but many happenings since our war effort got into high gear show one way in which everybody can help. The battle-cry of the consumers' front should be: "Buy according to your needs, but only when the need is real."

Good sense as well as patriotism counsels the consumer to think about replacing things only when they are beyond repair, or when the crock or bowl, the barrel or the shelf, are nearly bare. Hoarded sugar cakes and often spoils, and unused clothing goes out of style or becomes food for moths.

It was hard to realize the need for this when we still had great stocks of finished articles in the warehouses and in the stores. But as industries serving civilians continued to change over for all-out work and the flow of goods into civilian outlets tapered off, we have come to see what all this is going to mean in terms of our own lives.

Scarcities under war conditions can't be helped, and the sacrifices they require are our contributors to the victory we're working for, but we can't prevent inequalities. The people who refrain from buying something until they really need it aren't going to be penalized for their patriotism.

There are ways of guarding against that and against all favoritism and profiteering. One of these ways is by rationing, as in our great sugar rationing program which starts next month, and which will make sure that everyone gets a fair share of what sugar there is for domestic uses.

That's why retreaded and recapped automobile tires are being rationed now, and that's why sales of new automobiles were stopped until March 2, and will be sold thereafter only to a limited group of purchasers whose needs are most vital, as certified by the local rationing boards.

It's up to all of us to read our newspapers and keep informed by all available means about these regulations, so that we can comply intelligently and effectively serve our national objectives. And don't "half-read" an announcement and rest back comfortably on what you hope it means. Be sure you understand the regulations and, if in doubt, check with county rationing boards or other official agencies for more facts.

FOOD for THOUGHT

Charlotte Spencer Hurley

"Family Food for 1942"

1942 will be a year of changes and these changes will come even to such hard to change habits as eating. Increased cost of nearly all food and the lack of foreign shipments will force American families to eat differently than they have in other years. Added to that, Americans are receiving more instruction than ever before about what they should eat and it is hoped that this will result in an increased use of milk, eggs, vegetables, and fruits.

For the family whose income has not risen along with the rising cost of food, one of the housewife's biggest problems will be to provide appetizing, healthful meals at a price which she can afford. Such a housewife will need to find ways to buy cheaper foods without sacrificing food value. For her, beef liver, steaks and pot roasts will replace steaks and loin cuts. Foods such as milk can be purchased in several forms, some of which are cheaper than others.

Good buying of food is useless without good cooking. Every mother needs to know how to prepare healthful meals which are eaten without urging just because they taste so good.

The 1942 meal planner will be using substitutes for some foods which have been very common on our grocery shelves. Such things as pineapple and pepper which come from far off places will probably be scarcer and scarcer. Even fruits and vegetables grown in the United States may not be shipped abroad freely if railroads and trucks are carrying other things and we may depend more on foods grown locally.

There is not much chance that the United States will be short of any essential foods. The United States Department of Agriculture has a gigantic program to supply us as well as our allies with milk, fruit, vegetables, meat and eggs.

A home garden will show a bigger profit than ever if farm prices continue high. The fruits and vegetables produced at home and used fresh in the summer and canned for winter meals can make the difference between a well fed family and one which is always a little ailing.

The Red Cross, the Extension Service, Home Economics teachers and health agencies are all teaching the facts about food which will help housewives to know how to plan, buy and cook meals to keep their families well and strong.

Better planning, better buying, better cooking and, if land is available, a better garden are all good food aims for 1942.

NEWS in the WORLD of RELIGION

By W. W. Reid

Forty-two schools, institutes, graduate courses, conferences and camps will be held throughout various parts of the United States during the spring and summer for the training and "refreshing" of Protestant ministers. It is announced by the Home Missions Council of North America and the Federal Council of Churches of Christ which sponsor the gatherings. The schools vary from four days to two weeks in length. Some will admit women ministers. "The purpose of the schools," says the announcement, "is to acquaint rural ministers with tested methods of town and country church work, to assist them in securing an understanding of the trends and problems of modern country life to develop fellowship among ministers serving this field, and to increase association of ministers with agricultural leaders." Practice courses will be taught by farm leaders.

Plans are now being made by the American Baptist Home Mission Society, on the basis of a recent survey, to greatly strengthen the work of the denomination in suburban communities surrounding the great cities of America. While much of the actual building and equipping of churches will necessarily have to await the post-war era, the plans will indicate where the new structures should be built and new congregations formed. The survey shows that the suburban areas of the great cities have grown more than twice as fast as the central cities themselves, thereby creating problems for "down-town churches," and leaving outlying areas without churches. Decrease in attendance and in church giving, it is pointed out, is explained by changes in the neighborhoods of old established city churches from residential to business, and the moving of membership miles away into new suburbs.

Two leaders of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. have recently returned from a six-months journey by airplane through the Philippines, Thailand, India and Africa, where they held a series of "spiritual fellowship conferences" with missionaries and national church leaders of these lands. They are Dr. Phillips P. Elliott, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Dr. Charles T. Leber, a member of the staff of the Board of Foreign Missions of the denominations. The last lap of their journey was by British Airways across the Atlantic from Lagos, Nigeria, Africa, to the United States. They have returned with much information concerning the missionary work now carried on by American churches. "The work of the Christian church is carrying on despite the war," they say.

The Rev. James A. Hunter, Congregational missionary in Tungshing, North China, and director of the La Ho Rural Service Center there, has made an important contribution to the food supply of North China during a period of ten years of helping improve the laying qualities of native Chinese poultry. Starting with a flock, selecting at random, whose average annual production was 77 eggs, he has over the decade so improved the strain that the flock averages now 181 eggs per year, while there is an individual record of 257 eggs. Now he is distributing to eager Chinese farmers chicks from the improved strain as well as chicks from three standard breeds of poultry he has introduced into the area.

According to Mahatma Gandhi, venerated leader of millions in India, "It is not cities that make India, but the villages. . . . You cannot reconstruct the villages unless you revive the village life with its defunct handicrafts. The peasant in his cottage home can be revived only when he gets back his craft and depends for his necessities on the village and not on the cities as he is compelled to do today." Speaking to government and religious workers for rural reconstruction of India, he said, "If you do not grasp this basic principle, all the time you give to rural reconstruction work will be wasted."

WHAT WITH THE SCARCITY OF rubber for tires and the government's threat to ration gasoline, that well-known friend of man, the horse, is thrusting its snout right back into the mind of many people. This is not the only reason why the people of this vicinity are once more glancing with interest at the racing results and news, for in a matter of a few weeks Delaware Park will open its gates to all lovers of the sport of kings. Speaking of kings, it reminds us of a famous quotation we once heard describing a speculative business venture. Someone described the undertaking by saying, "It made kings out of a hundred beggars and made beggars out of a hundred thousand kings."

NOW EVERY ONE KNOWS THAT there is a right and wrong way to do everything, and most people will agree that the right way to do a thing is to have a system. We were walking down the street the other day and came across a poor fellow shuffling along talking to himself in a mumbling fashion and noticed that his pockets were turned inside out, his feet bare, and his cheeks sunken in until they almost met right above his tonsils. Surprised to find someone else who appeared in just about the same financial situation as ourselves, we sidled up and began to make with the conversation.

AFTER SIFTING OUT ABOUT AN hour's production of meaningless mumbling and signs, we found out that the fellow was the proud possessor of a "system" of picking the ponies which, although it had never been known to work, was foolproof. Since we had previously had a little experience in buying odds for a bunch of broken down "haymakers" we decided that it wouldn't be a bad idea to bribe the fellow into letting us in on the secret of almost never picking a winner. Even if the system did almost never pick a winner, it would be better than the one we had just discarded since it absolutely never came out with the right horse.

HE WAS A TOUGH CUSTOMER though and was jealously secretive about the system which his starved brain had devised, but with tears in our eyes and a nickel hamburger thrown in for good measure, we finally broke down his resistance and gleaned the workings of years of experience from the stumblor.

Therefore, not desiring to be the only pauper in the community after the Delaware meeting is concluded, we pass on the info to you and hope to see you in the poorhouse some day. Just before going into the lucrative details of the idea, we would like to pass on to you a quotation which we heard a racegoer make just as he made his entrance into the track. The optimistic fellow turned to his companion and said, "I hope I can break even today, because I certainly do need the money."

THE FIRST THING TO DO WHEN appraising a prospective horse in a race is to determine whether or not he has ever raced before. If he has, give him one point. If he hasn't, give him credit for having some sense. Why should any horse go around running his heart out for nothing while his owner gets all the money.

Second, the object is to determine just what kind of race he has participated in. If he is moving up in class it wouldn't be a good idea to wager on him, for he might have an inferior complex when meeting much superior horses and not dare win. If he is moving down in class, we wouldn't advise betting on him since he realizes he is much better than the other nags and is greatly humiliated and mad at his owner for having him associate with his inferiors. He won't try in that kind of company. If he has been a former member of the human race, don't bet on him because if he could run at all he would have beaten Jesse Owen at one time or another and we never remember any such occasion. Lay off of him in this case.

THIRD, NOTICE THE AMOUNT OF weight which has been assigned him. If he is the only lightweight horse in the race, don't bet on him. The officials probably know that he has already got plenty of lead in his feet and doesn't need any in his saddle. If he is the heavy weight horse in the race, don't bet on him either. If he is given this distinction by the handicappers, he probably feels that this is enough achievement for the day and will not care to add the honor of winning the race even if his back wasn't broken by the time he got to the starting gate.

Last, but not least, it is important to find out just who the jockey is that will ride him. If it is a big-name jockey, we wouldn't advise betting on the horse. Since he is a well-known rider he must have won plenty of races in the past, and this means that he is busy planning just how he can beat the government out of paying his income taxes and doesn't have time to bother about winning the race. If the rider is a unknown jockey, we wouldn't advise betting on the horse either. This boy has probably never won a race previously, and is in bad need of money. Why should he win the race with his horse when he has got $100 bet on one of the other horses in the race with odds at 20 to 1.

Well, there you have it. Not bad eh? By the way if you happen to meet me sometime on the street after you have read this little matter and are too busy talking to yourself to speak to me, don't feel bad about it. I will be still talking to myself too. Iran Deadlast

Newark High Tossers Chalk Up Three Wins Against Eleven Defeats; Close Scores Account For Majority Of Losses

LEGION TUMBLES BIG FIVE

Local Keglers Trim Elkton On Home Boards

Bowlers representing the American Legion Alleys journeyed to Elkton Saturday and administered a drubbing to the so-called 'Big Five' team put forth by the Community Bowling Alleys.

Paced by P. Whiteman and Crowl, the locals drew first blood to gain a margin of 42 pins, then dropped the second game by 21 pins to whittle their margin down to 21 pins. Crowl came through with a 214 game and P. Whiteman rolled 211 in the final stanza to pick up an additional 175 pins bringing the final count to a 196 pin victory for the Newarkers.

Sionecker was high man for the Elkton brigade with 201, 177, 144—522 followed by W. Loomis with 150, 177, 185—512. P. Whiteman turned in 185, 166, 211—562 and Crowl 140, 175, 214—529 to set the pace for the local keglers.

BOWIE MEET OPENS SOON

BOWIE MEET OPENS SOON

Track To Stage Ten-Day Session

Start saving your money, the sport of kings is returning to this vicinity. The bangtalls are slated to start running down Maryland way April 1.

The regular 10-day spring meeting at Bowie opens at that time to be followed by the annual Havre de Grace season on April 13.

With eight flat races being carried daily, General Manager J. A. Farrell, of Bowie, has decided to run the events off at 25-minute intervals. This means that turfites will be en route home no later than 5:30 p. m. daily.

Edward Burke will again be in charge of the Havre de Grace track with Charles McLennan acting as racing secretary and handicapper.

There is some talk that this might be the last meeting at Havre de Grace as the Aberdeen Proving Grounds may be extended to include the ground covered by the track. If this is done the time allotted to the Graw will probably be given to Pimlico.

Electric Service Interrupted Monday

Unusually high winds accompanying driving rain Sunday night and Monday morning blew down an electric power line at the corner of Main and North College Avenue interrupting electric service in town for about twenty minutes, early Monday morning.

Town Electrician Joshua Wood responded to the call at seven o'clock and had the damage repaired and current flowing through all lines within about twenty minutes.

Gas Protection Group To Meet Friday Evening

Dr. Glenn S. Skinner, head of the Civilian Defense unit for protection against gas announces that a meeting of this group will be held at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening in the police room of Town Council offices, 26 Academy Street.

Wally Dunsmore copped the runner-up spot with a total of 74 points registered on 28 double-deckers and 18 charity shots, and an average of 5.3 markers for the 14 contests.

The two leaders were followed by George Schen with 59, Morrow with 39, Don Huston with 25, and Slack with 23. As a team the Yellowjackets hung up a total of 360 points for the season which gives them an average of slightly better than 25 points per game. This was approximately 100 points less than the total garnered by the opposition, which came through with 459 points, for an average of slightly better than 32 per game.

Looking at the record of three wins and eleven losses compiled by the charges of Coach Bill Gillespie, it would seem that the Newark cagers furnished little opposition for their opponents, but closer inspection reveals that in only three contests were they really beaten decisively. These were the tilts with P. S. duPont, Brown Vocational, and Claymont. No less than seven of the other eight engagements dropped by the Yellowjackets were by margins of three points or less. In other words a point or two more in at least half of their games would have brought the local cagers out on top of a better than average season.

For the $2,600 positions, applicants must have had in addition 1 year of appropriate experience or graduate study. The ability to drive a car, and ability to transmit and receive in Morse Code are required. There will be a written test of theoretical and practical questions on radio and electrical engineering. The closing date for receipt of applications is April 21, 1942. Under certain conditions applications will be accepted from senior and graduate college students.

The addressograph operator examination is for appointment in Washington, D. C., only and the positions pay $1,260 and $1,440 a year. For the $1,440 jobs applicants must have had at least 3 full months of paid experience operating an automatic-feed motor-driven addressograph machine, while only 1 month of experience on a motor-driven machine equipped for either hand or automatic feeding is necessary for the lower grade positions. The machines must have used embossed metal address plates. No written test will be given and applications will be accepted until further notice.

All applications must be sent to the Washington office of the Civil Service Commission. Full information as to the requirements for these examinations, and application forms, may be obtained from C. S. Crompton, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the post office or customhouse in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. ## STATE CLUB WOMEN NEW FOR FACTORY VICTORY

Homemakers Complete 205 Garments In February

Women of Delaware's home demonstration clubs are busy these days with all-out effort on Delaware farms to win the war. They are not so busy, however, that they do not have time to spare for their knitting and sewing skills.

This is especially true of the Three-Home Demonstration Club, re-organized last year. Mrs. Kate Henley Daugherty, of Castle County home demonstration agent. Members of this club are bunched through the final standing of the year due to the fact that during the first nine months of 1941 this group of 29 farm women made 163 garments and made 1091 yards of fabric for the Red Cross.

Work done for the Red Cross by the rural women is under the leadership of Mrs. Oliver Eastburn, club chairman for the Red Cross, and secretary for the Needlework Guild is under the direction of Mrs. George Alcorn, club director for the Needlework Guild. Members meet once or twice each month for sewing bees and get as many garments made as possible. At the time of the meeting they take their own fabric and knit and sew additional garments for more garments to their own homes to return them as finished articles at the next club program or sewing meeting.

This year women of the Milford Cross Roads, Union and Fairview communities have set a goal — 100 completed garments each month — which surpasses the number of garments made last year. A report of their progress for the year shows they are meeting this goal and more too. In January, 225 garments were completed and 205 garments in February. This record of achievement and spirit of cooperation is an instance of the work being done by similar groups of rural women throughout Delaware.

FIRE AT NATIONAL

Baskets, Booths Are Damaged

A number of waste baskets and two spraying booths in the paint shop were damaged by fire of unknown origin at the local plant of the National Vulcanized Fibre Company at 7:20 o'clock Saturday evening.

The National fire brigade assisted by the Aetna Hose Hook and Ladder company battled the blaze for about an hour and succeeded in confining it to the paint department with no casualties. Two streams of water were used on the conflagration from Market Street hydrants before it was brought under control. No employees were working in the paint shop at the time.

Watchman, making his hourly rounds at 6:30, punched the time clock, and at one of the damaged booths, saw no signs of fire at that time.

Packaging Now Big Problem

Save Feed Bags and Oil Cans

Most everything that is sold has to be packaged. The things generally used are burlap, tin, cotton, hemp, paper, and glass. Now burlap, tin, hemp have been cut off by the war in the Pacific, and the government has taken over 2/3 of all the burlap in the country.

Every purchaser of feed should treat EVERY feed bag as though it might be the last. Store feed in rat-proof, weather-proof containers and whip out the bags, hanging them out of reach of damage. Return them for credit on the next purchase or send them in bundles of 100 to the Premium Bag Co., Boston St., Baltimore, where the best prices will be paid for all in A-1 condition.

A government ruling has put a stop to the packing of motor oil in tin cans. Tin is needed for more important war jobs. Buyers of motor oil should save and keep in the best of condition the motor oil cans that will be needed to use for refilling from bulk hereafter.

STOCK UP ON STARTING AND GROWING MASH

There are three good reasons for getting a couple of bags of Southern States Starting & Growing Mash BEFORE those chicks arrive. FIRST, there is the problem of transportation to consider—what you get now may save a special trip later. SECOND, chicks should not be fed chilled feed. Keep a bag handy right in brooder house while you are warming it up for the chicks that are coming. And LASTLY, Southern States Starting & Growing Mash is just the feed to do the important job of quick growing, uniform feathering, and good coloring. It's a balanced, high quality, open formula feed that has been proved by 100 million chicks.
