Don't Forget Your Flag On July Fourth

Edwin Howry Held For Death Of Cox

Courtroom Well Guarded By Police
As Threats Of Shooting
Are Heard

The Cecil county court room in Elkton, Md., was so well guarded by an extra force of state police, county officers and town police, that the threatened shooting up of the room in which Coroner Howard W. Green held an inquest Monday night on the death of Crosby R. Cox, the 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cox, of Rising Sun, who was murdered on Tuesday night, last week, near the farm of W. K. Bird, two miles north of Rising Sun, failed to materialize and the proceedings of the inquest passed off peaceably.

After hearing the testimony of a dozen witnesses the jury rendered the following verdict: "That the said Crosby R. Cox came to his death as the result of a pistol shot wound and we recommend that Edwin Howry be held without bail in connection therewith for the action of the next grand jury."

It was brought out at the inquest that on Tuesday night, last week, Howry and Charles Young drove up to a roadhouse conducted by Mrs. Wade on the outskirts of Rising Sun. Howry drew his revolver, fired three shots into the building and then walked into the building with the gun in his hand and at the request of Mrs. Wade placed the gun in his belt. He walked over to M. M. Cully, who was a stranger to him, struck him over the eye with the handle of his gun and walked out to his truck standing in the road.

Crosby Cox, who was called Ted Cox, was in the place when Charles Young asked Cox to go along. As Cox did not want to go, Young took hold of Cox's arm, forced him into the truck, when the three drove up the road, stopping near the barn on the Bird farm, where Cox was slain by Howry while sitting in the front seat of the truck. Young in the meantime had gotten off the truck when the shot was fired.

Dr. R. C. Dobson testified to finding Cox's body hanging from the seat with Howry at the wheel. He told the cause of Cox's death and of going to his own car, securing a pair of handcuffs and shackling Howry.

Officer Platrok told of arresting Young and bringing him and Howry to Elkton jail.

After Young was locked in jail he is alleged to have told on Powell Rakes, the alleged ring leader of the gang, as being implicated in the murder of Oscar Johnson, of near Elkton, last fall, and it was this that caused the threat to be made to shoot up the court room to rescue Rakes should he be brought into the room to testify at the inquest.

Two years ago Custer Cox, an elder brother of the murdered youth, was found dead in a woods near Principio, and it is believed by the Cox family that he was murdered also.

Poultrymen Mistake Importance Of Hen

Keep Too Small A Ratio Of Hens
To Pullets; Judging Schools;
Egg Record Report

Appended to the May report of the Delaware Farm Egg Record Club, just released from the office of Ed William, Jr., New Castle County Agent, and prepared by H. S. Palmer, extension poultryman, there is an interesting discussion on the ratio of hens and pullets in the average flock. Mr. Palmer points out the fallacy of disposing of all hens in favor of pullets.

The average eggs laid per bird during May in the Egg Record Club was as follows: pullets, 17.6; hens, 15.2; mixed flocks, 17.7. The figures for May, 1927, were: pullets, 18.1; hens, 17.5; and mixed flocks, 17.3. The best flock of pullets during May, 1928, averaged 24.6 eggs per bird; the best flocks of hen, 23 eggs; and the best mixed flock, 25.

Mr. Palmer's discussion of hens and pullets, and an explanation of the poultry judging schools follows:

Fireplugs Menace Autos

There are two fireplugs standing a couple of feet outside of the curb on East Main street, which have become a serious menace to automobiles. In fact, within the last two months three machines have been damaged by one of these plugs and two persons injured. In all three cases the machines were pulling away from the curb, when the plug was struck, the drivers of the machines being in a position where it was impossible to see the plug.

The last accident occurred Friday, when Miss Etta Wilson struck the plug in front of her home. Miss Wilson knew the plug was there and cautioned a member of her family, who was on the front seat with her, to watch for the plug. As she pulled slowly away from the curb, neither could see the plug, which sets low in the street, and the machine ran upon it. Miss Wilson stopped her machine as soon as her front wheel and fender engaged the plug, but help had to be called from a garage and the machine jacked up and pulled away from the plug.

A few weeks ago, Mr. James C. Hastings, while pulling away from the curb, struck the plug. A child on the front seat with him was thrown against the instrument board and sustained bruises about the face. The windshield of Mr. Hastings' car was shattered and a fender bent.

About two months ago an out-of-town visitor, while pulling away from the curb, struck the plug, had his windshield shattered, his axle and fender bent, and sustained cuts in the face from the flying glass.

Red Men's Carnival Attracting Crowds

Big Parade Thursday Night; Big Prizes Given Away Saturday;
Diamond Ring Winners

The Red Men and Heptasophs' Carnival which opened on the carnival grounds, next to the firehouse, last Saturday night, and will close this Saturday evening, has had very good turnouts and returns for the first three nights. Mr. William S. Armstrong, chairman of the carnival committee, is well pleased with the support that the carnival has had, and anticipates bigger nights for the balance of the carnival.

Tomorrow night will be one of the biggest nights of the affair, with a parade of Red Men, Heptasophs and Daughters of Pocahontas from lodges all over the state. There will be several bands and fife and drum corps in line. There will be cups and other prizes awarded for showing in the parade. Thursday will also be the annual Red Men's Field Day, at the Fraternal Home, Newark. A full program of events is planned for the afternoon, and in the evening the visiting Red Men will attend the carnival, and take part in the parade.

On Saturday, the closing night of the carnival, there will be a number of large and expensive prizes given away; including a Durant four sedan, a dining-room and a living suite of furniture, a rug and other articles for the home.

A beautiful diamond ring is given away each night as a ground prize. Last night Mrs. Martha Nolan, of Chesapeake City, won the ring, and Monday night, William B. Smith, of Newark, had the lucky ticket.

NEW THEATRE

It has come from reputable sources that Louis Handloff is planning a new motion picture theatre for Newark, which will be up-to-date in every way. The new theatre, it is said, will be erected on the Maxwell property, and construction will start sometime this summer. The information gives the probable cost of the building as $75,000 and the seating capacity 800. It will be planned to contain every convenience and refinement known to present construction of motion picture theatres.

PROF. BARKLEY GIVES ADDRESS

Professor James Barkley, of the faculty of the University of Delaware, was the speaker at the commencement exercises of the Havre de Grace High School last Thursday evening.

Captain O'Daniel Gets Post In Honolulu

Will Sail June 30; Was World War
Hero And U. Of D.
Athletic Star

Captain John Wilson O'Daniel, U. S. A., formerly of Newark, and who was a student at the University of Delaware at the outbreak of the world War, has been ordered to Honolulu for three years' duty. He will sail from New York, with his wife and two children, on June 30, and will go via the Panama Canal. Mrs. O'Daniel and the children will leave the Captain and go to San Francisco, where they will visit Mrs. O'Daniel's mother for a month before rejoining the Captain in Honolulu.

Captain O'Daniel has just completed the officers' training course at Camp Benning, Georgia. While at Delaware he played baseball and football. He went with the Delaware regiment to the Mexican border and at the outbreak of the World War volunteered and went over with one of the first units. He saw much fighting and was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre for bravery in action. After the armistice he was assigned to "Pershing's own regiment" as a captain and paraded in London, New York and Washington. Previous to going to Camp Benning last fall Captain O'Daniel had served three years as an instructor with the New Jersey National Guard.

PATRIOTIC SERVICES

The second of the series of union services will be held in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening at 7:30, standard time. Reverend D. W. Jacobs, pastor of the Newark Methodist Episcopal Church, will preach the sermon.

The service will be of a patriotic nature. An especial invitation is issued to the young people who are members of the junior and intermediate departments of the Sunday Schools, to meet in the new Sunday School building of the Presbyterian Church at 7:00 o'clock, standard time, where they will be presented with small American flags. They will then march through the main entrance of the church to the tune of patriotic music. There will be several special features in the evening's service, including patriotic readings and music by the choir.

NEW TEACHER AT W. C. D.

Miss Pauline Kimball will succeed Miss Marion McKinney as Assistant Professor of Biology at the Women's College, University of Delaware. She received her A. B. degree from the University of Kansas in 1919 and the doctor's degree from New York University in 1925, a part of her graduate work having been done at the University of Iowa where she was a graduate assistant. She was instructor of anatomy and physiology at the University of California, Los Angeles, for two years and was acting head of the Department of Biology at Hood College one year. She has spent one year abroad, devoting a part of her time to study and a part to travel.

COMPANY IGNORED

The Consolidated Engineering Company, of Baltimore, which is retained in a consulting capacity by the Town of Newark, was honored this week by being placed on the list of six concerns which will be invited to bid on the construction of a 31-story building to be erected by the Baltimore Trust Company, at Light and Redwood streets, Baltimore. When completed it will be the tallest building in Baltimore.

COMMERCIAL LICENSES

July 1 is the dead-line on State Manufacturing and Mercantile Licenses, and after that date a penalty of 5 per cent of the cost of the license will be assessed. After August 1, an additional 10 per cent will be assessed, and an additional 10 per cent will be added after September 1.

AT DEM. CONVENTION

Frank Collins left Saturday night for Houston, Texas, where he is one of the Delaware delegates to the Democratic National Convention. Mr. Collins was appointed, Monday, a member of the committee of permanent organization.

Two Stores to Merge

On July 1, the concerns of Hopkins and Hancock, Incorporated, and Patchell and Marshall will complete a merger and will operate under the corporate name of Hopkins, Hancock, Patchell, Marshall, Incorporated. Until July 21, they will operate in their separate establishments, and after that date will operate in the store now occupied by Hopkins and Hancock, at 71 East Main street. In the meantime extensive enlargement and alterations will be effected in the store at 71 Main street.

Both concerns have been operating parallel lines of business. Hopkins and Hancock have a complete men's furnishing store and also maintain a pressing and cleaning department. Patchell and Marshall carry a full line of haberdashery, and also maintain a French dry cleaning and pressing service as well as a complete service for dyeing and cleaning all kinds of materials and articles of wearing apparel.

The firm of Hopkins and Hancock has been in existence for sixteen months, succeeding the firm of Medill and Hopkins. It handles a complete line of men's clothing, both custom made and ready to wear.

The firm of Patchell and Marshall has been in business since January first of this year, when it bought the cleaning, pressing and dyeing business of Clements and Outten. Patchell and Marshall then added a full line of haberdashery. This store is at 45 East Main street, next to Powell's Restaurant.

The merger is looked upon as a particularly keen piece of business on the part of both concerns. Hopkins and Hancock have a large following in and around Newark in all lines of men's wear, while Patchell and Marshall, both former students at the University of Delaware, have worked up a large college trade, as well as healthy cleaning and pressing business in both Newark and Elkton. The merger allows both concerns to gain full advantage of the particular features of each business.

Junior Short Course In Session This Week

115 4-H Club Members At University For 10th Annual Course;
A. D. Cobb, Director

One hundred and fifteen boys and girls, members of 4-H Clubs throughout Delaware, arrived at the University of Delaware, yesterday, for the tenth annual Junior Short Course, which will be in session until Saturday. These club members from out of town are quartered in Harter Hall, which has been divided into girls' and boys' dormitories, both rigidly chaperoned.

A. D. Cobb, State Leader of County Agents and Director of the Junior Short Course, has arranged a full program for each of the five days of the course, and has liberally inserted recreation periods between assemblies, conferences and classes. The new University swimming pool will work under full schedule for both boys and girls. On Friday there will be a special luncheon. Many of the classes will be held at the experimental farm.

The officials and instructors of the Short Course are as follows:

Charles A. McCue, Director of Extension.

Alex. D. Cobb—State Leader of County Agents, Director of Junior Short Course.

Mrs. Helen V. McKinley, State Leader of Home Demonstration Work, Director of Girls' Demonstrations.

George M. Worrlow, County Club Agent of New Castle County, Superintendent of Boys' Dormitory.

Miss Helen L. Comstock, County Club Agent of Kent County, Superintendent of Girls' Dormitory.

SAILING PARTY

Edward Challenger, of New Castle, entertained Ida McMurray, Virginia Dameron, Tiny Hubert, William Hayes, Jr., and Floyd Hubert on a sailing party, yesterday afternoon.

AT MEDICAL SOC. OUTING

Dr. J. R. Downes and Dr. G. Burton Pearson attended the annual outing of the New Castle County Medical Association at Farnhurst, yesterday.

W. C. Creek Church Honored

White Clay Presbyterian Church will have the distinction of being represented by three delegates to the World Sunday School Convention at Los Angeles, California, from July 11 to 18. The delegates, who are Miss Elizabeth Dickey, Miss Madeline Johnston, and Miss Belle Chambers, left today at noon by the B. and O. R. R. from Wilmington. They will visit Yellowstone Park and other points of interest en route. Miss Johnston, who is a teacher in the Newark school, and Miss Dickey are teachers in the White Clay Creek Sunday School. Miss Chambers, who teaches at the Krebs School, Newport, is assistant organist at White Clay Creek Church.

Pencader Church Has 218th Anniversary

Twelfth Annual "Home Coming"
On Date Of Founding; Dr. Can-
dee And Rev. Hallman Speak;
Present Church Built In 1752

On the 218th anniversary of its founding, Pencader Presbyterian Church held its twelfth annual reunion, Sunday, under the auspices of the Pencader Cemetery Association. Even though the weather was threatening in the morning, there was a good attendance at the morning services. These anniversary celebrations of the old church were started twelve years ago and always draw quite a gathering of visitors. The present church building was erected in 1752.

The Rev. Charles L. Candee, of Wilmington, preached in the morning, taking as his text the two passages of Scripture: "These all died in the faith," and "The just can live by faith." The speaker declared that people must have faith in the hereafter and in one another. The time has come, he declared, when one must live his religion in his business contacts.

Harry Frazer, of Wilmington, had charge of the music and Professor J. T. Clymer, of Wilmington, led the special choir for the services. Mrs. Ralph Salter sang a solo and Mr. Salter and Mr. McHugh sang and played a violin obligato, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Cleaver.

During the recess many of the visitors ate lunch about the old building and renewed acquaintances. Later (Continued on Page 5.)

AETNA TO PARADE

All members of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company are urged to turn out next Monday night to take part with the company in the Firemen's parade to be held in connection with the Elkton Firemen's Carnival. The prizes this year will be in cash, and Newark has never failed to take one in the Elkton event. There will be a prize for the best appearing company and another for the company with most men in line. The Continental Band will accompany the Aetna contingent.

DR. RYDEN RETURNS

Dr. George H. Ryden has returned to the University of Delaware, where he is giving a course in history in the Summer School. Dr. Ryden has been on leave of absence since the end of the fall term, during which time he completed work for his Doctor's degree at Yale University. His essay entitled, "Foreign Policy of the United States with Reference to Samoa from 1871 to 1881," won the John Addison Porter prize of $500, the largest prize offered by Yale.

CREAMER IN NATIONAL PLAY

Fred Creamer is representing the University of Delaware at the National Collegiate Championships, being played this week at the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia. Yesterday he defeated Francis Kane, the Notre Dame star, after losing the first set. The scores were 4-6, 6-2, 6-0.

PROF. HEIM TO SPEAK

Professor R. W. Heim will attend the sessions of the American Vocational Conference, which will convene on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at Eaglesmere. On Saturday, Professor Heim will deliver an address on the subject, "Current Problems in Vocational Education."

Summer School Starts Full Social Program

Miss Kelly Gives Tea; President's Reception July 2; Longwood Trip July 18; Students Organize; Enrollment 296

During the past week, eight more students have enrolled in the University of Delaware Summer School, bringing the total enrollment up to 296, three more than the total of last year.

The first social event of the session was held Monday afternoon, when Miss Elizabeth Kelly, dean of women, gave a tea. Next Monday afternoon, at 4:30, standard time, at The Knoll, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hultihen will give a reception to the students and faculty of the Summer School. On Sunday evening vesper services will be held in the Hilarium at Residence Hall. Professor James A. Barkley will be the speaker. Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont have issued their annual invitation to the Summer School to visit Longwood, on July 18. There will be an organ recital in the afternoon, a supper and a display of the new illuminated fountains in the evening.

High School Seniors Make Handsome Gifts

Donations To School, Alumni And Ambulance; Honor Society Organizes; School Board Meets

The class of 1928 of the Newark High School has made several handsome gifts to the school and other institutions. Its gift to the school was a fourteen volume set of the Cambridge Edition of The History of English Literature, which is to be placed in the school library. The sum of $75 was given to the Newark High School Alumni Association to start an endowment fund for the support of the scholarship fund. This is to be held in trust until it amounts to $100 and then the interest is to be used for the scholarship fund. The class also made a donation to the Newark Ambulance Fund in recognition of the service of the Ambulance to the school.

The members of the Newark chapter of the National Honor Society held a meeting, recently, at which an alumni chapter was organized. Paul Pié, Jr., was elected president, and Alec Zabenko, vice-president. The members of the alumni chapter are: Paul Pié, Jr., Alec Zabenko, Wallace Newcomb, Ann Chalmers, Ruth Phelps and Jeannette Thoroughgood.

The Board of Education, Newark Special School District, held its regular monthly meeting in the public school office, Monday night. After routine business had been disposed of, the Board reviewed the finances and prepared to close the fiscal year, ending the last day of this month.

NEWARK BOYS ON TRIP

John L. Holloway, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Holloway, and Harry Draper, son of Mrs. Daniel Thompson, are in Brooklyn, New York, on the Charles E. Harwood, of the Pan-American Petroleum Company, on which boat they will work during the summer vacation. They expect to sail soon for Florida.

AMBULANCE CALLS

Mrs. Isaac Vansant was taken to the Physicians and Surgeons Hospital in the Newark ambulance, Sunday, by Horace Null and Bert Crow.

Mrs. William Sullivan was brought home from the Homeopathic Hospital last night by William Cunningham.

RETURNING TO CHINA

Miss Miriam Null, who narrowly escaped death in the rioting in Shanghai, China, last year, and after her escape, returned to this country for a vacation, is returning to her old duties at the Mary Franhams School, South Gate, Shanghai, China.

BOARD MEETING

There will be a meeting of the official board of the Newark M. E. Church at the church next Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock, standard time.

Carnival Prize On Display At Lovett's Store

Dining Room Suite Will Be Given Away

Handsome 10-Piece Suite Is Of Walnut In Adam Design

Some visitor to the Red Men and Heptasoph carnival which closes Saturday night, is going to be a very fortunate person. That is the one who wins the handsome ten-piece dining room suite now on display in the showrooms of the Lovett Furniture Company.

It is of walnut and of Adam design. In the set are a table, buffet, china closet, serving table and six chairs, each fitted with a tapestry seat cover.

When in town be sure and stop in the store and have a look at this suite, we know you will want to be the lucky one.

A livable home with usable furniture is more desirable than much art, so as to aid you in combining both we have assembled the creations of many craftsmen. We delight in suggesting suites or groups to fit your picture and your purse or we are just as willing to talk about the selection of a single piece.

Some times the shape of a room is when you might call faulty, at least when it comes to the scheme of placing the furniture.

We will be glad to assist you in assembling groupings that will make the most of the opportunity.

We have on display period suites, odd pieces, wickers, vari-toned and rich in sunlight, at prices that you will like as well as the goods.

PROVES THE QUALITY OF QUAKER STATE MOTOR OIL

"If Quaker State Oil is that clean after a thousand miles, I'm going to run fifteen hundred before having my crankcase drained," exclaimed a customer at the Highway Garage at Eastburn Heights, recently. And as a matter of fact the oil is in remarkably good condition—so good that it could be used again. Mr. Rose has the oil on exhibition as proof of Quaker State's lasting qualities.

"There's an extra quart in every gallon" is the slogan used by Quaker State, because of a super-refining process that removes an extra 25 per cent of non-viscous substance. Quaker

State is recommended by the makers of the Franklin, Willys-St. Claire and Rolls-Royce automobiles.

Mr. Rose at the Highway Garage is exclusive dealer for the territory from Wilmington past Newark.

52 HOME CONTRACTS TO ARTIFICIAL STONE CO.

Contract has been awarded to the Artificial Stone and Tile Company for all the tile work in fifty-two new homes, which will be erected at Thirty-sixth and Market streets, Wilmington, by a Philadelphia concern.

Work is to be started at once on the operation which will consist of six-room, square plan, semi-detached residences. The baths will all be in tile.

Arthur Paroni, head of the company, reports that business is unusually good, and a large force of workmen is being employed steadily. However, most of the jobs are for dwellings. A rather large project is the structure at Five Points, consisting of six stores and apartments which he is doing.

HUTCHISON COMPLETING SEVERAL BIG CONTRACTS

James G. Hutchison, local contractor, is completing several of the largest contracts on hand. Work is on the last stretch of the Dielectric Products factory at Newport, on the Gerner home in Wilmington, the Diamond Ice Station on Main street and the renovating operations on the Nicholas Johnson homestead at Farmington, where 24 men are employed.

At the Dielectric plant a shelter shed for the Brockway Burner is being completed.

Several contracts are now in hand for the laying of curbing and sidewalk. Two weeks ago Mr. Hutchison started the laying of three miles of curbing between Wilmington and Clayton, George & Lynch, contracting.

PLOENER FINDS CLUTCH TROUBLE PREVALENT

"Watch your clutch and help it along," advises Al Ploener of Ploener Auto Salvage Co., 520 South Market street, Wilmington. "Every day we have calls for used clutches and so far have been able to supply the demand."

"Remember that these new high-speed engines have given the clutch about all the work it can do. The motorist should therefore help this weak unit. Many service men maintain that there is more clutch slipping today than ever before. Anxiety to get away first in traffic is one cause of this situation.

"The modern clutch is huskier than its ancestors, still it should not be abused. Instead of trying to get a flying start by rushing into high gear, the careful driver really gets one by staying in first or second. In addition to a faster get away, he gets away with one clutch."

TURKEY DINNER JULY 1st

Years ago it was almost an unknown thing to have turkey except at Thanksgiving and Christmas time. Now you can have nearly anything regardless of the season, as you know, we all are having strawberries but strawberries can be had the year round. There are no more seasons as far as supply goes.

The Blue Hen Tea Room will serve a real turkey dinner to all guests on Sunday, July 1st. This is somewhat of a novelty for this vicinity, but to many who travel regularly, a turkey dinner at this time is not out of the ordinary.

A large number is expected, so it might be well to phone in your reservation for a table. Mrs. Reynolds has won the laurels for a tea house in this section, the location is a good one, close to downtown, yet out of the real downtown parking trouble.

You will not only find real good eating, but it will be served in a manner which will just suit you, the service being of the finest. Don't forget the date, Sunday, July 1st for the turkey dinner.

hauling large quantities of cold pack strawberries from Bridgeville and Georgetown. These berries are destined for cold storage houses in Wilmington and Philadelphia and will possibly not be used until January or February of next year when they will appear in Sundae and ice cream. An average of 150 barrels of cold pack berries is being moved northward each day.

The Bush Line Company had a very encouraging increase in business during the month of May as compared with a year ago for the same month. The volume of increase over last May was 22 per cent.

HIGHWAYS AS PUBLIC UTILITIES

Highways should be considered as public utilities, on an equal basis with railroads, telephones and electric light and power systems, said Walter J. Woodall, Editor of the Industrial Index, recently. "Highways that have been properly mined are earning dividends, and extra dividends," he stated.

The American Flag

God pity the American citizen who does not love the flag;
who does not see in it the story of our great and free institutions
—the hope of the home as well as the nation.—Benjamin Harrison.

Exchanging Time

Everything we use represents someone's time expended to produce it.

Land, including natural resources, and labor are the two ultimate factors in every grapefruit we eat, every ride we take on the train, every gallon of gasoline we use in our cars, every piece of clean clothing we wear and throw casually into the hamper, every hour that we burn the electric-light bulb, every book we read, every newspaper we skim through, every play we see. We are eating, wearing, burning, reading, listening to somebody's time, somebody's life.

That we should do this, of course, what industrial civilization is, an incredibly elaborate arrangement for the exchanging of bits of time with people all over the world, instead of each using his own time to support his own existence.—Ruth Cameron in London (Ont.) Free Press.

Advertising Helps Credit

There is one way by which a business man's credit is improved, and that is by a policy of consistent advertising. Bank men believe in advertising, for they know it pays. Their feeling, therefore, is that when a merchant who is a good advertiser applies for a loan, a reasonable amount of goods bought by him on credit is likely to be turned over quickly and promptly paid for,
on account of his method of keeping his goods constantly before the public. Discriminating buyers of every class know that they can get fresh goods from the store that advertises. The merchant who advertises seldom has shop-worn goods. And in that way advertising helps the merchant's credit, not only with the banks, but with his customers. And one is just as important as the other.—Oshawa Times.

An Obligo to the Three R's

Ethel Wilson in The Wilmington Sunday Star

Memorizing poetry is not a part of the school curriculum in my classroom. Inspiration has put it there.
Suddenly it has glided into the bits of time when attendance is being taken morning and afternoon. Into the time when addresses and time lost by absentees are being recorded for the office.

Boys and girls take turns writing
the stanzas on the board while the others look on and make copies. The poems are ones that I have always loved—have known a line here and one or two there and longed to memorize the whole but time was ever wanting. How easy now with the spirit of a class to set the pace! They feel that they have a good chance
as I to win. I have not out-distanced them at the start. We talk the stanza over, making it apply to us and lo! in next to no time, the poem is singing melody into the old theme, routine. It has become an obligato so beautiful that you can imagine a voice or the strains of a violin or cello in the room.

You remember Longfellow's experience:

"Long, long afterward, in an oak
I found the arrow, still un-
broke;
And the song, from beginning
to end,
I found again in the heart of a friend."

Contrary to these lines little friends have appeared at once. Poems like songs have found their way into our hearts. This glowing message came the day "The House by the Side of the Road" was flashed on the board.

Dear Miss W.—Please forgive me for not writing sooner but I hadn't a thing to write about but now I have. That poem about
"Let me live by the side of the road and be a friend to man" is beautiful and if it were not too much trouble would you lend me
that other one that Louis wrote
on the board, "Hast thou named all the birds without a gun? Loved the woodrose and left it on its stalk?" I didn't have time to study or copy it. I'll thank you a thousand times for it for I love
to recite poems while I dry the dishes for mother.

Your loving pupil,
FANNIE.

Somehow there has sprung up between us a bond so strong that we seem to have a joy life. I think of the girls and boys in terms poems

and when I read a captivating lyric or learn a song I want to pass it on to them.

The other day I was looking among papers and letters and in my old,
towering secretary found three calendars. Two of them had stanzas for each week of the year. Stevenson's, VanDyke's, Tennyson's poetic thoughts were there arrayed with dozens of others about the sunlit road
and the glories and hopes of life and the out-of-doors.

I couldn't bring myself to throw those lines away. They had helped me leap "From the dust of the day's long road to a laughing star." I thought of my folks at school and decided to have them cut the sentiments from the dated pages. All were anxious to help. We passed the collection to every boy and girl and each chose the thought he liked best. Walter, who seems always to be looking
off into space found,

"The world is so full of a number of things,
I am sure we should all be as happy as kings."

Manly, little Charles, earnest and conscientious, singled out Tennyson's
"Man am I grown, a man's work must I do." Willard, impulsive and high strung, who is cook and housekeeper
at his home, discovered,

"The year's at the spring,
The day's at the morn
Morning's at seven, the hill-
side's dew-pearled
The lark's on the wing
The snail's on the thorn
God's in His heaven
All's right with world."

This tribute to poetry came one day
from Emily:

Dear Miss W.—I think it would be nice if every Friday, the third period, we had study of poems because we have no particular study
then. If we have home work we can do it on Saturday or Sunday
and we can have it done for Monday. I just love poetry but I can't make up any.

Your pupil,

Then Cora's sweet note I found in
the Treasure Box:

Dear Miss W.—I believe you love poetry. My grandmother and aunt know a poem called "Phoe-be." It is very pretty and I am going to ask one of them to write it for me. They learned it when they were in school. It says dear Miss W. I will send it for you.

Yours truly,

The first morning of spring as I entered our room, I began to recite,
"May is building her house.
With apple blossoms
She is roofing over the glimmering rooms;
Of the oak and the beech
Hath she builded its beams."

et cetera. You know those lines of Richard Le Gallienne which make you see Apple Blossom Sundays and Peach and Apple Blossom Festivals, woodlands and lakes, Quarts and Rousseaus, stirring you so that you wish you could sing an answer, I went on to the end of the poem and most of the boys and girls stopped their work to listen.

Later on that day Anna dropped a note into the Treasure Box. This was the request: "Dear Miss W.: I would like to learn the poem, 'May is building her house.'"

I brought the Little Book of Modern Verse to school and she copied the poem in her beautiful hand, ending
with these magical lines:
"From October's tossed and trodden gold

She is making the young year out
of the old;

Yea: out of winter's flying sleet
She is making all the summer sweet,
And the brown leaves spurned of November's feet

She is changing back again to spring's."

Anna is a quiet little Polish girl.
Father Time has recorded her age as thirteen. She lives with her mother, her father and a younger brother and sister in a long-drawn-out house close by the railroad and not far from the marsh. The clock struck four the afternoon I called. Anna noticed it and though introducing me to a member of the household who has just stepped into the room, she explained
at once, "That clock hasn't any minutes."

On Saturdays Anna and her mother
go with a cart to the marsh for driftwood. She wears her father's heavy boots. They fit exactly.

"Will you let me go with you to gather drift-wood one day?" I asked.
"There is no path where you can walk." A wistful smile accompanied the answer.

Anna knows the poem now and I like to think that May in building,
lets fall now and then a beam of oak
to go floating down to the marsh and Anna.

DELAWARE APPLE CROP

In a report compiled and issued by W. T. Derickson, director of the Bureau of Markets, Delaware State Board of Agriculture, the indications point to a larger crop this year than in 1927. Mr. Derickson's report is as follows:

"From present indications, apples
will begin to move in carloads soon
after the Fourth of July; however,
many growers and shippers do not expect to begin shipping in quantity until the week of July 9. Considering both early and late varieties, it is estimated that the crop will be 10
to 12 per cent greater than last year.
Shipments of early apples will probably not exceed last year, and many growers feel that they will be lighter.
Size, color, and quality should be excellent. 1355 cars of apples were shipped by rail from Delaware during 1927, and a 10 per cent increase indicates a total shipment of approximately 1500 cars this year. The total shipment during 1926 were over 2000
cars.

"Do not forget the Marking or Branding Law, which requires that all closed packages of apples, sold or offered for sale in Delaware, must be marked or branded in letters not less than one-half inch in height with owner's name and address, the true
variety, the minimum size or range of sizes and the grade; also, that the shown surface must fairly represent
the contents of the package, the color accepted. Penalty for not marking or branding in accordance with this law is a fine of from $25 to $100 for each offense.

"Be sure that you have provided yourself with the necessary rubber stamps in order that you may not be delayed when the shipping season starts. It will not be necessary for you to have stamps showing the grade, provided your apples are officially inspected as the Bureau of Markets furnishes the grade stamps on inspected shipments. Last year more than 80 per cent of all the early apples shipped from Delaware were officially inspected, and indications are that even more will be inspected this year."

Of the whole sum of human life no small part is that which consists of a man's relations to his country, and his feelings concerning it.—Gladstone.

To persevere in one's duty, and to be silent is the best answer to calumny.—George Washington.

COMBINE HARVESTERS

For the many farmers who are considering the advisability of buying
the new combine harvesters, a bulletin
from the U. S. Department of Agriculture has been issued. A copy of this bulletin, entitled "Shall I Buy a Combine?" has been received by Acting County Agent Ed William, Jr., of Newark.

"The information in this circular," says Mr. William, "relates to the economics of the use of the new combine as compared with the older method of threshing with a stationary outfit. The bulletin should carry considerable information to the farmers of the Middletown area, especially, because of the large acreage of wheat grown in the lower part of the county."

Some of the pertinent facts taken from the bulletin which should interest any man thinking of buying one
are given here for our readers:

Small grains, soy beans, clovers,
grain sorghums, and other crops have been harvested and threshed successfully with combines. Combines can also be used for stationary threshing.
The advantages of the combine in comparison with other methods of harvesting and threshing are the lower costs per acre, the saving of labor, the eliminating of transient labor, the early clearing of fields for tillage operations, the distribution of the straw on the land, and getting the grain to market earlier. The disadvantages are the large investment required, the large amount of power required, the greater risk of crop loss
from storms, and the difficulty of saving the straw for feed and bedding. Combines ordinarily range in size from machines which cut an 8-foot swath to those which cut a 24-foot swath. A 10-foot combine cuts 20 to 25 acres a day and a 15-foot combine 30 to 35 acres or more. Combines cost from $1,000 to $3,000 and require 6 to 12
horses or tractors of from 9 to 20
draw-bar horsepower. The smallest combine should not be purchased for harvesting much less than 100 acres annually. For smaller acreages other methods will usually be more economical. Harvesting and threshing losses need be no greater with combines than with other methods of harvesting and usually are less.

WHICH COMES FIRST.

PARTY OR RIGHT.

Is it not strange? We read in the press again and again that the Democrats of Utah are favorable to a certain presidential candidate who is favorable to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. And this, notwithstanding the fact that the Democratic Party in Utah stood for statewide prohibition in 1910, 1912, 1914, and 1916, carrying the State in 1916 on prohibition as the paramount issue. True to its pledge, the party in 1917 enacted a state-wide bonedry
prohibition law. Further, a Utah Legislature subsequently unanimously (if I remember rightly) ratified the proposed Eighteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

After all of this, can it be that the Democratic Party in Utah will stand for a presidential candidate who would nullify the stand it took on prohibition? Well, some of us whose voices were raised in behalf of party success in 1912, 1914, and 1916 will certainly use our influence to defeat
any candidate for President who would favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.—J. F. Merrill, in The Desert News (Salt Lake City.)

THE BOOK OF JOB

They had many Prophets, these Arabs; Teachers such to his tribe,
each according to the light he had.
But indeed, here we not from of old
the noblest of prophets, still palpable
to every one of us, of what devout-ness and nobleness had dwelt
in these rustic thoughtful peoples?
Biblical critics seem agreed that our Book of Job was written in that region of the world. I call that, snatched from all theories about it, one of the grandest things ever written with pen. One feels, indeed, as if it were not Hebrew; such a noble universality, different from noble patriotism or sectarianism, reigns in it. A noble Book; all men's Book! It is our first, oldest statement of the Problem—man's destiny, and God's ways with him here in this earth.
And all in such free flowing outlines;
grand in its sincerity, in its simplicity in its epic melody, and repose of reconciliation. There is the seeing eye, the mildly understanding heart.
So true everywhere; true eyesight
and vision for all things; material things no less than spiritual; the Horse—"hast thou clothed his neck with thunder?"—he laughs at the shaking of the spirit! Such living likenesses were never since drawn.
Sublime sorrow, sublime reconciliation; oldest choral melody as of the heart of mankind;—so soft, and great; as the summer midnight, as the world with its seas and stars!
There is nothing written, I think, in the Bible or out of it, of equal literary merit.—Thomas Carlyle, in "On Heroes and Hero-worship."

PLACES PLAIN

Take it for granted that the average man you meet is a kind and decent soul and your well-wisher, and you won't make many mistakes. This attitude will also smooth out many rough spots on the road.—St. Marys

Mrs. Ida Buttle and Miss Gladys Buttle, of Fargo, North Dakota, spent last week here with Mrs. Buttle's sister, Mrs. T. F. Manns.

Mr. and Mrs. George Evans, of Wilmington; Mrs. Carrie Deeth, of Philadelphia; and Joseph Deeth, of Germantown, Pa., were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Evans.

Edwin de H. Steel spent last week-end at his home in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. McKirachan and son, Raymond, of Kennett Square, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Busby, of Atlantic City, spent from Thursday until Saturday of last week here with her sister, Miss Beulah Thompson, on Orchard Road.

The Humes Griers will spend the month of July at Rehoboth Beach.

Mrs. C. A. McCue entertained a few friends at bridge on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Armand Durant, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Evans and Wallace Evans motored to New York City today, and will attend the wedding there in the chapel of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church of C. Rulon Dare, of New Brunswick, New Jersey, and Miss Mary T. Richardson, of Bordentown, New Jersey. Mr. Dare is the son of Mrs. and the late Dr. J. Rulon Dare, formerly of this town. He is a graduate of the University of Delaware of the class of 1924. He is now superintendent of the Seroda Plant at New Brunswick.

Friends here have received the announcement of the marriage at "Perry Hall", Talbot County, Maryland, of Miss Elizabeth Douglas Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Poulson Fletcher, of Wilmington, to Walter Dent Smith, of the same city. Mr. Smith was graduated from the University of Delaware in 1923. He is secretary of the Delaware Safety Council.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Rankin and Miss Beulah Thompson motored to Atlantic City on Monday morning, where they will spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Brown, of Cecilton, Maryland, were recent dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman W. Stradley, West Main street.

FLAG, BIBLE PRESENTED TO SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Sunday School of the Presbyterian Church was presented with an American flag by American Flag Council, No. 28, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, and a pulpit Bible by Mrs. Florence Strahorn last Sunday. The members of the council attended in a body and were escorted to their seats by the Rev. H. E. Hallman, Superintendent H. K. Preston and Assistant Superintendent R. W. Heim. There was an excellent musical program.

Mr. Preston spoke of the visit of the council and State Vice-Councillor Henry M. Mote responded. The principal speaker was Deputy National Councillor Charles H. Sempkens, of New York, who spoke on the subjects of the order, which is the strongest patriotic order in the country. He alluded to the fact that 137 Congressmen are members and only Americans can hold membership. He then presented the flag, which was received by R. W. Heim on behalf of the Sunday School.

Neal Smith, chaplain of the council, closed the exercises, and the members then went to the church.

Leaving Mother In Doubt

"Did you behave in school?" asked Junior's mother after his first day at school.

"I did, Mother," replied the boy. "I heard my teacher say to the principal that the never saw a child behave so."

Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Myers, entertained sixteen of her young friends at a birthday party at her home last Thursday afternoon.

WEDDINGS

DENNISON-MITCHELL

Today, at noon, Miss Sarah E. Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. Ella Mitchell, of Hockessin, was married to Mr. John H. Dennison, head of the Dennison Motor Company, of Newark, at the Presbyterian parsonage, at Hockessin. The Reverend J. D. Blake performed the ceremony.

The Dennisons left at once for a honeymoon of about ten days, after which they will return to Hockessin. They plan later to move to Newark.

H. E. TIFFANY WINS CUP FOR WOODMAN LODGE

Harold E. Tiffany, city chemist of Wilmington, received a silver loving cup at a public meeting Monday night of Wilmington Camp, No. 9555 Modern Woodmen of America, in their rooms in Pythian Castle. Mr. Tiffany enrolled the largest number of members for the order during the year.

The cup was accepted on behalf of the lodge by the State Counsel, Francis B. Callahan. Last year the lodge was awarded the banner which was the prize for the same achievement. It was decided at that time to make the reward greater and this year the cup was the prize. It will remain in possession of the lodge for one year.

S. C. A. Rubey, of Newark, N. J., State manager of the organization for New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia, made a short address of congratulation. Following the meeting refreshments were served and a program of entertainment given.

Pencader Church

The Pencader Cemetery Association held a meeting with Charles B. Evans, the president, presiding. Miss Janvier, the secretary, recommended that a new home be provided for the sexton, as his present home is in bad condition. No action was taken.

With clearer weather in the afternoon the services at that time were largely attended. The speaker at this service was the Rev. H. E. Hallman, of Newark. Professor Baker, of Newark, and the Rev. Vaughan S. Collins, of Delaware City, took part in the services.

Music at the afternoon service was furnished by a quartet composed of Mrs. Annabel Groves, soprano; Mrs. Carolyn Conly Cann, contralto; Lewis Munger, bass, and J. T. Clymer, tenor. Miss Groves and Mrs. Cann also sang a duet, accompanied by Miss F. Viola Moffitt. Mrs. Mary Gonce Frazer was the organist for the congregational singing at both services. The Rev. John McMurray, pastor of the church, presided at the meetings.

DEMAND AND SUPPLY

"There was no conscious need of motorcars," wrote a world-famous manufacturer in an advertisement, "until we first conceived it"; and the sentence sums up one of the most characteristic and novel features of our present civilization. Formerly it was demand that created supply; now it is supply that creates demand.

On the sweet uses of advertisement rest the foundations of most of the distinctive phenomena of the twentieth century, in its material aspect, at any rate.—London Morning Post.

President's Cup Final Won By Paul F. Pie

S. H. Stradley Takes Newark Club Championship Medal With 75; Turner Ties For Medal In Wilmington C. C. Tournament

Paul F. Pie, Sr., won the President's Cup in the final round of that event, played Saturday, at the Newark Country Club. C. A. McCue was runner-up, losing to Pie, 2 down. Charles Pie, a son of the winner, came out on top in the second sixteen of the President's Cup matches, defeating Dr. E. B. Crooks, 4 and 3.

The qualifying round for the club championship was played Saturday and S. H. Stradley, Jr., took the medal with a sparkling 75. Charles Pie was second with 81. The first round in both sixteen will be completed by next Saturday.

On Sunday, H. A. Turner won the silver spoon for low gross score with a 56. Last week in the Wilmington Country Club Invitation Tournament, which attracted first flight golfing talent from all over this part of the country, Turner tied for the qualifying medal with W. B. Denham, of Wilmington, each shooting 75. Turner was eliminated in the first round by T. G. Aycock, of Florida, who eventually won the tournament, putting Denham out in the final. However, Turner had the consolation of taking the prize in the defeated eight for the first sixteen. Other members of the Newark Country Club, who qualified in the Wilmington Country Club Invitation Tournament were: E. B. Wright, P. B. Myers, S. H. Stradley, J. P. Armstrong, C. O. Houghton, F. C. Houghton and C. A. McCue.

JERSEY CLUB SHOW AT COLLEGE FARM, AUG. 25

The meeting of the show committee of the Eastern Shore Jersey Cattle Club was held Saturday, June 16, at the farm of J. Wirt Willis, near Glasgow. Six members of the committee were present, as well as the New Castle County Agent Ed Millin, Jr., of Newark.

At the former meeting of this committee it was decided to hold a show at Newark on August 25. This show is to be held at the Experimental Farm of the University of Delaware at Newark and will be under direct supervision of this Cattle Club.

At the meeting, Saturday, it was decided to have 15 classes of animals. Among these will be classes for boys and girls calf club members, grand champion cow, grand champion bull, get sire, and others. The complete number of classes will be sent to any breeder of registered Jersey cattle who is a member of the Eastern Shore Jersey Cattle Club, by the Secretary of the club. It is expected that all of the classes will be well filled. Cups and ribbons will be awarded to the winners in all respective classes. The winners in the boys' and girls' club classes will probably also receive cash money prizes.

After attending the meeting the County Agent made this statement, "This show should be a good opportunity for any Jersey breeder to exhibit his animals. 4-H Club members of the State with Jersey calves will welcome this chance of showing their animals in competition with other club members of the Eastern Shore Peninsula.

If any Jersey breeder is interested in this show the County Agent will be glad to help him get in touch with the club officials who will send him the catalog and proper entry blanks.

THE PROPER CARE OF A PERMANENT WAVE

No matter what type of permanent wave you may have, you can obtain better results and appearance by giving it the proper care and attention. Mrs. Elizabeth Auger, who conducts Auger's Beauty Shoppe at 343 Main street, Newark, in the following article gives what her experience has proved to be the best methods for caring for a permanent wave. In giving permanent waves, Mrs. Auger uses the Frederic machine, with the Frederic Vita-Tonic Compound Process. This method is far in advance of most processes in that it actually enhances the natural beauty and lustre of the hair. Mrs. Auger's methods for the care of the wave after it is put in are as follows:

"The best permanent wave can be easily spoiled if proper care is not given it. Always comb the hair in place of brushing. Shampoo the hair every other week, using soft water and a mild soap such as Castile. Avoid all patented liquid and powder shampoos as they may contain injurious chemicals.

Legion Notes

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the seducery of both classes and masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good-will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

Preamble of the Constitution of the American Legion.

Legionaires, don't forget the parade in Kennett Square, Thursday evening, July 5th. Everybody out as we want to make a hundred per cent showing—six o'clock, standard time, in front of the Academy Building.

A movement is under way whereby the Legion Post will sponsor the local Boy Scout Troop.

Comrades Brewer, Fader and Brimser were elected delegates to the State Convention at Rehoboth Beach, July 20th and 21st. Comrades Baker, Note and Dickey were elected alternates.

"When the hair is dry and the front and side put up, take a fine comb, dip it in warm water and comb until the waves show and match up. Then set the waves with your fingers, pressing them deeper and closer together. Water waving combs are helpful if set while hair is moist. But do not remove them till hair is thoroughly dried.

"A little brilliantine will now make the waves lie more flat, and should be applied also to the ends of the hair by rubbing between the hands. This should be done two or three times a week, or daily if the hair has a tendency to dryness.

"For hair of fine texture which does not show up the permanent wave well, fluffiness may be obtained by steaming it over a tea kettle. This, in fact, tends to tighten any wave.

"As in the case with naturally curly hair, moisture tends to wave and dryness to straighten. So dampen the hair when dressing it, shaping the waves with your fingers.

"We recommend a water-wave or finger-wave once in two weeks."—Adv.

notes. All Legionaires are welcome to attend. Let's all go—what do you say?

The High School graduating class presented Comrade Brimser with a new automobile, and some one said that he could not get it started was the reason he wasn't at the meeting Tuesday evening. He hates to walk now.

Legion caps and buttons may now be purchased by Legionaires at any time from Finance Officer, Lester Souten, at the Farmers' Trust Company.

A certain Legionaire's wife told me that she was not going to permit her husband to go around town selling flags after eleven o'clock at night. That gives all of us a new idea. It's much easier to work selling flags in the evenings (late).

The American Legion, with the aid of one of our councilmen, has made application to the War Department for a German Cannon or War trophy to be placed in front of the Academy Building. We earnestly hope there will be a favorable reply from Washington in the near future.

It is reported that Comrade Lovett wore his new Legion cap to work the other morning. All right. Good advertisement for the Legion!

Dr. I. Jones says he has seen many during the War that any other man in the Post, but hopes they are all alive and well now. (He appropriately one of those hypodermic doctors or "squirty guys.") Come along to see us, Doc!

We want 75 men in line in the Legion parade during the Fourth of July, July 31st. If every member would bring in his new member this month we would have them in line everybody bring in the new ones. What do you say, members—bring 'em!

We congratulate the Elton Post on their new Bugle and Drum Corps and we expect to see them in the parade next month. Good work, buddies. Keep it up! —Orville Little Legionaires, don't forget the parade in Kennett Square, Thursday evening, July 5th. Everybody out as we want to make a hundred per cent showing—six o'clock, standard time, in front of the Academy Building.

A movement is under way whereby the Legion Post will sponsor the local Boy Scout Troop.

Comrades Brewer, Fader and Brimser were elected delegates to the State Convention at Rehoboth Beach, July 20th and 21st. Comrades Baker, Note and Dickey were elected alternates.

"When the hair is dry and the front and side put up, take a fine comb, dip it in warm water and comb until the waves show and match up. Then set the waves with your fingers, pressing them deeper and closer together. Water waving combs are helpful if set while hair is moist. But do not remove them till hair is thoroughly dried.

AS TOLD BY OUR CORRESPONDENTS

Marshallton

On June 26 the St. Barnabas Guild and the Bible Class gave a banquet on the church lawn. There were speakers: Bishop Phillip Cook, Rev. Ernest W. Brink, Frederick Brinkhurst and Edward Elhart. There were 50 present.

Miss John Foard, Mrs. George Muller and Mrs. Herbert Thorne have returned home from attending the State Federation of Women's Clubs Convention held at Rehoboth, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pyle and son, of Woodling, W. Va., are spending some time with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pyle.

Mrs. Henry Bongman celebrated her 81st birthday on Tuesday, she received many cards and gifts. Although an invalid, Mrs. Bongman is known for her cheerful disposition. A friend has named her home "The Sunshine House." Mr. Bongman is in his 81st year. They will soon celebrate their 54th wedding anniversary. They have three children living—Mrs. James Longstaff, Mrs. Ellsworth Longland and Mr. William Bongman, also six grandchildren.

Mrs. Mary Macpherson visited Mrs. Howard McCully, of Newark, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Broadbent, Mrs. Winfield Speakman and Mrs. R. W. Broadbent motored to Ocean City, Md., on Tuesday.

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Heavilow, Mrs. Devonshire, Mrs. Greenplate, Mrs. Viola Ewing, of Ivy Crow Temple of Newark, visited Columbia Temple No. 1, Ladies of Golden Eagle of Marshallton.

The Summer Bible School, which is being held at Ocean City, Md., this week, have quite a number from Marshallton. Among them are Misses Roberta Foard, Lois Crouch, Winfield Broadbent, Margaret Stoops, Evelyn Smith, Elizabeth Boyd, Anna Boyd, Florence Groves, Edward Elhart, Eden Jones and the Rev. Ernest Rieh.

Christiana

Regular services were held in both the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches on Sunday, the former in the forenoon, and the latter in the afternoon.

Next Sunday afternoon, July first, at 2 o'clock, standard time, the quarterly communion service will be held in the Presbyterian Church.

The social of the Christiana M. E. Church will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mason, on the Hare's Corner road.

On Tuesday evening of next week, July third, the regular business and social session of the Christiana Improvement Association will be held in School Hall.

The local lodge of the Knights of the Golden Eagle initiated a large number of candidates for membership at their regular meeting last Monday evening. The Christiana lodge appears to be in a prosperous condition, and is surely a "growing concern."

The Boy Scouts also, under the leadership of Mr. A. Durrell Vincent, continue to meet regularly. While they are not especially strong in numbers, they are an ambitious group, and have been able to accomplish considerable good in the community.

The carnival held last week by the Improvement Association, was hampered by most wretched weather conditions, not being able to open up at all for business on one or two nights. As a result, it has been decided to hold the carnival over, and to light up the grounds ready for business every night this week. The association is working for a most worthy object, their aim being to raise sufficient funds to maintain the electric street-lights during the coming year.

Two evenings last week Mrs. W. S. Hill, teacher of the upper room in the local school, served a cafeteria supper at very moderate prices. In this way quite a neat sum was netted and turned over to the carnival treasurer to help swell the general fund.

Everybody is asked to bear in mind the fact that the Christiana Improvement Society's carnival is being held all this week!

The Christiana Fire Company is trying out several new fire-engines, with the idea of replacing their little Ford with something more powerful.

Elkton and Neighboring Towns

Misses Helen and Margaret Sleight, of York Town, Va., are spending some time with Misses Katherine and Miriam Karl.

Mrs. Annie Ford has returned to Baltimore after spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Pierson.

The Willing Workers of Elkton Methodist Episcopal Church are being entertained this evening by Mrs. Harry W. Pippin, at Charlestown.

Misses Eva Schneidt and Clara Karl, of Germantown, Pa., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Karl.

Mrs. D. Roy Perkins and daughter, Lorene, are spending several days at Frederick, Maryland.

Plans are being made by the official board of the Elkton M. E. Church to make extensive improvements to their church.

Everett Hinton, the Negro who was sentenced by Magistrate Owens, of North East, to six months in the Maryland House of Correction, on the charge of wife beating, and who last week escaped from the Elkton jail with another prisoner, and was recaptured near Jackson Station, was taken to the Baltimore institution Friday. Matthew Coleman, of Cleveland, Ohio, sentenced to three months in the same institution for driving a car into the safety gates of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Elkton, was also taken there the same day.

as well as more pretentious in appearance. Each engine in turn is taken down to the creek, and its various merits and accomplishments demonstrated to a crowd of admiring men and boys.

Members of the State Police force made several arrests at the Four Corners last Sunday evening. The victims were all motorists who failed to obey the traffic law which insists that all drivers must come to a full stop before crossing or entering upon a main state highway. There have been a number of serious accidents at this particular spot, and it will no doubt prove beneficial to have an example made of a few of the reckless drivers, who are such a menace to traffic everywhere.

Mrs. Rachel Appleby Davis, one of the former well-known residents of this community, has recently returned to her home at Bear Station, after a prolonged visit with her daughter, Mrs. George Messick, of Philadelphia. Since her return, Mrs. Davis has been confined to her home by illness.

Miss Martha Morris, of Newark, and Miss Dorothea Rothwell, of Harmony, were guests of Miss Ruth Phelps last week.

Little Miss Ellen Moody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Moody, of Bear Station, spent several days last week with her aunt, Mrs. George W. Davis, at her home on the hill.

Harry, Alfred and Ella Mae McClary and Rachel and Sylvia Phelps were among the guests at a party given in honor of the ninth birthday of Master Charles Cranston, at his mother's home, Lovett avenue, Newark.

Miss Florence M. Appleby spent the week-end as the guest of Superintendent and Mrs. Stafford at the Masonic Home.

Miss Katherine Phelps has taken a position for the summer with the Curtis Publishing Company, in Philadelphia.

Joseph H. Calch, of North East, was truck and instantly killed at Charlestown railroad station on Sunday by a Pennsylvania express train. He was about 80 years of age and very active. Mr. Calch was warned not to cross the track ahead of a fast approaching train, but thinking he had plenty of time, did not heed the warning. His funeral will be held Thursday.

Cecil County Tax Rate $1.42

The Board of County Commissioners for Cecil county made the annual levy and fixed the county tax rate for the ensuing fiscal year at $1.42 on the $100, which is a reduction of 13 cents in the rate, compared with the year just closing.

The State tax rate will be 25.64 cents on the $100, which is also a reduction of two cents compared with the present year. The lower tax rate was made possible by tentative assessment of about $4,000,000 on the Conowingo dam, one-half of which is in Cecil county.

The items in the levy are as follows: Roads and bridges, $70,000; town appropriations, $2500; roads and bridges general, $1500; County Commissioners Court, $12,500; county buildings, $5,000; Board of Health, $3800; elections, $4500; incidentals, $8,000; bailiffs and crier, $900; outside insane, $10,000; Poor and Insane, $5,000; Circuit Court counsel fees, $3,000; stenographer, $700; miscellaneous, $1,000; constables, $500; Orphans' Court, $1500; Paupers, $400; public schools, $210,000; supervisor of assessments, $1800; county agent, $2,832; new assessments, $2,000; interest on bonds, $31,500; outside pensions, $100; inquisitions, $2,500; reductions and insolvencies, $3500; Union Hospital, $1600; sinking fund, $13,000; auditors, $2,000; contingent fund, $6,780.03; redemption of school bonds, $5,000; cattle testing, $1,262.67; dredging Elk river, $1500; Children's Welfare Society, $2,500; Appleton road, $5000. Total, $431,274.70.

The taxable basis is as follows: Real and personal property, $29,373,370 at $1.42 will yield $417,101.85; securities, $3,682,616 at 30 cents $1100, will yield $1,104,785; bank stock, $625,000 at 50 cents of $100, will yield $3,125, or a total of $431,274.70.

HARMONY GRANGE

During the business hour at Harmony Grange on Monday evening, plans for a festival during the month of August were discussed. A committee of five to make arrangements was appointed, with Walter Scott as chairman.

It was voted to send the lecturer of Harmony Grange, Miss Emeline Derrickson, to the Lecturers' Conference at Ithaca in August.

A report was made of the giving of the fifth degree at Smyrna on Saturday evening by the New Castle County Fifth Degree Team, Mrs. Nellie F. Snyder, of Newport, as captain. It was voted to suspend the meetings of the Grange during harvest, until August 6.

The program was in charge of the lecturer, and was entirely impromptu. Every member present was called on, and those who failed to respond were warned that they will be expected to respond at the first meeting in August.

The hospitality committee gave a treat of marshmallows.

Poultrymen Mistake Importance of Hens

Delaware poultrymen that pullets in their first year are more profitable than hens. Many farmers systematically sell their old hens every year and replace them with pullets that have not been culled at all. This is a serious mistake, because many hens in the average flock could be kept with more profit than some of the pullets that are used to replace them. A far better plan is to keep the best hens and cull the pullets more carefully.

About 40 per cent of the Delaware farm poultry flock should be hens, and 40 per cent early hatched pullets which have been grown under favorable condition and carefully culled throughout the growing period. The selection of hens to be carried over should be made on the basis of actual quality, health, production, etc., rather than upon age alone which seems to be the present practice.

Reports of production in the Delaware Farm Egg Record Club for the years November 1, 1925 to October 31, 1926, and November 1, 1926 to October 31, 1927, present some interesting data in regard to the relative values of pullets and hens for egg production.

During the year 1925-26, the average egg production per pullet was 141. The average production per hen was 134.4, a difference of 16.6 eggs per bird in favor of the pullets.

During the year 1926-27, the average pullet production was 155.7, the average hen production 134.4, a difference of 21.3 eggs per bird in favor of the pullets.

That pullets are superior to hens in number of eggs produced cannot be questioned. There are, however, a number of other factors which should be considered in deciding upon the relative percentages of hens and pullets to be carried in the farm flock.

A larger number of pullets than hens will be removed from the flock during the year because of death or culling on account of poor condition and production. During the year 1925-27, 48.2 per cent of the pullets were removed while only 41.6 per cent of the hens were taken out for the same reasons. If egg production is based on the number of fowls at the beginning of the year, the average production per pullet is found to be 117.4 while the average production per hen is 111.4, a difference of only six eggs per bird.

Pullet eggs have a lower market value than hen eggs because of their size. It usually requires a period of two to four months after the first egg before a pullet produces eggs of normal size. Whether a definite distinction between hen and pullet eggs is made in marketing or not, the pullet eggs tend to pull down the average price so that the apparent advantage of increased numbers is often over balanced by the lower price received.

It costs money and time to grow a pullet to productive age. The higher the percentage of hens carried in the farm flock, the fewer chicks are required. This is an item of considerable importance on the busy farm. The higher the percentage of hens, the greater opportunity for culling pullets. The average production of both hens and pullets can be greatly improved by more careful culling of the pullets during the growing period.

Generally eggs from hens produce much better chicks than eggs from pullets. This fact is realized by every commercial hatchery. The hatchery industry in Delaware has grown rapidly during the past five years and has created a home market for millions of Delaware eggs at a substantial premium over top Philadelphia quotations. This phase of the poultry industry in Delaware promises to make further growth as the quality of Delaware chicks becomes better known. There is an increasing demand for hatching eggs of good quality, especially for eggs from hens of the heavy birds for fall and winter broilers. Some of the commercial hatcherymen are talking of paying a bonus on hen eggs to encourage the keeping of more hens.

Poultry Judging Schools

For the benefit of poultrymen who are interested in learning more about the subject of practical culling and selection of breeders, the Extension Department of the University of Delaware is arranging to conduct five poultry judging schools in the State during the month of August. These schools will be located in the communities that show the best interest and guarantee the largest regular attendance. Each school will continue for two days.

One big reason why some poultrymen are more prosperous than others is because they examine their birds frequently and keep the culls picked out of their flocks. They are able to do this because of the discovery of certain points that makes it possible to distinguish between good layers and poor layers by a close physical examination. It is a simple matter to learn what these points are but considerable study and practice is needed to enable one to do accurate judging.

The Delaware State Poultry Association has had 100 pullets trapped for use in these schools. These pullets will be used for practice judging and final examinations. The Delaware State Board of Agriculture is planning to allow two of their expert cullers to assist in giving practical instruction at each of these schools.

Each person who attends a school will pay a tuition fee of one dollar. The poultrymen in each community where a school is held must furnish the hall and electric lights. It costs about $60.00 for a Delaware poultryman to attend a school of this kind at Cornell University.

Poultrymen who would like to have one of these schools located in their community should write their County Agent by July 1st, in order that he may know how many in each community are interested.

The information in this letter was furnished by H. S. Palmer, Extension Poultryman, University of Delaware.

Lodge Notes

GRAND OFFICERS VISIT ANCHOR LODGE

Anchor Lodge, No. 4, Ancient Order United Workmen held a regular meeting last Thursday evening, with Grand Master Workman Howard P. McCall, Grand Recorder C. B. Prettyman and Grand Field Manager Joseph T. Smith and other visitors from Wilmington present.

A feature of the evening was the initiation of candidates, in which work the visiting Grand Officers took part. Two officers in the lodge having become vacant, election and installation was held to fill the chairs. Miss Edith Jackson was elected Overseer and Miss Elizabeth Lindell Inside Watch. Grand Master Workman McCall had charge of the installation.

There were brief speeches by the visitors and some of the local members. After the business session, refreshments were served.

It was announced that the A. O. U. W. Boosters Club would have charge of the meeting tomorrow evening.

K. OF P.

At a regular meeting on Monday evening Osceola Lodge No. 5, Knights of Pythias, elected the following officers for the next six months: Chancellor Commander, Willy Von Ehren; Vice-Chancellor, Frank H. Balling; Prelate, Leon Tryens; Master of Work, Mark P. Malcom; Master of Arms, Frank Durnall; Inside Guard, Arthur Walters; Outside Guard, Harold Grant; Representative to Grand Lodge, Bayard Baylis; Alternate to Grand Lodge, J. E. Jacquette.

On Monday evening, July 23, Grand Chancellor Frank W. Fisher and Staff will visit Osceola Lodge for the purpose of installing the officers.

NEWARK BOY HONORED

Thomas Manns, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Manns, of this town, was presented with a $20 gold piece, the first prize in the State offered by the American Chemical Association, and given by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Garban, of New York City. The subject of the essay which won the prize was "Chemistry in Agriculture." Young Manns has received also a personal note of congratulation from Mr. and Mrs. Garban.

The winning of the first place in the contest entitles the winner to enter the national contest.

TRAFFIC CASES

Last Friday, James S. Smith, of Baltimore, was arraigned before Magistrate Thompson, charged by State Highway Officer Dossan with reckless driving. He was fined $25 and costs.

Friday evening, cars driven by Kirk Grothen and Raymond Butler collided on Chapel street, with damage to both cars. As a result of the accident both drivers were placed under arrest by Chief of Police Keeley and arraigned before Magistrate Thompson. Grothen was fined $25 and costs for driving without an operator's license, and Butler was fined $10 and costs for driving a motor vehicle not properly registered.

On Sunday evening, one and one-half hours after sundown, Solomon Miller, of Marshallton, was arrested by State Highway Officer Keeley for driving without lights. He was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Thompson.

On Sunday A. W. Anderson was arraigned before Magistrate Thompson by New Castle County Constable William Wideman, charged with failing to stop at the "dead man" at Christiansburg, and then passing to the left of it. He was fined $10 and costs.

Monday night, about 11 o'clock, a car driven by Randolph Ryder, colored, struck a car driven by William C. Cooling, of Chesapeake City, at the intersection of Main and Academy streets. Ryder was going east on Main street and Cooling had just come from the Red Men's Carnival and had pulled into Main street. Both men were taken before Magistrate Thompson by Chief of Police Keeley, but no charges were pressed. Ryder finally agreed to pay for the damage to Cooling's car.

Last night, Jacob Caulk, colored, of New Castle, was arrested by Constable Wideman for passing to the left of the "dead man" at Main street and Elkton road. He was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Thompson.

STRAIGHTFORWARDNESS

Why should anyone know just all the goals that I have set out to reach, especially when his knowledge will enable him to put obstacles in my way if the notion to do so should come to him? If I intend finally to reach some destination in the East, isn't it perfectly legitimate that I should start out in a westerly direction if I wish, and throw folks off the scent a bit? Very sensible kind of reasoning, we would all say. And yet there is always considerable danger in anyone trying to appear to be anything else than what he really is, or to be doing anything else than that which he really is doing....

There are certain very great advantages in straightforwardness; in actually starting out toward the east if your destination lies in that direction; in not having any schemes or plans at all that you think it necessary to keep out of sight or underground; in being for the most part the kind of person you look to be and busy at the actual thing you look to be doing. Dissembling always seemed a word with such a sinister meaning that no good purpose it might seem to serve would ever justify its use. And the idea that it ever could be used to serve good purposes is very largely a mistaken one. The goal that many a man has tried to scheme himself toward could usually have been won far more effectively by straightforward methods, and the satisfaction of coming at it that way is so much superior to that gained by the other method as to be a different thing altogether. The good that a man has schemed himself into, alas! will tarnish very soon.—New Outlook.

There is only one rule for being a good talker: learn to listen.—Christopher Morley.

Congress Hears Story Of Del-Mar-Va Ass'n

Congressman Goldsborough Uses History Of Eastern Shore Body To Make Farm Relief Points

In a speech before the House of Representatives shortly before its recent adjournment, Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough, of Maryland, under the subject of "Farm Relief," presented a complete and detailed statement covering the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association—its record, its program and accomplishments.

In introducing the subject Congressman Goldsborough said:

"Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House: In the matter of Farm Relief, I have always held that the Fordney-McCumber tariff act of 1922 was the worst blow the farmer has ever received from legislation, as it compelled the farmer to buy in a protected market and sell in an open market. At that time I begged Representatives of rural districts to vote against the tariff bill for the above reason. And in the years since then many have come to me and said that if they had taken my advice in 1922 the farmer would not be in the condition he is in today.

"Farming is the basic industry of the country. Any legislator who is not interested in developing the farmer has not, in my opinion, a proper view of what will redound to the country's present and future welfare. A great deal, of course, can be done for agriculture by various co-operative means and in that connection I believe the activities of the Del-Mar-Va Association, located on the Peninsula comprising the Eastern Shores of Maryland and Virginia and the State of Delaware, has done a great deal for the farmer in that section. I am, therefore, including in these remarks the matter of a pamphlet titled, 'The Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association—Its Record and Its Program,' which I think will be of great suggestive interest throughout the country."

Congressman Goldsborough then presented the complete statement of the Association's purposes, activities and accomplishments and its future program. As printed in full in the Congressional Record it occupies more than seven complete pages.

Officials and members of the Association have expressed their gratification in having such a full account of the Association's purposes placed on record before Congress, and as a result of Congressman Goldsborough's action there has already been created a more wide interest in the Association from distant points. Several sections have expressed a desire to obtain further first hand data and information regarding the Del-Mar-Va Association and its activities.

I owe all my success in life to having been always a quarter of an hour beforehand.—Lord Nelson.
